Benjamin P. Hutchison, "Old Hutch," a former Chicago Board of Trade operator and packer, died of heart failure at Lakeside sanitarium, Lake Geneva, Wis. He was 70 years old. Hutchinson was at the height of his fame in 1888, when he ran his corner in September wheat. After that began his decline and the financial end came in 1891. Estimates of his wealth, when at his height, place the amount anywhere from $2,000,000 to $16,000,000.

Five Men Killed.

A shooting occurred at Hot Springs, Ark., which resulted in the death of five men and the serious wounding of two others, one of whom is not expected to live. The shooting was the result of feeling growing out of the mayoralty contest which was under way. There is little factional feeling outside of those engaged in the shooting. Order was easily restored and the city is quiet. No further trouble is anticipated.

Frightful Accident.

Doshes Armstrong, a well-known sawmill man of Centerburg, Ohio, was "offbearing," when a piece of the slab which he was holding was thrown by the saw with great force against his head, striking him fairly above the eye. The eyeball was forced out upon the cheek and the stick penetrated the head to a considerable depth, rendering him unconscious, and causing the brain to ooze from the skull. He cannot live.

All Quiet at Iloilo.

A dispatch from Gen. Otis says reports from Iloilo, Cebu and Negros Islands show the natives quiet and enthusiastic for American rule. The insurgents' control is confined to part of Luzon.

Masonic Temple Attractions, Fort Wayne, Ind.

March 24—"On and Off."
March 27, 28, 29, 30, 31 and April—Waite Comic Opera Company.

Sensational Dreyfus Story.

The London Evening News publishes a sensational Dreyfus story. It declares that the former Russian Ambassador, Count Von Mohrenheim, is the real culprit who sold both Russian and French secrets to the German Government, adding that the Russian Government itself is convinced of his guilt and that it is only to avoid a public scandal greater than the Dreyfus affair, that he is unpunished, farther than the intimation that he is not to show his face within the Czar's dominions.

Kentucky Distillers Rebel.

Sixty Kentucky distilleries have broken away from the whisky combine, and their managers declare they will fight the trust to the end. Having paid out $1,500,000, the trust finds itself still far from victory, with some of the largest plants in the State in the ranks of the insurgents.

Loses $3,000 Out of Pocket.

Thomas Officer, of the banking firm of Officer & Pusey, of Council Bluffs, lost a roll of bills on the streets of Omaha. The roll contained $5,000, which he had just drawn from the First National Bank and placed in an overcoat pocket. The money slipped through a hole in his pocket.

INDUSTRIAL AND TRADE ACTIVITY.

Prices Are Strong Except in Cases of Leading Cereals and Wool.

Bradstreet's says: "Industrial and trade activity is still a pre-eminent feature of the general business situation. Price strength, too, is notable, especially in view of the midwinter rise of February, except in the case of the leading cereals and wool. In manufacturing lines the situation is one of great activity. The iron and steel trade is still excited by reports of feverish demand, inadequate supplies and further advanced quotations. An easier tendency in wool is one of the disappointing features of the week. The demand for cotton goods is very active and nearly all classes are firmly held. Cotton remains steady. Lumber is active at most markets and prices are firm. Raw and refined sugar have alike moved upward this week. Wheat is weaker, notwithstanding crop damage reports, and other cereals are in sympathy therewith. Wheat (including flour) shipments for the week aggregate 4,398,821 bushels, against 5,815,585 bushels last week. Corn exports for the week aggregate 3,736,586 bushels, against 5,794,863 bushels last week."

MANY HUNGRY AT DAWSON.

Consul McCook Declares the Mining Town's People Are in Dire Need.

The United States consul at Dawson, J. C. McCook, informs the Department of State at Washington concerning the condition of the people there as follows: "The situation as to persons who will be out of food in a couple of months is becoming very serious. Many hundreds will be so situated and will have to be helped out when navigation opens. Many have gone out over the ice and are going out daily, while more are remaining in the hope that they will be able to strike some pay claims they either own themselves or are working on claims leased from others. Applications are daily at this office for relief. I know it is not customary for any nation to provide for destitute citizens out of their own country, still I feel it is my duty to put this matter before you to take whatever action you may deem best."

SOLDIER KILLED BY A COMRADE.

Fatal Stabbing Affray Between Two Privates Near St. Louis.

The Twenty-third Kansas volunteers (colored), en route to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., from Santiago, passed through Kansas City the other day. When a short distance out from St. Louis a soldier named Williams, a private of Kansas City, was stabbed to death by a comrade named Geo. Rogers, also a private. Williams, who was known as the "bully of the regiment," had stirred up considerable trouble, finally assaulting Rogers. Rogers drew a knife and struck Williams in the breast, killing him instantly. The body was taken to Fort Leavenworth. Rogers is under arrest. Private Bert Moore, of Kansas City, died on the train east of Jefferson City of fever contracted in Cuba.

BRYAN SAYS HE IS NOT HOBSON.

Desire of a Texas Young Woman to Kiss Him Meets with Refusal.

William J. Bryan evidently wants it understood that he disapproves of "Hobsonism." The distinguished Nebraskan passed through Brenham, Texas, recently on his way to Houston. At the station he was greeted by hundreds of citizens, nearly all of whom shook hands with him. A popular young woman of the city wanted to change the method of saluting the silver champion. Edging up to him in a moment when she thought he might be disposed to grant her request, she said: "Mr. Bryan, will you kiss me?" "Excuse me, my dear young woman," he replied; "but I am not Hobson."

New Rebellion Against Spain.

Advices by the steamship Victoria from the Orient state that Spanish avarice and misrule have again stirred up a rebellion. The insurgent Moros of Palawan Island, one of the insurgent group north of Borneo, murdered the Spanish governor of Palawan, residing at Port Royalist, and killed his assistants. His head was severed from his body and carried back into the hills to incite a rebellion among the natives, who had previously feared Spain's power. A church and other Spanish buildings were burned, after which the rebellious mob retreated to the hills of Palawan, carrying with them several dozen men, women and children, all Spaniards, as prisoners. This news comes from Singapore, where it was cabled from Labuan, capital of British North Borneo. It was brought there by the British steamship Labuan, whose master, Capt. Pfort, learned that onerous taxes and other burdens imposed by the Spanish had caused the natives to strike a blow for freedom. Pfort brought away the governor's wife, several other women and children, a priest and twelve soldiers, who were landed at Sandakan.

Three Watchmen Tied Up.

Eleven masked and armed men entered the power house of the Waverly, Sayers & Athens Traction Company at Waverly, N. Y., and ordering the three employes to hold up their hands bound them securely and placed them in an empty car, where the workmen were secured by ropes around their necks attached to the handlebar above them. Then, leaving one man to guard them, the robbers blew open the three safes in the office and secured $175 in cash.

Ship with Dynamite on Fire.

While crossing from Nanaimo to Vancouver with eleven tons of dynamite on board, flames broke out on the steamer Selkirk. This was the second fire on the Selkirk within a week. The crew had a terrible fight, for they were fearful that the fire would reach the dynamite. Every man, however, heroically stuck to his post, and the fire was eventually extinguished before it reached the explosives.

Louis Roesel Hanged.

Louis Roesel was executed by hanging in the Union County jail at Elizabeth, N. J., for the murder of James C. Pitts of Summit. Pitts was murdered at his home in Summit the night of Sept. 9, 1897. Roesel, who was only 22 years old, was said to have planned the murder and to have been the one to actually strike the fatal blow. The object was robbery.

Shaker Commits Suicide.

Joseph A. Wilson, a young Shaker, committed suicide at Whitewater village community, near Cincinnati, by taking morphine. He was originally from Jackson, Mich., where his parents still live. The suicide is supposed to have been caused by insanity.

Mortality Due to Late War.

The following statement has been issued, showing the total number of deaths reported to the adjutant general's office between May 1, 1898, and Feb. 28, 1899: Killed in action, 329; died of wounds, 125; died of disease, 5,277; total, 5,731.

Fight with Police Ends Fatally.

At Elkton, Ky., Pate Jones was shot and killed and Will Gray was wounded in a fight between Jones, his son, Charlie, and Will Gray, three countrymen, and the city police.

Governor Lifts Church Debt.

At the Methodist Church in Wichita, Kan., Gov. Stanley took charge of the finances and raised $1,000, which cleared up all debts.

Crazy Man Contemplates Murder.

Henry Muller, a German and a former United States soldier, has been arrested at Montreal on a complaint sworn out against him by United States Vice-Consul Gorman, acting on instructions received by Consul General Bittenger from Secretary of State Hay. Muller arrived there two weeks before and had been parading his grievances against the United States Government. He called at the newspaper offices and endeavored to obtain the insertion of a two-column statement, the principal burden of which is a complaint that President McKinley is an enemy of the German people. Muller was a private in one of the New York regiments during the civil war, and was wounded in the head, as a result of which he has periodical fits of mental aberration. In the present instance he has got himself into trouble through a letter written to President Angell of the University of Michigan, in which he said he was going to Washington, and if he could slay no one else he would kill President McKinley, as he was an enemy of the German element. Mr. Angell sent the letter to Washington.

MOLD RUINS BURIED TREASURE.

Ohio Farmer's Grief Over His Loss Is Ended by Suicide.

George Duty, a Lorain County, Ohio, farmer, committed suicide by hanging himself in a barn near his home, a few miles west of Elyria. Duty was 50 years of age and quite wealthy. He had always been suspicious of banks and some time ago buried several thousand dollars in his cellar. A short time afterward when he went to get some of the money to use he found that it was nearly all damaged by mold to such an extent that it was impossible to distinguish the value of the bills.

PASSENGER TRAIN WRECKED.

Broken Rail Causes Serious Injury to Several B. & O. Employes.

The Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern St. Louis passenger was wrecked by a broken rail as it was passing the last pier of the Chesapeake and Ohio bridge at Cincinnati. The engine fell through the section foreman's shanty and against the bridge pier. Daniel Joyce, section foreman, who was in the shanty, was severely hurt by falling timbers. Engineer Henry Muster was slightly hurt. No passengers were injured, as the train was running slow.

PRINCE GUSTAF IS ATTACKED.

People of Christiania Hiss and Hoot the Temporary Ruler.

There was a popular demonstration at Christiania, Norway, the other evening against Crown Prince Gustaf, Duke of Vermland, who was recently appointed regent on account of the illness of his father, King Oscar II. The prince was returning from the military club, when he met a crowd of people, who hooted him, hissed him and pelted him with snowballs. The crowd was dispersed by the police, and several arrests were made.

G. A. R. Men Will Meet April 12.

W. C. Johnson, senior vice-commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, has issued a call for the executive committee of the national board of administration of the Grand Army to meet in the Continental Hotel, Philadelphia, Wednesday, April 12, to select a commander-in-chief to succeed the late Gen. James A. Sexton.

Kills Himself in Midocean.

According to latest advices from the Orient Howie, the hero of the fruitless scheme to blow up the Japanese fleet during the Oriental war in November, 1894, has committed suicide. Howie was an American. He jumped overboard from a steamer in midocean and sank immediately.

Census of Cuba to Be Taken.

The administration has decided to take a census of the island of Cuba as complete and careful as that taken in the United States. A census is found necessary to determine who are qualified voters before the election is held to establish a representative government.

Leaves Estate to His Sweetheart.

J. W. Dillard and Miss Mary Muir of Mexico, Mo., were to have been married next month, but Dillard died after a short illness. His will has been filed. By the terms of the document Miss Muir comes into possession of the dead man's estate, valued at about $75,000.

Wrangel Would Be British.

The movement among Alaskan cities looking to a transfer of part of the territory now under United States jurisdiction to British control is by no means confined to Taiya. Latest advices from the north indicate that Wrangel also is anxious to pass under the British flag.

250 Lives Lost in a Hurricane.

It is now known that 250 lives were lost in the recent hurricane that swept the northeast coast of Queensland, Australia. Only a few white people were among the victims.

Terrific Whirlwind Works Damage.

Eckley, a small mining village about ten miles northeast of Hazleton, Pa., was struck by a cyclone. Considerable damage was done, but no lives were lost.

Man and Wife Asphyxiated.

John Williams, aged 28 years, and his wife, Margaret, aged 25, were asphyxiated by illuminating gas at their home in Philadelphia.

Appointed Congressional Librarian.

Herbert Putnam of Boston has been appointed congressional librarian by President McKinley.

MARKET REPORTS.

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, shipping grades, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2 red, 69c to 71c; corn, No. 2, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2, 26c to 27c; rye, No. 2, 53c to 55c; butter, choice creamery, 19c to 20c; eggs, fresh, 12c to 14c; potatoes, choice, 70c to 80c per bushel.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $5.75; hogs, choice light, $2.75 to $4.25; sheep, common to choice, $2.50 to $4.25; wheat, No. 2 red, 70c to 72c; corn, No. 2 white, 34c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 31c to 32c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $3.50 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $3.00 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 72c to 74c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 32c to 34c; oats, No. 2, 28c to 30c; rye, No. 2, 58c to 59c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.25; sheep, $2.50 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 72c to 74c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 30c to 32c; rye, No. 2, 59c to 61c.

Detroit—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $2.50 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 72c to 73c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 32c to 34c; rye, 61c to 63c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 71c to 73c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 34c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 27c to 29c; rye, No. 2, 55c to 57c; clover seed, new, $3.70 to $3.75.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 spring, 67c to 69c; corn, No. 3, 32c to 34c; oats, No. 2 white, 28c to 30c; rye, No. 1, 55c to 57c; barley, No. 2, 40c to 49c; pork, mess, $9.00 to $9.50.

Buffalo—Cattle, good shipping steers, $3.00 to $5.75; hogs, common to choice, $3.25 to $4.25; sheep, fair to choice wethers, $3.50 to $5.25; lambs, common to extra, $4.50 to $5.75.

New York—Cattle, $3.25 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.50; sheep, $3.00 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2 red, 81c to 83c; corn, No. 2, 42c to 44c; oats, No. 2 white, 35c to 36c; butter, creamery, 15c to 21c; eggs, Western, 13c to 14c.

THE WRECKED ALLAN LINE STEAMER CASTILIAN.

The new Allan Line steamer Castilian, which was wrecked on the coast of Nova Scotia and was pounded to pieces on the Gannet Rock ledges, was the pride of the famous Allan fleet and a fine ship in all respects. She had a capacity of 300 first and second-class and 500 steerage passengers, besides room for a large cargo. She was built by Workman & Clark of Belfast. The Castilian had everything that the science of navigation has evolved to insure perfection. That she was a speedy boat was practically demonstrated, for on her trial trip she attained a speed of fifteen knots, while on her passage across the Atlantic, despite the tempestuous weather, she maintained an average speed of fourteen knots, and after leaving Ireland she never went below the 300 mile record. The Castilian had the distinction of being the first boat to make the trip from the other side to Portland in seven days, and Captain Barrett was heartily congratulated by his friends and the representatives of the company at Montreal.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

Gen. Loyd Wheaton.

Gen. Loyd Wheaton, who commanded the American troops in the taking of Pasig and in the engagements preceding the capture of that Philippine city, was an officer in the regular army when appointed to his present position at the outbreak of the Spanish war. He has a splendid record as a soldier. Born in Michigan sixty-one years ago, he entered the army as a volunteer in 1861. He began his military career as a sergeant, in which capacity he served four months and was discharged. He re-entered the volunteer forces as a lieutenant in July, 1861, and was mustered out as a colonel in 1866. In the same year he was appointed a captain in the regular army. Gen. Wheaton was given the brevet rank of major, U. S. A., for gallant and meritorious services in the siege of Vicksburg, and brevet lieutenant colonel for brilliant service in the attack on Fort Blakeley, Ala. He fought in numerous battles, and with credit in all. Before entering the service he was a civil engineer, and with the learning he needed for the practice of that profession was perfectly qualified for the army.

ASSESSED BY DAWES.

One Hundred Per Cent. on National Bank of Illinois Shares.

As a finale to the greatest bank failure in the history of the United States, Comptroller Dawes has levied an assessment of 100 per cent on the stock of the defunct National Bank of Illinois of Chicago, which was capitalized at $1,000,000. Receiver McNulta has also been directed to make a further investigation of the affairs of the bank with a view of commencing an action for damages against the directors and officers of the bank, which was wrecked by their bad management.

The Comptroller said that he had foreseen for some time the necessity of this assessment, and that while he regretted that it would fall heavily upon a great number of innocent shareholders, he had no choice in the course which by law he is compelled to take. Mr. Dawes declined to make public the names of the shareholders who by this order will be required to pay into the bank a sum equal to the original value of the stock.

Comptroller Dawes estimates the deficiency in the assets at $1,200,000, and the assessment on the stock, if fully paid, will bring in $1,000,000. On account of the present financial condition of some of the stockholders, however, it is said that 35 per cent of the assessment cannot be collected, so that it will not net more than $650,000.

CAN RETAIN VOLUNTEERS.

Men Enlisted May Be Kept Till Peace Is Proclaimed.

According to the latest official interpretation of the new army law all volunteers now in the service enlisted under the law of April last may be retained in the service until peace with Spain is formally proclaimed, whether or not the 35,000 additional volunteers authorized by the new law are enlisted. One effect of this decision will be to permit the retention in the service until the ratifications of the treaty of peace are exchanged of 411 volunteer staff officers now in the service in addition to those who may be commissioned under the law of March 2. Secretary Alger has also been advised that in addition to the 35,000 new volunteers which the new law authorizes he may retain in the service for six months after peace is formally declared all the volunteers now in Manila who are willing to re-enlist for that period. The authorities are disposed to take advantage of everything which will tend to rob the act of its serious evils.

UNCLE SAM—I'll keep both o' them things handy, just the same.

DIVINES IN A RAGE.

Methodist Ministers of New York Eject a Presbyterian.

As a result of several interlopers attending the regular weekly meeting of the Methodist Episcopal ministers in New York Monday, there was a lively and unexpected scene. The gathering was supposed to be secret, but the presence of several strangers was detected, and among them was a Presbyterian opponent of Rev. Stephen P. Cadman.

Rev. Dr. T. L. Poulson presided. He explained that the meeting was a private one and several left the room. One of the members cried: "There is another who ought to leave." "Point him out." "He is Rev. Mr. Gallaway, pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church in Paterson. In his pulpit yesterday he attacked Brother Cadman's address before his association," shouted another member.

Mr. Gallaway rose to his feet and started to speak, but he was not allowed to talk. The members would not listen, and Dr. Gallaway left the room amid a storm of hisses.

PANIC IN A THEATER.

Women and Children Are Crushed to Death in France.

A frightful panic occurred in the Gymnaze Theater at Liege, France, the other night during a performance of the emotional drama, "La Tosca." A woman became hysterical and cried "fire." A rush for the doors followed, and in the jam on the balcony stairways many persons were forced over the railings and seriously hurt in the fall. Several women and children were crushed to death. The alarm was baseless.

BIG SHIP IS WRECKED.

The Castilian Meets with Disaster During a Fog.

The new and palatial passenger and freight steamship Castilian of the Allan line, bound from Portland, Me., for Liverpool, lies on Gannet Rock ledge, a dangerous point on the coast thirteen miles from Yarmouth, N. S., a few miles from where the Moravia of the same line was lost some years ago. The Castilian struck early Sunday morning during a dense fog. Tugs were at once dispatched to her assistance when the report of the wreck was telephoned from Tusket Wedge, and they returned, bringing the passengers.

JOSEPH MEDILL DEAD.

Veteran Chicago Newspaper Man Expires in San Antonio.

Joseph Medill, for almost half a century editor of the Chicago Tribune and former Mayor of Chicago, died at his winter home in San Antonio, Texas, Thursday. The great journalist was 76 years old, and the cause of death is assigned simply as old age, with its attendant weaknesses.

Mr. Medill decided last fall that he could not risk the severely cold weather in Chicago and went to San Antonio. The deaths of his wife and his favorite daughter, Josie, were shocks from which, it is believed, Mr. Medill never recovered and he had been growing perceptibly weaker for the last three years.

Joseph Medill was born in St. John, N. B., April 6, 1823. His parents, who were of Scotch-Irish descent, moved to Stark County, Ohio, in 1831, establishing themselves upon a small farm near Massillon. Joseph helped his father with the work and made his pocket money by getting up clubs of subscribers for the New York Weekly Tribune. In the winter and spring for several years he taught school. The law had great attractions for the young man and in 1846 he was admitted to the bar in New Philadelphia, Ohio.

Mr. Medill did not engage long in the practice of law. Becoming interested in politics and having a natural bent for writing he determined to enter journalism. In 1849 he bought the Coshocton Whig, which he renamed the Republican. It was a free-soil whig paper. In the winter of 1854-55 Mr. Medill sold his Ohio paper and, going to Chicago in May, bought a large interest in the Chicago Tribune, a paper which was then almost bankrupt. It was placed on a paying basis by the new owners. In 1874 Mr. Medill secured full control of the paper and through it made a fortune.

NEW LIBRARIAN OF CONGRESS.

Herbert Putnam, Head of Boston's Public Library, Appointed.

Herbert Putnam of Boston, has been appointed congressional librarian by President McKinley. Since he became head of the Boston public library in 1895 that institution has been greatly improved—a high compliment to the librarian's merits, for Boston has always prided itself on its library. Mr. Putnam began his career as custodian of books in 1884, when he was called to Minneapolis to take charge of the Athenaeum Library in that city. When

HERBERT PUTNAM.

Minneapolis created her public library the books of the Athenaeum were used as a nucleus. There were but 12,000 volumes in the collection. Seven years of labor on Mr. Putnam's part swelled the number to 50,000 choice books and lifted the new library to the fifth place in circulation among the concerns of its kind in America. The new director of the National Library is a lawyer and a man of high culture. He knows not merely the titles of books, but their contents, too. He is not yet 40 years old.

NINE NEGROES SHOT.

Bloody Work of a Masked Mob of Whites at Palmetto, Ga.

Early Thursday morning a mob of masked men stormed a little house used as a jail at Palmetto, Ga., and shot nine negroes. Four were killed outright and the other five were badly wounded. There was great excitement and Gov. Chandler was called on for troops, the militia from Atlanta arriving about 11 o'clock.

Two fires of incendiary origin have lately occurred. Fourteen business houses in all were destroyed. Nine negroes were arrested on suspicion and taken to Johnson's warehouse to await preliminary trial. The mob rode into the town about 1 o'clock. The little house was near the center of the town. The guard was called upon to turn over the nine negroes held there for trial on the charge of arson. Upon his refusal he and his assistants were quickly overpowered. The negroes begged for mercy to the leaders, but the appeals were passed over, and drawing guns those of the mob who managed to get inside the building quickly shot the prisoners down.

The mob was composed of 150 men. Where they came from is a mystery, so far as the people of the town can find out. It is known that some of the people of Palmetto, but not the better class, were in it. Every face was masked. When its work was finished the masked mob turned and quickly disappeared as it had come, on horseback. The negroes of the community threatened last week to burn Fairburn, the county seat, and it is reported that the mob came largely from that town.

OLD WORLD NOTABLES

Gen. Sir Arthur Cotton is one of England's oldest soldiers, being in his 96th year.

The Prince of Wales' breakfast never varies. It always consists of tea, toast and one egg.

Mr. Hall Caine shows that carelessness permitted to genius in his dress, but London has few more handsomely gowned women than Mrs. Caine.

Queen Victoria possesses two of the oldest watches in the world. Both have silver dials, and are about as large as half a crown, one being a blind man's watch and the other a repeater.

Count and Countess Boni de Castellane have just leased for three years, with the option of purchase, the Chateau de Marias, belonging to the Duc de Nonilles. Three million dollars will be spent in restoring the estate.

Prof. Blumentritt, through whom Aguinaldo and his colleagues have been making their cause known to Europe, is a member of the faculty of an Austrian university, and has made a thirty years' study of the Philippine archipelago and its history.

Don Carlos has taken a curious and striking advantage of the foreign "postcard craze" to further his cause, having had some printed with portraits of himself and his wife, with fac simile signatures below, under which communications are written.

An enormous pipe has just been made for President Krueger by a Dublin firm. The bowl is of the finest briar root, the stem of cut vulcanite, and the case of leather lined with chamois. On the front of the bowl and carved into the wood is the Transvaal coat of arms.

RECORD OF THE WEEK

INDIANA INCIDENTS TERSELY TOLD.

Schoolboy Stabbed to Death—National Guard to Be Reorganized on New Lines—Troops Are to Return—Michigan City Prison Plant to Close.

Dee Patterson, a 14-year-old boy, was killed by Fred Limp, a schoolmate, 15 years old, at Petersburg. Both boys were the sons of prominent families, and the murder has thrown the town into the wildest excitement. The boys had a slight difficulty in school and renewed the quarrel after they were dismissed in the evening. Patterson met Limp on the street, a few words passed, when Limp drew a knife from his pocket and slashed Patterson across the throat, severing the jugular vein. Patterson ran almost a square after being cut, pursued by his assailant. When he fell to the ground Limp turned and attempted to make his escape, but was captured. The Patterson boy lived but a short time after being cut and never regained consciousness.

Plans for Indiana Militia.

The first move toward the reorganization of the Indiana National Guard has been made by the selection of Evansville, Terre Haute, Frankfort, Vincennes, New Albany, Madison, South Bend, Lafayette, Fort Wayne and Indianapolis as the cities to contribute the companies for their respective districts. The new organization will be formed by equal congressional district apportionment. The cities to supply the companies for the sixth and eighth districts have not been selected yet, but they will probably be New Castle and Anderson.

Indiana Troops Coming Home.

In pursuance of the administrative policy of bringing home all the volunteer troops for muster out in anticipation of the exchange of ratifications of the treaty of peace with Spain, orders have been issued for the muster out at Savannah, Ga., of the 160th regiment of Indiana volunteer infantry, now at Matanzas. The regiment will be brought home as soon as a troopship is available and kept at Savannah until warmer weather.

Will Close Its Prison Plant.

The George E. P. Dodge Company, the Michigan City branch of the Phelps, Dodge & Palmer Company of Chicago, who have manufactured boots and shoes in the State's prison at Michigan City for the last eighteen years, are finishing up what stock they have on hand, preparatory to moving their outfit to Chicago.

Within Our Borders.

Glanders among horses near Evansville.

Dogs are butchering many sheep around Marion.

Pendleton will have water works and electric lights.

Brooklyn mills have passed into a receiver's hands.

Evansville proposes a municipal electric lighting plant.

Will See, Logansport, broke his leg while playing ten pins.

Esther Stillebower, 14, Bartholomew County, fatally burned.

Madison County has gained $600,000 in wealth during the past year.

Henry Osler, Kokomo, slugged the other night and touched for $6.20.

Pastors' association, Kokomo, has declared against slot machines.

Daniel Minneman, found unconscious with his head fractured at Osgood.

McBeth lamp chimney factory, Elwood, has resumed operations with 500 employes.

Wm. Wright, prominent Gibson County farmer, is dead. He had been married just two weeks.

Timothy Rayel, switchman in the Pennsylvania yards, Fort Wayne, killed by falling from a car.

Another batch of Laporte citizens has been arrested, and it cost each $20 for keeping an unlicensed dog.

Mat Peters, Tipton County, shot himself to death willfully. He was the father-in-law of John McCreary, sheriff.

Seven-year-old son of Steven Bolander, near Mohawk, accidentally shot and killed his 4-year-old sister with a target rifle.

Fourteen boys and girls from the Cincinnati orphans' home were distributed among the good people of Windfall and vicinity.

Verdict of "not guilty" in the case against Robert McCoy for killing George Newman, Greensburg, was received with cheers.

Exchange of the Home Telephone Company, New Albany, burned during a wind storm. Fire caused by crossed wires or lightning. Loss $1,500.

One of the biggest gas wells that have recently been drilled in that section is that of C. H. Croninger, on the east edge of Hartford City. The well has a tremendous pressure.

Mr. and Mrs. Theophilus Crumpacker of Valparaiso, parents of Congressman Crumpacker, observed the fifty-second anniversary of their wedding. They are 75 and 74 years of age respectively.

A Princeton man climbed a ladder to a roof to sweep off snow. The wind blew the ladder over and he stood for half an hour in a howling blizzard before he could call attention to his predicament.

The failure of the American Brewing Company at Chicago forced the Columbia Brewing Company of Logansport to the wall. The plant is valued at $100,000, and John G. Keip, its president, is receiver.

Receiver Malott of the Vandalia line has turned over the forty miles of road from South Bend to St. Joseph, Mich., to the new owners, composed of New York and Connecticut capitalists, whose bid of $100,000 for the property to protect themselves when it was sold by order of the court was the only one made.

Two masked men visited the home of John Kissinger in Spencer County and beat him into insensibility upon his refusal to reveal the hiding place of his money. Kissinger is a bachelor living alone. He is supposed to have money hid about his place.

Clark Kidder and wife, Kokomo, are raising a baby on raw beef. It is 17 months old. For a time it grew thin and was expected to die. No kind of food did it any good until it was fed raw beef and pepsin. It began picking up, until now it is able to digest a few other kinds of food.

The managers of the tin plate plants at Atlanta, Elwood, Anderson, Middletown and Montpelier have posted notices of a 10 per cent increase of wages to all men receiving less than $2.50.

The safe in the city brewing plant at Jeffersonville was blown open by five masked men and a small sum of money taken. Watchman Louis Ulrich was overpowered, bound, gagged, badly beaten and thrown in a cellar unconscious.

Alexander Lowery, 65, old soldier, on his way to St. Louis, was badly burned at the Green Springs water tank on the B. and O. Railroad. While waiting for a train, he fell asleep near a fire and all his clothing except his shoes was burned off.

ALL: SAVE ONE.

The lady rode in her coach of state,
As the air grew chill and the day grew late,
But she felt no longing to turn and go
To her own hearthstone with its royal glow,
For though it was warm, and rich, and fair,
There was never a child to greet her there.

What treasures had she in that princely home!
There were silks from Persia, and busts from Rome,
Pictures from Paris and London town,
Books and books, upstairs and down,
Strange, quaint things from the curious East,
But never a child to share the feast.

In the lady's mind was a gloomy store
Of wit, and learning, and culture more.
She had sailed to the East, and sailed to the West,
She had seen all the things that are rarest and best:
And many a wondrous tall she knew,
But she had no child to tell them to.

And deep in the lady's heart there lay
Such power of loving and giving, they say,
Such fancy for feeling her warm arms close
Round a slim little form, with cheeks of rose,
Such wealth of love had this lady true,
But never a child to give it to.

Oh, women who fret at the ills of life,
The round of duty, the small, small strife
Of daily living, with children's needs
Drawing your back from prouder deeds—
Think of yourselves bereft and lone,
For love, for ambition; for bread, a stone.

—Louise Morgan Still, in the Ladies' Home Journal.

ON CANCER CAY.

There is a tiny islet on the outskirts of the Solomon Archipelago that to all such casual wanderers as stray so far presents not a single feature of interest. Like scores of others in those latitudes, it has not yet attained to the dignity of a single cocoanut tree, although many derelict nuts have found a lodgment upon existence at the next springtide. Viewed from a balloon it would look like a silly season mushroom, but with a fringe of snowy foam around it marking the protecting barrier to which it owes its existence, to say nothing of its growth. Yet of all places in the world which I have been privileged to visit, this barren little mound of sand clings most tenaciously to my memory, for reasons which will presently appear.

One of these devastating cyclones that at long intervals sweep across the Pacific, leaving a long swath of destruction in their wake, had overtaken the pearling schooner of which I was mate. For twenty-four hours we fled before it, we knew not whither, not daring to heave to. The only compass we possessed had been destroyed by the first sea that broke on board. Whether it was night or day we had no notion, except by watch, and even then we were doubtful, so appalling was the darkness. Hope was beginning to revive that, as the Papalangi had proven herself so stanch, she might yet "run it out," unless she hit something. But the tiny rag rigged forward to keep her before it suddenly flew into threads; the curl of the sea caught her under the counter and spun her into the wind like a teetotum. The next vast comber took her broadside on, rolled her over and swallowed her up. We went "down quick into the pit."

Always reckoned a powerful swimmer, even among such amphibia as the Kanaskas, I don't remember making a stroke. But after a horrible, choking struggle in the black uproar I got my breath again, finding myself clinging, as a drowning man will, to something big and seaworthy. It was an ordinary ship's hencoop that the skipper had bought cheap from a passenger vessel in Auckland. As good a raft as one could wish, it bore me on over the mad sea, half-dead as I was, until I felt it rise high as if climbing a cataract and descending amidst a furious boiling of surf into calm, smooth water. A few minutes later I touched a sandy beach. Utterly done up, I slept where I lay, at the water's edge, though the shrieking hurricane raged overhead as if it would tear the land up by the roots.

When I awoke it was fine weather, though to leeward the infernal reek of the departing meteor still disfigured a huge segment of the sky. I looked around and my jaw dropped. Often I had wondered what a poor devil would do who happened to be cast away on such a spot as this. Apparently I was about to learn. A painful pinch at my bare foot startled me, and I saw an ugly beast of a crab going for me. He was nearly a foot across, his blue back covered with long spikes, and his wicked little eyes seemed to have an expression of diabolical malignity. I snatched at a handful of his legs and swung him round my head, dashing him against the side of my coop with such vigor that his armor flew to flinders around me. I never have liked crab, even when dressed, but I found the raw flesh of that one tasty enough. It quite smartened me up. Having eaten heartily, I took a saunter up the smooth knoll of sand, aimlessly, I suppose, for it was as bare as a plate, without a stone or shell. From its highest point, about ten feet above high water mark, I looked around, but my horizon was completely bounded by the ring of breakers aforesaid. I felt like the scorpion within the fiery circle, and almost as disposed to sting myself to death had I possessed the proper weapons.

As I stood gazing vacantly at the foaming barrier and solemn enclosing dome of fleckless blue I was again surprised by a vicious nip at my foot. There was another huge crab boldly attacking me—me, a vigorous man, and not a sodden corpse, as yet. I felt a grue of horror run all down my back, but I grabbed at the vile thing and hurled it from me half across the island. Then I became aware of others arriving, converging upon me from all around, and I was panic-stricken. For one mad moment I thought of plunging into the sea again, but reason reasserted itself in time, reminding me that, while I had certain advantages on my side where I was, in the water I should fall a helpless victim at once, if, as might naturally be expected, these ghouls were swarming there. Not a weapon of any kind could I see, neither stick nor stone. My feelings of disgust deepened into despair. But I got little time for thought. Such a multitude of the eerie things were about me that I was kept most actively employed seizing them and flinging them from me. They got bolder, feinting and dodging around me, but happily without any definite plan of campaign among them. Once I staggered forward, having trodden unaware upon a spiky back as I sprung aside, wounding my foot badly. I fell into a group of at least twenty, crushing some of them, but after a painful struggle among those needle-like spines regained my feet with several clinging to my body. A kind of frenzy seized me, and, regardless of pain, I clutched at them right and left, dashing them to fragments one against the other, until quite a pile of writhing, dismembered enemies lay around me, while my hands and arms were streaming from numberless wounds. Very soon I became exhausted by my violent exertions and the intense heat, but, to my unfathomable thankfulness, the heap of broken crabs afforded me a long respite, the sound ones finding congenial occupation in devouring them. While I watched the busy cannibals swarming over the yet writhing heap, I became violently ill. Vertigo seized me, I reeled and fell prone, oblivious to all things for a time.

When sense returned it was night. The broad moon was commencing her triumphal march among the stars, which glowed in the blue-black concave like globules of incandescent steel. My body was drenched with dew, a blessed relief, for my tongue was leathery and my lips were split with drouth. I tore off my shirt and sucked it eagerly, the moisture it held, though brackish, mitigating my tortures of thirst. Suddenly I bethought me of my foes and looked fearfully around. There was not one to be seen, nothing near but the heap of clean-picked shells of those devoured. As the moon rose higher I saw a cluster of white objects at a distance, soon recognizable as boobies. They permitted me to snatch a couple of them easily, and wringing off their heads I got such a draught as put new life into me. Hope returned, even quelling the cruel thought of daylight, bringing again those ravening hordes of crawling crustacea. Yet my position was almost as hopeless as one could imagine. Unless, as I much doubted, this was a known spot for beche de mer or pearl-shell fishers, there was but the remotest chance of my rescue, while, without anything floatable but my poor little hencoop, passing that barrier of breakers was impossible. Fortunately I have always tried to avoid meeting trouble half-way, and with a thankful feeling of present wants supplied I actually went to sleep again, though stiff and sore from head to heel.

At daybreak I awoke again to a repetition of the agonies of the previous day, which, although I was better fortified to meet them, were greater than before. The numbers of my hideous assailants were more than doubled as far as I could judge. The whole patch of sand seemed alive with the voracious vermin. So much so that when I saw the approach of those horrible hosts my heart sank, my flesh shrank on my bones and I clutched at my throat. But I could not strangle myself, though had I possessed a knife I should certainly have chosen a swift exit from the unutterable horror of my position, fiercely as I clung to life. To be devoured piecemeal, retaining every faculty till the last—I could not bear the thought. There was no time for reflection, however, the struggle began at once and continued with a pertinacity on the part of the crabs that promised a speedy end to it for me. How long it lasted I have no idea—to my tortured mind it was an eternity. At last, overborne, exhausted, surrounded by mounds of those I had destroyed, over which fresh legions poured in ever-increasing numbers, earth and sky whirled around me and I fell backward. As I went, with many of the vile things clinging to me, I heard a yell—a human voice that revived my dulling senses like a galvanic shock. With one last flash of vigor I sprang to my feet, seeing as I did so a canoe with four Kanakas in it, not fifty yards away, in the smooth water between the beach and the barrier. Bounding like a buck, heedless of my pain as my wounded feet clashed among the innumerable spiky carapaces of my enemies, I reached the water and hurled myself headlong toward that ark of safety. How I reached it I do not know, nor anything further until I returned to life again on board the Warrigal, of Sydney, as weak as a babe and feeling a century older.

A Musk Rat Preserve.

During the last year the members of the Cedar Point Club have taken steps to prevent the rapid extermination of musk rats in the marsh, and have adopted stringent measures to keep poachers from the preserves of the club. As a result the marsh about the club grounds has the appearance of a veritable musk rat city, so thick are the houses of the animal. The rats are more numerous than ever before, and by next year they will be so plentiful that hunting them can go on without fear of extermination.

For many years the dwellers along the bay shore have made it a business to systematically hunt "the rat" and kill them off in every possible manner, primarily for the skin, and secondarily because their flesh is one of the delicacies of the season. Owing to the fact that a number of people are being introduced to the rat as a delicate article of food, the demand at times exceeds the supply by several rats, and the hunters have resorted to every menas to secure them. This boded no good for the members of the tribe about the marsh, and led the Cedar Point Club to take steps against the miscellaneous hunting. The action of the club meets the hearty approval of all sportsmen, who know that a rat properly cooked and served is one of the finest dishes imaginable.—Toledo Blade.

LONDON'S UNDERGROUND LAKE

Water Problem of the Great Metropolis Solved by the Discovery.

London has suddenly found itself in possession of a cheap and inexhaustible supply of pure water, the existence of which it had never suspected. Walter Mosely, the engineer of the London County Council, has informed that body that underneath London is an immense lake of pure cold water, in a chalk basin 2,500 square miles in extent and 100 feet below the surface of the ground.

The annual rainfall that sinks below to the lake is at least 280,000,000,000 gallons, which would give a daily yield of 7,065,900,000 gallons. It is believed that the discovery of this lake will forever put an end to the old vexed question of London's water supply. It is only necessary to sink a sufficient number of deep wells in order to obtain all the water necessary. An artesian well has already been sunk to this lake at Clapham, near London, and is producing a daily yield of 1,000,000 gallons. It seems strange that London should have existed for more than 2,000 years and not have discovered that there was a great lake beneath it.

The discovery of this lake brings a solution to a question which has been distressing London terribly of late. The greatest city in the world has a very inadequate water supply. It is furnished by certain private companies, conspicuous among which is the New River Company, which was organized in the reign of James I., about 300 years ago. These companies charge exorbitant rates and give a very poor supply. A fourth of a share in the New River Company is worth about $20,000. The water companies have hitherto exerted tremendous influence through their shareholders in Parliament, but the new and democratic county council has put a wholesome fear into them. It now seems that their last hour has come.

LONDON'S UNDERGROUND LAKE.

Last year the vast East End of London suffered from a water famine, and in consequence there was a danger of an outbreak of all kinds of dreadful diseases. Only good luck averted that catastrophe. The County Council then decided that it would have to settle the water question once and for all. It planned to carry the water supply to London from the hills on the border of Wales, about 200 miles away. This would have been the greatest engineering undertaking of its kind in the world and would have cost more than $100,000,000. Now comes the announcement that an inexhaustible reservoir has been found but 100 feet beneath London. The County Council will soon sink its wells and there will be little expense in the undertaking.

AN HISTORIC SHELL.

It Danced a Fandango on the Deck of the Cruiser Baltimore.

Admiral Dewey found two remarkable qualities in Spanish shells at his first battle of Manila—they rarely succeed in hitting anything, and when they did hit they were comparatively harmless. The experience which the Baltimore enjoyed with one of these shells is one of the most remarkable recorded in the history of gunnery. If what happened was not vouched for by so excellent an authority as Joseph L. Stickney, who was acting officer under Admiral Dewey at this battle, it would be hard to believe.

The Canacao battery was one of the shore defenses of Manila used vigorously by the Spaniards on the morning of May 1, 1898, when Dewey, Gridley, and the rest of them came down the bay. Shortly after the engagement opened a 60-pound armor-piercing shell was fired from this battery at the Baltimore. This shell started on a journey so eccentric in its deviations from all natural life, that the naval authorities at Washington have made a diagram of its course. The shell came from the battery on a straight line to the Baltimore, which it struck on the starboard side, about two feet above the upper deck.

COURSE OF THE SHELL THAT STRUCK THE BALTIMORE.

The point of contract with the Baltimore was between the after six-inch gun and the three-pounder mounted on the rail. One-half of an inch of steel was penetrated at the point of contract, but the shell did not stop. It then struck the deck and bored through that until it reached a heavy deck beam, which it cracked through and through. The contact with this deck beam deflected the shell so that it came out through the wooden deck, tore its way through the steel combing of the engine room skylight, again overcoming the resistance of one-half of an inch of steel. Now, on coming through the deck it turned sideways, ranged forward, and bumped into the recoil cylinder of the port six-inch gun on the quarter deck, disabling the carriage. Following the curve of this shield (it could not pass through it) the shell came out on the forward side of the carriage, traveled in a direction directly opposite to that which it had come, reached the starboard side of the ship again, struck a steel ventilator and stopped.

Captain Eulate's Lost Cigars.

An incident in connection with the surrender of Captain Eulate of the Vizcaya, after the battle of Santiago, was told by Captain Robley D. Evans of the Indiana, at the Clover Club dinner during the jubilee, which illustrates the amenities of naval warfare. Captain Evans depicted the arrival of Captain Eulate, covered with blood and dirt, and soaked with salt water, on board the Indiana, and the scene at the blowing up of the Vizcaya. "I offered him a cigar, a 10-cent Key West," said Fighting Bob, "and he looked at it a moment and then drew from his own pocket a long, beautifully rolled, pure Havana, and, holding it up, he said: 'I left 15,000 of them on board the Vizcaya.'" He paused a second to allow his auditors to fully appreciate the fact, and then continued: "I am the last person in the world to deprecate the bravery of American seamen animated by pure heroism, but if we had known those cigars were on board, the effort to save the Vizcaya would have been positively heroic."—Philadelphia Record.

COCOANUTS AND COCOA.

The Difference Between These Two Tropical Fruits.

Although cocoanuts and cocoa are both well known in every Northern household, yet many people that daily use these two useful products of the tropics find it difficult or impossible to exactly describe the difference between the two. The cocoanut is the fruit of a tall and graceful palm tree, a familiar sight in nearly every tropical landscape, and too well known to necessitate any description, whereas cocoa, or, more properly, cacao, is the powdered seed of a small and handsome tree, bearing no resemblance whatever to the cocoa-palm.

Perhaps no cultivated tree presents so odd and striking an appearance as the cacao, and nobody that has ever seen one will forget it, or mistake it for anything else. The tree itself grows to a height of twenty or twenty-five feet, with a rather smooth and slender trunk, a thick, bushy and symmetrical top, and handsome, broad, oval leaves of a deep purple or bronze color.

Instead of growing at the ends of the branches or twigs, as do most blossoms, the cacao flowers bud out directly from the bark of the limbs and trunk. The flowers are small and insignificant, but the fruit, shaped like a cucumber, grows to a large size, in the better varieties eight or ten inches in length and three or four inches in diameter. Moreover, the fruit is brilliantly colored, orange, red and yellow, and under favorable conditions fairly covers the tree, presenting a very odd and beautiful sight.

The fruit or pod is completely filled with a soft, slimy pulp, in which the cacao beans are imbedded. When first taken from the pod these beans and the pulp as well emit a fetid, disagreeable odor. After being separated from the pulp the beans are placed in large wooden trays and exposed to the sun to dry.—Popular Science News.

George Eliot's Manuscript.

The memoir of John Blackwood, the great Scotch publisher, recently issued by his daughter, reveals many interesting things about authors, and none more entertaining than the fact that the best of them, certainly from the artistic point of view, are modest and listening sort of people, and not at all pretentious.

George Eliot was conspicuous as a person who was kindly and sympathetic in a high degree. She was "ever ready to be amused and interested in all that concerned her friends." She had also a keen sense of humor, and sometimes made her friends laugh, as well as laughed with them.

She was solicitous about her manuscripts, and was afraid she should lose them. Blackwood had occasion to send her the manuscript of "Daniel Deronda." She would not have it entrusted to the mail, and Mr. Blackwood said he would send it by his footman the next day.

"Oh, don't!" the author said. "He might stop at a public house and forget it!"

Mr. Blackwood explained that this footman was a perfectly sober man of high character, and went on to praise the man's virtues; but this did not reassure her at all.

"If he is the sort of chivalrous Bayard that you describe," she said, "he is just the kind that would stop and help at a fire!"

This was a contingency that Mr. Blackwood could not bear to consider. He promised that some member of his family would bring the manuscript, and next day, in fact, Mrs. Blackwood drove over with it.

"Every year," said the professor, "a sheet of water fourteen feet thick is raised to the clouds from the sea." "What time of the year does that happen, professor?" asked the freshman from the interior. "I should think it would be a sight worth going to see."—Observer.

Little Tompkins—That fellow Brown tried to stuff me up with some of his travelers' tales the other day. Talked about his trip to Italy, and the waving fields of macaroni, but he didn't catch me, you know. They don't wave!"—Punch.

The smaller the woman, the more a man fears her.

PORTO RICAN BURIALS.

POMPOUS INTERMENT FOR THE RICH IGNOBLE END FOR POOR.

Fixed Rent Paid for Vaults—Failure on Cemetary Contracts Result in a Transfer of Bones to a Common Pit—Survival of Quaint Medieval Customs.

Among the quaint old customs of medieval times that hold the native Porto Ricans in stagnant channels the funeral ceremony and the aristocratic old Spanish cemetery present an interesting feature of the life of these people.

Upon the hill at the edge of the capital, just beyond Morro Castle, with its time-stained, picturesque old walls, within the shadow of its mighty parapet, lies the Catholic graveyard, with its even rows of marble slabs, its great Roman basilica for the noted dead, its chapel for prayers, and then the dumping ground for the clay bones of long forgotten souls that have lost their identity.

The funeral ceremony is certainly an elaborate affair in these Southern Catholic countries. Take, for example, the death of some Spanish general. The great black hearse moves slowly down the narrow streets, with two priests in full canonicals preceding it on foot, and then four altar-boys swinging the incense lamps. Behind the hearse, draped to the ground and drawn by two horses, come the long line of mourners, composed of the chief dignitaries of the town and the especial friends. These mourners are all men. No woman ever takes part in a funeral procession unless she happens to be the chief personage of the occasion.

On the other hand observe the funeral of a lowly pauper. No pompous procession marks the progress of the dead to the graveyard. The naked body, covered only with a white winding sheet, is laid without a coffin on a six-foot board and carried on the shoulders of four pall bearers, who constitute the only mourners and are almost invariably relatives of the dead. Slowly this sad spectacle of the poverty-stricken unfortunate passes up the hill to the cemetery, to be met with even a more unattractive burial.

The San Juan cemetery covers six acres of ground well filled up with slabs of white marble at irregular intervals. All along one side is a long narrow vault like a Roman basilica, where the coffins of the more prosperous and fortunate dead are placed in niches in the wall and sealed up. This is the most aristocratic mode of burial, and it costs the family of the bereaved a rental of 11 pesos per annum to reserve this place in the tomb.

If the annual rent is not paid the bones of the deceased are removed from the tomb and literally shoveled into a common dumping ground of skeletons. This dumping ground is inclosed by a circular brick wall twenty feet high, and open to the sky. Almost any day the top of this wall is lined with a group of soldiers dangling their legs inside the dumping ground and smoking and jesting with the most extraordinary indifference to the sublime rendezvous of the dead. Just beyond the low brick wall of the cemetery, shattered in spots with the force of well-directed American shells, lies the potter's field. This is only a narrow patch of ground fifteen feet wide and 200 feet long, which lies between the moldering walls of Morro Castle and the graveyard. A horrible plague-laden odor rises eternally from that narrow lane. To it the bodies of the very poor are consigned until the dried skeletons can be heaved into the big vat of skeletons outside.

This is the only burial ground in the San Juan district. Being a Catholic cemetery, no Protestant can be buried within its walls. And the lack of a Protestant burial ground has deprived several unfortunate Americans of a definitely marked resting place. No steps have yet been taken to lay out a Protestant burial ground. Such is an absolute necessity, for an American soldier does occasionally shuffle off this moral coil, in spite of the winter season and the suppression of the fever pestilence.

The Day of the Dead is celebrated with great ceremony in San Juan and is a holiday similar in purpose to Decoration Day in the States. All shops are closed and business is entirely suspended. On this day women visit the graveyard and decorate the graves with purple wreaths. No other flowers except those of a purple color are used, and beautiful large floral pieces of natural and artificial flowers are carried to the graves of relatives. Mourners are dressed on this occasion entirely in black, and the women wear heavy black veils. Both men and women walk to and from the cemetery. After prayers are said for the dead in the cemetery chapel the crowd saunters back to the town to sit down to a feast of bread and fruit and wine or cocoanut milk.

The poorer class of Porto Ricans are a mob of ignorant, bigoted and superstitious children. A horror of the graveyard after dark and a strong belief in ghosts and spirits is illustrated by a most unusual occurrence which came to pass recently in San Juan.

A group of young Porto Ricans were sitting one night in a big open cafe on the main plaza, sipping, as is the custom here, dainty cupfuls of chocolate or cocoa milk, when one of the number, boasting of his pride as a Porto Rican soldier and his ambition to bear American arms, defied the crowd to name anything that he would not confront. One of his companions suggested nailing an American flag on the graveyard gate, a daring exploit to which the young Porto Rican youth agreed.

Although he set out at 9 o'clock, at one hour after midnight he had not returned. Growing alarmed, his comrades went in search of him and found him lying in a swoon at the entrance of the cemetery. In his haste to nail up the flag quickly he had caught the loose sleeve of his coat under the nail, fastening himself there unwittingly, and after a few strokes of the hammer, finding himself held there by some force unknown to him, he lost consciousness immediately in the attack of fright which has seized him.—Lucie France Pierce, in the Chicago Herald.

An Interesting Case.

"No, you don't seem to understand me," and the man with a big family on Winder street tapped the palm of his hand in order to make his meaning plainer. Did you ever have the opportunity to watch a girl that is truly in love? That's what I am trying to get at. I don't refer to the girl that has a half dozen strings to her bow and is a coquette, but to one that is genuinely hit and hit for keeps.

"Never mingled with one, hey? I thought not, or there would not be so much for me to explain. Why, man, that oldest daughter of mine goes about in a trance most of the time. She is perfectly oblivious to her immediate surroundings. She'll hum a love ditty and light the lamp shade instead of the lamp. Leave her to shut up the house, and when we come home every door is an invitation for burglars to come in and help themselves. In view of her prospects she is trying to learn to cook and yet she will sit down and study vacancy while the black smoke of a burning dinner envelops her.

"During those cold nights she would wake up, calling to me to ask whether I thought 'he' got home safely. Might he not have been overcome with the cold and be lying out some place? Think of that, and him a six-footer and living but two blocks away. I don't care if we have a room full of company and are talking about the Klondike, Manila or Samoa, she'll ring that fellow in somehow and make him the chief topic inside of five minutes. If he happens to leave such a trifle as a lead pencil or a key she'll decorate it with a ribbon and keep it. I tell you, it's a form of insanity.

BUFFALO BILL'S HUNTING.

His Remarkable Exploit With an Outfit That Excited Derision.

A lively little story of hunting is told by Buffalo Bill. A herd had been sighted from camp, and the famous ranger at once jumped on his horse in quest of fresh meat, of which he and his companions were in great need.

"While I was riding toward the buffaloes, I saw five horsemen from the fort, who were evidently going out for a chase. They proved to be newly arrived officers—a captain and his lieutenants. 'Hello, my friend,' sang out the captain, 'I see that you are after the same game that we are!' 'Yes, sir,' said I.

"They scanned my cheap outfit very closely, and, as my horse looked like a work horse, and had on only a blind bridle, they evidently considered me a green hand at hunting. 'Do you expect to catch these buffaloes on that Gothic steed?' laughed the captain. 'I hope so by pushing hard enough on the reins,' was my reply. 'You'll never catch them in the world, my fine fellow!' said he. 'It takes a fast horse to do that.' 'Does it?' asked I, as if I didn't know. 'Yes; but come along with us, for we are going to kill them more for pleasure than anything else. All we want are the tongues and a piece of tenderloin, and you may have all that is left.' 'I'm much obliged to you, captain,' said I, carelessly. 'I'll follow you.'

"There were 11 buffaloes in the herd, and they were not more than a mile ahead. I saw they were making toward the creek for water, and I started up that way to head them off, while the officers came up in the rear and gave chase. The animals came rushing past me, not 100 yards distant, with the officers 300 yards in the rear. I pulled the blind bridle off my horse, and he, a trained hunter, knew exactly what to do. He started at the top of his speed and brought me alongside the rear buffalo. I raised my gun, fired, and killed the animal at the first shot. My horse then carried me alongside the next one, and I dropped him at the next fire. Thus I killed the 11 buffaloes with 12 shots, and, as the last animal dropped, my horse stopped. Remember, I had been riding him without bridle, reins or saddle; but I jumped to the ground, knowing he would not leave me.

"The astonished officers were just riding up. 'Now, gentlemen,' said I, 'allow me to present you with all the tongues and tenderloins you want.' 'Well,' said the captain, 'I never saw the like before! Who under the sun are you, anyhow?' 'My name is Cody.' 'That horse of yours certainly has running points!' 'Yes, sir; you're right; he has not only the points, but he knows how to use them.' 'So I noticed.'"

Big System of Packets.

A big system of packet steamers is planned for the Mississippi river, which may bring back part of the importance, if not the picturesqueness, of the river in the times when Mark Twain found so much color in it. The plan is to run a line of passenger and freight steamboats daily from St. Paul to New Orleans, touching only at the most important points. At intermediate points tenders will meet the passing steamers. Depots will be built for the convenience of passengers. The passenger and freight boats will be distinct. They will be fast, with steel hulls, and will draw so little water that the runs can be made on strict schedule time in the lowest water. In the pilot system there is a wide variation from Mark Twain's system. Each pilot's daily duty will be a run of six hours long. Then he will land and wait at a depot for a returning boat. By this method each pilot will become acquainted with the part of the river which is in his jurisdiction and can better guard against shifting sand bars and other obstruction than if running the whole route.—Philadelphia Record.

A Scorpion Hunt in Florida.

I knew very well that the scorpion I was after was of a very modest and retiring disposition, and was never seen above ground in daylight except by accident or mistake. I was also under the impression that they were becoming rather rare, as it was more than a year since I had seen one. Still, it was with more than confidence, to say nothing of the more prosaic requisites of a stout pair of gloves, a paper bag, and a hoe, that I started out one afternoon to find my Thelyphonus. I directed my course to the nearest wood, not for a moment doubting that a few hours' work would bring to light the object of my search. I labored faithfully until dark, overturning rotten logs, sticks, bark, old rails, and other field and woodland debris under which my "grampus" would likely to be hiding, but the search was altogether fruitless.—Norman Robinson, in Appleton's Popular Science Monthly.

AN EARL'S ROMANCE.

Fell in Love with His Mother's Maid and Is Determined to Marry Her.

The youngest of England's colonial governors is Earl Beauchamp, who was recently appointed governor and commander-in-chief of New South Wales. He is only 27 years old and on numerous occasions has given evidence of a very resolute mind.

Three years ago the Earl fell in love and with one of his mother's maids. The announcement of his intention to marry the girl shocked his family and his intimate friends and great pressure was brought to bear to induce him to abandon his resolve. But he remained steadfast. When it was objected that his sweetheart was not accomplished he replied by sending her abroad to be educated. She is now completing her education. And now the Queen sends him to distant New South Wales, with, it is rumored, the hope that the cares of office may cause him to change his matrimonial purpose. It is doubtful, however, if they will, for the Earl is self-willed. For the sake of a good romance it is to be hoped that the Earl will cling to his original intention.

EARL BEAUCHAMP.

Earl Beauchamp, though young, has led an interesting life. At the age of 22, and with an income of $150,000 a year, he deserted his mansion in Mayfair and took up his abode with the poor in the Whitechapel slums of London. He felt it to be his duty. Night after night he held mission service in the open air and preached God and humanity. Criticism of his course did not swerve him.

Earl Beauchamp in bearing, appearance and accomplishments is the ideal of what a young aristocrat should be. He is tall, fair and distinguished looking, with a seriousness in his speech and actions that makes him seem older than his years. Though a poet and a dreamer, he is practical in his plans, and to all his efforts he brings a conspicuous determination.

In 1895 he was elected Mayor of Worcester, and two years later, as member for Finsbury, took his seat on the London School Board. His father had been lord steward of the royal household, paymaster general of the army and lord of the admiralty.

HAVANA'S NEW POSTMASTER.

He Has Been in the United States Postal Service Twenty-nine Years.

The new postmaster of Havana, Edward Payne Thompson, is a man thoroughly competent in postal affairs. In 1866 he was made assistant postmaster of Indianapolis, Ind., and held the position until 1885. He was out of the service then four years, but returned in 1889, and shortly afterward, on the death of Postmaster Wallace, of Indianapolis, was appointed by President Harison to fill the vacant office. He organized the carrier service of Indianapolis so well that no one has yet been able to improve on his work. Mr. Thompson served in the war with the Indiana volunteers. His father was a soldier in the war of 1812, and was with William Henry Harrison at Tippecanoe. He held public office for nearly forty years, and his son inherits his ability.

EDWARD PAYNE THOMPSON.

People Live on Putrid Fish.

The people who live in the Barotse country develop the muscles of their arms, chests and backs to an abnormal degree, but they seem to be able to use their strength for nothing but canoeing. The Barotse are great fishermen, using all manner of nets, traps and assegais for catching their fish. They, however, seem to prefer fish other than fresh. Sometimes they kipper their catch, and occasionally they are fit for food and untainted, but more often remind one of "Cape snoek." But their great delight seems to be fish they find floating in the water, caught, killed and half eaten by a fish eagle. The fish have been killed probably three or four days, and are usually putrid when found. In this condition the Barotse eat them with evident satisfaction. The great number of lepers found on the river can probably be traced to this filthy practice.

An Unusual Case.

The late Senator Morrill once told a journalist that he had never asked a voter or legislator for his suffrage, and had never spent money to bring about his election.

Scarlet Flowers Are Hardy.

Scarlet flowers are said to stand drought better than any others.

It is a pity a man's mistakes are not forgotten as soon as he is.

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....MARCH 23, 1899.

CLUB NOTES.

The L. L. C. met Saturday with Mrs. Geo. Schaab and although the inclement weather kept many at home those who were present enjoyed the afternoon session. The subject for the day was "Michigan" with Mrs. Nusbaum as leader. She had prepared her work with care and brought to the club much valuable information. She had asked others to assist her, and Mrs. Schaab gave to the club a good description of the lumber camps of Michigan. Mrs. Ralston gave her personal recollections of a visit to the "Fruit Belt," which made the mouths of the listeners water. The copper mines were described by Mrs. Emanuel. The schools and colleges were given much prominence by Miss McTighe in a carefully prepared paper.

The paper, "A Trip to Petoskey by Water," by Miss Nellie Buckley was omitted on account of Miss Buckley's absence. "In a Stage Coach," was the title of a paper by Mrs. Willis. A part of the paper was an account of a ride in the stage coach from Fort Wayne to Auburn many years ago, with the roads very much in the condition they are at present only "more so." Mrs. Lackey in a carefully compiled paper, gave a short account of the "Noted Men and Women of Michigan." The business of the anniversary took a great deal of time, as it always does as it is "the event" of the club year. The anniversary will be an evening reception, each member being allowed two guests, and the reception will be held at the home of Mrs. Lackey on the evening of April 4. The necessary committee was appointed, and the club adjourned to meet next Saturday with Mrs. Nusbaum.

Given up by Four Doctors.

Beaver Dam, O.

My daughter, after being treated by four doctors and being given uy for lost, a neighber recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. Today she is able to walk several miles without fatigue. I feel we would have lost her if it was not for your medicine.

Yours Resp'y, MRS. J. M. BAILEY.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank the kind friends and neighbors, who so greatly assisted us with the aid and sympathy during our late sad bereavement, the sickness and death of our little son.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE RUDOLPH

This is an Interesting Case.

Some time in January, says the Chesterton Tribune, Carlson Bros., of Whiting, mailed a letter to W. H. Babcock, Chesterton, Ind., which had enclosed a check for $26, made payable to J. Babcock, to pay a milk bill with. There are two W. H. Babcocks there, and of course, the wrong one got the letter. He opened it and finding nothing but a check payable to J. Babcock, took it to John Babcock, who lives on the Long farm. John looked at the check, and wondered who could be so good to him. Then he went to the bank and cashed it, and had a right good time with the money. In the meantime "Hod" was wondering why his milk check did not arrive. Finally he wrote, and after a lot of investigation got onto the true state of affairs. He went to John, but John advised him to sell off some of his stock and have a good time too. Carlson Bro. refuse to pay the bill twice, and the result is the production of a nice question for the lawyers to decide. Carlson Bros. have not paid their creditor, but do they have a case against the man who got the money? In short, where are they all at.

Our Six Year Old Daughter.

Our little six-year old daughther had a very sore throat, badly ulcerated, and coughed almost incessantly. Gave the White Wine of Tar Syrup according to directions and she began to improve immediately and soon got well. Mrs. Groves and I have recommended it to others, and we consider it the very best medicine in use. REV. D. H. GROVES, Pastor M. E Church, Clarksville, Mo. Davenport's.

Did Not Pull the Trigger.

[Goshen Democrat.]

A short time ago when Elkhart was infested with burglars, Henry Stevens' house was robbed. I order to prevent a repetition Mr. Stevens purchased a large revolver and kept it under his pillow so as to be fully prepared should any stranger succeed in making an entrance. A few nights ago Mr Stevens heard a noise down stairs. He hastily jumped out of bed, grasped the weapon and took up a position at the head of the stairway. He directed the gun toward where the sound came from and was just about to pull the trigger when he though it would be well to call out. He did so and to his surprise his little daughter answered him. The child had walked down stairs in her sleep. The sound of her father's voice awakened her. This is the first time that the little girl has experienced somnambulism, but Mr. Stevens will hereafter keep the revolver locked in his desk.

From an Ohio Minister.

I have used Dr. Warner's White Wine of Tar Syrup for sore throat, weak lungs, coughs and colds; it surpasses all other remedies I have tried. With many thanks to the doctor for his valuable remedy, I remain.

Clyde, O. REV. G. W. HAGANS.

A Breath of Spring ..at the.. BAZAR STORE in these suggestions. If you buy them here you secure worth and best ideas recognized as leading qualities that return you every cent of value in service and in comfort. Values here are such as will give zest to your buying, will make you feel that its best to come here.

Lace Curtains 3 yd long by 1¼ wide per pair	88c
Lace Curtains 3¼ yd long by 1½ wide per pair	$1.39
Lace Curtains 3½ yd long by 1½ wide per pair	$1.59
Scrim—something new—Swiss Ruffle.....	98c
Scrim—something new—Swiss Ruffle, Pleated.....	$1.48
Blinds in all shades from 10c 35c a curtain Best of fixtures
Curtain Poles with fixtures 10c to 20c
Scrim for Curtains, 8c to 18c per yard
Embroideries An elegant assortment in all widths at 4c to 19c and upward
Carpet Warp one-half pound Spools white at 16c
Carpet Warp one-half pound Spools in all colors at 18c
Dress LININGS, the new things in stripes for 16 cents per yard
Taffita LININGS in colors for 10c yard
Hosiery Ladies' and Men's hosiery, the best values to be had, for 8, 10 and 15c per pair
Ladies' Corsets, a regular 50c corset for.....	28c
Ladies' high-bust Corset, sold everywhere for 75c you can have one for.....	48c
Misses' Corsets, well stayed for.....	50c

Easter Shades in Ladies' Gloves, the new things, for (We fit every pair before leaving the store) $1 a pair

Torchon Laces, a big assortment in this line all width from 2c to 16c per yard. The real things

Ginghams, bright, new stock, the best to be had from 5½ to 9c

Groceries When the Prices Fits

Because they are never expected to pay more than the item is worth and more often just a little less than its real value, is why good buyers make this store head quarters. Its most important with the numerous given needs for home that each purchase be right to the fullest value. Finding it that way here, or the money back, makes this store what thoughtful buyers appreciate. A little list submitted the early March buyers.

Tomatoes.....	8c Can	Jackson soap 4c cake, 9 cake	25c
Pumkin.....	8c Can	Key soap 3c cake, 10 cake	25c
Sugar Corn.....	8c Can	Happy Thought 4c cake, 9 for	25c
Peaches.....	8c Can	1 lb Seedless Raisins.....	8c
Salmon.....	8c Can	1 lb Currents cleaned.....	8c
Sardines.....	5c Can	Bulk Raisins seedless.....	7c
Pure Casteel Soap.....	5c Cake	Bulk Raisins 4 crown.....	8c
Glycerine Soap.....	5c Cake	Bulk Raisins 3 crown.....	5c
Buttermilk Soap.....	4c Cake	All Package Coffee.....	10c

A full line of Tin and Granite Ware too numerous to mention.

The Bazar,

Auburn, Indiana.

COURT NEWS

Monday's Daily.

The case of Ober vs Broderick was concluded as far as testimony is concerned and Judge has taken it under advisement. Rose and Rose were attorney for Ober, and P. V. Hoffman for Broderick.

Ben. Stiefel came over from Butler this morning in answer to a polite call from court, and paid a fine and costs of $13.40 for assault. This is the outcome of the trouble ther the other day as reported in the COURIER Stiefel and a friend went up into the office of attorneys Dunten & Holmes to clean them out, and were themselves cleaned out. Stiefel was badly cut with an inkstand, and still shows it.

In the Carl Elson case, a petition signed by many Richland people has been presented to ask that a rehearing be had. They think there is new evidence that was not given at the time Nelson plead guilty. It is likely the case will be opened, and be heard as soon as the Fish-Dutton murder case is finished.

This, Monday, afternoon at 1:30 the case against Ben Fish for killing Dutton, was called. He was brought into court and the jury took their seats. The attorneys on both sides are examining jurors as we close our paper, and the jury is not yet complete.

Tuesday's Daily.

As noted yesterday they were making up the jury in the Fish murder case as we went to press. This was completed to a little after 4 p. m., and the prosecution presented its case and jury were given a few minutes rest before beginning to take testimony. The jury now stands for this case:

Abner Lewis, Frank W. Olinger, Wm Ensley, Morton Wilson, D. B. Shoemaker, Samuel Gibson, Jerome Showalter, Henry L. Houser, Thomas Hall A. E. Chapman, Emillius Case, James N. McBride.

WITNESSES.

The first witness called by the state, was Frank Tonnesen, the undertaker who took charge of Dutton's body and prepared it for burial. He said he was called to the house about 7 p. m. of the 27th of February and found the body of Dutton lying on its back in a pool of blood, near the stove, on the north side it with his head to the west. A good many people were there including Marshal Freese I got several to help me carry the body to the sample wagon I had brought along. When we got to the sidewalk at the edge of town we took the body and carried it along the sidewalk and to the store. There we put it in the rear of the room. I dressed the body about 11 p. m. Had examined the wounds. One was about 2½ inches above the heart. I probed it to the depth of about 4 inches. The bullet seemed to have taken a direction downward. Did not probe far enough to find the ball. There was the sign of another wound on the left side of the neck. It showed a black spot as if discolored with powder. I washed it and found it had the skin bruised as if a bullet had grazed it. I prepared the body, and delivered it to the brother of deceased who took it to Jackson, Mich.

Cross examined by Sharpless. Mr. Mountz the deputy prosecutor notified me to go and care for the body. Got the sample wagon at the livery stable. Know the wound was a gunshot I have had several cases of gunshot wounds. A man not long ago, shot his wife two or three times. Bullet hole was ¼ to ½ inch in diameter Deceased had on a dark shirt between his under shirt and outer shirt. Had on coat, but bullet did not go through coat, as it was open.

Dr. E. V. Campbell called, Am coroner of the county. Was called to Garrett evening of Feb 27. Got there about 9 a. m. Found body of Dutton at Tonnesen's store. Front part of shirt was torn aside. I examined wound, but did not hold a post mortem. I held an inquest. Am licensed physician, have practiced 2 years. I did not probe the wound very carefully. Put my finger into the hole. Thought the bullet had been turned downward, as if it had struck the rib.

Cross ex. by Moody: Think gunshot killed him, according to the evidence Dutton was about 6 ft tall and weighed about 165 lbs. In reply to a question by Moody, said the man may have been leaning forward when shot.

Ernest Peters called. I live next north of Mrs. Fish. Saw the two men come along and go in there about 4 p. m. that day. I was reading a paper. Did not hear any noise or loud talking In about half an hour, I started to go down town, when Mrs. Fish came out and called to me and said she had just shot a man who was stabbing her boy. The two girls were standing near her. She said I must go for the marshal. I went down town. Did not find the marshal at first but soon reached him by telephone. Alsie Mostcame up and he and I and the marshal went out to the house. Found a gread crowd there. Mrs. Fish and the girls were in the house. One wore a yellow wrapper, one white and one pink.

Cross ex. by Moody: I did not know either of the men, Dutton or Compton, nor Bennie Fish. Did not see the other man leave the house. Did not see the girls get out of the window as that was on the south side of the house where I could not see.

Adjourned till 9 a. m. Tuesday.

NOTES.

F. C. Rheubottom of Union City, Branch Co. Mich., occupied a seat with the counsel for the prisoner. He is Bennie Fish's guardian and came here to do what he can in a proper way. for him. He feels that it is an unfortunate affair at best.

Both jurors and attorneys spoke of the full and extended account of the preliminary examination that was given in the COURIER.

Of those on the regular panel who put off the jury, were R. C. Baxter and C. W. Graham. Of the regular panel who were kept on, were Wm. Ensley, Mort. Wilson, Jerome Showalter, Henry L. Houser and Thomas Hall.

The state challenged G. W. Maxwell because he had been bailiff of the grand jury that had indicted Fish, but the Judge said this made no difference in law. Maxwell, however, was objected off later on.

The state has Pomeroy and Mountz to assist Prosecutor Rhodes, while, Moody and Sharpless are for the defense.

TUESDAY A. M.

Court opened at 9:20. The first witness called was Frank Compton, the man who went to Fish's with the murdered man, Dutton.

I reside at Garrett since last November. Fireman on the B. & O. Knew Dutton. Feb. 27, met him at the City Hotel, Garrett. Was not very intimate with him. Had worked with him on the road. Met about 1 p. m. Went to Nick Ritter's, took a drink of whisky. Walked about, took another drink of whisky. Then to Dutton's room east of Ross House. Two men were there. We staid nearly an hour. Went on street. Dutton said I will put up my watch, and get money and have some fun Did not get the money I got it of a friend. He had a pint of whisky. Took another drink. Went out to Fish's and got there about 3:30 p. m. Went to west door, facing street. Miss Maxwell came to door, said come in. We went in told the girls how sweet they looked. (Here the testimony was in relation to what was said and done there, in talking with the girls, etc. etc., and is not fit for publication.)

About a half hour later, he said they were in the sitting room together, and Mrs. Fish came in from another room and after a few words she went back. Soon after, Bennie came in from same room. As he came in Dutton said "What Yellowhammer is that?" Bennie said "G—d d—m you I'll get you." Fish went into another room. Dutton picked up a poker and said "Watch and see him get me." Fish came in in a few seconds with the revolver. He threw it around, it went off. Dutton smashed him with the poker. Fish fired again. Dutton hit him again, and fell to floor. Dutton said "I'm shot." I said my G—d what did you do that for?" Fish said nothing, but began pulling open his shirt. There were three shots. The first time, the revolver went off. The other two Fish fired. Here the poker was introduced. It is about two feet long, of ¾ iron and the usual hook at the end

After Dutton was shot, he threw up his hands, stepped back a few feet and fell. Fish opened Dutton's shirt. I went out to road, then to B. & O. depot, then down town. met a B. & O. conductor, next met Mr. Thumma, Ex postmaster. He is a friend of mine. I reported to Mr. Mountz. I saw Dutton's body after it had been brought to Tonnesen's store. Dutton had told me he was 23. I am 25.

Cross ex. by Moody, I have been a railroad man since last December. Had worked for the Pa. Co. at Fort Wayne three years. I gave up my position as fireman next day after the killing of Dutton. Came in from my last run about a week before this trouble I had no regular run, but waited to be called. At Ritter's, I paid for the drinks. Then walked north, and to a billiard room. Did not play, looked on awhile, and went north to the corner saloon. I bought the whisy again. At Dutton's room we left the other two men, when we went away. The reason I set up the drinks, I thought Dutton had no money. He tried to pawn his watch at Ritter's but failed. Come out and said he "could not get the $2." I said I'll go to a friend of mine and get it. I went to Mr. Thumma and got it Dutton then said "We'll go out to Fish's." We went. When I went to get $2 of Thumma, Dutton walked with me to the postoffice and staid outside while I went in and got the money. We took a drink from a pint of whisky Dutton had, a short distance before reaching the Fish house. Dutton did not drop the bottle and break it, and we did not go back to get another. Do not know where he got whisky. Did not meet a young girl as we went out. We drank about a third of the pint while going out. Think Dutton got that bottle at his room. Were not drunk. Do not know Ernest Peters.

Wednesday's Daily.

When Fish came into the room, was nothing remarkable about that, but Dutton looked at me and said loud enough for Fish to hear. "What G—d d—m yellowhammer is that? Bennie replied, "G—d d—m you I'll get you," and stepped into the other room. As he came out the revolver went off. Did not hit Dutton. Dutton struck. Fish fired again. Dutton did not kick one of the girls before the trouble began. He had the whisky but the girls did not drink, not in my presence. Did not see one of the girls writing when we went in. We did not complain of their not paying attention to us. Was not a word said about kicking over chairs. Returned to town by a different way as did not wish to have any one see me come from there After Dutton fell I saw Ben down on one knee opening Dutton's shirt. Did not see blood on Dutton's head. Dutton hit Ben's head both times he struck. Re-direct, we were not intoxicated. Saw gun after shooting. It lay on floor near Dutton. Ben dropped it when he bent down over Dutton.

Revolver was produced and the Judge ordered the loads drawn. Marshal Freese drew the loads, and they were laid on the reporter's table. Compton recognized the gun by blood on cylinder, and it was put in evidence.

Here the jury were given a rest of five minutes.

Marshal Freese called. Was called to the Fish residence at about 5 p. m. Elsie Most called me. Got there found dead man on floor, near stove. Several people there. Saw Mrs. Fish. Asked her who did it. She said I did. I took charge of premises. Staid till Tonnesen took body away. Revolver was on dresser. Mrs. Fish showed me where it was. That is the revolver, lying there. It had three loads and three empty shells, was some blood on cylinder. Poker lay near. I got there about half hour after the shooting. Saw one bullet mark between the door and window, through the plastering about five feet from floor. Found no other hole. Was a pane of glass broken and a hole at same place, in lace curtain. Windows had board shutters. (No cross ex.)

TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

The testimony of Marshal Freese was continued. Saw no bullet hole in the shutter where the window pane was broken. Some broken pieces of glass still in window.

Compton was recalled but nothing new found.

THE DEFENSE.

Mr. Moody outlined what the defense would try to establish. They would show that the revolver belonged to Fish, that he was in the habit of practicing at a mark, that he had stood at the rear of the house and shot at various objects such as boxes, the outhouse, etc., on which the marks could be seen. He would show that when the trouble began, the revolver was lying on a table, that Bennie had taken it up, and put it into his pocket, but that it had been accidentally discharged.

The first witness called was yardmaster Sweeny who was expected to say that Compton had told him a different story the night of the murder. But Sweeny could not testify as the matter was already in writing from the coroner's inquest.

Geo. L. Godfrey was called. He is a Pottowattamie Indian, one of the noted family of which Chief Godfrey was the the head. Has had charge of a reservation of 1900 acres. It is now divided up and he has 123 acres. He knew Bennie Fish who has worked for a number of farmers he named. His reputation is good. I was 38 last October. Have rheumatism and do not get about much. Never heard that Bennie was liviug in a house of ill fame.

Geo. Reed called. Bennie had worked for him. Had a good reputation.

J. F. Springer another farmer near Fort Wayne, that Bennie had worked for said same.

'Squire Gage, of Garrett. Am a carpenter. Have seen the Fish property. Had examined the walls of the room where the shooting was. Found no bullet holes. Was one hole in side of room about 5ft high between window and door, may have been made by a nail to hang a picture. Only went through the lath and plaster. Saw broken window pane, but no hole in shutter. On cross ex. he said he had been asked to make examination. Also he saw two bullet holes in the outhouse where Bennie had shot at mark. Both holes went through both sides.

John Crowe, Garrett testified to same as to no bullet holes in house, and two in out house.

Wm Bonnell called. My wife is Bennie's sister. We live 4½ in south Fort Wayne. Have known Bennie 7 years, when I was breaking for B. & O. He was then living with his mother and his stepfather Mr. Fish. They kept the Tarney House. I was laid off in 1894. Was married at Union City, Mich., which had been the home of my wife's people. When Bennie's father died, the latter was 18 months old. He has made his home with us since we were married. He visits his mother now and then. I do not know where his stepfather, Fish is. Witness named many farmers Ben had worked for, including T. E. Ellison (All the Allen county witnesses, as well as Chief Godfrey, say Bennie was well thought of.) I brought Bennie to the train the Thursday before the shooting and gave him money to go to Garrett.

F. C. Rheubottom called. I live at Union City, Mich. Am guardian for Bennie and the others. Have been since Bennie was about 4 years old. His father had a farm when he died, I am a furniture man. I have Bennie come up there once or twice a year. He stays a short time. I get him good clothes and he goes home.

Adjourned till 8:30 Wednesday.

(Continued next week.)

Prefer the Wrong Story

The oft noted fact that of two statements of a matter, one correct and the other incorrect, the incorrect one will be accepted, is again seen to be true. Judge Hartman sentenced Carl Nelson, who assaulted John Keen with an ax, to an indeterminate sentence of "two to fourteen years." Of course, this means that the man, if he behaves himself will be released after two years. But nearly every exchange we pick up says the sentence was "fourteen years" which they say is pretty severe for such an offense. We could never understand why these things should happen so.

Pneumonia Follows La Grippe.

but pneumonia cannot follow Foley's Honey and Tar. Pneumonia is striking down hundreds of those who thought they were cured of la Grippe. Foley's Honey and Tar, taken during or after la Grippe, is guaranteed to prevent pneumonia.

What Can We Offer You

In the way of.....

HARDWARE and FARM MACHINERY

that will attract your attention?

We have the most complete stock ever seen in our city, and you know that, as usual, our prices are right

Do you need anything for spring that we carry

?

Do you know that we have built up a wonderful trade by right prices and right goods.

?

Do you know that we have the most complete stock of

Hardware, Farm Machinery Wagons and Buggies

in DeKalb County.

?

If you will drop in and see us we will be able to convince you at once that we have the goods that you want, and the prices alone will tell the story.

Don't fail to see our Carriage Repository, it is the finest in Northern Indiana,

Culbertson & Boland

Auburn, Ind.

We Want to Furnish Your New House.

Many newly married people, desiring a house keeping outfit, and others with new houses to furnish, have recently written us inquiring whether we ever ship goods out-of-town before they are entirely paid for. Usually we do not Our goods are marked at absolutely the lowest possible cent for cash. On an average our prices are 20 per cent below those of Chicago and other large cities, where merchants are burdened with fearful expenses. Still if you want a large bill of goods and cannot pay all at the time of purchase, we will try and make some arrangement with you. by which you can give a note or fix it in some other way. You cannot afford to pay the exorbitant prices charged by Installment stores—that would be ruinous. A hundred dollars would scarcely get you the goods we would sell you for $50. Write us therefore, when you are ready to purchase As we pay the freight on goods to your town, you buy them just as cheaply as one of our Fort Wayne citizens living only around the corner. We have the finest carpet and furniture house in the state.

FOSTER FURNITURE AND CARPET CO.

A Pretty Store.

The big anniversary sale at Jones & Son's store began yesterday, and hundreds of people called to buy as well as to admire. And to admire not only the lovely goods, but the no less lovely decorations of the store. The show windows on each side of the entrance are visions of beauty, whether seen from outside or within. And no less beautiful are the draped alcoves above the shelving on the north side, each containing an artistic figure or decorative piece, made of lovely material. Go and see them, is the only way to understand their beauty. It should be said that all this decorative work is the invention and skill of Miss Mary Beuret, who certainly has a fine talent in this direction. Then you should see the stacks of lovely goods opened and sold. They are the pick of the market.

Viola Allen's Literary Aspirations.

Miss Viola Allen, the "star" of Hall Caine's dramatization of his popular novel, "The Christian," has always aspired to be an author. She has said that there are two things which she would rather do than act: write a book, or be a trained nurse. She will now make her literary debut in an article which she has written for The Ladies' Home Journal, reciting and explaining fully "What the Life of an Actress Means."

St. Joe Election

At St. Joe's first election yesterday, they chose, Samuel Widney, Alx. Filley and Abe Copp for council; Vester Widney, Clerk; Tom Abel, Marshal. and Mr. Grubb, Treasurer.

IDEAL MUSIC,

"Sweet as the angel Israfil's,
When every leaf on Eden's tree
Was trembling to his minstrelsy."

can be produced from an EBERSOLE PIANO. The Ebersole possesses a tone that no other maker has been able to imitate—being full and deep, yet with that clear singing quality which stamps it the peer of all upright pianos for homes of culture and refinement.

Frank B. Long,
119 Calhoun-St. cor Washington,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

HUMPHREYS' ANIMAL SPECIFICS.

A. A. CURES	FEVERS, Lung Fever, Milk Fever.
B. B. CURES	SPRAINS, Lameness, Rheumatism
C. C. CURES	EPIZOOTIC, Distemper.
D. D. CURES	WORMS, Bots, Grubs.
E. E. CURES	COUGHS, Colds, Influenza.
F. F. CURES	COLIC, Bellyache, Diarrhea.
G. G.	Prevents MISCARRIAGE.
H. H. CURES	KIDNEY & BLADDER DISORDERS.
I. I. CURES	MANGE, Skin Diseases.
J. K. CURES	BAD CONDITION, Staring Coat.

50c. each; Stable Case, Ten Specifics, Book, &c., $7. At druggists or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Humphreys' Medicine Co., Cor. William & John Sts., New York. VETERINARY MANUAL SENT FREE.

NERVOUS DEBILITY,

VITAL WEAKNESS

and Prostration from Overwork or other causes.

Humphreys' Homeopathic Specific No. 28, in use over 40 years, the only successful remedy.

$1 per vial, or 5 vials and large vial powder, for $5 Sold by Druggists, or sent post-paid on receipt of price. HUMPHREYS' MED. CO., Cor. William & John Sts., New York

William's Kidney Pills

Has no equal in diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs. Have you neglected your Kidneys? Have you overworked your nervous system and caused trouble with your Kidneys and Bladder? Have you pains in the loins, side, back, groins and bladder? Have you a flabby appearance of the face, especially under the eyes? Too frequent desire pass urine? William's Kidney Pills will impart new life to the diseased organs, tone up the system and make a new man of you. By mail 50 cents per box.

WILLIAMS MFG. CO., Props., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Prevents Dandruff and hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

THE GRAND OPENING!

Takes Place Friday and Saturday,

...March 24th & 25th...

THE STORE FOR THE PEOPLE for ALL the People!

MONEY BACK without question if your purchases are not satisfactory.

THE buyers for the BIG STORE, with unlimited capital, have scoured the earth for the amazing values which will MAKE THIS OPENING WEEK MEMORABLE.

GEO. W. LACKEY,

Successor to the Bishop & Lackey Co.,

AUBURN, INDIANA.

Consisting of large lines Dress Silks, Dress Goods, Lace, Lace Curtains, Embroideries, Flannels, Blankets, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Shirt Waists, Shirts, Ginghams, Cottons, Calicoes, Percales, Dress Linings, Dress Trimmings, Handkerchiefs' Ladies' and Gents Neckwear, Suspenders, Notions, Corsets, Drapery Goods, Jewelry Ornaments, Umbrellas, Ribbons, Carpets Curtains, etc.

EVERYTHING TO WEAR For Women & Children

HIGH-CLASS, UP-TO-DATE GOODS AT POPULAR PRICES. NO TRASH HERE!

WE hope to see you and your friends and their friends, and their friends' friends, for this is going to be

THE EVENT of THE YEAR

Every Price Here Named & Every Price Throughout the House IS A Souvenir Price

LADIES' SILK WAISTS

The largest line we have ever shown. Prices ranging from.. 3.50 to $10.00

BELT BUCKLES

Special sale of the finest line of Buckles in Gilt Oxidized, Plain and Enameled Rose Gold, French Greys, Jeweled with Turquoise, Ruby, Amethyse and Emrald settings.

BUTTONS

100 dozen Pearl Buttons, two holes, fine quality, worth 10c to 15c doz. Grand Opening Price..... 5c doz

CYRANO CHAINS

The latest craze, good assortment ..... 25 to 50c

GENTS' FURNISHINGS

New Spring Teeks, Bows, Four-in-hands.
Negligee Shirts, right up-to-date. Soft Madras Shirts, beautiful assortment at correct prices.

TRUNKS, VALISES AND TELESCOPES

Canvas covered telescopes with leather straps and corners, sewed leather handles, cloth lined at 50c to 1 25

MUSLIN UNDERWEAR

We are showing the largest line of Muslin Underwear and our sales in this department are far ahead of any previous season. We handle nothing but first-class, well-made goods.

LIBERTY SILK TIES

Just Received with Plaited, Shirred and Ruffled ends.

CURTAINS

Dainty new Curtains of Lace and Muslin Organdys, Dutches and Point De 'spret

55c per pair is the price we name on Nottingham Lace Curtains 3 yards long, others get 75c for this quality. We have them equally as cheap and on up to 1 75

Brussel Nets 3 1-2 yards long per pair from..... 4 50 up

HOSIERY

Chidren's Fast Black Hose, sizes 5 to 9's, absolutely the best values that can be offered, Per pair..... 10c

Misses' and Children's Fancy Striped and Plaid Hose, all sizes, Bright Colors; Per pair from..... 25 to 50c

Full line of Ladies' fast black Cotton Lisle and Silk Hose, Per pair, from..... 10c to $1

Ladies' Fancy Plaid and Striped Hose, entirely new, Per pair..... 25c

Ladies' Fancy Hose, lace effects, Per pair..... 35 to 50c

NEW PARIS DRESS TRIMMINGS.

New Butterfly Bow Knots and Swallow effects.

Elaborate designs for fancy waist fronts applique work.

Rare novelties not shown elsewhere and an unlimited assortment to choose from.

The New Spring Millinery

The grand opening in this department takes place Friday and Saturday. We think we have surpassed our own best previous efforts; hence we are enthusiastic over the exhibit. You are invited to come and feast your eyes uyon the beauiy-pieces from the shops of Paris and New York. Pattern hats all of them. By their side the wonder-working from the deft fingers of our own milliners are shown.

We print no list of offerings or prices, because printer's ink can do but scant justice to a showing such as this. A cordial welcome is extended to you all.

NEW SPRING RIBBONS

Moire Taffeta Ribbons in all silk, extra fine quality, in all colors. No. 5, 5c; No. 7, 7c; No. 9, 9c; No 12, 12c; No. 16, 16c; No. 22, 22c. An endless variety of very latest and most stylish effects in rich fancy ribbons.

LADIES' TAILOR MADE SUITS

Fly-front Reefer Suits Covert, Broad Cloth and Serge. Jackets lined throughout. Latest model circular and flare skirt; Green, Blue, Gray and Black, worth $12.50.. $10.00

$12.50 for handsome Tailor Made Suits, New Pearl and French Greys, Rox Royal Blue, Brown and Black, worth $15.00.

Ladies' Tailor Made Skirts in Venetian Cloth, Storm Serge, Covert and Brocades, the newest and latest productions, at from..... 1.29 to $7.00

All Over Laces, in Cream and Buttered that ought to create a sensation.

WRAPPERS

Ladies' well-made Wrappers, full skirts, at..... 49, 69, 98c

CORSETS

We carry all the leading makes of Corsets in sizes 18 to 32; prices..... 29, 39, 50c and up

As a special during this sale we offer the Celebrated 302 Cresco at..... 89c

CARPETS AND MATTING

The designs are the very handsomest of the new styles for this spring's trade. Wilton Velvets, Axminster, Velvets, Brussels, Body Brussels, Brussels Weave Ingrain Carpets.

All-wool Ingrain Carpets..... 40, 50 and 60c

C. C. Carpets from..... 25, 35 and 40c

75 Rolls Japanese and China Mattings from 12½ to ..... 35c per yd

BLACK DRESS GOODS

Lapins, Black French Crepons, Silks and Wool, per yd 50c, 75c, 1.00, 1.25, 1,50, 1.75, 2.00 and $2.25.

One hundred pieces Cashmeres, Serges, Poplins, Whip Cord, Armures and Sicilians.

UMBRELLAS

100 Cotton Serge, made on good steel frames cheap at 49c, Grand Opening Price 39c

Ladies' 26-in Silk and Linen Umbrella, best steel rods and frames, worth 90c, Grand Opening Price..... 79c

COLORED DRESS GOODS

Lupins, Crepons, Cashmeres, Serges, Whip Cord, Poplins, etc.

20 pieces 38-in Spring Bayadere fancies worth 25c yd, Grand Opening Price..... 19c

10 pieces 40-in Spring Novelties, worth 50c yd, Grand Opening Price..... 30c

Real French Broad Cloths, 52-in wide in the new shades for Spring Tailor Made Combination Suits, including Gray, Blue, Tan and Brown.

25 pieces English Cashmere, all the new Spring shades, worth 30c yd, Grand Opening Price 25c

20 pieces Fancy Plaids for waists, worth per yd 25c, 50c, 75c, 1.00 and $1.75

SILKS

All the very latest up-to-date styles, Colered Taffetas, light and dark effects, Striped Taffetas, Satin Pekin Taffeta and a great display of desirable fancy silks.

WASH FABRICS

An elegant line of Percales 36-in wide, worth 10c, per yd..... 7c

Amoskeag Ginghams worth 7c yd. Grand Opening Sale Price..... 5c

Amoskeag Fine A. F. C. Ginghams.
Barnaby Madras Ginghams.
Parkhill Toile de Nord Ginghams.
Victoria Zephyr Ginghams, all at the lowest prices.
Pique, LaBelle, Crepons, per yard 8c.
Royal Ride Pique, 10 to 20c.
Double width Victory Print at 5c.
See our line of Dotted Swiss, Fine Irish Dimity, White Welts, etc., beautiful line, all prices.

Monday's Daily.

—Take a dollar and a wheel barrow to Davenport's for Wall Paper.

—Frank Shugers returned today to his home at Coldwater Michigan.

—Don't think about buying shoes until you have seen the new styles at Shull's shoe store. D-W-tf.

—FOR SALE. Two good horses, ages 7 and 4. Call on T. J. Baxter 2½ miles east of Summit, Ind.

—In Wall Paper, we are showing the New Granis for 7½ cents. They please anyone. Davenport the druggist.

—If you want the latest styles and the best good shoes to be had for the money patronize Shulls shoe store.

—Dr. W. H. Madden, at Butler, is reported a little better, but he is still a very sick man and not out of danger.

—Under the new laws, the superintendent of the poor farm who is to be appointed in June, will serve for two years.

—Wm Walker son of Geo. K. Walker of Waterloo, was a caller at this office, Friday, paying up the COURIER into 1900.

—Mrs. W. E. Rush was down town yesterday, at her son Frank's. It is now, some months since we have noticed her out of doors.

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co., Goshen, Ind. 8

—Cal. Husselman says he has had his windmill up for over twenty years and it has never had the pipes frozen till this winter. They are 42 inches deep.

—Cal. Husselman's house, that takes the place of the one burned at the south side of his farm, is done, and a family is in it. That is pretty quick work —Surveyor Krontz went out today to survey and view the Samuel Brandon ditch, east of town. The viewers are Jacob Christoffel, John Hoffelder and Byron McEnterfer.

—March 4, Dean C. Worcester of Ann Arbor, and the others of the Philippine commission reached Manila. He is the husband of Aggie Leas, a former Auburn girl

—M Seitold, of Garrett, called today and subscribed for the "Old Reliable." Mr, Seitbold has elegant property at Garrett which he desires to exchange for farm land

—Geo. Baxter was home over Sunday from Pierceton. He is employed there in the grocery of Wm. Kruger, and likes his position and the town quite well. We are glad to hear it.

—MARRIED:—Last Saturday evening at the Lutheran parsonage by J. D. Brosy, Clarence McDonald and Christie Hanes, both are Auburn young people, and we wish them a happy life.

—BEGG'S HAIR RENEWER.—The old reliable Hair Restorer and Invigorator, for over thirty years the leader in its line. If you give it a trial you will recommend it to your friends. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—If you have a cough, throat irritation, weak lungs, pain in the chest, difficult breathing, croup or hoarseness, let us suggest One Minute Cough Cure Always reliable and safe. Fischler & Son and H. B McCord.

—Mrs. Mary McDowell is home from her visit with her aunt Mrs. Hixson at Cedar. She says Mrs. Hixson was seriously hurt by her fall, and but little can be done for her. But they hope will get about again in time.

—Happy is the man or woman who can eat a good hearty meal without suffering afterward. If you cannot do it, take KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE. It digests what you eat, and cures all forms of Dispepsia and Indigestion. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—Princess Kailulani, niece of "Queen Lil" died at Honolulu March 10, at the age of 23. She would have been queen if Queen Lil had remained on the throne. Her father was Gov, Cleghorn an American, and her mother a Hawaiian. Princess Miriam Likelike, —FOR SALE:—The former residence of G. A. Porter on North Main-st, Auburn, Ind. This is a desirable residence property, the lot is 66 by 240 feet extending from Main-st to the bank of Cedar Creek. Enquire of Mrs. Philip Myers, West Joseph-st Auburn.

—As the season of the year when pneumonia, la grippe, sore throat, colds, coughs, catarrh, bronchitis and lung troubles are to be guarded against, nothing "is a fine substitute," will "answer the purpose," or is "just as good" as One Minute Cough Cure. That is the one infallible remedy for all lung, throat or bronchial troubles. Insist vigoorously upon having it if "something else" is offered you. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—Engineer VanAuken has ascertained, that the ground at the Lake Shore station is about 4 feet higher than the ground at the public square in Auburn, and that the ground at the Junction is at least no lower than at the public square. The ground at Garrett is about 20 feet higher than the ground at Auburn. This will also be a surprise to some.

Do you understand that the persistant use of Begg's Blood Purifier and Blood Maker will drive disease germs out of your system and life will again be worth living. You cannot cure it in one week or one month, a blood trouble that has been years in getting a foothold. Begg's Little Giant Pills should be taken twice a week with this remedy. We keep it. H. B McCord.

—We have heard of but one deserter in our army since the Spanish war began. John W. Hayes, a corporal in the First California, now at Manila, married a Filipino woman, and soon after that deserted to the insurgent camp and fought against his former comrades. In one of the recent battles he was killed, and our men who took the ground recognized his body.

Tuesday's Daily.

—Ask any druggist for a free Pe-runa Almanac for the year 1899

—The new colorings in Wall Papers shown by Davenport are elegant.

—Will Snell of the 15th Regulars arrived home from Cuba this morning.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hartman and little son, Stanley came up from Roaan today.

—The big cruiser Oregon, the most famous ship in the world, reached Manila Saturday.

—It will pay you to see Davenport before placing your order for Wall Paper.

—A recent change in the pension laws compels a pensioner to lose half his pension if he does not support his family.

—Why let your kitchen look shabby when a dollar or so for granites will make it elegant? Davenport the druggist.

Begg's Cherry Syrup gives you the essential qualities of the cherry tree bark from which it derives its name. It cures your stubborn colds, coughs of long standing and croup. It is the best known cure for LaGrippe. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Talking about styles in shoes, if you want the real thing, call at Shull's shoe store and take a look at the new styles for spring. D-W-tf.

—Mrs. Martha Dawson, who has been visiting her father W. E. Rush, and friends here, returns to her home at Denver, Col. tomorrow.

—Clement Wolf of Waterloo was here yesterday. He is hoping to put in a big summer's work at roofing, etc, in his line.

—Rev. Brosy, O. E. Clay, Jacob Walborn and Lew Bowers went to Ft. Wayne to make arrangements for the repairing of the Lutheran church.

—Finlanders claim they have discovered the landmarks of the original Russian boundary of Alaska, and it would give us the Klondike country.

—WANTED:—Reliable man to travel in this and nearby towns; salary and expenses weekly. State age and occupation. Address, Globe Co, 723 Chestnut Street Philadelphia, Pa.

—Rev. W. L. Meese will speak at the Mission every evening this week. We hope to see the people all turn out and hear our popular townsman. Come every night that you can.

A Battle For Life. You need for perfect health a plentiful and constant supply of new blood. Begg's Blood Purifier and Blood Maker tones the stomach and assists digestion. We sell it. H. B. McCord.

—We heard a man last Friday try to buy a county order, by offering a half cent premium. This gives one an idea of the meanness and injustice of several newspapers within the past three years.

—"Give me a liver regulator and I can regulate the world," said a genius. The druggist handed him a bottle of Dewitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—What Auburn citizen does not remember the Rock Band, that made such sweet, yet strange music on the pieces of rock, when they were here a few years ago? They will be here again March 28.

—F. K. Blake, who wished to practice law in Auburn, has been for some time an attorney in Chicago. He is this spring on the ticket for alderman of the windy city. Give a DeKalb boy a chance, and he soon goes to the top rounds.

—Potatoes are a great crop, more so than the output of gold that we think is such a great thing. Last year we raised 164 million bushels, worth 89 million dollars. This was nearly 2½ bushels for each person, and the average yield per acre was 64 bushels.

—A man in Steuben county was recently brought before a justice on a charge of provoke and fined an amount which with costs was $22.75. He produced a sack of pennies and paid it all in the copper coins. So says a Lagrange paper, but a man would hardly be carrying 2,275 pennies.

BUTLER.

Uncle John I. Champion and wife returned from a long visit with their daughter, Mrs. Minnie Loeb at Chicago Both are somewhat improved in health

Dr. Madden is still lying very low, with but meager hopes of his recovery His daughter, Mrs. Jennie Lewis of Cal., left her western home last Friday and is expected here Tuesday or Wednesday.

Rev. Smith of the U. B. church has concluded his revival effort after adding very materialy to his membership.

Died at the home of his son Milton, in Butler, Indiana, March 12, 1899, in the 90th year of his age, James Dirrim, Mr. Dirrim was born in Crawford, Co. Pa., Aug. 11, 1809. He removed with his father, (who was a soldier in the war of 1812,) to Stark Oounty, Ohio in 1815. In may 1845, he removed to DeKalb County Ind., and settled in Franklin, township. On Jan. 20, 1831. he married Sarah Harkness, who died in 1834, two children being born to them. April 16, 1835, he married Hannah Gillespie, who died Sept. 21, 1893. To them were born eleven children. There remains of his family living, one brother, one sister, nine children 51, grandchildren and 56 great grandchildren, one hundred and sixteen descendants. His life was that of an exemplary christian. His funeral took place from the M E church at Hamilton. March 14. Rev. U mer of the Butler M. E. circuit officiating.

Pneumonia

is the quick agent of death. Fully one-third of the recent deaths have been from pneumonia following la Grippe. Pneumonia cannot follow the use of Foley's Honey and Tar.

WEST WILMINGTON

Mr. Fleming's barn is nearly completed and he will soon move to his new home.

Charley Imhoff of Stafford township bought the Charley Woods farm and will move onto it this spring. Mr. and Mrs. Imhoff are worthy people and we welcome them to our community.

Alfred Moody returned from Huntington last Saturday where he has been attending school since last October.

Frank Previne who was working for Mr. Rhoads the past month, went home last week.

Mr. Gugerli has bought the A.B.Wals worth farm. We are pleased to see him secure so desirable a place.

Most of the country schools close next week and the most of them are busy preparing some kind of an entertainment. The small boy likes the picnic best.

Recommended for Lagrippe.

N. JACKSON. Danville, Ill. writes: My daughter had a severe attack of the grip and ever since when she takes a cold a terrible cough settles on her lungs We tried a great many remedies without giving relief. She tried Foley's Honey and Tar which cured her. She has never been troubled with a cough since. 25 cents.

Ninety Miles an Hour

In the recent record breaking runs by the fast mail trains over the lines of Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and the Chicago and Northwestern Railroads, Cleveland Moffett, as special representative and correspondent of McClures Magazine, made the entire trip from "start to finish." Full details of the round trip, from Chicago to Omaha, which is the most recent and at the same time in the many respet and for many reasons the most interesting and most exciting "race against time" ever made in this country, are vividly desribed as they actually presented themselves to the writer, who rode in the cab beside of the engineer, whose hand on the throttle controlled the engine on this most remarkable "record breaking run." This article, which will appear in McClures Magazine for April, will be replete with illustrations and pen pictures.

We Have a Special for the Ladies for a few days only

72 Pairs Ladies Fine Shoes in Black Kid bought from an overstocked manufacturer at 75c on the dollar.

New spring last in Lace only, C. D. EEE. Width 2½ to 8 sizes, and positively worth $2.50. We offer you a pair while they last at

$1.87 per pair

This is positively the Biggest Bargain in Ladies Fine Dress Shoe we have ever offered.

Come in and see them. Ask for "Italia."

Bishop and Reidler

YOUR SHOEMAKERS.

From Soldiers' Home.

St. James, Mo., Jan. 28, 1898.

DEAR SIRS:—Please send me another 40 oz. bottle of your Syrup Pepsin. It is the VERY BEST LAXATIVE I have ever used and I am always bothered with Constipation to such a degree as to be wholly dependent upon some remedy, and this I shall now choose above all others. Davenport's.

MRS. W. D. CRANDALL, Matron.

NOTED INDIAN SCOUT.

MAJ. DRANNAN, THE CAPTOR OF CAPTAIN JACK.

A Veteran Plainsman Who Has Been a Fighter and Hunter for Fifty Years—Some of the Exploits in Which He Figured.

One of the most famous Indian scouts and the last of the great hunters and trappers common in the Rocky mountains fifty years ago is Major William F. Drannan, who still sees service among the Nez Perces of Idaho. He carries a knife with which he has scalped thirty-five Indians, after having killed them in fair fight.

It was Major Drannan who captured Captain Jack, the chief of the Modocs, in 1873, and put an end to the Modoc war. The conflict between the United States troops and the Modoc Indians broke out during one of Major Drannan's periodical attempts to "settle down" and farm. Couriers dashed up to his ranch, their horses covered with foam, and brought the news that Captain Jack and his Modocs had gone on the war path.

The whole settlement was soon in a state of great excitement. The Indians killed all the defenseless ranchers they could and then fled to the lava beds of Idaho and intrenched themselves in a cave. Somebody had to ride to Jacksonville, a hundred miles away, to warn the town and bring re-enforcements to the regular troops. Nobody cared to undertake it. Major Drannan saddled Black Bess and started at sundown. All night long the sharp eyes of the scout and the sagacious nose of his pet mare picked out the trail as unerringly as a bloodhound. Before sunrise the Major rode into Jacksonville and told the sheriff to gather a strong posse, as Captain Jack was on the war path and murdering settlers by the score. General Wheaton, in command of the regular army forces stationed at Linkville, sent for Major Drannan and commissioned him to organize a scouting force. With this force he scouted a strip of country about forty miles long every day in front of where Captain Jack and his men were intrenched in the lava beds, because the officers feared an uprising of the Utes as well. Not an Indian showed his head. Their stronghold was nothing more than a big cave in the lava rock, but it was absolutely secure. There was only one place to get in, a narrow passage, but there were numerous rifle holes on the east and south sides.

MAJ. WILLIAM M. DRANNAN.

General Wheaton determined one day on taking Captain Jack by storm and for three days the whole command, backed by howitzers, were turned loose on the Indians. The assault failed. General Wheaton lost sixty of his men, while the Indians did not appear to have been singed.

General Canby took command and tried to take Captain Jack by storm himself. He lost 100 men and failed.

A conference was arranged between General Canby, his chaplain, Colonel Thomas, two interpreters, and Captain Jack, all without arms. Before it was held Major Drannan went to Colonel Miller, Canby's aid, and said:

"Colonel, if the general ever goes to that council with Captain Jack he will never come out alive."

The Major repeated his warning again and again, but Captain Thomas said, "The Lord will protect us," and General Canby laughed at the idea of treachery.

The conference was held and General Canby, together with Colonel Thomas and George Meacham, interpreter, were traitorously shot down by the Indians.

Capture of Capt. Jack.

Major Drannan then had the cave surrounded by a double ring of guards, knowing very well that the supply of horse meat on which the Indians were living was about exhausted. Soon he found that Jack was sending the squaws and children away, to save food. Every Indian that attempted to escape was captured by Drannan and his men. They all said, "We heap hungry."

One night Drannan, scouting as usual, crossed the trail of three Indians. One track was quite large and long, a second smaller, and one quite small.

"Captain Jack, his squaw, and their little girl are running away," said Drannan to Black Bess. "They are starving, and they've started out to Clear creek to catch fish."

The Major had been in the saddle twenty-four hours, but he never hesitated. He took up the trail and followed it as rapidly as he could push ahead. Across miles and miles of gravel ridge there was nothing to go by except sometimes a bent twig or a pebble turned by the feet. Finally the Major looked down in the valley from the top of a high ridge, and caught sight of the three Indians. He tremblingly put his field glasses to his eyes, and, sure enough, it was Captain Jack, his squaw and little girl.

"Where are you going, Jack?" asked the Major, as he rode up to the big chief who had been causing all the trouble.

"Heap hungry," said Jack, dejectedly. "Guess go Clear creek catch fish."

A few hours later the old scout rode into camp with his three prisoners. The capture put an end to the Modoc war.

Drannan avenged the murder of the Davis family, which was a sensational horror of the plains thirty years ago. An inoffensive family of settlers was killed in cold blood by a party of Mexican greasers, who then made off with their cattle. The deed was laid to the Ute Indians.

"No," said Drannan, with his usual sagacity, "this is the work of greasers."

Lieutenant Jackson detailed him a squad of men and he started in pursuit. He traveled all day and about 9 o'clock at night Black Bess sniffed the air curiously.

"Here's their camp," said Drannan, triumphantly. Sure enough, by the light of the dying embers the little posse could discern the forms of the greasers. The cattle feeding near were those taken from Davis' ranch.

"We'll give you five minutes to get ready," said the Major to the Mexicans, who pleaded abjectly, as they were surrounded. At the end of five minutes they were lined up and shot.

Drannan started on his remarkable career from St. Louis with Kit Carson in 1847 and when 15 years old killed his first Indian or rather two of them. Major Drannan is to-day lithe and agile and stands 6 feet 2 inches in his stocking feet. He still eats bear meat and sleeps on an elk-skin bed.

BORN TO GRUMBLE.

Some People in Every Community Who Are Never Satisfied.

In every community there are chronic growlers, always finding fault with the existing condition of things, and no better satisfied with attempts that are made in the line of improvement.

A Western village had been sorely scourged by fire, its principal business portion having been burned twice. There was no fire department, the citizens apparently being of the opinion that it would be too expensive.

Among them was a man of the name of Grinders, who, while invariably grumbling at the lack of enterprise displayed by the business men of the place, opposed any and every attempt to organize a fire department. "We are taxed too heavily already," he said.

But after the second disastrous fire there was such a clamor for better protection in the future that the town trustees purchased a chemical engine, with hooks, ladders and the usual paraphernalia, provided a room, and a volunteer company was organized.

"It's a waste of money," said Grinders. 'It will be twenty years before there's another big fire. Mark my words. Lightning doesn't strike three times in the same place. You'll see."

Several years passed without any real occasion for the services of the new fire department. The company, it is true, turned out in response to several false alarms, and always made a creditable display when on parade, but Grinders was irreconcilable.

"Look at it!" he exclaimed. "Five hundred dollars thrown away—absolutely thrown away! I told you we shouldn't have any more fires, but you wouldn't listen to me."

One day, however, a fierce blaze broke out in one of the stores in the rebuilt business district. The fire company was promptly on hand, and by strenuous exertions put out the flames before much damage was done. The work of the "fire boys" was creditable in the highest degree, and it was the general opinion that they had saved the town from a third calamity.

"What do you think of our fire department now, Grinders?" asked one of the exultant merchants—the one, in fact, in whose store the fire had started.

"H'mph!" growled Grinders. "How much did you lose?"

"Only about thirty-five dollars," replied the merchant. "Mostly empty boxes. The boys put the fire out before it got into my goods."

"H'mph!" growled Grinders again. "Five hundred dollars to put out a thirty-five-dollar fire!"

And after that he grumbled worse than ever.—Youth's Companion.

A KIND-HEARTED WOMAN.

Fighting the Battle of Street Car Employes on Staten Island.

Mrs. George Livingston, of Staten Island, is at work fighting vigorously in the cause of the conductors and motormen of the picturesque New York Island.

She says they are overworked, are badly paid, and are not treated as if they were Americans. If they complain they are discharged. Mrs. Livingston has appealed in vain in their behalf to the vice president and manager of the New York and Staten Island Electric Company.

MRS. GEORGE LIVINGSTON.

The company, Mrs. Livingston says, will not obey the law that restricts the hours of labor of motormen and conductors to ten. The courts must enforce the law and punish the company to make it docile and sympathetic. She has directed, therefore, a suit of two discharged men against the company.

Mrs. Livingston's surroundings are not those of the usual reformer. The provocation must be great, since she has become one. Her home on the shore road at West Brighton is happy. Her husband is a successful man of business. One of her sons is a veteran of the war with Spain. Her three daughters are witty and admired. Mrs. Livingston is the cousin of Tom Appleton, of Boston, whose epigrams are celebrated. She is related to the leading families among the exclusives of New York's fashionable society.

She says: "I want to prove that this is America still and that there is human feeling on Staten Island."

THE WOMAN DRUMMER.

Several of the Fair Sex Have Made a Success on the Road.

The man drummer is not the only traveling salesman in the commercial field, or if he is the traveling saleswoman is rapidly taking her place by his side and rapidly selling the goods that it was formerly his masculine monopoly to sell. The woman with the sample case is going to be as familiar a traveling companion to the ordinary tourist as the knight of the gripsack and like all things that the woman turns her hands to the feminine drummer will soon accomplish her task so much better than the ordinary man that the traveling sales business will be delegated into her capable hands.

There is no reason to urge against the success of the woman sales-tourist and there are many to offer in her favor. She is tactful, which most men are not; she can talk well and rapidly and unceasingly; she has the gift of intuition and the faculty of pleasing. She can tease and coax and plead beseechingly, and if she can't get an order on the merits of her wares she notes it down triumphantly as the result of personal attractiveness. A woman doesn't give up, for she never knows when she is whipped and beats a smiling retreat only after capturing the trophies of war.

That the large army of women who will doubtless eventually find employment in the novel occupation of traveling saleswomen will probably be largely successful can be easily prophesied from the emphatic results that have rewarded the efforts of the few women already engaged in the drummer trade.

Up to the present the greater number of those already so engaged are traveling for commercial interests in the East. Probably the most successful drummer is Miss Nellie Nemiller of Boston, one of the prettiest of the Hub's attractive women, although scarcely a woman in age, being but shortly out of the decade of her teens. She is dainty and refined, with a face of beautiful coloring, although she owes her success to her clear, shrewd head and persuasive eloquence, as well as to her beauty.

As soon as she enters an office every man in it is her willing slave and she easily persuades the powers that be that the shoes she is agent for are the only shoes worth being made or worth considering. Miss Nemiller considers her whole occupation "a game of jolly from beginning to end." "I think we women have just as much right to drum as men. Our masculine confreres do not give us the heartiest of welcomes, but we don't care for that."

One of the most enterprising of feminine drummers is Miss Roseberry of Chicago, the traveling representative for a large chewing gum factory. Miss Roseberry is a breezy, wholesome, attractive woman, who has been fulfilling the obligations of her present position for three years or so. She is bright, witty and eloquent and manages to impress the buyers with all the merits of her special brand of chewing gum, greatly to their satisfaction, to the satisfaction of her firm and to the interest of a tidy bank account that is surely gaining in bulk.

"No, I don't chew gum myself," explained Miss Roseberry, "but you would be astonished at the amount consumed by the public. I was a stenographer by profession, but find my present work far more pleasant and remunerative. I go all over the South, West and even out to San Francisco. I think a woman has a very great chance of success as a commercial traveler. Like everything else, one has to be imbued with enthusiasm. I first convinced myself that my particular brand of gum was the finest out. Armed with the courage of my convictions I have hustled ever since for that gum."

Philadelphia, like Boston and Chicago, has its woman drummer in the person of Miss Angela Allen, who hails from Baltimore, the city of good-looking girls. She travels for a millinery establishment and tries sample hats on her shapely head. She is very stylish and easily convinces the purchasers that her hats are the most fashionable wares to be procured for their money value.

Miss Myrtle Green is another woman drummer who travels through the South for a New England pin and needle factory. Miss Eva Taylor solicits orders for an up-to-date Boston dressmaker, carrying in her sample case evidences of the artistic skill of her employers in a series of pretty and becoming frocks and wraps.

The field that has been so successfully conquered by a few women will doubtless rapidly be entered by a great number of the widening class of feminine bread winners. The male drummers will have to look to their laurels, for when a woman once makes up her mind to accomplish an object she usually accomplishes her end to the ultimate satisfaction of herself, her employer and her customers.

The "Lady" Question in Germany.

Germany is having its "ladies" and "gentlemen" question. A controversy has arisen with regard to the style which should be adopted in addressing married women. There are, in the language of the fatherland, four names whereby that delightful class may be designated—gemahlin (consort), gattin (spouse), frau (lady), and weib (wife). To save the not infrequent disputes and heartburnings which arise from impertinence and ignorance in the use of any one of these terms, it is now proposed that one shall be officially allotted to each of the recognized gradations of the "scale social." In this manner, a general's wife shall be known as his "consort;" she of an official of the next lower grade shall be that happy person's "spouse;" the middle-class partner becomes her husband's "lady," and the workingman's helpmate is simply his "wife."—New Orleans Picayune.

SOLDIERS OF QUEEN VICTORIA.

Lads Who Enlist to Get Away from Work.

Village lads enlist from a variety of reasons, says the Spectator. Some go because their fathers before them were soldiers; others because work is scarce, or they are tired of "follerin' the plow-tail;" others, again, from pure love of fighting. "I likes to year about the blo-ud," remarked one youth when reading a letter from his brother in India, in which the writer described his experiences of a sharp action during the late frontier campaign. "I likes to year about the blo-ud; meks I feel a-sif I'd like to have a shot at they black fellers myself," and he straightway went off and enlisted into the home battalion of his brother's regiment. Another boy took the Queen's shilling because he was "grizzled at" by his foreman. The distracted mother of this would-be warrior followed him to the barracks and offered to buy him out, for she had already sent two sons to India, and could ill-afford to lose the wages of a third. His reply to her tearful entreaties was that he "wouldn't go back to the plow-tail not fur wotever;" he "liked so'jern'"—he had been at it one day!—"an' a so'jer he meant to be."

This took place some two years ago, but he likes it still; indeed, they all do. "We are in the Khyber pass," wrote one during the war, "and are as happy as little larks." "I did not much care for the bullets at first," said another, "but now I'm usted to them, and loves the fightin' proper." A third wrote to his mother that "those black 'eathings have a blank cheek; they fires at we, and don' run away wen we fires at they."

Not letters only, but photographs of the scenery and beautiful Indian shawls and tablecloths find their way across the sea to the village; socks, too, for little brothers at home, guernseys, vests, stockings and shawls knitted by rough but loving hands among the wild mountains of the Khyber attest the warmth of these soldier lads' affection. "Ah, he's more comfort to me than all the t'other children put together," said one mother, as she related how two pounds sterling had reached her from the camp at Lundi Kotal; "he never writes, doesn't Harry, wi'out puttin' summat in his letters."

A SPELLING TEST.

Here Are a Few Common Words That Puzzle Many.

If you can spell every word correctly in the following rhymes—all legitimate expressions—you may consider yourself qualified to enter a spelling bee:

Stand up, ye spellers, now, and spell—
Spell phenakistoscope and knell;
Or take some simple word as chilly,
Or gauzer or the garden lilly.
To spell such words as syllogism,
And lachrymose and synchronism,
And Pentateuch and saccharine,
Apocrypha and celadine,
Japinine and homoeopathy,
Paralysis and chloroform,
Metempsychosis, gherkins, basque,
Is certainly no easy task;
Kaleidoscope and Tennessee,
Kamschatka and erysipelas,
And etiquette and ptyalism,
Allopathy and rheumatism,
And cataclysm and beleaguer,
Twelfth, eighteenth, rendezvous, intriguer,
And hosts of other words all found
On English and on classic ground.
Thus, Behring Straits and Michaelmas
Thermopylae, Jalaj, Havana,
Cinquefoil and ipecacuanha,
And Rappahannock, Shenandoah,
And Schuylkill and a thousand more,
Are words more prime good spellers miss
In dictionary lands like this.
Nor need one think himself a scroyle
If some of these his efforts foil,
Nor deem himself undone forever
To miss the name of either river,
The Dnieper, Seine or Guadalquiver.
—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Tobacco Raising.

Prior to 1859 Virginia was the greatest tobacco-producing State of America, the annual yield being 122,000,000 pounds. The present yield of Virginia is approximately only 50,000,000 pounds per annum. Since the civil war, Kentucky has taken first place in tobacco, yielding annually 225,000,000 pounds.

Pruyn—Have you heard that horrible story about old Stiffe being buried alive? Dr. Bolus (hastily)—Buried alive? Impossible! Why, he was one of my patients.—Exchange.

POLITICS OF THE DAY

HANNA'S VICTORY.

Hanna's victory in the Senate is not such a triumph as an honorable man would delight in. He retains his seat, it is true, and for Hanna this is perhaps the main thing, but the verdict in his favor does not acquit him of the charge of bribery, and is, in fact, the Scotch verdict of "not proven."

Of course, the Republicans in the Senate committee stood by Hanna. He represents the Republican administration, and to him more than to any other man McKinley owes his election. But the Democrats on the committee were not forced to lay on the whitewash, and they pointed out the fact in their minority report that Hanna and those who acted for him at Columbus disregarded the subpoenas of the Ohio committee and declined to appear before it. The Democrats of the Senate committee take the ground that there should be further investigation.

Hanna's record is such that the charge of bribery causes no surprise, and the burden of proof rests upon him. He plotted to force John Sherman out of the Senate, so that, as boss of the Republican party, Mark Hanna could secure the coveted position.

Later he joined the conspiracy to make Sherman step down and out of the Cabinet.

Now, as Sherman has always served his party with absolute fidelity, Hanna showed treachery to his friend, and it is not at all improbable that he would use corrupt means to retain the seat which he secured so discreditably.

It is not probable that Hanna's case will receive any further investigation in the Senate. His Republican fellow Senators have applied the whitewash to his record, and by so doing have ranked themselves with the man who plotted against his friend, and who refused to testify in his own behalf when offered the opportunity.

Revenue Deficit.

Representative Cannon, Chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations, says there will be a deficit of $150,000,000 at the end of the present fiscal year.

This is a comment on Republican legislation which will cause a good deal of serious consideration by the people. How is this deficit to be met? Will the vast riches of the trusts be taxed? Will the men who have incomes ranging from $5,000 to $5,000,000 a year be required to bear their share of the burden?

Under Republican rule these questions can all be answered in the negative. Trusts are protected. The incomes of rich men are held sacred and the men who are least able to pay taxes will be the men who will have to pay them.

What does the $700,000,000 steel trust pay in the way of national taxes? Nothing. But every poor woman who buys a pound of tea pays the Government 10 cents to help protect the steel trust.

The New York Journal pictures the condition of affairs most truthfully and most vividly as follows: "If any more taxes are to be imposed they will be levied, not on the men with the millions, but on the men that do not have $170 apiece. The values of franchises, the profits of corporations, the stealings of trusts will remain untouched, while every rag worn by the shivering child of a day laborer out of work is taxed."

And yet poor men, wage-earners, men in moderate circumstances continue to vote the Republican ticket. Are they not, indeed, their own worst enemies?

Grover Cleveland.

An absurd story comes by wire from Princeton, N. J., to the effect that Grover Cleveland is to be a candidate in 1900 for a third term as President. Grover Cleveland may try to be a candidate, for there is no limit to his self-esteem, but the absurd part of the proposition is the assertion that he will be a candidate.

If there were no other objection to Cleveland, the fact that his candidacy would have to fight the established and popular conviction that no man should be given a third term in the highest office of this country should be enough to rule him out of the race. But the Democrats of this nation, the 6,500,000 voters who cast their ballots for W. J. Bryan in 1896, have no desire to stultify themselves by approving the nomination of a man who made the record which stands against Grover Cleveland.

No greater mistake could be made by the Democrats than that of selecting Cleveland to lead the party. Defeat would be certain, and the leaders of this party need not be told this fact, for they know it already.—Chicago Democrat.

McKinley Seeing the Light.

President McKinley has changed his opinion about foreign trade. In 1890 in his speeches in defense of his tariff bill he declared that "the foreign market is illusory." Yet in his speech at the Commercial Club in Boston the other night he admitted the protection racket was played out, just as Senator Aldrich did in the Senate a year ago. "We have turned from academic theories to trade conditions," he said, "and are seeking our share of the world's markets." This is the very thing which only eight years ago McKinley declared would lead to national disaster.—Pittsburg Post.

McKinley's Shiftiness.

Because the President has suddenly changed his mind and is trying to drive the country in a directly opposite direction to that which a few months ago he said its duty and honor required it to pursue, are we to be told that it is incumbent upon men of more stable convictions to whirl into line with a shifting administration? Such talk does no credit to those who indulge in it, and certainly does not strengthen the administration.—Atlanta Journal.

What Worries the Organs.

The administration organs severely censure Miles for uttering words calculated to damage our export trade in beef. Up to date none of them has been particularly vociferous in denouncing the issuance of bad beef to the soldiers. As between building up our export trade and properly caring for the soldiers, the export trade will always receive first consideration at the hands of the administration organs.—Omaha World-Herald.

Lincoln's Prediction.

To Abraham Lincoln seems to have been given the power of prophecy. With the vision of a statesman, Lincoln peered into the future and raised a voice of warning.

In one of his prophetic moods, the great liberator said: "I see in the near future a crisis approaching that unnerves me and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country. As a result of the war, corporations have been enthroned and an area of corruption in high places will follow, and the money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people, until all wealth is aggregated in a few hands and the republic is destroyed. I feel at this moment more anxiety for the safety of the country than ever before, even in the midst of the war."

No words could express more clearly the present condition of affairs. The great corporations are doing exactly what Lincoln feared they would do.

They are working upon the prejudices of the people. They are aggregating the wealth of the country into a few hands. They are endeavoring to establish an aristocracy of wealth. They are striving to crush the workingmen and to put the classes in a position of absolute power over the masses.

It is the aim of the money power to make riches supreme. To reduce wages to their lowest terms, to take away all methods of redress from labor, to kill competition and to rule with an iron hand is the aspiration of the trusts.

These money sharks have secured control of the Republican party. They rule the administration. They control the army and the courts of justice.

There is no hope for the people except in the Democratic party. When will the wage-earners learn this? When will the men who labor cast off the bonds of Republican tyranny and vote for their own freedom with the only party which is ready and willing to come to their relief?

The Anglo-American Conspiracy.

Lord Charles Beresford is somewhat too frank for his mission. He wants the United States to go into partnership with England, Germany and Japan to control China, yet he inadvertently quotes a parallel case, which shows that the job will be utterly profitless. "Save for its strategic advantages," he says, "Egypt has not been worth a shilling to England. Great Britain has sacrificed lives and money to make Egypt safe and secure, and she has put the Egyptian army and police in order. She has gained no financial advantage." The admission is opportune, for what England has done in Egypt is precisely what we are expected to do in China. We are to sacrifice lives and money to make China safe and secure, and we shall reap no adavantage whatever, for the strategic value of the joint occupation would be enjoyed not by the United States, but by England, Germany and Japan. If we go into the partnership we shall incur the fate which invariably overtakes the greenhorn who plays in a game with professionals. We shall come out with a large and perhaps valuable stock of experience, but with considerably less assets.—Chicago Chronicle.

Griggs' Miscalculation.

The trusts may imagine that in John K. Griggs they have an easy thing, but in John K. Griggs they have in reality their worst enemy. Not that Griggs will do anything to annoy the trusts. Far from it. But by his willingness to let the trusts multiply and pile on the burdens he is preparing the people for an industrial revolution that will forever make trusts impossible and make those now in existence pay a heavy penalty for all their misdeeds. As a matter of fact, the smug and complacent Mr. Griggs in his efforts to help out the trusts is doing more to cause the trusts trouble than any other man or set of men.—Omaha World-Herald.

Went as Far as They Dared.

Many Congressmen are pointing to the imperial schemes for spending hundreds of millions which Congress rejected in spite of the urgings of Mr. McKinley and his friends, and are saying, with Clive, "In view of our opportunities we marvel at our own moderation." But the simple truth is that even Congress did not dare spend any more money. The menace of the figures of deficits was too vivid not to impress the most reckless of prodigals.—New York World.

Governor Pingree's Hopeless Task.

Governor Pingree is still protesting that the Republican party is dominated by the trusts and combines, and still persists in maintaining his allegiance to that party. The Governor should have learned by this time that no man can fight the monopolies effectively within the Republican party. In fact, this is a pretty difficult matter even outside of the Republican party.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Alger's Plan of Reasoning.

Instead of taking a sensible view of the beef controversy, General Alger has behaved, even from his own standpoint, in a most injudicious manner. "If the beef was bad, then I am incompetent; therefore the beef must have been good;" this, or something like it, appears to have been the unpublished reasoning of the Secretary.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Reached a Queer Verdict.

The gist of the report of Mr. McKinley's war inquiry board was: "There was very bad management, but the managers were not to blame."—St. Louis Republic.

100,000 Years Spent in Reading.

The annual aggregate circulation of the papers of the world is calculated to be 12,000,000,000 copies. To grasp any idea of this magnitude we may state that it would cover no fewer than 10,450 square miles of surface; that it is printed on 781,250 tons of paper; and, further, that if the number, 12,000,000,000, represented, instead of copies, seconds, it would take over 380 years for them to elapse.

In lieu of this arrangement, we might press and pile them vertically upwards to gradually reach our highest mountain tops; topping all these and even the highest Alps, the pile would reach the magnificent altitude of 490, or in round numbers 500, miles.

Calculating that the average man spends five minutes reading his paper in the day (this is a very low estimate), we find that the people of the world altogether annually occupy time equivalent to more than 100,000 years reading the papers.

Medicine for a Scratchy Pen.

"All pens are alike to me," said the clever young woman, "and all pens would be alike to you if you only knew how to break them in. Don't moisten your new pen between your lips before you begin to write. Don't say charms over it or squander your substance in gold pens. Take your cheap steel pen, dip it into the ink, then hold it in the flame of a match for a few seconds, wipe it carefully, dip it into the ink, and you have a pen that will make glad the heart within you. It is a process I have never known to fail."

Railroad Across the English Channel.

The English Parliament is considering the plan of connecting that country with France by railway. Engineers say a roadbed can be laid on the bottom of the English Channel. This seems beyond belief, but it is perhaps no more remarkable than the cures accomplished by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in cases of dyspepsia, indigestion and constipation.

High Old Times.

Tommy—Didn't the ancients have pretty high times?

Father—Why, my son?

Tommy—The book says they set their watches on the hilltops.—Jewelers' Weekly.

Looking Forward.

"Of course," said the moralist, "we must make hay while the sun shines."

"That is true," replied the scientist; "but there is little doubt that posterity will be able to do it by electric light."—Puck.

That good work tells is shown from the fact that there is probably not a man, woman or child in Fort Wayne who would not recommend Dr. Banning and his World's Institute (Pixley-Long Block). Hundreds of helpless sufferers have been made well by their efforts and are now walking our streets living witnesses of the Institute's skill in chronic diseases.—Fort Wayne Gazette.

Of Persian Origin.

"Who started the commercial abbreviation 'O. K.'?"

"Omar Khayyam, of course."

"Spring Unlocks The Flowers

To Paint the Laughing Soil."

And not even Nature would allow the flowers to grow and blossom to perfection without good soil. Now Nature and people are much alike; the former must have sunshine, latter must have pure blood in order to have perfect health.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures blood troubles of all sorts. It is to the human system what sunshine is to Nature—the destroyer of disease germs. It never disappoints.

Poor Blood—"The doctor said there were not seven drops of good blood in my body. Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up and made me strong and well." SUSIE E. BROWN, 16 Astor Hill, Lynn, Mass.

Dyspepsia, etc.—"A complication of troubles, dyspepsia, chronic catarrh and inflammation of the stomach, rheumatism, etc., made me miserable. Had no appetite until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acted like magic. I am thoroughly cured." N. B. SEELEY, 1874 W. 14th Av., Denver, Col.

Rheumatism—"My husband was obliged to give up work on account of rheumatism. No remedy helped until he used Hood's Sarsaparilla, which permanently cured him. It cured my daughter of catarrh. I give it to the children with good results." MRS. J. S. MCMATH, Stamford, Ct.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Never Disappoints

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, the non-irritating and the only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

FOR 14 CENTS

We wish to gain this year 300,000 new customers, and hence offer

1 Pkg. 19 Day Radish 10c
1 Pkg. Early Ripe Cabbage 10c
" Earliest Red Beet 10c
" Long Lights Cucumber 10c
" Kaiser's Best Lettuce 15c
" California Fig Tomato 20c
" Early Dinner Onion 10c
" Brilliant Flower Seeds 15c

Worth $1.00, for 14 Cts. $1.00

Above 10 pkgs., worth $1.00, we will mail you free, together with our great Plant and Seed Catalogue, upon receipt of this notice and 14c postage. We invite your trade and know when you once try Salzer's Seeds you will come year along without them. Send 2c and up a lb. Potatoes at $1.20 a bbl. Catalogue alone 5 cents. No. C. N.

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., La Crosse, Wis.

EXCURSIONS TO THE FREE GRANT LAND OF WESTERN CANADA.

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

During the months of March and April, excursions will leave Ohio and Michigan points for Western Canada, on Monday of each week. These excursions will be accompanied by agents of the Government, and special cars will be provided for the through trip. For particulars as to how to obtain 160 acres of land free, and railway rates for settlers, apply to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to Jas. Grieve, Mt. Pleasant, Mich.; D. L. Caven, Bad Axe, Mich.; M. V. MacInness, Detroit, Mich.

CURES in 1 to 5 days. Guaranteed not to stricture. Prevents contagion. THE EVANS CHEMICAL CO. CINCINNATI, O. U. S. A.

CURE YOURSELF! Use Big G for unnatural discharges, inflammations, irritations or ulcerations of mucous membranes. Painless, and not astringent or poisonous. Sold by Druggists, or sent in plain wrapper, by express, prepaid, for $1.00, or 3 bottles, $2.75. Circular sent on request.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

Are You Ever Depressed?

And is it not due to nervous exhaustion? Things always look so much brighter when we are in good health. How can you have courage when suffering with headache, nervous prostration and great physical weakness?

Would you not like to be rid of this depression of spirits?

How? By removing the cause. By taking

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

It gives activity to all parts that carry away useless and poisonous materials from your body. It removes the cause of your suffering, because it removes all impurities from your blood. Send for our book on Nervousness.

To keep in good health you must have perfect action of the bowels. Ayer's Pills cure constipation and biliousness.

Write to our Doctors.

Perhaps you would like to consult some eminent physicians about your condition. Then write us freely all the particulars in your case. You will receive a prompt reply, without cost.
Address, DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

WE VERY EASILY CURE

ALL FORMS OF CURVATURE

Why Be Helpless or Deformed?

BANNING METHOD CURES

ALL SPINAL TROUBLES RUPTURES and Most CHRONIC DISEASES.
Highest Award, Chicago, 1893.

Worlds Institute,
13, 15, 17 and 19 E. Berry St.,
FORT WAYNE, IND.
Write or Call on Us.

DO YOU COUGH
DON'T DELAY
TAKE
KEMP'S BALSAM
THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

BUY NORTHERN GROWN SEEDS

FARM SEEDS

Salzer's Seeds are Warranted to Produce.

Mahlon Luther, East Troy, Pa., astonished the world by growing 250 bu. bels Big Four Oats; J. Breider, Mishicott, Wis., 113 bushels Barley, and H. Lovejoy, Red Wing, Minn., by growing 300 bushels Salzer's Corn per acre. If you doubt, write them. We wish to gain 50,000 new customers, hence will send on trial

10 DOLLARS WORTH FOR 10c

10 pkgs. of rare farm seeds, Salt Bush, Rape for Sheep, etc. $5,000 Corn, "Big Four Oats," Beardless Barley, Bromus Inermis—yielding 7 tons hay per acre on dry soils, etc.,—"Etc. Wheat," including our Mammoth Seed Catalogue, telling all about our Farm Seeds, etc., all mailed you upon receipt of but 10c. postage, positively worth $10, to get a start. 100,000 bbls. Seed Potatoes at $1.20 and up a bbl. 25 pkgs. earliest Vegetable Seeds, $1.00.

Pleased send this adv. along. Catalog alone, 5c. No. C.H.

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LACROSSE, WIS.

FUNNY HONEYMOONS.

Enjoyed by Eccentric People in This and Other Countries.

A few years ago a newly wedded couple living ten miles southeast of Brookville, Ky., took as a honeymoon trip a wagon ride to witness the hanging of Robert McLaughlin, which occurred at Brookville.

A short while since an adventurous couple spent their first days of wedded life on the summit of Mont Blanc. The ascent, extremely hazardous by reason of terrific snowstorms, being successfully accomplished, and the summit reached, the bridegroom, in the presence of the guides, embraced his young wife, to whom he swore eternal fidelity, and received from her lips an equally fervent assurance. Then the descent was commenced, and the couple, after three days' absence, arrived at Chamounix, where they were accorded an enthusiastic reception.

There are of record four honeymoons known to have been spent in Mammoth Cave, Kentucky.

In the neighborhood of Dadschau, a small Hungarian town, there is an extraordinary ice cave. The roof, the walls, the floor are thickly coated with ice, which in places assumes most fantastic shapes. In this cave, some sixteen years ago, a couple named Kolcsey elected to pass the week immediately following their marriage. They took with them a plentiful supply of rugs, blankets and warm clothing, but notwithstanding all precautions their experience was not of a sufficiently pleasant nature to tempt imitators.

Dead Letter Office Curiosities.

"Just before the Christmas season the office receives several thousand letters addressed in unsteady characters to (Santa Claus,

The North Pole.)

or the:

(King of Fairyland, Paradise.)

or,

(To a Rich Santa Claus.)

It seems a pity that these pathetic appeals which have been surreptitiously dropped in the post boxes by truants from home should meet no tender eye of parent or guardian, but be wasted upon that imaginary idol of childhood.

Letters from abroad are dealt with in a separate room, and the clerks who occupy desks in this apartment from 9 a. m. till 4 p. m. hold no sinecure positions. They seem to be gifted with vivid imaginations, too, for, turn and twist some epistles at every conceivable angle, as they will, still their unknown characters continue to mystify them. As a specimen of foreign inscriptions:

Me Maria Peratala,
" nura Pa Kamlin Ka,
" tute takkata ter nurt
Amerikaa.

after passing through expert hands, was sent to a real:

Mrs. Maria Peratola,
Nora, Hamlin Co.,
Dakota.

—Ainslee's Magazine.

Shake Into Your Shoes.

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight-fitting or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous and hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores. By mail for 25c, in stamps. Trial package FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

The Cumminsville Sage.

"The average politician," said the Cumminsville sage, "regards a campaign somewhat after the way of a bottle. He won't open it unless he thinks there is something in it."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Egyptian Children.

Many Egyptian infants are never washed till they are a year old, as there is a prevalent superstition that to wash them before they attain that age would be disastrous.

There Is No Telling.

Be sure not to let rheumatism stay in the system longer than you can get a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil to cure it. There is no telling what part it may strike or how much misery it may give.

Vienna is commonly supposed to be a more convivial city than Berlin, but Vienna has only 3,600 taverns to 10,000 in Berlin, which has 1,700,000 inhabitants, while Vienna has 1,400,000.

Some butterflies have as many as 23,000 distinct eyes.

APOTHECARY EVEN AT LAST.

Finds a Man Who Wants Medicine and Turns Him Into the Street.

A man who lives above One Hundredth street thought he had the grip and hastened to the nearest apothecary shop. It was late, and the druggist was routed from his bed by the night bell, which went off like an alarm clock. When he admitted the customer the druggist said:

"I suppose you want some stamps?"

The customer denied this, and said, with some vehemence, that he was in no condition to appreciate a joke. He was ill and he wanted a remedy.

"There's the city directory," said the druggist, pointing out a demoralized book.

"Thank you," replied the customer. "I thought it was a canal boat. Now will you be good enough to wait on me?"

"That's the telephone in the corner," and the druggist pointed out the lung tester and ear annihilator.

"And this is my prescription," said the customer, producing a bit of paper.

"Did the butcher send you?" asked the druggist, and before the customer could interfere he added, "'cause he sends women over here for change, and for everything he doesn't keep and that I never have. And that undertaker in this block—maybe he sent you? He went down town the other day, and as he had no one to leave in his place he stuck up a sign in his window: 'Call at the drug store.' Got a great laugh on me. People came in here all day and asked me when I went into partnership with the undertaker. I know the sign out there indicates that this is a drug store. I pay an apothecary's license. But to-morrow I will have that sign painted over, and the words 'intelligence shop' painted on. Here's your prescription. Drug store two blocks above."

Bang went the door. One apothecary was even.—New York Sun.

The accounts of Salem witchcraft have so superseded all others in school histories and in the public mind that few realize that other commonwealths have erred in the same particular as Massachusetts. Yet 100 years after old Rebecca Nourse was hanged in Salem, Mass., a man was condemned by an Illinois court to be burned alive at the stake as a penalty for sorcery. Nor was his execution the only one that has taken place in Illinois for the same "crime."

The warant for the burning alive of the Illinois sorcerer, whose name was Manuel, was signed by John Todd, Lieutenant Governor of the Territory of Illinois, in the year 1779. Todd was of the famous Todd family of Kentucky, from which sprung the wife of Abraham Lincoln.

Manuel was a slave. He had cast an evil eye on a number of people, who were willing to swear that the influence of the glance was baleful in the extreme. The great court of the district of Kaskaskia was convened to try the negro for his life. The court speedily declared the guilt of the prisoner and condemned him to death at the stake, after which his ashes were to be scattered to the four winds of the prairie. There seems to be some conflict of authorities as to the manner of Manuel's execution. Some of them declare that the negro was shot by a mob while on his way to the burning; others agree that the sentence in all its horrors was carried to the cruel end. The preponderance of evidence is in favor of the latter account, and the Governor's warrant makes it certain that burning at the stake was the intent and the veritable record of the court. The law which Illinois people invoked in order to burn the slave Manuel for sorcery was the statute of Virginia, to which the Illinois Territory was then tributary.

It was twelve years after the burning of Manuel for sorcery when the next victim suffered. He, like Manuel, was a slave, and was called by his master's name, Moreau. This master he had killed by a "devilish incantation." The man was tried for witchcraft and sentenced to be hanged. The sentence was duly carried out. He was convicted by a legally constituted court. There was a white woman of English descent living on Silver Creek, Ill., who in the early part of the century or the very end of the last was charged with being a witch. She was repeatedly beaten, but her ultimate fate is uncertain. So much credence was placed in her power to work harm to those about her that her evil doings were made a matter of record and the record stands until this day.

The witch days do not seem so far removed when it is thought that recently one Peoria man solemnly predicted that another's death would take place on a certain day and the prophecy was as solemnly believed. There is on record in the coroner's office in Chicago a verdict rendered in 1892 by six citizens to the effect that "the deceased came to his death by having his breath sucked by the house cat."

"What do you think of your new neighbors?" asked the hostess of the "sweet" old lady who was calling. "You know that I never speak unkindly of any one. I have nothing to say of her; but I will say of her husband that I feel very, very sorry for him."

INDULGENT MOTHERS

MANY a dutiful daughter pays in pain for her mother's ignorance or perhaps neglect.

The mother suffered and she thinks her daughter must suffer also. This is true only to a limited extent. No excessive pain is healthy. Every mother should inform herself for her own sake and especially for the sake of her daughter. Write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for her advice about all matters concerning the ills of the feminine organs.

Many a young girl's beauty is wasted by unnecessary pain at time of menstruation, and many indulgent mothers with mistaken kindness permit their daughters to grow careless about physical health.

MISS CARRIE M. LAMB, Big Beaver, Mich., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—A year ago I suffered from profuse and irregular menstruation and leucorrhœa. My appetite was variable, stomach sour and bowels were not regular, and was subject to pains like colic during menstruation. I wrote you and began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used two packages of Sanative Wash. You can't imagine my relief. My courses are natural and general health improved."

MRS. NANNIE ADKINS, La Due, Mo., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I feel it my duty to tell you of the good your Vegetable Compound has done my daughter. She suffered untold agony at time of menstruation before taking your medicine; but the Compound has relieved the pain, given her a better color, and she feels stronger, and has improved every way. I am very grateful to you for the benefit she has received. It is a great medicine for young girls."

Where the Pins Go.

What becomes of all the pins? Is one of the most common of household conundrums. Harper's Bazar assures us that an old gentleman in London has solved it.

By a series of experiments conducted in his back garden he has discovered that pins go the way of all flesh, and are resolved into dust. Hairpins, which he watched for one hundred and fifty-four days, disappeared at the end of that time, having been resolved into a ferrous oxide, a brownish rust, which was blown away by the wind.

Bright pins took nearly eighteen months to disappear; polished steel needles nearly two years and a half; brass pins had but little endurance; steel pens at the end of fifteen months had nearly gone, while their wooden holders were still intact.

Pencils, with which he also experimented, suffered little by exposure; the lead was unharmed, and the cedar almost as good as new; but then, nobody has ever asked the question about pencils, and he might have spared his pains.

Richest of Gold Mines

The richest gold mine in the world is in Victoria, Australia, under the thriving town of Ballarat, and in thirty years has yielded $350,000,000.

Coughs Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

Figures and Facts.

Mrs. Baldwin (reading)—An eminent scientist says that the common housefly can make 600 strokes with its wings in a second.

Mr. Baldwin—Well, perhaps it can; but the pesky thing never does it when it has a chance to loaf around a man's bald spot and tickle him.

Mr. Editor—Kindly inform your readers that from now on to April 10 we will send, prepaid by mail, to all who apply for same, one bottle of our wonderful "5 DROPS," free of charge. We do this in order that every one of them may have the great opportunity to try the greatest remedy the world has ever produced. It never has failed, and never can fail, to cure any of the following diseases: Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Catarrh, Backache, Asthma, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Croup, La Grippe, Malaria, Creeping Numbness, Bronchitis and kindred diseases. Within the last three years it has cured more than a million and a quarter of people, many of whom had been pronounced incurable by competent physicians. Some of them had been bedridden for years, others had traveled the world over in search of relief and spent a large amount of money, but failed to get it, but were cured by this remedy in a very short time and at a small cost. In fact, many of the cures which it has made border on the miraculous. "5 DROPS" is not a patent medicine, but was perfected only after vast research in scientific fields and at a very great expense. It is a boon to the sick and afflicted, a balm to suffering humanity. "5 DROPS" is the name, and "5 DROPS" is the dose.

The above offer does not hold good after April 10. If you want a bottle free of charge, write at once to the SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE COMPANY, No. 167 Dearborn street, Chicago.

An Exception.

Bingly—I tell you it's the little things in this world that count!

Burkley—Oh, I don't know. We've got an expert accountant who weighs nearly 250 pounds.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. The genuine has L. B. Q. on each tablet.

It is better to insult an impertinent questioner than to lie to him, or employ evasion.

Blood vessels are sometimes burst by whooping cough. Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar relieves it. Sold by Druggists. Piko's Toothache Drops cure in one Minute.

During slippery weather pray less and punt more ashes on your sidewalk.

Revenge of a Maharaiah.

The maharanee of Napaul recently committed suicide in horror at the disfigurement which an attack of smallpox had caused in her features. The maharajah, who was passionately attached to her, first wreaked his vengeance on the physicians who had attended her in her illness. Then he flew at higher game. Out of the great temple he brought the idols, placed loaded cannon before them and bade gunners fire. In terror at the proposed blasphemy, they refused. Thereupon the maharajah hanged several of them. The survivors then submitted and the guns were fired and the idols blown to pieces.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We the undersigned have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.
WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Prices 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

A Call to Arms.

"Wesley," said his wife, sleepily, as the plaintive wail of the infant broke the stillness of the midnight hour, "Wesley, heed the advice of Kipling."

"What is that?" he grunted from beneath the coverlet.

"Take up the white man's burden!"—Philadelphia North American.

$3,000 for a New Corn.

That's what this new corn cost. Yields 313 bushels per acre. Big Four Oats 250 bushels—Salzer's Rape to pasture sheep and cattle at 25c. per acre yields 50 tons; potatoes $1.20 per bbl. Bromus Inermis, the greatest grass on earth; Beardless Barley 60 bushels per acre; 10 kinds grasses and clovers, etc.

Send this notice to JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., LA CROSSE, WIS., with 10c. stamps and receive free great Catalogue; $3,000 Corn and 10 Farm Seed Samples. (c. n.)

The Chinese Kitchen God.

The Chinese have a kitchen god, which is supposed to go to the Chinese heaven at the beginning of each year to report upon the private life of the families under his care.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

Cost of St. Peter's.

The cost of St. Peter's, Rome, was over $10,000,000.

Stands By in Need.

Every living thing has pains and aches sometimes, and the aches and pains of humankind have a friend in St. Jacobs Oil, which stands by in need to cure and restore.

So Near and Yet So Far.

The distance from the farthest point of polar discovery to the pole itself is 460 miles.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is the only cough medicine used in my house.—D. C. Albright, Mifflinburg, Pa., Dec. 11, '95.

A woman is more desperate in love affairs than in anything else. Men get desperate about money matters.

Passengers for points in the Middle West, to points in the Rocky Mountains or Pacific Coast, should bear in mind that the three fast express trains on the Nickel Plate Road each makes direct connections with through lines at Chicago. Splendid equipment, fast time and lowest rates. Every essential for a safe and pleasant journey is placed within the reach of the traveling public.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for Children teething: softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

WANTED.—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cents to Ripans Chemical Co., New York, for 10 samples and 1,000 testimonials.

Tender Flesh.

The more tender the flesh, the blacker the bruise. The sooner you use St. Jacobs Oil, the quicker will be the cure of any bruise, and any bruise will disappear promptly under the treatment of the great remedy.

Working Hours in Germany.

German clothing manufacturers are not permitted to employ women more than eleven hours daily, and on Saturday the time is curtailed one hour. Neither can they be engaged to work later than 5:30 p. m. on Saturdays or the day immediately preceding a holiday, nor between the hours of 8:30 p. m. and 5:30 a. m. An exception is made in the busy season, when they are allowed to work thirteen hours a day, but not later than 10 p. m. for sixty days.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it, like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c. and 25 cts. per package. Sold by all grocers.

Step Too Far.

"How did you like my last drama?" asked a writer of a newspaper critic.

"Too realistic, I thought," was the reply.

"Too realistic! What do you mean?" demanded the author.

"Well," said the critic, "it struck me that even the words spoken by the burglar in the second scene were stolen!"

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

Theological Discussion.

Yabsley—Do you believe that heaven is a place of eternal rest?

Mudge—I don't know anything about it. I know, though, that eternal work would be—it wouldn't be heaven.—Indianapolis Journal.

The Lowest Rates

East or West are offered via the Nickel Plate Road. With solid through trains to New York, and through sleeping cars to Boston and direct connections at Chicago for all points west, travelers via this deservedly popular low-rate line are offered all conveniences of an exacting traveling public. Then, too, the quality of the service is unsurpassed. Modern day coaches and luxurious sleeping cars contribute to the comfort of passengers, while unexcelled dining cars cater to the tastes of the most exacting.

Eagle Linen Letter and Note Heads

Instruct your Printer to use Eagle Linen when you order your Writing Paper, if you want the best there is.

The services of the Nickel Plate Road to New York and Boston is a demonstrated success. The demands of the traveling public are met by providing three peerless fast express trains in each direction daily. These trains are composed of modern first-class day coaches and elegant vestibuled sleeping cars between Chicago, New York and Boston, and unexcelled dining cars. Solid through trains between Chicago and New York City have uniformed colored porters in charge of day coaches, whose services are placed at the disposal of passengers. If you want to travel comfortably, economically and safely, see that your ticket is routed via the Nickel Plate Road.

A BRAVE COLONEL.

Recommends Pe-ru-na as a Family Medicine.

A Scientific Spring Medicine.

Colonel Arthur L. Hamilton, of the Seventh Ohio Volunteers, 250 Goodale street, Columbus, Ohio, writes: "Besides having the merits of Pe-ru-na so fully demonstrated in my family, I have a number of friends who have taken it for catarrh and stomach trouble, and all unite in praising it. As a remedy for catarrh I can fully recommend it." Mrs. Hamilton, wife of the gallant Colonel, is an ardent friend of Pe-ru-na also. In a letter on the subject, she writes: "I have been taking Pe-ru-na for some time, and I am enjoying better health now than I have for years. I attribute the change in my health to Pe-ru-na, and recommend this excellent catarrh remedy to every woman, believing it to be especially beneficial to them."

COLONEL HAMILTON, OF COLUMBUS, O.

The spring-time is the most favorable time of the year to treat catarrh. There is so much less liability to take fresh cold that the treatment is unimpeded. All old cases of chronic catarrh should begin immediately a course of Pe-ru-na as directed in Dr. Hartman's books on this disease. There are so many different phases and stages of catarrh that one hardly knows when he has it. A great many people think they are suffering from something else and have tried many medicines in vain, when if they could realize that it is catarrh and take Pe-ru-na for it they would improve promptly and soon recover entirely. There are no substitutes. Let no one persuade you there are other catarrh remedies just as good.

MRS. COL. HAMILTON.

"Winter Catarrh" is a book written by Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio. Sent free to any address.

8000 BICYCLES
Overstock: Best He Could Get. STANDARD '98 MODELS, guaranteed, $9.75 to $16. Shopworn & second hand wheels, good as new, $3 to $10. Great factory clearing sale. We ship to anyone on approval & trial without a cent in advance.
EARN a BICYCLE by helping us advertise our superb line of 50 models. We give one Rider Agent in each town FREE USE of sample wheel, to ride and show them. Write at once for our special offer.
K. C. Mead Cycle Company, Chicago, Ills.

THE BEST SPRING TONIC.

As winter passes away it leaves many people feeling weak, depressed and easily tired. This means that the blood needs attention and sensible people always take a tonic at this time of year. Purgatives are not the right medicine — they weaken instead of strengthening.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the best tonic medicine in the world and do not act on the bowels. They stimulate the appetite, enrich the blood, strengthen the nerves and make people feel bright, active and strong.

No one is better able to speak of this fact than Miss Hazel Snider, a charming young woman of Arlington, Ind. To-day she has rosy cheeks, sparkling eyes and a plump form, which prove that she is in good health. A year ago Miss Snider was very thin, her cheeks pale, eyes sunken and dull. She was troubled with nervousness and general debility. She says:

"After several months' treatment from the family physician we saw he could do no good. I was discouraged and did not know what to do. One day I read an item in a paper of the wonderful curative qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I tried the medicine, and when nearly through with the second box noticed a change for the better. After I had taken eight boxes I was cured, and have had no occasion to take any kind of medicine since. I owe much to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, probably my life, and I advise any one suffering with troubles similar to mine, to take these pills."
MISS HAZEL SNIDER.

Sold by all druggists or sent postpaid by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y., on receipt of price, 50¢ per box; six boxes, $2.50.

DR WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS FOR PALE PEOPLE
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
THE GREAT Blood Builder and Nerve Tonic

"The Best Is Aye the Cheapest."
Avoid Imitations of and Substitutes for

SAPOLIO

Between 1860 and 1882 more than 15,000,000 buffalo were killed and the animal is now nearly extinct.

F. W. N. U. - - No. 12—'99.

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

ALABASTINE

Alabastine, the only durable wall coating, takes the place of scaling kalsomines, wall paper and paint for walls. It can be used on plaster, brick, wood or canvas.

Alabastine can be used over paint or paper; paint or paper can be used over Alabastine. Buy only in five pound packages, properly labeled; take no substitute.

Every church and schoolhouse should be coated only with Alabastine. Hundreds of tons used yearly for this work. Genuine Alabastine does not rub and scale off.

Alabastine packages have full directions. Anyone can brush it on. Ask paint dealer for tint card. "Alabastine Era" free, Alabastine Co., Grand Rapids, Mich.

ASK YOUR DOCTOR!

Ask your physician this question, "What is the one great remedy for consumption?" He will answer, "Cod-liver oil." Nine out of ten will answer the same way.

Yet when persons have consumption they loathe all fatty foods, yet fat is necessary for their recovery and they cannot take plain cod-liver oil. The plain oil disturbs the stomach and takes away the appetite. The disagreeable fishy odor and taste make it almost unendurable. What is to be done?

This question was answered when we first made of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. Although that was nearly twenty-five years ago, yet it stands alone today the one great remedy for all affections of the throat and lungs.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

The bad taste and odor have been taken away, the oil itself has been partly digested, and the most sensitive stomach objects to it rarely. Not one in ten can take and digest the plain oil. Nine out of ten can take SCOTT'S EMULSION and digest it. That's why it cures so many cases of early consumption. Even in advanced cases it brings comfort and greatly prolongs life.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

OBITUARY.

(FROM OUR BUTLER CORRESPONDENT.)

Died at his residence in Butler, Ind., March 9, 1899, after a brief illness, in the seventy-seventh year of his age, Edward W. Fosdick. The deceased was born in Knox Co., Ohio, July 12, 1822, where he grew to manhood, receiving a common school education such as a new county afforded, becoming a teacher. When quite young he removed with his father, Thomas Fosdick, to Indiana in 1844, settling on the south east quarter of section 14, Wilmington township, two miles south of Butler. The cabin in which they lived is still standing unless torn down within the past few months. In this cabin was established the first postoffice in this township and known as "Oak Hill." The writer has mailed and received many a letter from this postoffice. Here he farmed, taught school, and read law. In 1854, he was elected county treasurer, which office he held for two years, performing its duties with honesty and accuracy.

In 1861, he formed a partnership with James E Rose an energetic young school teacher of Stafford township, in the practice of law, under the firm name of Rose & Fosdick. Their office was in the dwelling then owned by Mrs. Leibolt, on corner of Green and Pearl streets. In 1869 he was elected state senator, for DeKalb and Steuben counties. In 1852 he was married to Helen G. Totten, whose father owned the Hose farm To this union were born two children, Emma, long since deceased, and Edwin L. Mrs. Fosdick died in 1856 In 1859 he married Ruanna M. Brandon, whose father owned the farm adjoining Mr. Fosdick's on the south. Mrs Fosdick died the following April, leaving him and his little son alone. On September 17, 1878 he was again united in marriage with Elizabeth Fetterhoof, whose parents resided in York township, Steuben county, Ind, who together with Edwin L. survive him His funeral took place from his late residence last Sabbath, Rev. Thomas of the Christian church officiating, assisted by Rev. Frech of the M. E. church. The family, a few of their immediate relatives and his old neighbors and friends made up the company. Mr. Fosdick was a man of much and varied information, of sterling integrity, a safe and reliable counselor, and a man whose judgment was noted for its reliability. He was a church member in early life, but of late years has stood aloof from church affiliation. In his death our city loses a noted and worthy citizen, his family a kind husband and father. His remains were laid to rest in Butler cemetery.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Disrovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from the first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at H. B. McCord's Drug Store. Only 50 cents and $1.00, every bottle guaranteed

Why it Was Late

As reported in the COURIER yesterday the south bound Lake Shore train was three hours late. It now appears, that soon after leaving Jackson, about 7:25 a flue burst and the steam and hot water blew out badly scalding the engineer, T. E. Winney and the fireman, B C Ward. But their injuries are probably not fatal. Anotner engine and crew had to be sent for, and they brought the train on through. Conductorn Fitch was in charge of the train.

Queer Papers

The Chamberlain Medicine Co., of Des Moines, Iowa, advertises extensively all over the world. And all these papers, are obliged by the terms of their advertising contract, to send their paper regularly to the Chamberlain Company, so the latter can see that the matter is run properly and has the full number of insertions. In this way, it will be seen, that the Company soon acquires a unique collection of papers.

A package of these came to H. B. McCord, the druggist, and the COURIER had a chance to examine them. It was a queer and very interesting collection but that they were the real thing was shown by the blue pencil mark on each where the checking clerk, had marked the local ads of the Company. We append a list:

There are two or three Chinese papers, queer looking things, but with the articles separated by cross rules as in our own papers. These cross rules, by the way, were the only things we understood. So we pass to the next.

The Luepapa Kuokoa of Honolulu is dated "Okatoba 21, 1898" and is in the Hawaiian language.

The Midland News is published at Midland, New South Wales, in Australia and is part in English and a part in Holland Dutch.

The Colon Telegram is published at Colon (Aspinwall) in Colombia, South America.

The Nanaima Free Press, is from Nanaima British Columbia, up towards Alaska.

The Daily Post comes from Bengalore in the province of Deccan in the south part of Hindoostan.

The East London Standard and Border Gazette is published at East London in Cape Colony, South Africa.

The East London Daily Dispatch and Border Advertiser is at the same place.

El Contemporaneo is at San Louis Potosi in Mexico.

El Universal is in the City of Mexico.

The Catholic News is published at Port of Spain Trinidad, near South America.

The 19th Century and St. James Chronicle is at Montego Bay, Island of Jamaica.

The Madras Standard comes from that city in the East Indies.

The Penang Gazette and Straits Chronicle, is at Penang on the Straits of Malacca.

The Ceylon Standard is from Colombo, Island of Ceylon, East Indies.

The Portland Gazette is from Port Antonio on Island of Jamaica.

The Midland Farm and Karroo Farmer, is at Cradock, Cape Colony.

The Truth is publised at Christchurch, New Zealand.

All these papers that are in English have interesting and strange items and ads. One advertises ice cream and strawberries in January at 6d. Apples are selling at 3 shilling to 6 shillings per 100. Another ad says "We are manufacturers of clothing, and "bespoke" tailors. We suppose "bespoke," means that they make suits, etc to order or when "bespoke."

The Mexican paper has a cartoon of "Uncle Sam" trying to hold Cuba with one hand, while a wild Filipino is breaking loose from his other hand. And "Eto Sam" looks just as he does in our pictures.

And there are worlds of other queer things in these queer papers, more than we can give space.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours: a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At druggists fifty cents or one dollar.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, if you send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure and mention that you read this generous offer in The Auburn Courier.

CUBA A NEW FIELD FOR SPORT

Huntsmen Will Soon Go There for Boar and Wild Birds.

Hunting in Cuba will be a fashionable sport some of these days, because Cuba is a great game country, and the kind of game found there gives the best of sport. There are deer, which come to the edges of the openings and clearings at dusk and dawn to feed Countless flocks of pigeons and doves bend the branches of the trees by their weight. There are long, thick snakes fit to try a sportsman's skill with a gun or rifle—snakes that furnish beautifully mottled skins for trophies. Wild boars live in the dense wooden brush, and it takes a hardy man to face a wounded one. There are wild dogs too, and many birds of the most beautiful plumage. Wild fowls are found on all the streams, in the thickets live large birds, chiefly guinea hens. Incidentally hordes of stray outlaws may add to the excitement of a hunt during the next few years.

Gets Bulk of It.

It appears that by the will of the late Harrison Jones, Mrs. Rolland Edge will get the bulk of the property after the widow's share is taken out. The original will gave her a part of it and the rest was to be divided equally with the other heirs. But a late codicil revokes that part and gives to Mrs. Edge all left after taking out the widow's share. In case Mrs. Edge dies without children, the property goes to Joseph Jones in Kansas.

Wednesday's Daily.

—Ask any druggist for a free Pe-ru-na Almanac for the year 1899.

—F. W. Dosch is one of the latest of the lucky men to subscribe for the COURIER, —Miss Inez Farley of Hamilton is in the city the guest of her sister Mrs. Frank Thomas.

—WANTED:—Thirty cords of hard wood, 18 inches, split fine and delivered in August. Call on Charles Eckhart.

—MARRIED:—At the residence of and by Rev. W. O. Butler, March 0th, 1898, Mr. Wm. Zongker and Miss Jennie Rohm.

—Henry Fulks was in town today to have some repairs done on the road scraper of his district, he being the road supervisor.

—Word comes from Mrs. Louisa Prosser at Elkhart, that she remains about the same. She is not able to talk so as to be understood.

—A telephone has been put into the school house, which step is an entirely new one, but will be quite a convenience to the school and the public. It is the Bell.

—Oliver Pipes of Garrett has received word that his father, John Pipes was seriously hurt yesterday He was working for Nickey at the mill at Princeton, this state

—I. N. Turner has moved from his rooms next north of the COURIER to the rooms at W, E. Rush's a few blocks north. We don't like to lose a good neighbor but these things will happen.

—Miles and Cory Baxter drove to Hamilton taday to visit their father, Andrew Baxter, this being his 86th birthday. It is also the birthday of Andrew Jackson, the first president for whom Mr. Baxter voted.

—J. Sheer, Sedalia, Mo., conductor on electtic street car line, writes that his little daughter was very low with the croup, and her life saved after physicians had failed, only by using One Minute Cough Cure. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—We are almost every day getting new subscribers for the Daily at other postoffices. Those who are situated so they can get it regularly, will find it a nice way to do. The latest name we have is Theo. C. Hressly of Spencerville, but we have a name or two at most the smaller postoffices.

—Joseph Link, yesterday, showed us a fine specimen of needle work, a lovely patchwork quilt, made by his mother, who is now over 92. Since she was 90 she has made seven of these quilts, one for each of her children and as Joe is the youngest, he has the last one It was made since she was 92. He prizes it very highly.

—John C. Lochner, has taken charge of the advertising department of the great Lackey dry goods store, and will hereafter devote his attention to that branch of their extensive business. When we stop to think that they have advertising in the papers of Auburn, Garrett and Waterloo, it will be seen there is a good deal to care for in this line. Mr Lochner is a printer and newspaper man, and has had a great deal of this kind of work, and his experience will be valuable.

Birds That Dance.

There is no longer any doubt that birds are addicted to the dance. The bower bird and the prairie fowl are adepts in the art, while the American grouse is a veritable master of ceremonies. It is the custom of these birds to prepare their ballroom By beating down the grass with their wings, and then to dance something suspiciously like the Lancers. By twos and fours they advance, bowing their heads and drooping their wings; then they recede and then advance again, and turn on their toes, swelling their feathers and clucking gently.

Volcanic Eruptions

Are grand, but Skin eruptions rob life of joy. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, cures them, also Old, running and Fever Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Felons, Corns, Warts, Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Chapped Hands Chilblains. Best Pile cure on earth. Drives out Pains and Aches. Only 25 cents a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by H. B. McCord the Druggist.

An Ounce of Preventative.

Is worth a pound of cure. Try a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and, if properly taken, it will positively prevent rheumatism or any other kindred trouble arising from a torpid condition of the bowels, liver and kidneys. Trial sizes 10 cents, other size 50 cents and $1 of Davenport.

Lake Shore Excursion to Fort Wayne.

Account of Northern Indiana Teachers' Association to be held at Fort Wayne, Ind., March 30, to April 1, 1899, the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry., will sell excursion tickets to Fort Wayne and return at half rates, good going March 29 and 30 and returning until April 1.

Be Explaina.

Mrs. Peck—Henry, what is this manifest destiny they've been talking about? What does it mean? Mr. Peck—Well, to give you a homely illustration, it was a case of manifest destiny when you set your cap for me. At last accounts he was still running.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Mothers! This wonderful remedy will save your child's life when attacked by Croup or Whooping-cough. It never fails to cure throat and lung troubles. Price 25 cts.

Thursday's Daily.

—Old papers for sale at this office. Call.

—Noble county is preparing to construct more ditches this year than ever before.

—D. D. Diehl and attorney Dunten of Butler were in town today on business matters.

—Two hundred Carolina poplar trees will be planted at Ideal Park, on Lake Wawassee this season.

—An old lady in Lagrange county lighted the fire with kerosene the other day, and was burned to death.

—C. F. Wood, of Wilmington will move to Waterloo and rent the John Leas farm at the north edge of town.

—The B. & O. has a new station house at Cromwell and will soon put up an office at the new station, at Kimmel.

—WOOD WANTED:—At this office. All who were to pay us in wood are requested to bring it as soon as they can, as we need it.

—County Assessor Schultheis, was over from Garrett today. He is looking up the mortgage business for the use of township assessors, as required by law.

—Before the discovery of One Minute Cough Cure, ministers were greatly disturbed by coughing congregations. No excuse for it now. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—Uncle Sam gets good bargains, for he pays cash. He gets soldiers transported from Oswego, N. Y. to Ogden, Utah, at $18.70 each. It would cost a private citizen not less than $60.

—Winona, at Warsaw is to be greatly improved this year, at heavy expense, and there will be an effort made to get the National Presbyterian Assembly there again next year. It is at St. Paul this year.

—For a quick remedy and one that is perfectly safe for Children let us recommend One Minute Cough Cure. It is excellent for croup, hoarseness, tickling in the throat and coughs. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—Unclaimed letters remaining in the postoffice, week ending March 14, 1899. Mrs. C. H. Murry, Mr. L. A. Roberts, D. W. L. Melse. Claimants will please call for letters in advertised list.

G. H. FORKNER, Postmaster.

—Our exchanges are publishing items as to the commissioners being obliged by a new law, to advertise the letting of bridges according to specifications furnished. DeKalb county commissioners have generally done this for many years.

—Fred Bunge was here over night, stopping with Mr. and Mrs. Pomeroy. He is one of the appraisers of the C. F. Wood property at Wilmington Center, that was to be sold for a school fund mortgage. It was appraised so high before that it did not sell.

—The public paid a handsome sum for liquor and cigars for the use of congressmen who went with Congressman Dingley,s remains from Washington to his home in Maine. This is no new thing in congressional funerals. But is a disgrace, and a robbery of the tax payers.

—Fred Kinsey of Garrett called today in company with Deputy Sheriff Hartford Mr. Kinsey is a son of the well known music teacher and publisher, C. F. Kinsey, who used to teach vocal music and hold conventions. He is now publisher of the Echo, a music journal published at Lafayette.

The recent legislature was the most expensive one the state ever had. It appropriated several hundred thousand dollars more than any other legislature we have had. And several members got mad because they could not appropriate more. As a result, the state will have to stop paying its debt, and the tax will have to be raised.

—A. D. Moore was a caller today and showed us a sample of frozen wheat. His wheat was of extra strong growth, last fall, the specimens shown being 12 to 15 inches long. But they are frozen so they come off at the root. He thinks much of this larger growth is spoiled though some of the later may still live.

—The Dispatch speaks of a bill to "reimburse the valentines of Company K." That is as funny an error as the one in the COURIER in which we expressed regret that the legislature was going to "poison" Mrs. Morton. It don't pay, however, for newspapers to criticise each other about such things, for "we are all poor creturs."

—For frost bites, burns, indolent sores eczema, skin disease, and especially Piles, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve stands first and best. Look out for dishonest people who try to immitate and counterfeit it. It's their endorsement of a good article. Worthless goods are not imitated. Get DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Fischler & Son and H B. McCord.

J. E. Rose was over to Albion yesterday on a case he is interested in. While there Judge Adair requested him to act as special Judge in the big Bear Lake drain, the longest in this part of the state. It is a very important case, but Judge Adair could not sit as Judge, as he is an interested party. It affects a farm he owns in the south part of that county.

The Missionary Society of the Baptist church met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. James Griswold, with ten members present and three visitors. There was a good program; selected reading by Mrs. Ward, Mrs Kuhlman, Mrs. Shoemaker and Mrs. Gillett; recitations by Gladys and Lela McDowell, all very interesting and appropriate. After the regular program a nice lunch was served, after which they adjourned to meet in three months with Mrs. Ed. Rommis. Altogether the meeting was an unusually profitable one.

Friday's Daily.

—Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Cupp were in town yesterday.

—H. H. Knott of Waterloo was here today on business.

—Philip Fluke is in rather poor health, with a bad cough much of the time.

—A. M. St. Clair went to Fort Wayne this forenoon to get his stolen harness.

—Tom Broderick and wife are over from Edon. There is a case in court in which they are interested.

—An unknown man was run over and killed by a train on the Lake Shore Tuesday night, between Laporte and Rolling Prairie.

—Fort Wayne is now a regular recruiting station for the regular army, and young men who wish to enter the service, can do so there.

—The B. & O. will now quit sending the pay car out with money, and will pay by check, each agent drawing checks on the nearest bank.

—C. K. Greene, former treasurer of Noble county is at Everett, Wash., the new city of the Sound, and has a responsible position with a railroad there.

—A Benton Harbor peach grower put some peach branches into a hot house to see if they were killed. All blossomed nicely, and are therefore good.

—It is said that more German Baptist people are moving from Wabash Co., to the Red River country North Dakota. That colony will number about 15,000 by fall.

—Hi Cupp was at Fort Wayne the other day, and called on J. Y. W. McClellan. He found him thronged with business. We are glad to hear his prosperity.

—It will surprise those whose attention has not been called to it, to see the tons on tons of small wire that is received here in a year to be used in baling hay.

—Mrs. H. E. Braun of Waterloo was here today and called on the COURIER. She and her husband were our neighbors at Waterloo and among the worthiest people there.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whetsel have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Laura V. Whetsel to Mr. Jacob Myers, at their home near Waterloo, Sunday, March 19, at 6 p. m.

—An old veteran at Jeffersonville, had been suspended for failing to pay his dues. But he insisted on wearing his button. He was arrested and fined $5 there being a law to cover such cases.

—Over 200 more of the convicts at Michigan City will be out of employment in a few days, as the contracts of two large firms will expire, and under the law of two years ago, they are not allowed to renew them.

—Capt W. R. Myers, the well known lecturer and political debater, will deliver the memorial address at Anderson this year. He is himself a veteran as well as an able speaker, and will make an address worth hearing.

The train men on the south bound this forenoon, report that the two men who were scalded at Jackson yesterday are doing well. The greatest injury was to the hands and face. and they will be laid up only a week or two.

—Prisoners in the Peru jail are holding revival meetings. The leader still wears the high rubber boots for baptismal purposes, which he stole from the Baptist minister at Bunker Hill and for the stealing of which he is in jail.

—Miss Essie Clark was struck by the engine of the Lake Shore road at the Junction yesterday and knocked off the track, but fortunately was not much hurt She was walking along and did not see the engine coming behind her.

—Mrs. Mary Hixson of Cedar Creek recently fell, and was so badly injured that she may not be able to walk for a long time and as she is over 80, it may always bother her. She is a sister to Mrs. Barclay and a most worthy woman and her misfortune is greatly to be regretted.

—It is now probable that the Association of County officers will bring a suit to test the constitutionality of the present salary law. They have employed Ex-supreme Judge McCabe as attorney. We think this action very unwise, for the law, whether good or bad, was enacted at the instance of a vast majority of the people, and their wishes should be respected.

—Yesterday Kessler & Kimes, two men who have a saloon in Waterloo, were brought up before 'Squire Walborn on charge of selling liquor to minors. But a change of venue was taken to 'Squire Walter and the case went over till today, when they were fined making with the costs, nearly $40. Pomeroy prosecuted the case and Gen. Blair was for the defense.

—The 20th regulars, Will Clark's regiment got into the fighting at Manila as soon as it landed, and has happened to be at nearly every fight since Several of the men have been wounded but none killed. The hardest battle was the one on Wednesday, when the 20th was under fire for seven hours. One man, Frank Nash, in Will's Company D, was severely wounded in the knee —Columbia City Post:—The defect in the township reform bill which provides that members of the advisory board must be appointed by the judge while the court is in session, is to be got around by holding open the last term of court in each county until the acts are published and distributed. The attorney general has hit upon the plan as the best one to pursue under the circumstances.

Saturday's Daily.

—Miss Clara Somers, Miss Anna Boggis and Jim Brandon attended the masquerade ball at Angola last night.

—Mrs. Mary McDowell went to Cedar Creek today to visit her aunt Mrs. Hixson, who is helpless as the result of a recent accident.

—W. E Rush has been rather poorly during the hard winter, but lately Mrs. Rush has been greatly improved over her condition last fall.

—Geo. Quince is papering the south half of the second story of the jail. We are going to give these fellows a nice home anyway, while they stay with us.

—Sylvest A. Miser will have a sale of his personal property on Thursday, March 30, at 10 a. m., at his residence a half mile south of Feagler's corners. There will be a big lot of articles of all sorts, farm tools, wagons, hauling outfit etc. etc. etc.

—Corporal Philip Holman of Co. K, member of the committee selected to present tokens of respect to Col. Studebaker, Lieut. Col May and Chaplain Medbury, notifies us that the presentation will take place between the 15th and 25th of April, All members of the 157th will be notified in the near future as to the exact date.

Sheriff's Sale

By virtue of a certified copy of a decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, in a cause wherein Jared Freeman Bousel is plaintiff and Marion F. Shutt and Lydia S. Shutt are defendants, requiring me to make the sum of Six Hundred and Eighty-Six Dollars and Four cents, with interest on said decree and costs I will expose at PUBLIC SALE, to the highest bidder, on between ten hours of 10 o'clock a.m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the court house in Auburn, DeKalb county, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Saturday, April 8, 1899,

The south one-half of the south one half of the north east quarter of section thirty-six (36) in in township thirty-three (33) north range twelve (12) east, in DeKalb county, Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs. Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws.

JOHN H. HATHAWAY,
Sheriff of DeKalb County, Indiana.
P. D. WEST,
Attorney for Plaintiff.
March 15, 1899.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of a certified copy of a decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, in a cause wherein Catharine Pfefferl, Henry P. Stroh and G. A. Bishop are plaintiffs and Anderson P. Small is defendant requiring me to make the sum of One Hundred and Seventy-six dollars and five cents, with interest on said decree and costs, I will expose at Public Sale to the highest bidder on,

Saturday, April 8, 1899

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m and 4 o'clock p. m., of said day, at the door of the Court House in Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to wit:

The undivided one half ½ of the north half of lot number Eight (8) in Kuhlman's second addition to the town of Auburn in DeKalb County Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs. Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws.

JOHN H. HATHAWAY,
Sheriff of DeKalb County Indiana.
D. M. Link, Attorney for plaintiff,
March 15, 1899

Sheriff'S Sale.

By virtue of a certified copy of a Decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, in a cause wherein Charles Pearce and Mary Pearce for the use of Julia A. May are plaintiffs and James Hendershot and Mary E. Hendershot are defendants requiring me to make the sum of two hundred and fifty-one dollars with interest on said decree and costs, I will expose at Public Sale, to the highest bidder, on Saturday, March 25, 1899

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m., of said day, at the door of the court House in Auburn DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate towit;

Town lots numbered eleven (11) twelve (12) thirteen (13) fourteen (14) and fifteen (15) in Stamets first addition to the town of Auburn in DeKalb County State of Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs. Said sale will, be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws.

JOHN H. HATHAWAY,
Sheriff of DeKalb County, Indiana,
C. E. EMANUEL,
Attorney for Plaintiff.
March 1, 1899.

NOTICE TO NON-RESIDENTS

STATE OF INDIANA, DEKALB COUNTY. } SS:

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, March term, 1899, Leroy Huffman is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said Court, for divorce by Isadora Huffman and that the same will be heard and determined on the 15th day of May 1899, being the 1st juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences May 15, 1899.

Witness, The Clerk of said Court this 15th day of March 1899.

MICHEL F. LONG, Clerk
C. M. Phillips Att'y. for estate.

GRAND RAPIDS & INDIANA RAILWAY CO

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railway Company, for the election of seven directors to serve for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of such other business as may be presented at the meeting, will be held at the general office of the company in Grand Rapids, Kent county, Mich., on Wednesday April 5th, 1899, at 10 o'clock a m Book, for the transfer of stock will be closed from March 26th 1899, until after the meeting.

10-13 S. S. MERRIANY, Secretary.

Dreadful CROUP

Mothers, when your children are attacked by the dreadful croup, you need not despair; Dr. John W. Bull's Cough Syrup will relieve and cure this disease at once. You can always depend on this marvelous remedy; it never fails to cure. For whooping-cough and measle-cough it is the best remedy in the land. Children like it.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup

Will cure Croup without fail.

Doses are small and pleasant to take. Doctors recommend it. Price 25 cts. At all druggists.

WABASH

GOING EAST.

No. 2	6:25 am—Daily
No. 10	1:15 pm—ex Su
No. 4	4:29 pm—Daily
No. 70 (local freight)	3:20 pm—ex Su

GOING WEST.

No. 1	10:14 am—Daily
No. 9 Except Sundap	6:17 pm—ex Su
No. 3	7:18 pm—Daily
No. 71, (local freight)	11.00 am—ex Su

All these trains stop for passengers.
For rates, tickets, time tables, etc. apply to
I. M. ZENT, Agent, Auburn, Ind
Chas. M. Hays, V. Pres. and Gen't Manager.
G. S. Crane Gen'l Pass'r and Ticket Agent

B. & O. R. R.

Schedule In Effect Nov. 22 '98
Leaves Auburn Junction.

WEST BOUND.

No. 8 Express, to Garrett only	8:58 p m
No. 15 Daily	2:35 a m
No. 6 Daily	5:30 a m
No. 7 Daily	4:18 p m
No. 17 Daily Except Suday	12:28 a m
No 47	1:55 a m

EAST BOUND.

No. 4 Express	4:30 a m
No. 6 Daily	6:05 p m
No. 8 Daily	2:40 p m
No 41 Daily	11:27 p m
No 18, Daily, except Sunday	11:08 a m
No. 46	11:56 p m

F. D. UNDERWOOD, General Manager,
D. B. MARTIN, Manager of Passenger Traffic.
G. H. YOUNG, Auburn Junction, Ind
THOS. H. SPROTT CHAS. H. KNAPP

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—in Effect Nov. 13, 1898.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations	Mail	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne,	11 45 am	4 50 pm	5 55 am
New Era	12 12 pm	5 17	6 40
Auburn Junction	12 25	5 28	7 10
Auburn	12 29	5 32	7 35
Waterloo	12 41	5 43	8 15
Summit	12 53	5 53	8 35
Steubenville	12 56	5 56
Pleasant Lake	1 03	6 03	8 56
Angola	1 13	6 14	9 35
Jackson	3 25	8 35	2 40

TRAINS GOING SOUTH

Stations	Fre'gt	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson dp	5 55 am	11 20 am	7 15 am
Angola	11 00	2 19 pm	9 44
Pleasant Lake	11 35	2 29	9 55
Steubenville		2 36	10 01
Summit	11 50	2 39	10 05
Waterloo	12 41 pm	2 55	10 23
Auburn	1 20	3 05	10 39
Auburn Junction	1 35	3 08	10 35
New Era	1 54	3 18	10 45
Fort Wayne	2 50	3 50	11 15

For rates on tickets or freight to all points call on or address E. T. DELAPP, Agent Auburn.

Notice of Final Settlement of Estate.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested in the estate of Margaret Barton deceased, to appear in the DeKalb Circuit Court, held at Auburn, Indiana, on the 30th day of March 1899, and show cause, if any, why my final settlement accounts with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs and all others interested, are notified to then and there make proof of heirship or claim and receive their distributive shares.

Witness, my name, this 6th day of March 1899.

JOHN D. WILLIAMS Administrator.

Why He Was Sure.

"Are you sure you love her?" asked his close friend. "Absolutely," answered the young man. "I've been her partner at whist when she forgot what trumps were and didn't lose my temper."—Washington Star.

PILES Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment will cure Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles. It absorbs the tumors, allays the itching at once, acts as a poultice, gives instant relief. Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is prepared for Piles and Itching of the private parts. Every box is warranted. By druggists, by mail on receipt of price. 50 cents and $1.00. WILLIAMS MANF'G CO., Props. Cleveland, Ohio. Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

FARMERS' WIVES

or any other ladies who wish to work

Can Earn Lots of Money

working for us in spare time at home on our cloths. We offer you a good chance to make plenty of spending money easily, leisure hours. Send 12c. for cloth and full directions for work, and commence at once. Cloth sent anywhere. Addres
WINOOSKET CO. (211-M) Boston Mass
Mfg. Dept

City Comforts for Country Homes

CHEAPER AND BETTER THAN ELECTRICITY CITY GAS OIL LAMPS
Will light the house, cook, broil, roast, bake, wash, iron, heat rooms, pump water supply, run gas engines etc.
Send for free Catalogue
LIGHT FOR EVENING HOURS.
DETROIT HEATING and LIGHTING CO.
DETROIT • • • MICH.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXIX | Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, March 30, 1899. | Number 13.

BANK First National
Auburn, Ind.
Capital Stock and Surplus
$60,000
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money to Loan.
CHARLES McCLELLAN, President.
D. A. GARWOOD, Cashier.

Physicians T.G.Matheny,M D J.B.Casebeer, M.D
Matheny & Casebeer
have again associated them selves in the practice of Medicine, Surgery & Obstetrics. Office On 9th St.
Western 'Phone:
Office..... No. 9
Matheny,s residence..... " 88
Casebeer's " ..... " 175

DENTIST S. B. JOHNSTON,
Office Over Pioneer Hardware Store,
Auburn, Indiana.
First-class material and scientific workmanship employed. Prices reasonable.
Western 'Phone:
Residence..... No. 27

BANK Farmers,
Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres J. C. Henry, V-Pres.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

Physicians D. J. Swarts, M. D Vesta W. Swarts, M D
and SURGEONS
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets,
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western..... No. 19 Central Union..... No. 19

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN,
Auburn, Ind.
Office in Gandy Building. Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Sprcialty

P. V. HOFFMAN,
LAWYER,
Auburn, Indiana
OFFICE over Hebel's Grocery.

DR. Z. H. STAMETS,
Physcian & Surgon.
OFFICE OVER FISCHLER & SON'S DRUGSTORE
In the National Bank Block, across the hall south from the office so long occupied by Casebeer & Matheny.
Calls Answered At All Hours,

I. O. BUCHTEL, HOMEOPATHIC
Physician and Surgeon.
Special attention given to chronic and Obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Madden Bros Marble Works Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, day or night.

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Deeds & Titles,
AUBURN, IND.
Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

B. & O. R. R.

Schedule In Effect Nov. 22 '98
Leaves Auburn Junction.

WEST BOUND.

No. 8 Express, to Garrett only	8:58 p m
No. 15 Daily	2:35 a m
No. 5 Daily	5:30 a m
No. 7 Daily	4:18 p m
No. 17 Daily Except Suday	12:25 a m
No 47	2:55 a m

EAST BOUND.

No. 4 Express	4:30 a m
No. 6 Daily	6:05 p m
No. 8 Daily	2:40 p m
No 41 Daily	11:27 p m
No 6, Daily, except Sunday	11:08 a m
No. 46	11:56 p m

F. D. UNDERWOOD,
O. S. MARTIN, General Manager,
Manager of Passenger Traffic.
G. H. YOUNG, Auburn Junction, Ind
THOS. H. SPROTT CHAS. H. KNAPP

MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS
They overcome Weakness, Irregularity and omissions, increase vigor and banish "pains of menstruation." They are "Life Savers" to girls at womanhood, aiding development of organs and body. No known remedy for women equals them. Cannot do harm—life becomes a pleasure. $1 per box by mail. Sold by druggists. MOTT CHEMICAL CO., Cleveland, O.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

IT WAS MANSLAUGHTER

That Was the Decison in the Fish-Dutton Killing

As noted in yesterday's COURIER, the arguments were closing as we went to press. Then the Judge read his charge, which was a carefully prepared and exhaustive paper. He told them there were three things they could do They could say that Bennie was guilty of murder in the second degree as charged in the indictment, and this meant imprisonment for life. Or they could find him guilty of manslaughter, which would give him from three to 21 years in the penitentiary, the time to be fixed by the judge. Or, if they thought the killing of Dutton was justified, they could set the prisoner free by a verdict of "not guilty." To decide "not guilty" they should consider the circumstances under which the shot was fired If, in their opinion, Bennie had good reason to believe his life in serious danger, or that he was in danger of great bodily harm, he would be justified in shooting. If, on the other hand they found that Bennie was in no danger and that the shooting was not in self defense, then they would be expected to bring in a verdict of manslaughter, or of murder in the second degree. The jury then retired, it being 5:45 standard time. They wrestled with the problem all night, and in some way, there got out a report that the jury stood three for acquital and nine for conviction. But this will not be known for certain till it is over.

THE VERDICT.

At 11:00 a. m. today, after they had been out over 17 hours, the jury came in with a verdict of manslaughter. The punishment for this is imprisonment in the Reformatory at Jeffersonville for from three to twenty-one years This verdict seems to give general satisfaction, for though there were many who thought he ought to be acquitted, most people think some punishment like this would be best. We understand too, that Bennie himself is satisfied, and in talking with one of the jurrors, Thomas Hall, he said he had determined to be a good boy, and that would of course be in his favor. We are told ,too, that his guardian, Mr. Rheubottom who has stood by him so faithfully, as well as his brother-in-law, Mr. Bunnell, are satisfied that the verdict is no worse. He should now see to it that his future life is laid on different lines. His relatives and the men who had known him staid by him faithfully.

After the verdict was read Judge Hartman discharged the jury for this week. The men on the regular panel, will be held for any future work, while those who were put on for this case only, are discharged for good. The jury is considered a good one.

A Mississippi Suggestion.

From Mr. Carey M. Bird of Tyus, Miss., comes this suggestion: "Make plenty of corn, potatoes, molasses, peas, hays, etc. Buy no fertilizers, but make them yourselves. Hired labor is too costly. Do your own work, if possible. Do your own washing, scrubbing, etc. If you have to use coffee and soda, buy or barter eggs, butter, vegetables, etc., for them. Do not plant to the mule in cotton more than five acres, and be sure you do not put all of your lot manure on those five acres 'A penny saved is a penny made.' Curtail expenses in every way possible. I know it is a difficult matter for a people who have had the darky to do for us as long as we have to get out of the old ruts, but we must do it. It is impossible for us to pay our taxes, the preacher and it may be a doctor's bill clothe ourselves out of the cotton crop if we make plenty of corn, etc., and give half of it away to hirelings."

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and I thank God, I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at H. B. McCord's Drug Store. Regular size 50 and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

In Our Midst.

One incident of the Colonial Club's dinner to Admiral Sampson which was not reported was a sentence in the president's address introducing Captain Mahan which provoked protesting pantomimes from several of the guests. When the time came for Captain Mahan to make his speech the president of the club introduced him in a few eulogistic words, and, to add a touch of local interest, he referred to the captain as "a man who lives in our own midst." One rather corpulent guest looked pained at first, and then, after reassuredly pulling down his waistcoat, he smiled and looked around the tables in time to gather in several answering smiles.

Greatly Encouraged

NOTWITHSTANDING the inclemency of the weather and bad condition of our streets and roads our March business is forging ahead of any March we have ever experienced. Naturally we feel greaty encouraged and, consequently, are working hard to improve our store whenever possible. With the handsomest line of Dry Goods, Carpets and Clothing.

we've ever owned. We hope to attract customers from all directions, and from long distances Our prices always being the lowest for the goods shown, makes this handsome stock doubly attractive. We invite you to visit our store often. We are always pleased to show you the New Goods whether you are ready to purchase or not.

We Are Saving You Money.

Schaab & Bro
Auburn, Ind.

OBITUARY.

Walter Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Baker was born in Auburn Ind., March 17, 1877, and came to his death March 23, 1899, by falling from a running train near Toledo, Ohio. age 22 years and 6 days. Walter leaves to mourn his death, a father, mother, one brother and five sisters, besides many other friends. When quite young he learned the trade of making cigars, which occupation he followed at the time of his death. Walter was a kind hearted young man, full of life and activity. His lively disposition and big heartedness won for him many friends, who shall always give him a warm place in their memories. He was a kind and loving son, always cheerful and happy around the home. He never gave his mother an unkind word, and was always concerned about her comfort. This much cannot be said of all young people. Walter possessed many noble traits of character which endears his memory to our hearts. Young men, you who knew him best, knew most of his life, strive to emulate the good things which you found in him. Two years ago last January Walter became a christian, was baptized and received into the Lutheran church. He lived a faithful christian life for several months. We all like him for his simplicity and earnestness in the work of the church. Unfortunate for him like many others, he was drawn from his faith in Christ by the alurements of a wicked and unkink world. We only hope that his soul is saved forever more. Thus another life, young in years, full of hope and and promise has been cut off from the land of the living. May we all be more concerned about the interests of our soul, for we know not what hour we shall be ushered into eternity. The funeral service was conducted from the Presbyterian church Sabbath, March 26, at 2 p. m. Interment took place in Evergreen cemetery. J. D. Brosy officiating, assisted by Rev. Arlen of the Presbyterian church.

A Big Sheet of Paper.

The largest sheet of paper has been produced by an American firm. It is ninety-six inches wide, fourteen miles long and weighs over twenty-three hundredweight. This mammoth bundle of paper is unbroken and without a hole. The roll has been named the "Jumbo," and when it was being removed it required the united efforts of twelve strong men to put it in the wagon.

Dr. Bull's COUGH SYRUP
Cures Hoarseness and Sore Throat.
It is the best remedy for stubborn colds. Small doses. Price 25 cts. at druggists.

How is Your Gasoline Stove?

R G. Curtis, an expert at cleaning and repairing gasoline stoves, will be in town for a limited time. He comes well recommended, and work entrusted to his care will be carefully looked after. Owners and users of stoves will understand that this is the proper time to have them cleaned and repaired for the coming season. Mr. Curtis will be located at Culbertson & Boland's.

UNWELCOME GUESTS

Catarrh comes unbidden and resists our efforts to eject it.

It never comes alone; it brings neuralgia or nervousness; it may attack in several places at once. Lots of people have catarrh in the head, bronchitis, indigestion and kidney disease, and it is all catarrh.

When catarrh is understood it must be plain that no local treatment can reach it. Catarrh is systemic; it must be plucked out by the roots. The same remedy will cure catarrh wherever it is located if it will cure it anywhere.

Pe-ru-na has a spotless record as a cure for all catarrhal troubles. It has cured many thousands during its forty years of use by Dr. Hartman. Read this letter from W. O. Slessor, Reinbeck, Ia.:

Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

DEAR SIRS:—"I have used your Peru-na for catarrh and neuralgia not over six weeks, and find it will do even more than you claim for it. I have used sprays of different kinds and got no relief. I was almost a total wreck until I commenced using your Pe-ru-na. You may publish this statement if it will help any poor sufferer. I was once sick in bed, not able to raise my head. After I heard of your medicine I determined to try it. After taking it a short time I was stronger, and it was not long before I was out of bed, and now I am stronger than ever."

WALTER BAKER KILLED.

Mangled by Cars Near Toledo, Thursday Evening

Word came here this morning that Walter Baker was killed last night at Toledo by the cars. It appears that he and Jake Stebing another cigar maker, were riding on top of a box car in a train, and were between Toledo and Airl Line Junction, when Walter suddenly called out that he was sick. Stebing started to go to him when Walter fell over before he could reach him, and dropped between the cars. His body was cut in two. Stebing is held there as a witness before the coroner's inquest.

It appears that when Albert Weaver laid off his hands in his cigar factory, a few days ago, the two boys started for Jackson, Mich., where Baker has a sister living. Nothing further had been heard of them till this morning, when the news of his tragic death reached here. His brother-in-law at Butler has gone to Toledo for his remains.

Jake Stebing who was with Walter Baker when he fell from the train, gives some additional information concerning the accident. He says they were both sitting on the end of the cars near the bumpers, when Walter remarked that he was sick. No sooner had the words left his lips until be fell across the bumper. Stebing caught hold of his coat but could not save him. As the car passed over his body, he says he felt the jar. Stebing came on to Butler on the same train, fearing that the officials there would suspect him of the deed. Word was sent to Butler to Jim Revett, who was deputized to arrest Siebing and he was taken back as a witness at the coroner's inquest. When they reached Toledo, fully twenty-five police were on hands, and Jake was chucked in the station to await trial. He easily proved that he was in no-way accountable for the accident. Mr. Revett brought Walter's body to this city on the Wabash this morning. By examination it was found that his body was cut in twain and both arms cut off, and otherwise mangled.

A Frightful Blunder

Will often cause a horrible Burn, Scald, Cut or Bruise. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, will kill the pain and promptly heal it. Cures Old Sores, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Felons, Corns, all Skin Eruptions. Best Pile Cure on earth. Only 25 cts. a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by H. B. McCord, the Druggist.

Circuit Court Decision Reversed

Isaac Norris hands us the following for publication, taken from the Albion Democrat, and it will be of interest to every farmer.

In August 1896 suit was brought in this county by Marshall Boyd of Elkhart township against Jacob Bloom of the same township for damages. Boyd owned a farm which lies between Bloom's farm and the public highway. Boyd had a gate across the lane by which Bloom reached his home and the latter persisted in tearing the gate down and trouble continued to increase and finally culminated in a suit in the Noble circuit court and the case was tried at the January term of 1897, but Judge Adair took the case under advisement until the March term. Judge Adair held that Boyd had no right to maintain a gate, because Bloom's deed gave him the "free and undisturbed use of the lane." The plaintiff's attorney, H. G. Zimmerman, appealed the case to the supreme court. The decision was written by Judge Monks and the finding is as follows:

1. The conveyance of a tract of land lying some distance back from the public road with the "free and undisturbed right to the use" of a private way out to the road, does not give the grantee a right to remove a gate across such private way erected by the owner of the servient estate.

2. One who grants a right of way across his land may shut the termini with gates which the grantee must open and close when he uses the same, unless an open way is expressly granted.

3. A gate that swings freely cannot be held to interfere with the "free and undisturbed right to use" a private way across which it is built.

The foregoing decision is of interest to every land owner in DeKalb county. The reversal of the decision is quite a victory for Attorney Zimmerman.

Reorganized Monitor

There has been a reorganization of the Monitor Wind Mill Company at the Junction. As readers of the COURIER will remember, the plant, after being in the hands of a receiver, Mr. Griswold, for some time, was sold, to Reuben Lockwood and James Provines two of the original owners. Now, Provines has sold his share to C. K. Brisol, of Cecil, Ohio.

A Rare Occasion.

Only one out of every 1,000 married people live to celebrate their golden wedding day.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
Makes the food more delicious and wholesome
ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

OBITUARY

Ida May Green, daughter of A. P. and Ruth A. Green, was born at Deleware Bend, Ohio, Sept. 16, 1878, and departed this life at home of her parents on South Cedar-st, March 22, 1899, at the age of 20 years, 6 months and 6 days. Twelve years ago Ida came with her parents to Auburn where she has since lived. On Dec. 1, 1898 she went to visit her sister Mrs. Inez Schnell living at Toledo, Ohio; after visiting there for a time, she went to visit relatives at Norwark and Peru, Ohio. It was while visiting at the latter place that she was taken sick, which resulted in her death. As soon as her parents received word of her sickness, she was immediately brought home, by her sister, Mrs. Marion Willis, of this place. All that hands and heart could do for her recovery was done, but all of no avail. She gradually grew worse until Wednesday morning, when she quietly and peacefully fell asleep in the embrace of death. Last July Ida joined the Modern American Fraternal Order, of which she was a member at her death. At first she was only a social member, but later on took out a life-policy in favor of her mother which was a commendable act indeed. Ida was never a member of any church, but always had a great regard for the church and Christianity; she believed in the atoning merits of Jesus Christ, and when the end was drawing near, she acknowledged the presence of her Saviour, and spoke intelligently of her future hope. Ida was a young lady having excellent traits of character, was kind to all, and had a pleasing disposition which won for her many appreciative friends. She was an affectionate daughter, and loving sister, two of whom having preceeded her to the spirit land. Thus came to a close a young, but beautiful life when the future was brightest and most hopeful. Ida leaves to mourn her death, a father and mother, three brothers, two sisters, besides a host of friends: also her affianced, Mr. J. C. Wilhelm, of Garrett, Indiana, The funeral service was conducted from the home yesterday at 1:30 p. m. Interment took place in the Woodlawn cemetery. J. D. Brosy officiating.

OBITUARY.

George Kenneth, infant son of George and Emma E. Rudolph, was born Nov 24, 1897, and departed this life after two weeks intense suffering, Saturday morning at nine o'clock, March 18 1899, at the tender age of 1 year 3 months and 23 days. Sorrow has come into another home by the removal of a cherished little bud. Though our hearts are made sad by the hand of death, yet we need not give up in despair, for hope and faith lifts the heart and points to another world where we shall meet our loved ones again. Let us who believe in Christ hold fast to his promises lest our hopes be not realized in that other life. May your hearts be comforted by the words of the blessed Saviour, when he said, "I am the resurrection and the life." In your deep sorrow forget not to obey; permit the Saviour to draw near your hearts, that he may comfort you. Little George leaves to mourn his death a father and mother, two brother's, and three grand-parents besides many other friends. The funeral service was conducted at the house Monday at 3:00 p. m. Interment took place in Wood Lawn cemetery. J D. Brosy officiating.

Fine as Silk

The attention of the ladies of Auburn and vicinity is called to the extraordinary value of Wilson's $2, $2.50 and $3 shoes. He is showing the finest stock, as well as the largest assortment ever brought to Auburn and the prices are guaranteed to be 50 cents to $1 cheaper than what others charge for the same quality of goods. Talk is cheap, but when you see our shoes you will understand what our low expenes (less than any firm in the city) and long and juicy experience has to do with prices. Our very large sales on this class of goods enables us to get the finest picking. We invite your inspection of our new shoes.

WILSON THE SHOE MAN.

Going Down Hill.

People suffering from Kidney Diseases feel a gradual but steady loss of strength and vitality They should lose no time in trying Foley's Kidney Cure, a Guaranteed Preparation.

STOLE LEATHER

And Now he is Stopping With Sheriff Hathway

For some time a gang of men have been going through the country pretending to be reprsentatives of a wholesale leather house. They would bring in one or two sides of leather and dispose of it to harness makers. A dealer at Churubusco was their victim as well as one at Garrett. Thursday the Garrett man bought two sides and the following night two were stolen from his shop, Sheriff Hathaway has been on the lookout for the fellow and run him down at Fremont, Ind. He was brought down here this morning and is now stopping at the hotel de Hathaway He is an elderly man probably 55 years of age. It is thought there are others in the gang and perhaps a clue to their whereabouts may be secured.

Women Should Know It.

Many women suffer untold agony and misery because the nature of their disease is not correctly understood. They have been led to believe that womb trouble or female weakness of some sort is responsible for the many ills that beset womankind.

Neuralgia, nervousness, headache, puffy or dark circles under the eyes, rheumatism, a dragging pain or dull ache in the back, weakness or bearing-down sensation, profuse or scanty supply of urine with strong odor; frequent desire to pass it with scalding or burning sensation, sediment in it after standing in bottle or common glass for twenty four hours, are signs of kidney and bladder trouble.

The above symptoms are often attributed by the patient herself or by her physician to female weakness or womb trouble. Hence, so many fail to obtain relief, because they are treating, not the disease itself, but a reflection of the primary cause, which is kidney trouble.

In fact, women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble and both need the same treatment.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is the great discovery of the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is easy to get at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar.

To prove its wonderful merits you may have a sample bottle and book telling all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Kindly mention the Auburn COURIER and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co. Binghamton, N. B.

An Innovation in Sleeping Car Service Introduced by the Baltimo & Ohio Railroad.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has introduced a new feature in its sleeping car service on through trains between Newark, Chio, and Baltimore, Md., and Chicago and Pittsburg, inaugurating what will be known as the "Ordinary sleeping cars in addition to the regular Standard sleeping cars.

One of these cars will be attached to No. 8 leaving Newark at 10:22 a. m. next day.

Also on train No. leaving Chicago at 3:30 p. m. arriving Pittsburg at 6:40 a. m. (Central Time), and returning on train No. 5 leaving Pittsburg at 7:20 p. m., arriving Chicago at 10.00 a. m.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad is the first line to introduce this service in the eastern territory for special accommodation of the traveling puplic. In these "Ordinary" sleepers the Pullman rate is reduced one-half, so that passengers have the choice of paying the higher Pullman rate and occupying Standard car or take advantage of the cheaper rate and occupy the "Ordinary" sleeper. These latter cars are available to passengers holding either first or second class tickets.

These sleepers are new, have been especially constructed for this service and differ from the Standard sleeping cars only being less elaborately furnished. The seats are upholstered in rattan, and the sleeping berths, when made up, have all the comforts and conveniences of the Standard case.

George Pepple Dead.

George Pepple, who lives in Union township, northeast of Auburn, died very suddenly about five o'clock Tuesday evening He had been in as good health as usual and had just come in from work, took off his coat and sat down saying it was not yet time to milk the cows. His son made some reply and just then Mr. Pepple felt one of his hands, as if it were getting numb, then put his hand up to his ear, and asked what buzzing it was that affected that ear, and as he said this, he pitched forward and in a minute or so was dead. It is supposed he had a sudden attack of paralysis. He was buried today, Friday.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1899. MARCH. 1899.

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
			1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30	31

L. Q. 4th. N. M. 11th. F. Q. 18th. F. M 27th.

HISTORY OF A WEEK.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS OF THE WORLD.

News of Crimes and Criminals, Accidents, Fires, Etc., from North, South, East and West, Sanwiched with Minor Affairs.

Business Conditions.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Review of Trade says: Business is not frightened either by the great capitalization of new companies, or by the wild fluctuations in Wall street. No matter how much stock operations in New York may count, the business elsewhere is large enough to warrant a wonderful expansion of industries, and that is the thing the most important. In no considerable branch has production diminished, but in practically all there has been increases.

Wool is at the doubling point, with large sales ordered from the interior by tired holders.

Manufacturers make many inquiries, and the prospects of combinations hinders transactions. Western crop estimates are large, and such reports as appear of the condition of wheat for the coming year are, on the whole, favorable.

Cuban Generals Accept.

The Executive Committee of the Cuban Assem ly appointed Gen. Bartolome Maso, former President of the Cuban revolutionary government, Commander-in-chief of the Cuban forces. The Cuban Generals, Glaz, Montegudo, Roban, Nodarse, Betancourt and Peraza, who held a secret meeting recently after consulting their commands with reference to the course to be taken in the controversy between Gomez and the Assembly, report that they have decided to accept $3,000,000 for the soldiers, and also to help to organize a new Cuban army of 10,000 men under American administration.

Fatal Fire at Cleveland.

Fire destroyed the Danglers Vapor Stove Works and stamping department of the Cleveland Machine Screw Company at Cleveland, Ohio. An explosion in the experimenting department of the former establishment was the cause. The loss to the Dangler company is estimated at $300,000, and the Screw company's loss will reach $200,000. Fire Lieutenant William Roth was carried from the roof when the wall of the Screw company's building fell, and was buried in the ruins. He was dead when reached by rescuers. The body was recovered.

Frightful Experience.

San Francisco special: A letter from Capt. McQuestin, of the Twentieth Infantry, tells of the terrible experiences of A. B. Peters, an American photographer, who was captured by the Filipinos while taking pictures outside the American lines. He was thrown into a dirty cell, slashed by the Captain's sword and afterward a band of head-hunters danced around him and pricked him with knives. Finally he was liberated through the intervention of American officials.

Will Return Arms.

The ordnance bureau of the War Department has sent a circular to each state in the Union stating that the arms and ordnance stores furnished the volunteers during the Spanish War will be returned to the state in kind. The circular gives directions as to how requisitions shall be issued for the purpose of having such arms and ordnance stores returned.

Four Perish in the Flames.

In a fire which broke out in a boarding house of a Mrs. Nolan, at 14 Court street, Memphis, Tenn., four people lost their lives and several were seriously injured. The origin of the fire is not known. It was the second fire in the same building during the night and it is thought the earlier blaze was not entirely extinguished.

Cuba's Telegraph Lines.

Gen. Greeley at Washington has received cable dispatches from Cuba announcing that the military telegraph lines have been completed between Sancti-Spiritus and Ciego d'Avila in the center of the island and between Holguin and Victoria de las Tunas in the department of Santiago.

Massacre Threatened.

Panama special: Advices from Ecuador state that the American missionaries laboring in the interior are threatened with a general massacre unless they leave the country at once. Fanatical Catholics are said to be behind the revolt against the advancement of Protestantism.

Disconnected Wires.

Before burglars robbed the house of William C. Kimball of $2,000 at Tiffin, Ohio, they disconnected telephone wires. A frightened maid leaped from a second-story window.

Dynamite Killed Him.

S. P. Moore was killed in an explosion near Rock Ledge, Ind., on the Southern Indiana Railroad, while thawing out dynamite. He lived in West Virginia.

Shot Wife and Her Mother.

An Appleton (Wis.) dispatch says: Chris Bosser, a carpenter, shot and instantly killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Brehm, and then fatally wound his wife. Domestic trouble is said to have been the cause of the shooting.

The Peace Treaty.

There is good authority for the statement that a Spanish copy of the peace treaty is on its way to Washington. An exchange of treaties will take place at the White House when the President returns.

Cerutti Claim Will Be Paid.

Ambassador Draper has sent word from Italy that the court of cassation, the supreme tribunal of Italy, has held that Cerruti, in person, who has figured in the famous Cerruti claim, is entitled to receive the $240,000 paid by Colombia under an award by President Cleveland.

Verdict of $14,000 Against Failed Bank.

In the Federal Court at Wichita, Kan., the jury gave Mrs. Williams of Austin, Texas, judgment for $42,000 against a defunct bank of Arkansas City. Her certificate of deposit was changed to a certificate of stock just before the failure. Gov. Stanley was her attorney.

FOR EXPLORATION OF ALASKA.

Two Expeditions to Be Sent Into the North—Ordered Up the Amazon.

Acting Secretary Meiklejohn has issued orders for a military exploration of Alaska, one expedition to work in the Copper river region and another about Cook's inlet. Both are to carry full equipments and supplies to Nov. 30 next, and have authority to employ Indian natives as guides. The former expedition, consisting of Capt. W. R. Abercrombie, Second United States infantry, commanding, will arrive at Valdes, on Prince William sound, Alaska, about the 15th prox., and open up a military road to Copper Center, and thence by the most direct route to Eagle City. Secretary Long has cabled orders to Capt. Todd of the Wilmington, now at Para, Brazil, to go up the River Amazon as far as the vessel can proceed, probably about 1,500 miles, make a thorough study of this comparatively unknown country, and gather specimens of the fauna for the United States national museum in Washington.

BRIGANDAGE NEAR SAN LUIS.

Bandits Working the Roads Near Santiago So Far Escape Arrest.

There have been several cases of brigandage in the neighborhood of San Luis, Cuba, and thus far none of the bandits has been captured, though many of them are known to have been working on the roads last month. The March estimates have not yet been approved from Havana, though there has been a reduction in the number employed in that way, and those discharged steal rather than starve. Only $10,000 is allowed for a neighborhood demanding $100,000, and until his estimate is approved Maj. Gen. Wood will be unable to carry out the projected improvements, as there is virtually only next month left before the setting in of the rainy season. The Cuban officials complain bitterly of the delay in the approving of the estimates for March, pointing out that poor men, with no work, are compelled to become bandits, thus placing the province in a false light.

FATAL RIOTS IN HAVANA.

Natives Attack the Police and a Desperate Fight Follows.

A serious conflict between the police and people of Havana resulted in much shooting and clubbing. From thirty to fifty people were wounded, some seriously. The trouble took place at a mulatto ball in San Jose street, an unsavory quarter of Havana. A policeman on duty in that street asked a group of men to go in or disperse. His request was unheeded and after repeating it he was attacked by the group. The policeman immediately notified headquarters, who ordered twenty reserves to the scene of trouble. The crowd had prepared for their arrival, and opened a revolver fire upon the police, which the latter returned, the shooting being kept up until the ammunition was exhausted.

High Mark in Exports.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "In business this year cannot be compared with any other. It can be said that payments through the principal clearing houses for the last week have been 57.4 per cent greater than in 1892 and 45.9 per cent greater than in 1898, but that exaggerates the gain in some branches of business, while in others it falls far short of the gain. Thus the February exports of manufactured products have about doubled since 1892. Omitting New York clearings, where speculation in stocks is most active, payments through the other principal clearing houses for the same week show increase of 37.6 per cent over 1892 and 27.1 per cent over last year. But without regard to such details all realize that the volume of business in all branches is the greatest ever known. The national prosperity rests on more solid foundations. The exports of breadstuffs, provisions, cotton and oil in February showed a decrease of $6,000,000, but other exports, mainly manufactured, were $36,406,943 in value, against $31,275,396 last year, and were sufficiently large to cover 60 per cent of the entire imports. The merchandise exports exceeded imports for the month $33,624,117, the gol dsupply increasing, and there appears no occasion for monetary disturbance. The treasury recorded its first payment of the $59,000,000 for the Central Pacific Railroad, having previously received $59,000,000 for the Union Pacific. Failures for the week have been 189 in the United States, against 208 last year, and 30 in Canada, against 27 last year."

White Thunder Is Arrested.

At Porcupine, subagency of Pine Ridge agency, north of Gordon, Neb., an attempt was made to arrest White Thunder, a full-blooded Sioux, for abusing his white wife. White Thunder was armed and resisted arrest, killing one Indian policeman and badly wounding another. He escaped to Sand hills, but six Indian trailers followed and captured him, bringing him in irons to the agency.

Rain Assures Late Crops.

The rainstorm reached the southern counties of California, relieving the anxiety of the farmers. The present rainfall has assured large crops. Hay and grass will now be plentiful and cattlemen are correspondingly happy. Mines, which last year were closed down on account of lack of water, will be able to run the entire summer. Fruit trees also have been greatly helped.

Remains Will Never Be Identified.

The quartermaster's department at Washington has received a report from Santiago, saying that out of more than 300 disinterments of the remains of soldiers to be brought to this country 26 per cent are unknown dead. It is expected the percentage of unknown will be much less than this when the list is complete.

To Search for Andree.

A dispatch from Stockholm says that King Oscar, at the request of Dr. Nordenskjold, has provided F. R. Martin with 1,500 kroner in order that he may make a search in Siberia for Prof. Andree and his companions. It is added that Martin has started on his search.

Fire in Greenville, Texas.

Fire caused great damage at Greenville, Texas. The burned buildings include King's opera house, Irvine' drug store, city library, Graham Brothers' dry goods store, Young Men's Christian Association hall and a meat market. The loss will reach $150,000.

Missouri Officials Indicted.

At St. Louis, the grand jury returned indictments against State Boiler Inspector Charles Price and H. H. Phelper, member of the board of examiners for stationary engineers, for receiving illegal fees.

Struck by Passenger Train.

Charles Haun and a boy named Hull were struck by an east-bound Rio Grande passenger train while crossing the tracks in a wagon seven miles south of Salt Lake, Utah, and both instantly killed.

Two Killed at Laredo, Texas.

In a riot at Laredo, Texas, over removing smallpox patients to the pest house, two men were killed, a woman and several of the rioters seriously injured.

Oil Tank Causes a Big Fire.

The bursting of an oil tank on the lease of the Stark Oil Company caused a fire at Scio, Ohio, that destroyed $30,000 worth of property.

Favors the Valdez Route.

Captain W. R. Abercrombie of the United States army has left Washington on his third military reconnoisance into Alaska. Last summer Abercrombie explored the Copper river valley for the purpose of establishing an all-American route to the Klondike. In his report he said the map showed only two lines of travel into the Klondike—the all-water route by way of St. Michaels and the Yukon, and the land route over White Pass, over which the construction of a railroad would be a difficult problem. Captain Abercrombie, however, finds that a route from Fort Valdez on Prince William sound is only 400 miles long, 175 miles shorter than from Skaguay over the White Pass. He says: "Disregarding the fact that the Skaguay route passes through foreign territory and involves taxation, with the usual formalities and delays, it will be found topographically that the Lynn canal and Fort Valdez are about the same altitude, with a difference in elevation of the White Pass on the Skaguay route and the Thompson Pass on the Valdez route of about 1,000 feet in favor of the Thompson Pass. The meteorological conditions are about the same." As far as agricultural possibilities are concerned, Captain Abercrombie believes that there is no comparison between the two routes. He thinks the Copper river valley will produce all the cereals, garden truck, small fruits, etc., that will be required for the mining population which may hereafter inhabit the Copper river, Tanana and Forty Mile districts of Alaska.

SOLD ENGLAND AN IRON BRIDGE.

Philadelphia Company Won a Big Contract Over British Firms.

In line with the orders from French and English railroads for American locomotives, another striking evidence of European appreciation of the rapid and excellent work of American manufacturers is shown in a contract placed by the British war office with the Pencoyd iron works, Philadelphia, for a railroad bridge 1,100 feet long to cross the Atbara river, in the Soudan country, to facilitate the operations of Gen. Kitchener against the mahdists. When the British war office made known its needs and wants to the English bridge builders it was informed that the best they could do was to construct two spans of the bridge in seven months and complete it in a year. The Pencoyd company promised to build it within seven weeks after receiving the order. It has done so in five weeks and has shipped the bridge.

FIGURING UP LOSS ON WHEAT.

Southern Kansas Reports 20 Per Cent., Oklahoma Only 15.

The Commercial Club at Wichita, Kan., received a report on damage to wheat from eighteen counties in southern Kansas and the whole of Oklahoma. The average reported is 20 per cent to the wheat crop in southern Kansas, and 15 per cent to the wheat crop in Oklahoma. This is not as large as expected. In Stafford County, Kansas, one of the largest grain producers in the State, 50 per cent damage to wheat is reported. In Sedgwick and Cowley counties no damage is reported at all. In some places in Oklahoma the crop was entirely killed, but in the northern part the recent storms had no effect.

Buffalo Express Is Derailed.

The Buffalo express on the Lehigh Valley Railroad was derailed at North Wilkesbarre, Pa., by crashing into an engine which overlapped a switch. The engine of the express was thrown down an embankment and three cars were derailed. The engineer and fireman escaped with a few bruises. The passengers were badly shaken up, but none was seriously injured.

Lake Shore Limited Wrecked.

The southwestern limited on the Lake Shore road was wrecked at West Seneca, N. Y., by an ice-clogged switch. Engineer Henry S. Shattuck was killed and Brakeman George W. Roberts was severely injured. While the passengers were roughly shaken up, none was injured.

Stolen Child Is Found.

Gerald Lapiner, whose disappearance from his home in Chicago several months ago kept the police busy in a search that extended over the entire country, has been found. He was in the custody of an insane man and woman at Painesville, Ohio.

Starving Murderer Is Lynched.

General Duckett, a negro, who murdered James Stockton, a planter, was lynched by a mob at Texarkana. Duckett had been hiding in the bottoms since the crime, but was forced by hunger to surrender. He confessed the killing.

Princess Kaiulani Dead.

The steamer China, from the Orient via Honolulu, brings news of the death of Princess Kaiulani of Hawaii. The cause of death was attributed to inflammatory rheumatism. The princess was born Oct. 16, 1875.

Caught by Flames at Omaha.

Two women killed, four persons fatally injured and sixteen more seriously burned or maimed are results of a fire, which partially destroyed the Patterson block in Omaha, Neb.

Queen Regent Signs the Treaty.

The Queen Regent at Madrid has signed the treaty of peace between Spain and the United States.

Mrs. Place Electrocuted.

Mrs. Martha Place was put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing, N. Y.

MARKET REPORTS.

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, shipping grades, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2 red, 67c to 69c; corn, No. 2, 34c to 35c; oats, No. 2, 25c to 27c; rye, No. 2, 54c to 55c; butter, choice creamery, 19c to 21c; eggs, fresh, 12c to 13c; potatoes, choice, 63c to 70c per bushel.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $5.75; hogs, choice light, $2.75 to $4.00; sheep, common to choice, $2.50 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2 red, 68c to 70c; corn, No. 2 white, 34c to 35c; oats, No. 2 white, 31c to 33c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $3.50 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $3.00 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 70c to 72c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 33c to 35c; oats, No. 2, 27c to 29c; rye, No. 2, 54c to 56c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $2.50 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 70c to 72c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 28c to 30c; rye, No. 2, 58c to 60c.

Detroit—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $2.50 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 72c to 74c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 33c to 35c; oats, No. 2 white, 30c to 32c; rye, 59c to 61c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 70c to 72c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 33c to 34c; oats, No. 2 white, 26c to 28c; rye, No. 2, 54c to 56c; clover seed, new, $3.55 to $3.60.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 spring, 66c to 67c; corn, No. 3, 32c to 34c; oats, No. 2 white, 28c to 30c; rye, No. 1, 54c to 56c; barley, No. 2, 45c to 47c; pork, mess, $9.00 to $9.50.

Buffalo—Cattle, ge d shipping steers, $3.00 to $5.75; hogs, common to choice, $3.25 to $4.25; sheep, fair to choice wethers, $3.50 to $5.00; lambs, common to extra, $4.50 to $6.00.

New York—Cattle, $3.25 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.50; sheep, $3.00 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2 red, 80c to 81c; corn, No. 2, 41c to 43c; oats, No. 2 white, 35c to 36c; butter, creamery, 15c to 22c; eggs, Western, 12c to 14c.

AN ANCIENT PROVERB REVERSED.

The $3,000,000 Bird in the Bush Is Worth to Gomez More than the Bird of Uncertain Value in Hand.

WEALTHY CHICAGOAN SHOT.

Affray Takes Place in the Cafe of the Auditorium Annex.

In a crowded dining room of the Auditorium Annex in Chicago, where there were nearly 100 guests, most of them women, H. H. Hammond shot John T. Shayne Tuesday afternoon. Three shots were fired, two of which took effect. Hammond made no attempt to escape, but surrendered to the house detective and was locked up. Both men are well known in Chicago, Shayne being the head of the firm of John T. Shayne & Co., furriers. Hammond is a merchant tailor at 189 Wabash avenue.

Jealousy of a peculiar nature was the passion that led Harry Hammond to wreak vengeance on John T. Shayne. Mr. Shayne was dining with the divorced wife of Hammond and two other ladies. Since her divorce Mrs. Hammond had been receiving the attentions of Shayne, who is a widower, and it was alleged they were soon to be married. It is not apparent that Hammond grieved over the loss of his wife by divorce; in fact, he made no effort to prevent her securing one.

At the commencement of the shooting the ladies with Mr. Shayne fled to the palm gallery at the end of the room. Mrs.

JOHN T. SHAYNE.

Hammond had seemed to fear trouble on observing Hammond enter the cafe, and had cautioned her companions not to speak to him. After the first shot the victim of Hammond's rage dropped under the table.

A panic reigned in the hotel immediately. Guests ran into the lobbies screaming for assistance, and waiters sought places of safety on the second floor. The assailant started to leave the room by the entrance to the lobby, but was confronted by the head waiter and chief clerk. He was led unresisting to the private office of the Annex, and taken into custody.

OTHER EXPENSIVE CONGRESSES

Appropriations of 37th and 38th Exceeded Those of 55th.

A Washington correspondent asserts that men and others who characterize the Fifty-fifth Congress as the most expensive in the history of the country speak with a memory less than a third of a century old, when the cost of the civil war had to be provided for. The grand total of regular and permanent annual appropriations made by the Congress just closed was $1,566,890,016.

Of this amount $482,562,083 was due, in the estimation of the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, to the war with Spain. The appropriations on this account run through nearly all the several bills, and are ascertainable in them with reasonable accuracy. The agricultural bill, for instance, carried an item of $60,000 for the establishment of weather bureau stations in the West Indies, made necessary by the war with Spain. The army and navy bills were increased respectively $57,300,850 and $42,858,791. Other bills contained the amounts named as follows: Fortifications, $5,232,582; legislative, executive and judicial (clerical force), $1,316,300; postoffice, $300,000; deficiencies, $345,342,260; miscellaneous, $23,870,000.

The permanent annual appropriations were increased $6,000,000, to pay the interest on the $200,000,000 war loan. In other cases the war appropriations are more difficult to discern. For instance, nearly $200,000 was added to the sundry civil bill to provide additional accommodations at the Government insane hospital for the benefit of the victims of the war.

The appropriations made by the Thirty-seventh Congress, which was charged with the duty of appropriating for the fiscal years ending June 30, 1863 and 1864, respectively, cannot be arrived at accurately, for much of their legislation was indefinite, carrying no specific and fixed sums, as is the rule of the present day. But the expenditures of the Government for those two years which, under the constitution, could not exceed the appropriations and which probably fell short in that respect, amounted to $1,570,063,367, not including the postal receipts.

The $1,566,890,016 of appropriations charged to the Fifty-fifth Congress include $204,856,484 for postal expenditures. If the sum of $180,000,000, the estimated amount of postal receipts for the two years in question, be deducted from the aggregate named, it leaves $1,386,890,016 as the amount of appropriations authorized by the Fifty-fifth Congress, against $1,570,063,367 expended under authorization of the Thirty-seventh Congress. The Thirty-eighth Congress made even a greater demand upon the treasury than the Thirty-seventh, the expenditures under its appropriations amounting to $1,818,364,641, exclusive of the receipts for the postal service in the years 1865-66.

GERALD LAPINER FOUND.

Kidnaped Child Imprisoned in an Ohio Farmhouse.

A clever country girl solved the mystery. Chicago police were quick to take her advice after almost a year's fruitless work. Then the sheriff of Lake County, Ohio, arrested the alleged abductors of Gerald Lapiner on a farm two miles west of Painesville and restored the long-lost child to his mother. The prisoners are John Collins and Mrs. Ann Ingersoll. The boy had been kept carefully locked up for ten months in a little out-of-the-way farm house. No motive has been discovered yet to have induced the woman to lure the child from his home, 4835 Prairie avenue, Chicago, last Memorial Day.

GERALD LAPINER.

Louis Lapiner and his wife, after offering rewards and following clews all over the lake States, had almost given up hope of ever finding the youngest of their three boys. It seemed a "Charley Ross case No. 2." Detectives all over the country abandoned the chase, and little Gerald, once so prominent because of his strange disappearance, had been well-nigh forgotten.

The real discoverer of the lost child was Miss O. C. Ferris. Miss Ferris saw the child by accident as she passed the window of the farm house kitchen. He was tied to the table, crying lustily. As no one came to his relief she knocked at the door until she convinced herself no one else was in the house. Then she tried to open the door, but it was locked. All the windows were bolted, an unusual thing in that part of the country.

Next day she set inquiries afoot and found that an old man and a mysterious woman had gone to live in the farm house months before. Her instinct told her it was a case of kidnaping. She went home and racked her brain to think of some case of abduction she had read about in the newspapers. The only one she could remember was that of little Gerald Lapiner. She sought her brother and they wrote to Chicago, and baby Lapiner was found.

WINTER WHEAT IS DAMAGED.

Peculiar Weather Conditions Are Responsible for This.

That the winter wheat sown last fall under the most favorable condition has been seriously damaged by the peculiar weather conditions which have prevailed is shown by reports from all the winter wheat producing States. The estimates as to the damage vary in a marked degree, some States reporting almost a total loss, while others report that the crop will be of fair size, but of a poor quality.

Ohio, judging from the reports, appears to have suffered less than other States, while the conditions in Illinois are unfavorable, to say the least. Favorable weather from now on may change all this, however. Apprehension, rather than serious damage, has been caused on the Pacific coast by lack of moisture, but it is believed that at the proper time the West will come forward with her regular crop.

Winter wheat was sown last fall under very generally favorable conditions. There was abundant moisture over the whole belt, with excess in but limitde districts. Opportunity for carefully preparing the seed bed was ample and the crop went into the ground in excellent shape. The only complaint came from some districts in the central valleys, where there was an excess of moisture, which delayed seeding and finally resulted in the seed going into a soil that was too wet at a date later than is considered desirable.

On the Pacific coast seeding was delayed by the absence of the usual fall and early winter rains. To this review of the general character of the season little can be added in the way of definite statement of the actual effect on the crop. Apparently all conditions have been favorable to serious and widespread injury, and that such has been the result is the opinion of at least three-fourths of the local observers upon whose data this series of crop reviews is based.

WOMEN PERISH IN A FIRE.

Blaze in an Omaha Business Block Deals Death and Injuries.

As a result of what was at first said to be an explosion of a gasoline stove nearly two score women were imprisoned in the third story of the Patterson block at Omaha. Thirteen of the women leaped to the stone pavement below. One was killed instantly and all the others more or less seriously injured, and a number are expected to die. The plight of the victims was witnessed by thousands of people, who were unable to render aid. The women were forced to jump or be burned to death.

The victims are all members of the women's branch of the Royal Neighbors and of the Maccabees, and at the time the fire broke out were in session in Labor Temple, which occupies the top story of the building. The explosion occurred in a closet under the stairway leading to the room occupied by the women, and from the first their escape from that direction was cut off. A fire escape was available on the opposite side of the building, but the only woman who had presence of mind sufficient to reach that point was Mrs. Brosius, and she fainted from excitement the moment she reached the ladder and dropped the full distance.

NATIVE ARMY IN A PANIC.

Filipinos Are Demoralized by the Work of Wheaton's Men.

With each day the Filipino cause is becoming weaker and Gen. Otis is confident that a few more lessons such as administered during the last week will bring the larger part of the native army to time. The followers of Aguinaldo are almost in panic and with each engagement their resistance becomes more futile. Although the American advance was commenced only a week ago, remarkable progress has already been made. Several well-fortified villages have been taken, an important strategic position secured, property worth $500,000 destroyed and American gunboats are cruising Bay lake, spreading consternation in all the towns along its shores.

It is impossible to accurately estimate the number of Filipinos killed in the recent engagements, but the total for the last week, it is certain, is about 1,000. Many mortally wounded were carried away by their comrades to die in distant villages. Several hundred prisoners are held by the Americans. On the other hand, the loss to the troops in Gen. Wheaton's flying column has been slight, only an occasional man killed and few wounded. This is extraordinary under the circumstances, for the United States soldiers in taking the offensive have been at a disadvantage, invading new country and approaching from the open well-built intrenchments defended by the pick of Aguinaldo's army.

Gen. Wheaton's brigade Sunday advanced against the Filipinos, clearing a tract of country two miles wide and eleven miles in length, to guard against another attempt at a surprise.

Some of the Filipinos recently expelled from Cavite and the small towns in the vicinity of Pasig combined forces and Saturday night attacked a company of the Washington volunteers, a detached post at Taguig, about a mile and a half southeast of Pasig. Gen. Wheaton immediately re-enforced the Americans with two companies each of the Washington and the Oregon regiments. The post had held the natives in check and the fire of the re-enforcing companies repulsed them, driving them across to an island formed by the estuary. They were thus in front of the Twenty-second regulars.

On discovering that they were entrapped the natives fought desperately, aided materially by the jungle and the darkness, but they were completely routed with heavy loss after two hours' fighting. The Americans lost two killed and twenty wounded.

Gen. Wheaton determined to punish the natives, and at daybreak Sunday his brigade started and swept the whole country along the lake in a southeasterly direction toward Gen. Ovenshine's position. The line, extending over two miles of country, rough and covered with thick jungle, advanced eleven miles. The Filipinos fled. At scarcely any time did the Americans get within 1,200 yards of them. The troops returned to Pasig at night, exhausted by the hard work under a hot sun. The Oregon regiment had one man killed and four wounded and the Twenty-second regulars one wounded. According to the official reports no fewer than 200 Filipinos were killed.

Gen. Otis says that the American army and gunboats now command the lake. He estimates that property of the insurgents valued at $500,000 has been destroyed, while quantities of rice and sugar and 400 tons of coal, which is very valuable, have been captured. Many prisoners represent that the Filipino soldiers are weakening.

WINDSTORM DEALS DEATH.

Tornado Sweeps Across Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas.

Eleven persons were killed and fifteen injured in Saturday night's cyclone near Edwardsville, Cleburne, Ala. The cyclone began six miles west of Edwardsville, near Iron City, and swept the country for twelve miles. Its path was from 100 to 200 yards wide. The greater part of the country it moved over was wooded land and hundreds of trees were uprooted or twisted off at the ground. At intervals the storm would rise above the ground and skip along from fifty to 100 feet above the earth. Then it would descend again and lift houses bodily from the ground and dash them to pieces. Immense timbers were carried high into the air, and some were driven through trees.

The residence of Lewis Coffee, tax assessor of Cleburne County, was a large double log house on a little hill. Coffee, his wife and nine children were at home. The house was crushed like an eggshell and its timbers blown 200 yards away. Ten of the eleven occupants were instantly killed. Their bodies looked as if they had been lifted high into the air and dashed repeatedly to the earth. The body of one of the children was found wrapped about a stump like a string. All were stripped of their clothing and all had their brains dashed out.

On the Walker plantation, five miles above Pine Bluff, Ark., six houses were completely demolished and a fine gin house blown into the river. Seven negroes occupying one of the houses saved themselves by lying prostrate on the floor. They crawled from the debris after the storm. On the Fish plantation, six miles below Pine Bluff, ten houses were completely demolished. There still remains a considerable portion of the inland country from which to hear.

MRS. PLACE ELECTROCUTED.

Death Was Instantaneous and Was Met Without a Struggle.

Mrs. Martha Place faced death in the electric chair at Sing Sing, N. Y., Monday afternoon. She made no scene. Mrs. Place went calmly to the chair. She leaned on Warden Sage's arm. Two women attended her—one a prison attendant, the other a physician. She was calm beyond expectation. No one has walked into the death chamber as serenely as she. Death was instantaneous and came without a struggle.

The crime for which Mrs. Place suffered the death penalty was committed a year ago last February at her home in Brooklyn. She killed her stepdaughter, Ida Place, by throwing acid in her face while asleep and then smothering her with the bedclothes. Then she waited for her husband to come home. At the door she hit him several times on the head with an ax, and it was several months before he recovered. Jealousy was the motive which led her to take her stepdaughter's life, she being insanely jealous of the attentions her husband paid his daughter.

AGUINALDO IN A RAGE.

Orders Gen. Lagarda Beheaded for Suggesting Surrender.

Aguinaldo is taking extreme measures to suppress signs calculated to cause a cessation of hostilities. Twelve adherents of the plan of independence, residents of Manila, have been condemned to death because they wrote advising surrender. Gen. Lagarda visited Malolos for the purpose of advising Aguinaldo to quit. He argued with the insurgent leader and attempted to convince him of the folly of his persistence in the face of overwhelming odds. Aguinaldo was furious at the advice and ordered Gen. Lagarda to be executed immediately. The unfortunate general was promptly decapitated.

INDIANA INCIDENTS.

RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK.

Will Not Make the Fight—Operators and Miners Fail to Agree—Big Fire at Patoka—Fatal Feud Between Relatives—New Industry for Peru.

The manufacturers of the gas belt who organized a short time ago to fight the foreign gas pipe line companies have abandoned the project. The foreign companies assert that the pressure in their main lines does not exceed the 300-pound limit prescribed by law, and that the powerful pumps used are not for the purpose of drawing the fluid from the earth, but to force it through the mains. On these points the companies are prepared to make a prolonged fight, and as the outcome, after much expensive litigation, would be uncertain, the manufacturers have decided to drop it.

Coal Men in a Wrangle.

The meeting between a select committee of block coal operators and miners held at Brazil to make a final effort to adjust a scale for a year closed sine die without an agreement being reached. Miners insist upon suspension of work at once, and it will be a difficult matter for the officers to induce the men to work longer. All the men employed at the Big Four mine, belonging to F. S. Peabody of Chicago, quit work on account of no settlement being reached. The miners are prepared for a hard fight.

Greater Part of Patoka Destroyed.

Fire at Patoka came near destroying the entire town. The fire started in Samuel Burns' saloon. The total loss is put at $20,000, partly covered by insurance. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin. There have been six attempts within the last year to burn out the town of Patoka and there are now seven firebugs serving time, convicted of incendiarism in the town.

Biscuit Plant for Peru.

Hugh McCaffrey will establish at Peru immediately a biscuit works which may compete with the trust. He is a man of large means, who has spent most of his life in the grocery trade, and sees a profit in crackers and kindred articles at the prices paid the trust. He has placed an order for nearly $40,000 worth of machinery and will install his plant at Peru before July.

Fatal Fight at Carbon.

Walter Jones shot and instantly killed Edward Adams at Carbon. Jones and Adams were relatives, and there had been a long-standing feud between them. Adams and Jones met at William Baxter's saloon and a fight followed. Jones shot Adams in the head and continued firing until he emptied his revolver. Jones was arrested.

Within Our Borders.

Twenty-six Amo farmers have formed a telephone company.

North Salem is wrestling with the question of incorporation.

Edgar Andreas has been appointed oil inspector at Lafayette.

Thieves robbed the Russiaville postoffice, securing 75 cents.

New Evansville directory indicates a population of about 70,000.

Vigo County farmers have organized a mutual insurance company.

John Moulder, Russiaville, celebrated his ninety-fourth birthday.

Over 100 head were sold at the Lackey horse sale at Cambridge City.

Lightning destroyed Andrew Beall's barn, Versailles. Loss $1,500.

Charles Lorg, Coal Bluff, has been appointed deputy mine inspector.

Big tin plate trust, recently formed, robs Middletown of her plant and many residents.

Evansville school children will study the weather map issued at the station there every day.

Lippincott lamp chimney factory has posted a notice of an indefinite shut-down for repairs.

Anthony Brinson, farmer, 46, hanged himself twelve miles north of Madison, leaving a large family.

Miss Mabel Redwood, 16, Logansport, and Charles Hawkins eloped to St. Joe, Mich., and married.

Harry Cummins, Shelbyville mail carrier, has quit his job and gone to California without even explaining to his wife.

Well of the Byram Oil Company on the Stotler lease was put to work, and is producing at the rate of 700 barrels a day.

Richard L. Marshall, Greenfield, 25, president of the Stove Molders' Union, is dead of pneumonia. He once lived in Indianapolis.

Wm. O'Haver, Mooresville, has organized a gold mining company to work on his farm. He has taken out about $50 worth this winter.

Rayfield Burton, who, by the aid of his father, escaped from officers while on his way to the penitentiary, has been captured near Mitchell.

The Byram Oil Company of Indianapolis has struck the biggest gusher yet in Washington township. The fluid spurted high above the derrick.

William Stough, prominent in Brazil, sues his wife for divorce on the plea that she purposely allowed his home, clothing, etc., to be burned in his absence.

Gas Inspector Leach says that rotten gas mains caused the recent explosions in several towns, in which twelve were killed and $200,000 worth of property destroyed.

Lawrence County Commissioners have let a contract for building gravel roads in Shawswick township to D. C. Dehority of Elwood for $48,357. There were eleven bidders.

O. E. Sutton, Kokomo, sold his household goods to three different second-hand dealers, with the understanding that each was to call at the house the next day and get the stuff. Then he left town.

Judge Piety upheld the Terre Haute city ordinance imposing a license fee on vehicles, including bicycles. It is the first decision in the State since the law of 1897 went into effect.

Joseph I. Irwin of Columbus has made a gift of $25,000 to the Bible school of Butler College of the University of Indianapolis on the condition that the trustees raise $75,000 additional.

Twin girls born prematurely, owing to an accident to the mother, Mrs. Frank Miller of New Albany, will be reared in an incubator. Attending physicians say that both of the infants will live.

A tragic ending of a matrimonial venture between two old people who met through a matrimonial agency was made by Edward Wannick at Lebanon, who, after his wife had begun proceedings for divorce, broke up her furniture, then shot himself and finally hanged himself to a tree.

Chicago capitalists, including Elliott G. Durand of the Heath-Milligan Company and Clinton G. Wiggins, have incorporated the Wawasee Inn Company for the management of a summer resort at Lake Wawasee, much frequented by Chicago people. The company will erect a large hotel building and have a paid up capital stock of $30,000.

HENRY W. LAWTON, FIGHTING MACHINE.

At the head of the 5,000 regulars in the Philippine Islands is a modern fighting machine. Its name is Lawton—Henry W. Lawton—and for nearly forty years it has worn the uniform of the United States army. It has risen from the ranks, this fighting machine, leaving behind it other machines as strong possibly, but less fortunate.

Henry W. Lawton was born in Ohio fifty-six years ago. He was a country boy and got only a common school education—not any too much of it. It is to be doubted if he would have learned a great deal if kept steadily at college until he attained his majority. Emphatically he is not a book man. Studying the printed page has been to him always a task and never a pleasure. Men are his books—men and happenings. His folk were plain farmer folk. From them he derived his length and size of bone. The tremendous muscles, the tireless endurance which have marked him in later life had the beginning of the development in the open air of the fields of his boyhood. It was said of him that it took him longer to learn anything and longer to forget it than any youth that ever tramped through the snow to a log school house. His memory, indeed, has been one of his strong points since he emerged from childhood. He remembers well—particularly enemies. A better hater was never born. It follows necessarily that he is true in friendship. He is, in fact, a man's man. Women who get to know him like him well enough, but not many of them get to know him. In the age of gray hair he is still a bachelor, and if he has ever had an affair of the heart it has been kept to himself.

Lawton entered the volunteer service of the United States in April, 1861, and was given the chevrons of a sergeant in company E of the Ninth Indiana Infantry. In August, 1861, he was made first lieutenant of the Thirtieth Indiana. In May, 1862, he was made a captain, was a lieutenant colonel in November, 1864, was breveted a colonel for gallant and meritorious services in March, 1865, and was mustered out of the service in November, 1865. He had had practically four years of the most tremendous war in the history of the nations. He had been a participant in a dozen pitched battles. He had led his men in charge and counter charge on the stricken fields of Virginia. He had stepped upon the dead upturned faces of his brothers. He had been soaked with blood to his knees.

On the 1st of July, 1866, he was gazetted a second lieutenant in the regular army, being assigned to the Forty-first Infantry. A year later he was made a first lieutenant. He was transferred to the cavalry arm in January, 1871, had advanced to a captaincy in March, 1879, was made a major in the inspector's general's department in September, 1888, and inspector general, with the rank of lieutenant colonel, in 1889. That is his rank in the regular army to-day, although he wears the epaulets of a major general of volunteers. He is slated for appointment to be a brigadier general under the reorganization act and when the two years for which the new soldiers will be enlisted have expired there will be enough retirements from the service to make his retention as a regular brigadier a certainty.

He has come upward step by step solely through personal courage and personal strength. He has held that it is the first duty of the soldier to fight, and to fight as soon as he gets the chance. He has been possessed by no particular refinements of the art of war. He has simply gone ahead and fought like a fiend when opportunity offered and left to others the task of explaining why and how such and such a victory was won or defeat suffered. He has devoted his life to the profession of arms and he understands it. He does not pretend to be an authority upon anything else. He is a one-idea man.

Personality of the Man.

In person he is a wonder. Standing 6 feet 3 inches high, as straight as a rule, with long arms, wide shoulders, deep chest and thin flanks, he weighed 195 pounds of bone and muscle when 25 years old and now weighs 210. His head is small and set on a massive neck. His hands and feet are large. He is as active as a cat and as tireless as a wolf. Under the sleeves of his blue fatigue jacket the muscles bulge like cables. His stomach goes like clockwork. He has not an unsound tooth. Headaches are not known to him, except from hearsay. He can travel for a week without food or sleep, then make a boa constrictor ashamed of itself and sleep for two days without turning over. He has never taken any care of himself. The soldier's rough and exposed life has been his since youth, but he is as sound as a nut today and able to tire out a dozen younger men. Apparently fatigue passes him by when it lays its heavy hand upon those apparently as strong. He is always alert and always looking for a chance to damage an opponent. One of his many Indian names is "Man-Who-Gets-Up-in-the-Night-to-Fight," and he has earned it by years of practically ceaseless toil. His forehead is high and somewhat narrow, his eyes a keen gray, his nose and cheek bones prominent, his chin square, his lips thin. He wears a drooping mustache. His hair is cut pompadour, stands up stiff and short like a reversed shoe shoe brush, and he is not pretty. This hair is now liberally sprinkled with gray, and the white amid the brown is about his only sign of age. Army surgeons who know him say that he may live to be 100 unless a bullet cuts short his strange and sanguinary career.

Henry W. Lawton was a gallant and serviceable officer of infantry during four years of the civil war, but his peculiar talents were properly environed only when he was transferred to the cavalry and stationed in the southwest. This was more than a quarter of a century ago, and for two decades he was remote from the large cities of the east. He found New Mexico and Arizona overrun and terrorized by hostile bands of Indians and he set himself, along with his comrades, to hold them down. They were held down. The work that the cavalrymen of the United States did in those years will never be appreciated until a circumstantial history is written and it is not probable that the history will ever be written. It was a life of foray, long rides, desperate battles in remote valleys, midnight surprises, combat with a foe that often was not seen, disheartening and fruitless chases, danger and frequent death. In fifteen years the officer saw every friend he had made when he went to the mountains taken from him by removal, age disease or the bullet. The entire personnel of the force changed more than once—the entire personnel—that is, except himself. He was always left, lonely, self-contained, earnest, indefatigable and silent, save when giving commands or cheering on his men in fight. His name became a household word in all of the tepees in that wild land. The Chiricahuas, the Mescaleros, the Jicarillas, Apaches, all had for him the mixture of hate and grudged admiration compelled by a dauntless foe. They found in him, after a little while, a man who was learned in every phase of their peculiar warfare, and in ten years they dreaded him as they have dreaded few white men since the winning of the West began. Lawton's method of handling them was singularly his own. When he struck a trail he kept to it with a dogged tenacity which knew no such thing as quit. Whether the pursuit was maintained for a day or a week, it was maintained with a steady, unrelenting earnestness that did more to strike terror into the hearts of the red men than would have been possible to all the rifles on earth. The man's philosophy was wholly expressed once in a chance remark to a newspaper acquaintance.

"If a man is hunting for you," he said, "get a gun and hunt him. Do it right away. It discourages anyone to be suddenly transferred from the position of hunter to hunted."

This rule has guided him. He insists upon being the aggressor. It is supposed that he would stand a charge all right, but hitherto he has always done the charging. He does not believe in waiting for the other side to act. This trait was signally demonstrated in his conduct of the right wing of the American army at El Caney. He had men that he thought could be depended on. At any rate he proposed to see what they could and would do. So he sent them at the blockhouses and breastworks hour after hour with a savage disregard of the chances of battle and the liability to death that is one of the marvels of that brief and glorious campaign. It was of Lawton's men and not of the rough riders that the Spanish infantryman said: "We do not understand you American soldiers. You tried to catch us with your hands."

It was Lawton's reputation for daring and tireless pertinacity that led to his becoming internationally famous. His characteristics were known, of course, to his superior officers as thoroughly as they were known to the Indians whom he had been fighting for a dozen years. For the tenth time the band of Chiricahua Apaches, headed by Chief Naches and directed by Geronimo, had jumped the San Carlos reservation, leaving behind them the usual trail of blood and ruin. Ranchmen were butchered on lonely ranges, children's brains were dashed out and the smoke of burning dwellings rose day and night to the brilliantly blue sky. General Miles, a trained soldier and an Indian fighter himself, was in command, and he selected Captain Lawton for the task that was set before them. He started with two troops of veterans, taking a trail that at its beginning was broad and plainly marked. Then followed the most remarkable pursuit in the history of Indian warfare. Day after day the ceaseless toil continued. The men speedily found themselves in a country where horses without claws were of worse than no account. Their officer dismounted them. "We will walk them down," he said grimly. The walk began. It was white pluck and endurance against Indian craftiness and endurance.

Hunting Geronimo.

Over rocks that blistered the hands when touched, in ravines so deep and dark that through the narrow rift far overhead the stars were visible at noontide, up the sides of huge hills down which trickled rivulets of dust, threading paths along precipices which frowned upon green valleys 5,000 feet below, drinking of cold, clear springs that gushed above the clouds, sometimes in the sun-baked desert, again clambering far beyond the timber line, Lawton and his followers struggled on. Frequently a wisp of blue smoke jutted from some inaccessible crag and a bullet sang its wicked way to its billet or spattered upon a russet rock. It is a country that God Almighty made in wrath and the imprint of his anger is on it all. Week succeeded week. Men dropped, fainting, in the giant hills and their comrades passed on. There was no time to stay. They were left to find their way back to the reservation as best they could. Indian and white were foemen worthy of each other's steel, and the issue of the contest was in doubt to the last day.

Finally, one night just as the sentries were set, there was a faint hail and an Indian stood before them. He was worn to the bone, but dauntless still. He said that his chief would talk to the white man, but would talk to him alone. His camp was some miles further on, but the messenger would guide Lawton to it if he cared to come. The noncoms endeavored to persuade the captain against the venture, but he smiled sourly at them and told the Indian that he was ready. They left the camp of the soldiers the next morning. By 10 o'clock Lawton stood in the Apache horde. Cavernous eyes gleamed at him. Lips drawn back from discolored teeth grinned at him. Wasted hands were waved at him threateningly. Stern, dominant, the living, breathing personification of the great White Spirit that had beaten them back from the far eastern verge of the land they had owned, he walked straight to the medicine man and demanded his surrender. There was a brief parley. Lawton contemptuously refused to promise anything or to guarantee anything, except that he and his followers would be fed.

"Maybe you will be hanged afterward," he said. "I don't know about that. Anyhow, you ought to be. But I'll feed you. I'd feed a dog in your fix."

In the Cuban Fight.

A month afterward Geronimo, Naches and their band of cutthroats were prisoners in Florida. They are still in confinement. Not only was the power for evil of this particular tribe nullified, but the spirit of Apache resistance was broken. It had been demonstrated that they could be beaten at their own game. Once again the white man had shown them that he was their master, mentally, morally and physically. It was this service which called Lawton from the west and landed him in the inspector general's office in Washington, with much official prestige, a fair salary and little to do. The inaction chafed him, as it chafes any man of his kind. In five years he rusted more than he would have worn in ten. The chance of hostilities with Spain found him eagerly preferring requests for assignment to service. He did not wish to inspect anything or to take the count of army trains. He wanted to fight. It seemed to him, he said, that if he could smell the smoke once more and know that there was a chance to do good work, he would instantly become young again. The opportunity was offered him. It was recognized that in the Santiago campaign fighters and not doctrinaires were wanted. At Tampa Lawton was the first man named by Shafter to assist him in the desperate enterprise ahead. "Pecos Bill" had been for many years on the frontier himself and he knew his officer thoroughly. Nothing could have suited Lawton so well. He was there to kill Spaniards and he thought he saw his way clear to doing it.

As a brigadier general of volunteers he was given command of a division and in that command stormed El Caney, doing as much as any man could do to convince Toral that his cause was hopeless. In all of the fighting of that terrific day he was up to the firing line, saying little, but pacing slowly up and down, his gaunt figure a mark for every sharpshooter in the enemy's lines, the Mauser's flicking up the dust about him or pulsing in the air, giving to his men the constant example of how an American soldier should act when under fire. He was one of the three commissioners appointed by Gen. Shafter to arrange with Toral the terms of capitulation, and after the fall of Santiago policed the city in a very thorough manner until the establishment of a stable form of government was made possible. Lawton's idea of policing a place of the kind is very simple. "The regulations are so and so," he would say, "and you have your gun. If anybody violates the regulations, use the gun." It required just one day to quiet the city.

Again it was the Geronimo record—or rather the record of years in the west crowned by the Geronimo incident—which sent him to the Philippines to command the American forces in the field. The rainy season will have no effect on him, whatever the effect may be on those under him. He is as certain to go strong and fast, even if he goes to his death, as the sun is certain to rise and set. All climates and all seasons are alike to that iron frame, upon which war and peace and the rigors of the mountains and the sloth of the Potomac Valley and asceticism and dissipation have been effectless.

SNAKES AS DECORATIONS.

Samoan Maidens Wreath Themselves with Reptiles of Flaming Red.

For the most part the Pacific islands are destitute of snakes. That is absolutely the case in Hawaii. In New Zealand, equally free of these reptiles, the only knowledge which the Maoris had of snakes may be found in a legend of a monster called the aniwha, concerning which authorities differ as to whether it is the ancestral and dim recollection of a snake or of an alligator. All the eastern islands of Polynesia between these two outposts are snakeless. Westward from Hawaii, down among the Gilberts and the Marshalls and the Carolines, the square-bodied water snake begins to make its appearance in the lagoons and harbors. By the time the Philippines are reached the water snake becomes both common and deadly, and the jungles of those islands are abundantly supplied with snakes. From the Philippines as one follows down the chains of islands snakes are found both abundant and venomous. In the wild lands of the western Pacific the reptiles are frequently objects of worship, and in some legends are credited with the creation of the world.

Samoa seems to lie just on the boundary line of snakes in the Pacific. In the eastern islands of the archipelago no snakes are to be found; in Upolu a few are seen at rare intervals. In Savaii, only a few miles to the westward, they are common and attain great size, in the case of some kinds at least. None of them is venomous, and the islanders neither fear them nor exhibit any of that repugnance to their presence which is commonly called instinctive.

This indifference to the reptiles is made most markedly manifest at the hamlet of Iva, on the northeast coast of Savaii. Here are to be found small snakes of a most brilliant red color. They are so common that a basketful may be easily picked up in any banana patch. The dancing girls of this town are in the habit of employing these gaudy snakes for personal adornment in their dances. They tie them about their necks, their ankles, and their wrists, festoon them in their headdresses, and tuck a few extra ones in the belt in readiness to replace such as escape in the dance. At their best these sivas danced by the Samoans are either dull, or revolting shows of savagery. It can easily be imagined that they are made no more attractive when the taupou or village maid and her crew of attendant girls go careering about with an assortment of writhing red snakes. Still, the Samoans, who have no stock of snake prejudices, look upon this as one of the most successful and artistic dances in their islands.

WIDOW OF STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS

Death of the Woman Who Was the "Little Giant's" Wife.

Mrs. Robert Williams, formerly the wife of Stephen A. Douglas, the "Little Giant" of the Democratic party, and Lincoln's opponent in the Presidential campaign of 1860, died in Washington a short time ago. Some years after Douglas' death she married former Adjutant General Robert Williams. As the wife of Senator Douglas she was famous in fashionable and political circles for her beauty and her wit. When the "Little Giant" made his famous campaign his wife accompanied him, and by her tact and keen intuition made herself a strong factor in his chances of success. It was said that during the exciting times before and during the civil war Mrs. Douglas never made an enemy, although placed in many a trying situation.

Mrs. Williams was the daughter of J. M. Cutts, Comptroller of the Treasury in the '50s. She was a girl of wonderful personal charm. Tall, slender, and willowy, with a head and face of almost pure Greek type, there was a rare gentleness in the gaze of her beautiful brown eyes, in her unfailing courtesy, that made her a popular idol.

MRS. STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS.

After Senator Douglas' death, his widow, who was an ardent Roman Catholic, retired from society, and for some time resided the greater part of her time, after the French custom, in a convent. It was whispered that the beautiful young widow was to become a nun, the Pope having, it was said, granted a special dispensation permitting her to be received as a member of the Order of the Sacred Heart. After several years' retirement, however, Mrs. Douglas once more appeared in the social world, and her happy marriage to Gen. Williams occurred soon after.

THE STOPPING OF THE CLOCK.

Surprising falls the instantaneous calm,
The sudden silence in my chamber small;
I, starting, lift my head in half alarm—
The clock has stopped—that's all.

The clock has stopped! Yet why have I so found
An instant feeling, almost like dismay?
Why note its silence sooner than its sound?
For it has ticked all day.

So many a life beside my own go on,
And such companionship unheeded keep;
Companionship scarce recognized till gone,
And lost in sudden sleep.

And so the blessings heaven daily grants
Are in their very commonness forgot;
We little heed what answereth our wants—
Until it answers not.

A strangeness falleth on familiar ways
As if some pulse were gone beyond recall—
Something unthought of, linked with all our days—
Some clock has stopped—that's all.

—George H. Coomer, in Youth's Companion.

A BLOODLESS DUEL OF THE WEST.

Captain Jacob Matthews died recently near Sidney, Neb. He was a principal in one of the most singular, if bloodless, duels ever fought in the West. He emigrated from Pennsylvania early in the 60s, and settled at Omaha, where he began as a small merchant. Of Quaker stock and peace loving, he frequently declared he had fired a pistol only once in his life. His title was entirely complimentary.

The duel in which he engaged took place shortly after his arrival at Omaha City, when he aroused the animosity of Bull Tomey, a blackleg and an expert with the pistol. Matthews refused to sell goods to Tomey on credit, whereupon the latter promptly challenged the young merchant to a duel. As Tomey had participated in a dozen or more such affairs and had always come off victorious, great was the surprise and alarm of Matthews' friends when he promptly accepted the challenge.

"I have never had a pistol in my hands in my life," said Matthews, "but I mean to meet him, though neither of us will be hit."

The next day Tomey and Matthews met in a field south of the town. The news of the impending duel had been well circulated and friends of both assembled, although the general conviction was that Matthews was as good as dead.

To the amazement of the spectators, as well as Tomey and his second, when they reached the field they found a newly dug grave yawning for him who should fall in the duel. Tomey made it the butt of his coarse wit.

"That feller Matthews is a thoughtful one," he said to the crowd. "He comes out here to get me to pop him off and has his own grave ready, so we can hold the funeral without waste of time."

"On the contrary," answered Matthews, "I have had that grave dug for you."

There was even greater cause for astonishment when Matthews' second—Williams—strode on the field. He was known to be one of the most desperate men in Omaha. His fame as a dead shot was as great as that of Tomey, while his daring and wickedness were held in far higher repute by the rough element, of which he was a ruling spirit. Some trifling kindness had won this desperado to Matthews, and he had sworn to see him through the fight and secure fair play, if he had to clean out a score of his own tribe.

The duelists were to stand and fire at ten paces, and Williams, who immediately took charge of all arrangements without much deference to the wishes or views of his fellow second, so managed it that the grave came directly between them. To this arrangement Tomey and his second strenuously objected, but Williams, with an ugly frown, overruled them, saying tersely that, as the challenged party, his principal had a right to select the ground, so long as no obstacles intervened. The dirt from the grave had been removed to a distance, so there could be no complaint on that score. Tomey and his second appealed to the crowd, but soon found themselves a helpless minority, for the predominating rough element were afraid of Williams, and so of course sided with him. The respectable spectators naturally agreed with any proposition made in the interest of Matthews, whether the benefit was apparent or not. Finding it of no avail to protest further, Tomey's second placed him on his side of the grave, and Williams did likewise with Matthews. Then Williams stepped some paces to the right of his principal, and made a brief address.

"You men are to have one shot apiece," he began, looking straight at Tomey, who stood at careless ease with a smile on his repulsive face.

"That's all I want," he retorted: "I don't believe in tearing 'im all to pieces."

"All you want?" repeated Williams; "We'll see that you don't try to take more. And another thing I want you to bear carefully in mind, Bull Tomey, that I'm standin' here with my gun in my good right hand, and if you fire before I give the word of command, why, I'll blow the heart out of you; and I reckon from what you know of me, you will believe I'm in earnest when I caution you."

Tomey scouled darkly, but made no answer. Relations between the two men were strained, but Williams was much too strong in the esteem of the rough element for Tomey to declare for an open breach.

"Don't worry about me shootin' ahead of time," he replied surlily, "but hurry up these proceedings. I want to get back to town with the boys to celebrate this funeral."

"Very well, we're ready. I will count one, two, three, and then you are both to blaze away at the word 'Fire!'" went on Williams, at the time leveling his pistol at Tomey's breast.

"I'm going to keep you under cover," said he, as Tomey drew back with a start, "to make sure you don't fire at my man till the proper time. Your second may also cover my man, if he likes, to make certain his gun don't go off too soon, and that will even up the covering business all around."

Tomey's second, not to be outdone by Williams, and acting on his advice, promptly drew a bead on Matthews, and thus the seconds stood. The crowd began to insinuate that there were too many hifalutin novelties being introduced at the duel, but Williams silenced all dissension by the ferocity of his rebuking glare.

"Now, then, ready;" he called, and the principal brought their weapons to bear upon each other. "One!" he continued, and paused abruptly. Tomey aimed at his antagonist's head, holding his pistol motionless and true. Matthews covered the entire anatomical range of the ruffian and fastened his eyes unflinchingly upon the snaky little optics.

One minute, two minutes, thre minutes passed, but Williams, cooly disregarding the lapse of time, refrained from continuing the count. Instead, he leisurely surveyed Tomey and kept his pistol barrel on a line with the latter's heart. Matthews, who was still covered by Tomey's second, remained serene and totally indifferent as to aim. Tomey was beginning to show signs of nervousness and tension. His pistol arm twitched perceptibly once or twice and he shifted his aim from Matthews' head to his heart. The spectators muttered impatiently at the delay, but Williams paid no heed. He waited five minutes, then announced in sepulchral tones:

"Two!"

Matthews now took careful aim, pointing his weapon directly at Tomey's brain. Tomey was plainly ill at ease and eager to let fly at his opponent. Once Matthews withdrew his glance from Tomey's eyes and allowed it to rest upon the yawning grave. Unconsciously Tomey's glance followed suit; but the suggestions that grisly chasm inspired in his mind must have been unpleasant, for his pistol arm was observed to twitch again and his aim became unsteady and fluctuating. Matthews, however, brought his eyes to bear once more upon Tomey's. But the latter found it difficult to return the piercing gaze. Instead, he shifted his glance from the grave to Matthew's rigidly held pistol.

The time dragged horribly, yet the relentless Williams remained silent. The mutterings of the spectators gave place to a settled hush—deep, significant, awful. Tomey's face grew pallid and began to work spasmodically. Perspiration broke out on his brow and ran in tiny streams down his cheek. He gulped several times like a famished creature.

"Three!" roared Williams. His principal extended his weapon half an inch forward and ran his eye along the barrel. But Tomey was fairly palsied. His eyes were staring and bloodshot; his pistol barrel was swinging from side to side like a pendulum and frightened within an inch of his life. The silence was maddening, yet Williams seemed in no hurry to break it with the fatal word.

The terrible delay was too much for the cowardly ruffian, who suddenly gave a hoarse cry, fired his pistol wildly, and leaped into the grave. Williams and the spectators made a dash for him. The shot had passed harmlessly over Matthews' head, but the crowd was eager to avenge the treachery which had prompted it. The grave was deep, but they got the poltroon out, and by no gentle means, either. His second in the meantime, under cover of the confusion, decamped.

"Now, you miserable cur," said Williams, when Tomey had been set on his feet, still quivering and sick from terror, "you may take your choice—either Mr. Matthews here shall kill you (as he has first call) or I shall do the job, as I promised you."

Tomey begged hard for his life, but Williams was obdurate, and the crowd—even his former friends—were anxious to attend the funeral at once. Matthews pleaded for him. He said he was content to accept the cringing apology, which the coward poured out in a torrent, and let him go. His entreaties finally gained the day, but not, however, until the spectators had ridden the disgraced duelist around on a rail and kicked him over a fence, with the injunction to vanish and never return on pain of death.

AMERICAN WORKMEN BEST.

A Candid English Trade Journal Makes a Gratifying Admission.

Says the Engineering Magazine: It has been the uniform experience of American engineers with whom I have come in contact, who have had occasion to employ European workmen, that the European is totally at a loss if he has to tackle any problem for which he has not been trained, or that deviates to any extent from his routine work. The boasted superiority of thorough English workmanship is a myth. The thoroughness for which the German is phenomenal, in some respects, surely does not hold good as far as mechanical operatives are concerned.

I have had considerable experience with all classes of European workmen—carpenters, masons, foundrymen, machinists—and I must say that there is a conspicuous lack of appreciation of good work among them, and that the use of primitive tools and methods is common. These deficiencies are largely due to bad supervision, and want of intelligent management. Corresponding classes of workmen, under more favorable conditions and better management, form a large part of the best mechanics in America.

It is a fact, verified by statistics and the statements of many American makers of machinery who have successfully introduced their machines into European countries, that, under European workmen, American labor-saving and automatic machinery turns out from 30 to 50 per cent. less than is produced by the same machinery in America.

At Anglesea, N. J., a gunner killed a duck a few days ago, and attached to one of the duck's feet was a large clam. The duck had evidently been wading in shallow water and had stepped on a feeding bivalve.

LIFE OF ST. PATRICK.

IRELAND'S PATRON SAINT A KIDNAPED FRENCHMAN.

Captured by King Nial—Held in Slavery and Forced to Perform Menial Labor—Later He Converted All the Natives of the Island.

It is a curious fact that St. Patrick, the patron saint of Ireland, was born in France. In some quarters the existence of such a being has been questioned, owing to the exaggeration of his overzealous biographers, but it is susceptible of proof that there was a St. Patrick, and that he was a wonder-worker in his time.

St. Patrick lived and died at a time so remote in the world's history as to have made his name little more than a tradition, even in ecclesiastical records. The accounts of his life, his teachings, and doings are so interwoven with myths and fables as to compel the reader either to accept the most preposterous statements in these chronicles or to reject them altogether. The aristocratic Patrick, born of noble parents, and used to wealth, must have been a man of great force of character to have impressed his personality so distinctly upon the minds of the people among whom he labored. His father's name was Calpurnicus, and his mother's was Conchessa. They came of an honorable family and were connected with the nobility. They lived on a farm which derived its name, Enon, signifying "On the river's edge," from its situation on the river Liane, which empties itself into the port of Boulogne. There Patrick was born about the year 387.

When 16 years of age Patrick was carried captive into Ireland by one of the ferocious Irish kings, who were in the habit of making calls on their neighbors across the sea, and helping themselves to anything they might want or see lying about loose. Patrick, happening to be found at an unguarded moment, was seized and carried away to Ireland and to captivity by the fearful "Nial of the Nine Hostages," as the Irish King was called. Little did this monarch know that he was making possible the conversion of a whole nation to Christianity and that his act would be followed through all the centuries to come by demonstrations of profoundest respect in honor of the memory of the captive boy. Patrick at this time was looked upon by his captors as a prince or a religious officer. He was taken to County Antrim and became the slave of a man named Milcho. His occupation was to tend sheep on the wild bogs. The miseries endured in his position as a slave caused him to turn his attention to the wondrous things found in the religious teachings of that day. After having been in captivity for six years, he made his escape by running away from his master.

Patrick reached his own home about the year 407, and after a four years'

SAINT PATRICK.

course of study he prepared to go back to Ireland, against the entreaties of his friends, who realized all the miseries he had endured in his days of captivity. But he asserted that he saw in a vision of the night a man bringing him a letter, headed with the words, "The voice of the Irish," and then he thought he heard the cry of many persons who were straying in darkness and error, saying, "We entreat thee, O holy boy, come and walk still in the midst of us." Greatly affected, Patrick awoke. He did not immediately return to Ireland, but spent some years in retirement on an island, and afterward went on a spiritual expedition to Great Britain, and at a later date went to Rome. The needs of the Irish Christians being represented to Pope Celestine, he sent Patrick on this mission.

He landed in Wicklow some time after April, 432. There he was repulsed and proceeded to Lecale. From there he set out by land for the place where his old master had lived, in the hope of converting him and his family. Milcho, his former master, would not see him, and Patrick, finding his efforts in this direction unavailing, went farther into the country. He celebrated Easter day in the year 433, near the castle of Tara, where the princes and nobles of the whole kingdom were assembled. It was there that he stooped and plucked a shamrock, and exhibited it as a symbol of the Catholic doctrine of the Triune God. He is said to have performed many miracles about this time. On one occasion he is said to have engaged in a contest with the wise men of the assemblage. St. Patrick made many converts, and baptized princes as well as common people. Wherever he went people flocked to hear him preach, and he spent his time in the conversion of the natives and in building churches and monasteries. It is claimed that the whole of the people of Ireland and those of many adjacent islands were converted during the long pastorate of St. Patrick.

In art St. Patrick is usually represented as expelling serpents and other reptiles from the island with his staff. The probable origin of this was his slaying of the "monster of the lake" with a golden rod, which had been presented to him by a hermit.

London's Healthy Summers.

London is much healthier in summer than in winter. In the third week of January 2,021 deaths were notified, while in the third week of June the number was only 1,103.

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....MARCH 30, 1899.

Give Us a Thaw.

(WRITTEN FOR THE COURIER,)

Oh dreary winter, Oh, beautiful snow,
Why in the world do you linger so?
You've staid long enough,
Please get up and go.

We have watched you many a weary month
Plodding along as the almanac runs th
Now, we need you no longer
Please go at one'th,

There are many places you're needed more
There's Afric's sands and India's shore,
There's Brahmapootra
And Singapore,

In fact, we could name a dozen more;
But you linger around this Hoosier shore
Til all are agreed
You're a terrible bore

And in this nook of Northeastern Ind.,
To be so punished with snow and wind
Will look, to the Buckeys
As though we had sinned.

The tender chick and the garden sass,
Are waiting around to see you pass
And the cows wish you'd melt
And go to grass.

Had you been a man not too big and stout,
Hanging around with cerulean snout,
The No. 12 boots of our devil
Had long since fired you out.

So, Winter and Snow and Frozen Zone,
Chilling us through both narrow and bone,
Please skip, skedaddle,
And let us alone.

Reincœhl-Shaffer.

Wednesday evening March 15, at 6 p. m., relatives and friends assembled at the home of Samuel Shaffer near Hudson, Ind., to witness the marriage of their daughter Myrtle, to Job A. Reincœhl. Mr. Reincœhl is the son of S. Reincehl, a prominent farmer in Fairfield township. Miss Shaffer is an accomplished young lady of Steuben county. Both parties are very influential in vicinity and society in which they move. They are loyal, intelligent christians, and will prove a blessing to any community The happy couple will move on a farm near Kendallville, where they will begin the voyage of life together. The ceremony was ferformed by Rev. D. E Zechiel of Waterloo. Immediately after congratulations, a fine supper was served by the bride's parents. The gifts were numerous and valuable. After a short social time together, the assembly dispersed to meet the next day at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Reincœhl in Fairfield township, where a very fine dinner was served by Mrs. Reincœhl. We wish them prosperity in their voyage together.

How Sampson Views It.

Admiral Sampson has written for the April Century an illustrated article fully describing the work of "The Atlantic Fleet in the Spanish War," and drawing its lessons. The more important features of this paper are a plan setting forth the character of the blockade of Santiago Harbor; maps showing the relative positions from day to day of Cervera, Schley, and Sampson; and a series of bird's-eye plans of the engagement of July 3, showing the positions of the vessels at different stages of the fight. In a foot-note the Admiral tells this good story.

"As we passed the Teresa and Oquendo, a Spanis sailor was seen struggling in the water on the seaward side of the New York. In response to his calls for help, one of the crew seized the chaplain's reading deck, which was stowed on the main deck in passage between the two cabins, and which had a cross showing on it. As he did so, he cried out grimly, "Cling to the cross and you'll be saved!" The Spaniard followed the instructions and was saved."

A Marvelous Illusion

One of the attractions of the Paris exhibition is to be the Mareorama, devised and painted by M. Hugod Alesi, the well known poster artist. After duly paying his fee, the visitor will pass a gangway and find himself on the deck of a first class passenger steamer, with captain, crew, rigging, smoking funnels, and every detail complete. Around stretches a blue and sparkling sea, while behind may be seen the port of Marseilles fading away on the horizon. Machinery imparts a pleasant rocking motion to the fictitious vessel and a concealed fan makes a breeze as the traveler skims past Le Frioul and the Chateau d'If. The sun sets and rises to reveal Naples and Vesuvius, and having safely passed between Scylla and Charybdis, the good ship reaches in a few minutes the harbor of Sfax in Tunis. Venice will be the next halting place, and finally the passengers glide up the Bosporous to Constantinople, but a storm must first be faced. The illusion, throughout, is said to be marvelous.

Pneumonia

is the quick agent of death. Fully one-third of the recent deaths have been from pneumonia following la Grippe. Pneumonia cannot follow the use of Foley's Honey and Tar.

Cow For Sale.

Two years old and fresh. Call on J. W. Metcalf 2½ miles east of Auburn. 13-14

MILITIA CALLED OUT

To Prevent Lyncking at Hoysville, Ohio Saturday

At Hoytville, O., a small town east on the B & O was the scene Saturday of shooting affray in which attorney Westhaven was killed.

He was trying a case against Paul and John Zeltner for attorney fees and when court adjourned at noon the brothers demanded certain papers which he refused to surrender.

John Zeltner fired at the attorney, who ran out doors, the ball striking Westhaven in the right side. Four more shots were fired at him, but they did not take effect.

At the corner of the building Paul Zeltner met him and fired two shots at him, one striking the leg and the other going into his forehead. Death resulted in ten minutes. The Zeltners mounted their horses and rode out of town, loading their guns as they went. A posse was quickly formed, several hundred men. The Zeltners stood boldly in their yard all afternoon and defied arrest. There were frequent shots exchanged between the fugitives and crowd at long range and a man named Wittenmeyer, who crossed an open space, was shot through the heart and instantly killed. Sheriff Kingsbury and a posse of deputies were soon on the scene, but a fusillade of shots by the Zeltners prevented any effort being made to capture them. Deputy Sheriff Roach who took refuge behind a tree in the woods was made a special target for three bullets which grazed the tree behind which he stood. Later in the day the Zeltners retired within the house and barricaded it A hundred shots were fired into the house, but without effect. The sheriff then decided to call for the militia and Governor Bushnell sent the Bloomdale Co., to the scene, and held other companies under readiness. The militia reached the home at 2 a. m., Sunday and a skirmish took place between the frenzied crowd who were guarding the Zeltners house and the militia The crowd wanted to lynch the Zeltners while the militia were there to prevent any mob riot. By telegraphic communication we learned yesterday that the Zeltners surrender and are now in jail at Bowling Green, Ohio.

Battleships and Cruisers.

At present Italy still possesses the largest battleship, the Lepanto, while Germany owns the smallest, the Oldenburg. As regards cruisers it will surprise not a few to learn that China at present possesses the two fastest cruisers, the Hai-tin and Hai-Tchin, which, with engines indicating 17,000 horse power, have attained an average speed of 24 knots. Argentina, Chile and Japan follow with cruisers having an average speed of 22 knots. The four cruisers now building for the British navy, which will be fitted with engines indicating 30,000 horse power, are intended to have an average speed of 23 knots. A similar speed is to be attained by two cruisers in course of construction for the Russian navy, by means of engines having an indicated horse power of 16,500 and 20,000 respectively.

If we look at the relative strength of the five navies, we find that Great Britain heads the list with 949 vessels of all classes, the other powers ranging as follows: France, 412; Russia, 349; Italy, 347; Germany, 302.

SEDAN.

The roads (or the place where the roads used to be,) are too muddy to get the news.

The Blessed Storks again visited this place. This time they brought a fine baby girl to George Casselman and wife last Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Sherlock called on S W. Guthrie and wife Saturday, enroute to Maple Grove to attend quarterly meeting.

We are pleased to note that Mrs. W. T. Crane is improved in health so that she is able to ride out.

Mr. B L. Hine will close a 7 months term of school next Saturday. B. L. is one of the best teachers in the county.

Harrison Scattergood of Nebraska returned hom today after a short visit with his parents.

Ora Dull was in town Sunday also Miss Ollie Cline of Kendallville.

Roland Smalley of Smithfield visited this place a couple of days last week.

To Prevent Pneumonia.

A well-known woman of Kansas City who has had a great deal of experience in the care of pneumonia cases, offers, through the Kansas City Journal, the following remedy to cold stricken people: Take a hot bath and put on warm clothing. Wrap your head and throat with woolen cloths and place a mustard plaster upon your chest. Then hold your head over a hot stove and inhale the hot air. Remain indoors forty-eight hours, always having your room at a high temperature and free from a draft. At the end of that time the cold will have disappeared.

What Next?

A Tipton county man claims to have discovered a process "whereby first class flour can be made from hay." The inventor announces, however, through a third party, that he "is not at liberty to give his name or any further particulars at present." Now if this Tipton county man and our own Nickum could get together we might reasonably expect "light bread."

All Your Carpets; All Your Furniture.

Come to Fort Wayne them. Our assortment is so much larger and our prices so much smaller. We represent only the best manufacturers. We sell many goods less than small stores are compelled to pay for them. We show you a whole acre of floor space, covered with the newest novelties of the Furniture market. Our carpet department is the largest in the state. If the bill of carpets and furniture that you desire is very large and you can give us good reference, we will take a note in part payment or fix it in some other way, if you need a little accomodation. As everything you buy of us is at the lowest possibly cent for cash, you can better afford to pay us a very little interest, rather than pay two prices for your goods. Write us on the subject or come and see us. You want the best and prittiest carpets and furniture that your money can buy, and we can give them to you. We will prepay the freight on bills of goods amounting to $25 or more. It

FOSTER FURNITURE AND CARPET CO.

UNCLE SAM.

Won't Pay the State for the Soldiers' Uniforms.

A special from Indianapolis says: Quartermaster General Richardson has returned from Washington where he learned from the war department that the federal government will not pay the state for the clothing of the Indiana troops in the Spanish war, it taking the position that the clothing belonged to the government, and therefore was to be returned by the state. The state will lose upward of $40,000.

Not only does the state lose this, but the legislature has already appropriated $40,000 to pay the soldiers for the uniforms which the government charged to them, and the question now is, whether this must be paid the soldiers, in view of the fact that the appropriation was made with the understanding that the government was to allow the state for the uniforms. The attorney general will be asked to try to relieve the state from paying the money to the soldiers.

CLUB NOTES

The L. L. C. met at the home of Mrs Dr. Nusbaum. After concluding the business preparatory to the anniversary Mrs. Olds took charge of the lessons which was on Utah New Industries and Institute. Mrs. Olds also spoke of the products of Utah in her well prepared paper. Papers arranged by the leader was read by different members. Mrs. Mollie Rose read of the many beautiful and interesting things in Salt Lake City Mrs. Schaab of the Great Salt Lake and Mrs. Lackey of the Springs of Utah. Mrs. Nusbaum gave the population. One half of which are Britons. Many of the remaining half are from Denmark, Norway and Sweden. Mrs. Ford read a paper Life Among the Mormans Mrs. Macel Hodge's work, Life on a Dakota farm was full of interesting little incidents which she had experienced in a six months sojourn in that far away state when a girl of fourteen. Among her experience was being lost on the prairie. A palm fire. Crossing a river with a mule team and wagon which were in the middle of the stream began to sink After obtaining a span of hoses and drawing the entire outfit out, the horses became frigutened at the mules and ran away dragging the poor mules after. The members of the club were much pleased to have with them two of their honorary members, Dr. Vesta Swarts and Dr Lydia Leasure who were invited to address the club. Mrs. Swarts in a few kindly remarks expressed her desire to give the entire time to Mrs Leasure who responded in one of her usual bright and humorous talks. After living for nearly two years in a city of clubs she was pleased to say that she had not met with one that showed more strengthen and growth than her old home club the L L. C. Both doctors are always welcome, thine welcome visitors at the club meetings. The club after current events given by the memoers adjourned to meet with Mrs. Swineford next Saturday afternoon.

Saturday, March 25 Auburn Culture Club met with Mrs West Lesson in Literature was conducted by Mrs. Raut. In addition to the lesson three papers were given: "King Oscar II," Mrs Sophie Hebel; "Three Swedish Colleges," Mrs. Sheets; Hjalmar Hjort Bayesen," Mrs. Ryan. Mrs. Sheets gave a pen picture of Central Park, New York. Vocal Solo, Miss Edna Barnes; Sonarade, Laura Ober. After the program was finished dainty refreshments were served by Edna Barnes and Floride Lackey. Carnations for favors. Club adjourned to meet in one week with Mrs. Sophie Hebel.

The Reading Club met with Mrs. Garwood. They continued reading When Knight Hood was in Its Flower. Refreshments were served. The Club will meet with Mrs. George Lanning next Wednesday afternoon.

The Up-To-Date Club met with Miss Mary Zimmerman at the home of her uncle, John Zimmerman. The young misses had their usual good time. The young hostess served delicious refreshments which was enjoyed by all. The club will meet with Miss Pearl Sprott on next Friday.

The Best Salve in the World.

Is Banner Salve. It is made from a prescription by a world wide known skin specialist and is positively the most healing salve for Piles, Burns, Scalds' Ulcers, Running Sores and all Skin diseases.

THIEF SENTENCED

Interesting Batch of Court News No Court Today

Monday morning the case of Haskins vs town of Butler come up, and was dismissed by plaintiffs attorney.

J. E. Rose attorney presented the memorial and resolution of respect on death of E. W. Fosdick and his relations to the bar, Attorneys P. V. Hoffman, O. V. Baxter, D. D. Moody, Jno W. Baxter, and Jas. H. Rose. Al made appropriate addresses. Judge Hartman closed with a few touching and well chosen remarks and memorial was ordered spread on the court records.

The case of Sheets vs Rader was continued upon attorney for defendants filing written reasons. More or less other probate work was transacted during the forenoon. Judge Adair, of Columbia City was present in the afternoon to try the case of Haskins vs Town of Butler, but was not needed as the case was dismissed. He will will return tomorrow.

The bond of P. D. West for $3,000 as guardian of Michodemus Spindler was approved, Henry Hood, his former guardian having resigned.

The leather thief, John A Crocker, was brought into court. Mention if his arrest was made in Saturday's daily. He has been doing qutite a business in that line and plead guilty to the charge stating that he was suddenly stricken with poverty and choose the stealing method to make living. According to his own confession he stole leather at the following places.

February 18, 1899,	6 sides in			St. Joe
March 23,	" 2	"	"	Garrett
March 25	" 8	"	"	Churubusco
2 mon. ago	6	"	"	Payne Ohio

He sold the leather in all the above towns including Auburn, Avilla, Lagrange, Wolcottville, and Alvorton. O He plead guilty to the charge and was sentenced by Judge Hartman to one to three years in prison and fined $1. Today Sheriff Hathaway took him to his new home.

After this case court adjourned till tomorrow.

The jury has been discharged unti Monday April 10th at 1:30 p. m.

From an Ohio Minister.

I have used Dr. Warner's White Wine of Tar Syrup for sore throat, weak lungs, coughs and colds; it surpasses all other remedies I have tried. With many thanks to the doctor for his valuable remedy, I remain.

Clyde, O. REV. G. W. HAGANS

BUTLER.

The Basket factory is running full time. They find it extremely difficult to get their stock from the factory to the cars.

Many pieces of Butler property are changing hands recently at prices from 30 to 40 per cent higher than two years ago.

Health in town seems to be improving but few cases of illness are now reported.

Dr. Madden has materially improved and hopes are entertained for his recovery.

The new Telephone Co. is pushing things and will have the plant installed in a short time much to the disgust of the Bell people, and possibly to the eventual di-gust of all concerned.

Farmers speak very favorably of the run of sugar water, and the large crop of maple syrup and maple sugar. Good sugar seasons are generally regarded as unfavorable to the wheat crop, but so far this year this does not seem to be the result.

Rev. Flech will fill his last engagement at the M E. church next Sunday and go to conference on Monday. His return is much desired and fairly well assumed.

Livery men find it next to impossible to get over the country on account of the nearly impassable roads.

French Literary Pirates.

If the contest now raging between Chicago and Paris over the original inspiration of "Cyrano de Bergerac" is doing nothing else it is bringing to light the fact that the theft of ideas has not always been one way heretofore. It appears from the testimony of a well-known Parisian critic that "several works of Fenimore Cooper and Washington Irving have at various times been dramatized in France without a word of acknowledgment. 'The Leather Stocking Tales' were produced in Paris as an original play, called 'Bas de Cuir,' by Montepin & Dornay, without any mention of Cooper. Planquette's comic opera 'Rip' was taken bodily from Irving's 'Rip Van Winkle;' 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' is published by Calmann Lévy as an original play by D'Ennery; Sardou's 'Scrap of Paper' is nothing else than Edgar Allen Poe's 'Purloined Letter' in French attire. The list is almost endless."

The Whistling Tree.

The "whistling tree" is so called from the wind in its branches making a sound like a flute. It is the "tsofar" of South Nubia, and yields the gum of Senaar. Dr. Schweinfurth has shown that the sound is caused by holes bored in the spines of the branches by an insect in order to suck the gum. The spines, in fact, become little flutes.

Match Factory.

Since our last report the following marriage license have been issued:

George Pepple and Amelia Haines, Joseph M Stutzman and Maggie E. Updegraph, Chas Sharpless and Lizzie McCrew, Henry Clarke and Mary Sawvel, Jacob Myers and Laura Whetsel, Hiram Mason and Bessie Krider.

COURT NEWS

There has been considerable of odds and ends of work today, and much of getting ready.

Reporter Willennar went over to Butler this afternoon, having some work there taking depositions in the case now in the U. S. court, in regard to the Range Stove Company quarrel. It will be remembered that the Economist Furnace Company of Marion, Ind, not long ago sued the Wrought Iron Range Company of St. Louis, to prevent the latter from following them over the country and interfering whenever the former wanted to make a sale. The St. Louis Company was beaten and were enjoined not to interfere any more. Now the Marion Co is suing them for damages, which are laid at $20,000. Mr. Willennar takes the depositions in short hand.

J. F. Shuman was here looking up the cases in regard to the J. W. Clark Hardware Co. It appears that Clark had borrowed $500 of Dan. Frick and $500 from Mrs. Dan Gonser and these claims were sued for collection, one by Mr. Shuman and one by attorney Wm. Brown Both got judgment. But it now appears that Clark had changed his firm to a stock company. and put his property all into it. If this arrangement holds good, the two judgments cannot be collected. Now the two attorneys, Shuman and Brown have joined in a suit to have this transfer of Clark's property set aside as fraudulent.

YOU CAN SHOOT

Your Neighbor's Chickens if They Scratch in Your Onion Bed.

According to the Valparaiso Messenger, you are no longer obliged to nurse your wrath when your neighbor's chickens invade your premises and destroy your garden or your flower-beds. That paper says:

Gladness will be brought to many homes in this city by a decision of the supreme court, in which that august body declares that a man or woman who puts in fifteen or sixteen hours a day plantin,' and tendin' their "garden sass" in the back yard have a right to the protection from their neighbor's hen's, and declares in the decision that when poultry wanders to another man's lot it becomes common game and anyone who so desires can shoot it. It is a notorious fact that an onion bed and a depredating hen have been seducive to more brimstone eloquence swapped over a convenient partition fence than anything else in this world of agitation.

PARIS THE CITY OF PAPERS

It Has Over 2,500 of Them and More Coming.

Parish publishes a new newspaper at every fresh sensation. The population of the city of Paris at the last census was 2,500,000, and, according to the recently published "Presse Annuaire" for 1899, the newspapers of the city now number 2,587. There are in Paris at present 140 daily political newspapers but how many there will be next week or how many the week after is practically impossible to state. If public occasion demanded there might be another dozen. Of the political organs in existence ninety-seven come under the category of republican, thirty are conservative and thirteen are socialist. The maintenance of so many socialist newspapers in one city is strongly indicative of the extent to which French papers take up and consider politics. The price of French newspapers is high and the reading matter is small in amount. French newspaper readers do not require much news, and are perfectly satisfied to depend upon the postoffice as an ordinary channel of communication whenever the telegraph fails. More importance is attached to literary style than to exact details in local news-gathering, and it is, therefore, possible to publish with entire pecuniary success a Paris newspaper from the columns of which all items of expensive news are omitted.

The Eyes of Snakes.

One of the most curious facts with regard to snakes is that their eyes are never closed. Sleeping or waking, alive or dead, they are always wide open. This is because there are no eyelids. The eye is protected only by a strong scale, which forms part of the epidermal envelope, and is cast off in a piece with that every time the reptile moults. This eye plate is as clear and transparent as glass, and allows the most perfect vision, while, at the same time, it is hard and tough, so as to perfectly protect the delicate organ from the thorns and twigs among which, in flight from enemies or in pursuit of prey, the reptile so often hurriedly glides, as any close observer of the habits of the snake can readily discover.

Our Six Year Old Daughter.

Our little six-year old daughther had a very sore throat, badly ulcerated, and coughed almost incessantly. Gave the White Wine of Tar Syrup according to directions and she began to improve immediately and soon got well Mrs. Groves and I have recommended it to others, and we consider it the very best medicine in use. REV. D. H. GROVES, Pastor M. E Church, Clarksville, Mo. Davenport's.

The Toilets of Animals.

Cats make the most careful toilet of any class of animals. The lion and the tiger wash themselves in exactly the same manner as the cat, wetting the dark, india-rubber-like ball of the fore foot and inner toe, and passing it over the face and behind the ears. The foot is thus at the same time a face sponge and brush, and the rough tongue combs the rest of the body.

What Can We Offer You

In the way of.....

HARDWARE and FARM MACHINERY

that will attract your attention?

We have the most complete stock ever seen in our city, and you know that, as usual, our prices are right

Do you need anything for spring that we carry

?

Do you know that we have built up a wonderful trade by right prices and right goods.

?

Do you know that we have the most complete stock of

Hardware, Farm Machinery Wagons and Buggies

in DeKalb County.

?

If you will drop in and see us we will be able to convince you at once that we have the goods that you want, and the prices alone will tell the story.

Don't fail to see our Carriage Repository, it is the finest in Northern Indiana.

Culbertson & Boland
Auburn, Ind.

MAKING MIRRORS.

One of This Country's Industries of Which Little Is Known.

The mirror-making industry of the United States employs more than 2,000 persons, and the product is valued at about $8,000,000 a year. The first step in the manufacture is the adjustment of a smooth stone table. Around this table, which can be canted to one side by means of a set screw beneath, is a groove, in which mercury may flow and drop from one corner into bowls. The table is made perfectly level, and then tinfoil is carefully laid over it, covering a greater space than the glass to be coated. The metal is then poured from ladles upon the foil till it is nearly a quarter of an inch deep, being prevented from flowing off by a strip of glass placed along three sides of the foil. From the open side is slid on the plate of glass, whose advancing edge is kept in the mercury, so that no air or other impurities can work in between the glass and the clean surface of the mercury. When its desired position has been reached it is held until one edge of the table has been raised and the superfluous mercury has run off. It is left for several hours, and then placed upon a frame, the "back" by this time being covered with the amalgam, which adheres to it. After the amalgam becomes hard the plate is ready for use. Mirror making is generally thought to be dangerous on account of the injury to the health of the operators from the fumes of the quicksilver, but the figures collated by the insurance companies do not appear to sustain this belief.

Pneumonia Follows La Grippe

but pneumonia cannot follow Foley's Honey and Tar Pneumonia is striking down hundreds of those who thought they were cured of la Grippe. Foley's Honey and Tar, taken during or after la Grippe, is guaranteed to prevent pneumonia.

NOVEL BALL.

Held Inside a Giant California Wine Tank.

At Asti, Sonoma county, Cal., a few months ago, a hundred couples took part in a dance which was given in a great half-million-gallon wine tank belonging to the Italian-Swiss colony at Asti. Such a scene has never before been witnessed, for the reason that the opportunity was for the first time presented. The Asti wine reservoir or tank is the largest, if not the only, example of its kind in the world. It was constructed last year as a matter of necessity, and somewhat as an experiment, from inability to obtain cooperage for the wine crop which the San Francisco merchants refused to purchase. It was quickly excavated and lined with concrete, and, upon its completion, was immediately put to the use for which it was intended. Since then it has been emptied, and while awaiting its refilling the Italian-Swiss colony concluded to give a ball in the monster tank. There was room in the reservoir for 200 dancers, as its dimensions are 80 feet in length, 34 feet in breadth, and 24 feet in height.

IDEAL MUSIC,

"Sweet as the angel Israfil's,
When every leaf on Eden's tree
Was trembling to his minstrelsy."

can be produced from an EBERSOLE PIANO. The Ebersole possesses a tone that no other maker has been able to imitate—being ful and deep, yet with that clear singing quality which stamps it the peer of all upright pianos for homes of culture and refinement.

Frank B. Long,
119 Calhoun-St- cor Washington,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

To Make Life Happy

Sweet music appeals to the heart and soul and lightens many of life's burdens. If you have ever heard the sweet-toned STEGER PIANO you will appreciate this. To reach the highest standard of excellence has always been the aim in the manufacture of the CELEBRATED STEGER PIANO. Only the best material is used, insuring great durability. Every piano fully guaranteed.

The Steger factories, thoroughly equipped with the best and most improved machinery, located at Steger, Ill., are among the largest in the West.

Intending purchasers will find it profitable to write for full descriptive catalogue which will be mailed free, upon application. STEGER & Co. (Established 1879) Chicago, Ill.

Viola Allen's Literary Aspirations.

Miss Viola Allen, the "star" of Hall Caine's dramatization of his popular novel, "The Christian," has always aspired to be an author. She has said that there are two things which she would rather do than act: write a book, or be a trained nurse. She will now make her literary debut in an article which she has written for The Ladies' Home Journal, reciting and explaining fully "What the Life of an Actress Means."

Given up by Four Doctors.

Beaver Dam, O.

My daughter, after being treated by four doctors and being given up for lost, a neighbor recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. Today she is able to walk several miles without fatigue. I feel we would have lost her if it was not for your medicine.

Yours Resp'y, MRS. J. M. BAILEY.

Eastertide Bargains.

Gloves For Easter

Splendid Line for Easter wear. For instance, we offer during this sale

1 Lot Chamois Gloves All sizes..... 49c

Two-Clasp, all Shades and Sizes..... 79c

New Easter Capes

These items give you an idea of how we are offering that you may complete your Easter costumes

New Stylish Black Silk Capes Chiffon Flouncid, Lace and Ribbon Trimmed..... $2.75

New Stylish Black Capes, Brocade Satin, Lace Trimmed..... $3.50

Wrappers

49c 69c 98c

Easter Hats and Bonnets

The gayest spot in all the store is is the Millinery Department. Brilliancy in color, delicacy in design and an all prevading sense of style makes it the center of attraction for seekers after millinery. Spring Hats that add so much to to the tailored gown and comfort so well with the capes of the day. And the prices are pleasingly moderate.

Wrappers

49c 69c 98c

Silk Waists

This department is showing a most varied line of the new models and ideas in Silk Waists. Here are some specials for the balance of this week:

Black Satin, Corded Fronts..... $4

Black, colored Satin and Taffetas.... " 5

Tailored Suits

Stylish Tailor-Made Suits, ready to wear, and altered to fit. You'll buy them when you see them at these attractive prices:

Navy Blue and Green Covert..... $5

New Blue, Brown Broadcloth, and Covert. Finly Braided..... "15

G. W. LACKEY, Auburn, Indiana.

THE WONDERFUL REMEDY FOR

TIKO Rheumatism

It is not a CURE-ALL, but it is a Specific for RHEUMATISM.

One hundred and forty-four bottles Cured 100 cases of RHEUMATISM.

TIKO is a medicine taken INTERNALLY, the only method by which RHEUMATISM can be successfully treated. It cures the CAUSE, and therein lies its remarkable success. Its price is $1.00 per bottle, or three bottles for $2.50, and if your Druggist has not got it, it will be sent to you, by Express, ALL CHARGES PAID, on receipt of price.

Address, PURINTON MEDICINE COMPANY, Detroit, Mich.

HUMPHREYS'

WITCH HAZEL

OIL

CURES

Piles or Hemorrhoids
Fissures & Fistulas.
Burns & Scalds.
Wounds & Bruises.
Cuts & Sores.
Boils & Tumors.
Eczema & Eruptions.
Salt Rheum & Tetters.
Chapped Hands.
Fever Blisters.
Sore Lips & Nostrils.
Corns & Bunions.
Stings & Bites of Insects.

Three Sizes, 25c, 50c. and $1.00.

Sold by druggists, or sent post-paid on receipt of price HUMPHREYS' MED. CO., 111 & 113 William St., New York.

St. Louis' World's Fair.

The committee of two hundred appointed to raise funds and secure legislation for the world's fair in 1903, celebrating the centennial of the Louisiana purchase, has been formally organized. Pierre Choteau, the great-grandson of the first settler in St. Louis, was elected chairman. Resolutions were presented and adopted to organize a corporation to be called "The St. Louis World's Fair, Celebrating the Louisiana Purchase Centennial," with a capital stock of $5,000,000.

Recommended for La grippe.

N. JACKSON, Danville, Ill. writes: My daughter had a severe attack of the grip and ever since when she takes a cold a terrible cough settles on her lungs We tried a great many remedies without giving relief. She tried Foley's Honey and Tar which cured her. She has never been troubled with a cough since. 25 cents.

Call For County Orders

All orders dated prior to Jan. 1, 1899, to No. 1,333; will be paid if presented to Treasurer. Interest will stop on called orders April 8, 1899.

F. M. HINES,
Treasurer of DeKalb.

Making Sure of Her Ground.

He—Do you like classical music? She—Do you want my honest opinion or are you thinking of inviting me to the opera?

COPPER CASTINGS.

Successfully Made at the Works of a Great Electrical Company.

The secret of casting copper has been discovered. Chemists and workers in metals have been experimenting with this problem for many years, but complete success, it is said, had not been attained until within the last week. In the foundry of the Western Electric company at Chicago from 300 to 500 pounds of the metal is now being successfully handled in this manner each day, and the discovery is fraught with great commercial value in the manufacture of electrical machines, where the great bulk of all the copper mined is being used. The castings at the Western Electric shops have been made of such pure copper that 99.92 per cent conductivity has been obtained in one lot, and the average is more than 90 per cent. A few impurities remain in the copper, but they are usually less than .35 of 1 per cent, and sometimes .01 of 1 per cent. The achievement was accomplished by Bertrand S. Summers, chief chemist for the company, who has been working on the problem in the laboratory for many months. The process is now in the hands of the patent officials at Washington, and is, therefore, kept secret.

Under Snow for Five Days.

During a recent heavy snowstorm a flock of sheep owned by David Young of East Sebamont, Me., was left on the mountain. After the storm was over he went to gather in his flock, and, finding one missing, began a search. After five days he succeeded in finding her under five feet of snow, alive and not in bad condition. She had traveled around under the snow until there was a beaten track of several feet.

Market for Rabbit Skins.

Rabbit skins are used in enormous quantities for the manufacture of felt hats, and an immense trade is at present carried on in them throughout England. France produces 80,000,000 skins annually; Great Britain, 30,000,000; Belgium, 15,000,000; Austria and Hungary, 12,000,000; Germany, 4,000,000, and Russia, Sweden and Norway, 4,000,000.

That Throbbing Headache

Would quickly leave you, if you use Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headache. They make pure blood and strong nerve and build up your health. Easy to take. Try them. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold by H. B. McCord the druggist.

Monday's Daily.

—Judge Adair is presiding in court today.

—Miss Lydia Teeters spent Sunday in this city with her parents.

—Ask any druggist for a free Peruna Almanac for the year 1899.

—John Thomas, of the COURIER visited his brother at Angola Sunday

—H. S. McIntosh of the Dawn, spent Sunday in the city with his parents.

—Samuel Byrode of Stryks, Ohio, visited today with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kinsey.

—Andy Wagner, of Defiance, Ohio spent Sunday in the city the guest of friends.

—The photographer's wife looks after the ladies and babies who visit the Hoffman gallery. 13-15

—Rev. Mr. Adams, of Chicago will preach at the Mission tonight. All are cordially invited.

—FOR SALE. Two good horses, ages 7 and 4. Call on T. J. Baxter 2½ miles east of Summit, Ind.

—Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, of this city left today for an extended visit to their daughter in Michigan.

—Sheriff Melching of Fort Wayne, was in the city today attending the hearing of the leather thief.

Mrs. Nedro, of Chicago Junction is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Russ Guilford, being an aunt to Mrs Guilford.

—LOST:—An orange and white St. Bernard pup, five months old. Lost on Wednesday. Has a heavy collar, and answers to the name of Joe. Finder please notify COURIER office.

—Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Noble of Goshen celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary yesterday. The Daily Democrat of Saturday contained a fine likeness of the happy old couple —The Blickensderfer Typewriter is becoming quite popular in this city, J. C. Lochner sold another machine this morning. Frank Hogue being the lucky purchaser. They sell for $35.

A Battle For Life. You need for perfect health a plentiful and constant supply of new blood. Begg's Blood Purifier and Blood Maker tones the stomach and assists digestion. We sell it. H. B McCord.

—A baby was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Marvin. This is quite a fortunate baby too, as it has two great grandmothers. We hope it may live to grow up and enjoy such great relatives.

—If you have a cough, throat irritation, weak lungs, pain in the chest, difficult breathing, croup or hoarseness, let us suggest One Minute Cough Cure Always reliable and safe. Fischler & Son and H. B McCord.

—The Order of Red Men will give an Easter Ball and Phantom Party at the Armory Hall on Tuesday evening of next week, grand march to begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Tickets are put at $1. Invitations are now out.

Begg's Cherry Syrup gives you the essential qualities of the cherry tree bark from which it derives its name. It cures your stubborn cold, coughs of long standing and croup. It is the best known cure for LaGrippe Sold by H B. McCord.

—A traveling artist who is touring the world stopped off in Auburn yesterday and left a sample of his work at Harry Treatman's, G. H. Yeshera and Jake Raut were his subjects and quite a resemblance, is noticable. He used colored chalk.

—Note the new change in the ad of Bishop & Beidler. They are always progressive, and employ original methods in placing before the public their attractive and meritous goods. A glance at their west window will both please the eye and pocketbook.

—Happy is the man or woman who can eat a good hearty meal without suffering afterward. If you cannot do it, take KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE. It digests what you eat, and cures all forms of Dispepsia and Indigest on. Fischler & Son and H B McCord.

—FOR SALE:—The former residence of G. A. Porter on North Main-st, Auburn, Ind. This is a desirable residence property, the lot is 66 by 240 feet extending from Main-st to the bank of Cedar Creek. Enquire of Mrs. Philip Myers, West Joseph-st Auburn.

—The funeral of Walter Baker was largely attended yesterday, a large number of people not getting in the church. The floral offerings were numerous and very pretty. The sermon by Rev. Brosy was very touching, and contained wholesome advise to the living, for we know not, he said, "What a day may bring forth."

—St. Joe News:—A petition, signed by all of St. Joe's business men, has been forwarded to the B. & O, officials asking them to move the depot from its present location to the vacant lot on 3d street. J. D. Leighty has reserved the lot for that purpose, and has kindly consented to donate it free of charge A fine, new depot would look well on that corner and besides, it would be much more convenient.

—The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society rendered a very delightful program at the M. E. church last night. The occasion was the 20th anniversary of this organization. In great prominence was their motto, "Twenty Millions For Missions," and this meeting closed with a collection affording all an opportunity to contribute to that sum. A special feature of the occasion was the music by a chorus of twenty-two of the prettiest women in Auburn. They were Mrs. Lanning, Mrs. Sommers, Miss Shilling, Miss Baxter, Mrs. Wildeson, Mrs. Kuhlman, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. Altenberg, Mrs. Olds, Miss Larimore, Miss Depew, Mrs. Zimmerman, Mrs. Guild, Mrs. Stamets, Miss Baker, Miss Thomas, Mrs. Ten-Eyck. Miss Heist, Miss Knapp Miss Weaver, Mrs. Patterson, with Miss Warrick at the organ.

Tuesday's Daily.

—The little son of Mr. and Mrs. S.S. Potter fell from his cab, today, but fortunately was not hurt.

—Enlarging, Framimg, Copying; Button, Watch-picture and Kodak work done and Views taken at the Hoffman gallery.

—Letters uncalled for in the postoffice are for Lena B. Johns, Victoria Doner, Louis, Klene, John Liken and W. H. Mobley.

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co., Goshen, Ind. 8

—James Jacobs, of Fort Wayne, was yesterday sentenced to the penitentiary for arson. It is claimed he fired the city trucking barn in that city.

—WANTED:—Reliable man to travel in this and nearby towns; salary and expenses weekly. State age and occupation. Address, Globe Co, 723 Chestnut Street Philadelphia, Pa.

—Mrs. Moss' mother, Mrs. Reed on South Main-st received a letter last night from England conveying the sad news of the death of her sister. She was over ninety years of age.

—"Give me a liver regulator and I can regulate the world," said a genius. The druggist handed him a bottle of Dewitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—In Lagrange county there are 500 telephones in the homes of farmers, who pay a toll of $1. a month for the service. It's only a question of years until the farmers in most all counties will enjoy these luxuries.

—Fulton and Wabash county teachers have started a movement to secure professional recognition, legal rights, more magazines, etc. An organization has been formed and will be extended at the meeting of Northern Indiana teachers' association in Fort Wayne this week.

—The Fort Wayne Journal says: A new danger menaces womankind. Dr. Chas. Corey, of Tacoma, Wash., while pursuing an imaginary enemy in his dreams, pulled a revolver from beneath his pillow and shot and killed his sleeping wife. If this sort of callucination is to grow, the wives of the land will have to put on armor.

—As the season of the year when pneumonia, la grippe, sore throat, colds, coughs, catarrh, bronchitis and lung troubles are to be guarded against, nothing "is a fine substitute," will "answer the purpose," or is "just as good" as One Minute Cough Cure. That is the one infallible remedy for all lung, throat or bronchial troubles. Insist vigoorously upon having it if "something else" is offered you. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—The manufacture of cement in Northern Indiana seems to be an investment which will bring millions of dollars for investment if all the fairy tales published are true. Syracuse was the first scene of the gas diggers, then came Milford, followed by Laporte, then a place in Steuben county, and now comes Bristol. Connected with these reports is the intimation of investments upon millions of dollars which will be invested in developing the deposits. If Northern Indiana had been turned into a Klondike, the rush with capital could not be greater.

Wednesday's Daily.

—The L. L. C. have their annual reunion next Tuesday.

—Hoffman Gallery for best pictures absolutely guaranteed. 13-15

—Will Snell and sister Mrs. Frank Draggoo spent the day at Fort Wayne

—John L. Davis, Judge Hartman and Mr. Dreessen spent the day at Fort Wayne.

—The best and latest including oval mounts, may be seen at the Hoffman gallery. 13-15

—Don't think about buying shoes until you have seen the new styles at Shull's shoe store. D W-tf.

—Let us hurry up and whip the Filippinos and then turn our guns on the clerk of the weather.

—The largest sky and side light, and best working tools in the county are in the Hoffman gallery. 13-15

The Pope is worse again and there are good reasons to fear he will not pull through this sickness.

—If you want the latest styles and the best good shoes to be had for the money patronize Shulls shoe store.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Link and Mrs. Will Thomas and son spent the day with Mr. Link's mother at the Junction.

—Don't forget the Easter social Friday evening, March 31 from 5 to 7. Mite 15 cents. All come and enjoy it, and help them.

—Talking about styles in shoes if you want the real thing, call at Shull's shoe store and take a look at the new styles for spring. D-W-tf.

—The ladies of the W. R. C. will give a fine entertainment and box social March 31. Ladies are expected to bring box with supper for two. The public are invited.

—The man who began to swing his hat and hurra this forenoon, over a spot that was raising a dust, was taken down a little when he discovered it was from a pile of dry ashes.

—The little poem we offer today, needs no excuse. It is timely to say the least and the writer, has evidently had considerable experience with spring weather in Northern Indiana.

—BEGG'S HAIR RENEWER.—The old reliable Hair Restorer and Invigorator, for over thirty years the leader in its line. If you give it a trial you will recommend it to your friends. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Three inches of snow and the mercury down to ten or twelve above in the morning is not so bad for March 29 DeKalb has all the modern improvements, including the deepest grade of mud in the country.

—FOR SALE CHEAP:—A Lady's "1897 Model" Bicycle, in First-class condition, Green Enameled frame, highly ornamented nickel-plated, with Bell, good Lamp and Cyclometer. Will sell very cheap for cash. For information call at this office.

—"What is known as the hangman's tree," Wayne county, has been removed. On this tree occurred the first execution in the county. The victim was Henry Chryst, who murdered his brother-in-law, in 1815, and was hauled to the spot, seated on his own coffin, in a spring wagon.

—It appears that under a new law, the man who allows Canada thistles to grow to the height of four inches on his premises, will be liable to arrest and fine. Let it not be forgotton, however, that there are other plants that threaten the farmer with with more trouble, than do the Canada thistles.

—We have received a finely embellished program of the St. Joe public schools, that have their graduating exercises in the Christian church at that place on Saturday evening of this week, April 1. This looks like an early closing for schools, but they will have a good program, as we see by this one.

—Mr. and Mrs. Barns came home yesterday afternoon from a four-days visit with friends in Laporte county The weather was somewhat unfavorable, but roads are not so bad out there as here, so a most welcome meeting was held, a sort of reunion at which all the Editor's brothers and sisters met for the first time in many years.

—In the April McClure's, Captain Mahan will conclue his valuable series of articles on "The War on the Sea and Its Lessons," with a paper treating especially of "the guard set over Ceverra and the watch kept on Camara"—a double duty that the navy, with very sufficient means, achieved in the most brilliant and triumphant manner.

—The ladies of the M. E. church will give an Easter supper in the basement of the church next Friday evening. Supper from 5 to 7 o'clock.

MENU

Ham and Eggs, Escaloped Potatoes, Warm biscuit with Maple Syrup, Egg Salad, Deviled Eggs, Pickles, Home Made Bread, Fruit and Cake, Tea and Coffee Mite 15 cents.

Do you understand that the persistant use of Begg's Blood Purifier and Blood Maker will drive disease germs out of your system and life will again be worth living. You cannot cure it in one week or one month, a blood trouble that has been years in getting a foothold. Begg's Little Giant Pills should be taken twice a week with this remedy. We keep it. H B McCord.

—There is a story told on a church at Whitaker, Ind, that got out of coal lately, and one night when a coal train stopped on the siding track, some of the members took out a wagon load of coal and dumped it into church coal bin. The railroad found it out and went for the church Now there is trouble, for many of the members object to having the first taken out of their toes with stolen coal. Still, we think people should be patient this bad weather.

Before Easter Specials.

Submitted you as hints; quiet suggestions that will afford you a slight idea of the many handsome specials we show; the many values that makes this store of keenest interest to you.

Belt Buckles
Steele cut. Jeweled and enameled, from 10c to 48c.

Pompador Combs
Brilliant settings 48c; without 10c.

Ladies' and Misses' Belts
New things, from 10c to 24c.

Ladies' Purses
New styles, from 10c to 24c.

Elastic
Fancy and Silk, from 5c to 9c yard.

Silklian
The new thing for mantles, 10c yard.

Men's Shirts
Detachable collars and cuffs, the new thing, 48c.

Men's Shirts
Collars and cuffs attached 45c
Men's estray sizes shirts 50c to 65c.

Boys' Shirts
Collars and cuffs attached, 40c to 48c.
Men's fancy hose the new things 10c, 15c and 24c.

Boys' Shirts
Collars and cuffs attached. 48c.

Ribbons
Our line is complete in new shades for Spring.

Easter Gloves
We are selling them fast, come and see our line in all shades for $1 00. We fit them before lerving the store.

Coming here for any item means a saving to you. Our facilities for buying in markets where cash brings best results and our low margins make low prices for you, Prices that mean something. Its a business matter to always come here first.

The New Idea 10c Pattern:
No Good Pattern as Low Priced,
No Low Priced Pattern as Good.

A few Bargains in our Grocery Department this week. For instance: Red Seal Lye 10c a can or three cans for 25c. Pure Dried Peaches at 10c a pound. Best Marrow Fat Peas 8c can or two cans for 15c. Granulated Sugar 5½c pound. Coffee A Sugar 5c pound and everything according at the Bazar Store.

BAZAR STORE

Auburn, Ind.

EASTER SHOES

We are showing some very exclusive styles in Ladies' Fine Dress Shoes, the product of the best shoe manufacturers in this country.

We wish to call your attention in particular to these:

A Ladies' Fine Kid Shoe with fancy scroll questing lace stay and military heel, in black and tan shades. Never was sold less than $3 50 before..... $3.00

A Ladies' Hand Turned Shoe in black, perfectly plain, no tip, no stitching on vamp or upper, military heel, the finest kid there is cut. Sells in the cities at $5 00, at..... $4.00

A Ladies' Hand Turned Shoe, in tan, same as the one described above except has fancy scroll vesting top. Designed for both comfort and beauty, at..... $4.00

A Handsome Tan Shoe, on the new "Pug" Last, fancy outside leather, scroll lace stay stay with silver eyelets, a beauty. Regular price $3 50, at..... $3.00

A Fine Turn Shoe in black, fancy scroll pattern top, with military heel and imitation tip, very dressy and easy, worth $4.00, at..... $3.50

A Fine Kid Shoe with silk vesting top, "Pug" Last, an up-to-the minute shoe, at..... $2.50

The prettiest Misses', Children's and Infant's shoes ever shown in DeKalb county, at prices per pair from.... 25 to $2.00

We are striving for your trade.

Bishop and Reidler

YOUR SHOEMAKERS.

William's Kidney Pills

Has no equal in diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs. Have you neglected your Kidneys? Have you overworked your nervous system and caused trouble with your Kidneys and Bladder? Have you pains in the loins, side, back, groins and bladder? Have you a flabby appearance of the face, especially under the eyes? Too frequent desire pass urine? William's Kidney Pills will impart new life to the diseased organs, tone up the system and make a new man of you. By mail 50 cents per box.

WILLIAMS MFG. CO., Props., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Holy Week Service

There will be elaborate Holy Week services of the Catholic church, on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Father Dandurand assisted by the Rev Father Van Juraschek, of Summit and Rev. Father Sengen of Laud, Ind., will conduct services, the order of exercises for Wednesday evening will be. Office of the Tenebre, services 7:30 p m. Thursday, Solemn High Mass 9 a. m. Celebrate Rev. B. Sengen. Deacon Rev. H. Van Juraschek Sub Deacon F. J. Dandurand Thursday evening 7:30 p m. office of Tembre. Friday 9 a. m. Services celebrate Rev. H. VanJuraschek, Rev. B. Sengen Deacon, Rev. F. J. Dandurand Sub-Deacon. At 3 p. m., Devotions of the stations of the Cross. Saturday 8 a. m., services conducted by Rev. F. J. Dandurand, pastor.

Auburn Normal

Auburn will have a Summer Normal beginning June 12. The work will be adapted especially to teachers wishing to review and those preparing to teach. Instruction will be given also in any higher studies that may be desired It will be our aim to make this school profitable to our students and worthy of their patronage and we know it to be the opinion of the County Superintendent that such a school should be held.

For information address H. G. Brown Secretary, or any other instructor.

Instructors { B. B. Harrison, H. G. Brown, Mrs. E. M. Richards.

6tf

From Soldiers' Home.

St. James, Mo., Jan. 28, 1898.

DEAR SIRS:—Please send me another 40 oz. bottle of your Syrup Pepsin. It is the VERY BEST LAXATIVE I have ever used and I am always bothered with Constipation to such a degree as to be wholly dependent upon some remedy, and this I shall now choose above all others. Davenport's.

MRS. W. D. CRANDALL, Matron.

Death Bed Repentance

(Valparaiso Messenger.)

One day last week we received $12 from Wisconsin for a printing bill that had been earned 20 years ago. On his deathbed the husband enjoined his wife to pay Editor Zimmerman $12 for a printing debt he owed him. The wife discharged this debt last week, and we forthwith mailed her a receipt in full of all demands.

Card of Thanks

To the neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted us during the sickness and death of our daughter and sister Ida, we sincerely extend our heartfelt thanks, also for the letters of condolence. Respectfully,

MR. and MRS. A. P. GREEN & FAMILY.

EASTER GLORY.

May Christ, the risen Savior,
O'erflow your heart with light;
And may His gracious favor
Make all your Easter bright.

Upon the wings of the morning light
Something is borne to the waiting earth;
Something that's new and strange and bright,
Waking the world to a newer birth.

Breezes are blowing o'er hill and lea,
Flowers unfolding in bud and bloom,
Birds are astir in each nest or tree,
Valleys are bathed in sweet perfume.

Over the meadows the sunshine lies—
Tenderly breaking from zone to zone.
Carols are lifted to arching skies,
Chimes from the steeples are swung or blown.

Out on the mountains the wild flower springs;
Far on the river the mist wreaths curl,
High up above us, like great white wings,
The clouds sweep forth from their gates of pearl.

Ah, what is it, this glow in the air,
Gilding the day, tho' the skies were dim?
What is it, thrills thro' the soul's deep prayer,
This sense, in the heart, of a wilspered hymn?

Christ is risen! Oh, marvelous word,
Speaking forever thro' sounds and signs.
Lift Thou each soul like a soaring bird,
Up where the Light of the Risen One shines!

EASTER TO EASTER.

"There's no use talking, Theodore——"

"Theodore!" interrupted the young man explosively.

"Yes, Theodore, I believe that is your name," was the reply in a crushing tone; "but as I was about to say, I shall never marry a farmer. I was born for a higher sphere, one broader and more—more—well, more to my taste."

"Exactly!—(with mock humility)—and would it be presumption for a poor, miserable clod of the valley like myself to ask what you propose to do?"

"I have my plans, sir, but you are not likely to sympathize with me in them, and words are only wasted."

"Very true, but, oh, Bab——"

"My name is Barbara, please."

"Hang it all!" cried the young man, springing to his feet and grabbing his hat. "I may as well go now as later. It's all over, I know, but it's terribly hard to realize; terribly hard to forget all the jolly old times we've had together when you was Bab and I was Thede, but it has been coming on, this change, ever since you came home from your visit. I thought it might wear off, but now since you've said it I—oh, Bab, little Bab, I've always loved you and never had a thought or plan that you wasn't in since I can remember; how can I give it all up?"

And then the great, true-hearted fellow dropped back into his chair and buried his face in his hands. Barbara, who had risen too, stood looking down at him, not knowing whether to laugh or cry. She remembered that in other days she would have done the latter to have seen "Thede" in distress; but now—well, things were so very different now, and when she tried to imagine one of those well-dressed men, to whom her cousin had introduced her, crying because a girl had refused him, she did laugh outright.

Thede did not look up, but he heard, and as soon as he could control himself, he rose again, saying:

"Pardon my weakness, Miss Barbara; I will not trouble you again. I am sure I wish you all success in whatever you undertake, and many happy returns of this Easter Day. Good-night!"

"Good-night!"

Barbara's voice sounded a little queer, even to herself, but she stood where he left her until the door was shut and the sound of his familiar footsteps had died away; then, with cheeks unusually red, she went to her room.

"He'll be around all right to-morrow, but I had no idea I would get rid of him so easily to-night. What a silly he is, anyway, to suppose that I could ever be content with him and 'the dear old folks,' as he calls them, on a farm."

Much to her surprise, Theodore Vane did not return on the morrow, or any other day, though she saw him ride by a number of times. It was annoying, especially after a letter came from her city friends telling her they had found her a position as "saleslady" in a store. She did so want to tell Thede (she called him that to herself), but though her little brother told him the news, he came not.

Barbara's parents, like all sensible country people, did not want her to go to the city. She had education enough to teach a district school—had taught the summer before—and her help was needed in the family, but she was determined. She could not afford to thus let slip what she called "the opportunity of a lifetime;" and go she did just when spring was bursting into beauty.

She just cried the least bit when she bade her mother good-by, but tears were not befitting a young woman going out to make her fortune and she was not a little ashamed of herself. During her five weeks' visit with her relatives in the city she had imbibed some ideas, chief among them that living in the country was a disgrace, and that any show of tenderness or feeling was vulgar.

Barbara's first letter home was full of news concerning her journey, her new position and the good time that each evening brought. Her aunt was going to move, however, and in order to be near her business she must rent a room and board herself.

The next letter told of a small apartment in the third story of a lodging house, its meager furnishing and how dreadfully tired she was at night.

"She'll be comin' home soon," laughed her father, but the mother looked troubled.

After that the letters were usually written in a hurry, sometimes sad and sometimes with a forced gaiety. More than once her mother urged her to come home, but only once did she refer to the matter, then to say she would come at Christmas.

The weeks and months rolled round, and the old farm house was full of festal preparations, for Barbara would arrive on the twenty-seventh. Three days before Christmas a postal card, hastily scrawled on the counter, had announced as much, and that the holiday trade kept her in her place until nine and ten o'clock at night.

The morning of the twenty-seventh found the family early active, and by train time father was at the station, and everything in readiness at home.

"They're comin'!" shouted Ted, as he decried the white blaze in Major's face far down the road.

"They are coming!" was echoed all over the house and by the time Ted has discovered that his father was alone, the mother and two sisters were at the door.

Poor, bewildered father could only say over and over again: "I can't tell anything about it; she wa'n't there—that's all I know."

The day dragged wearily on, and still no word. All the good things were set away; probably she would come to-morrow. Again father went to the station, again he returned alone and still no word. The third morning was but a repetition of the others, and then mother said that somebody must go and see what the matter was.

"You better go," father said, helplessly; and she went.

"Oh, Bab; my darling child!" was what she said, as she stood on the threshold of the barren, third-story room, and looked at the flushed, unconscious face on the not over-clean pillow.

"Don't you know me, dear; don't you know your mother?"

But the girl only babbled on of the spring in the orchard, the apple blossoms, the birds' nest in the cherry tree, Old Matta's kittens in the hay mow, and Thede.

"She came home from the store looking pale and tired," her landlady said: "I happened to meet her in the outer hall. She always speaks pleasantly and pays promptly for everything she gets, so I've learned to like her, and noticed particularly how bad she looked. 'I'm going home to-morrow, Mrs. Case,' she said, 'and won't be back till after New Years;' so when she wasn't about next day, I supposed she'd gone. It was just getting dark when Mr. Done—a bachelor next door to her—came and asked me what was the matter with Miss Burns; said somebody had been moanin' and takin' on in her room all day. (He writes stories or something; anyway, he's awful poor and allers in his room.)

"I went right up and found the poor child ravin' in fever as you see. I sent for my own doctor, and he's doing his best. I didn't know where you lived, but 'lowed to hunt through her papers to-morrow, if nobody come, to see if I could find out. I'm so driven with work and trying to do for her, I hain't had time to do nothing else."

In the weary weeks following, spent by Mrs. Burns in that cheerless apartment, while life and death fought for supremacy over the frail Bab, the former learned from her wanderings how bitterly she had repented her choice, and how terribly homesick she had been. She learned, too, how the young girl had repented her of scorning the honest love of an honest man.

It was Easter Sabbath again, and evening, when, for the first time since one year before, Thede and Bab were alone; he so strong and manly, she so white and fragile.

"Now that the other railroad is coming," he was saying, as his dark eyes rested anxiously on her face, "father and mother have consented to sell out, and we will move to town. My uncle has offered me a third share in the store, and—and—well, I thought maybe you would reconsider your decision of a year ago if I could offer you——"

"Thede, Thede; don't, don't!" she broke out. "If ever you loved me don't remind me of my folly; however, I have this to say"—brightening and smiling through the ready tears—"if ever I am married it will be to a farmer. I have had enough of town life; give me the country with its manifold beauties and luxuries. 'God made the country, man made the city,' surely."

"What a glad Easter Day," was what Theodore said as he bent tenderly over Barbara's chair at leaving, "and what a joy it will be to the dear old folks; the thought of giving up the old home is well nigh breaking their hearts."

"One can learn a good deal of the world, and one's own heart as well, from one Easter to another," was what Bab said to herself, as the outer door closed; "but I knew a year ago that I could not live without Thede!"—Farm, Field and Fireside.

The Moravian Way.

One of the most significant and picturesque celebrations of Easter is that of the Moravian Christians, of whom there are many congregations in the United States. At Bethlehem, Pa., and other towns where Moravians abound some musicians with brass instruments go at earliest dawn to the roof of the church and play music signifying the calling forth of the dead. The people immediately flock to the church and begin the service of the day, most of it being musical. At a given signal the entire congregation rise, and, preceded by the ministers and trumpeters, leave the church and march to the cemetery. In Moravian cemeteries all the gravestones are alike—small, flat slabs laid upon the graves, "for," say the simple, literal people, "in the grave all men are equal." The procedure of the service is so timed that the musico-prayerful rejoicing reaches its highest expression just as the sun rises.

THE DATE FOR EASTER.

How the Time of the Festival Varies Through the Centuries.

An industrious collector of statistics who has been investigating the subject has gathered some interesting facts regarding the variable times of the Easter festival. In 1883 and 1894, he says, Easter fell on the unusually early date of March 25, but in the three following centuries it will occur only eight times on that day, namely, in the years 1951, 2035, 2046, 2057, 2103, 2114, 2125 and 2198.

The earliest date on which it can fall is March 22, and this only when the moon is full on March 21, which must be a Saturday. This combination of circumstances is extremely rare; it occurred in 1390, 1761 and 1817, and will happen again in 1990, 2076 and 2144, while during the three centuries following this last year, it is not once destined to fall on so early a date.

Going to the other extreme, Easter never comes later than April 25. It is on record as happening on this date in 1666, 1734 and 1886, and in the next century will reach it only once—in 1943.

Easter Customs.

There are certain districts of Tennessee where ecclesiastics and laics play at ball in the churches for tansy cakes on Eastertide. In northern Pennsylvania the men claim the privilege to take off the women's shoes on Easter Monday, and the next day the women retaliate.

An Easter dinner in some counties of England consists of delicate dishes of peacock, swan and fowls, with ice cream in the form of nightingales' nests and plenty of stout and ale and wine.

The Persians, the Jews and the Russians all offer eggs at the festival of Easter, but it is difficult to ascertain the exact origin of the practice.

In a certain church in Belgium the priests throw the eggs at the choristers, who throw them back again, the most extreme caution being used that the frail shells be not cracked or broken.

All the world over may be found the superstition that at least one new article must be worn upon Easter day, which accounts in our country for the ravishing display of bonnets at church on Easter morn.

German families on Easter eve place a nest full of sugar eggs and real eggs somewhere in the garden, so the children will have a hunt for them on Easter morning. Strange to say, these Easter eggs are believed by the German children to be laid by the hare, and a common sight in a confectioner's window is to see this species of animal sitting on a nest of eggs.

In southern France a custom peculiar to Easter week is the assembling in the streets of a crowd of young and gay gallants carrying a chair lined with rich white silk, decorated with garlands of flowers and streamers of ribbon. The first maiden who chances to be near is entreated to seat herself in the chair, which is then seized by the lawless fellows, who start off at a full run. For the young woman's liberation a kiss is demanded by each youth.

The Spirit of Easter.

O lily crowned angel of Easter,
Spirit of gladness and light,
Touched by the glory of heaven,
Pause in thy jubilant flight
And sing to us echoing carols,
Sing till our hearts shall grow strong,
Till their happy pulsations shall measure
The time of thy rapturous song;

Till Faith, resurrected, shall greet us
With smiles on her radiant face,
While Love reaches out of the darkness
To hold us in clinging embrace;
Till Hope, happy Hope, shall awaken
From the languor of purposeless dreams,
And move us to earnest endeavor
By whispers on glorious themes!

O beauteous spirit touch gently
Our souls with thy quickening breath,
Till out into life and its duties
They leap from this torpor of death!
Abide till our hearts shall discover
The blessings that circle us now,
And our thoughts grow as pure as the lilies
That droop o'er thy radiant brow!

An Economical Idea.

"Dear me!" said a pretty little wife to her husband one Easter evening. "Why can't such lovely days last longer? Such music! Such flowers! Such dresses! Upon my word, I wish next Easter Sunday could begin to-morrow."

"So do I, with all my heart and pocket," exclaimed her husband, "for there wouldn't be time for you to order a new Easter bonnet."

Then the pretty little wife pouted.

Lord of Life.

Most glorious Lord of Life! that on this day
Didst make Thy triumph over death and sin,
And, having harrowed hell, didst bring away
Captivity thence captive, us to win:
This joyous day, dear Lord, with joy begin;
And that we, for whom thou didst sin,
May live forever in felicity!
And that Thy love, we, weighing worthily,
May likewise love Thee for the same again;
And for Thy sake, that all like dear didst buy,
With love may one another entertain.
So let us love, dear love, like as we ought:
Love is the lesson which the Lord us taught.

A Festival of Festivals.

To the church, Easter is the festival of festivals. Christ's work for man was then completed. This church celebrates. It is, indeed, a day of triumph, for death is conquered, man is redeemed, his salvation secured and eternal life is his. Christ's resurrection assures man's resurrection, hence there is good reason for songs of jubilee, and the heart of every Christian should send forth joyful notes of praise to the risen Lord.

The Risen Lord.

The Magdalene seeks Him, her heart full of gloom,
When arisen, effulgent, from out the dark tomb.
Her Lord stands before her, encircled with light,
Majestic, translucent and dazzlingly bright:
Awe-struck she beholds Him, with glory ablaze,
"Rabboni! dear Master," she cried in amaze!

The Risen View of the Rising Life.

Easter gives to us the privilege of the risen view of the rising life. By it the soul gains a bird's eye vision of its earthly existence before the time or power for flight. Christ, after He had passed through the grave, takes His disciples of every age with Him, that they, with Him, may look downward and see the new glory of their old life, and thus be prepared to live it with patience and devotion. The first meaning of Easter is not the mortal's view of immortality, but the immortal's view of mortality, which every mortal may have who is risen with Christ.—Rev. O. M. Lamson.

A Not Unpleasing Custom.

In Russia many men and women greet whoever they may meet on Easter morning with a kiss and the announcement, "The Lord is risen." A distinguished American civil engineer was thus greeted a few years ago by an innocent and sweet-faced chambermaid at a hotel at St. Petersburg, and no explanations would pacify the gentleman's wife.

TWO EASTER MORNINGS.

1638. 1899.

102 WEDS 100.

End of a Romance that Had Its Origin in Lincoln's Illinois Home.

John D. Clews, aged 102 years, a former resident of Springfield, Ill., was married at Franklin, Pa., recently, to Sarah Jennings, 100 years old, who at one time was a member of Abraham Lincoln's household. Despite their advanced years, Mr. and Mrs. Clews are still sprightly and active.

Behind this singular marriage lies a little romance of the war, tending to show that the course of true love will generally end in happiness, even after the trials and storms of a hundred years. It was in Springfield, Ill., that they met. John D. Clews, born in Richmond and tied down to the law, had ever displayed a weakness for the life of the soldier, and when, in 1846, the Mexican war broke out, he enlisted as a private, won his commission, and returned to Richmond wearing a captain's epaulets.

It was some years later when, as a gray-haired, thoughtful man of 60, he began the practice of law in Springfield, where Abraham Lincoln lived. Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Clews often met in court, and this, with the abolitionist agitation, then at its height, formed the bond that was to end only with the assassination of the President. Established in Mr. Lincoln's home was Miss Jackson, a stately, grave, handsome dame, a relative of Andrew Jackson, and carrying some of the indomitable expressions of "Old Hickory" in her face.

Between Mr. Clews and Miss Jackson there arose an attachment and it is probable that they would then have married and settled down into a peaceful old age had not the firing on Fort Sumter ended their plans and disrupted all human things in this land. The old campaign fever caught Clews and held him fast. He must go out, he said, and by and by at the head of his company he rode away to join the Army of the Potomac.

JOHN CLEWS AND SARAH JENNINGS.

Mr. Clews was with Gens. Grant and Sherman. He was one of the first to go up against that terrible wall at Fredericksburg, when the men of the Union were mowed down like sheep, under the unerring hail of Confederate bullets. He was at the taking of Vicksburg, and in Sherman's march to the sea, and he was twice imprisoned in Libby.

The woman waiting at home wrote and wrote again to her absent lover, but no word came in reply. Then one day she heard that he was dead. Her waiting was ended. A year later she married James Jennings, of Columbus, Ohio.

Clews, released from his prison, and now a man without occupation or career, heard that his sweetheart was married. For many years he wandered over the country, finally settling in Cincinnati. He never brought to her mind and her heart the knowledge that he was alive, but cherished the memory of his only love.

Three years ago one of those strange accidents which sometimes bless the unprotected people of this world brought the lovers together again. It was at a reunion of army veterans that Mrs. Jennings, now a widow, and Mr. Clews were formally introduced.

As her eyes fell upon his face she gave a little hysterical cry and laugh and fell into his arms.

SENATOR GEORGE GRAY.

His Retirement Takes a Good Man Out of Congress.

The retirement of Senator George Gray of Delaware, whose term expired with the last Congress, is regretted by every supporter of honesty and conservatism in public life. Senator Gray was one of the ablest and most trustworthy men in the Senate. He is a Democrat, but agrees with the McKinley war policy. The President showed his regard for the Delawarean by making him a member of the Peace

SENATOR GEORGE GRAY.

Commission, and he will soon hold a United States Circuit Judeship.

Senator Gray is 58 years old, a graduate of Princeton College and the Harvard Law School, has been Attorney General of Delaware, and has represented that State in the Senate since Thomas F. Bayard resigned in 1885.

Too Few Marriages.

"I am afraid that our young women are altogether too stylish and expect too much. They want a house and lot and the house furnished before they will consent to marry. Their parents did not have all these things. I have been told that some of the young men and young women in this parish have been keeping company for from six to ten years. That is altogether too long. I hope the young men will take more courage on this question of marriage, and I also hope that the young people will not try to be too well off before making up their minds to get married."—Baltimore Sun.

"Then I told him what I thought of him." "In good, plain language, I presume?" "Well, yes. In fact, some of my expressions were positively military."—Indianapolis Journal.

The apple of a man's eye is too often but the fruit of egotism.

PRESENTED TO THE QUEEN.

The Latest American Lady to Gain This Distinction.

The honor which American visitors to England regard most highly is to be presented to the Queen. And well they may, for very few are fortunate enough to be thus honored. When an American lady is introduced to her Majesty, she at once rises many degrees in the eyes of her countrywomen.

Because she was fortunate in this respect Mrs. Benjamin T. Cable, of Illinois, is now envied by her social acquaintances. Mrs. Cable was recently presented to the Queen. She is a most charming lady, a niece of the famous Missouri Senator, Thomas H. Benton, and wife of a man who gained a fine reputation in Congress. Their home in Rock Island, Ill., is a favorite gathering place for the aristocracy of the Middle West.

MRS. BENJAMIN T. CABLE.

TRAINING THE MEN.

How the Men Behind Our Navy's Guns Were Disciplined.

From the time of the destruction of the Maine, in the harbor of Havana, on Feb. 15, our naval force in southern waters had been placed partially upon a war footing. It was not by any means that war was considered inevitable. On the contrary, it was thought that even should the court of inquiry decide that the Maine had been treacherously destroyed, Spain would meet all reasonable demands; but the state of preparation was a state of security demanded by military prudence, and also valuable to men and officers as a discipline and exercise.

The men had already been well trained at the guns—well instructed in their mechanism and manuals—the principal business of the cruising man-of-war in time of peace, but to this training was added constant daily target practice with sub-caliber fire—a form of exercise for which all batteries are now fitted. It consists in firing a small projectile from a large gun, employing the pointing and aiming mechanism of the latter. To effect this the small gun is placed inside the breech of the large gun, and precisely in its center, and is held there by a special fitting. So adjusted, its axis coincides with that of the larger piece, and, except for the shock and recoil, the normal firing conditions with full charge are imitated.

One-pounders are ordinarily employed for the sub-caliber of the heavy turret-guns, and musket barrels for those of the secondary batteries. During those waiting days at Tortugas and Key West, fluttering flags a few hundred yards from each ship showed the targets, and for hours each day the splash of bullets followed the rifle reports with monotonous regularity.

After each shot the gun was swung off the target, brought back, and aimed anew for the next, thus making it an independent exercise. It was not inspiring or dramatic, this steady burning of powder in small quantities during the sultry afternoons, but it was the sort of work which makes war deadly, and it bore its fruit in the swift and terrible destruction of Cervera's fleet.—Harper's Magazine.

I wonder what would have happened if Adam had refused to eat the apple.

The reason Solomon told so many truths about women was because he was brave enough to do it.

When a woman sits in church with a sad, far-away look in her eyes she isn't always thinking about heaven.

When a girl is trying to make up a quarrel with a man, he can always start her off again by telling her how it started.

One reason all women are dead sure they can fool all men is that most men keep their mouths shut as to what they think about it.

A man can feel real comfortable with only a pipe, but a woman needs a fashion paper, a Mother Hubbard and somebody to take down her hair.

It is just as difficult for a woman to sharpen a lead-pencil without biting her lips as it is for her to put in her kind curlers without puckering up her forehead.

Evading the Law.

The London Telegraph tells a story of a collier who amused himself with flying pigeons. He had occasion to go to town recently, and took with him a bird in a bag. He was about to toss up the pigeon in the town hall square when a policeman came up and told him that he must not fly the bird there.

"Why not?" asked the collier.

"Because it is forbidden, and I shall have to lock you up if you do."

The collier, with the usual sharpness of his kind, thereupon took the pigeon out of the bag, set it on the ground, stroked its wings and said to it: "Aw corn'd toss thee up here, so thou mun walk whoam; dost yer? thou mun walk whoam."

The bird, of course, rose in the air, leaving the policeman petrified with astonishment.

Life of Big Guns.

The huge guns of modern navies can be fired only about seventy-five times, when they become worn out.

THE FAMILY LIFE.

Ways in Which Its Influence Mold the Character of the Young.

The Indian boys and girls who are being educated in the school at Carlisle, Pa., spend the summer vacation on the neighboring farms, earning money by work in the field and house. On their return, in September, the smaller boys very naturally discussed their experiences. Many of them had been in the houses of Quakers, and began to joke good-humoredly at the "plain" dress and language, when a little Navajo gave a shout, and rushing up to them, exclaimed:

"Don't thee dare to say anything against the Quakers! They are my friends! I'm a Quaker!" and he planted both his fists in the face of the last speaker.

The same young convert to the faith of the Friends anxiously inquired on Sunday for the Quaker church, and finding that there was none, took his stool into the yard and sat down on it for quiet meditation.

The teachers of the Indian children say that this residence as individuals in different families for part of the year is an unmistakable help to their civilization. They are brought under direct home influence, and even if the home be not a very good one, they learn the routine of domestic life, and the happiness which lies in affection, self-control and trifling, everyday acts of unselfishness.

In a recent report of the managers of several orphan and foundling asylums in England, the fact was urged as of special significance that while the girls trained in these institutions made excellent housemaids or laundresses, they could not be trusted as nurses of children. The training in a large body could give them orderly habits, but left dormant their affections and their womanly, motherly instincts.

So many girls are now pushing out of their homes to find a life in public that these facts have a significance that should not be overlooked.

Among God's purposes in placing men and women in families are the opportunities to be chivalric and tender and strong that wait at the humble home hearth, which are found nowhere else in the world.

Another Way Suggested.

A gentleman invited a certain lecturer to his house to take tea. Immediately on being seated at the table a little daughter of the house said to the guest abruptly:

"Where is your wife?"

The lecturer, who had recently separated from his better half, was surprised and annoyed at the question, and stammered forth the truth: "I don't know."

"Don't know!" repeated the child. "Why don't you know?"

Finding that the child persisted in her interrogation, despite the mild reproof of the parents, he decided to make a clean breast of the matter and have it over at once, so he said, with calmness: "Well, we don't live together. We think, as we can't agree, we'd better not."

He stifled a groan as the child began again, and darted an exasperated look at her parents. But the little tormentor would not be quieted until she exclaimed: "Can't agree! Then why don't you fight it out, the same as father and mother do?"—Newcastle Chronicle.

Days of the Horse Numbered.

The greatest electrician in the world declares that the days of the horse are numbered, and that in a short time electricity will supplant it. Diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys and blood would be a curiosity if sufferers would take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. There would then be practically no dyspepsia, indigestion or constipation.

Strange Animal on Devil's Island.

Devil's Island, made famous as the prison of Dreyfus, has a strange species of animal found nowhere else on earth. This odd animal has been called the coati and is a peculiar combination of mammiferous, carnivorous plantigrade. It is about the size of a cat when full grown, with a long head shaped like a pyramid, a tremendous nose, making it the Cyrano of animals. The jaws are long, like those of the young alligator, and it uses its fore paws to carry its food to its mouth, as monkeys and squirrels do. Henri Loustan, the superintendent of the penitentiary at Guiana, has sent a specimen to the Museum of Natural History at Paris, where it is attracting considerable attention.

Finest Riding School.

The finest military riding school in existence is in Moscow. It is 560 feet long, 140 feet broad and 41 feet high, and, saving only the Midland terminus in London, its roof is the largest in the world unsupported by pillars. It is lavishly ornamented, but in every respect save size it is quite eclipsed by the subterranean riding school in Welbeck Abbey. This wonderful apartment, if it can be called such, is 385 feet long, about 130 feet wide, and its glass roof is nine feet higher than that of the Moscow School.

"Peace Hath Her Victories No less renowned than war," said Milton, and now, in the Spring, is the time to get a peaceful victory over the impurities which have been accumulating in the blood during Winter's hearty eating. The banner of peace is borne aloft by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

It brings rest and comfort to the weary body racked by pains of all sorts and kinds. Its beneficial effects prove it to be the great specific to be relied upon for victory. Hood's never disappoints.

Salt Rheum—"My mother was seriously afflicted with salt rheum and painful running sores. No medicine helped her until Hood's Sarsaparilla was used, which made her entirely well." ESSIE E. MAPLESTONE, 398 Dearborn Street, Chicago, Ill.

Tired Feeling—"I had that tired, dull feeling, dyspepsia, headaches and sinking spells, but Hood's Sarsaparilla made me a new man. I never was better than now." JOHN MACK, Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Never Disappoints

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, the non-irritating and the only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Does Your Back Ache?

In constant pain when on your feet?

Is that dragging, pulling sensation with you from morn till night?

Why not put the medicine exactly on the disease? Why not apply the cure right to the spot itself?

You can do it with

Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Plaster

Immediately after the Plaster is applied, you feel its warming, soothing influence. Its healing remedies quickly penetrate down deep into the inflamed tissues. Pain is quieted, soreness is relieved and strength imparted.

No plaster was ever made like it. No plaster ever acted so quickly and thoroughly. No plaster ever had such complete control over all kinds of pain.

Placed over the chest it is a powerful aid to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral; relieving congestion and drawing out all inflammation.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

WHISKERS DYED
A Natural Black by
Buckingham's Dye.

Price 50 cents of all druggists or R. P. Hall & Co., Nashua, N. H.

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.
For sale by all Druggists.—Price 50c. per bottle.

DO YOU COUGH
DON'T DELAY
TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM
THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

EXCURSIONS TO THE FREE GRANT LAND OF WESTERN CANADA.

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

During the months of March and April, excursions will leave Ohio and Michigan points for Western Canada, on Monday of each week. These excursions will be accompanied by agents of the Government, and special cars will be provided for the through trip. For particulars as to how to obtain 160 acres of land free, and railway rates for settlers, apply to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to Jas. Grieve, Mt. Pleasant, Mich.; D. L. Caven, Bad Axe, Mich.; M. V. MacInness, Detroit, Mich.

ASTHMA
POPHAM'S ASTHMA SPECIFIC
Gives relief in FIVE minutes. Send for a FREE trial package. Sold by Druggists. One Box sent postpaid on receipt of $1.00. Six boxes $5.00. Address THOS. POPHAM, PHILA., PA.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in civil war 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

MARIE ENGEL.

Singer Whose Courage and Patriotism Conquered the Spaniards.

Her work this season in grand opera has made Marie Engel a prime favorite in New York, and has given her the same high place in the esteem of her fellow countrymen that her wonderful voice and sweet womanliness earned for her in Europe. She is young yet, and the triumphs she has achieved are as nothing to those which the future promises.

There is romance in her life story. Her mother was a singer with a voice that might have stirred the world, but the opportunity was denied. The maternal grandparents of Marie Engel lived in a pioneer settlement of the West and had puritanical ideas. Their daughter's voice attracted much attention, but so great was their dread of the stage that they would not permit her to cultivate it. When she married Engel he took her to a neighboring city and placed her under good tutors. But it was too late for a professional career. Then Marie was born. Great was the parents' delight when, as a child, she showed musical ability. They built castles in the air for her; she was to be a great singer some day. When Marie was 7 the mother died. Her last request was to hear her child sing, and the little one stood at the bedside singing and sobbing as the mother breathed her last. When Marie was old enough her father took her to Europe, where she studied under the masters. A few years ago she made her debut in Berlin, and thereafter sang herself into the favor of the great capitals of Europe. This is her first season in America.

MISS MARIE ENGEL.

Miss Engel has not only beauty and a sweet voice, but superb courage. This trait was illustrated last spring. She was to make her debut in Madrid on a night in April, taking a leading part in the operatic event of the season. She reached the Spanish capital just before the war broke out. Feeling against the Americans ran high, and Miss Engel was told it were better if she would not take part. She declined to surrender her place, and when the time came went upon the stage. The cry went through the house, "This is the American," and jeers and catcalls rent the air. She started to sing and the audience howled. They would not listen to her, but she went through her part. After the first act she was warned by the stage manager that should she go on in the second act her life might be in danger. It didn't frighten her. Her second appearance was greeted like the first. The American girl now felt it was a matter of patriotism and went on a third time. The audience greeted her with silence. As she began to sing, there was a tremor in the sweet sound that fell on the hushed audience, for she feared the silence foreboded trouble. But her courage was speedily restored, for she had not gone far when from all parts of the house went up cheers and applause. "Bravo, Americanos" was the cry. She had conquered. Even Spaniards could not withhold the applause which such courage and patriotism demanded, and thereafter, for several nights, she was the heroine of Madrid.

MAMMOTH RAILROAD SCHEME.

All-Rail Route from New York City to Buenos Ayres.

The International Railroad Commission estimates that the total length of the all-rail route from New York City to Buenos Ayres will be 10,228.06 miles. Of this 4,771.93 miles are already built. The estimated cost for grading, masonry and bridges on the road to be built is $174,290,271. This estimate does not include the branch lines, but only the trunk line to Buenos Ayres, nor does it include any expense beyond preparing the roadbed for the rails. The commission, however, is of the opinion that future studies will reduce the length and lessen the cost here given. By far the greater part of the cost will be in the Andine regions of Colombia, Ecuador and Peru, where the mileage is estimated at 3,645.94, and the estimated cost at $126,360,425.84, the estimated cost of building

JOINING THE CONTINENTS.

all the other sections of the trunk line being $47,929,846. The line passes through every State of Central America and all the Pacific coast States of South America, excepting Chile, whose chief coast towns, Antofagasta, Valparaiso and Valdivia, will be connected with the trunk line by branch roads already in operation or nearly completed.

Some of the most important trade centers in every State in South America will be joined by rail to the main line.

A Gentle Hint.—He—It's reported that we're engaged. She—Well, I'm not to blame for the fact that it is only a report.—Brooklyn Life

MOTHERHOOD is woman's natural destiny. Many women are denied the happiness of children through some derangement of the generative organs. Actual barrenness is rare.

Among the many triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the overcoming of cases of supposed barrenness. This great medicine is so well calculated to regulate every function of the generative organs that its efficiency is vouched for by multitudes of women.

SORROWS OF STERILITY

MRS. ED. WOLFORD, of Lone Tree, Iowa, writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I had one child which lived only six hours. The doctor said it did not have the proper nourishment while I was carrying it. I did not feel at all well during pregnancy. In time I conceived again, and thought I would write to you for advice. Words cannot express the gratitude I feel towards you for the help that your medicine was to me during this time. I felt like a new person; did my work up to the last, and was sick only a short time. My baby weighed ten pounds. He is a fine boy, the joy of our home. He is now six weeks old and weighs sixteen pounds. Your medicine is certainly a boon in pregnancy."

MRS. FLORA COOPER, of Doyle, S. Dak., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—Ever since my last child I suffered with inflammation of the womb, pains in back, left side, abdomen and groins. My head ached all the time. I could not walk across the floor without suffering intense pain. I kept getting worse, until two years ago I wrote to you for advice, and began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had not finished the first bottle before I felt better. I took four bottles, and have been strong and perfectly healthy ever since, and now have two of the nicest little girls."

Not His Own Self.

"Is your husband very much interested in the war?" inquired the neighbor.

"Interested!" echoed young Mrs. Torkins. "I never saw his mind so occupied with anything. Sometimes he has to think twice before he can tell whether the Bostons or the Cincinnatis are ahead.—Washington Star.

A SENSIBLE LETTER.

A Western Canadian Settler Writes to an Illinois Friend.

In writing to Mr. T. Hawkyard, of Rockford, Ill., Mr. G. Simpkins, of Leduc, Alberta, Western Canada (and to which points especially low rates are being quoted over all lines of railway), says:

"Dear Sir—Received your letter the 14th inst. We have had no snow till after Christmas, and the cattle have been able to live out, and are all in good condition. It is snowing now. That is what we want. Have about six inches now. The old settlers say when we have lots of snow it means a good crop the coming season. It never drifts here. The weather is calm and bright. We do not have to dress any heavier than in Illinois, and the horses never shiver with the cold when we take them from the warm stable, as they do in Illinois. It has not frozen in the stable this winter.

"The most of the stock runs out, but there is no need of it, for timber is plentiful, and there is no expense to build good stables and houses. We have good log houses, and they are very warm. Two men can put up a house 16x24 in two days. There are good rails for fences. We live ten miles from the coal district, the price being from 50 cents up to $2. The land is a very rich, loamy soil, from six inches to several feet in depth; the hills have the deepest. It is a rolling country, and excellent for stock of all kinds. Sheep do well, and there are plenty of small lakes, where the cattle can get good water. The cattle got out of grass last year, about the middle of April, and run at large; unless in charge of a herdsmen, we have to fence against them. Wheat goes from thirty-five to sixty bushels per acre, oats eighty and ninety, very often over a hundred. As to potatoes, a neighbor planted seven bushels and dug 226 bushels and no bugs. Roots of all kinds do well. There are lots of strawberries and lots of red raspberries, black and red currants, and gooseberries, where the fire has not burnt them. Cattle are scarce. I have been trying to buy some for eight months, and have got only three two-year-olds, and paid $30 each.

"Hogs are scarce, but can be got. They sell for 6 cents dressed, and cost more for stockers. Wheat 50 cents per bushel, oats 25 cents, eggs 30 cents a dozen, butter 15 and 20 cents, poultry was 10 and 11 cents dressed. Sheep are scarce. If you come, bring your farm tools, but bring no seeders; we use drills. Bring cows, but do not bring horses unless you are an experienced hand in shipping them, for so many of them are hurt in shipping. There will be plenty of work for a binder. Two good horses will break, but three lighter are better. The horses you get here can work without grain, but are better with it. It will be hard to tell what prices horses will be, for the immigration will be very large the coming spring. They could not be had last spring at one time. They claim the best time to break is June, but my experience is to break in the spring and work it. You can break till the middle of July."

Tired Eyes.

An ingenious invention, lately placed on the market by a Glasgow journalist, is attracting considerable attention among those whose daily pursuits strain the eye. The inventor, having overworked his eyes until he could use them only with the greatest difficulty, at last hit upon the plan of putting several strips of different colored paper near his inkstand, so that every time he reached for ink his eyes fell on them. The owner of the patent claims that not only were his eyes relieved but his sight improved by this simple device. Just why is for an oculist to explain. The scheme is being well advertised, and will doubtless reach America in time. If successful the journalist has accidentally assumed the role of a world-benefactor, as dozens of trades besides that of enlightening the public have a tendency to strain the eyes.

Not a Class C.

The Guards Band was playing out on the Windsor Castle terrace during dejeuner recently, and the Queen was so much struck by one pretty march tune that she desired one of the maids of honor to go and ascertain what it was called. The classic features of that high-born damsel were suffused with blushes as she returned and made answer: "'Come Where the Booze Is Cheaper,' Your Majesty."

Have It Handy.

He cried out in agony, and they ran to the neighbors for help. Sciatica was torturing him. Better run for St. Jacobs Oil, or have it handy. It is known to cure the worst cases.

Work of the Cable.

Much of the work in the cable and telegraphic offices throughout the West Indies is done by negro girls who are intelligent and obliging in their manner, but, like all the natives, they cannot understand why it is necessary to hurry. The activity and rush of the Americans is a source of never-ending wonderment to them.

Oh, That Delicious Coffee!

Costs but 1c. per lb. to grow. Salzer has the seed. German Coffee Berry, pkg. 15c.; Java Coffee pkg. 15c. Salzer's New American Chicory 15c. Cut this out and send 15c. for any of above packages or send 30c. and get all 3 pkgs. and great Catalogue free to JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., La Crosse, Wis. (c. n.)

Most Expensive Drug.

The most expensive drug is physostigmine, an ounce of which would cost nearly $1,000,000. It is prepared from the Calabar bean, and is used in diseases of the eye.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it, like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c. and 25 cts. per package. Sold by all grocers.

John Adams married the daughter of a Presbyterian clergyman. Her father objected on account of John's being a lawyer—he had a bad opinion of the morals of the profession.

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

The eagle first appeared on the seal of the United States in a design submitted to Congress by William Barton of Philadelphia, in 1782. The device was adopted June 20 of that year.

A Remarkable Offer.

The special offer made elsewhere in our advertising columns by the T. M. Roberts Supply House, Minneapolis, Minn., should be carefully read by every reader of this paper. It is made in good faith, by a reliable firm, and consists of remarkable values.

More than 200 municipalities in England, Scotland and Ireland now own municipal gas works.

Passengers for points in the Middle West, to points in the Rocky Mountains or Pacific Coast, should bear in mind that the three fast express trains on the Nickel Plate Road each makes direct connections with through lines at Chicago. Splendid equipment, fast time and lowest rates. Every essential for a safe and pleasant journey is placed within the reach of the traveling public.

Even in the darkest hour of earthly ill, woman's fond affection glows.—Sand.

Deafness Can't Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Marriage in Siam.

Every Siamese girl who reaches a certain age without marriage is ticketed and labeled and placed in a privileged class, under the special care of the king, who binds himself to find husbands for them all. His method is delightfully simple. A prisoner in any of the Siamese jails may gain his pardon and release by marrying one of the ineligible class. Whether he is already married or not is not of great consequence, for in Siam it is not necessary to draw the line at one wife.

Bromus Inermis Grass!

"It's the greatest grass on earth—Salzer says so. This grass yields 4 to 7 tons better hay than timothy in dry, rainless countries; yields even more than that in Ohio, Ind., Mich., Wis., Iowa, Ill., Mo., Kans., Nebr., Mont., yes in every State of the Union! Salzer warrants this! Potatoes $1.20 a Bbl.

Send this notice to JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., LA CROSSE, WIS., and 10 cents postage and receive their great Seed Catalogue and sample of this grass seed and nine other farm seed Rareties free. (c. n.)

Luck.

"That man I introduced you to a little while ago is a lucky fellow."

"That so? What's he been doing—opening up a copper mine or betting on the right horse, or what?"

"None of those things, but both of his daughters are married to men who are self-supporting."

Shake Into Your Shoes

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting, nervous feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight-fitting or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous and hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores. By mail for 25c. in stamps. Trial package FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Nearly one-third of the churchgoers of the United States are Roman Catholics. Considerably more than one-fifth are Methodists. More than one-sixth are Baptists. One churchgoer in sixteen is a Presbyterian and one in seventeen a Lutheran.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

Recollections.

Mrs. Weeperly—Yes, we pay spot cash for everything.

Mrs. Whipperly—Ah! I often speak to my husband about the time when we had to.—Puck.

Coughs Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

Cotton and Iron as Cargoes.

Among stevedores cotton is regarded as the hardest to stow and railway iron the easiest.

St. Jacobs Oil cures Rheumatism.
St. Jacobs Oil " Neuralgia.
St. Jacobs Oil " Lumbago.
St. Jacobs Oil " Sciatica.
St. Jacobs Oil " Sprains.
St. Jacobs Oil " Bruises.
St. Jacobs Oil " Soreness.
St. Jacobs Oil " Stiffness.
St. Jacobs Oil " Backache.
St. Jacobs Oil " Muscular Aches.

A woman is always perfectly sure that she is in the right until it comes to backing her opinion with money.—Chicago News.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. The genuine has L. B. Q. on each tablet.

The number of blind persons in Australia in proportion to the number of the population is considerably less than in most other countries.

We will forfeit $1,000 if any of our published testimonials are proven to be not genuine. THE PISO CO., Warren, Pa.

The only benefit of flattery is that by hearing what we are not, we may be instructed what we ought to be.—Swift.

The Lowest Rates

East or West are offered via the Nickel Plate Road. With solid through trains to New York, and through sleeping cars to Boston and direct connections at Chicago for all points west, travelers via this deservedly popular low-rate line are offered all conveniences of an exacting traveling public. Then, too, the quality of the service is unsurpassed. Modern day coaches and luxurious sleeping cars contribute to the comfort of passengers, while unexcelled dining cars cater to the tastes of the most exacting.

Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP for Children teething: softens the gums, reduces inflammation allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

WANTED.—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cents to Ripans Chemical Co., New York, for 10 samples and 1,000 testimonials.

Avoid the Night Air.

Avoid the night air when damp and cold, and you will often avoid having neuralgia, but St. Jacobs Oil will cure it no matter what is the cause and no matter how long it has continued.

According to the census of 1891 there were about 38,000 people in Ireland who could speak nothing but Irish and 680,000 who knew both languages.

Eagle Linen Letter Paper and Envelopes are the proper thing. Tell your printer to use this brand on your next order.

The services of the Nickel Plate Road to New York and Boston is a demonstrated success. The demands of the traveling public are met by providing three peerless fast express trains in each direction daily. These trains are composed of modern first-class day coaches and elegant vestibuled sleeping cars between Chicago, New York and Boston, and unexcelled dining cars. Solid through trains between Chicago and New York City have uniformed colored porters in charge of day coaches, whose services are placed at the disposal of passengers. If you want to travel comfortably, economically and safely, see that your ticket is routed via the Nickel Plate Road.

TWO REMARKABLE CURES

Of Two Prominent and Well-Known People.

A Catarrh Cure that Cures.

Some Seasonable Spring Sayings.

Springtime has come at last, and now is the time for all catarrh sufferers to begin a systematic course of treatment for this disease. The greatest difficulty in the way of treating chronic catarrh is that the patient is so liable to catch cold during the treatment and thus delay the cure. This liability at this season of the year is, in a great measure, removed, and no one should neglect the opportunity to begin treatment.

Miss Dade Stegeman, superintendent of the Chicago North Side Woman's Club, of Chicago, in a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, speaks of Pe-ru-na as follows:

Chicago, Jan. 23, 1899.

Pe-ru-na Drug M'f'g Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen—Pe-ru-na has often been used by the members of our club in cases of stomach trouble and general debility—also recently in cases of la grippe, and always with the most beneficiary results. I think a great deal of Pe-ru-na—often recommend it to my friends, and am glad to say all who have tried it speak a good word for it. Yours truly,

DADE STEGEMAN.

DADE STEGEMAN.

Send for free catarrh book. Address Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Ohio.

GENERAL S. S. YODER.

Notwithstanding that a great number of people have been cured of chronic catarrh by taking Pe-ru-na during the past cold season, yet it cannot be denied that the cold, wet, stormy winter has retarded many cures, and in some cases actually prevented a cure.

General S. S. Yoder, ex-Member of Congress from Ohio, in a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, speaks of Pe-ru-na as follows:

Washington, D. C.

Pe-ru-na Drug M'f'g Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen—I desire to say that I have found Pe-ru-na to be a wonderful remedy. I only used it for a short time and am thoroughly satisfied as to its merits. I cannot find words to express my gratification for the results obtained. As a catarrh cure I shall gladly recommend it to all sufferers. Yours truly,

S. S. YODER.

SAPOLIO

IS LIKE A GOOD TEMPER, "IT SHEDS A BRIGHTNESS EVERYWHERE."

INSOMNIA

"I have been using CASCARETS for Insomnia, with which I have been afflicted for over twenty years, and I can say that Cascarets have given me more relief than any other remedy I have ever tried. I shall certainly recommend them to my friends as being all they are represented." THOS. GILLARD, Elgin, Ill.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant, Palatable, Potent, Taste Good. Do Good, Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c. 25c. 50c.
... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...
Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 216

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

Farmers' Knives Free! To Buyers of our Garden Seeds. A test of our Northern Grown Seeds will at once convince you there are no better grown and we therefore make the following unheard of offer to the readers of this paper.

37 Packets fresh garden seeds and knife No. 7sb, all for 17cts, postpaid or 37 packages fresh garden seeds and knife No 7sb, all for 97cts postpaid. Cut out this advertisement and send us 17cts. if you want knife No. 7sb, or 97cts. if you want knife No. 7sb, and the following grand collection of THE BEST VEGETABLE SEEDS, retail price is over $1.75 and we will send the entire 37 packets and the knife FREE, all postpaid.

No. 7SB. 1 pkg. Gem Peas, 1 pkg. Eclipse Blood Turnip Beet, 1 pkg. Dwarf Wax Beans, 2 pkgs. Early June Peas, 1 pkg String Beans, 1 pkg. Yellow Danvers flat Onion, 1 pkg. Robbs Gem Watermelon, 1 pkg. Ox Heart Carrots, 1 pkg. Large Early York Cabbage, 1 pkg. Marble Mammoth Drumhead Cabbage, 1 pkg. Long Green Cucumber, 1 pkg. Danvers half long Carrots, 1 pkg. Green Citron Muskmelon, 1 No. 7SB. pkg. Perfection Tomato, 1 pkg. Trophy Tomato, 1 pkg. Rutabaga, 1 pkg. Big Boston Lettuce, 2 pkgs Purple Top Turnip, 1 pkg. Hollow Crown Turnips, 1 pkg. long Scarlet Radish, 1 pks. Double Curled Parsley, 1 pkg. Celery, 1 pkg. Thyme, 1 pkg. French Breakfast Radish, 1 pkg. Summer Crookneck Squash, 1 pkg. Curled Simpson Lettuce, 1 pkg Early flat Dutch Turnip, 1 pkg. Scarlet Turnip Radish, 1 pkg. Denver Market Lettuce, 1 pkg. Early Russian Cucumbers, 1 pks. Outham King Cabbage, 1 pkg. Sweet Pumpkin, 1 pkg Early Minnesota Corn, 1 pkg Red Globe Onion

KNIFE FREE.

At 77 cents the No. 7sb, 4 blade Congress buck horn handle, best steel warranted knife will be sent FREE.

The No. 7sb, knife is just what every farmer should have. Extra weight, finely polished ends, three heavy steel blades, including hoof blade. We give it FREE to every person ordering the above collection at 97cts, through this advertisement, or we will furnish the 37 fresh packets of garden seeds to anyone postpaid for 17cts—no better seeds grown or sold at any price. This collection cannot be broken or any variation made.

Special.—In order to test this newspaper as an advertising medium. To everyone who will enclose this advertisement with their order we will send 20 packages (value $1) free, making 57 packages of fresh garden seeds and the knife No. 7sb for 77 cents, or knife No. 77sb and 57 packages for 97 cents. A remarkable offer. T. M. Roberts Supply House, Minneapolis, Minn.

DYSPEPSIA, CONSTIPATION AND

other diseases permanently cured in two months without medicine or dieting. Write, inclosing 25 cents for full directions. Have nothing to sell. Satisfaction guaranteed. Write at once and take no more drugs. MARK A. HAYLOX, Roberts, Wis.

FOR 14 CENTS

We wish to gain this year 300,000 new customers. And hence offer

1 Pkg. 13 Day Radish 10c
1 Pkg. Early Ripe Cabbage 10c
" " Earliest Red Beet 10c
1 " Long Lights Cucumber 10c
" " Salzer's Best Lettuce 15c
" " California Pie Tomato 20c
1 " Early Dinner Onion 10c
3 " Brilliant Flower Seeds 15c

Worth $1.00, for 14 Cts. $1.00

Above 10 pkgs., worth $1.00, we will mail you free, together with our great Plant and Seed Catalogue, upon receipt of this notice and 14c postage. We invite your trade and know when you once try Salzer's Seeds you will never get along without them. Onion Seed 65c and up a lb. Potatoes at $1.20 a bbl. Catalogue alone 5 cents. No. C. N.

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., La Crosse, Wis.

Don't Rent

ESTABLISH A HOME OF YOUR OWN

Read "The Corn Belt," a handsome monthly paper, beautifully illustrated, containing exact and truthful information about farm lands in the West. Send 25 cents in postage stamps for a year's subscription to THE CORN BELT, 209 Adams St., Chicago.

8000 BICYCLES

Overstock: Must be Cleared Out. STANDARD '98 MODELS, guaranteed, $9.75 to $16. Shopworn & second hand wheels, good as new, $3 to $10. Great factory clearing sale. We ship to anyone on approval & trial without a cent in advance. EARN A BICYCLE by helping us advertise our superb line of 98 models. We give our Rider Agents in each town FREE USE of sample wheel till sixty days from date of receipt of bicycle. Write at once for our special offer.

K. C. Mead Cycle Company, Chicago, Ills.

THE SCHOOLS

Of Greater New York, Boston, and many other places use Carter's Ink exclusively and won't use any other. That speaks well for and gives you food for thought.

CARTER'S INK

PENSIONS Get Your Pension DOUBLE QUICK!
Write Capt. O'FARRELL, Pension Agent, Washington, D.C.

A SUMMER JOB---PERMANENT. Either sex. Begin now. Reference required; no capital. S. T. WALKER, 136 Van Buren Street, Chicago. Dept. G.

DR. ISAAC THOMPSON'S EYE WATER
SORE EYES

F. W. N. U. - - No. 13—'99.

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS

To Cure a Cold in One Day

TAKE

LAXATIVE BROMO-QUININE TABLETS

This Signature E. W. Grove is on every box of LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. Accept no substitute represented to be "just as good."

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS IN THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA.

A GRIP CURE that DOES CURE!

Druggists refund the money if it fails to cure.
PRICE 25 CENTS

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA

will generally correct this difficulty.

If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

50c. and $1.00. all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

WABASH

GOING EAST.

No. 2	6:25 am—Daily
No. 10	1:15 pm—ex Su
No. 4	4:29 pm—Daily
No. 70 (local freight)	4:20 pm—ex Su

GOING WEST.

No. 1	10:21 am—Daily
No. 9 Except Sunday	6:07 pm—ex Su
No. 3	7:48 pm—Daily
No. 71, (local freight)	11:00 am—ex Su

All these trains stop for passengers.
For rates, tickets, time tables, etc. apply to I. M. ZENT, Agent, Auburn, Ind
Chas. M. Hays, V. Pres. and Gen't Manager.
C. S. Crane, Gen'l Pass'r and Ticket Agent

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—in Effect Nov. 13, 1898.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations	Mail	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne	11 45 am	4 50 pm	5 55 am
New Era	12 13 pm	5 17	6 40
Auburn Junction	12 25	5 28	7 10
Auburn	12 29	5 32	7 35
Waterloo	12 41	5 43	8 15
Summit	12 52	5 53	8 35
Steubenville	12 56	5 56
Pleasant Lake	1 03	6 03	8 56
Angola	1 13	6 14	9 35
Jackson	3 25	8 35	2 40

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations	Fre'gt	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson dp	5 55 am	11 30 am	7 15 am
Angola	11 00	2 19 pm	9 44
Pleasant Lake	11 35	2 29	9 55
Steubenville	.....	2 36	10 01
Summit	11 50	2 39	10 05
Waterloo	12 41 pm	2 55	10 23
Auburn	1 20	3 05	10 38
Auburn Junction	1 35	3 08	10 35
New Era	1 54	3 18	10 45
Fort Wayne	2 50	3 50	11 15

For rates on tickets or freight to all points call on or address E. T. DeLAPP, Agent Auburn.

Spain's Greatest Need.

Mr. R. P. Olivia, of Barcelona, Spain, spends his winters at Aiken, S. C. Weak nerves had caused severe pains in the back of his head. On using Electric Bitters, America's greatest Blood and Nerve remedy, all pains soon left him. He says this grand medicine is what his country needs. All America knows that it cures liver and kidney trouble, purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, strengthens the nerves, puts vim, vigor and new life into every muscle, nerve and organ of the body. If weak, tired or ailing you need it. Every bottle guaranteed, only 50 cents. Sold by H. B. McCord the Druggist.

Where are the Missing Coins?

There are, it is claimed, 109,900,000 old style copper pennies somewhere. Nobody knows what has become of them, except that once in a while a single specimen turns up in change. A few years ago 4,400,000 bronze 2-cent pieces were set afloat. Three millions of them are still outstanding, but are never seen. A million of 3 cent silver pieces are scattered over the United States, but it is very rarely that one comes across any of them. Of the 800,000 ½-cent pieces not one has been returned to the government for coinage or is held by the treasury.—Ex.

Miss Ida Green Dead.

Miss Ida Green who has for some weeks been lying in a critical condition at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Green, died this morning. It seem she had a severe attack of pneumonia which developed into quick consumption. She was a popular and worthy young lady and her untimely death is greatly lamented.

Lake Shore Excursion to Fort Wayne.

Account of Northern Indiana Teachers' Association to be held at Fort Wayne, Ind., March 30, to April 1, 1899, the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry., will sell excursion tickets to Fort Wayne and return at half rates, good going March 29 and 30 and returning until April 1.

COURT NEWS.

WEDNESDAY FORENOON.

Mrs. Emma Fish was called. Live at Garrett since last August Before that had cooked for Phil Water's at Junction. Bennie Fish is my only son. Was born at Union City, Mich. Came Christmas to see me. He came in February, soon after Miss Wilson came to work for me. He went away to look for work and was gone about a week, then returned on Thursday before the trouble occurred. Remember the two men came to my house. I was in kitchen, but when I heard loud talking I came in. When I stepped in Miss Wilson was writing. Miss Maxwell, in her room. Compton said this is our first visit and we are going to clean you out. Dutton said we'll show you how easy we can do it. Dutton took out a bottle, drank a big lot and wanted Compton to drink, but the latter refused, when Dutton began kicking over chairs. I asked them to keep quiet and said to Compton, you will not let your friend do this. I went out and got Bennie and asked him to come in and help. Dutton struck at him, he stepped back of me. Dutton struck him again, he fell on his knees, raised up his hand and Dutton struck again. As I ran into the girls' room, I heard a shot. I told the girls they will kill Bennie, and when we came out Dutton lay on the floor. I ran down town. Cross ex. by Rhoads. Only two girls were there, Sophie Maxwell and Laura Wilson. Bennie had gone to Garrett right after we had dinner, which was 3 p. m. and came back about 4. I had said to Miss Wilson, I will get the dinner and you can do the washing. That was how I came to be in the kitchen. Both did the loud talking, did not know who they were till then. I heard Miss Maxwell say, "Boys what makes you do that?" When I went in Dutton had kicked over the chair next to Miss Wilson. He had a bottle of whisky. Dutton drank, handed it to Compton. The latter refused and Dutton drank again. Did not see him offer any whisky to the girls. Miss W said, "these boys have been kicking me." Miss Maxwell was standing in the door to her room. The men were using vulgar talk about the girls. They said "We will clean the house out if we can't have things our own way." They were mad at the girls. I asked Compton to have him stop, but Compton said he would do as Dutton did. They were drunk when they came. When I had Bennie come in, I followed him. Dutton struck Bennie first over head or shoulders and B. threw up his hands and stepped backwards.

Dutton hit him again on head and said, "See me knock his brains out?" After third blow Bennie sank down, threw up his right hand, and said he has split my head. Dutton grabbed Bennie with his left hand, and poker in right hand to strike the fourth time. Then I heard a shot. I ran to the door of the girls room, door was locked. I turned and saw Dutton on floor. I ran out between the two, and called help. Did not see Compton then, but he had been looking on. Revolver lay on the floor. (She was shown the revolver. Thinks it is hers. She got it and the cartridges of a railroader who had lost his job, and pawned it to her for $1.) Did not talk to Peters, but told his wife we had trouble and must send for a doctor. I went down town. I think I picked up the revolver, and put it on the dresser. Gave it to the Marshal, when they were dressing Bennie's head.

Dr. Browand called. I dressed Bennie's head. Were two marks on hand where skin had been cut or bruised, and a cut on the head. Skull not broken. No other marks on head or neck. Complained his head ached.

Re-direct. marks on hand looked too large for finger nail. Ben held his hand up and said, I was hit there, too.

Laura Wilson called. I had been there about 4 weeks. Never saw Dutton or Compton till that day. It was after three. I had done the washing that day. I was working for Mrs. Fish. Miss Maxwell let them in, I was writing a letter. When the men were seated, Dutton wanted us to drink. The other man drank. Compton came over to me and kicked me twice and said put that d—m writing away. I told him to stop that. He kicked me again and said "You are game." Miss Maxwell then came into the room. Dutton said he was going to turn the house wrong side out and throw it out the window. Mrs. Fish came over and said you would not do that would you. He said I'll show you how game I am. Then she asked Compton if he would let his partner act so, and Compton said he was going to do as Dutton did. The latter asked Compton to drink, but he would not, so Dutton drank and said see how game I am. Then he kicked over a chair. Mrs. Fish went for Bennie. Dutton picked up the the poker and said see me knock out the brains of any s—n of a b——h that pokes his head in that door. Then he smashed the window with the poker. Bennie came in. Bennie said please don't act this way. Dutton said who in h—ll is running this house. Bennie said I am not but I will protect my mother. Dutton hit him over the head with the poker. Bennie staggered over the rocking chair and said "My God, don't hit me again." Mrs. Fish was in the room Bennie backed into the bedroom door. Dutton struck again, but don.t know whether he hit Bennie. Dutton put his hand into his right hand pocket and said, see me blow his brains out. Bennie came out with gun in left hand. When we saw revolver we ran into our room and locked door. Dollie said let us get out of here and began getting the window up. We heard one shot. We got out of window.

Cross-ex. by Pomeroy, brought out the fact she had been married but had not seen her husband for some time. Wilson is her maiden name. She worked for Mrs. Fish for $2 a week.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

Miss Wilson continued. When Compton kicked me it was on the ankle. After the shooting, we staid out doors till people began to come. The Marshal took us down town and locked up, Mrs. Fish, Miss Maxwell and Bennie, and myself. Bennie was soon taken out.

Miss Sophie Maxwell called. I met Mrs. Fish 3 years ago in Fort Wayne. I had been 11 weeks there when this happened. Compton and Dutton came about 4 or 4:30 to front door, I let them in. They were not invited in. They took seats, talked some, and Dutton asked us to drink. We refused. They drank and put bottle back in pocket and and went to taking rough. Miss Wilson had been writing. Dutton asked, "Why in h—l wont you take a drink?" They were drunk and staggered, kicked over chairs. Mrs. Fish came in and asked Dutton to be quiet, and asked Compton to make him behave, but Compton said he would do as Dutton did. When Bennie came in Dutton had just broken the window. Bennie told him he would have to pay for it. He hit Ben and Bennie staggered backtoward bedroom door. There was no shooting before the striking. When Bennie had gone into room Dutton told him he would blow his brains out if he came out. As Ben came out Dutton struck him with poker, on head once that I know of, and three times in all. We got into my room. Heard but one shot, soon after we got in bedroom. I was opening the window to get out A friend was paying my board there. When the men came, did not ask them their business. It was nothing to me. Don't know where Dutton got the poker from. When Bennie was struck he staggered to the bedroom, but stopped then started back got out about a step Dutton struck him. I said to May, let's get out. I did not see the gun. After we got in bedroom I fastened door. Then we raised east window and jumped out. Punched the wire screen out with my feet.

Miss Wilson recalled by defense. When we were getting bandages for Ben's head I saw the revolver on a stand Bennie Fish called. Am 19 July 22 Am defendant in this case. Was arrested evening of Feb. 27, about 8 p. m. Was up town that afternoon at 3 or 3:30 Went across to the railroad and then down town. Came back on the Auburn road. I got in and got my coat off, when my mother came in from other room and said go in and quiet them fellows, they are kicking things about and making a rough house. As I got in the room I saw Dolly Maxwell and Miss Wilson and the two men. Miss Wilson was telling one man to quit. Compton was near her. As I shut the door behind me, I saw the revolver lying on a stand, and put it in my pocket Just then Dutton broke the window. I told him to to stop. He said what in h—l is it your business? He struck me on the head, the blow falling down on to my shoulder. He hit me twice more. I had a felt hat on. Then he had me on my knees and had grasped my right hand, and raised to strike me saying. now G—d d—m you, I'll kill you. I got my revolver with my left hand and then shot him. I only fired that one shot. It was with my left hand.

Cross ex. After I came in the room where the men were, I got the gun because it was lying in plain sight and I was afraid the men would get it He was asked if he did not say at the inquest, that he did not know how many shots he had fired, and also that he did not know who killed Dutton. After some sparring by attorneys he replied he was not certain as to what he told then. When I shot Dutton he was following. I was trying to get away. I have not talked with other witnesses. Have been locked up all the time, but I heard the examination before the justice. Here the hat he wore when struck was shown, It had no cuts, but had blood inside.

Marshal Freese was called to prove that another bullet hole was found, and 'Squire Gage and Mr. Bell, to prove it was not a bullet hole, but a nail hole, This was to see whether Ben lied when he said he shot but once. All agreed no bullet went through the siding.

E, B, Thumma called. Am acting postmaster at Garrett. He remember that Mountz questioned Ben at the inquest. (Thumma is the man from whom Compton borrowed the $2 to go on that spree)

Coroner Campbell recalled, but added nothing new.

Here both sides rested and court adjourned to 8:30 Thursday.

THURSDAY,

At 8:30 the court was called and the arguments of attorneys began. Mr. Mountz made the first speech he being for the state, and then Mr. Sharpless for the defense. Then came the speech of Mr. Pomeroy for the state, concluded at noon. It was an able and eloquent address, and won him good opinions. In fact all these young men made able pleas. After noon, come Mr. Moody's address, which was able and exhaustive He made a good plea for the defendant. When he had finished the concluding argument was made by the Prosecutor, Mr. Rhoads.

As we close the paper Mr. Rhoads is still speaking. When he is done, the Judge will charge the jury and they will retire to come to consult as to a verdict. It is the opinion of most people that Fish will be acquitted.

Friday's Daily.

This afternoon at a little after 3 Mrs. Fish and Miss Wilson were brought into court Judge Hartman talked to the old lady, and she promised to do better. She said she had begun this life on last October, and she would now abandon it forever and lead a correct life. She was then given a fine of $15 for keeping a bad house. Miss Wilson was fined $5 for being an inmate of a house of ill repute. She still insists she was there to do housework. But she admitted she had a "friend" who would have come there in a few days, if this trouble had not occurred.

Bennie Fish was then brought in and sentenced It was an "indeterminate" sentence of 2 to 21 years. He was asked if he had anything to say, and said he had not.

Sheriff's Sale

By virtue of a certified copy of a decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, in a cause wherein Jared Freeman Housel is plaintiff and Marion F. Shutt and Lydia S. Shutt are defendants, requiring me to make the sum of Six Hundred and Eighty-Six Dollars and Four cents with interest on said decree and costs I will expose at PUBLIC SALE, to the highes bidder, on

Saturday, April 8, 1899,

between the hours of 10 o'clock a.m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the court house in Auburn, DeKalb county, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

The south one-half of the south one half of the north east quarter of section thirty-six (36) in in township thirty-three (33) north range twelve (12) east, in DeKalb county, Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs. Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws.

JOHN H. HATHAWAY,
Sheriff of DeKalb County, Indiana.
P. D. WEST,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

March 15, 1899.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of a certified copy of a decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, in a cause wherein Catharine Pfefferl, Henry P. Stroh and G. A. Bishop are plaintiffs and Anderson P. Small is defendant requiring me to make the sum of One Hundred and Seventy-six dollars and five cents, with interest on said decree and costs, I will expose at Public Sale to the highest bidder on,

Saturday, April 8, 1899

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m and 4 o'clock p. m., of said day, at the door of the Court House in Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to wit:

The undivided one half ½ of the north half of lot number Eight (8) in Kuhlman's second addition to the town of Auburn in DeKalb County Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs. Said sale will be without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws.

JOHN H. HATHAWAY,
Sheriff of DeKalb County Indiana.

D. M. Link, Attorney for plaintiff,
March 15, 1899

NOTICE TO NON-RESIDENTS

STATE OF INDIANA, } ss:
DEKALB COUNTY.

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, March term, 1899, Leroy Huffman is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said Court, for divorce by Isadora Huffman and that the same will be heard and determined on the 15th day of May 1899, being the 1st juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences May 15, 1899.

Witness, The Clerk of said Court this 15th day or March 1899.

MICHEL F. LONG, Clerk

C. M. Phillips Att'y. for estate.

GRAND RAPIDS & INDIANA RAILWAY CO

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railway Company, for the election of seven directors to serve for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of such other business as may be presented at the meeting, will be held at the general office of the company in Grand Rapids, Kent county, Mich., on Wednesday April 5th, 1899, at 10 o'clock a m Book, for the transfer of stock will be closed from March 26th 1899, until after the meeting.

10-13 R. R. METHEANY, Secretary.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Prevents Dandruff and hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

ALL WOMEN AGREE.

A druggist in Macon, Ga., says: "I have sold a large quantity of Mother's Friend, and have never known an instance where it has failed to produce the good results claimed for it. All women agree that it makes labor shorter and less painful."

Mother's Friend

is not a chance remedy. Its good effects are readily experienced by all expectant mothers who use it. Years ago it passed the experimental stage. While it always shortens labor and lessens the pains of delivery, it is also of the greatest benefit during the earlier months of pregnancy. Morning sickness and nervousness are readily overcome, and the liniment relaxes the strained muscles, permitting them to expand without causing distress. Mother's Friend gives great recuperative power to the mother, and her recovery is sure and rapid. Danger from rising and swelled breasts is done away with completely.

Sold by druggists for $1 a bottle.

THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO.
ATLANTA, GA.
Send for our free illustrated book for expectant mothers.

Thursday's Daily.

—Judge Powers of Angola transacted business in the city today.

—Dr. W. H. Madden, of Butler, is slightly better, with fair hopes of his recovery.

—WANTED:—Thirty cords of hard wood, 18 inches, split fine and delivered in August. Call on Charles Eckhart.

—Snow an inch deep this morning, March 23. And the flowers that bloom in the spring, tra, la, have nothing to do with the case.

—Mr. Ligget, the new court reporter was taken sick in court yesterday, and at times had to go and lie down. It was something like sick headache.

—We wish to give the attorneys in the murder trial credit for making a hard fight on both sides. Their work does them great credit. It was an unusual case in many ways.

—Attorney C. J. Coats and wife were over from Butler yesterday. He is look ing in much better health and his treatment at the asylum seems to have greatly benefited him. We certainly hope so.

—A drizzly rain of yesterday, turned to windy, wet snow storm at evening, and later turned cold, It looks as if the "equinoctial storm" is getting back to shedule time again. For many years it seemed to ignore its regular date.

—Mrs. John W. Baxter cames up from Indianapolis Tuesday, bringing word that her sister, Mrs. Judge McBride is quite sick, caused probably by the worry and work attending the fatal illness of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Chas. McBride.

—J. Sheer, Sedalia, Mo., conductor on electric street car line, writes that his little daughter was very low with the croup, and her life saved after physicians had failed, only by using One Minute Cough Cure. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—We were well pleased today to have a call from Will Snell, just home from Cuba, where he had gone with his regiment, the 20th regulars. Bert Ricard who is in another company of the same regiment, was well when he came away. Will is looking well now, though he had a seige of malaria after reaching Cuba. It is evident he was a good soldier or he would not be a sergeant in the regular army. He likes the service as long as he can be in the United States, but don't like the climate or people of Cuba. He will remain at home for a time He visited with his brother Charlie on his way home through Logansport.

Friday's Daily.

—Miss Mollie Wilson is visiting friends at Butler.

—Gen. W. J. McKee will be in command of the new national guard of this state.

—Commissioners of Scott county have granted petitions to construct 25 miles of new road.

—Slot machines in Kokomo were confiscited by the marshal, Tuesday, and turned into junk.

—E. D. McCaslin, a farmer near Scottsburg, Ind, has produced a new variety of wheat.

—Father Juraschek of Summit was a caller yesterday in company with Father Dandurand.

—The grand jury at English returned 78 bills, 53 of which were against persons keeping untaxed dogs.

—The Lady Maccabees will give an Easter and Pink Tea social in their hall a week from Saturday night.

—Thirty students were suspended from the Terre Haute high school, for disturbing the annual school concert.

—WOOD WANTED:—At this office All who were to pay us in wood are requested to bring it as soon as they can, as we need it.

—Wm. H. Buss who has been living on a farm near Sedan, moved Wednesday in the Kruse property on North Douglas st, which he recently purchased.

—Before the discovery of One Minute Cough Cure, ministers were greatly disturbed by coughing congregations. No excuse for it now. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—Prof. Chas. Sembower of Garrett, now connected with the State University at Bloomington, Ind., was the guest this week for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lackey.

—Have you noticed the cute sign in M. E. Garrett's grocery window. We mean the revolving wheel. It is the invention of Roy Garrett, who is developing quite a knack for this sort of work.

—Hancock county will sue Shelby county for fees in the Singmaster horse case. Through some mistake, the cost of change of venue was paid to Shelby county twice, and Hancock now wants the amount refunded.

—For a quick remedy and one that is perfectly safe for Children let us recommend One Minute Cough Cure. It is excellent for croup, hoarseness, tickling in the throat and coughs. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—The COURIER has had many compliments for its full and impartial report of the Fish-Dutton murder case, and the fact that extra copies were in demand all the week, sometimes exceeding the supply, shows that our labors in this direction were appreciated.

—There are but seventeen of the common commodities which are not now in the hands of a trust and it is probably only a question of time when they too will be included in the list. They are the following: Cut flowers, spectacles, millinery, coffee and tea, vegetables, fruits, (except prunes) pies and cakes, eggs, butter and cheese, poultry and game, watches and jewelry.

Saturday's Daily.

—Ask any druggist for a free Peruna Almanac for the year 1899.

—Bro. Weamer of the Hudson Banner is aggitating street lights for that place.

—Isaac Shaffer, of Bryon, O., was a caller today and advanced his subscription to April 20, 1899.

—It appears that to be sentenced to the Reformatory at Jeffersonville, a person must be under 30.

—A Foster has moved from near the Junction to a farm near Newville, which he bought recently.

—St. Joe has taken action toward securing a canning factory. They are hustlers in the south east part of the county.

—Bert Baker who is employed in a bakery at Hicksville, Ohio, is here to attend the funeral of his brother Walter.

—Senator Heller of Columbia City, was here yesterday visiting Senator Nusbaum. He says Columbia City has as deep mud as Auburn.

—There is talk now of calling a special session of the Legislature, as there appears to be a conflict in some of the laws recently passed.

—Mrs. L. Schnictenberg who has been detailed to go to Manila to take charge of the hospital, will spend the day in Fort Wayne tomorrow.

—Mrs. Hattie Preston of Jackson, Mich., reached here this forenoon, being called by the sudden and awful death of her brother, Walter Baker.

—Wm. Ensley, one of the jurors in the Fish case, was a caller at this office yesterday. He is on the regular panel and will have to do considerable service yet.

—W. B. Brown went to Chicago yesterday, and will remain over Sunday with Mrs. Brown's sister, Mrs M. I. Dawson. The latter will soon leave for the west.

—Senator Newton W. Gilbert is being talked of as the Republican candidate for Governor. He was captain of the Angola company in the Spanish-American war.

—Sophie Maxwell was also fined yesterday before she went home with her father to Busco. It was on a plea of guilty to the same charge as that against May Wilson.

—Benj. F. Smith and Sarah Vinson both colored, were married in Angola Tuesday afternoon. This was the first marriage of negro people in that county. No such weddings has occurred in this county for many years.

—Mrs Dr. Johnson returned yesterday from her visit with her people at Columbia City. She was called there by the sickness of her father and brings word that he is still in a serious condition. He is over eighty.

—Mrs. Chas Molter, of Lagrange, who confessed to poisoning her two children and trying to poison her husband and herself last Wednesday, is still living. Her husband is prostrated and the people are greatly excited. Mrs. Molter is about 35 years old and, it is believed, she is insane.

—A special to the Fort Wayne Journal from McComb, Ohio, states that at two o'clock this morning the town is threatened with destruction by a fire which started in the hotel at midnight. Seven buildings have allready been consumed, an the fire is spreading. Neighboring places have been asked for assistance to fight the fire.

—The Editor and wife started today for Laporte near which is to be a reunion of the family. It is hoped that all may meet once more, an event that has not happened for many years. They will return early in the week In the meantime, if the COURIER should be a little more interesting than usual, this item will furnish the reason.

—For frost bites, burns, indolent sores eczema, skin disease, and especially Piles, DeWitt's Witch Hazel salve stands first and best. Look out for dishonest people who try to immitate and counterfeit it. It's their endorsement of a good article. Worthless goods are not imitated. Get DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Fischler & Son and H B. McCord.

—The new dog law provides that all dogs that are alive on April 1, will cost their owners one dollar each. Last year if a man did not want to pay for his dog he could take him out in the brick yard, shoot him, and thus satisfy the assessor. This year it is different. If the dog is breathing on April 1, the dollar will have to be paid, no matter if the dog dies the next minute. So owners should be prepared to "cough up" the dollar by April 1, or get rid of the dog by that date.

AUBURN IND., March 25, 1899.

Mr. T. C. Ford, Master Workman, Auburn Lodge No. 12, A. O. U. W.

DEAR SIR: I desire to acknowledge the receipt of payment of the Beneficiary Certificate, carried by my late husband in your Order. Coming as it does, at this time, when then the hand that provided for our wants is no longer with us; is very acceptable, I cheerfully reccommend your Noble Order to all who desire or need such protection.

MRS. JANE APPLEGATE.

—There are several unusually large sugar camps in the eastern part of Steuben county, in and about the region known fifty years ago as "The Powers Settlement." Homer Robinson and Wm. Foster each have 800 trees tapped. Ed. Gundrum has 700, Emory Powers and Charlie Stevens 500 each, and M. F. Rose 330. All the camps are equipped with evaporators and other moderd apparatus, making the work easier and the products much cleaner and better than they were when cauldron kettles and open fires were used, as was the case in early times.

Pleurisy

Pleurisy and pneumonia are frequently developed, in a very short space of time, from a common cold; and, if such an acute inflammation of the lungs is not promptly allayed, the worst may happen. With the aid of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, however, you need not have any fear; for this great remedy speedily subdues the inflammation, eases the pain in breathing and always effects a cure in a wonderfully short time.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup

Cures Pleurisy and Pneumonia.
Doses are small and pleasant to take. Doctors recommend it. Price 25 cts. At all druggists.

Peculiar Delay.

The Angola Magnet this week has this concerning a delay of burial. The interment of the remains of the late Samuel W. Brown, of Salem township, whose funeral took place in Flint Wednesday afternoon, was delayed till 8:30. p. m., by reason of unexpected obstacles and exasperating mishaps. Stones formerly sunk for a moument foundation were encountered, and later a cavin in of the sides made the task so much bigger than had been anticipated that the grave which was to have been completed at 4 o'clock, was not ready for the casket till 8:30.

An Ounce of Preventative.

Is worth a pound of cure. Try a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and, if properly taken, it will positively prevent rheumatism or any other kindred trouble arising from a torpid condition of the bowels, liver and kidneys. Trial sizes 10 cents, other size 50 cents and $1. of Davenport.

Mott's Nerverine Pills

BEFORE AND AFTER USING.

The great remedy for nervous prostration and all nervous diseases of the generative organs of either sex, such as Nervous Prostration, Failing or lost Manhood, Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Youthful Errors, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco or Opium, which lead to Consumption and Insanity. $1.00 per box by mail; 6 boxes for $5.00.
MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Prop's, Cleveland, Ohio.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

FARMERS' WIVES

or any other ladies who wish to work

Can Earn Lots of Money

working for us in spare time at home on our cloths. We offer you a good chance to make plenty of spending money easily, leisure hours. Send 12c. for cloth and full directions for work, and commence at once. Cloth sent anywhere. Address
WINOOSKET CO. (311-M) Boston Mass
Mfg. Dept

Preserves

—fruits, jellies, pickles or catsup are more easily, more quickly, more healthfully sealed with Refined Paraffine Wax than by any other method. Dozens of other uses will be found for in every household. It is clean, tasteless and odorless—air, water and acid proof. Get a pound cake of it with a list of its many uses from your druggist or grocer.

Refined Paraffine Wax

Sold everywhere. Made by STANDARD OIL CO.

WE GIVE ANY LADY

or man, who will take orders for our Leghorn Hen Food, in their own town,

A SOLID GOLD WATCH, FREE

We make this offer for a short time, in order to get our Food into more general use. It increases yield of eggs, and keeps fowl in good health. Send us 50c. for a regular $1.00 size box, and begin to take orders at once.

Pamphlet, with more information about hens, sent on receipt of self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address
Leghorn Food Co. (311-M) Boston, Mass.

PILES

Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment will cure Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles. It absorbs the tumors, allays the itching at once, acts as a poultice, gives instant relief. Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is prepared for Piles and Itching of the private parts. Every box is warranted. By druggists, by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents and $1.00. WILLIAMS MANUFACTURING CO., Props. Cleveland, Ohio.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

City Comforts for Country Homes

CHEAPER AND BETTER THAN ELECTRICITY, CITY GAS, OIL LAMPS
Will light the house, cook, broil, roast, bake, wash, iron, heat rooms, pump water supply, run gas engines etc.
Send for free Catalogue
LIGHT FOR EVENING HOURS.
DETROIT HEATING and LIGHTING CO.
DETROIT • • • MICH.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXIX | Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, April 6, 1899. | Number 14.

BANK First National
Auburn, Ind.
Capital Stock and Surplus
$60,000
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money to Loan.
CHARLES McCLELLAN, President.
D. A. GARWOOD, Cashier.

Physicians T.G.Matheny,M D J.B.Casebeer, M.D
Matheny & Casebeer
have again associated them selves in the practice of Medicine, Surgery & Obstetrics. Office On 9th St.
Western 'Phone:
Office ..... No. 9
Matheny,s residence ..... " 88
Casebeer's " ..... " 175

DENTIST S. B. JOHNSTON,
Office Over Pioneer Hardware Store,
Auburn, Indiana
First-class material and scientific workmanship employed. Prices reasonable.
Western 'Phone:
Residence ..... No. 27

BANK Farmers,
Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres J. C. Henry, V-Pres.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

Physicians D. J. Swarts, M. D Vesta W. Swarts, M D
and SURGEONS
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets,
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western ..... No. 19
Central Union ..... No. 19

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN,
Auburn, Ind.
Office in Gandy Building. Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Specialty

F. V. HOFFMAN,
LAWYER,
Auburn, Indiana
OFFICE over Hebel's Grocery.

DR. Z. H. STAMETS,
Physcian & Surgeon.
OFFICE OVER FISCHLER & SON'S DRUG STORE
In the National Bank Block, across the hall south from the office so long occupied by Casebeer & Matheny.
Calls Answered At All Hours.

I. O. BUCHTEL, HOMEOPATHIC
Physician and Surgeon.
Special attention given to chronic and Obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Madden Bros Marble Works. Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, day or night.

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Deeds & Titles,
AUBURN, IND.
Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

A Busy Man
writes us a business letter highly complimenting us for the honest-make and durable harness we turn out. We endeavor to please our patrons by giving them goods made of only the best material. We make a specialty of Harness Repairing.
We carry a full line of stock and poultry food, flour, etc. When in need of anything in our line, call on us. Ninth street, south of jail.
CARMER & GILL.
Western 'Phone 148.

MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS

They overcome Weakness, Irregularity and omissions, Increase vigor and banish "pains of menstruation." They are "Life Savers" to girls at womanhood, aiding development of organs and body. No known remedy for women equals them. Consult our Lady Physician. Sent by mail. Sold by druggists. MOTT CHEMICAL CO., Cleveland, O.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

THE J. P. COURT

The Magistrate of the Township Have a Busy Season

It is a poor week when the Auburn courts cannot run on two tracks. We mean the circuit court and the J. P. Courts. The past week proves this.

Last Saturday Frank Shaver, a Waterloo saloon keeper was called up before his Honor, 'Squire Walborn, on a charge of selling liquor to minors. He plead guilty and was assessed a fine of $20 and trimmings. Pomeroy led for the state and Moody was for the defense.

The same day Ed. Huffman, of the Junction, was called up to the same place, by the same prosecutor, but on a charge a little "otherwise." It was for running a saloon with an "Open Door" on Sunday. There were two charges and he plead guilty to both. It was fixed at $10 and frills for each case. These two will knock Ed. out of the box the next time he asks the county dads for a license

At the same court, and "by the same" as a marriage notice would read, but on a different day, Monday, Huffman's barkeeper was hauled over the coals on a compound charge of having sold liquor on Sunday, to a minor. He acknowledged the "soft impeachment" and had to add $20 to the common school, fund besides the usual amount of flounces and furblows, greatly reducing his pile of small change.

Also at the same time, and place, and by the same attorneys on both sides came Phil Waters, of the Junction, who was accused of having sold a lot of "oh be joyful" on Sunday. Luckily he has a mascot to help him out, In this case, it was his wife, who being quite sick, the kind hearted 'Squire told Phil. he might wait and have the case called up later, when Mrs Waters should be so far recovered as to be able to keep up the kitchen fires in Phil's absence at court.

Frank Deveny on West 7th-st. was accused of selling liquor wihout a license. It appears to have happened this way: He would close his saloon at the proper hours, and then he would invite his patrons, including two or three Auburn young men who are supposed to be above such business into a near by room, where they could play cards, etc, and while there it is said, he furnished them beer. But he had no right to sell beer in any room, but the one named in his license. The witnesses swore they did not know what time it was. A motion to quash the affidavit was made, but his honor couldn't see it that way. Then came an affidavit for a change of venue from the township, this being an effort to keep the case from either Walborn or Walter. Prosecutor Pomeroy, however, did not like the idea of chasing the case over the county in these bad roads, so he dismissed the case before the justice and at once filed an information in the circuit court, and the matter will come up on Monday, April 10, when the jury meets again.

Altogether, our justice courts are trotting pretty even with the Filipino war. And the justices, like, Uncle Sam, seem in the right humor to "Soc et tu um."

Found a Revoiver

Today, two little lads, Edmund Richards and Paul Trout were putting in their vacation at the barn, when playing and climbing about they found a revolver, lying on one of the timbers of the barn It was apparently a good one and had several loads in it How it came there is not known. One theory is, that it may have been left there by tramps who staid over night in the barn and went off and forgot it. Another is that it may have been left there by the Dago, Mr. Rose, the man who kept the fruit store in the John Leasure buiding on West 7th-st. He had kept his horse in Mrs. Richards' barn for some time. At all events the two lads are feeling rich over their find.

The Passover,

The Jewish Passover will begin Saturday at sunset and last a week. Unleavened bread will be the chief food used by orthodox Jews everywhere. "And it shall come to pass, when your children shall say unto you, what mean ye by this service? That ye shall say, It is the sacrifice of the Lord's Passover, who passed over the houses of the children of Israel in Egypt, when he smote Egyptians, and delivered our houses."—Exodus XII, 26-27.

Lingering La Grippe Cough Cured.

Mr. G. VACHER, 157 Osgood St., Chicago. My wife had a severe case of La grippe three years ago and left her with a very bad cough. She tried a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it gave immediate relief. A 50-cent bottle cured her cough entirely. Now we are never without a bottle of this wonderful Cough Medicine in the house. 25 and 50 cents.

Cow For Sale.

Two years-old and 3 fresh. Call on J. W. Metcalf 2½ miles east of Auburn.

THE CUTAWAY FROCK

THREE-BUTTON CUTAWAY
Copyright, 1899
By Hart, Schaffner & Marx

You ought to be particular when you buy a cutaway suit. This style of garment is meant to be dressy. It must have careful workmanship and tailoring. The graceful lines and perfect fit of our Hart, Schaffner & Marx cutaways make them popular with good dressers. A man looks well in one of them and the materials are the best that money will buy. This is the label:

HART, SCHAFFNER & MARX
H.S.&M.
GUARANTEED CLOTHING.

When you get CLOTHING that pleases you IN EVERY way you are sure to have a good word to say for the Firm that sold you the CLOTHING. Here lies the secret of our finely increasing CLOTHING BUSINESS. Every Garment coming into our store is thoroughly examined before it goes into our stock. Any garment with which we are not perfectly satisfied goes back to the manufacturer. The consequence is that the goods we sell are our best advertisement.

This system not only applies to our Clothing, but to our Dry Goods, Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishings, Carpets and Curtains as well.

Couple this fact with the fact that we have the largest and handsomest assortment of these goods shown in this section of the state and you can form some idea of the advantages gained in making our store your trading place. We are adding many new customers each week.

We invite you to visit our store often, compare our merchandise and prices with what you see elsewhere.

We Are Saving You Money.

SCHAAB & BRO.,

Auburn, Indiana.

Sheriff'S Sale.

By virtue of a certified copy of a Decree to me directed from the clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, in a cause wherein Harriett D. Ober is plaintiff and Thomas Broderick, Mary D. Broderick and Henry P. Stroh are defendants requiring me to make the sum of eight hundred and ninety-nine dollars and twenty-three cents, with interest in said decree and costs, I will expose at Public sale, to the highest bidder, on

Saturday, April 29, 1899

between the hours of 10 o'clock A.M. & 4 o'clock P. M. of said day, at the door of the court house in Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate towit:

Lots forty-nine (49) fifty (50) fifty one (51) fifty-two (52) and fifty-three (53) in Kuhlman's first addition and lots one (1) six (6) seven (7) and twelve (12) in Brandon's Addition; all of said lots being in the town of Auburn, in DeKalb County in the State of Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs. Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws.

JOHN H. HATHAWAY,
Sheriff of DeKalb County, Indiana.

March 28, 1899.
J. E. & J. H. Rose, attorney for plaintiff

Pains in the Back Cured.

A. B. FARRINGTON, Constantia' N. Y. writes: I was troubled several years with kidney disease and suffered severe pains in the back. I used Foley's Kidney Cure and one bottle cured me. I recommended it to my friends it has given perfect satisfaction.

When the Emperor Rides.

The German Emperor's private train, in which he travels over the German railways, is a very comfortable affair. There are nine carriages, each of which cost between $10,000 and $15,000. Outside these are painted in blue and cream and gold. There is a saloon carriage for the Emperor and another for the Empress, besides kitchen, dining and luggage cars, a saloon for the suite, and another for the servants. Finally, there is a carriage containing tools and workmen, to make any small repairs that may happen to be required on the journey.

Politeness.

There is no external expression of politeness that has not its root in the moral nature of man. Forms of politeness, therefore, should never be inculcated on young persons without letting them understand the moral ground on which all such forms rest.

Happiness.

Who is the happiest person? He whose nature asks for nothing that the world does not wish and use.

Watches Free to Young People.

The firm of Forshee & Co., Ink Manufacturers, Cincinnati, Ohio, have adopted a novel plan for the introduction of their New Idea Writing Ink. They are giving away a fine stem winding and stem setting watch to each boy and girl who sells twenty-four pints of their New Idea Writing Ink at the introduction price of ten cents a pint (ink is worth 50 cents) They don't want you to send money, simply mention that you saw the notice in this paper and they will forward you the ink prepaid, and when it is sold, you send them the $2.40 you get for it, then they send you the watch free (prepaid.) This is a splendid opportunity for some of our young people to easily earn a watch. They also have other valuable presents for the introduction of their inks. We intend to use the inks in our office.

EVERY-DAY HEROISM!

Struggling through life, cursed with catarrh, is a common experience. However heroic the fight catarrh generally wins.

Under some name or other it gets the best of us. Frank E. Ingalls, Waco, Tex., and thousands of others have been permanently cured of catarrh by Dr. Hartman's successful remedy Pe-ru-na. Here is Mr. Ingalls' letter:

Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, O.

DEAR SIR:—"Pe-ru-na and Man-a-lin have cured me of one of the worst cases of catarrh any one ever had. My case was so severe that I was compelled to discontinue my business, that of conductor on a railroad; but I am now entirely well."

Ordinary treatment of catarrh is for local relief. Cures are not expected. Dr. Hartman's method eradicates catarrh absolutely. Get his latest book and learn how to combat this insidious disease. The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O., will mail Dr. Hartman's books free on application.

H. A. Scott, Burt, Tenn., writes: "I feel very thankful to my Maker and your great medicine that I am cured. I would not be without Pe-ru-na in the house."

Pe-ru-na has been curing catarrh for forty years. It plucks out the roots of catarrh and builds people up. All druggists sell it.

COURT NEWS.

In the J. W. Clark Case now going on. Clark's attorneys are Croxton and Powers of Angola, and Wickwire of Ashley, and James H. Rose of Auburn. The attorneys for the two plaintiffs, Mrs. D. Gonser and Daniel Frick are, Wm. Brown and J. F. Shuman of Angola, and Judge Roby of Auburn. The nature of this case was given yesterday. There is a hard fight being made on both sides and it will propably last all day tomorrow. There is no jury.

Henry Hamm was given a divorce from Zorah Hamm.

Katie Fisher was given a divorce from Charles Fisher, and custody of the two children.

—The commissioners appointed to divide the real estate of the Simons estate in Butler township have reported, and the report was approved and the partition ordered.

The case of C. B. Jones vs Martha H. Conrad and R. D. Conrad on note and attachment, resulted in a judgement for $112.97 for Jones and property ordered sold.

The damage case of Mrs. Haskins against the town of Butler has been dismissed, as it did not seem to amount to enough to make a case.

Yesterday a divorce was granted to J. W. Click from his wife Mary J. Click.

The Etna Insurance Company vs Jacob and Rebecca Gratz, gave plaintiff a judgment of $1,252.28 and foreclosure.

Petition of George Grund for the adoption of the little child, Ruth Rush was granted and odoption ordered.

After Judge Adair has finished the Clark case, he will go on with another, the case of White vs the Garrett Engine and Machine Co., on account.

OLDER THAN THE CENTURY.

Philadelphia Dances One Hundred and Fifty Years Old.

The Philadelphia assemblies are the most ultra-exclusive of the social entertainments in America. The assembly is just 150 years old, and its door, difficult to enter except with the passport of birthright, is, and always has been, the only one that leads to Philadelphia society. It has always been exclusive from its birth, and one of its early contentions was based on the question of the eligibility for membership of persons "in trade." Invitations to the assemblies of colonial days were not infrequently printed on the back of a playing card decorated with the jack of hearts or the queen of clubs, other stationery frequently being unobtainable. The cost of the early assembles amounted to about $37, which sum covered the outlay for candles, snuffers, music and refreshments, while each of the assemblies now involves the expenditure of at least $10,000. As in former years, there is always a group of patronesses who know everybody and keep an oversight of all that takes place. There is also a committee that takes charge of all preliminary arrangements. As has been the custom for years, these two committees diped previously to the ball. Those who formed the committees were: Mrs James Logan Fisher, Mrs. Alexander Van Rensselaer, Mrs. George McCall, Mrs. De Grasse Fox, Mrs. S. Pemberton Hutchinson and Mrs. Francis Edward Bond, patronesses, and Richard L. Ashhurst, Henry Brinton Coxe, Jr., R. H. Bayard Bowie, Owen Wister, J. Percy Keating and John Cadwalader, managers.

Indiana Soldiers at the Front.

(Kendallville Daily Sun)

One Indiana man was killed in the fight at Manila last Saturday and Sunday, while four were wounded. The dead man was Clarence Watts, of the Third Artillery, whose home was at Cloverdale. The wounded men were Alfred Harlow and Herman Werner, of Indianapolis, Ollie Miller of Lebanon and Thomas A. Garvin, whose home is unknown. All of them were sent to Manila last June from the recruiting station in Indianapolis. Captain Black estimates that fully 150 Indiana men must have taken part in the fighting of Sunday.

In the Peach Belt.

Buchanan Record:—Mr. James R. White, who is one of our prominent fruit growers, has been very successful in raising peaches. He has had a fine orchard of fifteen hundred thrifty trees, but he informed a Record representative that his entire orchard was killed by the recent severe cold weather, not a single tree remaining alive. Mr. White also states that every orchard he has visited shows practically the same result.

Volcanic Eruptions

Are grand, but Skin eruptions rob life of joy. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, cures them, also Old, running and Fever Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Felons, Corns, Warts, Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Chapped Hands Chilblains Best Pile cure on earth. Drives out Pains and Aches. Only 25 cents a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by H. B. McCord the Druggist.

A Rare Occasion.

Only one out of every 1,000 married people live to celebrate their golden wedding day.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
Makes the food more delicious and wholesome
ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Deaf Mute

Men point me out as smitten by God's frown;
Afflicted and deserted of the church—
Yet I am not cast down
I am weak, yet strong.

I murmur not that I so deaf should be Poor, dumb and helpless I the more belong
Father Supreme; to thee,
O, merciful friend

When brothers are farthest then Thou art most near.
When old friends by my weakness shun
The chariot I hear
His heavenly voice,

Is sounding in my ear; and its holy sound
Brings peace and makes my lonely heart rejoice
That I such joy have found,
On my bended knee,

I recognize thy purpose clearly shown,
My hearing thou hast stunned, that I may be,
With thee thyself alone,
O I seem to stand

Trembling, where the foot of mortal ne'er hath been Wrapped in the radjance of Thy sinless land
Which eyes hath never seen
It is nothing now

When heaven is opening to deligh' my eyes
When airs from paradise refresh my brow
The earth in darkness lies
In a purer clime

My being fills with rapture, waves of thought
Roll in upon my spirit strains sublime
Break over me unsought.
Give me now my voice
I feel the stirrings of a gift divine
Within my bosom glows an unearthly desire
Lit by no skill of mine

S. J. D.

Sugar Beet Seed.

A quantity of fine sugar beet seed for free distribution has been secured from the government by the Purdue university agricultural experiment station. It will be given to Indiana farmers, as long as it lasts, in amounts sufficient to plant from one-half to one-eighth of an acre. With the seed will be sent directions for raising beets. Applications should describe the kind of land it is proposed to plant the seed in. The bulletin issued by the station says that much capital is being invested in Michigan because of a bounty offered there, but that the bounty rate will soon decrease and then, it is predicted, capital will seek the best parts of Indiana for beet culture.

Fighting in Samoa

A dispatch from Samoa, via Australia says we have had to fight some in that distant heathen land. On the 23d of March, the British and American warships there, landed some men to help protect their consuls and other subjects. These were attacked and a battle ensued. Our ship and the British ships shelled the native insurgents on shore. We lost one killed and the British two. The trouble is caused by the Germans backing up a man for king, who was not elected. The British and Americans backed another man, giving him two votes of the three powers that have agreed to keep order there.

What Tommy Atkins Gets to Eat.

The British soldier is the best-fed individual of his class in Europe. He receives for his daily rations sixteen ounces of bread, twelve ounces of meat, two ounces of rice, eight ounces of dried vegetables, sixteen ounces of potatoes, and once a week he receives two ounces of salt, four ounces of coffee and nine ounces of sugar.

Arsenic Not Allowed.

In Sweden yarn is not allowed to be sold if it contains .0009 per cent of arsenic. A carpet has been condemned by the inspectors because it contained 1000 part of a grain of arsenic in sixteen square inches.

What a Mother Says

Decatur, Ill., March 2. 1897.

Gentlemen:—For Constipation I would cheerfully recommend your Syrup Pepsin. My little girl, aged 8 months, had been troubled since birth with Constipation and reading of your remedy I concluded to try it, and I recommend it highly to mothers for inmediate relief. Only two ten cent bottles cured my baby. MRS. C. FLOURY.

Removing Hats at the Theater.

Here is a scheme that the manager uses at his theater in Portland, Ore.: After the orchestra has finished the overture, a neat sign rises to the view of the audience from the floor of the stage. It shows these magic words: "This is the proper time for ladies to remove their hats." And if they are not already off, the sign works wonders.

Glad Tidings to Asthma Sufferers

Foley's Honey and Tar gives quick and positive relief. It is the greatest remedy for diseases of the respiratory organs like Asthma, Bronchitis and Hoarseness.

Not a Bed of Roses.

(Steuben Republican)

One of the most trying and often thankless positions a man can occupy is that of township trustee. No matter how carefully and honestly he transacts the business of his township, there are always people who will find fault and often go so far as to question his motives. Matters of interest to the public constantly claim his attention and require his decision, but the question as to where and how to bestow charity is perhaps the most perplexing. In every township there are a few worthy poor people for whom it is a duty and pleasure to provide, but there are others, who as a rule, are most importunate, that are not so worthy of help, and it rests with the trustee to decide. Some people have come to think that the township owes them a living and as a result they ask for help every winter, while to all appearances they are as able to work as many others who never think of being aided in this way. Harm results from giving to such people, so the question of giving wisely is ever present with the conscientious township trustee.

To Make Life Happy

Sweet music appeals to the heart and soul and lightens many of life's burdens. If you have ever heard the sweet-toned STEGER PIANO you will appreciate this. To reach the highest standard of excellence has always been the aim in the manufacture of the CELEBRATED STEGER PIANO. Only the best material is used; insuring great durability. Every piano fully guaranteed.

The Steger factories, thoroughly equipped with the best and most improved machinery, located at Steger, Ill., are among the largest in the West.

Intending purchasers will find it profitable to write for full descriptive catalogue, which will be mailed free, upon applicatien. STEGER & Co. (Established 1879). Chicago, Ill.

Auburn Normal

Auburn will have a Summer Normal beginning June 12. The work will be adapted especially to teachers wishing to review and those preparing to teach. Instruction will be given also in any higher studies that may be desired. It will be our aim to make this school profitable to our students and worthy of their patronage and we know it to be the opinion of the County Superintendent that such a school should be held.

For information address H. G. Brown Secretary, or any other instructor.

Instructors { B. B. Harrison, H. G. Brown, Mrs. E. M. Richards.

6tf

Teachers' Association

The Teachers of North Indiana had the largest attendance of their Fort Wayne meeting ever known in the state, reaching an enrollment of 2292. It has only been a few years since the State Association had to be divided, and now it looks as if the halves will soon be too large to be accommodated at any one town. It might also be noted that one of Auburn's popular teachers was honored with an important position. Mrs. E. M. Richards was unanimously elected secretary for the coming year.

Like Camphene.

A woman at Hagerstown, this state had a bad tooth and tried bandages on her face, soaked with whisky and camphor. Then she lay down on a lounge with her head near the stove and fell asleep when the fumes of the combined whisky and camphor, caught fire and she came near losing her life. It was the camphor that did it as the combination was something like camphene which is very explosive.

What a Druggist Says

SEWARDSON, Ill., Aug. 5, 1897.

Gents:—Will say that I have used your Syrup Pepsin in my family and consider it the best medicine for stomach and bowel troubles that I have ever used. The ten cent bottle idea of advertising, as it gives one a trial with a small outlay of money, is sure to bring good results. Respectfully,

T. N. ROBINSON, DRUGGIST.

New Blacksmith Shop.

I have located at the H. C. Shull blacksmith shop, formerly J. W. Shaffer's on South Main st. Will do general blacksmithing, horse-shoeing, etc. Horse-shoeing a specialty. My work for your money. My prices are right. 35 cents for old shoes and 60 for new ones. Call on me. L. E. Homsher.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1899. APRIL. 1899.

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30

L. Q. 3rd. N. M. 10th. F. Q. 17th. F. M 25th.

HISTORY OF A WEEK.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS OF THE WORLD.

News of Crimes and Criminals, Accidents, Fires, Etc., from North, South, East and West, Sandwiched with Minor Affairs.

STEAMER WRECKED.

Two Hundred and Twenty Passengers Drowned.

Southampton special: The passenger steamer Stella, plying between this port and the Channel Islands, crashed upon the dreaded Casquet rocks, near the Island of Alderney, in a dense fog, and foundered in ten minutes, her boilers exploding with a tremendous report as she went down. In spite of this, it is said, there was no panic on board. The coasting steamer Lynx, which brought news of the disaster here, picked up four boats and forty persons belonging to the Stella.

It is estimated that 120 of the passengers and crew were drowned.

The second officer of the steamer, who was among the rescued, says that a collapsable boat was launched full of people, but he thinks she struck on the rocks, owing to the fog.

Business Conditions.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Business does not continue to improve. The check is partly the result of the heavy buying since January to anticipate the market, and partly caused by the uncertainty about the operation of many combinations, and a shade of doubt about foreign affairs.

A new rule of the clearing house banks at New York about the taxation of country checks also causes some shifting of accounts. The period of transition from one ownership to another, when it affects many hundreds of establishments throughout the country, inevitably causes some hesitation in business.

A little later many hundred concerns may be doing more business than ever, as they were just before the combinations were effected. But at the point of transition nobody knows just what to expect. The failures for the first quarter of 1899 have been in liabilities about $26,680 330, against $31,710,142 last year; $48,007,910 in 1897, and $57,525,185 in 1896.

A Missouri Hanging.

E. Bates Soper was hanged at Harrisonville, Mo. He refused to have any spiritual consoler. Soper fell seven feet, breaking his neck. The execution was witnessed by forty persons. Soper slept soundly and when he awoke declared himself ready. He waived the reading of the death warrant, mounted the scaffold firmly, and when the Sheriff asked if he had anything to say, he replied: "All is ready." The crime for which he was executed was the murder of his wife and their two daughters, aged 4 and 6 years.

Woman and Her Son Beaten and Cut

At Empire, Ohio, three men broke down the door of Mrs. Jane Willis' residence, beat her badly on the head and cut her son Dick terribly. His face was laid open nearly five inches. They called for assistance which came, but the assailants escaped. An aged relative of Mrs. Willis was visiting her. She was reported to have $600 cash. Robbery was the supposed object.

Aimed at Farmers.

Articles of incorporation of the United Fruit Company, with an authorized capital of $20,000,000, has been filed with the Secretary of State of New Jersey. The company is to do a general business as merchants, planters and farmers, and to grow, manufacture and deal in produce, merchandise and property of all kinds.

Czar's Peace Congress.

Ex-Secretary of State Olney and John Bassett Moore, Assistant Secretary of State under Judge Day, are mentioned as the probable civilian members of the American representation to the Czar's peace congress.

Wreck at Richmond, Ind.

The St. Louis fast mail crashed into the rear of a freight train in the yards at Richmond, Ind. William Dunn, a telegraph operator in the caboose, was killed. The passengers were frightened, but not injured.

Intended for Burglars.

At Somerset, Ky., W. R. Burdine placed a gun in his granary so as to be discharged when the door was opened. His eldest son forgot and opened the door, firing the gun. He was killed.

Otis Is the Commander.

In the latest army orders, Admiral Dewey is made subordinate to Gen. Otis. Admiral Dewey outranks Gen. Otis, yet the Navy Department has concurred in the order as issued.

To Be Electrocuted.

Dr. Kennedy, who was convicted in New York City of the murder of Dollie Reynolds, was sentenced to be electrocuted during the week beginning May 22

Perfect Harmony.

Secretary of State Hay held a conference with President McKinley about the Samoan situation. He declared afterward that the German, English and American Governments were in perfect harmony and would work together to restore order in the troubled islands.

Alabama Cyclone.

A disastrous cyclone occurred at Madison cross roads, near New Decatur, Ala. Two houses were blown to ruins and much timber destroyed. Ed Dailey was blown into a tree top and fatally injured

Boiler Explosion Is Fatal.

The boiler of a locomotive drawing a train of empty coal cars on the Philadelphia and Reading Railway exploded nine miles north of Reading, Pa. Oscar Leisy, a brakeman, was killed and Lyman Emerich, fireman, and George D. Zimmerman, engineer, were injured.

Guests Jump from Windows.

Fire started in the Northern Hotel at Buffalo, but was under control in twenty minutes. There were about a dozen persons in the building, all of whom were rescued without serious injury. Several of them were slightly hurt by jumping. The loss will not exceed $5,000.

TRADE HOLDS STRENGTH.

Dun Reports Continued Activity in Nearly All Lines of Business.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "Business is not frightened either by the great capitalization of new companies or by the wild fluctuations in Wall street. No matter how much the stock operations in New York may count, business elsewhere is large enough to warrant a wonderful expansion of industries and that is the thing most important to observe. In no considerable branch has production diminished, but in practically all it has been increasing during the last week. In iron and steel a little lower price for Bessemer appears at Pittsburg, but with gray forge 75 cents higher there and Southern iron at Chicago 50 cents to $1 higher. Chicago is taking many contracts for building in Boston, New York and Washington, amounting to 4,000 tons, but makers elsewhere are overcrowded with work. The minor metals are all weaker with the reaction of London speculation. Wool is at the doubting point, with large sales ordered from the interior by tired holders, and some concessions made to secure transactions at Philadelphia and Boston, though quotations show only moderate decline, and sales at the three chief markets are almost as large as in 1892. Failures for the week have been 200 in the United States, against 251 last year, and 24 in Canada, against 21 last year."

CAPTURES THREE ARMED MEN.

Ohio Youth Surprises and Unaided Arrests Desperate Robbers.

Ralph Hoyt of North Fairfield, Ohio, succeeded in tracing and capturing three heavily armed burglars who broke into and robbed the postoffice and a store at North Fairfield a few nights ago. Hoyt was alone and armed with a rifle. The three burglars were tracked to a barn four and a half miles from Fairfield by the prints of new rubber boots in the mud. When found the men were sound asleep in the haymow and were dazed when they were awakened by the call of Hoyt to get up and come along with him. The coolness with which young Hoyt made his demand demoralized the trio and they were meekly marched to Fairfield and handed over to the authorities. Hoyt will receive $600 reward.

SELF-INFLICTED SHOT IS FATAL.

Second Attempt of a Natchez Broker to End His Life Succeeds.

Abram Moses of Natchez died at Cincinnati in the Jewish hospital of a self-inflicted pistol shot wound. He went there several weeks ago with a deranged mind and was taken to the Jewish hospital. From there he escaped by night and jumped from the suspension bridge into the river, but was rescued unscathed. A second time he escaped from the hospital and on the suspension bridge shot himself in the head, from which he died. In Natchez he was a large cotton broker and banker, president of the street railroad company and the electric light company.

SUICIDE OF A NEWPORT MAN.

Evidence that O. L. Sypher Jumped from a Boat and Was Drowned.

O. L. Sypher of Newport, R. I., is supposed to have committed suicide between Milwaukee and Chicago some time the other night by leaping overboard from the Goodrich steamer Atlanta. When the boat reached Milwaukee in the morning a new hat was found on the boat and in it were farewell letters addressed to his wife and mother and to Col. O. C. Landers, postmaster at Newport. The officers and crew of the boat do not remember the man, but there is little doubt that he ended his life in the lake.

Appeal for Chinese Sufferers.

Citizens of the United States residing in Che Foo, China, have made an earnest appeal through Consul Fowler, at Che Foo, to the charitable in America and elsewhere on behalf of the sufferers from the appalling Yellow river floods of this year. The most conservative estimates place the number of starving at 2,000,000 and the time and increasing cold weather will undoubtedly greatly augment the distress. The petitioners say the summer's crops have been a failure, the seed for next spring's sowing is gone and there is nothing for these starving millions to hope for in the future. The natives are doing all in their power; one firm in Che Foo has contributed the equivalent of $70,000 in cash and 10,000 bags of corn, and all classes are contributing, but let us not forget that there are 2,000,000 starving.

Labor Trouble at St. Louis.

A lockout affecting nearly 500 workmen occurred the other day in East St. Louis. The trouble was between the contractors and the Allied Building Trades' Union. The difficulty arose through a refusal of C. C. L. Bosquie, a contractor, to allow Charles Palmer, a walking delegate, to go among his men while working. Accordingly the union passed a resolution condemning Bosquie and a strike was threatened. To circumvent this the contractors, about twenty-five, got together, and when the men came to work they found that all had been laid off until they agreed to abide by the contractors' decision. All the men employed on the new city hall are included.

Fatal Fire at Cleveland.

Fire broke out in the japanning department of the Dangler Stove and Manufacturing Company's plant in Cleveland and the structure was practically destroyed. The plant of the Cleveland Machine Screw Company was also destroyed. Three hours after the fire started a falling wall at the screw works fell, burying beneath it Lieut. Roth of fire company No. 7. Later in the day Roth's dead body was taken from the ruins.

Cotton Mill Restores Wages.

The promised restoration of wages at the Pacific worsted and cotton mills in Lawrence, Mass., has gone into effect, about 5,000 employes being affected. It is understood that the increase is about 10 per cent.

Fire Destroys Valuable Property.

The five-story brick structure of the Armour Curled Hair and Felt Company in Chicago was destroyed by fire, with all its contents. The loss will reach $250,000. Many of the employes had narrow escapes from death.

"Young Griffo" Goes Insane.

With little hope of his recovery, Albert Griffith, known the world over as "Young Griffo," the pugilist, has been sent to the Jefferson, Ill., insane asylum. Excessive use of liquor has wrecked his mind.

Fort Arthur Canal Is Open.

At Port Arthur, Texas, seven miles of ship canal connecting the waters of Sabine lake and the Gulf of Mexico were formally opened with a celebration in which 5,000 people participated.

Natives Are Routed.

A terrible battle was fought northeast of Caloocan, in which the Americans lost 100 men, including killed and injured, and the rebels lost about 500. Aguinaldo's forces were completely routed.

Money for Methodist Schools.

At the Methodist mission conference at Cameron, Mo., $72,000 was pledged—$50,000 for the endowment of the American university and $22,000 for the Missouri Wesleyan college at Cameron.

Adrift for Twenty Hours.

Five fisherman of Sandusky, H. C. Passon and his three sons, James, John and Charles, and Louis Roberts, have reached their homes there after a most thrilling experience on Lake Erie. They went out in a small sail boat to lift their nets and were caught in a terrific storm, which carried away the spar of the boat and drove the ice down upon them so that they were for nearly twenty hours drifting helplessly about in a heavy sea among crushing and grinding ice floes and in momentary danger of going to the bottom. They had a small rowboat in tow. Two of the men started for Marblehead lifesaving station in it. They were finally forced ashore on Cedar Point after a terrible experience and were almost dead from cold and exhaustion. Subsequently the tug Silver Spray sighted the three men in the sail boat and after hard work managed to reach them. The men were in a pitiable condition, being almost frozen and completely exhausted.

CANADIAN INDIANS REBELLIOUS.

Refuse to Obey Government Regulations for Election of Chiefs.

The Indians of the St. Regis and Cornwall island, Ont., reserves have refused to obey Government regulations for holding elections for five chiefs for a period of two years. They desire to return to the old custom of electing their own chiefs, twelve in number, for life. In August last the Indians refused to allow the election to proceed. The other day another attempt was made to hold an election under Government authority. Indian Agent Long, Inspector Hogan and Officer Chamberlain, with assistants, arrived at Cornwall, but were refused admittance to the building where the election was being held. The police were assaulted, Long being secured and locked up and the others were driven away.

BOUND TO KILL MISS SPRAGUE.

Convict Hurley Makes Another Effort to Reach the Young Woman.

Convict Otis Hurley was detected at the Columbus, Ohio, penitentiary as he lay in wait for his former victim, Miss Daisy Sprague, whom he attempted to murder in September last. Hurley had been in solitary confinement, and wore a ball and chain, but with the aid of a steel saw he removed his fetters and cut his way out of the cell. When discovered he was in hiding on top of a safe in the office where Miss Sprague is employed as bookkeeper. He was armed with a stiletto made of half a pair of scissors. Hurley is serving a twelve-year sentence for his former attempt upon the life of the young woman, of whom he is enamored.

FIERCE BATTLE WITH THIEVES.

Charles Hendrickson Killed and His Daughter Fatally Wounded.

A battle was fought eight miles north of Dexter, Mo., between Charles Hendrickson and a gang of thieves, of which he was the head, and Sheriff Rains and a posse of officers. About 100 shots were fired. Hendrickson was killed, receiving a wound in the head. His daughter, who was an active participant in the battle, was probably fatally wounded in the left breast. Hendrickson and his gang were fugitives from Franklin County, where they were charged with a number of robberies. Two were captured and five escaped.

Looted by Masked Robbers.

Five masked men entered the Carbondale Traction Company's car barns at Mayfield, Pa., and sandbagged Engineer Patrick Dempsey, Fireman Frank Coggins and Watchman William Brokenshire, rendering them unconscious. They then ransacked the office, carrying away the box with the day's receipts, estimated at upward of $1,000. One robber was afterwards killed.

Dice Game Causes Murder.

At Cincinnati, Richard A. Roberts, a barroom porter, ran a knife into the throat of Charles Prietsch, a mechanical draughtsman, and turned the knife around in the wound. Death was instantaneous. The had disagreed about throwing dice.

Car of Race Horses Burned.

An express car on the Santa Fe road, loaded with race horses bound east, was burned near Ludlow, Cal. The horses were the property of Dan Honig and Barney Schreiber. Seven were burned in the car and five were rescued.

Gasoline Launch Blown Up.

A gasoline launch blew up at Folsom street wharf, San Francisco. George Nelson, the only man on board, was burned about the face and lost both eyebrows, but was not fatally injured. The launch was totally wrecked.

Jail for American Swindler.

A German-American swindler, O. W. H. Reif, has been sentenced at Dresden, Germany, to forty-two months' imprisonment for obtaining jewelry from a court jeweler under false pretenses.

Killed by Lightning.

Lightning struck J. E. Howerton's barn at Oakville, Ky., killing Robert Penod and dangerously injuring Mr. Howerton.

Four Persons Die in a Fire.

In a fire at Memphis, Tenn., four people lost their lives and several were seriously injured.

Sedalia, Mo., Residence Burned.

At Sedalia, Mo., the residence of Percy Harker was destroyed by fire. Loss $4,000.

MARKET REPORTS.

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, shipping grades, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2 red, 72c to 73c; corn, No. 2, 36c to 37c; oats, No. 2, 26c to 28c; rye, No. 2, 53c to 55c; butter, choice creamery, 20c to 22c; eggs, fresh, 11c to 13c; potatoes, choice, 58c to 65c per bushel.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $5.75; hogs, choice light, $2.75 to $4.00; sheep, common to choice, $2.50 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2 red, 68c to 70c; corn, No. 2 white, 34c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 31c to 32c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $3.50 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $3.00 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 76c to 77c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 34c to 36c; oats, No. 2, 27c to 29c; rye, No. 2, 56c to 58c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.25; sheep, $2.50 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 74c to 75c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 36c to 38c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 28c to 29c; rye, No. 2, 58c to 60c.

Detroit—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $2.50 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 71c to 73c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 34c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 31c to 33c; rye, 59c to 61c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 74c to 75c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 27c to 29c; rye, No. 2, 55c to 57c; clover seed, new, $3.50 to $3.60.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 spring, 69c to 72c; corn, No. 3, 30c to 32c; oats, No. 2 white, 29c to 32c; rye, No. 1, 55c to 57c barley, No. 2, 46c to 48c; pork, mess, $8.75 to $9.25.

Buffalo—Cattle, good shipping steers, $3.00 to $5.75; hogs, common to choice, $3.25 to $4.25; sheep, fair to choice wethers, $3.50 to $5.25; lambs, common to extra, $4.50 to $6.25.

New York—Cattle, $3.25 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.50; sheep, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2 red, 84c to 85c; corn, No. 2, 43c to 45c; oats, No. 2 white, 36c to 40c; butter, creamery, 17c to 23c; eggs, Western, 13c to 14c.

WAR ON IN SAMOA.

American and British Ships Shell Native Towns.

SAILORS ARE KILLED.

Attack by Rebels Under Mataafa Brings About the Clash.

Several Villages Are Destroyed and a Large Number of Natives Killed and Injured—Three British Sailors and an American Sentry Killed by the Rebels During a Fierce Attack—German Consul Refuses to Aid the Other Powers.

The startling news from Samoa, cabled to this country from Auckland, whither the intelligence had been sent by the usual mail advices, indicates that a serious clash has taken place between the official representatives of Great Britain and the United States and the native adherents of Mataafa. The followers of Mataafa, after having refused to disperse in accordance with the demands of the English and American officials, attempted to make a demonstration against the British and American consulates. From the fact that the commanders of the British and the American warships, the Porpoise and the Philadelphia, felt justified in shelling the natives who engaged in the demonstration, it is to be assumed that the provocation offered by Mataafa's followers was extreme.

According to the Auckland dispatches, the chiefs supporting King Mataafa having refused to abide by the terms of the tripartite treaty, and continuing to defy them despite the representations of the agents of the United States and Great Britain, Admiral Kautz, the American naval commander, convened a meeting of the consuls and the senior naval officers on board his flagship, the cruiser Philadelphia. After discussing the question in all its bearings it was resolved to dismiss the provisional government. Admiral Kautz therefore issued a proclamation ordering the adherents of Mataafa to return to their homes. When the proclamation was published Mataafa evacuated Mulinuu and went inland. Herr Rose, the German consul, then issued a proclamation upholding the provisional government, whereupon the Mataafans assembled and surrounded the town.

The British cruiser Royalist had meanwhile brought a number of Malietoan prisoners from the other islands, where they had been confined by the Mataafans. The Americans fortified Mulinuu, and 2,000 of the Malietoans took refuge there. The Mataafans barricaded the roads within the municipality and seized a number of houses belonging to British subjects. An ultimatum was sent to their leaders, warning them if they did not evacuate the municipality by 1 o'clock, March 15, the place would be bombarded by the American and British warships. To this ultimatum the Mataafans paid not the slightest attention, but, on the contrary, began an attack on the Malietoans.

Bombardment Is Begun.

American Consul Osborn and British Consul Maxse consulted, and at their instance, a half hour before the ultimatum expired, the Philadelphia and the British warships Royalist and Porpoise opened fire on some distant villages. The Yankee and British gunners had great difficulty in locating the enemy, owing to the dense forests in which they were concealed. The fire from the warships, however, soon set fire to some of the shore villages and caused much damage.

A defective shell from the Philadelphia exploded near the American consulate, and the marines who were standing guard outside had a very narrow escape. A piece of the shell went through the German consulate, causing great destruction. The Germans became alarmed and boarded the German warship Falke. The rebels made an attack on the town at night and killed three British sailors. A British marine was shot through the legs accidentally by a British sentry. Another was shot in the feet. An American sentry was killed at his post by the natives. The bombardment continued slowly for eight days.

Mataafa and Malietoa Tanu were the rival candidates for king. After the election Chief Justice Chambers decided that Malietoa was legally elected. Under the treaty agreements the decision of the Chief Justice was to be final in such cases. Supported by the German consul, Mataafa revolted against this decision and attacked Malietoa's men.

The outbreak was suppressed, and it was announced that the three consuls had agreed to recognize Mataafa as king. This was afterward denied. Mataafa established a provisional government and attempted, with the aid of the German consul and Dr. Faffel, the German president of the council, to oust Chief Justice Chambers from office. This attempt failed through the activity of the American and British consuls and Commander Sturde of the British cruiser Porpoise. Affairs continued in an unsettled state, the government of Mataafa being tyrannical.

The gravest aspect of the matter, of course, is involved in the possibility of further complications in the relations of the three powers which hold the joint protectorate of Samoa. It has been known from the first that Germany's representatives in the islands are favorable to Mataafa, while the British and American representatives have stood together in declaring Mataafa ineligible for the kingship. It was because the American who holds the position of chief justice had decided that Mataafa was ineligible, while the German representative at Samoa refused to abide by the decision, that the disagreeable international complications arose.

STREET SCENE AT APIA.

MEN PROMINENT IN THE SAMOAN TROUBLE.

COURT HOUSE AT APIA.

PERISH IN THE MISSISSIPPI.

Steamer Rowena Lee Sinks and Three People Drown.

The managers of the Lee line of steamers announced Thursday morning that only three lives were lost by the sinking of the Rowena Lee, near Tyler, Mo., Wednesday afternoon. The first report of the disaster which was received said that all on board had perished save the captain and an under officer of the steamer. It was estimated that between fifty and sixty persons went down. Telephone connection was secured to Caruthersville, Mo., by the officials at Memphis, and a few minutes later the announcement was made that the Rowena Lee had sunk in thirty feet of water off the landing at Tyler, and three persons were drowned.

Putting out from the Tyler landing the steamer hit a hidden obstruction, knocking in the hull, but succeeded in landing all the passengers and crew except the three missing. From the best information obtainable the disaster was caused in this way: The river at Tyler is over the banks, and the boat in landing ran up almost to the street of the little town. In backing to the landing it is thought the boat ran on to a stump, and broke in two. She floated down the river some distance and sank, and will prove a total loss.

WHAT THE LATE CONGRESS DID.

Statement Prepared Giving in Figures Result of the Work Done.

B. S. Piatt, enrolling clerk of the Senate, has prepared a statement giving in figures the results of the work of the last Congress. The statement shows that 1,457 bills and joint resolutions became laws out of a total of 18,463 introduced in both houses. Of the measures introduced 12,608 were presented in the House and 5,855 in the Senate. Of those which became laws 942 originated in the House and 515 in the Senate.

There were only two direct votes during the Congress, one of these applying to a Senate bill and the other to a House measure. There were in addition to these four pocket vetoes—bills which failed to become laws because they were not approved by the President.

The record shows that the Senate passed 1,173 of its own bills and that the House acted favorably upon only 517, or fewer than half of them, while of the 1,081 House bills passed by the House the Senate acted favorably upon 346. A larger number of bills were introduced than in any previous Congress.

IN A NUTSHELL

The regular army of the United States will be recruited to full strength, 105,000, by May 1.

Gen. Gomez will go on distributing the $3,000,000 to his soldiers, as if the Assembly did not exist.

Charlie Wah-Hang, once king of Boston Chinatown, a notorious character of national reputation, is dead.

A hundred years ago the Hawaiian Islands were said to have had 400,000 population; now 30,000 is a high estimate.

In Philadelphia, 15-year-old Sadie Lurdin committed suicide by drinking laudanum on account of her inability to obtain employment.

William Morrison, an 18-year-old printer's apprentice in Boston, has fallen heir to $20,000,000 by the death of an uncle in California.

Welcome A. Botkin, husband of Cordelia Botkin, convicted of the murder of Mrs. John P. Dunning of Dover, Del., through the agency of poisoned candy sent through the mails, applied for a divorce at San Francisco, on the ground that his wife had been convicted of a felony.

MOB IS DEFIED.

Desperate Attempt to Capture Two Barricaded Murderers.

John and Paul Zeltner, murderers of Hoytsville, Ohio, were lodged in jail at Bowling Green after having for eighteen hours defied an infuriated mob which threatened them with summary vengeance. The two men, who murdered Attorney Westenhaver and later killed Clarence Wittenmeyer, one of their pursuers, held the great crowd of would-be lynchers at bay until they were ready to surrender. During all the time from the commission of the first crime Saturday afternoon until after 6 o'clock Sunday morning the two, aided by the women of their household, defied the desperate throng which besieged their home. They plainly stated that they would not submit to lynching and every assault on the house was answered with such well-aimed bullets that the lynching party feared to carry out its plans. Each move on the part of the assailants was the signal for a shot, showing that the women were doing their share in the work of defense. Only when they were assured a military guard and all possible protection did the murderers agree to submit to arrest.

E. H. Westenhaver had been attorney for the Zeltner brothers in numerous cases, and had sued them for his fees. The jury and witnesses had been sworn before Justice E. Burgoon at Hoyt's Corners, in Westenhaver's suit, when Paul Zeltner demanded some papers of Westenhaver, and attempted to take them from his pocket. John Zeltner then joined in demanding the papers, and immediately fired the fatal shot that killed Westenhaver. The Zeltners had their horses ready for mounting and escape, and it is thought that they had arranged to get Westenhaven into a fight, although they did not give the victim time to make any demonstrations toward them. The Zeltners kept up their firing till they mounted their horses, and continued it as hundreds of citizens pursued them to their residence.

Then the citizens laid siege to the Zeltner house. The lynchers kept up a continual firing and it is declared that the women also engaged in the defense. John Zeltner is married and has four children, and his family was in the house with him. The battle was waged furiously, the besiegers, including the sheriff's posse, finding it necessary to keep under cover of the trees to avoid being hit. Clarence Wittenmeyer was shot down while attempting with a posse of twenty-five or thirty to capture the house by a determined charge. This increased the excitement, and the mob, now swelled to 1,000 in number, seemed bent upon lynching the Zeltners. To prevent this the sheriff telegraphed to North Baltimore for the militia and the Bloomfield rifles and the North Baltimore cadets hurried to the scene. All night long the siege was kept up. When Wittenmeyer fell volley after volley was poured into the crowd from the upper story of the Zeltner house. During the fight a cannon and a quantity of nitroglycerin had been secured, so that there would have been trouble after sunrise if the troops had not arrived.

Peaceable methods finally prevailed in the capture, although it is doubtful if the capture would have been effected except for the fact that the Zeltners were nearly out of ammunition and they knew surrender was the only method of saving themselves. The Zeltners agreed to surrender to ex-Sheriff Biggs if guaranteed protection from the fury of the mob. The two military companies were drawn up in lines and the men handcuffed and taken from the house, after which the women locked all the doors and pulled down all the blinds. Under escort of the militia, the men were marched through the mud and snow to Custar station, where they took a train for Tontogany, there changing again and landing in Bowling Green shortly after noon. At that point at least 1,500 persons had congregated, but the Zeltners were hurried to jail without any further trouble.

The Zeltners are men of much more than average intelligence, and were fairly well-to-do German farmers. They expressed regret at the killing of Clarence Wittenmeyer, who, they said, was killed unintentionally, but neither of the Zeltners expressed the slightest regret for the killing of Lawyer Westenhaver.

WEALTH OF THE UNITED STATES

What the Figures of 1900 Are Expected to Show.

The statistical table of the wealth of nations is a familiar one among treasury officials of various countries. According to the estimate of Mulhall, published in 1892, the wealth of nations was as follows for the chief countries, for lands, farm utensils, bullion, cattle, houses, furniture, railroads, shipping, merchandise and sundries:

United States	$63,000,000,000
United Kingdom	47,000,000,000
France	42,500,000,000
Germany	32,000,000,000
Russia	25,000,000,000
Austria	19,000,000,000
Italy	14,500,000,000
Spain	12,500,000,000
Australia	9,500,000,000
Belgium	5,000,000,000
Holland	4,300,000,000
Canada	4,900,000,000

Great Britain had heretofore been regarded as the wealthiest country in the world, owning half the ships, more than a quarter of the railroad properties, and having a capitalized wealth at home of $50,000,000,000. And, in respect to the average wealth per capita, England has been entitled to that distinction, the figures being as follows:

United Kingdom	$1,200
Denmark	1,150
France	1,120
Holland	1,080
United States	1,050

The Federal census of 1900 is to be a record-breaking one, according to all present indications. By the Federal census of 1890 the aggregate material wealth of the United States, compared with the wealth of Great Britain, was less in ships and merchandise, but exceeded in many other items. The real estate of this country was then valued at $39,000,000,000, the live stock at $2,000,000,000, the railroads at $8,000,000,000, manufactories and their contents at $3,000,000,000, mines and quarries $1,000,000,000, and gold and silver coin at $1,200,000,000.

If the present rate of increase is maintained, the total accumulated wealth of the United States will represent, by the census of 1900, not far from $110,000,000,000, or more than double that of Great Britain. In 1860 the wealth of the United States was estimated at $20,000,000,000; in 1870, at $25,000,000,000; in 1880, at $45,000,000,000, and in 1890, as stated, at $65,000,000,000. The enormous appreciation of American products since then, the vast expansion of trade, the addition of new territory, all observant persons agree, will put the United States far ahead of any other country in respect to material wealth.

News of Minor Note.

A Boston fruit company now controls the banana trade of the United States.

The new treaty between the United States and Japan goes into effect on July 17.

Robert Lewis was hanged in Atlanta, Ga., on the gallows which he built two years ago.

Capt. Absolom McCrary, one of the oldest and best known residents of Howard County, Mo., a veteran of the Mexican and civil wars, died at Fayette of pneumonia, aged 78 years.

RECORD OF THE WEEK

INDIANA INCIDENTS TERSELY TOLD.

Tries to Kill His Brothers—Oil Under Vigo County—Kokomo Boys Arrested for Serious Crime—Killed in a Boxing Bout—Tin Plate Plant Sold.

While visiting his dying father near Shelbyville, Edward Bernheimer became desperately insane. Going into the house, he threatened to kill the little child of his sister, but was prevented, and apparently became quieter. Later in the evening he had another seizure, and in his frenzy secured an ax and tried to brain his brother George. As he lifted the ax the other brother jumped behind him and succeeded in grabbing the handle of the weapon. The three men then engaged in a rough and tumble struggle, in which the crazy man freed himself and once more securing the ax drove his brothers, sisters and stepmother from the house, they being compelled to flee to the house of a neighbor for safety. It was feared the furious man would kill his father, but he made no attack on him. The officers were sent for and Bernheimer was placed in jail.

Excitement Over Oil Find.

There is much excitement in Terre Haute over the preparations being made to commence boring for oil east and south of the city. A month or so ago oil was struck by men who were boring in an endeavor to locate a vein of coal and, although the flow was not large, experts profess to believe that there is much oil underlying Vigo County. A company headed by Crawford Fairbanks, president of the American Strawboard trust, is securing options on a large number of farms and it is understood that drilling will commence as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

Boys Cause $50,000 Damage.

Eleven schoolboys, aged from 11 to 16, were jailed at Kokomo, as part of a gang of thieves who have been dismantling machinery in shops and factories and selling the brass at junk shops. They are sons of prominent residents and business men. They sold two carloads of brass before detection and destroyed $50,000 worth of machinery.

Tin Plate Plant Is Sold.

For a consideration of $1 the American Tin Plate Company's $2,000,000 plants at Elwood—the largest tin plate plant in the nation—have been turned over to the tin plate trust through D. W. McCarghey of Chicago. The valuation of the plants was placed at but $250,000 and $650 worth of revenue stamps were attached.

Blow Bursts Boxer's Heart.

Charles McCoy and Carl Comer, each about 17 years of age, were boxing at Center, when Comer struck McCoy a blow over the heart that burst a vein, and allowed all the blood to pour out into the abdominal cavity. Death was almost instantaneous.

Within Our Borders.

Attica will have a $50,000 sanitarium.

Anti-trust bottle house erected at Lafel.

Diamond coal mine, near Evansville, sold for $13,000.

Markham & Stephens will reopen their distillery near Rosewood.

Indiana stands second in glass production in the United States.

Shelbyville Council cut the marshal's salary from $700 to $350 a year.

Samuel Gronnert, an Indianian, is managing editor of the London Telegraph.

Miss Gertrude Kemp, Fisher's Station, went to Chicago and is mysteriously missing.

Mrs. James Keiser, Anderson, went shopping the other day and did not return.

Because Dr. Joseph D. Kelley of Ehrmandale squandered his money for liquor, his wife, Mrs. Elsie Kelley, shot him through the breast.

S. M. Austin, a traveling salesman for a Philadelphia wholesale paint house, was instantly killed by the Chicago-New York special on the Lake Shore at Osceola.

John Ferriter, serving a life sentence in the Michigan City penitentiary for the murder of Policeman Charles Ware of Indianapolis two years ago, escaped by overpowering a guard he was assisting outside the prison walls.

The lamp chimney factories in the Indiana gas belt have closed down indefinitely, many of them discharging all workers and advising them to seek employment in other channels. The reason given for the shut-down is the sluggish markets.

Five persons were injured, two fatally, in a runaway during a funeral at Evansville. The five persons were in a hack and the team became frightened at a street car. The hack was completely demolished and the funeral procession was stopped an hour.

Congressman A. L. Brick and Joseph B. Arnold have sold to Josiah C. Houck 580 acres of land in Olive township, the consideration being $11,600. The land is adjacent to the great Kankakee region and is partly marsh. It will be drained and an Amish colony will be started there.

Monroe City was thrown into a flutter by the elopement and romantic marriage of Frank Owens and Miss Annie Lloyd. Miss Lloyd ostensibly went to church, but instead met her lover, who was waiting in a buggy, and started to Rev. Mr. Denny's home to be married. They met the minister on the road and made known their wishes and insisted that the ceremony be performed then and there, whereupon the minister, while all were seated in their vehicles, had them join hands and pronounced the words that made them one. The couple, accompanied by the reverend gentleman, drove to the home of the bride to ask parental blessings. The girl's mother, when apprised of the fact, fainted. Postmaster Lloyd had forbidden his daughter keeping company with Owens, which resulted in the elopement.

The Christian Church congregation of Vincennes has decided to build a fine new stone church and $8,500 was raised by voluntary subscriptions at the first meeting.

Congressman George W. Cromer has chosen Scott Fulton of Hartford City to represent the Eighth Indiana congressional district in the West Point military academy.

At Vincennes, two distinct shocks of earthquake were recently felt, the first being the longer in duration and lasting about two seconds. The windows rattled and beds trembled perceptibly.

An immense crowd attended the baptizing of twenty-five converts in the icy waters of the Ohio at New Albany. Immediately after being baptized the converts were loaded into a wagon to be taken home. The wagon was overturned and all of them thrown out on the levee. Eight or ten were seriously hurt.

Thomas Parron of Washington has filed suit for divorce in the Daviess Circuit Court, basing his demand upon the ground that during the entire nine years of his married life his wife has seldom left her bed, although he claims she is fully able to do so, and that she has compelled him to do all the housework, attend to their little daughter and do the family washing.

ROSES.

I'm taking roses home with me to-night;
Red roses costing half my weekly pay;
They'll give my wife perhaps an hour's delight
And then she'll cast them carelessly away.

What fools we mortals be! Long years ago
I plucked, with careless hand, wild roses red
And tossed them to a maid I used to know.
To-day I found some rose leaves, faded, dead,

Hid in a little corner where my wife
Keeps sundry treasures stored; a note or two;
A young man's photo; not, I trust, like life;
A toy; a trinket, and a baby's shoe.

I'm fifty now, and counted somewhat gruff;
My figure's portly and my hair is gray.
Bah! One would think that I was old enough
To scorn the mad joy of a by-gone day.

And yet I felt unreasoning delight
To find those withered rose leaves lying there;
And—well, I'm taking roses home to-night;
And all the time I wonder, "Will she care?"
—Life.

THE DAFFODILS.

He had just moved into his new lodgings and had endeavored to make the bare, cheerless rooms a little more home-like, but, though the photographs were scattered about, his piperack nailed over the mantel shelf, surmounted by a neat and effective border of unpaid bills, sundry writs, and County Court notices, he was yet unsatisfied with the general effect.

Of course, there was a vast difference between the luxurious quarters in Murray Hill which he had just vacated and these small, stifling rooms, with their cheap horsehair furniture, but he was somewhat of a philosopher, and his motto was to go with the tide.

This time, however, the current had been too strong, and he found himself at last stranded with a beggarly allowance of a thousand a year, the last remnant of the handsome fortune that had once been his.

The fault was entirely his own. He frankly admitted it, though most men would have laid the blame on the woman who was the primary cause of it all; but he did not condemn her.

He also had been to blame. She was poor, and he made love to her under false colors—had led her to believe he was a poor government clerk at a salary of $700 a year. His object at first had been purely of his own amusement, but she was not the kind of woman fitted to be a man's plaything, and the game had ended in deadly earnest.

Therefore, it was with some trepidation that he had written confessing that which he had concealed from her, and asking her to marry him. He was scarcely prepared, however, for the curt reply that came: "I am going away to-day. Good-by."

Mechanically he opened the drawer of the writing table by which he stood. It was full of papers and little womanly trifles, evidently the property of the former occupant of the room. Unconsciously he commenced to read the paper in his hand—the writing was blurred and irregular, as though written by some one in ill-health:

"Why do I think of you to-day? It seems as though you must be near, or is it because it is springtime, and my room is full of yellow daffodils? I am writing a letter to you, one that you will never receive—for all I know you may be dead or—even married. It does not seem so long since we met, though I know it is years ago. I wonder if you would be glad to know that to-day I am thinking of you—that out of the desolate gray comes a vague, sweet dream that brings you near to me. To-morrow it will be winter again—winter in my heart—and I shall tear up this letter; but to-day the dreariness has faded. There is no touch of scorn to freeze my heart, no kisses cold as death to chill my lips—no silence that aches round me with its worldless pain. * * * I hear the whisper of spring that breathes of hope, I feel the touch of clinging hands—your hair against my cheek—whom I might not know were I to meet you now—do you doubt my love, that you let me go out of your life without a word or a sign that you cared——"

Here the writing terminated abruptly. The reader stood as in a dream, staring straight before him into the dingy street. Her handwriting! It was as though a ghost had risen to confront him.

A knock at the door aroused him from his stupor, and the landlady bustled in with the tea tray; her quick eyes caught sight of the open drawer. "Good laws, I meant to clear that out, sir!" she exclaimed, "but the poor young lady being taken away so sudden like clean drove it out of my head."

"Is—is she dead?" he faltered. A deadly fear had taken possession of him, his face paled to an ashen hue.

"Lor', no, leastways not yet," said the good woman, cheerfully. "I went to see her last week at the 'orspital, but the doctors don't give any hope of her gettin' better."

As she spoke she swept the contents of the drawer into her apron, and he winced at the sight—to him it seemed like desceration, and his hand closed convulsively on the letter he held.

"Which hospital was she taken to?" he asked, steadying his voice with an effort.

"The one just round in the square, sir," answered the woman. Then, in hurried apology: "You'll be wantin' your tea, sir; you look tired."

As the door closed on her portly form he dropped his head in his hands. "Good God!" he groaned, "a whole week has passed; she may be dead!"

It was visiting day at the hospital, the ward was bright with spring flowers, and brighter faces lit up by that pathetic, wistful expectancy characteristic of the sick. There was an eager hum of voices, too, hushed occasionally by an admonishing word from the nurse in charge. In the same ward, railed off by a curtained screen from the other patients, a girl lay asleep. No visitor ever came for her save the doctor, and sometimes this woman where she had once lodged, but the nurse, in kindly sympathy, had placed a bowl of fresh daffodils where her tired eyes could see them on awakening. The doctor gave no hope of the patient's recovery, and so, with womanly pity, she tried to make the girl's last days as happy as possible. Before the afternoon was half over a gentleman called and asked to see No. 20. "She is not expected to live," said the nurse, studying the white, anxious face before her. "Are you a friend? She has no relatives, I think."

"Yes—a friend. That is, I knew her years ago," he said hesitatingly. "Perhaps you had better break it to her first; it might startle her."

As the nurse went back the girl opened her great brown eyes; her ears caught the sound of merry laughter, and her gaze wandered to the daffodils; a longing look crept into her eyes. "Who brought me the flowers, nurse?" she asked in a kind of breathless wonder, and a sudden idea took possession of the nurse. "A gentleman, a friend who knew you years ago," she replied. A deep flush dyed the girl's white cheeks. "Is he here?" she said eagerly, and the white, wasted hands opened and closed convulsively.

"Yes, and if you'll promise not to excite yourself, you shall see him for a few minutes," said the nurse, soothingly, and forthwith ushered in the visitor.

With a stifled cry he fell on his knees by the bed. "Damaris!" he said, and the girl touched his rough curls. "You have come back," she whispered with half incredulous joy; the nurse dropped the curtain and left them together.

"I knew you had come when I saw the daffodols," she went on with a tremor of eagerness. "Don't you remember how we met in the time of daffodils, and how happy we were?"

He took the little trembling hands and kissed them passionately. "You didn't receive my letter that I wrote six years ago asking you to marry me and telling how I had deceived you," he said.

"Did you deceive me? It doesn't matter," she smiled; "nothing matters now you have come back to me."

He kissed the small white face. "You will get better, Damaris," he pleaded, "for my sake, sweetheart, though God knows I don't deserve it."

She took his face in her two hands. "How could I die and leave you all alone?" she asked, pathetically.

Thus after many years they took up the severed thread of their lives, and love, "who will not be denied," smoothed out the tangle and wove in its stead his golden mesh.—Buffalo News.

QUEER STORIES

Caviare is the product of sturgeon ova.

Hawks fly at the rate of 150 miles an hour.

A fiber of silk a mile long weighs twelve grains.

The oldest tree in the British Isles is the Bradbourne yew, in Kent, three thousand years old.

The two little islands of Zanzibar and Pemba furnish four-fifths of the cloves consumed by the world.

Platinum has been drawn into smooth wire so fine that it could not be distinguished by the naked eye, even when stretched across a piece of white cardboard.

Date vinegar has been made by the Arabs for ages. It has recently been put on the English market, and many people say it is far superior to any other vinegar.

The most peculiar custom of the Australian aborigines is the mutilation of teeth. The boy who wants to be thought a man will often break out one of his front teeth.

A Viennese meteorologist has proved by experiments that rainbows are conditioned by the size of the raindrops, and that, while we ordinarily see only two rainbows side by side, there are as many as twenty.

African travelers tell us the white rhinoceros frequently dies from eating poisonous plants, which are never eaten by the black one, probably because the fine scent of the latter tells him they are dangerous.

Dr. H. L. Hastings declares that women go with their necks bare, and men keep them swathed and bandaged, and ten women have sweet voices to one man. A man's voice should be as pure as a woman's. Why is it not? He is choked and shaved.

His Mother's Son.

"My niece Mary was always a well-meaning girl, but she would say the wrong thing almost every time," said one old gentleman to another; "and she's got a boy that's going to be her very counterpart."

The old gentleman's eyes twinkled, and his ugly, good-natured face was puckered with enjoyment as he drew from his pocket-book a small sheet of note-paper.

"I sent Hal a toy monkey that plays all kinds of pranks when it's wound up," said he, chuckling. "Sent it to him for Christmas. Now you listen to this letter of thanks I got from him to-day. He's just 8 years old:

"'Deer Uncle Ned: I am delited with the munkey, thank you. He makes me think of you very offen. And whenever mamma winds him up, and he begins to jump, mamma and I feel as if we were back at your house where all those toys are, and mamma will look at the munkey and say, "That's your Uncle Ned all over."

"'Good-by from your greatfull Hal.'" —Youth's Companion.

Magnetic Brick.

From time to time experts have noticed certain unexplainable peculiarities in magnetic instruments in various buildings. It is now declared, as the result of experiments and investigations, that the vagaries are due to the presence of magnetism in bricks. They are made of earthy matter containing a greater or less proportion of magnetite or magnetic iron ore.

On the Back.

It is getting to be the fashion to address and stamp envelopes on the back. With the direction written across the folds, the letter cannot be opened by an unauthorized person without the fact being noted.

If women are so amiable and sweet, why is it that other women don't want them as roomers or boarders?

SUNRISE AND SUNSET CHART.

The accompanying chart, by which, at a glance, the time of sunrise or of sunset for any day in the year can be quickly accertained, is of interest. Those who understand the use of diagrams in general will appreciate its handiness, while an explanation will serve a double purpose with those who are not fully cognizant of the usefulness of such diagrams, showing not only how to use this particular chart, but illustrating one of the simplest methods of representing to the eye the rate and manner of change of a varying quantity.

Suppose it is desired to know at what time the sun will rise on the 10th of May. First find the slice of the chart marked May. The line dividing the April slice from the May slice is the last day of April. The 10th of May will, therefore, be one-third of the way over the May slice—reckoning thirty days to the month. The sunrise curve is marked "Sunrise"; concentric circles struck from the center of the chart are marked 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8; these represent hours; the space between every adjacent pair, as between the 4 o'clock circle and the 5 o'clock circle, is divided into four equal parts, each small space representing a quarter of an hour, or fifteen minutes. That is all there is to the chart itself. On the 10th of May, that is, one-third of the way over the May slice, a radial line will intersect the sunrise curve at a point just beyond the third quarter past the 4 o'clock circle, indicating that on that day the sun will rise at about 4:47 a. m. The short radial lines every third part of a slice help to locate any intermediate date.

DESCENDED FROM A KING.

Wisconsin Man Whose Ancestry Goes Back to the Pokanoket Indians.

An American citizen descended from a king is something of an anomaly, but the town of Chilton, Wis., boasts of such a character in the person of Stephen Nicholas. He is descended from the famous Indian King Philip of the Pokanoket tribe of Massachusetts, the warrior who gained such fame among the early settlers of the country, and the traits of his ancestors showed in the young man when he was in his prime.

Stephen was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Moses Stanton when he was 5 years old, and was brought to Wisconsin. He grew up a sturdy lad, and when 21 years of age he was as perfect a specimen of manhood as there could be found in the country. His occupations and sports were such as to make him an athlete, and his endurance, tried in long tramps through the forests with little to eat on the way, was superhuman. He was fearless and bold as a lion, shrewd and quick to act, and the cause which "Steve Nick" championed was sure to win if power, determination and bravery were factors in the fight. He was a crack shot with rifle and pistol and an expert swordsman.

When the civil war broke out he joined Company D of the First Wisconsin Cavalry and served creditably during the struggle in the capacity of a scout.

DURING THE CIVIL WAR. NICHOLAS AS HE LOOKS TO-DAY.

although he is an entirely competent man and has seen seven years of service, frankly confesses that Hugh can beat him in an off-hand description of the iron horse. Hugh's knowledge of a locomotive is not the limit of his education, as he can tell the name of nearly every part of a United States battleship at sight."

DWARF BEASTS OF THE ORIENT.

Some Midget Animals that Live in Our New Possessions.

Another freak beast which will excite curiosity in our zoological gardens is the tamarau, a dwarf buffalo found in the forests of Mindoro of the Philippine group. It is a stunted form of the old world buffalo, not of the American bison. It sometimes occurs high up in the mountains. It tunnels pathways through the thick bamboo covering the mountain sides above 6,000 feet. Hunters must go upon hands and knees to follow these trails. The aborigines never hunt this little beast, being deathly afraid of it.

The midget Philippine squirrel is another odd creature. It is about the size of a mouse, has legs longer in proportion than those of the ordinary squirrel, larger eyes and rounded ears. A large brown rat, gray underneath and with a squirrel-like head and eyes, but black, cord-like tail, is of still greater interest from an evolutionary point of view. It is discovered to be the last link needed to complete the chain of relationship between the true rat and the water rats. A wild pig, dignified by the name of "Sus celebensis Philippinensis," is found throughout the whole Philippine group. It is exceedingly exclusive during the day, when it hides in the forests, but sallies gayly forth during the night into the native maize and rice fields, where it does much damage. The natives call this badly behaved pig "Babui."

At Bataan, of the Philippine group, is found a chevretain, or "mouse deer," a tiny little pigmy, as cunning as a fox, and which when snared feigns death until freed, when it leaps up like a lightning flash and takes to the forest, leaving the inexperienced trapper in great surprise. The Philippines also contain civets, wildcats, porcupines, lizards, snakes and aligators. The "chacon," one variety of alligator, is prized by the natives as affording immunity against death by earthquake shock.

Prof. Dean C. Worcester, lately appointed a member of the Philippine commission, has submitted to the Smithsonian an extensive report upon the ornithology of these islands, where he recently counted no less than 256 different species of birds. Notable among these are some beautiful little parakeets, cockatoos, mound builders, hornbills and jungle fowls. The last named are the principal game birds of the group. The natives tame the hornbills and keep them as pets. The only important food fishes of the fresh water of the Philippines are species of catfish and carp.—Washington Star.

Occasionaliy a woman manages a husband successfully by letting him think he is doing it himself.

After people pass forty and fall in love, they should get married within a month, so little time is left them.

YOUNG ENGINEER.

A Little Three-Year-Old with a Remarkable Knowledge of Engines.

Probably the youngest railroad engineer in the world is little 3-year-old Hugh Richards of Laramie, Wyo. This interesting little fellow resides with his grandfather, H. T. Richards, the manager of a hotel at Laramie. Mr. Richards' profession is that of a railroad engineer and he has with great care instructed his grandson in his beloved occupation.

During an interview with Mr. Richards the other day regarding his youthful pupil he said: "Hugh was born in Chicago on July 13, 1895, and moved out here in February last. The photograph shows Hugh and his engine. She is one of the Union Pacific monsters, No. 160, and is used on the mountain grades of this country. No. 160 is able to mount Sherman hill with ease, pulling a heavy train. The summit level of this mountain is 8,240 feet above sea level. However, he has only the judgment of a child of his age and might fall asleep or become tired at his post, so he accompanies the regular engineer, who,

HUGH RICHARDS.

POLITICS OF THE DAY

RECORD OF TRUSTS.

There is a certain amount of monotony about the discussion of trusts, but this fact is simply the result of the constant reflection of the old story that trusts are forming daily.

Figures may not be interesting, but sometimes they tell a startling story. With this fact in view, the following list of trusts, formed in the United States during the last two months, is reproduced from the Financial Chronicle:

Name of Company—	Authorized stock.
American Beet Sugar Co.	20,000,000
American Brass Co.	20,000,000
American Car and Foundry Co.	60,000,000
American Ice Co.	60,000,000
American Last Co.	3,500,000
American Radiator Co.	10,000,000
American Saddle Co. (bicycle saddles)	1,800,000
American Sewer Pipe Co.	25,000,000
American Silk Manufacturing Co.	12,500,000
American Soda Co.	1,000,000
American Steel and Wire Co. of New Jersey	90,000,000
Borax Consolidated	12,000,000
Central Union Gas (natural gas concerns)	24,000,000
Electric Boat Co.	10,000,000
Electric Company of America.	25,000,000
Electric Vehicle Transportation Co.	25,000,000
General Chemical Co.	25,000,000
Havana Commercial Co. (Cuban tobacco)	20,000,000
International Alt Power Co.	25,000,000
Kentucky Distilleries and Warehouse Co.	32,000,000
Maryland Brewing Co.	6,500,000
National Carbon Co.	10,000,000
National Enameling and Stamping Co.	30,000,000
National Salt Co.	10,000,000
National Steel Co.	59,000,000
National Tin Plate and Stamped Ware Co.	20,000,000
National Tube Co.	60,000,000
New England Dairy Co. (milk companies)	30,000,000
New York Auto-Truck	10,000,000
New York Gas and Electric Light, Heat and Power Co.	36,000,000
Pacific American Fisheries Co.	5,000,000
People's Light and Power Co. of New Jersey	20,000,000
Pittsburg Brewing Co.	13,000,000
Pressed Steel Car Co.	25,000,000
Royal Baking Powder Co.	20,000,000
Rubber Goods Manufacturing Co.	30,000,000
Standard Sardine Co.	5,000,000
Union Bag and Paper Co.	27,000,000
United Lighting and Heating (oil lighting interests)	12,000,000
United Shoe Machinery Co.	25,000,000
United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Co.	30,000,000
United States Varnish Co.	36,000,000
Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Co.	7,500,000
Grand total	$1,048,800,000

This is the record for January and February, and is an astounding array of figures showing that the tendency of business under Republican auspices is toward consolidation into oppressive and arrogant trusts. As a result, competition will be slaughtered, wages reduced and prices to consumers increased.

How do the people like the prospect? Are they inclined to keep a party in power which makes such things possible?

Alger and the Navy.

Is it not a suggestive fact that there have been no deaths from disease in the navy? Coupled with this fact, the list of deaths from disease in the army makes the indictment against Alger unswerable.

The New York Journal prints the statistics of deaths in the army and navy during the war with Spain as follows:

THE ARMY.
Killed in action	329
Died of wounds	125
Died of diseases	5,277
THE NAVY.
Killed in action	17
Died of wounds	1
Died of diseases	0

When it is remembered that the navy was more actively engaged in the war than was the army, the significance of these figures is all the more impressive.

In the army over five thousand men died of disease. As the Journal states, the greater portion of the troops were in camp in this country and did not go to Cuba. They were not exposed in a treacherous tropical climate. There was every reason why they should have remained well. That they died by the thousands is due solely to the ignorance of their officers about the necessity of enforcing sanitary regulations, the loathsome food furnished them, and the general neglect caused by bad management in the War Department.

If Alger wishes to make out a good case before the American people he will have to avoid statistics.

Shelving Civil Service.

Although the Republican platform of 1896 promised to protect and to expand the civil service system, nothing of the kind was attempted by the Republican Congress. On the contrary, the census bureau has been made a part of the machinery by which to grapple spoils.

The census bill, which was enacted into a law by the Republican Congress, provides that the 300 supervisors, to be appointed by the President, shall each select the enumerators of his district, while the thousands of clerks required in the Washington office will be appointed, after a "non-competitive" examination, by the director of the census. The boast was made by the Republican members on the final consideration of the bill that it "washed the starch out of civil service reform."

Whatever differences of opinion there may be among Democrats as to the civil service, there can be no doubt that the Republican party has stultified itself by the census legislation. Indeed, it has become evident that the party headed by McKinley, but ruled by Boss Hanna, has no intention of redeeming its platform pledges, and the census action is but one instance of its false pretenses. There are good political reasons for this disregard of the platform. The census measure will be used to aid in building up bosses and machines, and, above all, to further Mark Hanna's campaign, already started, for the renomination and election of the President.

Why Does Pingree Wait?

Governor Pingree of Michigan declares that his party leaders are controlled by the bondholders. This does not mean, he says, that the Republican party is the party of monopolists, but that its course is dictated too much by commercial greed. The trouble with the Governor is that he has for some time been trying to play a Democratic tune on a Republican fiddle string, says the Atlanta Constitution. He has made a strong and successful fight against municipal and State corporations that are engaged in oppressing the people. He has done all this while calling himself a Republican; but he knows that if he had not received the support of Democrats he would have been powerless. He admits now that the leaders of his party are controlled by the bondholders, and that its course is dictated by commercial greed. Why, then, does he remain in it? Does he hope to reform it? Why, seven thousand Pingrees couldn't reform a single one of the real leaders who have dedicated the organization to money and the money power. Why doesn't Governor Pingree come out from such an organization and carry out his Democratic principles under Democratic auspices?

Long Terms of Office.

There is an attempt being made in certain quarters to work up a sentiment in favor of longer terms of service for political officeholders. It is argued that if men were assured of a more extended stay in public service they would be more sincere, faithful and honest in the performance of their duties. Another argument in favor of this suggestion is that the great turmoil of frequently occurring elections is bad for the people.

Now, it is not at all certain that a long term of office would make men any more faithful in official performances than they are under the present arrangement. With the certainty that shortly they will be called to account, and if unfaithful denied a re-election, men have a great incentive to be efficient in their work. As for the turmoil of elections, the people seem to thrive pretty well on that sort of thing, and there does not appear to be any especial necessity of making a change in their behalf.

Demanding long terms of service for elected officials is a step toward aristocracy. If a man serves the people well he stands an excellent chance of being chosen again for the position he has filled acceptably. If he has proved unfaithful the people turn the rascal out. On the whole, the present plan is democratic and works well enough for all practical purposes.—Exchange.

Time to Show Some Sign.

It may be that the President is as earnestly and honestly opposed to a colonial or imperialistic policy as are the mass of American citizens, but the people received no assurance to this effect. It may be that he proposes to give to the Filipinos every opportunity of proving their capacity for self-government, but the people have no pledge or promise to this effect. It is now high time—especially if peace is impending in the Philippines—for the plain outlining of the administration's policy.—St. Louis Republic.

The Absurdity of Protection.

The Russian contract for 80,000 tons of steel rails has been given to American contractors for a bid the disparity of which with the nearest European competitor was equally amazing and gratifying. The difference in price between the successful American and the lowest European bid was 20 per cent. And yet the American manufacturer who can deliver steel rails in Russia one-fifth cheaper than his European competitor is protected against that competitor at home by a duty of $15 a ton.—New York Times.

News Censorship at Manila.

An innocent Western paper wants to know why the Manila news censorship is continued. Why, without a censorship every American would know that from the first the American soldiers have been making war on a people who are fighting for their freedom; a people who have suffered from one foreign yoke and do not hail the opportunity of putting on another foreign yoke with gladness and great joy.—Grand Rapids Democrat.

Placating Speaker Reed.

The placating of Reed will be the worst job that Boss Hanna ever undertook for his chief. The Speaker is an able, ambitious and vindictive person. He will be hard metal for the Ohio manager to mold, and he can neither be deceived nor hoodwinked. For whatever he yields to the administration it can safely be assumed that he will exact an iron-clad bond.—Denver News

Dingleyism and the Price of Wheat.

The anything-to-get-there editors of Republican papers, who were "pointing with pride" last year to dollar wheat as the consequence of McKinleyism and Dingleyism, are maintaining a silence now, with wheat at 65 cents, that commands intense admiration for their discretion.—St. Paul Globe.

More Fat for Eagan.

Another courtmartial is talked of for General Eagan in connection with the beef testimony. The agitation was probably started by the ex-commissary general's friends, in the hope that his sentence might restore his expense allowance during his six years' vacation.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Political Briefs.

The first question the next Congress will have to decide will be whether Speaker Reed or Mark Hanna has the longest whip.

The country would have happier wishes for President McKinley's vacation if it were not passed in Mark Hanna's company.

Reed is reported to have been moved to scornful laughter by the suggestion that he may be rolled when he runs for Speaker of the next House. If there is any rolling to be done, Thomas proposes to furnish the wheels.

Uncle Sam helped the Cubans "by request." The Filipinos helped Uncle Sam by request. Uncle Sam promised the Cubans liberty, but tells the Filipinos to fight for it. This shows how hard it is to be generous in two places at the same time.

ELECTROCUTION OF A WOMAN.

Mrs. Place, the First Woman in the World to Die in the Electric Chair.

The law is not a respecter of skirts. It makes no distinction of sex. The electric chair was not made for men alone, for the statute which prescribes death as a penalty for deliberate murder does not say that its provisions shall be inoperative if the criminal happens to be a woman.

But the law's machinery seems to get out of gear when a woman is involved. A sentiment that has its inception in the purity of woman is held up to protect the most degraded of the sex. Are the female criminals of the lower classes, it is argued that their very degradation precludes their realization of the enormity of the offense; if of the educated and well-to-do, then it cannot be that they would knowingly commit the crime. Insanity is pleaded in excuse. These influences usually have the desired effect on jurors and acquittal or a penalty altogether inadequate is the result. Should the jury fail to be influenced, then the higher courts and the Governor's pardoning or commuting power are appealed to. At some one of these various stages the murderess usually is saved.

Only twice in fifty years have women been executed in New York State. In both cases strenuous efforts were made to save them, but their crimes were so fiendish that mercy could not be successfully invoked in their behalf. These two were Roxalana Druse, hanged in Herkimer in 1887, and Martha Place, whose execution at Sing Sing was the first infliction of the death penalty upon a woman in the electric chair.

In the former case the victim went sobbing, moaning and shrieking to the gallows. Her screams resounded through the jail corridors. She feared death. Mrs. Place was different. Her death scene was lacking in sensational features. There was no noise, no manifestation of terror. A plea for heavenly mercy were the only words that broke the stillness of the death chamber. Her execution was no more revolting than if the victim had been a man.

MRS. MARTHA PLACE.

But it had unusual features, most notable of which was the presence of two women who had come upon the warden's request. One was Dr. Jennie Griffin, of Troy, who accepted an invitation because Gov. Roosevelt had said that a woman physician should be present, and the other, Miss Mary Meury, of Brooklyn, who had befriended Mrs. Place while in jail and who witnessed the painful ordeal because the condemned woman wanted her to be with her to the last

Mrs Place murdered her step-daughter in a most fiendish manner and made an almost successful attempt on the life of her husband. She was convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be executed in August, 1898. Her execution was stayed by an appeal to the Court of Appeals for a new trial. It was denied and March 20 was set as the new date of her execution. Then from New York came a protest against the execution of a woman. Gov. Roosevelt was appealed to. He said if she was insane he would save her life and had a commission appointed to examine her. They reported that she was sane and Roosevelt said then the law must take its course.

Couldn't Run Away.

There are times in war when one active brain is equivalent to a great many guns. Witness this incident of the German revolution of 1848, told to the Tribune by a German-American citizen of New York:

We were short of men, and had a large number of prisoners to look after. That did not worry us as long as we were not moving, but one day we had to make a forced march.

The country through which we were to pass was hostile, and extreme watchfulness was necessary. We had few enough men as it was, and we knew that our prisoners were ready to run at the first opening.

Finally a young officer made a brilliant suggestion, and it was promptly carried out. We ripped the suspender buttons from the prisoners' trousers, took away their belts, and knew we had them. Their hands were busy after that, and fast running was out of the question.

We made the march safely, and I do not believe that even Yankee ingenuity could have invented a simpler solution.

A Lucky Chance.

The discovery of the principle of the manufacture of satin was a pure accident. The word "satin," which originally was applied to all silk stuffs, has, since the last century, been used to designate simply those tissues which only present a lustrous surface. The discovery was made by a silk weaver named Octavio Mai. During a dull period of business one day he was pacing before his loom, not knowing how to give a new impulse to his trade.

As he passed the machine each time, he pulled some short threads from the warp, and, following an old habit, put them into his mouth and rolled them about, soon after spitting them upon the floor. Later he discovered a little ball of silk upon the floor of his shop, and was astonished at the brilliancy of the threads. He repeated the experiment and eventually employed various mucilaginous preparations, and succeeded in giving satin to the world.

Wedlock rhymes with deadlock. You can draw your own inference.

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....APRIL 6, 1899.

The Day for Easter.

MR. EDITOR.

DEAR SIR:—I am well aware that Easter comes the first Sunday after the first full moon that happens after the 21st of March. But I cannot understand why this is so. I know that the day is observed in the commemoration of our Savior's resurrection. Now I would like to know why this event is so changeable. It appears to me that the date should be the same every year, the same as any other noted day. Will some one please make this plain to me through the columns of the COURIER? H. A. WINSLOW.

ANSWER.

The only reason we have ever seen for the manner in which Easter is located, is, that the early Christians did not seem to agree as to what day should be celebrated to commemorate the resurrection of the Savior. Many believed no such day should be observed as it was too much like the then heathen nations, particularly Greece and Rome, whose manner of celebrating such days, was far from being religious. However, it soon was seen that the day would be celebrated any way. But at once there arose a difference as to the proper day. In the East St. John taught them to adopt the third day after the 14th day of the Jewish month Nizan, no matter what day of the week it may fall on. But in the West churches, St. Phillip and St. Paul taught their people to adopt the first Sunday after the full moon in the month of Nizan. As these two dates created some confusion, the Council of Arles in 314 decided that the day to be observed by the churches both east and west should be the 14th day of the March Moon. The Council of Nice, called by Constantine in 325 confirmed this, and for a long time the plan was used. But when the Gregorian Calendar for reckoning time was adopted in 1582, another change was necessary, and the present plan of using "the first Sunday after the first full moon after March 21," was adopted and still continues.

Be Liberated Soon

L. J. Miller and Dr. Nusbaum went to Michigan City last evening to meet the Board of Pardons that convenes in the prison today. The recent change in the law puts all prisoners in the same class whether sentenced before or after the indeterminate sentence law was passed. If it went into effect at once, Borst, Sawvel and Dills will be liberated at once and come home. If it does not go into effect at once, they will be liberated when it does, say early in June. This change was made because the prison is full of idle men who are prevented from work by an unwise law. It is better that all who have behaved themselves come home. Besides, there is a growing sentiment that all were not punished that should have been, and others think the men have already been punished as much as a longer term would make it. When they do come, they will have to give a bond that they will be properly employed a year at least, and all things considered it is perhaps the best that can be done.

Silver Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sherlock, of near Corunna, Ind., celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on Easter Sunday, April 2,

Those present were his aged mother, who is in her 88th year; their daughter Vida and husband and son Albert, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Sherlock and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dellenbach and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. S. Reinœhl and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stomm. All enjoyed a pleasant visit and an excellent dinner.

Send no Money.

Any reader of this paper can secure their choice of a Sterling Silve Bracelet, a good watch or Solid Gold Ring with a Genuine Diamond Setting, by distributing Flower Seed Cupons among their friends and acquaintances. Send your name with three two cent stamps to the American Seed C., 335 Broadway N. Y. today, and you will receive a package of choice seeds, $1.00 worth of Coupons, and full particulars.

EXHIBITION.

The fifth annual exhibition of the Fairfield Center school will be held in the Fairfield Center school house on Saturday evening, April 15. A good program, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, dialogues, plays, stump speeches and a debate is being prepared. A good time is expected. Every body come and go home feeling jolly.

C. E. Notice.

All members of the Christian Endeavor societies of the several churches are requested to meet at the Lutheran church Friday evening at 7:30, to arrange for the convention next June. The district secretary will be here, and hopes to meet as many as possible.

COURT NEWS.

Tuesday's Daily.

The Tomlinson divorce case from Butler, spoken of yesterday was decided by Judge Hartman. He gave her a divorce, after some study over the matter, for as they had been divorced once before, it was plain their married life was to be a failure. He also allowed her $800 alimony. The children are all of age so there was no decision as to them. They can go where they please. One daughter still lives at home.

This morning (Tuesday) the case of the Benninghoff will came up again. At a previous term Judge Watkins had decided that the personal property should be divided up among the heirs. The trouble came in over the real estate.

It appears that when Mr. Benninghoff died he left his property, both real and personal to his daughter, with a proviso, that if she died without heirs the entire property should go to the Evangelical Church Association of Cleveland, Ohio. But when she died a few years ago, the other heirs came in and asked to have the will set aside and the property given to them. At the time of the trial Judge Watkins gave them the personal property, but believing the law was different as to real estate he took time to study it over, and today decided that the real estate must go to the church just as Mr. Benninghoff had directed. Baxter & Brown were attorneys for the heirs, and Hoffman for the church. In the original trial, Judge Hartman was the attorney for the church.

This afternoon the case between the receiver of the Ashley Furniture Co., and Theo. Gary was on trial.

Wednesday's Daily.

The case against Gary from Ashley was continued this morning.

It appears that a few years ago, Geo. B. Gardiner was interested in furniture factory started at the boom town of Albany, Ind. Gardiner had put into that factory as his part of the investment some machinery he had bought in Cincinnati. The factory run but a short time and then failed and the Cincinnati parties who had sold Gardiner this machinery took it back. He however got into communication with parties at the then boom town of Ashley, and arranged to get up a company there to start a furniture factory. Gardiner convinced the Cincinnati parties who now held his machinery, that he probably could succeed at Ashley, and they let him have the machinery and he went to Ashley with it and became a stockholder and promoter in the Ashley company, together with Theo. Gary Mr. Strayer, Mr. McInturf and others. The factory was started up but again failed after a short life, and we believe the machinery of the Cincinnati parties went back to them. At all events the concern went into the hands of a receiver, W. T. Kimsey, of Angola. Now the receiver brings suit against Gary to compel him to account for some shares of stock in the company, which was issued to him, but which he never gave an account of. We understand this suit is carried on in the interest of Mrs. Gardiner, whose husband is now dead. She thinks and so stated on the witness stand that Gary had wronged her out of the property that her husband had invested. The receiver had sold for $500 machinery valued at over $2000. The suit is done, but no decision yet.

Notice to Contractors.

Notice is heriby given that the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb County Indiana will receive sealed proposals until April 20, 1899, at 1 o'clock p. m., for the building and erecting the superstructure and substructure of one steel bridge over Fish creek in Troy township. The survey profile, specifications and two general plans for the superstructure are on file in the Auditor's office.

Also at the same time and place bids will be received for the building and erecting of the substructure for the proposed bridge of either iron columns with stone backing or solid stone masonry. Profile plans and specifications are on file in the Auditor's office. Each bid must be accompanied with an affidavit and bond in compliance with an act of the General Assembly and in effect Feb. 28, 1899.

The Board reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

By order of the Board of Commissioners.

FRANK P. SEILER, Auditor.
Auburn, Indiana, March 28, 1899.

Thirty-four Years Ago Today

Tuesday's Daily.

Thirty-four years ago today was as bright as this day, but warmer. About 6 o'clock that evening came the tidings over the wire that Richmond had fallen. Bells began ringing joyfully, and every heart was lightened of a load. The old wooden court house, built in 1842, had been moved to a corner of the court square that it might still be used during the erection of the present building. Afterwards it had been sold to Mr. Altenberg, and in his enthusiastic joy, he gave the old temple of justice for a bonfire, and amid the ringing of bells and shouts of excited people, the old building burned to ashes.

A Life for 50 Cents

Many people have been cured of Kidney Diseases by taking a 50 cent bottle of Foley's Kidney Cure.

Happiness.

Who is the happiest person? He whose nature asks for nothing that the world does not wish and use.

THE 17th L. L. C. ANNUAL.

They Grow in Favor as They Grow in Years and this was One of Their Best

This enjoyable meeting to which all members and their fortunate guests look forward to with ever increasing pleasure, took place at the elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lackey on North Main-st. Sickness and unavoidable absence kept a few of the members away, but this, though regretted, must always be the case. Each member had the privielge of inviting one guest, and several received permission from those unavoidably absent, to use the invitation they were entitled to, and so the spacious residence was well filled.

Mr. Lackey himself received the guests at the door, and at the head of the stairs, two little misses, Floride Lackey and Edna Barnes, received them on the second floor. The club reception committee, proper, received in the front parlor. This committee was the officers of the club, Mrs. M. B. Willis, the president, Mrs. Lackey, the secretary; Mrs. Swineford, the treasurer and Miss Nellie Buckley, the critic. The vice-president, Mrs. Geo. Schaab, was assigned the duty of introducing the guests, to some "distinguished strangers." The favors, which were double hearts, neatly illustrated and tied together with ribbons, of the club colors, were given out by Mrs. A. C. Robbins and Miss Margaret Buckley. Each favor had on it the club monogram, and below that was written the date, "April 4, 1899." On the inside of the second heart was written for gentlemen, the first half of a verse from Mother Goose's rhymes, and the lady whose favor showed the other half of the same verse, became his partner at supper, provided he could find her.

The club had prepared a surprise on their guests, by securing a visit of four "distinguished people." They were "Samantha Allen," represented by Mrs Dr. Nusbaum; Elizabeth Cady Stanton, by Mrs. T. C. Ford; Mrs. Elizabeth Fry, the Quaker Philanthropist; by Mrs. James H. Rose; Susan B. Anthony, represented by Mrs. Barns. The reception given by these gray haired and peculiarly gifted old ladies was a constant source of amusement, especially as each had a make up that very closely resembled the original, and had committed to memory several of their noted sayings. Several of the ladies had met the originals and so were enabled to closely imitate their peculiarities. At a suitable hour an elegant lunch was served in four courses, these being:

1. Oyster Cocktail and Cheese Sandwiches.
2. Pressed Chicken, Egg Salad, Potato Chips, Bread and Butter Sandwiches. Pickles and Olives.
3. Ice Cream, Cake and Coffee.
4. Sugared Oranges. Dates, Fancy Cakes and Fruit Punch.

At a reasonable hour, the club members and guests took their leave, with many thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Lackey, the hosts of the evening, who are certainly splendid entertainers, as well as to the Club itself, to which all the guests feel indebted for one of the most successful and enjoyable functions of the season.

The spacious rooms were lovely with palms and flowering azaleas, arranged with great taste. The music was furnished by Miss Edna Davis, piano, and Margaret Ford, Mandolin, which added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion.

SURPRISED

The good ladies of District No. 8 in Fairfield township surpried both teachers and pupils, with a big dinner on their last day of school March 31. The surprise was secretly planned and well executed. Climbing fences and wading a deep snow which had fallen the night before, the party approached the school house so no one could see them and at 11:50 while the last class was reciting for the day, without a moment's warning the door flew wide open and the party entered, loaded with baskets and pails and even a bushel basket of dinner. There they stood. For a moment no one said a word. Finally the teacher, Isaiah O. Reinoehl suggested that it looked very much as if dinner had been brought to them in abundance and it would be a good plan to dispense with the class and put away all books and prepare a place to spread the dinner these welcome visitors had brought. There were seven nicely roasted chickens, boiled ham, boiled eggs by the dozen, bread by the basket, cakes in abundance hot tea and coffee in good supply and all the dainties that help to made up a splendid dinner.

After dinner, curtains were drawn and the declamations and dialogues were delivered. There were 11 dialogues 20 declamations and 7 songs, all well delivered. The dinner was a complete surprise to the teacher and every scholar. All pronounce it a complete success. There were 45 present.

INVITATION.

You are cordially invited to attend a demonstration of Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit at M. E. Garrett's Grocery Friday and Saturday April 7 and 8. A Cook Book given away with purchase.

"A Thrilling Night's Ride".

is the title of a very interesting story, which will be mailed free upon receipt of 2 cents postage, by A. H. Waggener, Jackson place, Indianapolis Ind.

CLUB NOTES.

The Up-to-Date Club met Friday evening with Marie Weamer. The young ladies had a nice time with games and graphaphone, and the social features concluded with a nice lunch in two courses. The next meeting will be with Pearl Sprott.

The L. L. C. met with Mrs. Swineford Saturday and spent a very pleasant afternoon. The subjects for the day were timely and those having papers had given time and care to the preparation of them. Mrs. Ralston gave a paper entitled "Fools is my Theme." She gave an account of the origin of "April Fool Day," which was interesting and closed with the statement that all the fools in this world were not "April Fools" giving examples as proof.

Mrs. Wilson followed with a paper entitled "Premonitions of spring." She commenced by saying that she was sorry that she could not speak of the "swelling buds and springing grass" as at that moment they were all hidden by a generous cover of the "beautiful." The paper was bright and enjoyable.

"The Pleasures of Housekeeping" was the subject of a paper by Mrs. Sprott. She tried to convince the members of the Club, that there were some pleasures in house cleaning and no doubt succeeded to some extent, especially when she said one of the pleasures was the pleasure of having it over. The paper was excellent.

These papers were followed by "Three minute speeches on Spring" by Mrs. Hartman, Mrs. McCord and Mrs. Olds. Mrs. Hartman not being able to be present sent her work which was given by Mrs. Barnes. Mrs. McCord gave her talk on Spring Poets. She failed to see why poets raved over the "gentle spring" All through the papers and talks on "spring" there ran a view of sarcasm that was appreciated by the club as they looked out of the windows and saw a furious storm in progress. Mrs. Olds took a more optimistic view and led our thoughts to what spring would be when it actually arrived.

Mrs. Husselman gave as back work a three minute talk on "Things Seen and Heard," taking as a theme, a recent vist to Lafayette and Purdue, This was very enjoyable as she brought to mind some former Auburn people, James Hoffman and Paul Davenport. After the appointing of necessary committees for the anniversary and the current news the Club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Hortense Robbins next Saturday.

The Reading Club met last Wednesday with Mrs. Lanning with a fair attendance. A leave of absence was granted to the President Mrs. Buchtel, who expects to make a visit of some length with her parents at Ligonier. The reading of the book was continued, with Mrs. Culbertson as reader for the day. After critic's report the club adourned to meet with Mrs. Jennie Weaver next Wednesday afternoon.

OBITUARY

Margaret A. Link nee Crowl was born in Brightenburgh, Germany, Nov. 25 1827, and died at her home in Franklin Tp., DeKalb Co., Indiana, March 29, 1899, aged 71 years, 4 month and 4 days.

Her parents came to this country and settled in Columbiana, Ohio, when she was seven years old. When quite young she united with the Presbyterian church and maintained this relation until her death. She was married to John Crowl, March 20, 1849, to which union was born seven children, six sons and one daughter. One son, the youngest preceded her to the land of rest. In the year 1853 they moved, from Ohio and settled in DeKalb Co., where they since resided. She was a faitful and loving wife and mother. She was an invalid for many years and welcomed death as a release from suffering. There remain to mourn their loss, her husband, five sons and one daughter, twenty grandchildren and one great-grandchild, one sister, three half-brothers and two half-sisters. Funeral services were held at the M. E church, at Hamilton, after which she was laid to rest in the cemetery at that place. She had selected the scripture and text for her funeral. Rev. C. E. Morman officiated.

The World's Railway.

A census of the world's railways recently compiled gives the following figures: In Europe the miles operated have risen in four years from 141,552 to 155,284; in Asia from 22,025 to 26,800; in Africa from 6,522 to 8,169; in American from 212,724 to 299,722, and in Australia from 12,322 to 13,888, making a total for the world of 433,953, against 395,143 four years ago. These figures show that Africa made the greatest proportionate advance, that continent's gain being over 25 per cent, against 9 per cent in Europe, 22 per cent in Asia, 8 per cent in America, 12½ per cent in Australia, and nearly 10 per cent for the entire world. The length of the world's railways in 1895 of 433,953 miles is more than seventeen times the circumference of the earth at the equator. The North American continent has a greater mileage than the rest of the world combined.

Long Delayed Correction.

Postmaster Tuttle of Carthage, Mo., has just received from the federal government a draft for $8.26 in payment of a debt that has been running since the civil war, but of which Tuttle knew nothing. It appears that in settling with Capt. Tuttle for his services as a soldier one day's pay was overlooked. It took Uncle Sam thirty-four years to discover the error.

Kidney Diseases

are the most fatal to all diseases. Foley's Kidney Cure a guaranteed remedy or money refunded.

At the Churches

There was a large attendance at the Presbyterian church yesterday, and Mr. Arlen preached one of his most excellent sermons, both morning and evening, winning high opinions from all. The music was fine, in fact it was grand. At the forenoon service, Mr. Widney was absent on account of sickness but the Pastor, who is a singer, took his place and the anthem was given with fine effect. The violin solo by Dr. Buchtel was of the best he ever gave and the obligato for Miss Trover's solo was also sweet as was the solo itself. Miss McBride and C. E. Baxter were the other members of the choir and with Mrs. Garwood at the organ the entire music part of the exercises has seldom been equaled. The text was Luke XXIV and parts of the 5th and 6th verses.

In the evening the pastor preached an eloquent discourse from the text "And the peace of God which passeth all understanding shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus," Philippians 4:7. The music was an excellent feature and one of the anthems sung in the morning was repeated in the evening.

The Christian Endeavor was fairly well attended, Miss Anna Cuppy leader.

In the evening the attendance was good, the music and sermon excellent.

The Sabbath school opened with the new officers at the helm and an increased attendance. The birthday offering amounted to over $13.00 with several more to hear from.

There were lovely flowers including roses, ferns and a large pot of house flowers in full bloom.

The Lutheran Easter services were splendid; in the morning the subject of the sermon was "products of Easter," from which was developed the thought of the benefits of Easter. How the sad death of Christ cast a deep gloom over his followers but his triumphal resurrection changed their sorrow into joy and insured the salvation of the world forever.

The subject in the evening was, "Unexpected Presence of Christ." When Christ came unexpectedly among his disciples after his resurrection. When Mary went to Christ's tomb and found the stone rolled away from the sepulcher, so with the heavy boulders of misfortune that fall across the pathway of life. If we trust in Christ we find them rolled away.

The services at the M. E. church in the morning were well attended, an excellent sermon was preached by the pastor on the subject of "Resurrection." The usual choir furnished the music. In the evening the children of the church gave an Easter Missionary entertainment consisting of songs and recitations. One of the important features of the evening's program was the locating on a map the different missionary stations of the M. E. church. The audience room was crowded.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Notice is hereby given that the Auditor of DeKalb County, Indiana, will on

Saturday, April 22, 1899

at 2 p.m., at his office in the court house, in the town of Auburn, receive sealed proposals for the construction of the Adam Doetz joint ditch, No. 685, located in Fairfield Township, DeKalb county, Indiana, and Salem Township, Steuben county, Indiana, and described as follows to-wit:

FIRST SECTION.

Commencing eighty-six (86) rods north of the east quarter corner of section number five [5] Fairfield Township, DeKalb county, Indiana, and from thence in an easterly direction ending at stake 27 plus 50 feet containing 2750 feet.

SECOND SECTION

Commencing at stake 27 plus 50 feet of said ditch, ending at stake No, 55 containing 2750 feet.

THIRD SECTION

Commencing at stake No. 55 of said ditch end at stake No. 82 plus 50, containing 2750 feet.

FOURTH SECTION

Commencing at stake No. 82 plus 50 feet of said ditch ending at stake No. 110, said ending point being in Turkey Creek lateral at a point nine hundred seventy-five [975] feet north and seven-hundred seventy [770] feet east of the center of section thirty-three [33], Township thirty-six [36] [Salem Tp] North Range Twelve (12) east, Steuben county, Indiana.

Said work will be sold in four (4) sections as described above, and to the lowest responsible bidder.

But no bid will be entertained which exceeds the estimated cost of construction as set forth in the report of the viewers.

All contractors will be required to keep their sections well staked and numbered contractors to whom work is sold will be required to enter into contract and execute a bond in compliance with the provisions of law. (Acts 1893 Page 331.)

Specifications of said work can be seen at the County Auditor's office, Auburn.

FRANK P. SEILER,
Auditor DeKalb Co. Ind.
Auburn, Ind., April 5, '99.

The Earls Poulett.

The Earls Poulett, whose family affairs seem likely before long to occupy a good deal of public attention, come of a highly distinguished stock. They descend from a younger branch of the Paulets, Marquises of Winchester, and one of the best-known ancestors of the late earl was that Sir Amiss Paulett (the spelling of the name has suffered vicissitudes) who was knighted on the field for his valor at the battle of Newark when Lambert Cimnel was defeated. This doughty knight likewise distinguished himself by committing Cardinal Wolsey to the stocks when that great churchman was as yet only a Somersetshire schoolmaster. The first earl was John, fourth Baron Poulett, of Hinton St. George, who was given two steps in the peerage for having been one of the commissioners who negotiated the treaty of union with Scotland. Hinton St. George is a fine place near Crewkerne, but the revenues of the earldom have been a good deal reduced by the agricultural depression of the last twenty years.

A Rare Occasion.

Only one out of every 1,000 married people live to celebrate their golden wedding day.

What Can We Offer You

In the way of.....

HARDWARE and FARM MACHINERY

that will attract your attention?

We have the most complete stock ever seen in our city, and you know that, as usual, our prices are right

Do you need anything for spring that we carry

?

Do you know that we have built up a wonderful trade by right prices and right goods.

?

Do you know that we have the most complete stock of

Hardware,
Farm Machinery
Wagons and Buggies

in DeKalb County

?

If you will drop in and see us we will be able to convince you at once that we have the goods that you want, and the prices alone will tell the story.

Don't fail to see our Carriage Repository, it is the finest in Northern Indiana,

Culbertson & Boland
Auburn, Ind.

FOURTEEN TIMES WEDDED.

Many-Times Bride Tries for Nuptial Bliss Again.

To have just successfully gone through her fourteenth marriage ceremony is the reputation earned by Polly, the present wife of William Owens. She is but 50 years of age and looks as though she would survive her fourteenth and at least a dozen more husbands. She is the mother of six children, the result of her former marriages. She was married the first time when she was 15 years of age, and was left a widow two years later. Since then she has averaged a marriage every two years. She has secured eight or nine divorces, while death has done the releasing in the other cases. She is part Indian, her mother being a half-caste. By marriage she has relationship with half the people of Hendricks county. There is no one in Indiana who closely approaches her record. There are two or three cases of marriage the sixth time, and one case where marriage was entered into the seventh time, but she discounts that record. Young Benson Ebgers of Hendricks county, however, is in a fair way to attain a similar distinction. He has just passed his nineteenth year and is preparing to contract his fourth marriage. He was married the first time when he was but 14 years of age and his wife but 12. The marriage was upon consent of parents. He treated his wife like she was a plaything, and when he grew tired of her he slung her around like she was a doll, and scared her to death by drawing razors across her throat and throwing her on the floor and holding a red-hot poker over her. She got tired of this and went to her home. The marriage was annulled. The next two were also terminated by his arbitrary bursts of freakishness.

Birds That Dance.

There is no longer doubt that birds are addicted to the dance. The bower bird and the prairie fowl are adepts in the art, while the American grouse is a veritable master of ceremonies. It is the custom of these birds to prepare their ballroom by beating down the grass with their wings, and then to dance something suspiciously like the Lancers. By twos and fours they advance, bowing their heads and drooping their wings; then they recede and then advance again and turn on their toes, swelling their feathers and cluck-ing gently.

DeadSea Steamer.

There is now a small steamer on the Dead Sea.

THE BEST OF THEM ALL!!

LIPPINCOTT'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE

Contains a complete novel in every number, in addition to a large quantity of useful and entertaining reading matter.

No continued stories, which are so objectionable to most readers.

It should be in every household. Subscription, $3.00 per year.

Agents wanted in every town, to whom the most liberal inducements will be offered.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY, Publishers, PHILADELPHIA.

IDEAL MUSIC,

"Sweet as the angel Israfil's,
When every leaf on Eden's tree
Was trembling to his minstrelsy."

can be produced from an EBERSOLE PIANO. The Ebersole possesses a tone that no other maker has been able to imitate—being full and deep, yet with that clear singing quality which stamps it the peer of all upright pianos for homes of culture and refinement.

Frank B. Long,
119 Calhoun St. cor Washington,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

HIGH-GRADE
HAWTHORNE
$22.50 NET.

SPECIFICATIONS. Name—Hawthorne. Cranks—8½ inch (diamond shape). Chain—3-15 inch best hardened centers and rivets (Indianapolis B best quality), straw center and blued sides. Frame—Regular 24-inch, option 22 or 26 inches. Finish—Dark myrtle green, neatly hand striped. Gear—Regular 73, option 78; 10 tooth rear and 28 front sprockets are used on 73 gear, 10 and 28 on 78. Handle Bars—Adjustable. Pedals—Bridgeport, rat trap. Saddle—Gilliam, padded top. Spokes—Tangent, Excelsior Needle Co's best, No. 2, 33 front, 36 rear. Tires—1¾-inch Morgan & Wright double tube. Tool Bag—Containing wrench, oiler, repair outfit and spanner. Tread—¾-inch. Tubing—Shelby cold drawn seamless. Wheel Base—43½ Inches. Wheels—28 inches. Weight—(About) 32 pounds.

15000 Sold in 1898

It's as good as any wheel made. All modern improvements. Guaranteed for one year. If not found as represented, return at our expense both ways, and you can have your money back on demand

ASK US TO SEND YOU OUR FREE BICYCLE CATALOG

Send 15 cents for our 1,000 page catalogue. It lists everything used by mankind.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., CHICAGO.

Call For County Orders

All orders dated prior to Jan. 1, 1899, to No. 1,333; will be paid if presented to Treasurer. Interest will stop on called orders April 8, 1899.

F. M. HINES,
Treasurer of DeKalb.

Opera House Notice.

The doors of the Opera House will be open at the entertainments this week at 7:30 and the curtain will rise promptly at 8:15. All should bear this in mind and be present to see the first scenes.

SPRING SHOES

We are showing some very exclusive styles in Ladies' Fine Dress Shoes, the product of the best shoe manufacturers in this country.

We wish to call your attention in particular to these:

A Ladies' Fine Kid Shoe with fancy scroll questing lace stay and military heel, in black and tan shades. Never was sold less than $3 50 before..... $3.00

A Ladies' Hand Turned Shoe in black, perfectly plain, no tip, no stitching on vamp or upper, military heel, the finest kid there is cut. Sells in the cities at $5 00, at..... $4.00

A Ladies' Hand Turned Shoe, in tan, same as the one described above except has fancy scroll vesting top. Designed for both comfort and beauty, at..... $4.00

A Handsome Tan Shoe, on the new "Pug" Last, fancy outside leather, scroll lace stay stay with silver eyelets, a beauty. Regular price $3.50, at..... $3.00

A Fine Turn Shoe in black, fancy scroll pattern top, with military heel and imitation tip, very dressy and easy, worth $4.00, at..... $3.50

A Fine Kid Shoe with silk vesting top, "Pug" Last, an up-to-the-minute shoe, at $2.50

The prettiest Misses', Children's and Infant's shoes ever shown in DeKalb county, at prices per pair from..... 25 to $2.00

We are striving for your trade.

Bishop AND Reidler

YOUR SHOEMAKERS.

Dr. Humphreys'

Specifics act directly upon the disease, without exciting disorder in other parts of the system. They Cure the Sick.

NO.	CURES,	PRICES.
1	Fevers, Congestions, Inflammations.	.25
2	Worms, Worm Fever, Worm Colic...	.25
3	Teething, Colic, Crying, Wakefulness	.25
4	Diarrhea, of Children or Adults.....	.25
7	Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis.....	.25
8	Neuralgia, Toothache, Faceache.....	.25
9	Headache, Sick Headache, Vertigo...	.25
10	Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Weak Stomach.	.25
11	Suppressed or Painful Periods....	.25
12	Whites, Too Profuse Periods.....	.25
13	Croup, Laryngitis, Hoarseness.....	.25
14	Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Eruptions..	.25
15	Rheumatism, Rheumatic Pains.....	.25
16	Malaria, Chills, Fever and Ague.....	.25
19	Catarrh, Influenza, Cold in the Head	.25
20	Whooping-Cough	.25
27	Kidney Diseases	.25
28	Nervous Debility.....	1.00
30	Urinary Weakness, Wetting Bed...	.25
77	Grip, Hay Fever.....	.25

Dr. Humphreys' Manual of all Diseases at your Druggists or Mailed Free.

Sold by druggists, or sent on receipt of price. Humphreys' Med. Co., Cor. William & John Sts. New York.

William's Kidney Pills

Has no equal in diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs. Have you neglected your Kidneys? Have you overworked your nervous system and caused trouble with your Kidneys and Bladder? Have you pains in the loins, side, back, groins and bladder? Have you a flabby appearance of the face, especially under the eyes? Too frequent desire pass urine? William's Kidney Pills will impart new life to the diseased organs, tone up the system and make a new man of you. By mail 50 cents per box.

WILLIAMS MFG. CO., Props., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

VICK'S SEEDS

Bulbs and Plants have gone to thousands of satisfied Customers for a half century and to celebrate the 50th year in business we have issued a Special Golden Wedding Edition of which is a work of art. It has 24 pages lithographed in colors, 4 pages souvenir, and nearly 100 pages filled with handsome half-tone illustrations of Flowers, Vegetables, Plants, Fruits, etc., elegantly bound in white and gold. A marvel in Catalogue making; an authority on all subjects pertaining to the garden, with care for the same, and a descriptive catalogue of all that is desirable. It is too expensive to give away indiscriminately, but we want everyone interested in a good garden to have a copy, therefore we will send the Guide with a DUE BILL for 25 cents worth of flower and vegetable seeds } for 15 cts

Vick's Garden and Floral Guide

It tells how credit is given for full amount of purchase to buy other goods.

Vick's Little Gem Catalogue

A perfect little gem of a price list. It is simply the Guide condensed, finely illustrated, and in handy shape for reference. FREE enlarged, improved, and up to date on all subjects relating to Gardening, Horticulture, etc. Regular subscription price 50 cents a year.

Vicks Monthly Magazine,

Special 1899 offer—the Magazine one year and Vick's Garden and Floral Guide, for 25 cents.

OUR NEW PLAN of selling Vegetable Seeds gives you more for your . . . money than any other seed house . in America.

JAMES VICKS SONS, ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Monday's Daily.

—Carpetine for sale at Baxter's Restaurant.

—Millinery is always a little cheaper at Trentman Sisters.

—Dr. Nedry and Attorney Brink were over from Butler today.

—Ask any druggist for a free Pe-ru-na Almanac for the year 1899.

—Miss Zora Sommers retured to her studies at Fayette, Ohio today.

—The best and latest including oval mounts, may be seen at the Hoffman gallery. 13-15

—Dr. Vesta Swarts reports a little daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trumpey last Saturday.

—John Snyder and wife of Angola were guests over Sunday of the family of his brother S. C. Snyder.

—Joseph Kelham, of LaOtto, remembered the COURIER early this morning while in town paying his taxes.

—If you want the latest styles and the best good shoes to be had for the money patronize Shulls shoe store.

—Cyrus Maurer was right when he thought this office needed wood Saturday. It was a most timely contribution.

—D. T. Smith and Samuel Miller were in town this forenoon with a big load of baled straw, in spite of the bad roads.

—Cal. Refner came into town this forenoon with two fine Mallard ducks he had just shot somewhere along the creek bottom.

—Among the latest names on the COURIER list are George F. Liens and S. Lindsay. And there is room for other good men.

—In court, the divorce case of Mrs. Tomlinson of Butler against her husband, C. W. Tomlinson, has occupied a good deal of the day, —Misses Katy and Lulu Berg and their brother Phil, were home over Sunday for a visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Berg.

—Miss Minnie Hoff has been for some time employed as sales clerk in her father's grocery. She fills the position with ability and faithfulness.

—Running Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, etc., quickly cured by Banner Salve the most healing salve in the world. Price 25 cents. No other "just as good."

—Rev. W. L. Meese officiated at a wedding yesterday at New Era, at the home of John Larkins. The groom was Alfred Lane' of that place, and the bride Miss Vina Keck, of Garrett.

—Mrs. Jeff Boyle, of Butler, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Silver. On Sunday evening she was joined by her husband who was here today, a witness in a case from that place.

—There was a nice party of young people at Ralph Robbinson Saturday which those present say it was very enjoyable. It was in honor of his cousin Miss Geraldine Sembower.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles McClellan and son Charlie came home from Roann today. They had been there several days, visiting the family of W. C. Hartman. The latter are all well, —John Treesh starts out assessing today. He works the township outside of Auburn, while Mr. Saxton and Mr. Otto assess within the town. The real estate has to be assessed this year.

—Mrs. Sadie Wildeson, of Chicago, came home Saturday to visit a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Treesh. She and her mother go to Garrett today to visit her sister Mrs. Moses.

A Battle For Life. You need for perfect health a plentiful and constant supply of new blood. Begg's Blood Purifier and Blood Maker tones the stomach and assists digestion. We sell it. H. B McCord.

—If you have a cough, throat irritation, weak lungs, pain in the chest, difficult breathing, croup or hoarseness. let us suggest One Minute Cough Cure Always reliable and safe. Fischler & Son and H. B McCord.

—Rev. L. B. Adams who is preaching now at the Mission is a son of Dr. Adams one of our best known citizens. Mrs. Adams joins her husband here, and they will labor jointly at the Mission the rest of the week.

—The case against James W. Clark explained in full last week, was finished Saturday evening and went against him. Judge Adair decided he must pay Mrs. Gonser and Mr. Frick each the $500 and interest due on it.

—Mrs. Lanning informs us that her brother Ed Yates, came home Saturday to his father's at Reading. He had been serving with the 19th regulars in Cuba and as his time was out, preferred to come back rather than stay in Cuba.

—Rev. W. L. Meese was called to New Era this afternoon to preach at the funeral of Mrs. A. Freeman who died at their home, at Freeman's Corners last night. The funeral is at Cedar Chapel Tuesday at 10:00 a. m. and interment there.

—Hereafter, commissioners cannot allow pay for things voluntarily furnished; and they will have no power to pay anything for the relief of any poor person, unless he is an inmate of the poor farm. Nor can they pay for medical services for any poor person who is not in the county poor house.

—As the season of the year when pneumonia, la grippe, sore throat, colds, coughs, catarrh, bronchitis and lung troubles are to be guarded against, nothing "is a fine substitute," will "answer the purpose," or is "just as good" as One Minute Cough Cure. That is the one infallible remedy for all lung, throat or bronchial troubles. Insist vigoorously upon having it if "something else" is offered you. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

AT LACKEY'S

BIG BARGAINS FOR CAREFUL BUYERS.

Come to Auburn and Take Advantage of These Prices

To our out-of-town customers we will make it worth your time to visit our store. Until another issue of the COURIER reaches you we shall sell an unlimited assortment of goods at prices that will please you, no matter if you have had your patience tried in reaching the city over such roads. If you stop to consider the excellence of the goods you get from us you will readily see why so many people trade here. And this is just the reason why we can offer you such low prices. So come.

Good Corsets, all sizes, worth 40c, only 29c.

Ladies Wrappers at 49c, 68,c 98c.

Gents shirts, assorted colors, with two collars and pair cuffs, 50c.

Cretonne table covers, nicely fringed, worth 35c, only 25c.

5-4 Table oil cloth, per yd. only, 8c.

Cotton Huck towels, regular 10c quality, per pair, only 5c.

9-4 unbleached sheeting, worth 15c per yard, only 11c.

Gents linen collars, late styles, worth 15c, only, 10c.

Soft finished kid cambric, 10 yd. lengths only, worth 50c, only 30c.

Gents tecks, bows, etc., worth 25c, only 19c.

All our 50c neckwear for gentlemen, consisting of the latest styles and colors, only 39c.

Ladies' black silk umbrella 26 inch, worth 90c. only 79c.

Childrens umbrella 26 inch, worth 50c, only 39c.

Ladies' colored silk umbrellas in blue, green, red, cardinal, cheap at $3, only $2.

Men's suspenders, best 20c value, only 15c.

Ladies' navy blue, black, tan and gray wool serge mackintosh, cheap at $4, only $2.98.

Misses navy blue serge mackintoshes worth $2.25, only $1.69.

Shirting worth 8c yd., regular, only 6c yd.

Ladies' fleece lined hose worth 25c, only 10c.

Children's all wool hose, worth 25c, only 15c.

Yard wide Percales, worth 10c yd, only 7c.

Torchon laces, 1½ to 3½ inches wide, worth from 8c to 15c per yd, only 5c yd.

8-4 Turkey red table cover, worth $1, only 79c.

Pure white pearl buttons, sizes 18 to 24, worth 10c doz., only 5c doz.

KANTOPEN hooks and eyes, 2 doz. on card, worth 5c, only 3c.

One-fourth off on all dress goods remnants.

Mill end Ginghams worth 6c yd, only, 5c.

Mill end Percales, worth 12½c yd, only, 10c.

Felt shades on spring rollers, 6 feet long, only, 8c.

Cotton Batts, fair quality, our price 4c.

Basting thread, 200 yard spool, 3 spools for 5c.

Pins, 520 for 1c.

Ammonia for the bath and laundry, large bottles, 10c.

Look at our line of Carpets and Rugs; compare them with any in this vicinity; you'll find them matchless in merit.

Our millinery is always better, more artistic, and lower priced, than elsewhere.

White shaker flannel, 27 in. wide, worth 6c and 7c yd, only, 4c.

Good steel shears, 5 to 9 inches, cheap at 50c, only 35c.

Silicia, slate colors, just unpacked, worth 15c yd, only 10c yd.

Crash, 18 inches bleached, worth 10c yd, only, 8c yd.

Boys' negligee shirts worth 75c, now a good time to buy at 50c.

Lace curtains, three yards long. offered elswhere at 75c, at the Big Store you can buy them any time at 50c per pair.

Overalls, blue, black and stripes, warranted not to rip, 50c.

Men's strictly home made working shirts, an astonishing value at 25c.

Overshirts, blue checked at 35c.

Working shirts for men, well made full size, 50c.

Linoleum and floor oil cloth for the kitchen.

Mattings for the dining room.

Don't forget to come.

G. W. LACKEY.
Auburn, Ind.

Always watch our ads for we have many bargains in store for you.

These prices good until Thursday, April 13.

FAIRFELD CENTER

Rev Campbell preached an interesting serman here Sunday

Miss Bixler has purchased a house and lot in this place.

Miss Rosa Collins is quite poorly.

David Martz is sick at this writing.

H. G. Bower was home from Angola over Sunday.

Myron Pontius has been sick for the past few days.

C. E. next Sunday evening at the usual hour.

Elmer Pontius began work for Philip High Monday.

Mrs. Vesta Gardner visited with her parents Sunday.

George Rowe will move on the Burch farm this week.

Tuesday's Daily.

—A. P. Foltz of Garrett was here today on business.

—T. R. Marshall of Columbia City, is here, being interested in court work.

—Ask your Grocer Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuits the Natural Health Food.

—Mrs. Jacob Wagner and son, Elwood went to Ashley today to visit relatives a few days.

—The largest sky and side light, and best working tools in the county are in the Hoffman gallery. 13-15

—Arthur Nelson returned today from Fort Wayne, where he had attended the Teachers' Association.

—Mr. James Griswold is able to be on the streets. He has been confined to his home for several weeks.

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co., Goshen, Ind. 8

—Dr. Stamets reports the old lady out north of town who was operated on some time ago, as getting along all right in spite of her advanced age.

—Milo Thomas of Corunna was in town and chipped in on the Old Reliable COURIER for himself and our mutual friend Christian Barkey. That's what helps a fellow out.

—O. W. Binder has put the city water into his room in the Sheets building, and also into the residence of Perry Muhn on South Cedar-st. He is starting the spring work finely.

—Mrs. L. D. Nelson, of Concord township, is the guest of friends here. She is a sister to John Keeran and to the Misses Ellen and Laura Keeran. Her son Frank is teacher at the Junction.

—"Give me a liver regulator and I can regulate the world," said a genius. The druggist handed him a bottle of Dewitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—Elsie Caruth and Mae Rose came back from Chicago last evening. They report the city beautiful in its display of Easter goods. They also called on the family of C. M. Merica and report all well and enjoying themselves.

Begg's Cherry Syrup gives you the essential qualities of the cherry tree bark from which it derives its name. It cures your stubborn colds, coughs of long standing and croup. It is the best known cure for LaGrippe. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Some hunters up at Pleasant Lake got the joke on themselves one day last week by shooting both barrels into a flock of wooden decoy ducks. For a minute or so, they wondered why the birds didn't fly. Now, they know.

—The Commissioners are in session today the business being to hear the reports of trustees. They are also having under consideration, the arrangements for receiving water for the public use, from the city water mains.

—Happy is the man or woman who can eat a good hearty meal without suffering afterward. If you cannot do it, take KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE. It digests what you eat, and cures all forms of Dispepsia and Indigestion. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—Trustees Jackman of Smithfield, Kelham of Keyser, Thrush of Butler, Dancer of Jackson, were here today to meet the county superintendent and arrange matters in regard to changes in the law as to the coming enumeration of school children. Councilman John Rickel of Waterloo was here for the same purpose.

—The American National Red Cross is establishing hospital service in Cuba for the benefit of the poor and suffering of that island. They are also increasing their service in the Philippines about Manila, and other points where they can alleviate the sufferings of war, and the distress that usually accompanies it. They ask from all friends of the cause of humanity, such contributions as they see fit to make.

—The meeting at the Mission will continue every night this week and on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at 2:30 p. m. the Father the Son and the Holy Spirit will be magnified in these services. Repentance and forgiveness will be preached, and holiness without which no man shall see the Lord. Life is passing Death and after that the judgment are impending. There is no escape. Are you ready to meet them?

Unique New Year's Greeting.

This is the New Year's address of the Porto Rican band of San Juan to Gen. Henry: "The Porto Rican band of music who translate from the soul that loves dream the harmony of the sun and the light of day; who interpret with sweetness the high sentiments of that who devoted his fondness to the native land, respectfully and filled with fervor, take pleasure in congratulating you, and ask from the Creator everlasting happiness for you. In this dawn of our new era, full of deep solicitude, long for the praise of the whole world to make of it a present for you. Porto Rico, January 1st, 1899."

Needs No Talking.

A. G. Kent of Grand Rapids, Mich., a deaf mute traveling salesman, does a big business, in spite of his affliction. On his card is the inscription, "Agent for the company that needs no talking."

Deep Wells.

The following are some of the deepest wells in the world: In Europe, one at Passy, France, 2,000 feet; at La Chapelle, Paris, 2,950 feet; at Grenelle, Paris, 1,798 feet; at Neussalwark, near Minden, 2,288 feet; at Kissingen, Bavaria, 1,878 feet; at Sperenberg, near Berlin, 4,190 feet; at Pesth, Hungary, 3,182 feet.

Wednesday's Daily.

—The 160th will be mustered out April 25.

—Scrub your floors and wood work with Carpetine, tf

—For up-to-date millinery go to Trentman Sisters.

—Hoffman Gallery for best pictures absolutely guaranteed. 13-15

—Remove the grease and stains from your carpets with Carpetine.

—Miss Edith Mortoff, of east of town, has been the guest of Miss Effie Hines

—Try a package of Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit. For sale by all grocers.

—Dr. A. L. Hines returned to Warsaw yesterday after a brief visit with his mother.

—W. C. Carmer and Mrs. Matilda Farver have thanks for subscriptions paid yesterday.

—The photographer's wife looks after the ladies and babies who visit the Hoffman gallery. 13-15

—Don't think about buying shoes until you have seen the new styles at Shull's shoe store. D-W-tf.

—J. N. Wilson is putting an addition to his residence, and will have rooms for another family.

—FOR SALE. Two good horses, ages 7 and 4. Call on T. J. Baxter 2½ miles east of Summit, Ind.

—If you want a fine time piece, call on W. A. Davidson the jeweler. Fine repairing a specialty. 1-8

—F. K Blake is elected an alderman for the 26th Ward in Chicago. The lucky Auburn man again.

—TO RENT:—The rooms, (furnished) in the Bradford House. Enquire of SPROTT & KNAPP.

—In buying your millinery, at the Trentman Sisters you get both style and price. Leave your order with us.

—Talking about styles in shoes. if you want the real thing, call at Shull's shoe store and take a look at the new styles for spring. D-W-tf.

—Charlie Weirick, of Garrett, has been taking visits with friends here He will be remembered as one of the members of Company K. of the 157th.

The city election in Chicago yesterday resulted in a democratic victory as predicted in Monday's DAILY. Carter Harrison has a plurality of almost 40,000.

—Demonstration of Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit at Garrett's Grocery Friday and Saturday. Citizens of Auburn are invited to test the merits of these goods.

—Frank Beuchat and his son-in-law, Lewis Traster of Fairfield were callers yesterday. The latter has bought the B. F. Wiltrout farm near there, and they were here to make out the papers.

—BEGG'S HAIR RENEWER.—The old reliable Hair Restorer and Invigorator, for over thirty years the leader in its line. If you give it a trial you will recommend it to your friends. Sold by H. B, McCord.

—MARRIED:—April 2, at Waterloo, by Rev. C E. Moormam, Mr. George Pepple and Miss Amelia Haines. The bride and groom are young people of sterling quality and we predict for them a happy future.

F, E. Lane received a letter from Alex. McDonald, formerly a corporal in Co. K., but now connected with a company of U S. Artillery stationed at St. Augusta, Fla., stating that his company would leave for Honolulu this week

—FOR SALE CHEAP:—A Lady's "1897 Model" Bicycle, in First-class condition, Green Enameled frame, highly ornamented nickel-plated, with Bell, good Lamp and Cyclometer. Will sell very cheap for cash. For information call at this office.

—A. J. Ralston remembers well the incident mentioned in the COURIER as to what happened 34 years ago. He was a participant, and knew "just who" fired the old building. It was a two-story frame. and at the time, he thinks it stood just north of the present court house. It was already partly torn down and the material was fully consumed, —Tipton Tribune:—Kokomo is now in the midst of intense excitement. The alert newspaper men of that city have just discovered that a factory has crept into the place, and is running on steady time. It came unheralded and asked no land, no gas, or cash bonus. This a penitentiary offense in the gas belt, and the culprits will, no doubt, be harshly dealt with.

Do you understand that the persistant use of Begg's Blood Purifier and Blood Maker will drive disease germs out of your system and life will again be worth living. You cannot cure it in one week or one month, a blood trouble that has been years in getting a foothold. Begg's Little Giant Pills should be taken twice a week with this remedy. We keep it. H. B McCord.

—Shirl Herr, Lebanon, has invented a powder which, he says, is made expressly for throwing dynamite shells. It burns slowly at first, and gradually increases in rapidity. This causes no concussion, and handling the explosive is made safe He tested the powder in a gas pipe, which sent a projectile through eight inches of seasoned oak, and threw a dynamite shell 1,200 yards.

Sorry He Spoke.

It was once the fortune of a man who was ugly both in temper and in features to sit opposite to Douglas Jerrold at a dinner party. Whilst the cloth was being removed the latter managed to break a glass. His vis-a-vis, thinking to turn the laugh at him, at once said: "What, already, Jerrold? Why I never break a glass." "I am surprised at that," Jerrold answered. "You ought to whenever you look in one."

Attractive Spring Ideas..

Newest Spring Styles, Best Spring Values. When you note the qualities and prices, you'll believe in our willingness to offer you your spring selections.

Men's Shirting, per yard	5c to 9c	Near Silks for Ladies' Underskirts, New things for spring in colors	23c
Best of Denims.....	10c	Eberton Strip Skirting at.	16c
Percales for Boy's Waists	5c	Taffita in Color.....	10c
Turkey Red Table Cloth	22 to 25c	Celisias in Color....	8c
Cottonade for Boys Pants	13c	Cambrics in Color.....	5c
Ginghams, Pretty New Styles for Spring	5½ to 10c	Edgeworth Brush Binding in Color at.....	5c

Don't forget our assortment of EMBROIDERIES. Prices to suit the buyer.

CUSPIDORES. This wesk we will sell a twenty-cent Cuspidore for..... 10c

FLOWER POTS in the Painted, Bronze or Common ones, this week for..... 4c to 14c

Granite Ware

1 qt Pail with Lid at.....	10c	Oat Meal Boilers.....	48c
Stew Pans..... ...10 to 15c		Stew Kettles.....	18 to 39c
Dish Pan.....	39c	Pressed Water Buckets....	48c
Tea Kettle.....	59c	Wash Boards.....	15c

Groceries This Week.

Lion Coffee.....	9c	Soda ½ lb for 3c or 1 lb...	5c
XXXX Coffee.....	9c	Bazar Baking Powder 1 pound can for..... We guarantee every can.	15c
Arbuckle Coffee.....	9c	4 Brothers Axle Grease....	8c
Navy Beans.....	2½c	Mica Axle Grease.....	8c
Oat Meal.....	3c
Crackers 7c or 3 lbs for.	20c

Bazar Store,

Corner Main and 9th Sts

Auburn, Ind.

Children's Day

Saturday, April 8th

Special Prices will Be Made On

Photographs

of children three years of age and under, Mothers should take advantage of this occasion, as special scenery has been prepared, and the entire day will be devoted to children.

Come Early.

O. E. Lybarger,

Photographer

VICK'S SEEDS

Bulbs and Plants have gone to thousands of satisfied Customers for a half century and to celebrate the 50th year in business we have issued a Special Golden Wedding Edition of VICK'S GARDEN AND FLORAL GUIDE, which is a work of art. It has 24 pages in colors, 4 pages souvenir, and nearly 100 pages filled with handsome half-tone illustrations of Flowers, Vegetables, Plants, Fruits, etc., elegantly bound in white and gold. A marvel in Catalogue making; an authority on all subjects pertaining to the garden, with care for the same, and a descriptive catalogue of all that is desirable. It is too expensive to give away indiscriminately, but we want everyone interested in a good garden to have a copy, therefore we will send the Guide with a Due Bill for 25 cents worth of Seeds for only 15 cts. It tells how credit is given for full amount of purchase to buy other goods.

Vick's Little Gem Catalogue. A perfect little gem of a price list. It is simply the Guide condensed, finely illustrated, and in handy shape. FREE

Vick's Illustrated Monthly Magazine, enlarged, improved; and up to date on all subjects relating to Gardening, Horticulture, etc., 50 cents a year. Special 1899 offer—the Magazine one year and Vick's Garden and Floral Guide, for 25 cents.

Our new plan of selling vegetable seeds gives more for your money than any other Seed House in America.

JAMES VICKS SONS, ROCHESTER, N. Y.

YOU CAN USE IT 20 DAYS FREE

Up-to-date in every detail.

Ask us to ship you one of our High Arm Sewing Machines with Ball Bearings and all Modern Improvements. This we will do by express to any station within 500 miles of Chicago. Upon arrival deposit our price, $19.50, and express charges, with the express agent of your town, then

TAKE THE MACHINE HOME AND TRY IT FOR 20 DAYS

If you are perfectly satisfied with the machine, keep it, otherwise return it to the express agent, and he will give you all your money back. If you prefer, we will ship by freight and draw on you through your nearest bank, draft attached to Bill of Lading. When machine comes pay draft, and take machine from station. If you don't like it, return it by freight, and we will refund. We guarantee the machine for ten years. Remember you take no risk. It don't cost you one cent unless you take the machine. We have sold over 100,000, and they are all giving perfect satisfaction. IT'S SPECIAL FEATURES are Ball Bearing, Light Running, Durable, Easily Operated, Noiseless, Double Positive Feed, Self Threading Shuttle, Self-Setting Needle, Tension Liberator, Automatic Spooler, High Arm, Nickle-plated working parts, Steel bearings, Improved steel Attachments, Superior Finish, Highly Polished Bent Woodwork, Oak or Walnut.

Originators of The Catalogue Business. Send 15 cents for our 1000-page catalogue. It lists everything used by mankind.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., Michigan Ave. & Madison St., Chicago.

THE OCEAN CURRENTS

TREND OF THOSE IN THE ARCTIC TO BE DETERMINED.

Philadelphia Geographical Society Makes an Assault Upon the Problem of Discovering the North Pole—To Experiment with Floating Casks.

The Geographical Society of Philadelphia is fairly embarked upon its latest assault upon the problem of discovering the north pole. This is one of the most important ventures in geographical discovery initiated in recent years. It contemplates the determination of the direction or trend of the oceanic currents of the arctic region, for the purpose of ascertaining the conditions of drift which there prevail.

The latest polar exploration originated in the course of the ill-fated Jeannette expedition and the later and more successful drift of the Fram, under command of Nansen in his farthest north expedition. The present project for the determination of polar drift was conceived by Rear Admiral George W. Melville, engineer in chief of the United States navy, who was an officer of the Jeannette expedition. After the disaster that overtook the Jeannette Melville was deputed to search for the lost bodies on the shores of northern Siberia. The severe experiences of Melville during these perilous expeditions were not without results that bid fair to contribute important knowledge to the problem that has thus far baffled the researches of geographical science and cost many lives during the past 300 years. For Melville believes that through observation made then the pole will be ultimately reached.

In a paper read before the American Philosophical Society late in 1897 Rear Admiral Melville outlined his plan of search. He proposed the construction of small, strong casks, designed to meet the requirements of a long drift between arctic floes, possibly of three or four years' duration. He suggested that these casks be built of heavy oak staves, with conical ends, and encircled with steel bars, in order to resist the utmost pressure of ice.

The Geographical Society of Philadelphia undertook to carry our Rear Admiral Melville's novel proposal. For more than a year the society has been engaged upon the execution of the plan. Fifty casks have been constructed in San Francisco, under the superintendence of Past Chief Engineer George F. Kutz, U. S. N., an officer who is well acquainted with Melville's plans. Specially prepared messages, to be placed inside the casks, are now en route across the continent. In a few days these messages will be inclosed in the casks and the northern journey will begin. By means of Pacific whaling fleets, whose co-operation has been generously granted to the society, and also by the United States cutter Bear, acting for the United States hydrographic service, the casks will be shipped northward. Of the fifty, twenty-five of them will be carried by the steam whalers of the Pacific Steam Whaling Company, fifteen by the revenue cutter Bear and ten by whalers owned by George Siebers & Co. During the next year it is contemplated to send fifty additional casks.

MAP OF POLAR SEA, SCENE OF MELVILLE'S LATEST EXPERIMENT.

ONE OF THE DRIFT CASKS.

To Determine Polar Drifts.

The plan of operation, so far as can be determined at present, is to deposit these casks on ice floes, north of both the American and the Asiatic continents, for the purpose of determining the polar drifts. These drifts are believed by many geographers to pass in opposed directions, one northwestward from the Siberian coast, and which is assumed to correspond with the drift of the Fram; the other northeastward from the archipelago lying north of America and issuing eastward in the sea that lies west of Greenland.

Henry G. Bryant, the present President of the Geographical Society of Philadelphia, has generously contributed to the society the funds needed to carry this novel polar expedition into immediate execution. Mr. Bryant is a graduate of Princeton University. He is an explorer of wide experience and is at present on an extended voyage in the West Indies.

The casks which will be sent through the polar floe are about the size of an ordinary beer keg, but with conical rooded ends of brass. Each cask will contain a glass tube, into which will be inserted a memorandum of the locality of the placing the casks in the drift, with blank instruction in several languages, requesting the finder, wherever the casks may be drifted, to inscribe on the memorandum the location by latitude and longitude of the find, and with the request to forward this information to the nearest consular representative of the finder's country, or direct to the Geographical Society of Philadelphia. Each glass tube is inclosed in a small wooden trough, which will be placed through the bunghole of the cask and the hole will be securely closed.

Wonders of Nature.

If two pieces of looking-glass are held on the opposite sides of a lighted lamp or candle, an endless series of bright flames may be seen at one time. So, in the cold north, when the air is full of minute floating ice-flakes, the sun with its halo is reflected many times, and the traveler sees two, four or more mock suns with crossing halorings of startling patterns. In hilly countries, where the sun rises in a serene atmosphere, but opposite to a thin vaporous cloud, if a human being stand on a high hill between them, a wonderful image is seen on the cloud-curtain, moving as the man moves, at one moment clear and the next fading away. This is a kind of natural magic lantern, where the cloud takes the place of the white screen, and a man, or men, of the slides. The highest peak of the Hartz Mountains, called the Brocken, is the place where this is oftenest seen, so the image is called the spectre of the Brocken. But mountaineers see it often on the high Alps. The changing rays of the morning sun make the giant shadows vanish and reapper, and the moving cloud-screen gives them motion.

DWELL IN A STUMP.

Queer Living Quarters of Five Men in Southern Australia.

Sometimes the rodents and the birds make homes in tree stumps, but man has usually selected different quarters. In the township of Wynnasty, South Gippsland, Australia, however, five men have converted a huge gumtree stump into a very habitable dwelling. This queer home is two stories high, the upper story being reached by a regular stairway. A glance at the accompanying picture of the stump house will convince you that the tree must have been a giant of its species.

THE STUMP HOUSE.

LEWIS CARROLL.

Peculiarities of the Author of "Alice in Wonderland."

S. D. Collingwood, in the Century, describes some of the odd ways of Lewis Carroll, the author of "Alice in Wonderland."

That he was, in some respects, eccentric cannot be denied; for instance, he never wore an overcoat, and always wore a tall hat, whatever might be the climatic conditions. He would wear only cotton gloves. In these small personal matters he had a great fear of extravagance. At dinner in his rooms small pieces of cardboard took the place of table-mats; they answered the purpose perfectly well, he said, and to buy anything else would be a mere waste of money.

On the other hand, when purchasing books for himself, or giving treats to the children he loved, he never seemed to consider expense at all.

When making tea for his friends he used—in order, I suppose, to expedite the process—to walk up and down the room waving the teapot about, and telling meanwhile those delightful anecdotes of which he had an inexhaustible supply.

He had a strong objection to staring colors in dress, his favorite combination being pink and gray. One little girl who came to stay with him was absolutely forbidden to wear a red frock, of a somewhat pronounced hue, while out in his company.

At meals he was always very abstemious, while he took nothing in the middle of the day except a glass of wine and a biscuit. Under these circumstances it is not very surprising that the healthy appetites of his little friends filled him with wonder, and even with alarm.

When he took a certain one of them out with him to a friend's house to dinner he used to give the host or hostess a gentle warning, to the mixed amazement and indignation of the child: "Please be careful, because she eats a good deal too much."

Two Valid Excuses.

Last week, late in the afternoon, a case was called by Judge Sutherland in County Court.

"I would like to ask, your Honor, that this case go over until to-morrow," said one of the attorneys.

"On what ground?" said the Judge. "Too tired."

"Yes, your Honor, I have been arguing a case all day in Part II. and I am really too fatigued to go on with this trial."

"Very well, let the case go over. Call the next case."

The next case was called and another attorney arose.

"May it please your Honor, I would like to ask this case to go over."

"For what reason?"

"I am too tired."

"You, too? What makes you tired?"

"I have been listening all day to my learned friend in Part II."—Rochester Herald.

Her Soldier and His Cake.

The simplicity of mind of a great people in the United States with regard to the proper uses of a soldier is admirably illustrated in the following letter, said by the Army and Navy Journal to have been received lately by the Secretary of War:

Sir: I know it is most presumptuous in me to address so great a man, but firmly believing as I do that you truly have the interest of every soldier at heart, I venture to make a bold request that you will not start the Second Division of the Second Brigade, First Army Corps, now at Americus, Ga., to Cuba until after Dec. 12, because my soldier has a birthday about that time, and I want to send him a birthday cake, with candies, to "remind him of home and mother," and you know the cake would not stand transportation to Cuba.

A Sure Stand.

The following story of a really smart retort is from "More Humors of Clerical Life," and is told in connection with a church in one of the eastern counties of England:

The church possessed a valuable Bible, which was used only on Sundays. During the week it was kept in a box which rather curiously formed the stand upon which the reader of the lessons stood. On one occasion, when this was being shown to a visitor, the remark was made that it did not seem very reverent for even a clergyman to tread upon the Bible.

"Pardon me," the old verger replied. "In this church, sir, we take our stand upon the Scriptures."

When the sons of a great church worker show no inclination to study for the ministry, she begins to build her hopes on one of her daughters marrying a preacher.

The Bible tells us God created man in His own image—and nearly every man thinks he is the one referred to.

The sherry cobbler is one kind of a shoehorn.

Love finds the way in, but it has to be thrown out.

BURNING OF THE WINDSOR HOTEL IN NEW YORK CITY.

WHEN THE CENTURY BEGINS.

It Was a Fruitful Topic of Discussion One Hundred Years Ago.

An immense amount of discussion is current as to the exact time when the present century ends, and the next one begins. Some very clever arguments have been advanced on various phases of the subject. The reader who follows up all of these will be rewarded with a vast amount of curious information. With the great deal that is speculative and purely theoretical, some most curious and bewildering propositions are brought to the front. A good deal of this is new to the person who has not reflected over the matter before. All that is being gone over, however, is old, thrashed material. As the end of each century approaches the old, old question is mooted, people get thinking and naturally the same ideas that presented to their great grandgrandparents appeal to them with the first blush of something original.

A century since, as the year 1800 approached, the prints then current were filled with a good deal of discussion as to whether 1800 or 1801 signalized the beginning of a new century. One of the most entertaining and interesting papers on this subject is comprised in a letter written by Gen. Philip Schuyler of historic fame, Feb. 11, 1779. It is addressed to his eldest daughter, Mrs. Angelica Church, and was indited to set at rest in her mind the baffling pros and cons concerning the century-ending ideas.

Gen. Schuyler premised everything on the fact that the birth of Christ, beginning at the first minute of the first day of January, computation commences with a cipher 0. Some theorists placed 1 at the birth of Christ, instead of at the end of the year from his birth, rejecting, he claimed, one entire year out of the series composing the Christian era. Here is his quaint, practical proposition to illustrate:

Suppose, he says, a surveyor was directed to begin at the city hall, New York, to measure on a due north course, 1,800 miles, and at the end of a mile to set up a stone to indicate how far that stone was from the city hall, what mark would he place upon it? Surely he would mark it with the number 1. If he should proceed one mile farther, and set up another stone, this he would mark with the number 2, and proceeding thus, when he had run 1,800 times eighty chains he would set up a stone and mark it 1,800, and, turning his face to the south he would say: "I am now 1,800 miles from the city hall of New York."

But if he had put the stone numbered 1 at the city hall, then the stone to be placed at one mile, from the said corner would have been marked 2, and the stone marked 1,800 only 1,799 miles from New York. But placing the stone marked 1 at the said corner would surely mislead the traveler in determination of how far he was from New York, for seeing 2 marked on the stone he would conclude that he had still two miles to traverse to be at the New York city hall.

Sitting Bull's Grave.

A broken wooden headboard and a neglected mound of earth in the Fort Yates, N. D., military cemetery mark the resting place of Sitting Bull, the great Sioux medicine man whose wily brain planned the deathtrap of the Little Big Horn into which General Custer's command fell. On the broken headboard is written: "No. 54. Sitting Bull, Indian." Relic hunters have cut most of the headboard away.

A POPULAR PRINCESS.

Kaiulani, of Hawaii, Who Recently Died at Honolulu.

Princess Victoria Kaiulani, who died recently at Honolulu, was at one time heir apparent to the Hawaiian throne and was a great favorite in the sunny islands of the Pacific. She was the daughter of A. S. Cleghorn, a man of British stock, who had long been a resident of Hawaii and who held important public positions under the monarchy. The princess' mother was the Princess Miriam Likelike, sister of the late King Kalakaua, and of the deposed Queen Liliuokalani, and through her she was descended from the Kamehamehas, the founder of which dynasty united the islands under one government.

PRINCESS KAIULANI.

The princess was born on October 16, 1875. After the death of her mother, in 1887, the princess went to England, where her education was perfected.

On March 9, 1891, she was proclaimed heir apparent to the throne by Queen Liliuokalani, the fact being officially communicated to the United States Government and acknowledged. In March, 1893, she came to the United States to protest against the Harrison treaty of annexation. She declared that she had never taken, nor desired to take, any part in politics, but felt that it was her duty, in view of her position, to uphold the nationality of the Hawaiian people.

"I do not care for myself," she said, "but suppose this wrong is consummated, and I return to Hawaii, and my people come around me and say 'Kaiulani, you were there; you might have saved us and you did not.' How can I answer them?"

The princess then issued a pathetic and eloquent protest to the American people.

The princess was a typical Hawaiian beauty, tall and finely proportioned. She was an excellent athlete and an accomplished musician.

MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT VILLAGE.

Dickens' Only Work Which Deals with the United States.

Charles Dickens, in his novel entitled "Martin Chuzzlewit," the only work of fiction he wrote dealing with the United States and its inhabitants, mentions a town on the Mississippi River which he calls Eden. The village upon which he satirically bestowed this name was neither really known under that appellation, nor was it by any means as pleasant and beautiful a place as the word Eden would naturally imply. Quite the contrary; as will be readily understood by those who read the story mentioned, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Martin Chuzzlewit, investing all of his money—$150—in several lots in Eden, under representations that it was a city of splendor and magnificence, a town where business was ever at the height of activity, felt proud that he had been so fortunate as to become a landed proprietor in such a community, but when he arrived there and found only a small district, with a limited number of rude log cabins and other structures standing in a clearing, instead of the many business houses, splendid dwellings, beautiful parks, churches, academies and theaters, he was greatly disappointed and immediately realized that he had been grossly imposed upon. Like numerous others who had come many miles thither, he saw that he had been the victim of false professions—that he had purchased lots in a swamp and wilderness, and not in the heart of a well-established and prosperous city.

The place Dickens had in mind in his Eden and where his chief character, as well as hundreds of other men whose names are not celebrated in story, met with such great disappointment, was a scattered settlement situated on the Mississippi River, at a point about halfway between Hannibal, Mo., and Quincy, Ill., and was called Marion City; a city which, if it had attained to the importance designed by those who urged the project, would have been the greatest city known to the ancient or modern world—so high soared the ambitious minds of those men who planned the town, and who exerted themselves to the utmost in trying to make their scheme successful. But both because of the unexpected operations of nature and other events which had not been considered the city which assumed such pleasing proportions in their imaginations never grew to more consequence than a mere country village, where the inhabitants, instead of having the expected paved streets and walks of adamant, daily trudged about in mud and water.

Heraldic Apples.

The landscape gardener has so long and so persistently improved upon nature that now the fruit-grower thinks he has a right to try. Any person, says the Golden Penny, who wants a supply of apples bearing his family crest, has only to send an illustration of it to certain growers at Montreuil, France, and he will duly receive the fruit the following season.

The desired end is attained by growing the apples in paper bags, which are slipped on when the fruit is about the size of a walnut. Being thus sheltered from the sun, the apples do not color as they swell, and when fully grown still remain green or yellow.

As soon as they reach their maximum size the bags which cover them are replaced by others, on the side of which the desired crest or coat of arms has been cut out like a stencil. The sun can now penetrate to that part of the apple exposed and redden it thoroughly, so that when the bag is again withdrawn the device is seen standing out in red upon the green surface.

To obtain the opposite result—that is, a green device on a red ground—the second bag is not used, but the pattern is cut out in paper and stuck on to the fruit, the sun coloring all the exposed parts, but leaving green the crest or other device which the paper forms.

Many Parisian fruiterers have recently exposed for sale apples with the arms of Russia printed upon them; others have them with monograms, Christian names, arrow-pierced hearts, and other tender devices.

Clever Politeness.

An amusing example of innate politeness is reported by Golden Days. A big, good-natured son of Erin, going home from his day's work, stood near the door of a crowded street-car. A lady elbowed her way in, resplendent in her own beauty and a tailor-made suit.

The men who had seats were industriously pretending to read the daily paper, and she was beside the big workman when she put her hand up for the strap.

"It's sorry I om, mum," he said, "thot I hev no sate as I can git up and give yez, but all the empty ones was took when I got aboord."

The lady assured him that she was just as much obliged, and then smiled at him, whereupon three men suddenly discovered her presence and insisted on her having a seat.

Locomotive that Burns Oil.

The locomotives working through the Arlberg tunnel, on the Austrian State Railroad, now burn oil entirely. They are specially designed heavy engines two-cylinder compounds, having 550 mm. and 800 mm. diameter and 625 m stroke. They have eight wheels, all coupled, the wheels being 1,300 m. in diameter. The engines formerly burned Bohemian coal, but it was found almost impossible to ventilate the tunnel. With the oil fuel very little difficulty is experienced. The oil burners are of the type devised by Mr. Holden of the Northeastern Railway, in England.

She Read the Tongue.

How many of us, when performing some difficult or painstaking feat with the hands, work the mouth in rhythmical contortions? Good News tells a story for our warning.

The scene is laid in the schoolroom during the writing-lesson.

"Please, ma'am," speaks up a little girl, "Johnny Smart is makin' mistakes in his writing-lesson."

"How do you know that, Ellen?" asks the teacher.

"There's three capital S's in the copy to-day, and he's makin' L's."

"Why, you can't see Johnny's pen."

"No'm, but I can see his tongue."

When a fool admits he's a fool he is no longer a fo

Bloom and Odor.

It is an interesting thing to know that 4,200 species of plants are gathered and used for commercial purposes. Of these 420 have a perfume that is pleasing and enter largely into the manufacture of scents and soaps. There are more species of white flowers gathered than of any other color—1,124 in all. Of these 187 have an agreeable scent, an extraordinarily large proportion. Next in order come yellow blossoms, with 951, 77 of them being perfumed. Red flowers number 823, of which 84 are scented. The blue flowers are of 594 varieties, 34 of which are perfumed, and the violet blossoms number 308, 13 of which are pleasantly odoriferous.

Length of the Ideal Foot.

A London anatomist is authority for the statement that the ideal foot should be the length of the ulna, a bone in the forearm, which extends from a protuberance in the outer portion of the wrist to the elbow. Of course, the ulna is longer in tall people, and to be graceful the foot should be also.

Many people may be surprised that the foot should be as long as the forearm, and might be inclined to dispute the fact unless proved by demonstration. But so it is in the perfectly formed women.

Kipling's Good Luck.

The first story that Kipling writes after his illness will bring a fabulous price. It will be sought as eagerly by progressive publishers as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is by all who suffer from stomach ills of any nature. No matter whether it be indigestion, constipation, biliousness or nervousness, the Bitters will cure it. It is an unequalled spring medicine.

Last year Sig. Franceschini, the Italian archaeologist, discovered in the church of Santa Croie, in Florence, the tomb of Lorenzo Ghiberti, the designer of the famous Baptistry Gates, which Michael Angelo styled "the Gates of Paradise." This year his zealous labors have been rewarded by the identification in the convent church of St. Ambrose of six illustrious graves, containing the mortal remains of Mino of Fiesole; Verrochio, the master of Leonardo; Simone Pollainolo, Andrea Sansovino, Granacci and Leonardo Tasso.

Grows Stubborn.

Any complaint becomes chronic by neglect, and rheumatism grows stubborn by not using St. Jacobs Oil, which is its sure cure and conquers the pain promptly. Every sufferer should use it.

Walnuts grew originally in Persia, the Caucasus, China, North America and Europe.

"Love and a Cough Cannot be Hid."

It is this fact that makes the lover and his sweetheart happy, and sends the sufferer from a cough to his doctor. But there are hidden ills lurking in impure blood. "The liver is wrong," it is thought, "or the kidneys." Did it ever occur to you that the trouble is in your blood?

Purify this river of life with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Then illness will be banished, and strong, vigorous health will result. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best known, best endorsed and most natural of all blood purifiers.

Catarrh—"I suffered from childhood with catarrh. Was entirely deaf in one ear. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me and restored my hearing." MRS. W. STOKES, Midland, Tex.

Sore Eyes—"Humor in the blood made my daughter's eyes sore, so that we feared blindness, until Hood's Sarsaparilla made her entirely well." E. B. GIBSON, Henniker, N. H.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Never Disappoints

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, the non-irritating and the only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

ALABASTINE

ALABASTINE is the original and only durable wall coating, entirely different from all kalsomines. Ready for use in white or twelve beautiful tints by adding cold water.

LADIES naturally prefer ALABASTINE for walls and ceilings, because it is pure, clean, durable. Put up in dry powdered form, in five-pound packages, with full directions.

ALL kalsomines are cheap, temporary preparations made from whiting, chalks, clays, etc., and stuck on walls with decaying animal glue. ALABASTINE is not a kalsomine.

BEWARE of the dealer who says he can sell you the "same thing" as ALABASTINE or "something just as good." He is either not posted or is trying to deceive you.

AND IN OFFERING something he has bought cheap and tries to sell on ALABASTINE'S demands, he may not realize the damage you will suffer by a kalsomine on your walls.

RESPONSIBLE dealers will not buy a lawsuit. Dealers risk one by selling and consumers by using infringement. Alabastine Co. own right to make wall coating to mix with cold water.

THE INTERIOR WALLS of every schoolhouse should be coated only with pure, durable ALABASTINE. It safeguards health. Hundreds of tons are used annually for this work.

IN BUYING ALABASTINE, see that packages are properly labeled. Beware of large four-pound package light kalsomine offered to customers as a five-pound package.

NUISANCE of wall paper is obviated by ALABASTINE. It can be used on plastered walls, wood ceilings, brick or canvas. A child can brush it on. It does not rub or scale off.

ESTABLISHED in favor. Shun all imitations. Ask paint dealer or druggist for tint card. Write for "Alabastine Era," free, to ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Don't Rent

ESTABLISH A HOME OF YOUR OWN

Read "The Corn Belt," a handsome monthly paper, beautifully illustrated, containing exact and truthful information about farm lands in the West. Send 25 cents in postage stamps for a year's subscription to THE CORN BELT, 209 Adams St., Chicago.

Modern Science Recognizes RHEUMATISM as a Disease of the Blood

There is a popular idea that this disease is caused by exposure to cold, and that some localities are infected with it more than others. Such conditions frequently promote the development of the disease, but from the fact that this ailment runs in certain families, it is shown to be hereditary, and consequently a disease of the blood.

Among the oldest and best known residents of Bluffs, Ill., is Adam Vangundy. He has always been prominently identified with the interests of that place. He was the first President of the Board of Trustees, and for a long time has been a Justice of the Peace. He says: "I had been a sufferer of rheumatism for a number of years and the pain at times was very intense. I tried all the proprietary medicines I could think or hear of, but received no relief.

"I finally placed my case with several physicians and doctored with them for some time, but they failed to do me any good. Finally, with my hopes of relief nearly exhausted I read an article regarding Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, which induced me to try them. I was anxious to get rid of the terrible disease and bought two boxes of the pills, I began using them about March, 1897. After I had taken two boxes I was completely cured, and the pain has never returned. I think it is the best medicine I have ever taken, and am willing at any time to testify to its good merits."—Bluffs (Ill.) Times.

The genuine sold only in packages like this. 50¢ per box

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS FOR PALE PEOPLE. TRADE MARK. REGISTERED. THE GREAT Blood Builder and Nerve Tonic

At druggists or direct from Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Closing a Brilliant Career.

In an account given by a distinguished man of letters of a recent visit to Mr. Ruskin this gentleman describes Mr. Ruskin's appearance as singularly ennobled by the long, snow-white beard, which descends nearly to the waist and gives a patriarchal dignity to the finely molded face. The end of life finds Mr. Ruskin in a mood of perfect serenity; the storm and stress have departed, and all that is left is pure sweetness and gentleness. His favorite occupation is sitting at his window looking on the calm waters of the lake below. He receives great numbers of letters, but the present day affairs of this troubled world make little impression upon him.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

The Cheerful Idiot.

"That old pagan precept, 'know thyself,'" said the shoe-clerk boarder, "is not half bad, as a bit of advice."

"Especially for a fat man," said the Cheerful Idiot.

"And why for a fat man any more than a thin?"

"It gives him a wide acquaintance."—Indianapolis Journal.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. The genuine has L. B. Q. on each tablet.

Matthew Larking, the oldest living bellringer in England, has retired to Grimsby after ringing the bells of Tetney Church for eighty-two years without a break. He is 97 years of age.

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

It has been estimated that steamers are 20 per cent. safer than sailing vessels.

The Lowest Rates

East or West are offered via the Nickel Plate Road. With solid through trains to New York, and through sleeping cars to Boston, and direct connections at Chicago for all points west, travelers via this deservedly popular low-rate line are offered all conveniences of an exacting traveling public. Then, too, the quality of the service is unsurpassed. Modern day coaches and luxurious sleeping cars contribute to the comfort of passengers, while unexcelled dining cars cater to the tastes of the most exacting.

WAR SONGS.

One Man the Author of Several in the Civil War.

"The Battle Cry of Freedom," "Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching," "Just Before the Battle, Mother" and a score of other war songs were written by Dr. George F. Root. He did more for his country by his stirring songs of freedom than he could probably have done had he shouldered the musket. It was no ordinary feeling that his appeals inspired; they came from his pen aflame with patriotic enthusiasm and never failed to inspire the sons of freedom. In 1861 the Lombard brothers were in Chicago for the purpose of holding a war-song meeting. They were anxious for a new song, and their need inspired Dr. Root, who straightway wrote both the words and the music of "The Battle Cry of Freedom." The ink was scarcely dry before it was sung from the court house steps. One brother sang the verses, the other joined in the refrain. Before they finished a thousand voices took part in the chorus. In the reform excitement of 1867 in England it became as well known there as in America.

In March, 1895, Dr. Root's son gave a war concert in Chicago. At the close an old man threaded his way to the footlights, and when he faced the assembly the audience instantly recognized Dr. George Root. The applause swelled into so great a volume that it seemed it would never cease. The son announced that his father would sing his great war song, "The Battle Cry of Freedom," and he desired the audience to join in the chorus. The silver-haired veteran sang with spirit and enthusiasm, and more than five thousand voices joined in the chorus. It is remarkable that this simple composer, who has greatly enriched the psalmody of the church, should have given the cast of endurance to songs of patriotism that flowed forth as pure patriotic fire, that, Prometheus-like, remains a heritage of the fateful past.—Self-Culture.

Salzer's Seed Corn.

Does your seed corn test, Bro. Farmer? Salzer's does—it's northern grown, early and good for 80 to 150 bu. per acre! Send this notice and 16c for 8 corn samples and low prices to Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis. (c.n.)

A Queer Advertisement.

Anything but a compliment to some one is implied in the following advertisement, which a French provincial journal publishes:

"FOR SALE—One monkey, two poodle dogs and a parrot. The owner, Mademoiselle L., being about to marry, has no further use for these animals."—Youth's Companion.

PREPARE for the turn of life. It is a critical period. As indications of the change appear be sure your physical condition is good. The experience is a wonderful one and under some circumstances full of menace. Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., will give you her advice without charge.

TALKS WITH WOMAN OF MIDDLE AGE

She has done so much for women, surely you can trust her. Read this letter from MRS. M. C. GRIFFING, of Georgeville, Mo.:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—The doctor called my trouble ulceration of womb and change of life. I was troubled with profuse flowing and became very weak. When I wrote to you I was down in bed, had not sat up for six months; was under a doctor's treatment all the time, but it did me no good. I had almost given up in despair, but your Vegetable Compound has made me feel like a new woman. I cannot thank you enough. I would advise any woman who is afflicted as I have been to write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and get her advice and be cured as I have been."

MRS. F. H. ALLEN, 419 Nebraska Ave., Toledo, Ohio, writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Change of life was working on me. My kidneys and bladder were affected. I had been confined to the house all summer, not able to stand on my feet for any length of time. Terrible pains, when urinating and an itching that nearly drove me wild. I had tried many remedies. I told my husband I had great faith in yours and he got me a bottle; am now on my fourth bottle. I feel that I am entirely cured. I can work all day. I can hardly realize that such a wonderful cure is possible. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best medicine for women."

Don't wait until you are prostrated with the mysterious condition known as "Change of Life." Get Mrs. Pinkham's advice and learn how other women got through.

CHIROS OF PUERTO RICO.

Curious Religious Sect Which Carefully Excludes Foreigners.

Strange tales of a curious religious sect in Puerto Rico are told, says a Binghamton letter to the Baltimore Herald, by Rev. William Maxfield, a returned missionary. The sect, which carefully excludes foreigners, is known as Chiros. One of its peculiar ceremonies is that of "flogging the devil."

This rite is celebrated every Friday, at daybreak. In the seaport towns it takes place on board fishing smacks or other craft owned by members of the sect, and often is attended by the entire population of the village.

The life-size figure of a man supposed to represent his satanic majesty is dragged on deck, and amid jeers and curses fastened to the yard-arm. For some time the figure is allowed to hang, then it is carried three times around the deck of the craft, and finally fastened to the capstan or some convenient post, where the crowd proceed to belabor it with clubs, shrieking that they have killed the devil.

When the clothes are cut into shreds, and the figure entirely denuded, exposing the block of wood that serves as a head, it is repeatedly dipped overboard, and finally chopped into splinters and burned.

"It was in an inland town that I first saw the ceremony," says Mr. Maxfield. "I was roused from sleep by the passing of a howling mob, dragging the form of a man, which they occasionally jumped upon and kicked. My first impression was that some unfortunate wretch had incurred their wrath, and they were wreaking vengeance on him.

"Hurrying on my clothes, I rushed forth, hoping to save the body from further mutilation at least. Following the crowd to the public square, I saw them halt and haul the body on to the limb of a tree. Then I saw that the figure was stuffed with straw.

"Quickly the bundle of rags was fastened to the trunk, sticks were piled around it, and soon the fire was blazing merrily. Around this pyre danced the disorderly crowd, until suddenly there was an explosion, and the figure was blown to pieces. A bag of gunpowder had been fastened around the neck. Then the fire went down, and the hooting crowd dispersed."

Another ceremony of the strange people is called "drowning the devil," and this is sometimes accompanied with serious consequences. The victim is a man or woman of incorrigible temper whom a neighbor has charged with having a "devil."

A council of the "Chiros" is called and evidence taken as to the truth or falsity of the charge. If in the opinion of the board it has been sustained, a day is appointed when the victim shall be purified, and a spot is selected. This is usually in a running stream, as it is held that the devil cannot stand running water.

A crowd of worshippers form a ring around the unfortunate subject and march to the stream, chanting a weird wail. Arriving, two of the strongest men force the victim into the water, and though he struggles violently they hold him under until "the devil goes out"—that is until he becomes quiet; and frequently when taken out prompt remedies have to be resorted to to prevent death from drowning.

In one or two instances the victims perished. After that the authorities interefered, and ceremonies of this kind are now rare and conducted much more carefully.

ENTITLED TO A DRINK.

Stranger Proved that He Was Fully Qualified as an Attorney.

"Truth, crushed to earth," will do well if she always rises as rapidly as a young man who was crushed in one of the New York superior courts. This young man, says Stray Stories, had a delicate, straw-colored mustache, and his hair was parted in the middle and glued down to his temples.

He sauntered carelessly into the court-room, eyed the judge through his glasses, and took a survey of all the attorneys. Then he walked up to the bar and poured out a glass of ice-water.

The judge, who is nervous and testy, had observed the young man, and frowned down on the glued hair and glasses. The young man was just raising the glass to his lips, when the Judge roared:

"That water, sir, is for attorneys and other officers of the court!"

The glass almost dropped from the young man's hand; he started violently, turned red, then placed the glass on the table, and walked out of the court. The Judge chuckled.

Half an hour later the young man entered the court-room again with a roll of parchment in his hand. The Judge glared at him savagely, but the young man never flinched. Finally there was a lull in the proceedings, and he addressed the court:

"Your honor!"

"What is it, sir?"

"I wish to submit to the court my certificate of admission to practice in the Supreme Court and all other courts of this State," and he passed the parchment to the clerk.

"Well, what of that?" growled the Judge.

"Now, your honor, having presented the proofs of my admission to the bar, I would move the court that I be permitted to drink from the official pitcher," and he calmly drained the glass of water he had left on the table.

"I have invited several army officers," said the hostess, "and I am anxious that the occasion shall be something unique and apropriate. I don't want anything commonplace, like a five-o'clock tea, or a pink tea, or a violet tea." "Well," suggested Miss Cayenne, after deliberation, "why not make it a beef tea?"—Washington Star.

Nothing pleases a mean man more than to have his hair cut on Saturday when the barber shop is full of waiting customers.

After expressing sympathy for a neighbor in trouble, some people lower their voices, and give you the gossip of the case.

It's a poor contortionist that can't make both ends meet.

Itinerant knife-grinders say business is best when things are dull.

The successful borrower gets credit for his efforts.

A GRAND LADY OF ILLINOIS.

Mrs. Lucinda B. Chandler of Chicago is the Honorable President of the Illinois Woman's Press Association; Honorable President of the Society for the Promotion of Health; founder of the Margaret Fuller Society for the Study of Economics and Governments, and also President of the Chicago Moral Educational Society. Mrs. Chandler is an ardent friend of Pe-ru-na, and in writing to Dr. Hartman on the subject she stated as follows:

LUCINDA B. CHANDLER, OF CHICAGO, ILL.

Chicago, Jan. 6, 1899.

Dear Doctor—I suppose every one that is confined to their desk and not getting the required amount of exercise, will, sooner or later, suffer with catarrh of the stomach and indigestion. I know by experience that Pe-ru-na is a most excellent remedy for these complaints. It has relieved me, and several of my friends have used it with the same satisfactory results. Yours very respectfully,

LUCINDA B. CHANDLER.

An African Chief's Umbrella.

An African chief's umbrella is of greater importance than many people suppose. Apart from its enormous size, its loss in battle more than equals the loss of a standard of a European commander. Some of the umbrellas are of prodigious dimensions, being no less than 25 feet in diameter, with ribs 12 feet 6 inches long.

Feel the Influence.

Cold and heat alike aggravate neuralgia, because the nerves feel the cold and heat sensitively, but nerves are sensitive to treatment and feel the influence of St. Jacobs Oil, which cures the ailment promptly.

Kleptomania.

Molly—Jack stole something from under my very nose while we were down at the shore looking at those fishing boats.

Dolly—What was it—a little smack?—Somerville Journal.

Shake Into Your Shoes

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting, nervous feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight-fitting or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous and hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores. By mail for 25c. in stamps. Trial package FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Played Insane, Went Insane.

An English burglar who shammed insanity in order to escape trial, after keeping up the pretense for six months has become really mad.

My doctor said I would die, but Piso's Cure for Consumption cured me.—Amos Kelder, Cherry Valley, Ill., Nov. 23, '95.

Paris sends £750,000 worth of toys to England every year.

A Dose in Time Saves Nine of Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar for coughs. Of Druggists.
Pike's Toothache Drops Cure in one Minute.

The screw was one of the mechanical powers known to the Greeks.

Copy of Letter Received from Dennis Twohey, Who Went to Winnipegosis, Manitoba, from Austin, Minn., March, 1898.

Winnipegosis, Man., Jan. 23, 1899.

Benjamin Davies, Esq., Canadian Government Agent, St. Paul, Minn.:

Dear Sir—I have great pleasure in writing you these few lines to let you know how I like my new location and how I have been getting along since I left Southern Minnesota. I like this country well. The climate agrees with me and my family at all seasons, and taken all around it is away ahead of Minnesota. I may say that we have not had one storm yet this winter. As regards the productiveness of the soil, I consider it beats Southern Minnesota. I am a practical farmer, but have never seen such vegetables in my life as I have seen raised here. As regards grain of all kinds, I have seen splendid yields. In fact, any man who cannot get along here and make a good living cannot do it anywhere.

We have abundance of wood for fuel, timber for building, and lots of hay. I have got good water on my place about 24 feet. I have a good class of neighbors around me, and have been well used by everybody. I have been able to get lots of work for myself and team at fair wages, whenever I wanted it, and I think anyone else can do the same. I would not care to return to Minnesota. I am, sir,

Yours very truly,

(Signed) DENNIS TWOHEY.

The Government has agents in several of the State, any of whom will be pleased to give information as to free homestead lands to those desiring it.

Passengers for points in the Middle West, to points in the Rocky Mountains or Pacific Coast, should bear in mind that the three fast express trains on the Nickel Plate Road each makes direct connections with through lines at Chicago. Splendid equipment, fast time and lowest rates. Every essential for a safe and pleasant journey is placed within the reach of the traveling public.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

BEST CURE for CATARRH and LUNG TROUBLES. Manf'ct'd by The Shelby Chemical and Glass Co., AGENTS WANTED Medical Supplies and Glass Apparatus, Shelby, Ohio.

Delay Makes It Harder.

Mis-steps have made the worst sprains, but it is no mis-step to use St. Jacobs Oil. It makes a cure by strengthening, soothing and conquering the pain. Every hour's delay makes it harder to cure.

The total wealth of the United States—that is, the value of the property of the people and the government, was $7,130,000,000 in 1850. Since then it has increased to $65,037,000,000. The wealth per capita was $308 in 1850. It is now $1,036.

Oh, That Delicious Coffee!

Costs but 1c. per lb. to grow. Salzer has the seed. German Coffee Berry, pkg. 15c.; Java Coffee pkg. 15c. Salzer's New American Chicory 15c. Cut this out and send 15c. for any of above packages or send 30c. and get all 3 pkgs. and great Catalogue free to JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., La Crosse, Wis. (c. n.)

Hazel nuts grow in Europe, Russian Asia, North Africa and North America. Filberts are a species of hazel nuts that grow in Greece.

Coughs Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

About 60,000 stamps are found loose in the letter-bags of the United Kingdom each year.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

{SEAL.}

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75 cents.

The Making of a Piano.

There are forty-eight different materials used in constructing a piano, from no fewer than sixteen different countries, employing forty-five different hands.

Onion Seed 68c and Up a Lb.

Catalogue tells how to grow 1,213 bus. per acre as easily as 100 bushels. Largest growers of Earliest Vegetables and Farm Seeds. Earliest vegetables always pay. Salzer's Seeds produce them weeks ahead of others. Coffee Berry 15c. per lb. Potatoes $1.20 a Bbl.

Cut this out and send with 14c. for great Catalogue and 10 packages of vegetable and flower seed novelties to JOHN A. SALZER SEED COMPANY, LA CROSSE, WIS. (c. n.)

Eagle Linen Letter Paper and Envelopes are the proper thing. Tell your printer to use this brand on your next order.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it, like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c. and 25 cts. per package. Sold by all grocers.

Consumption kills nearly 12 per cent. of the people of the United States sooner or later. Pneumonia is the complaint next most fatal, carrying off nearly 9 per cent.

The services of the Nickel Plate Road to New York and Boston is a demonstrated success. The demands of the traveling public are met by providing three peerless fast express trains in each direction daily. These trains are composed of modern first-class day coaches and elegant vestibuled sleeping cars between Chicago, New York and Boston, and unexcelled dining cars. Solid through trains between Chicago and New York City have uniformed colored porters in charge of day coaches, whose services are placed at the disposal of passengers. If you want to travel comfortably, economically and safely, see that your ticket is routed via the Nickel Plate Road.

Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

WANTED.—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cents to Ripans Chemical Co., New York, for 10 samples and 1,000 testimonials.

AN EXCELLENT COMBINATION

THE pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well-known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company, illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative,

CLEANSING THE SYSTEM EFFECTUALLY, DISPELLING COLDS AND HEADACHES, PREVENTING FEVERS, OVERCOMING HABITUAL CONSTIPATION PERMANENTLY.

Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, gently yet promptly, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but

THE MEDICINAL QUALITIES ARE OBTAINED FROM SENNA AND OTHER AROMATIC PLANTS,

by a method known to the California Fig Syrup Company only. In order to get its beneficial effects, and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

Consumers of the choicest products of modern commerce purchase at about the same price that others pay for cheap and worthless imitations. To come into universal demand and to be everywhere considered the best of its class, an article must be capable of satisfying the wants and tastes of the best informed purchasers. The California Fig Syrup Company having met with the highest success in the manufacture and sale of its excellent liquid laxative remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, it has become important to all to have a knowledge of the Company and its product. The California Fig Syrup Company was organized more than fifteen years ago, for the special purpose of manufacturing and selling a laxative remedy which would be more pleasant to the taste and more beneficial in effect than any other known. The great value of the remedy, as a medicinal agent and of the Company's efforts, is attested by the sale of millions of bottles annually, and by the high approval of most eminent physicians. As the true and genuine remedy named SYRUP OF FIGS is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only, the knowledge of that fact will assist in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
LOUISVILLE, KY. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. NEW YORK, N.Y.
For Sale by All Druggists, Price 50¢ Per Bottle.

WHEN YOU WANT TO LOOK ON THE BRIGHT SIDE OF THINGS, USE

SAPOLIO

EXCURSIONS TO THE FREE GRANT LAND OF WESTERN CANADA.

During the months of March and April, excursions will leave Ohio and Michigan points for Western Canada, on Monday of each week. These excursions will be accompanied by agents of the Government, and special cars will be provided for the through trip. For particulars as to how to obtain 160 acres of land free, and railway rates for settlers, apply to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to Jas. Grieve, Mt. Pleasant, Mich.; D. L. Caven, Bad Axe, Mich.; M. V. MacInness, Detroit, Mich.

DYSPEPSIA, CONSTIPATION AND other diseases permanently cured in two months without medicine or dieting. Write, inclosing 25 cents for all directions. Have nothing to sell. Satisfaction guaranteed. Write at once and take no more drugs. MARK A. HAYCOX, Roberts, Wis.

$5.00 per 1000 cash to Distribute Circulars. Send 4 stamps World's Adv. Ass'n, Chicago, Ill.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS. 25 CTS.

FOR 14 CENTS

We wish to gain this year 200,000 new customers, and hence offer:

1 Pkg. 13 Day Radish	10c
1 " Early Ripe Cabbage	10c
" Earliest Red Beet	10c
" Long Lightning Cucumber	10c
" Salzer's Best Lettuce	15c
" California Fig Tomato	20c
" Early Dinner Onion	10c
" Brilliant Flower Seeds	15c

Worth $1.00, for 14 Cts. $1.00

Above 10 pkgs., worth $1.00, we will mail you free, together with our great Plant and Seed Catalogue, upon receipt of this notice and 14c postage. We invite your trade and know when you once try Salzer's Seeds you will never get along without them. 4bu. Potato Seed 68c and up a lb. Potatoes at $1.20 a bbl. Catalogue alone 5 cents. No. C. N.

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., La Crosse, Wis.

8000 BICYCLES

Overstock. Must Be Closed Out. STANDARD '98 MODELS, guaranteed, $9.75 to $16. Shopworn & second hand wheels, good as new, $3 to $10. Great factory clearing sale. We ship to anyone on approval & trial without a cent in advance. EARN A BICYCLE by helping us advertise our superb line of samples. We give one Rider Agent in each town FREE USE of sample wheel to introduce them. Write at once for our special offer.

R. C. Mead Cycle Company, Chicago, Ills.

WABASH

HOME SEEKERS' EXCURSIONS To Western Points.

APRIL 18th, MAY 2nd AND 16th, 1899.

On the above dates the WABASH LINE will sell from its principal stations East of Chicago and Toledo, Ill., LOW RATE HOME SEEKERS' EXCURSION Tickets to points West, South, and Southwest, granting a liberal return limit. A postal card addressed to any Wabash Ticket Agent, or to either of the following Passenger Representatives will bring you prompt and explicit information regarding rates, routes, time of trains, through car service, condition of tickets, etc., etc.

REMEMBER

The WABASH is the only line east of Chicago and St. Louis giving its patrons seats, without extra charge, in ELEGANT RECLINING CHAIR CARS running through to St. Louis and Kansas City without change.

This is your chance to go West cheap. Communicate with us

P. E. DONBAUGH, P. & T. A., Toledo, Ohio.
R. G. THOMPSON, P. & T. A., Fort Wayne, Ind.
R. G. BUTLER, D. P. A., Detroit, Mich.
THO'S FOLLEN, P. & T. A., Lafayette, Ind.
GEO. D. MAXFIELD, D. P. A., Indianapolis, Ind.
C. S. CRANE, G. P. & T. A., St. Louis, Mo.

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

Danger Signals!

Do you take cold with every change in the weather? Does your throat feel raw? And do sharp pains dart through your chest?

Don't you know these are danger signals which point to pneumonia, bronchitis, or consumption itself?

If you are ailing and have lost flesh lately, they are certainly danger signals. The question for you to decide is, "Have I the vitality to throw off these diseases?"

Don't wait to try SCOTT'S EMULSION "as a last resort." There is no remedy equal to it for fortifying the system. Prevention is easy.

Scott's Emulsion

prevents consumption and hosts of other diseases which attack the weak and those with poor blood.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is the one standard remedy for inflamed throats and lungs, for colds, bronchitis and consumption. It is a food medicine of remarkable power. A food, because it nourishes the body; and a medicine, because it corrects diseased conditions.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York

WABASH

GOING EAST.

No. 2	6:25 am—Daily
No. 10	1:15 pm—ex Su
No. 4	4:59 pm—Daily
No. 70 (local freight)	4:20 pm—ex Su

GOING WEST.

No. 1	10:21 am—Daily
No. 9 Except Sundsp	6:47 pm—ex Su
No. 3	7:43 pm—Daily
No. 71 (local freight)	11:00 am—ex Su

All these trains stop for passengers.
For rates, tickets, time tables, etc. apply to I. M. ZENT, Agent, Auburn, Ind
Chas. M. Hays, V. Pres. and Gen't Manager.
C. S. Crane, Gen'l Pass'r and Ticket Agent

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—in Effect Nov. 13, 1898.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations	Mail	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne	11 45 am	4 50 pm	5 55 am
New Era	12 12 pm	5 17	6 40
Auburn Junction	12 25	5 28	7 10
Auburn	12 29	5 32	7 35
Waterloo	12 41	5 43	8 15
Summit	12 52	5 53	8 35
Steubenville	12 56	5 56
Pleasant Lake	1 03	6 03	8 56
Angola	1 13	6 14	9 35
Jackson	3 25	8 35	2 40

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations	Fre'gt	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson dp	5 55 am	11 30 am	7 15 am
Angola	11 00	2 19 pm	9 44
Pleasant Lake	11 35	2 29	9 55
Steubenville	.....	2 36	10 01
Summit	11 50	2 39	10 05
Waterloo	12 41 pm	2 55	10 23
Auburn	1 20	3 05	10 33
Auburn Junction	1 35	3 08	10 35
New Era	1 54	3 18	10 45
Fort Wayne	2 50	3 50	11 15

For rates on tickets or freight to all points call on or address E. T. DeLAPP, Agent Auburn.

B. & O. R. R.

Schedule In Effect Nov. 22 '98
Leaves Auburn Junction.

WEST BOUND.

No. 3 Express, to Garrett only	8:53 p m
No. 15 Daily	2:35 a m
No. 5 Daily	5:30 a m
No. 7 Daily	4:18 p m
No. 17 Daily Except Suday	12:25 a m
No. 47	1:55 a m

EAST BOUND.

No. 4 Express	4:30 a m
No. 6 Daily	6:05 p m
No. 8 Daily	2:40 p m
No 41 Daily	11:27 p m
No 16, Daily, except Sunday	11:08 a m
No. 46	11:56 p m

F. D. UNDERWOOD, General Manager,
D. B. MARTIN, Manager of Passenger Traffic.
G. H. YOUNG, Auburn Junction, Ind
THOS. H. SPROTT CHAS. H. KNAPP

Mott's Nerverine Pills

BEFORE AND AFTER USING.

The great remedy for nervous prostration and all nervous diseases of the generative organs of either sex, such as Nervous Prostration, Failing or lost Manhood, Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Youthful Errors, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco or Opium, which lead to Consumption and Insanity. $1.00 per box by mail; 6 boxes for $5.00.
MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Prop's, Cleveland, Ohio.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says; "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave me great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular size 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free at H. B. McCord's Drug Store: every bottle guaranteed.

In the Shades of Eve.

Last evening, as the Editor and wife, and S. B. Jones of Butler were sitting around the comfortable stove, there came a rap at the door, a vigorous rap that ment business. Looking out into the drifting snowstorm we saw the figure of a man at the door, and nearby on the walk, a lady, the white feathery flakes falling over her as she waited. "Is this the Parsonage?" asked the man We assured him the people of this house were good enough all right, but little legal technicalities stood in the way of our helping him along. In other words, we knew how but "dassent." But just around the big church was a man of God who had all the qualifications. Out into the blinding snow, the pair turned and their forms disappeared around the corner onto North VanBuren. Half an hour later we met them up town and the happy way in which they chattered, showed their troubles were over ——or just begun, we don't know which. Inquiry at the Clerk's office today showed they had roused Deputy-clerk, Blanche Shilling from her comfortable room last evening and she had come down through the snowy walks and blinding storm, to help them to a license. Their names are the last on our list, namely Charles F. Berryman and Cora B. Burden. He is an engineer on the railroad and they will make their home in Toledo. We hope the storm that clouded the first hours of their wedded life, may be followed by sunshine and happy days. They had come over from Waterloo with a team, and after taking supper at the Swineford returned to that place.

What Shall We Do?

A serious and dangerous disease prevails in this country, dangerous because so deceptive. It comes on so slowly yet surely that it is often firmly seated before we are aware of it.

The name of this disease which may be divided into three distinct stages is, First, Kidney trouble, indicated by pain in the back, lumbago, frequent desire to urinate, the flow of urine being copious or scant with strong odor.

If allowed to advance, this reaches the Second stage, or Bladder trouble, with heavy pain in the abdomen low down between the naval and the water passage, increasing desire to urinate, with scalding sensation in passing, small quantities being passed with difficulty, sometimes necessary to draw it with instruments. If uric acid or gravel has formed it will prove dangerous if neglected.

The third stage is Bright's disease.

There is comfort in knowing that Dr. Killmer, the great Kidney and Bladder specialist, has discovered a Remedy famous for its marvelous cure of the most distressing cases and known as Dr. Kilmer,s Swamp-Root.

It is sold by all druggists.

As a proof of the wonderful virtues of this great discovery, Swamp.Root, a sample bottle and a book of valuable information will be sent absolutely free by mail on application to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention that you read this liberal offer in the AUBURN COURIER.

Consolidating Schools

Not long ago, State Supt. D. M. Geeting recommended to the township trustees, to hire teams to bring the pupils all to one school, so as to have graded schools as in town, and to save money. A few have tried it. While in LaPorte county Monday, we met a team loaded with boys and girls, and found they were school children being carried home after school. The driver had a contract to take them two or three miles into another district, as there were not enough pupils in their district to make a good school. He gets $100 for the school year, and as it would cost about $300 to run the school, the township saved $200 by the plan. It seems to be satisfactory to both districts.

No Right To Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, skin eruptions and wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate the stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nreves, bright eyes smooth velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming, woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at H. B. McCord's Drug Store.

How is Your Gasoline Stove?

R. G. Curtis, an expert at cleaning and repairing gasoline stoves, will be in town for a limited time. He comes well recommended, and work entrusted to his care will be carefully looked after. Owners and users of stoves will understand that this is the proper time to have them cleaned and repaired for the coming season. Mr. Curtis will be located at Culbertson & Boland's.

Too Yongue.

(Chicago Tribune.)

The doctor said: "Show me your tongue."
But the bright little miss was high strongue.
"My tongue isn't sick."
She answered him quick,
"The trouble's way down in my longue"

OBITUARY

Phileman R. Goodwin, was born in Ashland county. Ohio. May 14, 1851. Died near Corunna, Ind., March 26th, 1899, aged 47 years, 10 months and 12 days.

When three years of age his parents moved to DeKalb county. Ind., where he grew to manhood and has spent his life. He was of a family of seven children, Henry, William, John, David, Mrs. Eliza Dilgard, Mrs. Elmira Parnell, who with the aged father, Daniel, and his step-mother survive him. At the age of twenty-three he was married to Eliza J. Brubaker, to which union were born six children, Herbert, S. Mamie G. Ernest D. Carey A. Estell W. Ray O. and the mother survive to mourn a loving husband and father.

His disease. cancer of the stomach, was lingering and distressing. The remains were brought to the Waterloo cemetery for burial, The funeral was preached by Rev. W. O. Butler in the Evangelical church, on the 29, Inst

The Best Cough Remedy on Earth

LUTHER, Mich., Feb. 8, '92.
DR. C. D. WARNER, Coldwater, Mich.

I am well acquainted with the merits of your White Wine of Tar Syrup I have used it on several occasions when very hoarse from public speaking and when suffering from sore throat. Our postmaster, Mr. Nicholson, had lagrippe and it left him with a very bad cough, had spells of coughing every morning for an hour or more. I met him on the street about three weeks ago and recommended White Wine of Tar Syrup, which he commenced taking and today he is a well man. A little girl here had coughed all winter and no cure could be found. I asked her mother to get White Wine of Tar. She did so and in two weeks she was cured. As you say, it is the best cough remedy on earth. Please send me six bottles by express. Yours Resp'y
REV. E. L. ODLE, Pastor M. E. Church.

Board of Assessors.

The assessors of the county are in session today, to establish a uniform rate for the valuation of the articles they will have to pass on. When we were present they were fixing the rate per gallon for maple syrup. It was learned that in some parts of the county the syrup was sold at 75 cents and the jug thrown in. So we presume the syrup will be listed at about 60 cents. It also developed that syrup may be considered in two grades, first and second. The first grade must weigh eleven pounds to the gallon. The assessors also have to appraise the real estate this year, which with the many new things in recent laws may give them a big amount of extra work.

Viola Allen's Literary Aspirations.

Miss Viola Allen, the "star" of Hall Caine's dramatization of his popular novel, "The Christian," has always aspired to be an author. She has said that there are two things which she would rather do than act: write a book, or be a trained nurse. She will now make her literary debut in an article which she has written for The Ladies' Home Journal, reciting and explaining fully "What the Life of an Actress Means."

The Match Factory

Since our last report, the following matches have been arranged for by the county clerk.

Hiram Mason and Bessie Krider, Jacob W. Myers and Laura B. Whetsel, Hehry Clark and Mary Sawvel, Charles Sharpless and Lizze McGrew, John M. Stutzman and Maggie E. Updegroff, Geo. Pepple and Amelia Haines, David Enzor and Eva Hopkins Leander Wilson and Clara Jones, Charles F. Berryman and Cora B. Burden.

Bismark's Iron Nerve

Was the result of his splendid health. Indomitable will and tremendous energy are not found where Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, and Bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring, use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They develop every power of brain and body. Only 25 cents at H. B. McCord's Drugstore.

MICA AXLE GREASE lightens the load—shortens the road.
helps the team. Saves wear and expense. Sold everywhere.
MADE BY STANDARD OIL CO.

PILES Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment will cure Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles. It absorbs the tumors, allays the itching at once, acts as a poultice, gives instant relief. Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is prepared for Piles and Itching of the private parts. Every box is warranted. By druggists, by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents and $1.00. WILLIAMS MANUFACTURING CO., Props., Cleveland, Ohio.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.
Cures pleurisy and pneumonia in a wonderfully short time. It promptly allays inflammation of the lungs. For sore lungs it is invaluable. Small doses. Price 25c.

Thursday's Daily.

—Mrs. James McDowell transacted business at Waterloo today.

—Deputy Sheriff James Hartford took Bennie Fish to the Reformatory today.

—Miss Lulu Shoemaker and Miss Pearl Ashelman spent the day at Fort Wayne.

—WANTED:—Thirty cords of hard wood, 18 inches, split fine and delivered in August. Call on Charles Eckhart.

—Indianapolis Sun:— Perhaps Mrs. Luetgert went to Cuba and Porto Rico in some of that Chicago meat—who knows?

—Lafayette Call:—"Summer died last night," says a poet in a current magazine. This is another scoop on the weather bureau.

—Fort Wayne Gazette:—George Washington up-to-date will never cross the Pasig on ice, unless in charge of a modern undertaker.

—Josiah Boyer one of our early subscribers and also one of the solid men of Fairfield township was a caller today, and put his name on the 1900 list.

—A gang of 1000 state convicts is at work at Terrell, Tex., on the Midland road, grading and ballasting it from Paris to Ennis, the entire leagth of the line.

—A walnut tree felled in Wabash county is said to be the largest Indiana has produced. It measured nine feet across the stump, and it was 60 feet to the first limb.

—Before the discovery of One Minute Cough Cure, ministers were greatly disturbed by coughing congregations. No excuse for it now. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—Mrs. Wash Askew moved to Fort Wayne today, where she will attend the International Business College. She was accompanied by her housekeeper, Mrs. Mickey.

—Judge J. K. Marsh, Clark county circuit court, has revived the old law which provides for the appointment by the judges of circuit courts of a board of city commissioners.

—One of our drays runs with four horses and the wheels are solid with mud. It makes the solid chucking noise of the old solid log wheel some times seen in use for special purposes.

A "Schell game" is what they call it now. J. F. Schell the Fort Wayne financier has an earlier record. Some years ago he was located at Portland and victimized the farmers of Jay county.

—For a quick remedy and one that is perfectly safe for Children let us recommend One Minute Cough Cure. It is excellent for croup, hoarseness, tickling in the throat and coughs. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—As will be seen from our court reports, Geo. Grund and wife have legally adopted little Ruth Rush who has been with them ever since the tragic death of her mother. She will have a good home and loving care.

—H. L. Brown came over from Wolcottville yesterday and staid with the family of W. B. Brown, and today joined the teachers on their trip to Fort Wayne, where the North Indiana Teachers' Association is being held.

—Young man of Daviess county asked the commissioners to exempt him from poll tax on account of physical deformity. He was born without one ear, but the commissioners didn't seem to have any ears at all when he made his appeal.

—J. Sheer, Sedalia, Mo., conductor on electtic street car line, writes that his little daughter was very low with the croup, and her life saved after physicians had failed, only by using One Minute Cough Cure. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—Since these late snows have come on, we have heard several people say, that a good sugar season is bad for the wheat. They are way off this year. The light snows we are having are the best things that could happen to the wheat. They are doing much to make up for the previous injury and to help the wheat on into a warmer time.

A Word to Doctors

We have the highest regard for the medical profession. Our preparations are not sold for the purpose of antagonizing them, but rather as an aid. We lay it down as an established truth that internal remedies are positively injurious to expectant mothers. The distress and discomforts experienced during the months preceding childbirth can be alleviated only by external treatment—by applying a liniment that softens and relaxes the over-strained muscles. We make and sell such a liniment, combining the ingredients in a manner hitherto unknown, and call it

Mother's Friend

We know that in thousands of cases it has proved more than a blessing to expectant mothers. It overcomes morning sickness. It relieves the sense of tightness. Headaches cease, and danger from Swollen, Hard and Rising Breasts is avoided. Labor itself is shortened and shorn of most of the pain.

We know that many doctors recommend it, and we know that multitudes of women go to the drug stores and buy it because they are sure their physicians have no objections. We ask a trial—just a fair test. There is no possible chance of injury being the result, because Mother's Friend is scientifically compounded. It is sold at $1 a bottle, and should be used during most of the period of gestation, although great relief is experienced if used only a short time before childbirth. Send for our illustrated book about Mother's Friend.

THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO.
ATLANTA, GA.

Friday's Daily.

—Mormon preachers are holding meetings in Peru.

—Ben Moffit was in town today. He says the roads are awful out his way.

—A man in Clay Co. Ind., shot at a duck, and the gun kicked him so hard, it set off his heart and he died on the spot.

—Mrs Leedy and children returned to Fort Wayne today. Miss Nina Swisher accompanied them and will remain till next Monday.

—Snow about six inches deep on a level this morning, and somewhat drifted. The storm increased as night approached yesterday, and it snowed some all night.

—The big hat question was settled in a church in Central Indiana, by having the ladies all sit on one side of the house. Then they could fight it out among themselves.

—J. H. Kling, of Newville township was in town today and paid his COURIER up into 1900. We'll bet on the success of a young man who starts his early business life in that way, —Malolos. the Filipino capital was taken yesterday, as the COURIER said it would. Aguinaldo escaped. We entered the city at 9:30 a. m. It was March 31 for that place, but March 30 for us, their time being one day ahead of ours.

—Robbers are again looting cars along the line of the Lake Shore road. They have been quiet for some time, as so many of the thieves had been sent over the road. It will be remembered that one batch of boys were sent from the court room in Auburn.

—Michael Shea died in Indianapolis Tuesday, March 28, 1899. Nothing remarkable about that. The remarkable part is, that he was born in County Kerry, in Ireland, Sept. 29, 1781. If you figure this out, you will find he was trying to be a modern Methusaleh.

—Wm. A. Clark, the new fifty-million Senator from Montana, is going to Europe with his family. He sends each member on a different steamer, so that if some should be drowned, there will be some left to inherit his millions. Newspaper men, please make a note of this.

—Political economists can now discuss the question whether the price of wood has been raised or the price of a silver or gold dollar has been lowered We have had to pay more dollars for a given amount of wood, that is certain. Who will tell us which it is, higher wood or lower money?

—S. B. Jones of Butler was in the city from yesterday afternoon till this forenoon when he went over to Garrett. He is traveling mainly in the interest of his patent harrow, an improvement of his own invention that he is going to put on the market this season. They are made in Butler and he believes he has a good thing.

—A stove making firm at Marion have put on the market a new soft coal stove that takes the place of the hard coal burners. It will keep fire about as long, makes a steady heat, and gives off no smoke or dust, and is cheaper every way than the hard coal stoves. The cost of fuel will be about one half. It is likely to become the heating stove of the future.

Saturday's Daily.

—Supt. Coe is attending the Institute at Wayne.

—FOR SALE: Two horses and a farm wagon. Call on Fred Purdy, Auburn.

—W. S. Purdy was up town today for the first time in two weeks. He has had a pretty hard sickness.

—Miss Julia Hodge of Michigan City is visiting her mother. She had been at the teachers' meeting at Fort Wayne.

—Several of our young people went out to Feagler's Corners last evening to attend the exhibition, and report a good time.

—Tax paying is coming on now. It ends May 1. Don't forget it And if your are a subscriber it is handy to pay the COURIER on the same trip.

—The little son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wallace at Hudson, died this week at Indianapolis. He was deaf and was at the Deaf and Dumb Asylum.

—Frank and Arthur Nelson who attended the teachers' association at Fort Wayne remain there over Sunday with their uncle, W. H. Keeran and family.

—Agents are tacking up signs over the state, and then ask the innocent farmer to sign an agreement that he will not tear them down. In 90 days a note is due for $300.

—Geo. Schaab is running a band sawmill at Wakarusa in Elkhart county assisted by his son Charles It is a new venture for him, at least he has not been in that business for many years. But he likes it, and as there is an abundance of good timber there yet, he is doing well, which we are pleased to hear. He is on the new Wabash road.

—For frost bites, burns, indolent sores eczema, skin disease, and especially Piles, DeWitt's Witch Hazel salve stands first and best. Look out for dishonest people who try to immitate and counterfeit it. It's their endorsement of a good article. Worthless goods are not imitated. Get DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Fischler & Son and H B. McCord.

—Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Dickinson were in town today, coming about seven miles over the bad roads. Their little daughter Hazel, now goes to school in the same district in which her mother was at school at the same age. She is but seven and yet reads in the second reader, proving that the children of deaf mutes may be very bright and have the full use of all their faculties.

A Big Stack

of grain can be threshed in a day (and threshed perfectly and separated thoroughly, without waste) if you have a Nichols-Shepard Separator. And the straw will be handled easily, without the slightest trouble and almost no litter, if you use the Nichols-Shepard Swinging Stacker. This takes the place and does the work of an independent stacker. It oscillates automatically, is easily swung to right angles with the separator to carry the straw to either stack or barn. This stacker has been demonstrated by thorough and practical tests in the field to be the handiest, most efficient swinging stacker ever attached to a thresher. Like every other feature of the

Nichols-Shepard SEPARATOR

it is strongly and durably made, without any intricate parts to break or get out of order. All the advantages of the Nichols-Shepard Separator and the Nichols-Shepard Traction Engine are fully described and illustrated in our free catalogue. Write for it.

NICHOLS & SHEPARD CO., Battle Creek, Mich
Branch House at INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA, with full stock of machines and extras.

THE WONDERFUL REMEDY FOR

TIKO Rheumatism

It is not a CURE-ALL, but it is a Specific for RHEUMATISM.

One hundred and forty-four bottles Cured 100 cases of RHEUMATISM.

TIKO is a medicine taken INTERNALLY, the only method by which RHEUMATISM can be successfully treated. It cures the CAUSE, and therein lies its remarkable success. Its price is $1.00 per bottle, or three bottles for $2.50, and if your Druggist has not got it, it will be sent to you, by Express, ALL CHARGES PAID, on receipt of price.

Address, PURINTON MEDICINE COMPANY, Detroit, Mich.

Sheriff's Sale

By virtue of a certified copy of a decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, in a cause wherein Jared Freeman Housel is plaintiff and Marion F. Shutt and Lydia S. Shutt are defendants, requiring me to make the sum of Six Hundred and Eighty-Six Dollars and Four cents, with interest on said decree and costs I will expose at PUBLIC SALE, to the highest bidder, on

Saturday, April 8, 1899,

between the hours of 10 o'clock a.m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the court house in Auburn, DeKalb county, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

The south one-half of the south one-half of the north east quarter of section thirty-six (36) in in township thirty-three (33) north range twelve (12) east, in DeKalb county, Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs. Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws.

JOHN H. HATHAWAY,
Sheriff of DeKalb County, Indiana.
P. D. WEST,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

March 15, 1899.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of a certified copy of a decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, in a cause wherein Catharine Pfefferl, Henry P. Stroh and G. A. Bishop are plaintiffs and Anderson P. Small is defendant requiring me to make the sum of One Hundred and Seventy-six dollars and five cents, with interest on said decree and costs, I will expose at Public Sale to the highest bidder on,

Saturday, April 8, 1899

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m and 4 o'clock p. m., of said day, at the door of the Court House in Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to wit:

The undivided one half ½ of the north half of lot number Eight (8) in Kuhlman's second addition to the town of Auburn in DeKalb County Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs. Said sale will be without any relief what ever from valuation or appraisement laws.

JOHN H. HATHAWAY
Sheriff of DeKalb County Indiana.
D. M. Link, Attorney for plaintiff,
March 15, 1899

NOTICE TO NON-RESIDENTS

STATE OF INDIANA, } ss:
DEKALB COUNTY.

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, March term, 1899, Leroy Huffman is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said Court, for divorce by Isadora Huffman and that the same will be heard and determined on the 15th day of May 1899, being the 1st. juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences May 15, 1899.

Witness, The Clerk of said Court this 15th day or March 1899.

MICHEL F. LONG, Clerk
C. M. Phillips Att'y. for estate.

GRAND RAPIDS & INDIANA RAILWAY CO

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railway Company, for the election of seven directors to serve for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of such other business as may be presented at the meeting, will be held at the general office of the company in Grand Rapids, Kent county, Mich., on Wednesday April 5th, 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m. Book for the transfer of stock will be closed from March 26th 1899, until after the meeting.

10-13 R. B. METHEANY, Secretary.

Hoarseness Sore Throat

Hoarseness, sore throat and constant coughing indicate that the bronchial tubes are suffering from a bad cold, which may develop into pleurisy or inflammation of the lungs. Do not waste health and strength by waiting, but use Dr. John W. Bull's Cough Syrup at once. This wonderful remedy cures all throat and lung affections in an astonishingly short time.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup

Cures Hoarseness and Sore Throat.
Doses are small and pleasant to take. Doctors recommend it. Price 25 cts. At all druggists.

FARMERS' WIVES

or any other ladies who wish to work

Can Earn Lots of Money

working for us in spare time at home on our Cloths. We offer you a good chance to make plenty of spending money easily, leisure hours. Send 12c. for cloth and full directions for work, and commence at once. Cloth sent anywhere. Address
WINOOSKET CO. (311 M) Boston Mass
Mfg. Dept

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Prevents Dandruff and hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

WE GIVE ANY LADY

or man, who will take orders for our Leghorn Hen Food, in their own town,

A SOLID GOLD WATCH, FREE

We make this offer for a short time, in order to get our Food into more general use. It increases yield of eggs, and keeps fowl in good health. Send us 50c. for a regular $1.00 size box, and begin to take orders at once.

Pamphlet, with more information about hens, sent on receipt of self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address
Leghorn Food Co. ( )Boston, Mass.

City Comforts for Country Homes

CHEAPER·AND·BETTER·THAN
ELECTRICITY·CITY GAS·OIL LAMPS
Will light the house, cook, broil, roast, bake, wash, iron, heat rooms, pump water supply, run gas engines etc.
Send for Free Catalogue
LIGHT FOR EVENING HOURS.
DETROIT
HEATING and LIGHTING CO
DETROIT • • • MICH

THE AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXIX. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, April 13, 1899. Number 15.

BANK First National
Auburn, Ind.
Capital Stock and Surplus
$60,000
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money to Loan.
CHARLES McCLELLAN, President.
D. A. GARWOOD, Cashier.

Physicians T.G.Matheny,M D J.B.Casebeer, M.D
Matheny & Casebeer
have again associated themselves in the practice of Medicine, Surgery & Obstetrics. Office On 9th St.
Western 'Phone:
Office..... No. 9
Matheny,s residence..... " 88
Casebeer's " ..... " 175

DENTIST S. B. JOHNSTON,
Office Over Pioneer Hardware Store,
Auburn, Indiana.
First-class material and scientific workmanship employed. Prices reasonable.
Western 'Phone:
Residence..... No. 27

BANK Farmers,
Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres. J. C. Henry, V-Pres.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

Physicians D. J. Swarts, M. D Vesta W. Swarts, M D
and SURGEONS
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets,
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western..... No. 19 Central Union..... No. 19

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN,
Auburn, Ind.
Office in Gandy Building, Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Sprcialty

P. V. HOFFMAN,
LAWYER,
Auburn. Indiana
OFFICE over Hebel's Grocery.

Dr. Z. H. Stamets,
Physician & Surgeon
Office on Main St., opposite Swineford Hotel.
Western 'Phone 104
Special attention given to techinal examinations and treatment of chronic and obscure cases, also special attention given to surgery and diseases of women. Calls answered at all hours. Office apart from residence.

I. O. BUCHTEL, HOMEOPATHIC
Physician and Surgeon.
Special attention given to hronic and Obscure cases and catarrhal diseeses of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Madden Bros Marble Works. Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, day or night.

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Deeds & Titles,
AUBURN, IND.
Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

A Busy Man
writes us a business letter highly complimenting us for the honest-make and durable harness we turn out. We endeavor to please our patrons by giving them goods made of only the best material. We make a specialty of Harness Repairing.
We carry a full line of stock and poultry food. flour, etc. When in need of anything in our line, call on us. Ninth street, south of jail.
CARMER & GILL.
Western 'Phone 148.

MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS

They overcome Weakness, irregularity and omissions, increase vigor and banish "pains of menstruation." They are "Life Savers" to girls at womanhood, aiding development of organs and body. No known remedy for women equals them. Cannot do harm—life becomes a pleasure. $1 per box by mail. Sold by druggists. MOTT CHEMICAL CO., Cleveland, O.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The County Board Holds an Important Meeting

The County Board of Education met at the office of County Superintendent, April 4, to discuss matters relative to enumeration and transfer of children, as directed by the laws enacted by the last General Assembly.

The new laws are somewhat confusing in reference to transfers, and the duty of trustees to pay tuition in other school corporations.

The following are some of the provisions of the law and the rulings of the State Superintendent of Public Institution:

1. The transfer has no connection whatever with the enumeration.

2. All children are enumerated in the corporations in which they legally reside, whether transferred or not.

3. "A longer term," "A better teacher," "A better School," "A better school building," etc. are not sufficient reasons for transfers. A child should be transferred only when high school privileges are obtained thereby, or when distance crossings of railroads and streams. etc, enter as factors.

4. All transfers should be made between July 1, and September 1, each year, but may be made at any time.

The lollowing resolution was unaminously adopted;

RESOLVED, that it is the sense of this meeting that the tuition of all children transferred to town or city schools, remain the same heretofore catalogued in the various High Schools of the county.

The resolution was offered by the trustees of the town schools.

It is indeed a commendable condition of our public schools, to note the harmony existing between the county and town schools.

Respectfully,
H. E. COE
County Superintendent.

A DAUGHTER OF NEPTUNE.

Miss Agnes Gould Traverses the World in a Ship.

When the fine American clipper ship Challenger arrived in Baltimore the other day, after a prosperous voyage from Hongkong, China, she carried among her passengers a veritable daughter of Neptune. The young lady is Miss Agnes Gould, daughter of Capt. Gould, the ship's commander. She is a thorough mariner and navigator and assisted her father in the navigation of the ship home from the flowery kingdom. Miss Gould was born aboard her father's ship in the harbor of Callao, Peru, and until she was 7 years of age went to sea with her parents contiaually. She then stayed ashore a few years to attain her schooling, but last year her old love of the sea overcame her and she sailed on the Challenger just twelve months ago from New York for Chee Foo, China, with a cargo of case oil. She assisted in the navigation of the ship home and kept a real shipshape log of the voyage, giving each day's run, the weather conditions, etc. Miss Gould is a prepossessing young lady of about 17 years, and talks enthusiastically of the sea. She spoke of skysail-yard clippers, trade winds, studding-sail booms, beam ends, royal and topgallant yards as other young ladies talk of laces and frills, and says she expects to accompany her father on his next voyage to the orient. She has as pets two Chinese "chow" dogs, which are bred for food in China, and a cute little Japanese dog named Nellie, which stands on its hind legs and waves its paws in an attitude of devotion when she says "Chin, chin," which Miss Gould explained is Chinese pigeon English for prayer. There are besides on the ship a little Java monkey, which wears a little blue flannel sailor suit; a Chinese pig, an old black sow that has made two complete trips around the world; a Chinese canary in a bamboo cage and a coop of Japanese ducks and geese with queer topknots on their heads.

What a Druggist Says

SEWARDSON, Ill., Aug. 5, 1897.
Gents:—Will say that I have vsed your Syrup Pepsin in my family and consider it the best medicine for stomach and bowel troubles that I have ever used. The ten cent bottle idea of advertising, as it gives one a trial with a small outlay of money, is sure to bring good results. Respectfully,
T. N. ROBINSON, DRUGGIST.

Duke of York as a Carpenter.

It is not generally known that the Duke of York is an expert carpenter, and, if necessity arose, could handle a plane or use a chisel with many a man who earns his livelihood in this way. An interesting story is told of him in this respect. Some years ago the late Duke of Clarence locked his younger brother out of a room into which he particularly wished to enter. The Duke of York, then Prince George, simply hinted that if his brother did not open the door he would quietly put his foot through a panel of it. No heed was paid to this threat, and after a lapse of a minute or two, Prince George proceeded to carry it into execution. After this was done, conscience smote him and he knew he would get into a bother. So he obtained the necessary wood and set to work at once, planed another panel, put it in the door, got the bright-colored paint to match the other panels, and no one was any the wiser.

The Season For

New Carpets AND Curtains

is now at hand. Never before have we been so well prepared to serve you in this department. In our assortment you will find the latest colorings and patterns. You will also find good honest wear at the most reasonable prices.

..Carpets..

are handsomer than they have been for a number of years—Mattings come in prettier designs and we have a very large line from which you may make your selection.

Our showing in

Lace Curtains and Portiers

is the talk of the town. Beautiful patterns and elegant materials at prices so much lower than you would expect them to be. We would be pleased to have you call and see this line. If you are ready to buy we feel sure that you will find exactly what you want here. We would like to see you in our store often.

We Are Saving You Money.

SCHAAB & BRO.,
Auburn, Indiana.

Record Diving Feat.

The greatest diving feat ever achieved was in moving the cargo of the ship Cape Horn, wrecked off the cost of South America, when a diver named Hooper made seven descents to a depth of over 200 feet, remaining at one time 42 minutes under the water. An authority states that the greatest depth to which a man has been known to descend does not exceed 220 feet, which is equivalent to a pressure of 88½ pounds to the square inch.

Lingering La Grippe Cough Cured.

Mr. G. VACHER, 157 Osgood St., Chicago.
My wife had a severe case of La grippe three years ago and left her with a very bad cough. She tried a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it gave immediate relief. A 50-cent bottle cured her cough entirely. Now we are never without a bottle of this wonderful Cough Medicine in the house. 25 and 50 cents.

Red Hot From The Gun

Was the ball that hit G. B. Steadman of Newark, Mich., in the Civil War. It caused horrible Ulcers that no treatment helped for 20 years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him. Cures Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Boils, Felons, Corns, Skin Eruptions. Best Pile cure on earth. 25 cents a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by H. B. McCord, druggist.

Indians in the Lumber Business.

The Menominee Indians in Northeastern Wisconsin are as successful as anybody in their lumber operations. By the sale of pine logs in years past 1,200 men, women and children have a tribal fund which aggregates about $1,000,000 and is still growing. The tribe expends about $75,000 a year in logging operations and clears $50,000 to $100,000 yearly, which is added to the fund.

The Ills of Children.

Dr. Hartman offers his advice to parents on the treatment of coughs and colds.

LEARN to guard against colds. Nearly all the ills of children begin with taking cold. If your child catches cold don't wait a moment before attacking that cold.

To the ignorance or neglect of parents is due the fatal termination of many children's complaints.

If you are not informed as to the proper course to pursue to drive off a child's cold, write to Dr. Hartman, president of the Surgical Hotel, Columbus, O., for advice, and ask for some of his free books which contain the most pertinent facts about colds and coughs and all catarrhal diseases.

Pe-ru-na, Dr. Hartman's great prescription, is wholly vegetable. It wards off colds entirely if taken at the beginning in proper doses. It breaks up settled colds quickly; it is scientific and safe; there is no mystery about it. Dr. Hartman's books tell just how it acts and why. All druggists sell it.

Mrs. C. T. Rogers, Elgin, Ill., says: Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, O.

DEAR SIR:—"Your medicine saved my baby's life. We stopped all treatment but yours, and now he is a beautiful boy. It was certainly a miracle."

Mrs. Becking, East Toledo, O., writes to the Pe-ru-na Medicine Co.:

DEAR SIRS:—"Pe-ru-na is the best medicine I ever had in my house. My children had a bad cough, and one of them had the lung fever. I cured them all with Pe-ru-na."

Proper knowledge of the treatment of coughs and colds is of the first importance to parents. This knowledge is offered free. All catarrhal diseases succumb to Pe-ru-na.

THE SAMOAN ISLANDS

The Choice of a Darkey King Causes all the Fuss.

A few words will explain it. A few years ago there was a civil war between two who wanted to be king. Three nations that have interests there, Germany, Great Britain and the United States, fixed up the quarrel, and then to prevent any more trouble, agreed that hereafter any disputes would be settled by the Chief Justice of the islands, subject to appeal to the three powers, a majority of which would decide. Recently the king died, and the chief justice who happened to be an American decided that Malietoa Tanu, son of a former king, should reign. This suited England and Uncle Sam, but the German consul recognized another aspirant, Mataafa, who, thus encouarged, raised a little army and threatened the people, natives and foreign. The American naval commander ordered him to disband, and then the German consul again stepped in and he would not disband. British and American sailors were landed and drove him from the capital town of Apia and secured the safety of our citizens there and the town itself. We had one man killed; the English two. Now it is decided that Germany was wrong, and all will probably unite in sustaining the king chosen by the chief justice.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents at H. B. McCord's drug store. Every bottle guaranteed.

Council Meeting

The town council held an informal meeting last evening, to read over and discuss the proposed sewerage system.

There is a great deal of study connected with it, and so engineer VanAuken read it over carefully, a paragraph at a time while members of the council watched the town plats to see what streets were to be followed. In brief, Mr. VanAuken proposes to consider the sewerage in several districts. The southwest and west part of town, is one district, the central including Main-st is another; the southeast including Cedar-st is another, Gas addition is another, the northwest. up by Rainer's is another, Stamets addition is another, and so on. Then the several surface drains already in use, are to be utilized to carry off surface water and there is a disposition to keep out of town all water that should be considered as belonging to the country They wish to have the main outlets of the main sewers, go into Cedar creek at the south of town. The tile contemplated is from twelve to twenty inches.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs are surely cured by it. Call on H. B. McCord, druggist, and get a free trial bottle. Regular size 50c and $1. Every bottle guaranteed or price refunded.

Ambassadors' Pay.

England pays its Ambassadors as follows: France, $45,000; Germany, $40,000; Turkey, $40,000; Russia, $39,000; Italy, $35,000; United States, $32,000 In most cases the officials receive perquisites in addition. America pays its Ambassadors $17,500 each.

To Make Life Happy

Sweet music appeals to the heart and soul and lightens many of life's burdens. If you have ever heard the sweet-toned STEGER PIANO you will appreciate this. To reach the highest standard of excellence has always been the aim in the manufacture of the CELEBRATED STEGER PIANO. Only the best material is used, insuring great durability. Every piano fully guaranteed.

The Steger factories, thoroughly equipped with the best and most improved machinery, located at Steger, Ill., are among the largest in the West.

Intending purchasers will find it profitable to write for full descriptive catalogue. which will be mailed free, upon applicatien. STEGER & Co. (Established 1879), Chicago, Ill.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
Makes the food more delicious and wholesome
ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

Mutual Compliments.

The air of the court house is not always as solemn and gloomy as a stranger might imagine. Here is one for a change.

Monday evening as stated in the COURIER, Judge Watkins came up to occupy the bench a part of the week. Now the Judge is not only an able jurist, but a plain and sensible man. He puts on no airs but attends strictly to business. Bright and early next morning he was at the court house, and going into the consultation room back of the court room, he sat down and made himself at home. In the meantime Court Bailiff Husselman was busily engaged putting things into apple pie order. Now it so happened that Mr. Husselman had never met the Judge, and Judge Watkins was equally unaware that there was such a man as Mr. Husselman. And thereby hangs a tale. In a few minutes the bailiff had done the work in the room where the Judge was, and coming out, met Clerk Long. "Who is that old duffer in the other room?" he asked. "Why that's Judge Watkins" replied Mr. Long. "The dickens it is," said Milo, "I thought it was some old farmer."

So far, so good. But a few minutes later, the Judge came out and approaching the clerk, remarked, "You seem to be putting on more airs here than you used to. Now, who is that dude of a young fellow around here that seems to be dusting things. He isn't a bailiff is he?" And then explanations were in order, and the farmer judge and dude bailiff are as good friends as two in a bed.

They tell a good one on Clerk Long. Just before he went into his office, he was over here now and then, and it so happened also, that on one of these occasions the then county officers had their "pictures tuk" standing in a line in front of the court house. While the photographer was getting his machine ready, there were two or three others joined the line, and among them Bill Sherlock who was then doing some work on the court yard. As Bill stepped into the charmed circle, the button was pressed and the photographer "did the rest." When the picture was done, one of our leading attorneys got one and took it home. His family gathered about it to discuss its merits and see how many they could recognize. Among the first faces, they saw Bill Sherlock. "Oh, I know that one" said one. "That's Mike Long, the new clerk. Don't he look natural?" And Mike hasn't yet heard this latest compliment to his beauty.

SURPRISED.

Saturday evening, March 25, while Wesley Miser and family were quietly talking around the cosy fire twenty-two of his neighbors were slyly gatering at E. M. Miller's home, and at about 9 o'clock, they took a march for his house just as he and his family were getting ready to retire, He thought he heard something at the door, and on openinging it, in they came. It was a complete surprise, planned to show their good will just as Mr. Miser was going to move away to Auburn. Mrs, Bevard of Garrett and Mrs. Miller made the present, a fine water set, and the speech, and all enjoyed the meeting greatly. Besides the married people, there were seven young people present. Among those present with their wives, were E. M. Miller, T. C. Rakestraw, E. H. Shull, F. Grogg, C. Graham, F. Boren, J. Sheffer, Peter Shull and Walter Binns.

A Pleasant Surprise.

On Wednesday evening of this week about thirty of the young people planned a surprise on Bird Spitler. He went up town after supper intending to attend the theater, but by hard work of Orange Moss and members of the Dispatch force, he was persuaded not to go. So he went home early to find the house full of his friends, of course he was much excited. The evening was spent in playing games. At about 12 o'clock a nice lunch was served; soon after the guests departed. Every one passed a very enjoyable evening. And Bird says he enjoyed it much better than the show.

Working Night and Day

The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Dr. King's New Life Pills. Every pill is a sugar-coated globule of health, that changes weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, brain-fag into mental power. They're wonderful in building up the health. Only 25c per box. Sold by H. B. McCord's drugstore.

COURT NEWS.

Judge Watkins went home this forenoon having finished what work he had to do this trip. He had started the libel case of Vernier vs Higley, there being several demurrers put in by Higley's attorneys, Hoffman and Rose & Rose. These were fought by Judge Roby, who with Dunten & Holmes of Butler, is for Vernier. Part of the demurrers were sustained, but the case will go into court on one or two of the other points.

Today Judge Hartman is hearing issues in the case in which the Garrett Waterworks is interested.

Saturday's Daily.

Various items of probate work were attended to by Judge Hartman yesterday.

In the Margaret E. Barton estate, the administrator, J. D. Williams having made his final report, it was approved and he was discharged.

G. W. Crooks, administrator of the Fred Groscop estate made final report and was discharged.

G. W. Bleeks made final report in the Leah Rhodarmer estate and was discharged.

Next week, will come up a number of cases from the criminal docket. The first will be the matter of Karl Nelson, the Swede charged with criminal assault of Mr. Keen. Parties up in that neighborhood claim he plead guilty without knowing what it meant, and they also believe the assault was not as bad as at first believed. They ask a rehearing which Judge Hartman has granted.

There are cases to come up the first of the week for violating liquor laws against Oberlin, against against Deveny, Jink Eldridge. Also a case for larceny vs Stella West. On Tuesday is set for trial, the case between David Heckathorn and his former wife, on a surety of the peace. She claims he is annoying her. There is also some trouble between Sarah Trail and Mrs. Till, that is to be settled in court.

What a Mother Says

Decatur, Ill., March 2. 1897.
Gentlemen:—For Constipation I would cheerfully recommend your Syrup Pepsin. My little girl, aged 8 months, had been troubled since birth with Constipation and reading of your remedy I concluded to try it, and I recommend it highly to mothers for inmediate relief. Only two ten cent bottles cured my baby. MRS. C. FLOURY.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

News comes from Allen county of a terrible accident resulting in the death of Mrs. Sadie Sites, wife of a farmer living two miles from Aboite, southwest of Fort Wayne. She had been to Aboite to visit a friend, going in a small road cart. She started home about 5 last evening. At about 9 in the evening some men driving along near the Sites home noticed their horse shy at a rig that stood near the fence. They found Mrs. Sites tangled in the wheel of the cart in such a way she could not be released till the wheel was taken off. She had evidently been dead several hours. It seems that the ends of a fascinator she wore on her head, had in some way caught in the wheel and it is supposed drew her down to it and clogged the wheel so it could not turn. She had fallen over, and dragged a mile. The lines also had finally caught in broken spokes of the wheel and compelled the horse to stop. There is also another theory that as she was subject to heart trouble she may have died before she struck the wheel. She leaves a husband and five children.

Pains in the Back Cured.

A. B. FARRINGTON, Constantia' N. Y. writes: I was troubled several years with kidney disease and suffered severe pains in the back. I used Foley's Kidney Cure and one bottle cured me. I recommended it to my friends it has given perfect satisfaction.

Irregular Assessments

Auditor Seller has been looking over the lists of assessments and finds a wide difference their is in the assessment of personal property and especially of household goods. One man puts his household goods, including furniture, books, silverware, etc. etc. at say $205 while another, who is known to have five times as much at least will put his in at $90 or $115 and so on. He is of the opinion that the assessor should be very careful to secure a reasonably fair assessment all around so that the man who has expensive furniture, etc. should pay more than a man who has only common articles.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1899. APRIL. 1899.

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30

L. Q. 3rd. N. M. 10th. F. Q. 17th. F. M 25th.

CIRCLING THE GLOBE

CONCISE HISTORY OF SEVEN DAYS' DOINGS.

Intelligence by Electric Wire from Every Quarter of the Civilized World, Embracing Foreign Affairs and Home Happenings.

Bandits in the Philippines Routed.

Manila special: Col. Smith, the Governor of the Island of Negros, reports that a number of bandits, headed by a man named Papaisseo, attempted a rebellion on March 27, and killed several officials of Juamalian. He also captured other officials and issued a proclamation calling upon the natives to rise and exterminate the Americans and Spaniards. Major Sim and two companies of the California regiment were dispatched by water to the scene of disturbance, and Col. Duboce and two other companies of troops were sent overland. On April 5 this force marched twelve miles and captured Labsid, the headquarters of the bandits, and destroyed the town. The troops also captured thirty-five prisoners and scattered Papaissco's forces, thus effectually quelling the rebellion at the outset.

The rebels remain remarkably quiet. The sharpshooters of Gen. Lawton's line have borrowed the Filipino tactics and are harassing the rebels at night, picking off some of them nightly.

Sampson to Visit England.

The New York World says: "The Massachusetts will sail from the Brooklyn Navy Yard to join Sampson's squadron at Trinidad. On the arrival of the Massachusetts the squadron will proceed to Southampton, England. The fleet will remain in English waters until the first of August. This will be the first visit of American battleships to England, and the British Government is already preparing to receive the squadron in a manner which will do much to increase the friendly feeling between England and the United States."

Relief for Starving Miners.

Acting Secretary Meikeljohn has received information that miners on the Copper River were in a starving condition. Although Capt. Abercrombie and Capt. Glenn have full instructions to send relief to any who may be suffering along the route of the expedition to Copper River and Cook's Inlet, Mr. Meikeljohn has sent further instructions by telegraph to Capt. Abercrombie to take medical aid and other supplies to Copper River and make every effort to assist the miners reported destitute and starving.

Monument to Lincoln.

The Illinois House Committee on Appropriations, adopting the suggestion of Chairman Curtis, prepared a bill providing for the erection of a new Lincoln monument in Springfield, to cost $1,000,000. Of this amount $100,000 is to be appropriated at once for the commencement of the work; Congress is to be requested to appropriate $500,000, and $400,000 is to be raised by popular subscription.

Three Powers Agree.

Berlin special: An agreement has been reached between the United States, Great Britain and Germany on two propositions, namely: The appointment by each power of a high official to investigate and regulate the conditions prevailing at Samoa, and making unanimity necessary in all the decisions of these high officials. The newspapers hail the result of the negotiations with satisfaction.

McKinley's Journey.

McKinley's plans for a tour to the Pacific coast have been outlined. He will leave Washington in June to go to Northern Michigan, thence to the Yellowstone Park and the mining district of Montana. He will thence go to Tacoma and San Francisco. The return trip will be made by way of New Orleans.

Helen Gould's Gifts.

Miss Helen M. Gould has sent a check to the New York Fire Department, to be devoted to the relief fund of the department. The check was placed to the credit of the fund. Miss Gould also sent $1,000 to the police, to be added to the pension fund.

Evansville Boy Killed.

Albert Hummel of Evansville, Ind., was killed in battle in the Philippines recently. When his mother was told the news she fainted, and it is impossible for friends to console her. Hummel enlisted in the regular army about a year ago.

New Brigadier General.

The President has appointed Col. Adelbert I. Buffington to be a Brigadier General and Chief of the Bureau of Ordnance, to succeed the late Gen. Flagler.

Masonic Temple Attractions, Fort Wayne, Ind.

April 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15—Boston Lyric Opera Company.

Conscience Stricken.

The Secretary of the Treasury has received in an envelope, postmarked New York, three $100 bills, which came as an inclosure in the following letter:

"The inclosed belongs to the United States Treasury. Conscience demands its return. God knows the name and the sin."

Open to Settlers.

The President has signed a proclamation opening to settlement on May 4 next the larger portion of the Southern Ute Reservation, in Colorado.

Gives to Conscience Fund.

The Secretary of the Treasury has received in an envelope postmarked New York three $1,000 bills, which came as an inclosure in the following letter: "The inclosed belongs to the United States treasury. Conscience demands its return. God knows the name and the sin."

Burglars Rob a Postoffice.

Burglars robbed the postoffice at Richland Center, Pa., securing stamps and money orders valued at about $600. The safe was blown up by dynamite. Two men sleeping in the rooms above the office were locked in by the thieves. The robbers escaped.

BANKER SENTENCED TO PRISON.

Misapplied Funds While Acting as Agent in Liquidation.

William S. Jewett, a well-known Boston banker, has been sentenced to the jail at Lawrence for a term of seven years. He was convicted some time ago on two counts charging him with misappropriating $8,000 while acting as agent in liquidation of the Lake National Bank of Wolfboro, N. H. Jewett was formerly president of the Lake National Bank and at the time it went into liquidation he was made agent. He was the first person ever prosecuted for misapplying funds while acting in that capacity. The court, in imposing sentence, took cognizance of that fact, and said it purposed making the prisoner an example so as to deter others who might occupy a similar office from pursuing the course he did.

RAILROAD MEN ON STRIKE.

Eastern Corporation Says It Is Not Sharing General Prosperity.

All the employes of the Western New York and Pennsylvania Company's shops at Oil City, Pa., struck for a restoration of 10 per cent cut in their wages made two years ago. They were joined by the men at Buffalo and Olean, N. Y. Unless the matter is satisfactorily adjusted soon all divisions of the road will be tied up. The officials of the road stated to representatives of the men that they were not sharing in the general prosperity, and could not afford to grant the men's demands. The earnings of the company in 1898 were 1 per cent per mile less than in 1897. Their freight traffic is their principal source of revenue, and consists only of hauling coal and iron, and competition is very sharp.

LARGE SALE OF SHEEP LANDS.

Breeders Purchase Tracts from the Union Pacific Railroad.

The land department of the Union Pacific Railroad has completed one of the largest deals of recent years, by which it sells 28,000 acres of land east of Fort Steele, Wyo., to Cosgrove Brothers, sheepmen. The purchasers of this land also leased from the railroad company 81,950 acres of land in the same vicinity. F. C. Miller, also a sheepman, has purchased 5,000 acres north of Fort Steele and leased 20,000 acres in the same vicinity. Negotiations are also pending with a number of other large sheep raisers for the sale of other large tracts in that part of Wyoming. If the sales are completed it will result in practically turning that section of the State over to the sheepmen.

NEARLY $1,000,000 PLEDGED.

Entire Stock of St. Louis World's Fair Will Be Disposed Of by May 1.

Nearly $1,000,000 of the $5,000,000 that the citizens of St. Louis have been called on to subscribe for the World's Fair in 1903 has been pledged. It is now evident that the entire stock of the exposition corporation will be disposed of before May 1, the date ex-Gov. Francis predicted as the limit for having raised the entire amount. From authentic sources it is learned that $810,000 has been subscribed. The finance committee has not yet made the list public.

Dies for Love's Sake.

The Filipino bullet which laid Alva Dix low on the battlefield of Malolos was a messenger of death to Miss Mary Wilson, the young woman to whom he was engaged. Robbed by the cruel fortunes of war of her sweetheart, Miss Wilson committed suicide at her home in Augusta, Kan., rather than carry her grief longer in this world. Alva Dix was a private in Company G, Twentieth Kansas volunteers. Before he enlisted to fight for his country against Spain he was a prosperous farmer in Wilson County, and one of the most popular young men of his neighborhood. He had been courting Miss Wilson for some time previous to his enlistment, and just before he joined his regiment became her affianced lover. A few days ago Miss Wilson saw her lover's name in the list of the killed during the fighting before Malolos. While making no effort to conceal her sorrow, she said nothing to her parents to indicate that she contemplated suicide. The other night when she retired she wrote a note to her father and mother, telling them that she did not care to live any longer since Alva was dead, and left it on a table in her room. Some time during the night she took morphine and ended her life.

To Allot Creek Lands.

In accordance with the circular notice dated March 7, 1899, the Dawes commission has opened an office at Muscokee, I. T., where citizens of the Creek Nation and Creek freedmen whose rights to citizenship are unquestioned may select 160 acres of land from the Creek domain, as provided by the rules and regulations made by the Secretary of the Interior under the provisions of the Curtis act.

Had a Needle in His Heart.

The physicians who performed an autopsy on the remains of Louis Bremer, who died in San Francisco of pleurisy, discovered a piece of needle three-quarters of an inch long firmly imbedded in his heart. There was no indication that any bad effect had followed the piercing of Bremer's heart, and it was evident that the bit of steel had been in the vital organ for some time previous to his death.

Scientists in a Shipwreck.

News has been received of the loss of the schooner Stella Ehrland, which sailed from San Francisco Feb. 26 with a party of scientists sent out by the Smithsonian institution to investigate animal and marine life in the tropics. The little vessel was wrecked off the coast of Lower California. All on board were saved, but the valuable collection of specimens gathered by the party was lost.

Advance of Wages Demanded.

At a conference of longshoremen at Cleveland, at which all ore-receiving ports were represented, it was decided to demand that the ore unloaders' scale be advanced to 11 cents. Subsequently a joint convention of the ore shovelers, lumber and coal handlers was held, and unanimous action was agreed on by the three branches of the organization.

Routed Out the Guests.

Fire which started in the servants' dining room of the Coates House, one of Kansas City's leading hotels, at 2:30 in the morning, routed out all the guests, but was extinguished before any damage of consequence was done. No one was injured.

Cannot Sue for Damages.

The Supreme Court at Indianapolis has held that an employe of a railroad in agreeing to accept benefits from a railroad relief association in case of injury relinquishes his right to bring suit against the company for damages.

Baroness de Hirsch Dead.

Baroness Claire de Hirsch de Gereuth, widow of Baron Hirsch, the famous philanthropist, is dead at Paris. She had been sick for some time. She leaves several million pounds sterling, chiefly bequeathed to charity.

California Policeman Killed.

At Nevada City, Cal., Policeman William Kilroy was shot and killed by Ed Moore, whom he was trying to arrest. Moore escaped to the hills.

Alaska Steamer Is Wrecked.

The steamer City of Topeka was piled up on a rocky reef in Wrangel narrows while bound for Skaguay with 150 prospective Klondikers, among whom were "Skookum Jim," the discoverer of Bonanza creek, and Alexander McDonald, the richest miner of them all. The United States lighthouse tender Manzanillo, bound north on lighthouse inspection, reached the wreck soon after the accident and took off eleven of the passengers in spite of a choppy sea. She took them to Juneau, 100 miles away. Wrangel narrows is a passage twenty miles long, full of sunken rocks and reefs. Steamers never attempt to pass through the narrows except by daylight. The Topeka is owned by the Pacific Coast company and valued at $200,000. Her cargo of 500 tons is said to be ruined.

CANTEENS NOT ABOLISHED.

Act Simply Prevents Soldiers from Acting as Bartenders.

The Secretary of War recently requested the opinion of the Attorney General as to whether section 17 of the act passed at the last session of Congress, "increasing the efficiency of the army," prohibits the continuance of the sale of intoxicating drinks by the Government in the canteen sections of the post exchanges, which are organized and maintained at the various army posts and encampments throughout the United States. The Attorney General, in his reply, holds that the section in question does not prohibit the continuance of the sale of intoxicating drinks through the canteen sections, as heretofore organized and carried on, except that no officer or enlisted man can be detailed for duty in the canteen section to do the selling.

MYSTERIOUS FAMILY TRAGEDY.

Husband and Wife Murdered and Brother-in-Law Commits Suicide.

News has been received at Jackson, Tenn., from Chester County that Mrs. J. A. Stewart was found murdered in her barnyard a few days ago. Several weeks ago her husband was found in his field murdered. One of his sons was arrested at the instance of his brother-in-law, Dan Foster, charged with the murder of the father. While young Stewart was in jail Foster committed suicide by shooting himself through the head. The boy was afterward released.

California Limited Derailed.

The California limited, from Chicago, on the Santa Fe road, was derailed near North Pomona, Cal. The accident was caused by the breaking of a strap which connects with the side rod of the engine and occurred while the train was making sixty miles an hour. The tender separated from the engine and jumped from the track, other cars following. These lodged in the sandy roadbed and no one was seriously injured.

Ten Persons Are Drowned.

The little steamer Chilkat, with nineteen persons on board, left Eureka, Cal., and in two hours she was upside down on the bar and ten of those she carried were no more. Of the nineteen on the vessel thirteen were the officers and crew and six were passengers. Of the passengers, two were saved and four lost, and of the crew seven were saved and six lost.

Two Women Cremated.

Mrs. Sarah Shubert and Mrs. Byers were burned to death at Kingsley, Mich. George Geiger, with whom they were living, called at their room in the night or early morning to give Mrs. Shubert, an invalid, some assistance. A short time after the fire started, supposedly caused by a lantern carried to the invalid's room.

Minister Assaulted and Stoned.

Rev. G. W. Montgomery was decoyed from his home at Cameron, W. Va., the other night and terribly stoned by a crowd of men who waylaid him. The assault was the outgrowth of a vigorous campaign against unlicensed saloons the minister had conducted, and it created intense excitement.

Town Will Have No Officers.

Bronson, Kan., will be without a municipal government for two years unless the present Mayor, Council and other officers can hold over. The people of the town were so engrossed in a natural gas and zinc ore boom that they allowed nominations to go utterly by default.

To Open Ute Reservation.

The President has signed a proclamation opening to settlement on May 4 next the larger portion of the southern Ute reservation in Colorado.

Columbia City Hall Burned.

At Columbia, S. C., the city hall and opera house was totally destroyed by fire. The aggregate loss is about $70,000, insurance $35,500.

Cuban Assembly Quits.

The Cuban military assembly has voted to disband the army and to dissolve. The voting was twenty-one in favor against one opposed.

Killed by His Son.

To save his mother from his father's murderous attack Lewis Dennis of near Milheim, Pa., killed his father by a blow with a chair.

Alleged Kidnapers Given Up.

Mrs. Ingersoll and John Collins, the alleged kidnapers of little Gerald Lapiner, have been removed to Chicago for trial.

Noted Railway Man Dead.

D. A. Waterman, treasurer of the Michigan Central Railroad, died at his home in Yonkers, N. Y.

MARKET QUOTATIONS.

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, shipping grades, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2 red, 71c to 73c; corn, No. 2, 34c to 36c; oats, No. 2, 26c to 27c; rye, No. 2, 54c to 55c; butter, choice creamery, 20c to 21c; eggs, fresh, 11c to 13c; potatoes, choice, 55c to 65c per bushel.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $5.75; hogs, choice light, $2.75 to $4.00; sheep, common to choice, $2.50 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2 red, 71c to 73c; corn, No. 2 white, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 31c to 33c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $3.50 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 74c to 76c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 33c to 35c; oats, No. 2, 28c to 30c; rye, No. 2, 55c to 57c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $2.50 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 73c to 74c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 37c to 38c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 30c to 31c; rye, No. 2, 59c to 61c.

Detroit—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $2.50 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, 74c to 76c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 32c to 34c; rye, 59c to 61c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 73c to 74c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 34c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 27c to 29c; rye, No. 2, 56c to 58c; clover seed, new, $3.45 to $3.55.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 spring, 70c to 72c; corn, No. 3, 33c to 34c; oats, No. 2 white, 29c to 31c; rye, No. 1, 55c to 57c; barley, No. 2, 46c to 48c; pork, mess, $9.00 to $9.50.

Buffalo—Cattle, good shipping steers, $3.00 to $5.75; hogs, common to choice, $3.25 to $4.25; sheep, fair to choice wethers, $3.50 to $5.25; lambs, common to extra, $4.50 to $6.50.

New York—Cattle, $3.25 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.50; sheep, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2 red, 76c to 78c; corn, No. 2, 42c to 44c; oats, No. 2 white, 36c to 38c; butter, creamery, 17c to 22c; eggs, Western, 12c to 14c.

REST IN ARLINGTON.

DEAD HEROES OF THE SPANISH WAR ARE BURIED.

Solemn Ceremony at Washington Is Unprecedented in the World's History—Salutes Are Fired and Taps Are Sounded Over Graves of the Soldiers.

An event unprecedented in the world's history occurred at Washington Thursday, when 350 dead soldiers whose remains had been brought from Cuba and Porto Rico were interred at the national cemetery at Arlington, Va. The day was a solemn holiday, by proclamation of the President. Flags were at half mast and department buildings were closed. A great cortege, comprising all the military and naval forces stationed in the vicinity, escorted the remains to the beautiful resting place across the Potomac, where thousands of heroes of the civil war lie in well-cared-for graves.

Other nations have paid tribute to their fallen heroes, but none before so tenderly expressed its esteem of those who died. It is the first in history that private soldiers who were killed on foreign soil were brought back to their native land for interment. The transport Crook left this country two months ago with a small army of undertakers and grave diggers. The bodies of men who died, either in action or from disease, at San Juan, Guantanamo, Santiago and other points in Cuba and at Ponce, San Juan, Coamo, Guanica and other Porto Rican points, were disinterred and brought to New York. The ship reached the metropolis last week. A large number of bodies were claimed by relatives and forwarded to them, but about 350 were sent to Washington for interment in the national cemetery. Of the bodies that were buried nearly one-half are claimed, but laid to rest in Arlington at the wishes of relatives. To these the special privilege of a position within the lines was granted. Many others beyond these lines looked on with moistened eyes upon the row of caskets. They knew not but what some relative or friend whose death had been reported but whose body had not been identified slumbered there among the "unclaimed" dead.

Full military honors were paid the dead soldiers. The military committal service was conducted by Post Chaplain Freeland of Fort Monroe, according to the ritual of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and the Rev. Father Joseph F. McGee of St. Patrick's Church read the Catholic service over the Catholic dead.

The customary volleys were fired, taps were sounded, and then each flag-draped casket was lowered into the earth. There were no addresses, and the entire service consumed but a short time. The military escort comprised all of the artillery troops at the Washington barracks, one troop of cavalry from Fort Meyer, a battalion of marines from the navy yard and marine barracks, and the entire national guard of the District of Columbia.

Besides the public, that showed sympathy and patriotism, the relatives who shed their tears above the bodies of loved ones, there were in attendance the President of the United States and most of the members of his cabinet, army and navy officers of the highest rank, whose presence indicated the official honor and respect in which those are ever held who die for their country's sake.

In his proclamation, President McKinley said: "Those who died in another land left in many homes the undying memories that attend the heroic dead of all ages. It was fitting that with the advent of peace, won by their sacrifice, their bodies should be gathered with tender care and restored to home and kindred. This has been done with the dead of Cuba and Porto Rico. Those of the Philippines still rest where they fell, watched over by their surviving comrades and crowned with the love of a grateful nation.

"The remains of many brought to our shores have been delivered to their families for private burial. But for others of the brave officers and men who perished there has been reserved interment in ground sacred to soldiers and sailors amid the tributes of military honor and national mourning they have so well deserved."

Bulgaria has secured a loan in Vienna of $50,000,000.

Cecil Rhodes' telegraph line has reached Abercorn, at the southern extremity of Lake Tanganyika.

The cable between Manila and Iloilo has been repaired and communication once more established.

The Sultan of Turkey will send five envoys to the Czar's disarmament conference at The Hague.

Germany will take no steps to purchase the Carolines until ratifications of the peace treaty are exchanged between Spain and the United States.

Lieut. Lemaire's exploration party in German East Africa recently covered the 600 miles between Lake Nyassa and Lake Tanganyika in twenty days.

Considerable alarm has been occasioned in Constantinople among the native Christians by the receipt of many telegrams from friends and relatives in Smyrna, signed "Are Safe." Such telegrams in 1895 were often the forerunners of a massacre.

The Sultan of Turkey has granted to Germany the right to build warehouses and docks at Haidar Pasha, a port directly opposite Constantinople. Haidar Pasha will be made the western terminus of the Anatolian Railway, now under construction by German capitalists.

Newspaper reports at Turin to the effect the Italian territory in East Africa will be ceded to Great Britain create intense excitement, notwithstanding official denials.

The Armenian committee at Geneva has issued a circular to the powers hinting at revolution unless they intervene to secure an amelioration of the position of Armenians in Turkey.

The Indian budget just announced estimates the surplus for the year 1898-'99 at $15,000,000 and the surplus for the year 1899-1900 at $12,500,000. The Government has voted not to reduce taxation.

Sparks from the Wires.

Among recent presents sent to Admiral Dewey is an annual pass to a theater named for him.

The appointment of Prof. Walter F. Wilcox of Cornell University as chief statistician of the census bureau has been announced.

A ball of fire which came from the clouds created havoc in Montclair, N. J., destroying two houses and injuring several persons.

Nearly every vessel at the Chicago end of Lake Michigan has been chartered and loaded with grain awaiting the opening of navigation.

INDIANA TEACHERS MEET.

Well-Known Educators Delivered Addresses at Fort Wayne Convention.

The seventeenth annual meeting of the Northern Indiana Teachers' Association was held at Fort Wayne, when 2,300 teachers were present. The association is composed of the teachers of the sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth congressional districts.

Thursday morning the superintendents of the city schools held a meeting at the Wayne Hotel and discussed the new school laws, and the general impression is that the truancy law will prove to be a great improvement. In the evening a general meeting was held at the Princess rink. George F. Felts, secretary of the Fort Wayne school board, delivered the address of welcome, responded to by J. Z. McCaughan, principal of the Kokomo high school, followed by an address from the retiring president, W. E. J. Stratford, and the inaugural address by W. C. Belman of Hammond, the incoming president.

Friday morning Prof. Martin Brumbaugh, professor of pedagogy, University of Pennsylvania, delivered an address on "Influence of the Renaissance," and G. Stanley Hall, president of Clark University, Worcester, Mass., on "The Love and Study of Noture." In the afternoon Prof. Brumbaugh addressed the convention on "Method in Teaching Literature" and Dr. Hall closed with an address on "Motor Education." In the grade sections the speakers were Dr. Hall, Prof. Brumbaugh and President D. F. Moore of Frankfort. In the high school sections the speakers and instructors were Profs. C. T. Lane, Fort Wayne; John Wood, Laporte; S. B. McCracken, Elkhart; Miss Evaline Martin, Marion; J. T. Class, Alexandria, and E. E. Griffith of the Indiana University. In the business session the following committee was selected: Executive, Superintendent L. A. Mott of Richmond, W. A. Bell of Indianapolis, Morris M. Pawell of Hartford City, Superintendent John M. Hill of Tipton, County Superintendent Charles Zeigler of Laporte, Superintendent J. W. Wyandt of Angola, County Superintendent William Klemm of South Bend.

Saturday Prof. Brumbaugh was on the program for addresses on "A Day in an Old Greek School" and "Method in Teaching History," and Dr. Hall's themes were "Food and Nutrition" and "The Education of the Religious Sentiment." Music was furnished during the convention by the pupils of the Fort Wayne schools. There were also sections in music, penmanship, art and country and village schools, under the direction of the prominent educators. The next meeting will be at Logansport. John W. Carr of Anderson has been elected chairman of the executive committee. Prof. J. N. Study of Fort Wayne was elected president; Edward Boyle of Michigan City, vice-president; Mrs. E. M. Richards of Auburn, secretary, and W. A. Mills of Attica, treasurer.

ELECTRIC LINES FOR INDIANA.

Many Railroads Are Projected to Connect Large Towns.

A well-known railway man, who is interested in electric projects, has compiled a list of the roads in Indiana that are either now being built or for which plans have been made. Some of the proposed lines are: Indianapolis to Lebanon and Logansport; Indianapolis to Noblesville, Tipton and Kokomo; Indianapolis to Muncie; Indianapolis to Danville, Greencastle, Brazil and Terre Haute; Terre Haute to Marion; Martinsville to Waverly and Indianapolis; Cambridge City to East Germantown, Dublin, Milton, Mt. Auburn and Hagerstown; Hartford City to Noblesville via Indianapolis; Terre Haute to Mattoon and Charleston, Ill.; Evansville to Rockport, Tell City and Cannelton; Indianapolis to New Castle and Richmond; Richmond to Muncie; Fort Wayne to Indianapolis; Columbus to Terre Haute; Aurora to Rising Sun; Cincinnati to Lawrenceburg and Aurora; Angola to Pleasant Lake, Hudson, Ashley, Waterloo, Auburn and Garrett; Warsaw to Winona; Indianapolis to Vincennes; Richmond to Eaton, Ohio; Richmond to Cincinnati.

SHOWING PROPOSED ELECTRIC ROADS.

Miners and Operators Agree.

The wage contracts for the two coal fields in Indiana, bituminous and block, were agreed upon at Terre Haute. Operators and miners alike are predicting a year of steadier employment in the industry now employing 80,000 or 90,000 men, than in any since coal was first mined in the State. It was agreed that there should be two pay days a month. At Brazil, a meeting of the scale committee of operators and miners was held, and the Pittsburg agreement was signed, with the proviso that the miners are to set their props.

Short State Items.

Telephone line will be built from Rising Sun to Madison.

A cat on a tin roof occasioned a big burglar scare in a Goshen home.

James Nagle, Colfax, in the United States cavalry, died in Cuba, and will be shipped home.

The birth of a boy in Frank Porter's family at Greenwood makes him the father of twenty-two.

Five hundred employes of two iron mills, Terre Haute, have had their wages raised 10 per cent.

Geo. B. Shivers, Fort Wayne, bookkeeper for A. L. Johns & Co., confessed to stealing $2,000 from the firm.

Mrs. C. Deitch and her daughter, Franklin, have paid off a $300 mortgage for the North Baptist Church.

President Swain of Indiana University, offered the vice-presidency of Leland Stanford University, has declined.

A mob of 200 men forcibly entered a pool room owned by Frank Nace at Young America and demolished its contents.

The large store, general merchandise stock and residence of William Lane at Saline City were destroyed by fire. Loss $11,000, partly covered by insurance.

FAIR TO FILIPINOS.

PURPOSE OF UNITED STATES IS SET FORTH.

Proclamation Issued by the American Commissioners Promises Home Rule, Religious Freedom, Justice and Friendship—Aguinaldo Quits Luzon.

The United States Philippine commission Tuesday issued a proclamation at Manila containing 1,500 words to the inhabitants of the islands. The paper, which was prepared by President Schurmann of the commission, outlines the responsibilities of the United States in the Philippines, and states that the object of the American Government is to elevate the Philippine people.

The hostilities now prevailing are deplored and are attributed to the Filipinos misunderstanding the purposes of the United States. The commission asks the co-operation of the people for the establishment of a better understanding and invites attention to the following regulating principles by which the United States may be guided:

Conditions Clearly Defined.

1. American supremacy must be enforced.
2. The most ample liberty possible will be granted.
3. All civil rights are guaranteed.
4. Honor forbids use of the Philippines as a means of exploitation.
5. An effective civil service is guaranteed.
6. An honest, fiscal administration is promised.
7. All corruption will be eradicated.
8. Public works of all kinds will be promoted.
9. Foreign trade and commerce will be fostered.
10. Schools will be established.
11. Reforms in all departments of the government of the islands are promised.

The proclamation is signed by Jacob Gould Schurmann, George Dewey, Elwell S. Otis, Charles Denby and Dean C. Worcester.

In conclusion the proclamation says:

"Such is the spirit in which the United States comes to the people of the island and the President has instructed the commission to make this publicly known.

"Obeying his behests, the commissioners desire to join the President in expressing their good will toward the Philippine people, and to extend to the leading representative men an invitation to meet them for the purpose of personal acquaintance and the exchange of views and opinions."

Junta Advises Aguinoldo.

It is reported that Aguinaldo, on advice of the Filipino junta in Hong Kong, will abandon Luzon and go to Mindanao, the southern island of the Philippine group, and endeavor to continue the insurrection there and on the adjoining islands of Negros, Cebu and Bohol. It is expected that the Sultan of Sulu will lend him support.

REBELLION IS WANING.

Commissioners, in a Long Telegram to McKinley, Confirm Otis' Advices.

President McKinley received a long telegram from the Philippine commissioners Tuesday confirming the encouraging advices telegraphed by Gen. Otis and announcing that they had taken advantage of the favorable opportunity to issue a proclamation to the people. They stated that in their opinion the rebellion was practically over. The troops will hold positions already captured and scouting parties will be sent out to look after the scattered bands of insurgents that have fled in different directions.

The commission reports that the people are coming back to their homes and that the local governments are being reorganized. They state that most of the local governments were forced into the rebellion by Aguinaldo, who, while the treaty of peace was being negotiated with Spain, sent detachments of from fifty to 200 of his adherents from Luzon to each of the other provinces "to seize the governments as robbers hold up trains." This is a new piece of information.

HARRISON IS CHOSEN.

Democratic Candidate Is Re-Elected Mayor of Chicago.

Carter H. Harrison was re-elected Mayor of Chicago Tuesday. His plurality was 38,850. Except the Twelfth, Twenty-fifth, Thirty-first, Thirty-second and Thirty-fourth, he carried every ward in Chicago, and even in these he ran Mr. Carter so close a race that the Republican pluralities were cut down to insignificant figures. Republican wards like the Third, Fourth, Eleventh, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Twenty-first, Twenty-third and Twenty-eighth, which are counted on to swell the party total, swung into the Harrison column. The entire Democratic city ticket was elected.

CARTER H. HARRISON.

Harrison's total vote was 146,042; Mr. Carter's 107,192, and ex-Gov. Altgeld's 45,404. The grand total of votes cast for all mayoral candidates was 299,709.

It was one of the quietest election days in the history of Chicago. There was no occasion for brawling or fighting or intimidation of voters, even if anybody had been so inclined. Complaints of infraction of the election laws were singularly few. Intense interest in the election, supplemented by the finest election day weather imaginable, brought out the heaviest vote ever cast in a Chicago city election.

Comparison with the vote of two years ago shows that the Harlan vote was split almost equally between Harrison and Carter.

Notes of Current Events.

The Boston Board of Health has prohibited spitting in public places.

Senator Teller of Colorado says he is still for Bryan for President in 1900.

Recent measurements show Orizaba to be the highest mountain peak in Mexico.

Roman A. Baca, an old Indian fighter and prominent politician of New Mexico, is dead.

A block of white marble weighing over 100,000 pounds was quarried at Marble Hill, Ga.

The mail system of Porto Rico will be conducted as though the island were an independent country.

ELECTION RESULTS.

SPIRITED MUNICIPAL CONTESTS IN VARIOUS STATES.

Local Issues Seem to Have Determined Nearly Every Contest, and Results Are Not Thought to Have Any Particular National Significance.

The elections in Michigan have not shown any marked change in the general political complexion of the State, but the result shows quite heavy Democratic gains in some of the larger cities, notably so in Detroit, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Jackson and Kalamazoo. On a generally light vote the Republicans hold their own in the smaller cities and throughout the rural districts. Circuit judges were elected in thirty-six judicial districts. Of these about two-thirds of the new judges who are elected for six-year terms are Republicans. The Republicans re-elect Judge Claudius B. Grant as justice of the Supreme Court by a majority of at least 20,000. They also elect Henry S. Dean and Eli R. Sutton regents of Michigan University by somewhat greater majorities. Thomas E. Barkworth, Democratic candidate for justice, ran nearly 6,000 ahead of Judge Grant in Wayne County (Detroit), and Grant received only a thousand plurality in Kent County (Grand Rapids), which in recent years has shown much heavier Republican majorities. Local and personal issues played the usual conspicuous part in the spring elections throughout the State. At Jackson Mayor Loennecker, Dem., was re-elected by about 1,000 majority, a Democratic gain of 750. The Republicans carried Battle Creek, electing all officers excepting one alderman. At Bay City the entire Republican city ticket was elected by about 300 majority. In West Bay City the Republicans elected controller and three aldermen, the Democrats the other officers. The Democrats elected Mayor and three aldermen at Kalamazoo and the Republicans City Treasurer and two aldermen.

Ohio.

The elections in Ohio Monday were general for municipal and township officers. While local issues usually control these spring elections, yet there were other influences in some places. At Cleveland there was a decisive Democratic victory on the head of the ticket. At Columbus a Republican Mayor was elected for the first time in twelve years. At Cincinnati the Republicans have a plurality of 7,000, and the present Democratic Mayor was elected two years ago by almost as large a plurality. At Toledo an independent Republican was elected on Pingree issues, assisted by factional complications. At Dayton the Democrats made municipal gains, but the Republicans gained in the township. In the smaller cities, as well as in the rural districts, the Republicans claim gains. At Hamilton the Democrats maintained their majorities; also at Lima, Newark, Circleville, Upper Sandusky, Wapakoneta, Millersburg and Vanwert. At Zanesville and Marysville the Republicans were successful. As a rule, the vote was light. At Canton, the home of McKinley, James Robertson, Republican, was elected Mayor by 13 plurality, a change from the present Democratic administration.

Illinois.

After the most hotly contested municipal campaign that Springfield has experienced for many years the Republicans elected both their city and township tickets. The Republicans lose one alderman, but will still have control of the Council. They also claim the County Board by a majority of one. The Democrats have controlled by a majority of one during the last year. In the township election at Peoria the entire Republican ticket was elected. Joliet township Republicans elected every man on their ticket. At Galesburg the Republican municipal ticket was elected by the largest plurality in the history of the city. Nearly a presidential vote was polled at Quincy. John A. Steinbach, Dem., was re-elected Mayor by a majority of nearly 1,000. The entire Democratic ticket is elected, with the exception of three aldermen.

Missouri.

Returns from the municipal and school elections held in most of the towns, cities and counties throughout Missouri show that the Democrats carried a majority of their tickets, while in several cities, notably Boonville and Sedalia, honors were divided with the Republicans. Party lines were closely drawn. Kirksville, St. Joseph, Carrollton, Clinton, Paris, Columbia, Brookfield, Cape Girardeau, Windsor, Holden, Richmond, Monroe City and Moberly report Democratic majorities, with Jefferson City, Joplin, Springfield, Poplar Bluff, Hamilton, Warrensburg, Carthage and Mountain Grove Republican.

Wisconsin.

In Wisconsin two justices of the Supreme Court were elected. Less than half the usual vote was polled in Milwaukee, and reports from the State indicate that there was very little interest in any of the contests. In the municipal elections in the cities of the second and third class, party lines were drawn in but few cases, and the results have no national significance. Local issues determined nearly every contest.

Nebraska.

City elections were held all over Nebraska except in Omaha. The heaviest vote in years was polled. The issue was almost universally license or no license. The larger places almost without exception elected license tickets, while in the smaller villages probably half decided against the issue of saloon licenses. Politics cut no figure except in the larger cities.

News of Minor Note.

The Empress Dowager recently restored to favor several degraded officials.

A national convention of Prohibitionists will be held at Pittsburg June 8.

In 1898 the railroads of Iowa paid about 8 per cent of the State, county and municipal taxes.

News from Honolulu says that the funeral of Princess Kauilani was the largest ever seen in that city. United States troops participated.

The Plains of Abraham, Canada's historic battlefield, have been surveyed for building lots, and will be converted into a suburb of Quebec.

Walter S. Mather, a well-known business man of Hartford, Conn., who died the other day, was a descendant of the famous Cotton Mather.

A printing press is on its way to Khartoum in charge charge of Corporal Muggridge, R. E., who will be the pioneer of the printing trade in Soudanese Africa.

A dispatch from Port

THE RING AND THE ROSE.

A ring and a rose, Jean—a velvety tress—
And I love you no more, and I love you no less;
But still, in the light of a cynical day,
I can hold your white hand while I'm going your way.
Are these all that life has to brighten and bless—
A ring, and a rose and a velvety tress?

A ring and a rose! 'Twere a wonderful thing
If we shackled Love's liberty, dear, with a ring!
If he went the unvarying pathway he knows
For the sake of a soft tress—the kiss of a rose!
I love you no more, dear, I love you no less.
For a ring, and a rose, and a velvety tress.

See, how the stars beckon! That way, dear, lies fame—
The glory we sigh for—a wreath and a name!
And how may I win them if 'neath the bright skies
I revel and rest in the light of your eyes?
Oh, yet for some word from the life-stars above!
And shall it be fame, Jean—or shall it be love?

I fear for the answer! Nay, let your eyes dawn:—
Would the light in them fade if my lips were withdrawn?
If I gained the far summit in splendor of light,
Would a woman's heart miss me and dwell with the Night?
Would I still to my bosom in memory press
A ring, and a rose, and a velvety tress?

Hold fast to my hand, Jean! It's love that is true:
Hold fast to my hand:—I am going with you!
I am going to trample all else in the dust
Save your love—I believe it!—your beautiful trust!
With never a sigh, or the mist of a tear,
I am giving the world and its wealth for you, dear!

Hold fast to my hand, Jean! Though humble the way,
It shall lead us at last to a lovelier day;
We shall face the far skies with their blackness and blue,
And if heights may be won, I shall win them with you!
There are tears of the years on the wreath 'round a name:
It is love, dear, that lives o'er the ashes of Fame!

A FIGHT WITH A WHALE.

How Mate Bullen's Life Was Saved.

The author of "The Cruise of the Cachalot" relates the following episode, as dramatic as any that ever befell the knights of the harpoon:

We sped along at a good rate toward our prospective victim, who was, in his leisurely enjoyment of life, calmly lolling on the surface, occasionally lifting his enormous tail out of the water and letting it fall flat upon the surface with a boom audible for miles. We were, as usual, first boat; but, much to the mate's annoyance, when we were a short half-mile from the whale our mainsheet parted. It became immediately necessary to roll the sail up, lest its flapping should alarm the watchful monster, and this delaped us sufficiently to allow the other boats to shoot ahead of us. Thus the second mate got fast some seconds before we arrived on the scene, seeing which we furled sail, unshipped the mast, and went in on him with the oars only. At first the proceedings were quite of the usual character, our chief wielding his lance in most brilliant fashion, while not being fast to the animal allowed us much greater freedom in our evolutions; but that fatal habit of the mate's—of allowing his boat to take care of herself so long as he was getting in some good home thrusts—once more asserted itself. Although the whale was exceedingly vigorous, churning the sea into yeasty foam over an enormous area, there we wallowed close to him, right in the middle of the turmoil, actually courting disaster. He had just settled down for a moment, when, glancing over the gunwhale, I saw his tail, like a vast shadow, sweeping away from us toward the second mate, who was lying off the other side of him. Before I had time to think the mighty mass of gristle leaped into the sunshine, curved back from us like a huge bow. Then with a roar it came at us, released from its tension of heaven knows how many tons. Full on the broadside it struck us, sending every soul but me flying out of the wreckage as if fired from catapults. I did not go because my foot was jammed somehow in the well of the boat, but the wrench nearly pulled my thighbone out of its socket. I had hardly released my foot when, towering above me, came the colossal head of the great creature, as he ploughed through the bundle of debris that had just been a boat. There was an appalling roar of water in my ears, and darkness that might be felt all around. Yet, in the midst of it all, one thought predominated as clearly as if I had been turning it over in my mind in the quiet of my bunk aboard. "What if he should swallow me?" Nor to this day can I understand how I escaped the portals of his gullet, which, of course, gaped wide as a church door. But the agony of holding my breath soon overpowered every other feeling and thought, till just as something was going to snap inside my head I rose to the surface. I was surrounded by a welter of bloody froth, which made it impossible for me to see; but oh, the air was sweet!

I struck out blindly, instinctively, although I could feel so strong an eddy that voluntary progress was out of the question. My hand touched and clung to a rope, which immediately towed me in some direction—I neither knew nor cared whither. Soon the motion ceased, and, with a seaman's instinct, I began to haul myself along by the rope I grasped, although no definite idea was in my mind as to where it was attached. Presently I came butt up against something solid, the feel of which gathered all my scattered wits into a compact knub of dread. It was the whale! "Any port in a storm," I murmured, beginning to haul away again upon my friendly line. By dint of hard work I pulled myself right up the sloping, slippery bank of blubber, until I reached the iron, which, as luck would have it, was planted in that side of the carcass now uppermost. Carcass I said—well, certainly I had no idea of there being any life remaining within the vast mass beneath me; yet I hardly had time to take a couple of turns round myself with the rope (or whale line, as I had proved it to be), when I felt the great animal quiver all over, and begin to forge ahead. I was now composed enough to remember that help could not be far away, and that my rescue, providing that I could keep above water, was but a question of a few minutes. But I was hardly prepared for the whale's next move. Being very near his end, the boat, or boats, had drawn off a bit, I suppose, for I could see nothing of them. Then I remembered the flurry. Almost at the same moment it began; and there was I, who with fearful admiration had so often watched the titanic convulsions of a dying cachalot, actually involved in them. The turns were off my body, but I was able to twist a couple of turns around my arms, which, in case of his sounding, I could readily let go. Then all was lost in roar and rush, as of the heart of some mighty cataract, during which I was sometimes above, sometimes beneath, the water, but always clinging, with every ounce of energy still left, to the line. Now, one thought was uppermost—"What if he should breach?" I had seen them do so when in flurry, leaping full twenty feet in the air. Then I prayed. Quickly as all the preceding changes had passed came perfect peace. There I lay, still alive, but so weak that, although I could feel the turns slipping off my arms, and knew that I should slide into the sea if they did, I could make no effort to secure myself. Everything then passed away from me, just as if I had gone to sleep.

AN AMATEUR DETECTIVE'S BLUNDER.

His Pot of Red Paint Fell on the Wrong Man.

"My first experience as a thief catcher," said the detective, as he smiled softly to himself, "came when I was a young lad on my father's farm. My father kept a large number of chickens of which he was extremely proud, as they were high-bred and the only ones in the neighborhood.

"One morning several of them were missing, a fact which caused my father to say things that he never used in ordinary conversation. It was plain that a two-legged thief, and not an animal, had taken them, as there were a number of foot prints around the hen house.

"Several days later a number of others disappeared, and then my father was wild-eyed. He bought a savage dog that was warranted to eat a man on the slightest provocation, and turned him loose at night. He also borrowed a bear trap from one of the neighbors, and set it near the doorway of the hen house. But it was all in vain. It was only a matter of a few nights when a number more hens disappeared, with no signs of the thief.

"It was then that my detective ability began to develop by laying plans to catch the thief. One Sunday night, while my folks were at church, I conceived a plan that I thought might work. I secured a pot of red paint from the barn and fixed it over the doorway of the hen-house in such a manner that it would be sure to fall on any one opening the door. Then I had figured that it would only be necessary to look for some one covered with red paint to be sure of the thief.

"But my dream of looking for a man covered with red paint was short lived. My father returning from church happened to go out to the hen-house to see if everything was all right. He opened the door to look inside, and got the contents of the paint pot over his head. This so startled him that he forgot about the bear trap until he had put his foot in it, and had it closed up on him with a snap. That awoke the dog and he seized the other leg.

"His cries brought the household out on a run. We managed to get him loose and over to the horse trough, where we washed off what we could of the red paint, and I gave up my efforts to catch that particular thief."

New Discoveries at Hampton Court.

Hampton Court Palace is constantly yielding up hidden treasures of artistic and antiquarian interest, and considering the wonderful intricacies of Wolsey's huge chateau it is not surprising that every now and again "finds" of great historical value are brought to light. Some time ago the great Cardinal's private room was disclosed to public view, and now comes the announcement of an extraordinary discovery of what may prove to be an artistic treasure. A large number of the pictures there are in course of removal. Underneath the canvas and paper with which the walls were covered was what appeared to be painting.

Subsequent careful examination showed that three sides of a room, which measures 41 feet by 34 feet, were adorned with very fine paintings, in a

VICK'S

Bulbs and Plants have gone to thousands of satisfie the 50th year in business
we have issued a Special
Golden Wedding Edition of VICK'S GAR which is a work of art. It has 24 pages in colors, 4 handsome half-tone illustrations of Flowers, Veg white and gold. A marvel in Catalogue making Ideas, with care for the same, and a descripti rial and to engage the services of a well-known artist to repair the paintings and as far as possible to restore them to their original condition.—London Daily News.

The Army Field Uniform.

There was no "rough rider costume." The field uniform of the United States Army, worn by officers and men, was of brown canvas, a "Norfolk jacket" and knee breeches. The facings varied with the arm of the service; in the artillery the collars and cuffs were red; in the cavalry yellow; in the infantry light b'

"DEAD OR ALIVE."

UTAH BANDIT FOR WHOM $5,000 IS OFFERED.

Tom McCarthy and His Gang of 200 Cutthroats—Robbers Intrenched in a Rock-bound Fortress in the Blue Mountains—Stealing Cattle Herds.

A bill passed the Utah Legislature appropriating $5,000 of the State's money for the capture of Tom McCarthy, "dead or alive." McCarthy is a bandit whose exploits far outshine those of Jesse James or any of the leaders of his gangs. He is the uncrowned king and general-in-chief of a band of 200 cutthroats who for the past three or four years have been a terror to Colorado, Utah and Wyoming. His company is made up of all classes of bad men, and they must be distinguished criminals before they can gain admission into this organization of murderers and robbers. No ordinary man need think of fraternizing with the members of this circle of wickedness. He must have a record before he dare seek recognition. The exploits of this gang are thrilling in the extreme, and their methods of keeping out of the clutches of the law and of getting out when occasionally one of them gets caught are more interesting than any fiction ever written.

Nobody knows who Tom McCarthy's father was, where he was born or anything whatever of his antecedents or early life. He went into the Blue Mountain district of Utah a number of years ago, accompanied by a few select scoundrels of the six-shooter type, and began his career by robbing stage coaches and wealthy citizens. His success attracted attention, and he was soon an object of envy to the criminals of the Western Territories. They flocked to him and were ready to make any sacrifices in order to get into his gang. He took what he considered the choicest and most expert of them and sent the rest away with a warning that it would be safest to keep quiet. Sheriffs and posses of deputy sheriffs were red-hot after the gang and the new recruits were given ample oportunity to prove their fitness for membership in the organization. The loss of some of his most daring comrades seemed to give McCarthy the idea of establishing a safe retreat, where he might take cover with his men when sore pressed.

The result of this idea is a rock-bound fortress as immovable as the mountains themselves and as impregnable as Gibraltar. Miners and mechanics were picked up here and there over the country, blindfolded and taken to the place in the mountains where the cave was to be made. They blasted out passages and secret passages to no end and fitted up a central chamber in the heart of a mighty rock in a style it is said that would win the admiration of a king. An electric dynamo was brought in on horseback and the parts assembled and the machine installed, with the result that this rock fortress is lighted as brilliantly as a metropolitan ball-room. But this is not the principal use of the electric plant. As nations mine their harbors, so these murderers have protected the approaches to their retreat by large quantities of dynamite—enough, it is said, to blow up a whole regiment of soldiers without the loss of a single border ruffian.

TOM M'CARTHY AND HIS ROCK-BOUND FORTRESS.

Of course, it takes money to run such an establishment as this, but they have no difficulty in obtaining it. The men are cattle herders and are experts in rebranding. A gang of them will come up with an honest ranchman's herd and take possession of it, and the ranchman that dares to follow it up gets death in sure and speedy form.

If he has lost his herd he is generally not so foolish as to sacrifice his life also. These cattle are rebranded, shipped East, and the checks sent West to Tom McCarthy, but always cashed by a third party.

No one knows just where the cave is, but there are deputy sheriffs and United States marshals who could go within four miles of it. Members of the McCarthy gang have been arrested at different times and placed on trial for murder, but are always acquitted partly for want of evidence, but chiefly because the jury that would find one of them guilty would never sit on another murder trial. Some go so far as to say that a member of the gang is on every jury that tries one of them.

This gang can never be broken up by a military force, and that is not the intention of the bill. The purpose of the legislature is that this $5,000 shall be spent in hiring men who are just as wary as the McCarthyites to work their way into the organization for the purpose of betraying it. When this attempt is made there will be no end of exciting experiences, for the band is kept fully posted on every move that is made against them.

Telephoning on the Increase.

The increase in the number of telephone instruments and lines in the world is surprising. In a statement recently published by the State Department the number of instruments in use is given at 1,288,19[illegible] and the distance covered by the lines at 1,509,499 miles. Of this immense number more than one-half are credited to the United States. The following table shows the number and distance of telephone instruments and lines in the leading countries, the figures being for latest years possible to get:

Country—	Year.	Instruments.	Distance.
United States	1896	772,627	805,711
Germany	1896	151,101	147,093
Great Britain	1894	69,645	83,401
Sweden	1897	56,500	74,568
Canada	1898	33,500	44,020
Switzerland	1897	28,846	47,594
France	1894	27,736	63,230
Austria	1896	21,616	46,375
Norway	1897	20,678	33,481
Russia	1896	18,495	40,591

—Chicago News.

STRIKE FOR MORE PIE.

Railroad Laborers Demand and Get Pastry Three Times a Day.

"It was the queerest strike I ever heard about," said the railroad man. "It took place in Michigan some years ago. The manager of a railroad out there had to put a lot of men at work cleaning up a certain tract of timber land. There being no boarding-houses handy, it was found necessary to feed the members of the gang.

"To do this it was, of course, necessary to establish a boarding-house, and the railroad authorities had one started up at once, placing it in charge of a competent and experienced man. But there was trouble right away. All the men struck inside of a week, and the manager hastened to ask if they were dissatisfied with their wages or their hours. The answer was prompt and explicit. The wages and hours were satisfactory, and so was their general treatment; their trouble was in the boarding-house, where they got pie only once a day. They wanted mince pie three times—at breakfast, dinner and supper—and they proposed to have it. The manager hastened to take counsel with the boarding-house man.

"'Give 'em all the pie they want,' was the manager's order. 'If one pie isn't enough, give 'em another. Sweeten it well, too. They want it and we'll give it to them.'

"This suited the boarding-house man down to the ground. Sugar is a good deal cheaper than meat, and mince pie is one of the least expensive foods known to the cook. After that there was no trouble whatever with that gang of men."—New York Press.

Easily Managed.

Choking is immediately relieved if the left arm is raised as high as possible.

Very frequently at meals and when they are at play children get choked while eating, and the customary manner of relieving them is to slap them sharply on the back. The effect of this is to set the obstruction free, so that it can be swallowed. The same thing can be brought about by raising the left hand of the child as high as possible, and the relief comes much more rapidly. In happenings of this kind there should be no alarm, for if the child sees that older persons or parents get excited they are very liable to get so also. The best thing is to tell the child to raise its left arm, and immediately the difficulty passes down.

Well men forget sick men's promises.

AROUND THE WORLD IN THIRTY-THREE DAYS.

Prince Hilkoff, Russian minister of communications, stated at the recent meeting of the European railway managers that when the new Siberian railway is completed it will be possible to travel around the world in thirty-three days. At present the best possible record is sixty-six days. Prince Hilkoff arranges his thirty-three-day itinerary as follows:

	Days.
Bremen, by rail to St. Petersburg	1½
St. Petersburg to Vladivostock	10
Vladivostock to San Francisco	10
San Francisco to Chicago	3½
Chicago to Bremen	8
Total	33

In calculating this run Prince Hilkoff estimates speed on the Siberian Railway at the very modest rate of but forty-eight kilometers, or thirty miles, per hour. Faster communication both by sea and land will doubtless soon reduce the minimum time to thirty days. The present round-the-world time table is as follows:

	Days
Chicago to Southampton	7
Southampton to Brindisi	3½
Brindisi to Yokohama by Suez Canal	42
Yokohama to San Francisco	10
San Francisco to Chicago	3½
Total	66

It might be fairly said, however, that one sees much more of the world in going about it by the present route.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A YOUNG GOULD.

An Interesting Personality Because He Controls $10,000,000.

Young men who come into a fortune of $10,000,000 on their 21st birthday are rare enough to be interesting. Their characters and opinions even are important, for the reason that $10,000,000 carries with it a weight of power, which may be used for good or for evil, not only to the possessor of the money, but also to the community at large. The indications are that Frank Gould, to whom attainment of majority has just brought a fortune of ten millions, will put his money to good use. There is no probability that any of it will be squandered, for Frank Gould inherits his father's strong common sense and quiet tastes. He has no bad habits, nor even expensive ones. He is much more interested in the great activities in which his money is invested than in any of the time-killing frivolities of the "Four Hundred" and the average New York City young man who is rich enough to be independent of work. Frank Gould is not independent of work. He is ambitious to follow in the footsteps of his father, the late Jay Gould, and become a power in the world of finance. He has been an employe of the Missouri Pacific Railway, and by close study has mastered all of the details in the operation of this great railroad system. It is his intention to apply himself to the practical workings of the other great properties controlled by Gould millions, and thus be a complete master of the position which his money and interests will give him. Frank Gould resembles his sister Helen in his fine character and gentle disposition. They both reside in the sister's mansion in Irvington, and there is deep sympathy and affection between them. Miss Helen Gould's influence has undoubtedly been one of the chief instruments in making Frank Gould the promising young man he is.

FRANK JAY GOULD.

DEAN OF PRINCETON COLLEGE.

The Late Rev. James O. Murray Was Deeply Loved by the Students.

Rev. James Ormsbee Murray, D. D., LL. D., dean of the faculty of Princeton University, who died recently, was widely known as an educator and as a writer. Dr. Murray was born in Camden, S. C., in 1827, was graduated from Brown University in 1850 and from Andover Theological Seminary in 1854. He filled pastorates in South Danvers and Cambridgeport, Mass., and in 1865 became associate pastor of the Brick Presbyterian Church, in New York. In 1874 he was called to fill the Holmes chair at Princeton, and in 1886 was chosen dean of the faculty. Dr. Murray was deeply loved by the Princeton students for his kindness and justice, and he was easily the most popular member of the faculty. He was the editor and compiler of the church hymnal, "The Sacrifice of Praise."

REV. J. O. MURRAY.

PASSING OF THE HAREM.

WHY AN EGYPTIAN LOVE TALE REACHED A HAPPY ENDING.

The Advent of the Khedive's Son and Heir Has Had a Lasting Effect Upon Social Conditions in Lotus-Land—A Pretty American in the Story.

A recent cable from Alexandria, Egypt, announcing that the Khedivah had presented Abbass, the present Khedive, with a son and heir, had an immediate effect on the future of several people not at all apparent on the surface—a young couple patiently waiting the Khedive's consent to their marriage were made happy; the well-meant efforts of the Khedive to be European and civilized in his habits and customs received further stimulus, and finally the Khedivah was enabled once more to hold up her head at court.

Mohammed Ali, the Khedive's younger brother, is the hero of the first romance, an American young lady the heroine. He met her in Paris, and fell violently in love, but the Khedive would, he said, never give his consent to the match until he himself had a son and heir. Now the present Khedive is not particularly popular, though well-meaning enough. His brother, Mohammed, however, is exceedingly so. Therefore began the usual intrigues of the Egyptian court. It was said Abbass was unlucky, that clearly Allah did not approve of his trying to live as Europeans, with only one wife, and to set such an example to his court that the old-time harems and the attendant slaves and opium were fast disappearing from the land.

The people groaned. No greater reproach among Eastern folk could be had than the fact that the Khedivah had only given birth to daughters. Under the pressure and disappointment the Khedive even threatened to take another wife—and then farewell to the mainstay of Egypt's changing social conditions. The advent of the little son has restored harmony. The Khedive is made rather more secure on his somewhat uncertain throne; the young couple may wed; the reintroduction of the harem is avoided.

At one time rumor declared Miss Wanamaker to be Prince Mohammed Ali's choice. Be that as it may, the fair American would long ere this have been princess of the royal house of Egypt had it not been for the Khedive's jealousy and suspicion. The fortunate Mohammed is to all intents and purposes like any European prince, for Egyptians of the upper classes are now educated for the most part in France, Germany and England. Many of the Khedive's male relations were at the English universities or military colleges, Woolwich or Sandhurst. It is no longer good form in Egypt to have more than one wife. The harem nowadays means nothing more than the private apartments of the lady of the house, usually presided over by a French or English governess of good family. The slaves are gone, abolished by the English, and so, too, for the most part, is the traffic in opium. Just a few years ago and Lord Kitchener, then Major Kitchener, and his aide-de-camp to be, Arthur McMurdo, were engaged in putting down slavery. The latter, now Colonel McMurdo, has at present full charge of the suppression of the slave and opium trades.

Perhaps the only two features of the old harem left are the chief eunuch, or majordomo, and the secluded lives of Egyptian women. At home the only men they meet are their own or their husband's relatives, and when going out they are still closely veiled, and the majordomo occupies the box seat of the carriage. The survival of the eunuch or majordomo is for the purpose of taking his mistress's commands to the other servants, of governing the household, in fact. On the other hand, wealthy Egyptians of the upper classes travel a good deal over Europe, and their wives accompany them.

Egypt of to-day is very modern in a shallow way. French, the language of business and diplomacy, is gradually being superseded by English; Arabic, of course, suffices for the "fellahs" and common folk. The tablecloth, napkins, knives, and forks and meats are arranged and served in a moderately civilized way and are gradually replacing the use of the carpet and fingers and thumbs, but the viands remain much the same, Turkish or Egyptian—terms usually synonymous. Most of the Khedive's court is composed of sons and nephews of the Sultan's chief advisers. Everybody is related; the place is full of spies. Part of the leading classes are very favorable to England, the others always plotting against everything English, the French and the Turks alternately playing each other up and down. Over all Lord Cromer keeps a firm rein in fact, while the Khedive reigns in fancy.

The Trifles of Life.

"Possibly I have a streak in me that's not common to the race," remarked a local philosopher, as he was enjoying his lunch, "but I find that what might be put down as trifles frequently affect my sentiments as well as my actions.

"Take this pumpkin pie, for instance. It carries me back to the old farm with its orchards, the scent of the clover fields, the wild berry patches, the pure air, the innocent life and the superb health which best fits a man for the battle of life. And the pumpkin is the homely symbol of all that is staunchly loyal. Ever think of that? Cherries, apples, peaches and berries may fail, but I never knew a year at home when we couldn't have pumpkin pie, and it's a moral tonic to me every time I eat it.

"That's only one instance of the peculiarity I mention. One famous writer said that he never wrote better than just after having a clean shave. There is a good deal in it. The man who feels that he's all right in his appearance has a fuller and cheerier swing in his language, as well as his actions. No man can escape more or less depression if not satisfied with himself so far as he challenges the opinion of others, and his elation is correspondingly greater when he thinks that he is beyond the reach of carping criticism.

"If I feel that I am losing my domestic grip at home I go to some good play at the theatre, or read a book that brings out the traits of a good father and husband in their most admirable light. It sets me right and makes a better man of me. Look after these little things in life and see what a difference it will make."—Detroit Free Press.

BREAD FRUIT TREES.

In the South Sea Islands They Provide the Natives' Food.

Of the various trees that produce fruit which is used as a staple of food by man may be mentioned those of the genus Artocarpus (a word meaning "bread fruit") of tropical countries.

The bread fruit tree (Artocarpus incisa) of the southern part of Asia and the South Sea Islands bears a roundish fruit of the size of a melon, rough on the exterior, marked with hexagonal knobs, and of a green color. The pulp of the interior is whitish and of the consistence of new bread. It is roasted before it is eaten, but has little flavor. The best varieties contain no seeds, the tree being propagated by shoots that spring from the roots.

In the South Sea Islands the bread fruit constitutes the principal article of diet of the inhabitants. It is prepared by baking it in an oven heated by hot stones. The plant is now cultivated in the West Indies, but does not there equal the plantain as an article of food.

The fruit of the bedo, another plant of the genus, contains two large pulpy seeds that swim in a semi-liquid substance of a vinous taste. It, therefore, offers the natives of Java and the Marianne and Philippine Islands, where the tree grows, both food and drink.

The jack (Artocoarpus integrifolia,) another bread fruit is a matter of the Indian Archipelago, and is cultivated in Southern India and all the warm parts of Asia. The fruit is a favorite article of food among the natives, as are also the roasted seeds.

The roasted nuts of Brosimum alicastrum, a tree belonging to the same order as the Artocarpus, are used instead of bread, and have a taste something like that of chestnuts.

To this last named genus belongs also the famous cow tree of South America, which yields a copious supply of rich and wholesome milk, as good as that of the cow. In the same order we find the genus Phytocrene, one species of which when wounded discharges a large supply of pure and wholesome liquid, which is drunk by the natives. By a singular anomaly, the order of plants that includes these useful trees embraces the celebrated upas tree, which, when pierced, exudes a milky juice, which contains a very acrid and virulent poison, into which the natives of Java dip their arrows.

Overdiplomatic.

Mr. Meekton was gazing at his wife with that inane and amiable fixety which comes into a man's face when he has been napping and is ashamed of the fact.

"Leonidas," she said sternly.

"What is it, my dear?" he inquired as he straightened himself up in his sleepy-hollow chair.

"What is the matter?"

"Nothing is the matter," he said, growing red in the face. "I haven't intimated that there was anything wrong, have I?"

"No. But you have been behaving rather queerly. Just now you gave a little stare and exclaimed, 'Yes, Henrietta, I agree with you perfectly.'"

"Well," answered he, apprehensively, "there isn't anything in that to take exception to, is there?"

"Are you sure you meant it?"

"Every word of it."

"You had given the matter due consideration before you spoke?"

"Certainly. Do you doubt me, Henrietta?"

"Oh, no. But I can't help attaching some significance to the fact that I hadn't uttered a word during the ten minutes previous to your enthusiastic indorsement of my sentiments."

"Well to tell the truth, Henrietta, I had been asleep and something awoke me, and I naturally supposed—that is to say, I took it for granted——" And then he gave it up.—Washington Star.

Interesting Chinese Officials.

Walter Kennedy, who went out to China as the representative of the late Calvin S. Brice and other capitalists, talked in Pittsburg (his home) the other evening about the task of establishing iron mills in China. He spoke of the interference of local officials, who invade the factories and who have much more to do with the employment and discharge of the coolies than the superintendent of the mill. Mr. Kennedy had no less than sixteen titles appended to his name, yet he could not dismiss a worthless employe. Whenever a man was thus disposed of he almost invariably turned up in another department of the mill. These officials exact toll from the coolies in return for securing the appointment of the latter, and do not hesitate to put a man out and introduce another in his place if a commission can be extorted from the second man. There were several other difficulties to contend with which Mr. Kennedy described.—New York Tribune.

Paine's Rainbow Flag.

But the world still waits for Paine's rainbow flag, which to him meant the blending of all nations into a beautiful union, before which war must pass away forever. That rainbow he no doubt saw in the American flag—which in his last Crisis he spoke of as beautiful to the eye, "and to contemplate its rise and origin inspires a sensation of sublime delight." The rainbow is in every one of Paine's writings, whatever storms sweep through them. He was the typical enthusiast of liberty, equality, fraternity; he was the passionate lover of America for the sake of its exalted virtues, its freedom and justice; and it is but sober historic truth to affirm that no man ever lived whose mind and life and work were more transfused with sweet humanity than Thomas Paine. —Moncure D. Conway in the Arena.

The Soldier's Right to Vote.

A soldier of the regular army may vote if he is stationed at his old home or within such distance of it that he can go there to register and vote. He does not lose his old residence by enlisting, nor does he acquire a residence by being stationed at a place. If he can get to his old home on election day he may vote.

There are nearly 3,000 stitches in a pair of hand-sewn boots.

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....APRIL 13, 1899.

PAROLED.

Frank Dills reached home Saturday on the afternoon Lake Shore train, having been paroled early in the week. He had to wait, however to have his papers fully made out. It also appears that under this law. each man paroled must have a good man go on his bond to certify that he has employment guaranteed for one year. And this bondsman must report every month that he is doing as he agreed; that he is steady and industrious and does not drink, gamble and is in all ways worthing the confidence shown him by the Paroling Board or Board of Pardons.

There ten others paroled from the Prison North at the same time. They are: Geo. Tender, James Deal, Brice Hicks, Charler Aldrich. Frank Brown, Charles Smith, Al. Shouruft, Michael Bowler, Frank Hasty and Wm. Dunham:

MIXED PICKLES

"Hold up your right hand. You do solemnly swear that he weighs 91bs and that you will true answer make to such questions as shall be put to you concerning the weight, name, date of birth of this unusual case so help you, etc." And then the spectators would laugh however this happened, and even his Honor smiled, The trouble was all in the clerk's mind. And each time Clerk Long would pause and look around to see what caused so many in the court room to smile. The cause was the nice boy at his home this morning. Dr, Vesta Swarts says that all are doing well except Mike.

Another DeKalb Boy.

We recently spoke of the great success of DeKalb boys and alluded to the recent election in Chicago when F. K. Blake was elected alderman. It appears that as soon as he was nominated, a story was started to the effect that he was connected will the official misdoings at Auburn and should have been sent up with the rest. As he had had nothing whatever to do with that trouble having moved away years ago, he wrote back to Auburn, and asked Mr. Robbins and other friends to sign a statement clearing him of the charge. This was done, and a few days aiter his election he sent the following letter to Mr. Robbins;

CHICAGO, April 7, 1899.

ALBERT ROBBINS Esq.,
Auburn, Ind.

MY DEAR FRIEND:—Your favor of the 5th Inst., containing kind words on my election was duly received and noted. I assure you that I appreciate extremely the kind words of my old Auburn neighbors. Under the circumstances they are more to me than anything which could have been given.

The managers of the campaign which was made against me persisted in the face of explanations in carting around over the ward the claim that I was disreputable in my Indiana home, and asserted that three of the men connected with me in an official way were sent to the penetentiary, and that I came to Chicago. Perhaps the difference in the two destinations would not be very material, but that was the charge that was made. I met it at every point possible, and used your letter with good effect. I feel that you have given me material and valuable assistance in sending the letter. Carter Harrison made a very strong campaign, and had it not been for that fact I would have buried my adversary under a heap of votes so deep that he never could have crawled out, but Harrison obtained a plurality of 701 in the ward. I overcame this plurality and obtained a plurality of 110, so that I ran 8II votes ahead of my ticket in the ward. This is very gratifying to me in view of the character of the fight that was made against me.

Again thanking you for your kindness, and requesting you to convey my kind regards to all Auburn friends, I remain,

Very truly yours,
FREEMAN K. BLAKE.

Social and Musicale

The Catholic Ladies will serve ice cream and cake at the home of Mrs. J. W. Reed on West 7th-st on Friday evening April 14, from 7 to 10 p. m. Mite 10.

A musical program will also be rendered.

Mrs. R. Shull.....Vocal Solo
Miss Mayme Buckley..... " "
Miss Winnoa McBride..... " "
Mrs. Chas DuWan ..... " "
Rev. Father Dandurand..... " "
Edna Davis.....Piano Solo
Dr. J. C. and C. E. Baxter Vocal Duet

Other names will be give later. This is for the benefit of the Catholic church and a kind invitation is extended to all.

MRS. J. W. REED.

New Blacksmith Shop.

I have located at the H. C. Shull blacksmith shop, formerly J. W. Shaffer's on South Main st. Will do general blacksmithing, horse-shoeing, etc. Horse-shoeing a specialty. My work for your money. My prices are right. 35 cents for old shoes and 60 for new ones. Call on me. L. E. Homsher.

COURT NEWS.

Monday's Daily.

This forenoon the case against Oberlin for violation of liquor law came up, but he was cleared on trial. His attorneys were Ott Baxter, of Butler, and C. E. Baxter, of Auburn. The Prosecutor and Mr. Pomeroy were for the state.

Carl Nelson the Swede was called up and his sentence changed so as to send him to the Reformatory and not to the prison north.

In the afternoon came up the case vs Stelia West of Butler. She is accused of receiving and using the coal stolen by the two boys who were tried and plead guilty a short time ago They got the coal at the Wabash yards. There was considerable delay in getting a jury, but it was completed at 3 p. m. The state was represented as usual, and had with them the Wabash detective. Mr. Moody defended Mrs. West.

Tuesday's Daily.

The case against Stella West took up the afternoon. The two boys, Martin Dunn aged 14, and Geo. Horner, aged 15, were put on the stand. Dunn said he bargained to get the coal for Mrs. West at 10 cents a bushel. She wanted him to get the coal after dark, and he says she suggested that he get it off the cars. He got Horner to help him. They took a cart and a basket, filled the basket and carried it south to the nearest street where the cart stood. Took the cart along that street east to the West house, which faces east on Main-st., turned in an alley at the west end of house, knocked at door and Mrs. West told me to put coal in bin. They took II bushels, but on getting the last basketful, a man came on them and told them they had stolen enough. They saw they were caught and ran. They went north to a livery stable, washed hands and then went to West's and told her they could get no more, as they were watched. Horner testified to about the same.

A. B. Sweitzer sworn. Am an attorney in Peru. Sometimes do a little detective work for the Wabash. Is the man who worked up this case. Had talked with the boys and with Mrs. West.

TUESDAY MORNING.

Minnie Stewart was put on the stand. Was in the West house when boys brought the coal. Had come there to collect a bill for some goods I am agent for.

Mrs. West sworn. Keep house. My father lives with me. Got that coal of the boys next Monday after Christmas. Did not tell the boys to get coal off the cars. Supposed they got it on the ground. Did not think they would steal it. They brought II bushel that afternoon, but it was all before dark. The Dunn boy came to me and said he wanted to get me the coal, so he could buy a coat.

Cross-ex. I am not keeping a house of ill-fame and never did. The Stewart girl who worked for me is from Montpelier, but not related to Minnie Stewart. Minnie Stewart was at my house that time to collect a bill for goods.

Several witnessess were called and testified to the unsavory reputation of the Stella West esblishment.

At 11;30 a. m. both sides rested and arguments began.

Leberta Casebeer a young Garrett girl was called into court today charged with stealing a $10 gold piece from Mrs, Cornelius of the same place. She made a clean statement to the judge who suspended sentence for her on a promise of reform.

The jury gave a verdict of not guilty in the Mrs. West case.

Two Horses Stolen.

A horse was taken from Isaac Grube's barn 4 miles south of town last night and one heavy harness, went with it. The horse is a Norman, 15 years old, weighs 1400 lbs. and in color a strawberry roan. She has her foretop cut up high into the mane and when taken had shoes on both fore feet. The harness has one and a half-inch tugs, iron trimmed hames and drop rings on the back band. The thief after taking out the horse went north across the bridge over Cedar Creek, and seemed to have stopped right at the bridge. Then he turned back south, as shown by the tracks. Mr. Grube came to town this morning and had Sheriff Hathaway send messages and postal cards in every direction. But up to the time we go to press, nothing has been heard from horse or harness.

Also on the same night about the same time, probably, a mare was stolen from the barn of Stephen Rhodenbaugh about half a mile east of Mr. Grube's. The horse was a heavy-set dark bay, and the thief also took a work harness from him. It looks as if the fellow was getting ready to commence his spring plowing. It is not often that a sheriff sends out postal cards, with description of two horses stolen the same night, half a mile apart, and a work harness with each. After getting the sheriff at work, the two men returned home for breakfast.

Auburn Normal

Auburn will have a Summer Normal beginning June 12. The work will be adapted especially to teachers wishing to review and those preparing to teach. Instruction will be given also in any higher studies that may be desired It will be our aim to make this school profitable to our students and worthy of their patronage and we know it to be the opinion of the County Superintendent that such a school should be held.

For information address H. G. Brown Secretary, or any other instructor.

Instructors { B. B. Harrison, H. G. Brown, Mrs. E. M. Richards.

6tf

A GYPSY ROMANCE.

A DeKalb Man Falls in Love With a Romany Widow.

A modest entry on the clerk's marriage record in Auburn, in the handwriting of Miss Blanche Shilling, the deputy clerk, covers much more of interest than is common in these formal entries. The names are "L. Campbell and Dora Green." Here is a part of the story. It may have to be continued.

Some time ago, Lee Campbell, son of James Campbell, a well known citizen east of Butler entered into a correspondence, through a matrimonial bureau. A lady responded to his letter. She is Dora Green and letters came from St. Louis, Mo. A meeting was finally arranged, and the woman came to the neighborhood of the gypsy camp south of Butler, and with her an Irishman who had been considered her husband. Young Campbell went down there, and according to the Irishman, took the lady out buggy riding. This, he said he objected to, but it went right on. A few days ago, they went riding and did not return till after midnight. This raised his Irish dander, and he went for the woman rough shod. She went into hysterics and threatened to cut her throat. Quick as a flash, the Irishman pulled out a razor, handed it to her and told her to do it. She suddenly changed her mind and the Irish man was so mad at her want of courage that he drove her from the tent with curses. Then he tore down the tent, piled all the goods together piled the wagon on it, and took as he said "a gallon of this dommed kerosene oil" and poured over it, and, set the pile afire. When as it melted to ashes, he started off and got on a big drunk.

But this trouble did not affect the happiness of Campbell and the lady. Their courtship went on.

CHAPTER II.

We left our hero and heroine yesterday, just after the quondam Irish husband had made a funeral pyre of the household gods of himself and his retiring spouse. It is not to be understood, however, that a little thing like that would stop the onward movement of the love affair. Dora Green was a busy woman. She planned sundry interviews with her prospective father-in-law and his family. She became aware that he was not wealthy, and she proposed to lift him up financially. She said she herself was worth $60,000 in her own right and she named valuable property near and in Dayton, Ohio, as well as a number of farms in different parts of the country. She had $2000 deposited in the First National Bank of Auburn, she said, and various other goods and chattels, not to mention a number of other husbands that rumor credited her with. So she proposed to help James Campbell. There was a good farm for sale not far away, with its two-story brick house, and the present owner, John Fetters was willing to sell. So, she arranged to buy it for her latest father-in-law. The price $4000, was to be paid on the day she was married, and after the ceremony was over. Campbell, senior, liked the farm, but suggested that his commonplace furniture would look small in the big house, So, she went to Edgerton and bargained for $167 worth of furniture that was to be delivered as soon as the wedding was over, when she would pay the bill.

She then suggested to her future husband that a wedding feast would be in order, to which he agreed. She told him she would foot the bill, and asked him how much he thought it would cost. He said he did not know, and when she asked if $50 would do, he was nearly paralyzed, and admitted he had never indulged in meals at that figure. She assured him it was all right and he could make it $200 if he cared to, for they had agreed that a belling of the good old kind ought to go with a swell wedding, and they arranged to ask in and fill all the friends who should gather at the necessary belling, thus to do honor to the happy event. Sundry other, similar arrangements were made, and among them was a contemplated trip to Auburn on Monday to procure the license, after which they were to be married Tuesday at 8 in the morning, the lucky hour for such things among the Romany folk. They had engaged Rev. Smith of the Butler U. B. church to go out and tie the knot. Tuesday morning, bright and early, Mr. Smith went afoot, (on account of mud,) out to the Campbell home, two miles. He arrived, footsore and weary, only to find there was no license. So he came back. But the couple had started for Auburn, at last.

It was just 12 m. when they reached this city, the first 12 miles of the round trip, with a pretty tired team. They had to wait till after 1 p. m., for Deputy-clerk Blanche Shilling, who on her arrival looked smilingly over the high desk at a youngish, farmer-looking man and somewhat older gypsy-looking woman. The "Receipt" was soon procured and shaking the dust (?) of Auburn from their horses feet, they were soon on their way to the east. They were married that evening at 8, by Mr. Smith at his home.

(To be continued.)

Double Crime.

Murder and suicide at Avilla this morning. Two brothers quarreled. One shot the other, then himself. The former may live.

A Life for 50 Cents

Many people have been cured of Kidney Diseases by taking a 50 cent bottle of Foley's Kidney Cure.

Another Mouse Story

If Mr. Willennar, the court reporter thinks he is the only person who can deal out capital punishment to a mouse who is taking liberties with his person he is greatly mistaken. And if the sterner sex in general think they alone have the necessary nerve for such an emergency they, also, are way off. But to our story.

A well known and highly respected lady of this place, was calling at a friend's a few days ago, and the two ladies, and possibly other members of the household were seated and chatting pleasantly, when it was noticed that suddenly the visitor gave a little start, as of alarm, and her face took on a trifle of whiteness. Then she began fumbling at the lower part of her dress gradually clutching it till at about the knee, she took a firm hold and gave a crushing squeeze, and the struggle was over. A mouse dropped to the floor limp and dead, and the spectators who had held their breath in speechless wonder, laughed. The lady herself gave a smile of triumph and an "Oh My!" of satisfaction and at once took rank as the heroine of the neighborhood.

Take The Census.

We take the enumeration of school children soon, and why not take the entire census as far as people are concerned. When the enumerator takes the number of children, it is not much trouble to get the number of all the family, including permanent boarders. It may cost a trifle more, but it will give a great deal of satisfaction. Every few days, a stranger asks what the population of Auburn is, and we can only guess at it. Our own people would like to know. We did this in 1892 or 1893, showing that we had nearly 400 more than was given us by the U. S. census of 1890. Shall we do it?

EXHIBITION.

The fifth annual exhibition of the Fairfield Center school will be held in the Fairfield Center school house on Saturday evening, April 15. A good program, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, dialogues, plays, stump speeches and a debate is being prepared. A good time is expected. Every body come and go home feeling jolly.

OBITUARY

Mauer Scott, son of Thos and Minnie Myers was born Feb. 16, and died April 7, aged 1 month, 2I days. Funeral services conducted by Rev. C. E. Moorman. Interment at Hamilton.

For Sale.

—FOR SALE:—Three horses, well bred and perfectly sound. For information, call on or address,

A. D. MOORE,
Moores, DeKalb Co, Ind.

Kidney Diseases

are the most fatal to all diseases. Foley's Kidney Cure a guaranteed remedy or money refunded.

SPRING SHOES

We are showing some very exclusive styles in Ladies' Fine Dress Shoes, the product of the best shoe manufacturers in this country.

We wish to call your attention in particular to these:

A Ladies' Fine Kid Shoe with fancy scroll questing lace stay and military heel, in black and tan shades. Never was sold less than $3.50 before..... $3.00

A Ladies' Hand Turned Shoe in black, perfectly plain, no tip, no stitching on vamp or upper, military heel, the finest kid there is cut. Sells in the cities at $5 00, at..... $4.00

A Ladies' Hand Turned Shoe, in tan, same as the one described above except has fancy scroll vesting top. Designed for both comfort and beauty, at..... $4.00

A Handsome Tan Shoe, on the new "Pug" Last, fancy outside leather, scroll lace stay stay with silver eyelets, a beauty. Regular price $3.50, at..... $3.00

A Fine Turn Shoe in black, fancy scroll pattern top, with military heel and imitation tip, very dressy and easy, worth $4.00, at..... $3.50

A Fine Kid Shoe with silk vesting top, "Pug" Last, an up-to-the-minute shoe, at $2.50

The prettiest Misses', Children's and Infant's shoes ever shown in DeKalb county, at prices per pair from..... 25 to $2.00

We are striving for your trade.

Bishop AND Reidler

YOUR SHOEMAKERS.

CLUB NOTES

Saturday was a busy day of the session of the L. L. C. which met with Mas. Hortense Robbins. The business session was unusually long and full. The regular program was all carried out commencing with roll call, with quotations from Eugene Field, most of them being taken from his songs and poems about children and were very tender and pleasing. "American Deserts" was the subject of a paper given by Mrs. Mollie Rose, and although Mrs. Rose had spoken of it as being a "dry" subject, the members failed to find the paper "dry," she had gleaned many facts and brought them to the club in a bright and entertaining way. Mrs. Nusbaum's subject was "The Yellowstone Park." One never tires of hearing of this American Wonderland and Mrs. Nusbaum brought to the club many notes of quaint and queer things to be found that many had not heard before, and told them in an easy and original manner.

These exercises closed the literary part of the work, and the election of Delegates to the Indiana Union of Literary Clubs took place resulting as follows: Mrs. Abbie Sprott delegate, Mrs. Mollie Robbins and Mrs. Lackey as alternates, Mrs, Willis the President being the other delegate by virtue of her office, two being the number allowed each club. A discussion of the work for the next year followed the report of the committee that had been previously selected to bring to the club plans for the work. The committee reported four lines of work any one of which might be followed by the club. The discusson was full but no decision will be made for a time.

The attendance was large and the club was glad to have present and to greet Mrs. Ehlers who has been absent through the winter. Mrs. Hartman of Rosan was also present. The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Swineford next Saturday.

—The Reading Club met with Mrs. Weaver last Wednesday and indeed spent a very pleasant time. The reading of the book "When Knighthood was in Flower." was finished and the story told by the talented author (who by the way is an Indiana Man,) left a very pleasant impression on those who were so fortunate as to be present at the meetings and heard it read.

—The club decided to give a reception next Wednesday afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Garwood.

The husbands of the club will be entertained on Friday evening of this week at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Zent.

The Up-to-Date Club met last Friday evening with Miss Pearl Srott. The usual games and play were enjoyed along with a toothsome lunch and all had a merry time. Miss Mabel Baker was a guest. The club will meet next Friday evening with Miss Floride Lackey.

Pastoral Appointments

F, T. Simpson, Presideing Elder, P, O. 56 East Wayne street, Ft. Wayne
Angola—F. M, Kemper.
Auburn—T. M. Guild.
Avilla—J. C. Cain.
Bobo—N. P. Barton.
Ceylon—Supplied by Bryant Howe.
Churubusco—Chas. Tinkum.
Decatur—W, H. Daniel.
Fort Wayne, Berry-st—C. C. Cissel.
Fort Wayne, St. Paul—M.C. Cooper
Fort Wayne, Simpson—T. J. Johnson
Fort Wayne, Trinity—S. Powell
Fort Wayne, Wayne-st—W. D. Parr
Garrett—J, M. Haines
Geneva—J. J. Fred
Harlan—L. C. Zimmerman
Huntertown—W. E. Murray
Huntington—L. O. Beeks
Leo—T. Cherameth
Markle—C. A. Rowan
Monroeville—O. S. Harrison
New Haven—George Cocking
Ossian—C. M. Hollopeter
Spencerville—E. H. Peters

How is Your Gasoline Stove?

R. G. Curtis, an expert at cleaning and repairing gasoline stoves, will be in town for a limited time. He comes well recommended, and work entrusted to his care will be carefully looked after. Owners and users of stoves will understand that this is the proper time to have them cleaned and repaired for the coming season. Mr. Curtis will be located at Culbertson & Boland's.

Send no Money.

Any reader of this paper can secure their choice of a Sterling Silve Bracelet, a good watch or Solid Gold Ring with a Genuine Diamond Setting, by distributing Flower Seed Cupons among their friends and acquaintances. Send your name with three two cent stamps to the American Seed C., 335 Broadway N. Y. today. and you will receive a package of choice seeds, $1.00 worth of Coupons, and full particulars.

Call For County Orders

All orders dated prior to Jan. 1, 1899, to No. 1,333; will be paid if presented to Treasurer. Interest will stop on called orders April 8, 1899.

F. M. HINES,
Treasurer of DeKalb.

Notice to Taxpayers

I will keep the treasurer's office open each day from 7:30 a. m. to 9 p. m., till May 1, in order to accommodate all who are too busy to call in the middle of the day.

F. M. HINES,
Treasurer DeKalb County.

What Can We Offer You

In the way of.....

HARDWARE and FARM MACHINERY

that will attract your attention?

We have the most complete stock ever seen in our city, and you know that, as usual, our prices are right

Do you need anything for spring that we carry

?

Do you know that we have built up a wonderful trade by right prices and right goods.

?

Do you know that we have the most complete stock of

Hardware,
Farm Machinery
Wagons and Buggies

in DeKalb County

?

If you will drop in and see us we will be able to convince you at once that we have the goods that you want, and the prices alone will tell the story.

Don't fail to see our Carriage Repository, it is the finest in Northern Indiana,

Culbertson & Boland,
Auburn, Ind.

BANK STATEMENT.

REPORT OF THE CONDITION OF

The First National Bank at Auburn, in the State of Indiana at the Close of Business, April 5th, 1899.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$123864 85
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	3059 98
U. S. bonds to secure circulation	12500 00
Stocks, securities, etc	5825 15
Banking-house, furniture and fixtures	6500 00
Due from National Banks (not Reserve Agents)	11920 73
Due from State Banks and Bankers	1891 45
Due from approved reserve agents	17:20 38
Checks and other cash items	657 58
Notes of other National Banks	120,0 00
Fractional paper currency, nickels & cents	161 00
LAWFUL MONEY RESERVE IN BANK, VIZ:
Specie	8 980 40
Legal tender notes	4 265 00 — 13245 40
Redemption fund with U. S. treasurer 5 per cent of circulation	562 50
Total	$198 408 97

LIABILITIES

Capital stock paid in	$ 50,000 00
Surplus fund	7,000 00
Undivided Profits, less expenses and taxes paid	1804 73
National bank notes outstanding	10,750 00
Individual deposits subject to check	25,396 72
Demand certificates of deposit	103,957 52
Total	$198,408 97

State of Indiana. County of DeKalb, ss:

I, D. A. Garwood, Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

D. A. GARWOOD, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 10th day of April 1899.

C. A. BENEDICT, Notary Public.

CORRECT—Attest:
J. H. Ford,
Isaac Hague,
Charles McClellan, } Directors.

ELECTION NOTICE!

Notice is hereby to the Voters of the incorporated Town of Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, that there will be an Election held in said town on for the purpose of electing one (1) Trustee for Second ward, one (1) Trustee for Fifth ward, each for the term of two (2) years; one (1) Marshal one (1) clerk and one (1) Treasurer each for the term of one (1(year.

Monday, May 1, 1899

Polling places, North Precinct, Caleb Neal property on North VanBuren-st; Middle Precinct, Jacob Walborn's Office; South Precinct, Old Winebrenner property, first house south of residence of Samuel Fretz on South Jackson-st

Witness my hand and the seal of said town this 11th day of April 1899.

ERNEST C. SHEETS,
Town Clerk.
SEAL
By MILOS D. HUSSELMAN,
Deputy.

could be found. I asked her mother to get White Wine of Tar. She did and in two weeks she was cured. As I say, it is the best cough remedy on earth. Please send me six bottles by express.

Yours Resp'y
E. L. ODLE, Pastor M. E. Church.
Sold in Auburn by Davenport the Druggist.

—When you are in need of church choir music, Decoration Day music, Fourth of July music, Christmas music, Easter music, music for Old Soldier's meetings or picnics, Sunday School song books, Children's exercises for Easter, Christmas, Autumn and Children's Day or in fact, music for any occasion, write to Dept. Z, THE ECHO MUSIC CO., Chicago, Ill., for their complete catalogue of musical publications.

IDEAL MUSIC,

"Sweet as the angel Israfil's,
When every leaf on Eden's tree
Was trembling to his minstrelsy."

can be produced from an EBERSOLE PIANO. The Ebersole possesses a tone that no other maker has been able to imitate—being full and deep, yet with that clear singing quality which stamps it the peer of all upright pianos for homes of culture and refinement.

Frank B. Long,
119 Calhoun-St- cor Washington,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

HUMPHREYS' ANIMAL SPECIFICS.

A. A. CURES } FEVERS, Lung Fever, Milk Fever.
B. B. CURES } SPRAINS, Lameness, Rheumatism.
C. C. CURES } EPIZOOTIC, Distemper.
D. D. CURES } WORMS, Botts, Grubs.
E. E. CURES } COUGHS, Colds, Influenza.
F. F. CURES } COLIC, Bellyache, Diarrhea.
G. G. Prevents MISCARRIAGE.
H. H. CURES } KIDNEY & BLADDER DISORDERS.
I. I. CURES } MANGE, Skin Diseases.
J. K. CURES } BAD CONDITION, Staring Coat.

50c. each; Stable Case, Ten Specifics, Book, &c., $2. At druggists or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Humphreys' Medicine Co., Cor. William & John Sts., New York. VETERINARY MANUAL SENT FREE.

NERVOUS DEBILITY,
VITAL WEAKNESS
and Prostration from Overwork or other causes.

Humphreys' Homeopathic Specific No. 28, in use over 40 years, the only successful remedy.

$1 per vial, or 5 vials and large vial powder, for $5 Sold by Druggists, or sent post-paid on receipt of price. HUMPHREYS' MED. CO., Cor. William & John Sts., New York

PILES

Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment will cure Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles. It absorbs the tumors, allays the itching at once, acts as a poultice, gives instant relief. Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is prepared for Piles and Itching of the private parts. Every box is warranted. By druggists, by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents and $1.00. WILLIAMS MANUFACTURING CO., Props., Cleveland, Ohio.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

FOR SALE

The first two lots north of "Bab" Lewis' residence— One of them vacant, and the other a corner lot with large frame house, good cellar, woodhouse and summer kitchen, frame barn, good well and cistern, some fruit, and handy to the schools and church. Will sell the lots separately or both together, See the occupant, Mrs. Kitty Weaver, for price and other particulars. 15-18

Gloves.

The glove to match the gown. That is what many "dressy" women demand. Nine times out of ten our glove stock can satisfy the demand, and if yours should be the odd tenth we will send and get it for you if it is getable. The colorings are new, and there is a fad or a fancy about the embroidery or finish here and there. The new spring colors are very beautiful.

GEO. W. LACKEY,

Auburn, Indiana.

We are giving the people of Auburn and Dekalb county a store equal to the best in the State. And we are glad to know that the people appreciate our efforts. Our method of conducting business has been very satisfactory, both to our customers and the management. Our terms are CASH, both in Buying and Selling.

Dress Goods.

Every worthy sort, every proper style of dress material for Spring wear is here. This dress goods stock is the best that you or we have ever known. If you would be posted on dress good newness, and want goods just a little better than can be bought elsewhere, you should see this showing.

Great Goodness At Little Prices.

Ladies' Dress Skirts

You appreciate real economy, don't you? Then we invite your attention to our line of Dress Skirts. Are all ready to wear at less than the goods would cost. You save the cost of making, besides getting best values on earth and choice of more than a hundred skirts.

Well-made crash skirts.....50c

Good Percale skirts, in plain blue, polka dot, etc., nicely trimmed with two and three rows of white braid worth fully $1.75.

Our Price.....$1.25

Cotton covert cloth skirts, in brown and blue mixed, corded or braid trimmed...1 50 to $2 00

Full line of the better grades of skirts in Serge, Poplins, Crepons and Silks at correspondingly low prices.

The best fitting and most satiifactory line of Ladies Muslin Underwear we have ever owned arrived this week. An early visit will convince you.

Ladies' Wrappers

Are these cozy, comfortable house gowns becoming more popular? Whatever the reason, this wrapper business of ours is taking wonderful jumps lately. We think though, that it is because of value giving. Figure the cost of goods and making, you will see the reason it pays to buy them ready made

Prints, assorted, dark reds, black and white, indigos wide skirts, well-made .....49c and 69c

Percales, neat, fancy. pattern, blue, grey, brown and red, extra finish, inside waist.....90c

Announcement

After an absence of thirteen months from the Big Store, we are pleased to announce the return of Miss Hogue, our very obliging and efficient saleslady. It will be our pleasure to have you visit our store and her pleasure to cater to your wants.

Ladies' Tailored Suits.

There are reasons for steady in favor which has made this store the acknowledged center for women's outer wear and those reasons are perhaps best shown in our medium priced suits. These suits display the same correctness and stylishness as the most expensive. We give you the very best styles double our single breasted, tight or loose fitting, and all are silk lined throughout. Ladies' black, navy blue and brown Covert Cloth suit, jacket lined with silk, skirt lined with percaline and interlining $5.00

Ladies-all wool Broadcloth or Venetian, fly front jacket, in black, royal navy, cadet, tan and castor, with newest shape skirt, latest shape fly front jacket. jacket lined with silk or satin, skirt lined with percaline and interlining.....

$10.00

Not Once, But Always Here.

Millinery.

The glorious days of open doors—all outside smiling welcome, assuring health and joy unconfined—put you in the mood to look and feel in harmony with the weather. For your spring wear we have some magnificent hats to show The hat will be a beautiful accessory to the costume. Consult us in good time about your hat. This is one of our busy departments.

Carpets and Mattlug.

This is the season for Carpets and Matting. House cleaning time is upon us. You'll soon be buying carpets. Come here and see about getting what you need. We carry an immense stock of all the good, reliable grades at the lowest prices. Remember we buy and sell for cash.

Brussels.....45c a yard
All-wool Ingrain..... 50 to 60c yard
Half wool Ingrain.....40c a yard
Velvets.....80c to $1.00 a yard

That new Grass Matting, woven with twine, at 35 cents a yard, adds wonderfully to the dining room and wears longer than carpet.

Curtains.

The proper time to buy curtains is now. We are showing our Spring line, comprising all the latest and new weaves in Figured Muslins, Gernadines Organdies, Persian Madras, Dotted Swiss, Swiss Mulls, etc, Extra values in all kinds of Ruffled Curtains. Select patterns in Cretonnes, Sateens. Tickings and other cotton goods for bedrooms, etc. When you want a thoroughly dependable window shade come here where the assortment is large.

VICK'S SEEDS

Bulbs and Plants have gone to thousands of satisfied Customers for a half century and to celebrate the 50th year in business we have issued a Special Golden Wedding Edition of which is a work of art. It has 24 pages lithographed in colors, 4 pages souvenir, and nearly 100 pages filled with handsome half-tone illustrations of Flowers, Vegetables, Plants, Fruits, etc., elegantly bound in white and gold. A marvel in Catalogue making; an authority on all subjects pertaining to the garden, with care for the same, and a descriptive catalogue of all that is desirable. It is too expensive to give away indiscriminately, but we want everyone interested in a good garden to have a copy, therefore we will send the Guide with a DUE BILL for 25 cents worth of flower and vegetable seeds } for 15 cts

Vick's (Garden and Floral Guide

It tells how credit is given for full amount of purchase to buy other goods.

Vick's Little Gem Catalogue A perfect little gem of a price list. It is simply the Guide condensed, finely illustrated, and in handy shape for reference. FREE

Vicks Monthly Magazine, enlarged, improved, and up to date on all subjects relating to Gardening, Horticulture, etc. Regular subscription price 50 cents a year.

Special 1899 offer—the Magazine one year and Vick's Garden and Floral Guide, for 35 cents.

OUR NEW PLAN of selling Vegetable Seeds gives you more for your money than any other seed house in America.

JAMES VICKS SONS,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

THE BEST OF THEM ALL!

LIPPINCOTT'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE

Contains a complete novel in every number, in addition to a large quantity of useful and entertaining reading matter.

No continued stories, which are so objectionable to most readers.

It should be in every household. Subscription, $3.00 per year.

Agents wanted in every town, to whom the most liberal inducements will be offered.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY, Publishers, PHILADELPHIA.

The Last Straw.

Porto Rican Magistrate (an American)—Don Senor Robusto de Confiagragasto, this court finds that you are most to blame in your differences with your negro employes. Don Senor Robusto de Confiagragasto (pleadingly)—But, excellenza, my race are being hounded by these insolents—my race——" Porto Rican Magistrate (interrupting)—Yes, senor, but let me advise you to just behave yourself. A Spaniard is as good as a nigger any day, if he only behaves himself.—Judge.

New Test for Coal.

A French experimenter suggests that the X-ray furnishes a ready means to detect stony impurities in coal. Carbon is very transparent to the Roentgen rays, while silica is opaque to them. Consequently the silicates, which form slag when coal is burned, can be seen like a skeleton when the shadow of the coal is projected upon the fluorescent screen.

ONE YEAR AGO.

A year ago the volunteer
Answered the call from far and near;
There were Company I and H and K,
Heard the call and hurried away
To the front where they might see
Active service and victory.

A year ago the boys in blue,
Answered the call and were anxious too.
There were Company B and F and G,
Heard the call and were proud to be
Of the chosen few who hoped to see
Active service in the infantry.

A year ago of the good old Third
Were men who rose with the early bird,
And walked the streets anxious to know
If "Stude" had received his orders to go.
There were Company D and C and E,
Answered the call with soldierly glee.

A year ago, and we all heard
Brave boys talk with boasting word,
Telling of things that they would do
If they had a chance—But did they go?
We know who did and wore the blue,
Company A, L and M, and bore the stars too.

A year ago the gayest officers ever seen
Were Captains Lahnum and Charley Green;
But they were only a very few,
For Gilbert and Denison had companies too.
There are still a few who yet remain,
Captain Meyer and Reece were from Ft, Wayne.

A year ago when Colonel May,
Swore us in and made us say,
That we would to Uncle Sam be true,
There were these Captains with companies too—
Windisch, Graves and Salsbury E. D.,
With Fryermuth, Capron and Clemans F. B.

A year ago to the muster roll,
Were added the names of Kuhlman and Noel,
Feaser, Fitzgerald, Collins and Rex,
Ford and Barnett whom we'd often perplex
With diseases unheard-of and curious ill;
But he kept us alive with powder and pill.

A year ago Medbury came,
A christian warrior unknown to fame.
He was the only man of all our band,
Who went to the tents with heart and hand.
Our leader bold as any Burnal,
Was Studebaker, the boy Colonel.

A year ago stout hearts beat brave,
That now are slumbering in their grave;
They have gone to answer the roll
Call in Heaven of their soul.
May comrades brave that have gone before,
Rest in peace forever more.

—P. H., Co. K.

VICK'S SEEDS

Bulbs and Plants have gone to thousands of satisfied Customers for a half century and to celebrate the 50th year in business we have issued a Special Golden Wedding Edition of VICK'S GARDEN AND FLORAL GUIDE, which is a work of art. It has 24 pages in colors, 4 pages souvenir, and nearly 100 pages filled with handsome half-tone illustrations of Flowers, Vegetables, Plants, Fruits, etc., elegantly bound in white and gold. A marvel in Catalogue making, an authority on all subjects pertaining to the garden, with care for the same, and a descriptive catalogue of all that is desirable. It is too expensive to give away indiscriminately, but we want everyone interested in a good garden to have a copy, therefore we will send the Guide with a Due Bill for 25 cents worth of Seeds for only 15 cts. It tells how credit is given for full amount of purchase to buy other goods.

Vick's Little Gem Catalogue. A perfect little gem of a price list. It is simply the Guide condensed, finely illustrated, and in handy shape. FREE

Vick's Illustrated Monthly Magazine, enlarged, improved, and up to date on all subjects relating to Gardening, Horticulture, etc., 50 cents a year. Special 1899 offer—the Magazine one year and Vick's Garden and Floral Guide, for 25 cents.

Our new plan of selling vegetable seeds gives more for your money than any other Seed House in America.

JAMES VICKS SONS, ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Monday's Daily.

—Ask any druggist for a free Peruna Almanac for the year 1899.

—Remove the grease and stains from your carpets with Carpetine.

—Henry L. Houser of Butler township was a caller at the COURIER office this morning.

—The photographer's wife looks after the ladies and babies who visit the Hoffman gallery. 13-15

—St. Joe city council will meet tomorrow evening to do its first legislative work. They expect to pass their first ordinances.

—S. Z. Dickinson of Waterloo is now visiting his son, O. C. Dickinson at Hillsdale, where the latter is the Lake Shore agent.

—Claude Link went to Chicago today to remain a few days. He may go from there to Los Angeles, Calif., to remain some time.

—MARRIED: April 5, at the home of Mrs. Cline in Corunna Richard H. Harding and Alice Treesh. Rev. C. E. Moorman officiating.

—Jonn Shoudel was a caller Today He is now engaged with the Flint & Walling Co. at Kendallville, and says they are full of work.

—Mr. and Mrs. Gugerli came into town through the mud Saturday, Mrs. Gugerli says she has had enough of that sort of buggy riding.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Robbins and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hartman went to Chicago yesterday afternoon and will remain a few days, returning probably Wednesday or Thursday.

—France has sent two costly vaces of blue Sevres porcelain, to be placed in the blue room at the White House. They commemorate the completion of the Franco-American ocean cable last summer.

—We had a brief call this morning from O. A Meek, of the St. Joe News. He is publishing as a little paper called "Loyalty" which is in the interest of the C. E. people and of church work generally.

—A Battle For Life. You need for perfect health a plentiful and constant supply of new blood. Begg's Blood Purifer and Blood tones the stomach and assists digestion. We sell it. H. B, McCord.

—It will pain many friends of Martin V. Leas, of Hudson, to hear of his sudden death. He died March 31. After eating his supper as usual he went to bed, but later began to feel ill and died within an hour. He was buried April 3, 1899.

—Under the new law, those who remonstrate against licensing a saloon as in case of St. Joe and Corunna. will have to keep at it, as the board of commissioners will meet each month, and a man can get a license at any of these meetings.

—Happy is the man or woman who can eat a good hearty meal without suffering afterward. If you cannot do it, take KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE. It digests what you eat, and cures all forms of Dispepsia and Indigestion. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—Columbia City Post:—A display of flags from the court house window and at half mast this morning aroused much curiosity as to the cause. Few recollect the proclamation of the president, requesting that all flags be displayed at half mast on the day when the dead soldiers, who were killed in battle on Cuban soil, were interred beneath their native American sod.

—Milford Mail:—Why should not our road makers see hereafter what work they put upon the highways is in the way of gravelug them? This winter has been an object lesson as to the necessity of graveled highways. Make a few miles of such roads each year and in a short time all our roads will be passable year in and year out. It is what we must come to in time, and the work might as well be commenced now as later on.

Tuesday's Daily.

—H. D. Scissinger of Garrett was in the city today.

—Dr. Baxter reports the birth of a boy to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lochner last night.

—FOR SALE. Two good horses, ages 7 and 4. Call on T. J. Baxter 2½ miles east of Summit, Ind.

Wm Armstrong, J. H. Riley and Jacob Fetters have thanks for subscriptions to the Weekly today.

—"Give me a liver regulator and I can regulate the world," said a genius. The druggist handed him a bottle of Dewitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—The Board of Home Missions of the German Reformed church met today with Rev Engleman The following are the members: Rev. L. Cenk, Minnewaukee, Wis., Rev, M. Bete, Cleveland, O, Rev. N. Nan, Cleveland, O,, Rev. C, Hassel, Gallion, O.

—Dr. Buchtel is going to take a rest after many years of hard service among his patients. He starts tomorrow for New York City, where he will remain at least six weeks taking special work in his profession, and seeing hospital work. Mrs. Buchtel will join him about May 1, after visiting her people at Ligonier.

—As the season of the year when pneumonia, la grippe, sore throat, colds, coughs, catarrh, bronchitis and lung troubles are to be guarded against, nothing "is a fine substitute," will "answer the purpose," or is "just as good" as One Minute Cough Cure. That is the one infallible remedy for all lung, throat or bronchial troubles. Insist vigoorously upon having it if "something else" is offered you. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

Wednesday's Daily.

—Carpetine for sale at Baxter's Restaurant.

—Wm. Henney of Ashley was a caller today.

—Geo. Lanning is having a run of poor health.

—M. Kline on North Main-st is on the sick list.

—Scrub your floors and wood work with Carpetine, tf

—For up-to-date millinery go to Trentman Sisters.

—Mrs. Ira Brandon's sale is April 19. Don't forget it.

—Two good barns for sale cheap. Enquire of M. Boland.

—Hoffman Gallery for best pictures absolutely guaranteed. 13-15

—Jacob Sechler, of Newville put his name on the 1900 list today.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lochner of Leo called on the COURIER today.

—North Main-st residence for sale. Easy terms. Inquire at this office.

—Mrs. David Thomas and Mrs. Foltz spent the day at Fort Wayne.

—Frank Long, the piano man came up from Fort Wayne on the noon train.

—R. H. and D. F. Sherlock of Corunna paid the COURIER a pleasant call today.

—The best and latest including oval mounts, may be seen at the Hoffman gallery. 13-15

—Don't think about buying shoes until you have seen the new styles at Shull's shoe store. D-W-tf.

—If you want a fine time piece, call on W. A. Davidson the jeweler. Fine repairing a specialty. 1-8

—The largest sky and side light, and best working tools in the county are in the Hoffman gallery. 13-15

Wils McClellan returned to Fort Wayne this forenoon. He is well suit with his business there.

—$4 buys the best Men's Tan Shoes in the city at Wilson's. Color and style all right for the "Boys."

—If you want the latest styles and the best good shoes to be had for the money patronize Shull's shoe store.

—In buying your millinery, at the Trentman Sisters you get both style and price. Leave your order with us.

—Don't forget Wilson when you want shoes. His popular line of shoes at $1.50, $2, $2.50, $3 are the finest in the city.

—Mrs. Harmon Gee who has been visiting her former neighbor Mrs. Beaber, has returned to her home at St Joe.

—Miss Martha Weeks has gone to Springfield, Ohio to spend three or four weeks with her cousin, Mrs. W. H. Hoagland.

—Talking about styles in shoes. if you want the real thing, call at Shull's shoe store and take a look at the new styles for spring. D-W-tf.

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co.. Goshen, Ind. 8

—Nicholas Abram's barn at Garrett was burned this forenoon, supposed by careless play of children. A horse and cow were lost in the fire.

—The ladies of the W. R. C. will give a Bean social at G. A. R. hall Wednesday, April 19th to which the public is cordially invited.

—When you want a new pair of Shoes call on Wilson who can show you more nice, neat, stylish shoes at $2, $2.50 and $3 than any store in the city.

—Mrs. Geo Lanning accompanied by her brother Ed Yates, returned this morning from Reading Mich. Mr. Yates will remain in the city for a few days.

—Running Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, etc., quickly cured by Banner Salve the most healing salve in the world. Price 25 cents. No other "just as good."

—Uncle Henry Shull was a caller today. He is feeling the steady advance of years, and though in about his usual good health has kept pretty close to home during the bad weather of winter

—Mrs. Dr. Buchtel and little Lucille went to Waterloo today on the early morning freight, and from there go to Ligonier where they will visit her parents till May 1, when they go to New York to join the Doctor.

—If you have a cough, throat irritation, weak lungs, pain in the chest, difficult breathing, croup or hoarseness. let us suggest One Minute Cough Cure Always reliable and safe. Fischler & Son and H B McCord.

—J. L. Rodenbaugh called at this office yesterday. He was on his way to cry a sale for Mrs. Geo. Pepple. He is giving a good deal of attention to this line of work now. All who wish his service address him at Leo, Box 10.

—Miss Nellie Harding celebrated her 16th birthday yesterday evening. The Up-to-date club of which she is a member, presented her sixteen carnations and all had a good time, including a nice social lunch, as well as social games.

—Begg's Cherry Syrup gives you the essential qualities of the cherry tree bark from which it derives its name. It cures your stubborn colds, coughs of long standing and croup. It is the best known cure for LaGrippe. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Attorney C. M. Brown went up to Mason, Mich., yesterday, to see to some business for the buggy body factory. It seems, the Mason Carriage Co., had failed or at least had gone out of business and that they owed the Auburn factory quite a sum. Last evening Mr. Bishop telephoned to Mason, and Mr. Brown answered that he thought there would be no loss.

These Are Newest

But you'll quickly appreciate the significance of the offerings when you note the prices. Special Ideas in Best Spring Merchandise passed along to our customers at Winning prices, values that make this store the safe and economical store in your spring buying.

Lace Valencenuse—We have the largest and prettiest assortment of lace in all widths. Inserting to match from 2 to 9c yard. We can save you money on laces.

Ladies' Veiling plain and dotted in white and black 10 to 15c per yard.

Ladies' Hair Nets in colors, best qualities only 5c.

Ladies' Wyvet Combs the latest 48c.
Dress Stays 8c bunch.
Hooks and Eyes 3c card.
Corset Stays in colors 5 to 9c.
Feather Stitch Braid in colors 5c bunch.
Hosiery Ladies' out sizes the best values from 15 to 24c pair.
Children's Hosiery in black ribbed at 8, 10 and 15c pair.
Men's Black Satin Shirts good 75c shirt for 48c.
Men's and Boys' work shirts, colored, 24c.
Browny Overalls for boys with bib 24c.

Hardware Department

Bread Raisers with Lids 33 to 58c

Cobbler outfits complete 48c.

Mrs. Pott's nickle plated irons 78c set.

Dish Pans best of goods from 9 to 32c.

Whitewash Brushes—our assortment on brushes are right. 10 to 23c buys a good brush. A regular 50c hair brush for 29c.

Groceries This Week

Garden Seeds two packages for 5c, best seeds.

Corn Starch best goods 5c box.

Yeast Foam 4c.

Ball Bluing 4c.

Apple, Plum, Pear and Appricot Butter 10c quart.

Sopolio 8c cake.

12 boxes parlor matches for 8c.

Bazar Store

F. J. Nebelung, Proprietor.

Dr. Bull's COUCH SYRUP

Will cure Croup without fail.

The best remedy for whooping-cough. Doses small. Price 25 cts. at druggists.

—BEGG'S HAIR RENEWER.—The old reliable Hair Restorer and Invigorator, for over thirty years the leader in its line. If you give it a trial you will recommend it to your friends. Sold by H. B, McCord.

—Mr. Crossan and Mr. Miller, who are here in the interest of the M. A. F. O., went to Waterloo this evening in the interest of their work. The death claim of Miss Ida Green will be paid early next week, and there is no other claim against the society unpaid, as shown by a letter from the head office at Effingham, Ill.

—Milford Mail:—Melvin Kyle, who was arrested at Leesburg last week for robbing the mails while a postal clerk on the Big Four, has given bail in the sum of $1,000 to appear when wanted. His father-in-law, Mr. James is well-to-do, and signed the bail bond. It is said that Mr. Kyle owns a farm near Leesburg, and was preparing to enter into the drug business at that place soon. It is strange that with these surroundings he should risk the loss of reputation and liberty by doing a dishonest deed. It is to be hoped that he may fully establish his innocence.

The Best Cough Remedy on Earth

LUTHER, Mich., Feb. 8, '92.
DR. C. D. WARNER, Coldwater, Mich.

I am well acquainted with the merits of your White Wine of Tar Syrup. I have used it on several occasions when very hoarse from public speaking and when suffering from sore throat. Our postmaster, Mr. Nicholson, had la-grippe and it left him with a very bad cough, had spells of coughing every morning for an hour or more. I met him on the street about three weeks ago and recommended White Wine of Tar Syrup, which he commenced taking and today he is a well man. A little girl here had coughed all winter and no cure could be found. I asked her mother to get White Wine of Tar. She did so and in two weeks she was cured. As you say, it is the best cough remedy on earth. Please send me six bottles by express. Yours Resp'y

REV. E. L. ODLE, Pastor M. E. Church.

Sold in Auburn by Davenport the Druggist.

French Bicycle Law.

A French court has just made a decision that establishes the point in France that when a bicyclist is attacked by a dog, and in attempting to drive it off meets with injury, the owner of the dog is liable. The plaintiff in the case lost his balance in chastising the dog that pursued him, fell off, hurt his left wrist, and smashed a valuable cigarette case that he was carrying in his pocket. He claimed damages of $100, and $40 was awarded to him.

BUTLER.

Dr. Madden continues in a critical condition with chances of recovery trembling in the balance. His daughter, Jennie Lewis of California, has been with him for nearly two weeks.

Mrs. Dr. Milligan, living on her farm four miles northeast of Butler, has been quite poorly this winter. She is somewhat improved at this writing.

John Plow, who has been spending the winter with her daughters at Bad Axe. Mich., is expected home in a week.

Will Oberlin has purchased the York's place on East North street.

The impassable roads of the past three four weeks, has caused a wood famine in town, and soft coal has found its way into many dwellings and shops.

Cormie Bordner, who recently bought out the John Long restaurant, came near losing the place by fire a few days ago, caused the explosion of a gasolene peanut roaster, he escaped with but a slight damage.

Walter Thompson has bought the Venier Hardware stock and will unite his stock with it, and thus have about as good a store as any in town.

Downey of the Herald, has folded his tent and quietly stolen away. His wife has gone to her friends at Churubusco. He is said to have taken refuge in Chicago. Whisky thou art a devil Edward L. Coleman of Terre Haute a bright young man has taken the drivers seat, gathered up the lines and started the machine in a way that heralds success. We speak for the new man success from the word go.

Butler has a sensation Lee Campbell living three miles east of town, seems to be filling a long felt want of a bright young weathy and rather pretty widow, whose former residence has been Cincinnati, St. Louis or some of the towns between these places. The whole story of their meeting mutual attraction, and her large wealth, reads like the story of "A thousand fathoms deep", or "Sinbad the Sailor," Their marriage is to take place at his father's, James P. Campbell this week, Thursday and bids fair to be the event of events of the whole country side, if the bubble dont burst before that time.

Happiness.

Who is the happiest person? He whose nature asks for nothing that the world does not wish and use.

William's Kidney Pills

Has no equal in diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs. Have you neglected your Kidneys? Have you overworked your nervous system and caused trouble with your Kidneys and Bladder? Have you pains in the loins, side, back, groins and bladder? Have you a flabby appearance of the face, especially under the eyes? Too frequent desire pass urine? William's Kidney Pills will impart new life to the diseased organs, tone up the system and make a new man of you. By mail 50 cents per box.

WILLIAMS MFG. CO., Props., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

HALL OF CONGRESS.

TO BE REARRANGED AFTER ENGLISH IDEAS.

It Is Proposed that Representatives in the American Congress Sit as Do England's Commoners—Desks Have Proved Entirely Too Comfortable.

A Washington correspondent of the Kansas City Star says that when the pending changes in the arrangement of the Hall of Representatives in the National Capitol are made visitors will scarcely recognize the big room in which the lower house of Congress meets. American tourists who have had the rather grudgingly given privilege of seeing the British House of Commons in session have been astonished to find that, instead of the great hall in which our Congressmen meet, where each man has a desk and plenty of elbow room, the British representatives of the people sit in rows on either side of a broad aisle, each man having to be content with what space he can get on the crowded benches. After all the laudation of our system of seating our Congressmen, we have suddenly discovered, he adds, that the House of Commons idea is the correct one.

INTERIOR OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The Congressmen have to thank themselves for the change, he continues. The desks have proved altogether too comfortable. Instead of attending to the business for which they were sent to Washington, it is charged that the Representatives put in the time when Congress is in session writing, reading or chatting while some speaker is wearing out his lungs trying to make himself heard above the buzz of conversation. The only way to stop the objectionable Congressional practice of opening and answering letters at the House, it was agreed, would be to take away the desks that spread out, fanlike, from the Speaker's rostrum. Joel P. Heatwole, chairman of the committee, had this to say of the proposed change:

"The House of Representatives is a noisy body. Under the present arrangement each member has a desk at which he may transact business incident not only to the proceedings of the House, but to his general duties as Representative. Conversations are constantly carried on, irrelevant to and disturbing to parliamentary proceedings. The size of the House and the irrelevant noise is such that no man of average lung power can be heard throughout the hall. A deliberative body, representatives of the interests of 75,000,000 people, ought to so conduct itself that every subject of legislative discussion may be heard and understood by those who are charged with the duty of legislating. Under the present arrangement this is impossible. The committee has therefore approved a plan whereby:

"The present hall is to be shortened from a length of 139 feet, including galleries, to a length of eighty feet, including galleries.

"The present floor is to be shortened from a length of 113 feet to sixty feet.

"The present galleries are to be brought forward to conform to the hall as shortened.

"The hall, as reduced in size, will be seated with benches or seats, running parallel with the east and west walls of the chamber, half of them facing westward and half facing eastward, except the benches or seats in the northwest and northeast corners of the chamber, which will face southward. An open space 15x40 feet, will extend from the Speaker's desk northward, and aisles at appropriate intervals will extend from the aisles between the seats. The floor will rise as it recedes from such open space. The chamber will have a seating capacity of 406. No desks for members or delegates will be provided in the chamber, which will be for legislative business exclusively.

"The space taken from the present hall at each end by the alteration described will be made into two large retiring-rooms for members and fitted with tables, chairs, lockers and other furniture as needed. From these rooms there will be easy access to the chamber through fly doors fitted with glass panels. Each of the retiring-rooms is to be eighty feet long and thirty-nine feet wide. The galleries are to be supported by rows of pillars extending north and south across the retiring rooms. The entrance to galleries at the east and west sides of the chamber as reconstructed will be by a central entrance to each gallery, each entrance to be reached by a bridge passageway extending from the upper main corridor across each retiring-room so constructed as to insure the privacy of retiring-rooms. These bridge passageways are to be lighted from above."

Arranged in the manner described by Congressman Heatwole the Hall of Representatives will be a compact room in which speakers can make themselves heard without difficulty, while the listening members will be arranged in rows on cushioned benches where they must perforce give attention. The indifferent members will have the retiring-rooms at their disposal.

It looks a little like treating the Congressmen as schoolboys to take away their desks because so long as they had them they wouldn't pay attention, but that is exactly the state of the case.

PATE DE FOIE GRAS.

The Cruel Way in Which a Great Delicacy Is Produced.

A recent Paris Figaro gives us a very interesting description of how that delicacy of delicacies, pate de foie gras, is made. To the ordinary man or woman no conception of the torture to which the poor, unfortunate goose is put could possibly be imagined.

The geese, when about nine months old, are taken from the pastures and placed in an underground cellar, where broad, slanting stone slabs stand in rows, and are bound fast to the tables. They are literally crucified.

Feet, wings, and bodies are spread out and bound by bands, so that only and neck is left free. As may be imagined, the animal struggles with all its might against this stretching, till, after days of vain endeavor to free itself from the bands and its position, its powers of resistance are overcome, and a dull resignation, broken only by its low cries, takes possession of it. Two months must pass away before death brings relief.

The animals meanwhile are crammed with dumplings made of a dough of buckwheat, chestnuts, and stewed maize. Every two hours, six times a day, they received from three to five dumpling pills, which in time become so sweet to the tortured creatures that they stretch their necks to be crammed.

The most difficult task is to determine the right moment for death. Those who die of their own accord are lost to the liver factory; therefore a kind of study is needed to see when the cup of agony is brimming full and the liver is ripe for taking. The bodies of such ripe ones are like pumpkins—where ordinarily fingers are buried in flesh and fat nothing but skin and bone is found. The livers have absorbed all the strength and juices.

BAKED BEANS EXPRESS TRAIN.

It Brings Tons of This Food to Exiled Bostonians.

Your true Bostonian who is forced to exist in New York has little to comfort him in his exile. There is only one solace to his cup of bitterness, and that is his Sunday morning breakfast. And as he sits down complacently to this one meal of all the week which reminds him of home he offers up a fervent prayer of thanksgiving for two mercies. One is that he is still a Bostonian, and the other is for the baked beans train.

The baked beans train comes rolling into the Grand Central Depot in New York every Sunday morning at about 6 o'clock. It comes in every other morning, to be sure, but only on Sundays does it possess any special significance. There is always an express car attached, but on week days it is filled with a miscellaneous cargo. Not so on Sunday mornings. Then there is a penetrating aroma, which comes from stacks and stacks of freshly baked beans in pots. They are consigned to an enterprising purveyor in New York, who covers a regular route with a number of delivery wagons. Within two hours after the train comes in the contents of the express car have been distributed. The Saturday night run out of Boston is known among the train hands as the baked beans run.

A man lies to prevent trouble; a woman lies to make it.

Artlessness in a grown-up woman is the result of training and experience.

A dowdy woman is as pleasing to a man as a mushy sponge that is falling to pieces.

It is only when a girl is getting interested in a man that she takes particular pains to let him know she isn't.

When a man is sure that he has mastered a woman it is a sign that at last she has him where she wants him.

The most wonderful thing about a baby is the way he conceals his shame at bearing the queer sort of stuff his mother talks to him.

The husband who begins by resolving to let his wife have her own way in everything generally ends by letting her have it in nothing.

If men understood how women ranked them in importance with powder puffs and curling tongs, more of them would go off and try to make dogs love them.

It should be some consolation to a man wheeling a baby buggy on the streets to know that at least he belongs to the push.

Some people spend money only when they have an audience.

MONKEY WORKERS.

FIVE HUNDRED TO BE USED FOR PICKING COTTON.

Mr. Mangum's Experience May Revolutionize the Cotton Industry in Our Southern States—Monkey Slaves to Be Imported from African Forests.

Monkeys are developing intelligence rapidly along some lines of human endeavor and soon may become such a factor that labor unions will have to recognize in them a formidable element in the sphere of manual labor. The tangled forests of Darkest Africa, which, in the early days of the nation, supplied the Southern planter with slaves to cultivate his cotton fields and to gather his crops, have again been drawn upon by the farmer, whose ingenuity is equally great, whether he devotes his energies to the manufacture of wooden nutmegs in Northern States or of liquid moonshine in the South.

This time the demand is for monkeys—good, able-bodied monkeys, who shall be equal to a heavy day's work in the cotton fields. For that is the scheme which the wily Southerner has planned, and which he has found to be practicable. He will set monkeys at work picking his cotton crop, according to our veracious correspondent in Vicksburg. And why not? Monkeys have been used in some parts of Asia to fetch and carry, and they learn rapidly all that is required of them.

Scores of them have been working on the plantation of W. W. Mangum in Mississippi since the fall of 1897. Mangum attended the Vicksburg fair in 1896 with Prof. S. M. Tracey, and watched the antics of a number of trained monkeys who were performing various tricks under the supervision of their trainer.

"As sure as you're alive, Mangum," said Prof. Tracey, "those monkeys can be taught to pick cotton better and far more cheaply than our negroes do, and perpetual fame will be the part of the man who tries the experiment and finds it a success."

Magnum laughed at the suggestion, but the more his friend talked to him about the matter the more inclined he was to try the experiment. In September, 1897, he hunted up the owner and trainer of twenty trained monkeys in New York City and made arrangements both to buy the monkeys and to get the services of their trainer, who assured him that it would be the simplest thing imaginable to teach the monkeys to pick cotton.

MONKEYS AT WORK IN A MISSISSIPPI COTTON FIELD.

The training was at once begun. The males weigh about 110 pounds and the females average 90 pounds each in weight. Bags were made for each monkey that would hold twenty-five pounds of cotton, and a bag was placed over each monkey's shoulder. It was surprising how fast the monkeys learned to pick cotton. Baskets to hold the cotton were placed at each end of the rows, and one man besides the trainer was necessary to take the cotton out of the sacks and put it in the baskets provided.

The female monkeys proved much better pickers than the males. For they not only picked cleaner cotton, but they also picked more of it in a day than did the males. In less than a month after the twenty monkeys were started they could pick 300 pounds of seed cotton a day. They picked in weather when negroes would not have picked, and always a cleaner grade of cotton. The cost of picking was, of course, infinitely less.

This first experiment proved to Mr. Mangum that monkeys could be used with great success as cotton pickers. So, in June, 1898, he gave an order for 500 monkeys of the same breed to an exporter of monkeys from Africa, with the understanding that the greater part of them were to be females. About the first of September of this year the new batch of monkeys arrived, and the services of the old trainer were again engaged to train the new lot. But this was not such an easy task as was at first imagined, for many of the monkeys were wild and untamable at first. Finally, with the aid of the twenty old monkeys, who were of great assistance, and a great deal of harsh punishment and of reward, the new gang of monkeys was trained by the middle of last October.

Cotton planters throughout the South have watched the experiment with a great deal of interest. Many have visited the plantation near Smedes to see the monkeys at their work. On the big plantation the rows were filled with monkeys, each with her little cotton sack about her neck, picking away quietly and orderly and without any rush or confusion.

As fast as the monkeys got their sacks full they would run to the end of the row, where a man was stationed to empty the contents of the sacks into baskets. Then the monkeys would scamper back along the row and would immediately resume their work. The monkeys seemed actually to enjoy picking. Each monkey was protected from the rays of the sun while picking by a cotton cap, which was tied under its chin with a piece of string.

Mr. Mangum is enthusiastic over the success of his experiment. "The introduction of monkeys as cotton pickers means more to the South," said he, not long ago, "than a cotton picking machine; for the monkeys are a success as pickers, while the machines, so far, have been failures. The monkeys are in every way superior to negroes as pickers. In the first place, the cost of picking is about one-third. Then they are far more careful than negroes and pick a finer grade of cotton. Even during the rainy fall, when all other cotton was of a low grade, that picked by the monkeys of my plantation was all middling. And that cotton sold for more than one-half a cent more than that which was picked by the negroes. In fact, I believe that the discovery that monkeys can be taught to pick cotton is the greatest that has been made for the cotton planter since Whitney discovered the cotton gin.

"People around here laughed at me when I first tried to teach monkeys to pick cotton, as they always do when a man tries anything new. But now that my experiment has proved to be a success, my neighbors are wild about it. The negroes around the plantation have sworn that they would kill the monkeys. They haven't done so yet, however, and I apprehend no great danger in that direction." Mr. Mangum intends to import more monkeys from Africa, and he desires other planters to join with him in importing a lot of them.

MERITED THE LAETARE MEDAL.

Mme. Caldwell, Now a French Marquise, Receives a High Distinction.

Mary Gwendolin Caldwell, now the Marquise of Merinville, was recently given the Laetare medal by Notre Dame University—an honor that is yearly conferred upon some American lay person in recognition of distinguished services rendered for religion, education or morals.

Mme. Caldwell is the chief founder of the Catholic University of America at Washington, and has given many other evidences of her philanthropy. She founded the divinity school of that university with a gift of $300,000, and her sister, Miss Lina, now Baroness Zedwitz, added $50,000 to erect a chapel. She is the third woman to receive the Laetare medal since the custom of presenting it was instituted in 1883. Coming of a family of great wealth and high social position, Mme. Caldwell has been prominent in the society of Washington, Newport and other cities, and on her visits to Paris she has been well received. Her father was William Shakspeare Caldwell, of Virginia, and her mother was a sister of John C. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, formerly Vice President of the United States.

While traveling in Europe in 1887 Mme. Caldwell became interested in university work, and on her return to America offered the council of Baltimore $300,000 to start the proposed Catholic university. She has since given liberally to the institution, her latest gift, made by herself and sister, being $10,000 to found a fellowship in honor of their parents.

MARY GWENDOLIN CALDWELL.

At one time Mme. Caldwell was about being married while in Paris to Prince Joachim Murat Napoleon, a descendant of the great Bonaparte, but they could not agree on financial terms. Some time later she married Marquis de Merinville.

CAREFUL PACKING NECESSARY.

Important Warning to Manufacturers Engaged in the Foreign Trade.

John Fowler, our consul at Chefoo, has written to the State Department, complaining bitterly of the damage done to American foreign trade by the carelessness and ignorance of many of our mercantile houses in the packing of goods intended for the export trade. He gives illustration after illustration of orders of merchandise that have come to China from the United States, which have been broken, soiled or otherwise damaged, simply because the goods were not packed in a way to sustain transshipment and handling, often rough handling, without injury.

Of course, goods which were received in this condition in this country by one merchant from another or by a customer from a merchant, would be immediately sent back as unmerchantable, but there is no means of sending goods back that have been sent 6,000 or 8,000 miles beyond our frontiers, and the loss consequent upon a purchase of this kind commonly falls upon the purchaser, who makes an inward resolve that he will not again run the risks of purchasing American wares, no matter how tempting may appear to be the price. This may seem a small matter, but it is of vital importance if our export trade is to receive a healthy development, because an experience of this kind is like throwing a stone into a pool of water.

The foreign customer talks to his neighbors, and the circle of influence, extending all through a foreign community, affects the goods not only of one house that carelessly shipped them, but American goods of all kinds. The Germans, French and English understand this business far better than we do, and pack the wares that they send abroad in such a manner that they are not likely to be injured, no matter how rough the handling may be to which they are subjected.—Boston Herald.

FOOL TRAIT OF BABY CRABS.

Make Prisoners of Themselves by Crawling Into Live Oysters.

An oyster shucker found in the shell of the bivalve what he called a baby crab.

"That's the first one of that kind I ever found in a Long Island oyster," said the old shucker, "and I've been shucking along the sound for twenty years. But such crabs are frequently found in Virginia oyster shells and are considered great delicacies when you get enough of them. Last summer I was shucking while on a visit in Virginia, and I found enough baby crabs in oyster shells to fill an ordinary-size coffee cup. A young woman saw them and clapped her hands at the sight. She asked me what I would take for them, and I said $2 without thinking. She took me up quicker than a mice, and off she ran with them as if she had drawn a prize."

"Why do they go into oyster shells?"

"I don't know. I asked an old Virginia shucker that same question, and he said it was because they were lonesome and went in for company. But I don't believe it. That would mean that crabs think, and we know they don't. Neither does a lobster. I think the biggest fool in water is a lobster. I suppose you know how we catch lobsters in the sound? Take a box, bore holes in the side of it, and sink it. Put out your buoy so you'll know where to find the box. Leave the box sunk all night and go out next morning and haul it up, and you've got a box full of lobsters. And the funny thing about it is that they go into the holes backward. Even people will put their heads into holes where they are looking, but it takes a lobster to back into a hole, and they keep on doing it. Fish are smart. You have to play with them to get them to bite. But lobsters, they back right into your arms. Biggest fools that live."—New York Sun.

Vitality of Snails.

The snail is blessed with great powers of vitality. A case is recorded of an Egyptian desert snail which came to life upon being immersed in warm water after having passed four years glued to a card in the English museum. Some species, in the collection of a certain naturalist, revived after they had apparently been dead for fifteen years; and snails, having been frozen for weeks in solid blocks of ice, have recovered upon being thawed out. The eggs are as hard to destroy as the snail itself. They seem perfectly indifferent to freezing, and have been known to prove productive after having been shriveled up in an oven to the semblance of grains of sand.

Ballet Dancers Are Long-Lived.

A statistician has been devoting himself to a study of ballet dancers, and his investigation seems to establish the fact that they are an unusually long-lived lot. The famous Carlotta Grisi is living now at the age of 77, and one of the ballet dancers at the Opera in Paris is 70; but he is a man. Amalia Ferraris is still teaching at the age of 78 in Paris, and seems likely to continue that work for some time to come. Fanny Elisler was 74 when she died, and Taglioni has passed her eightieth year. Rosita Mauri, the popular premiere at the Opera in Paris, is over 50, and has begun to talk of retiring.

QUEER DISEASES, QUEER CURES.

Anonymous Letters, Freezing, Bees and Other Unusual Remedies.

One physician has discovered a new use for the anonymous letter. He has observed that in cases of hysteria, melancholia, rheumatism, etc., patients have sometimes been cured by a violent and sudden shock. That fact being established, the doctor said to himself, "why not shock my patients into good health?" and since the idea occurred to him his life has been not only profitable but also entertaining. He suits the shock to the case, but says that he has had better results from anonymous letters than from any other method. A few carefully constructed letters, full of innuendo, abuse and threats of injury, will give a patient an absorbing interest in life. He will forget his ailments, and that is a long step toward recovery. Incidentally the treatment may make things interesting for the family of the convalescent, but that's a detail. The physician who invented the treatment says that results have been most gratifying.

This is a day of queer diseases and queerer cures. A case of nervous exhaustion, dyspepsia or rheumatism can give one a long lifetime of interesting and varied experiences. One may lounge among the vineyards of Southern France and eat unheard-of quantities of grapes in the name of medical science. One can take the open-air cure in the Tyrol, where the patients, clad simply and sufficiently in one thin, abbreviated tunic, ramble over the hills, or, minus the tunic, lie on the grass and soak up sunshine. There is the koumyss cure on the Russian steppes and the starvation cure in Germany. Germany is the native heath of the barefoot fraternity, too, where devout believers in Father Kneipp paddle merrily about in the morning dew, and, arrayed in conventional purple and fine linen, but still barefoot, invade the neighboring towns on Sunday.

A Paris doctor has designed a dry bath of Arctic temperature which discounts the most noble efforts of a disapproving chaperon. A tank of metal, lined with fur, is sunk in a larger outer tank, and the space between the two is filled with an evaporating fluid, which lowers the temperature of the inner tank to about 100 degrees below freezing. The nervous patient is put into this refrigerator and kept there for a few moments, the treatment being repeated every other day. The effect is said to be marvelous, and disease is frozen out.

Malta's way of treating rheumatism is heroic, but a generation brought up on mustard plasters and electricity ought not to object to it. The patient is stripped and bees are cordially invited to settle upon his body. It amuses the bees and cures the rheumatism, so it seems to be a philanthropic system all around. The poison in the bee stings is said to neutralize the acid in the blood which is responsible for the rheumatism.—New York Sun.

The Buffalo Trade.

Professor Hornaday of the Smithsonian Institution has reckoned that the buffalo trade for several years was worth more than $300,000 annually to Kansas City alone. The hunters who worked singly used to get from $1.50 $4.50 for skins. The price depended upon the condition and quality of the pelt. A gang of buffalo hunters would form a partnership along in the winter months, while the hunters loafed about such plains towns as Council Bluffs, El Paso, Denver, Fort Dodge, Fort Worth, Waco or Cheyenne, and, with a company stock of provisions, ammunition, weapons, horses, mules, and camping outfits, would go forth in April or May for five months' slaying of buffaloes. At the close of the season the hunters would sell their buffalo skins and tongues to any one of the hundreds of buyers on the frontier. An energetic, lucky gang of hunters has been known to sell more than 2,000 hides for $6,500. That gave each man in the party $700 for his season's work. Here and there was a crack shot who knew the plains well and buffalo habits as well, and made as much as $2,000 in a few months at shooting the herds. But there were firms that employed 200 and 300 expert hunters, divided into ten or fifteen separated gangs, to roam over the great plains from the Platte River to the Rio Grande, and from the Missouri to the Rockies, getting buffalo skins and tongues. The men in such gangs received $50 a month and their supplies. There were several English companies engaged in the business. Some companies handled buffalo meat and bones. The meat was cured and sold to the military and mining camps on the plains. One firm used to buy buffalo hams for shipping to Mexico.—New York Sun.

The Exploration of the Amazon.

Commander Todd, of the gunboat Wilmington, has been directed to go up the Amazon as far as the Wilmington can go, and take notice of what he finds there. It is said that no United States vessel has ever navigated the Amazon above Manaos, which is 850 miles upstream. The Wilmington draws eight feet ten inches, and it is thought that she can go 1,000 or 1,200 miles further. The upper Amazon is not absolutely unexplored, but information about the district it traverses and the folks who lived along its borders is vague, scarce, and unreliable. Monkeys, orchids and gay birds come from that region, also bicycle tires and overshoes.

It may be that what put it into the Government's head to send Commander Todd up the Amazon was that it had been reading the report, recently issued, of the Intercontinental Railroad Commission, which has been busy for ten years past in investigating the feasibility and probable cost of a railroad from New York to Buenos Ayres. The distance is about 10,200 miles, of which nearly 5,000 is covered by railroads already built. The commission first met in Washington in December, 1890, when it organized three survey parties—one under Captain E. Z. Steever to survey south from Mexico; one under Mr. William F. Shunk to survey north from Quito; and one under Mr. J. Imbrie Miller to survey south from Quito to Lake Titacaca in Bolivia. The surveys were finished about three years ago. Now the results have been worked out and the report sumptuously published. The verdict is that the road is perfectly feasible, and that the roadbed for the main line, including masonry, grading, and bridges (but not rails), would cost about $175,000,000. The most expensive and difficult section of the proposed line would be in Columbia, Ecuador, and Peru, wherethe road skirts the Andes for 3,600 miles, at an estimated cost of $125,000,000.—Harper's Weekly.

HOMES ON WHEELS.

Temporary Refuges Provided for Workmen on Railways.

That the management of the Northern Pacific Railway appreciates the fact that if you want a man to work and give him a good bed to sleep on is evidenced by the system of "boarding trains." The outfit consists of commissary, store, kitchen, dining room, and refrigerator cars and sleeping cars. The force necessary for the train averages about one man for every twelve workmen, the distribution of occupants being about as follows for each 100 workmen: One head cook, 1 second cook, 4 waiters, 1 watchman, and 1 commissary clerk, 8 in all. The company has a buyer who purchases supplies in bulk for distribution to all camps controlled by it. The regular bill of fare includes two kinds of meat and three vegetables, with pie or pudding for dinner and sauce or preserves for supper. The kitchen requisition blank, upon which the chief cook obtains his supplies, covers a complete assortment of materials, under the heads of fresh meats, dry meats, breadstuffs, eggs, butter, coffee, and tea, vegtables, (fresh and canned,) milk, (fresh and canned,) green and dry fruits, &c. The commissary department carries a stock of all the various articles of clothing for which a demand is likely to arise, and tobacco, cigars, pipes, matches, knives, postage stamps, &c.

All of the cars are fitted up from ordinary box cars, the arrangement of the sleeping car being perhaps of the greatest interest. Each car accommodates twenty men. One full side of the car is taken up by two-story berths, each intended for the occupancy of two men. On the opposite side of the car are four single berths only, and the remaining space toward the other end of the car is occupied by a stove, wash basins, and other simple toilet arrangements. Ventilation is provided for by four windows. The beds are furnished with excelsior cotton-top mattresses and blankets of a weight according to the climate in which the train is stationed.

These outfits are reported as working to the greatest satisfaction of the railroad company, for the men do better work and more of it from having a good sleeping place. It is also stated that the completeness of the equipment is a material benefit to the railroad company itself, which is felt by the transportation department, especially in the decrease of calls for carrying new men to replace dissatisfied ones, and in furnishing passes to local supply points for commissary goods.

The same company now has twelve trains of this kind stationed on the Northern Pacific and thirteen on the Santa Fe, Pacific and Southern California roads.

A Chapter of Mishaps.

One of Wilmington's best-known society men made a visit to Philadelphia the other week, and to avoid the annoyance of carrying a bag he bestowed about his person the materials necessary to a night's comfort and the morning toilet. Without going further into particulars, he had his tooth brush in his overcoat pocket and his collar in his hat. In the evening with a friend he went to a theatre, and as the play was a popular one they considered themselves lucky to get two seats in the front row of the balcony. Overcoats were carelessly laid over the rail, and the toothbrush slipped out of the pocket and fell into the parquet. Involuntarily both men looked over to see where it fell, and met the eyes of two girls they knew who were looking up to see where it came from. This was embarrassing, especially as an unmistakable titter could be heard from the parquet. At the end of the first act the men grabbed their hats and hurried out to restore their composure by artificial means. On returning they found the collar, which had slipped from the hat, carefully laid on the seat of one of their chairs, and the whole balcony was giggling.—Philadelphia Record.

Mean Trick of a Wildcat.

Workmen employed by the city of New York in constructing the big dam at Cornell are telling of a wildcat that kept a dog in a hole until he was nearly starved to death. The dog belonged to Antonio Ferone, a foreman. For days the dog was missing, and all efforts to find him were ineffectual. Ferone was out gunning for rabbits near Croton Lake the other day when he heard a commotion in a hedge near by, and was surprised to see a wildcat dart up a tree. A few minutes later his missing dog peeped out of a hole near the hedge, and, when he saw his master, crept toward him with his tail be most a skeleton, and must have been in captivity from the day he disappeared. It is believed that the dog was chased into the hole by the cat, and that it then kept watch at the entrance with a view to starving the enemy out. Ferone shot the wildcat, but the dog could not be induced to approach its carcass.—New York Press.

Dangerous Traveling in Cuba.

The mysterious disappearance of Arturio Barrios, a postal courier between San Louis and Mayari, Cuba, has not been explained. Barrios left Mayari Jan. 20, carrying sixty-five letters and a package of newspapers. So far as was known there was nothing valuable in the mail. His route covers about fifty miles of very wild country, sparsely settled and formerly infested by bandoleros. It was supposed that he had fallen a victim to highwaymen, but a very thorough search of the route by troops has failed to reveal any traces of his body or of any lawless bands, and a man who has just come over the same route thinks it probable that the courier was drowned. The road runs along a deep, swift stream, and at places the path is narrow and difficult.—Chicago Record.

The telegraph lines in Chili are owned by the government. A message of ten words can be sent to any part of the country for about 8 cents.

Put Your Finger on Your Pulse

You feel the blood rushing along.

But what kind of blood? That is the question.

Is it pure blood or impure blood?

If the blood is impure then you are weak and languid; your appetite is poor and your digestion is weak. You cannot sleep well and the morning finds you unprepared for the work of the day. Your cheeks are pale and your complexion is sallow. You are troubled with pimples, boils, or some eruption of the skin. Why not purify your blood?

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

will do it. Take it a few days and then put your finger on your pulse again. You can feel the difference. It is stronger and your circulation better. Send for our book on Impure Blood.

If you are bilious, take Ayer's Pills. They greatly aid the Sarsaparilla, They cure constipation also.

Write to our Doctors.
Write them freely all the particulars in your case. You will receive a prompt reply, without cost.
Address, DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

A Natural Black is Produced by Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers.
50 cts. of druggists or R. P. Hall & Co., Nashua, N.H.

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.
For sale by all Druggists.—Price 50c. per bottle

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

HEAD ACHE

"Both my wife and myself have been using CASCARETS and they are the best medicine we have ever had in the house. Last week my wife was frantic with headache for two days, she tried some of your CASCARETS, and they relieved the pain in her head almost immediately. We both recommend Cascarets."
CHAS. STEDEFORD,
Pittsburg Safe & Deposit Co., Pittsburg, Pa.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets TRADE MARK REGISTERED REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant, Palatable, Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c. 25c. 50c.
... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...
Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 317

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

INDIANA INCIDENTS.

RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK.

Prisoner Attempts Suicide Four Times—Strange Absence of a Newly Married Man—Illinois Central Gets Into the Coal Fields.

Albert Hunter, under sentence at Kokomo for larceny, made a bet that he would not go to State's prison. He hanged himself with a rope made from handkerchiefs, dangling five hours, but was alive when cut down. Next he butted his head against a stone wall and tried to swallow broken glass. He then severed his wrist with broom wire, but a doctor saved him in every case, and Hunter lost his bet. The wager was 25 cents against a pants button and it was paid. He was taken to the penitentiary.

Young Husband Disappears.

Howard Rhinehart of Terre Haute, a young married man, disappeared from Marshall, Ill., several days ago. His disappearance caused so much gossip that a new-made grave in the Marshall cemetery was opened to disprove the suspicion that he had been murdered and buried. The prevailing opinion is that Rhinehart has wandered away while temporarily insane.

Dunkards Go to Alabama.

Indiana Dunkards have at last officially refused to send any more colonies to North Dakota to aid in the national colonization scheme, and have taken option on 7,000 acres of land near Athens, Ala., on which they will colonize and center their national interests. They will ask the co-operation of Dunkards of other States.

Christian Scientists in New Role.

"To heal by laying on of hands and to raise from the dead" is the purpose of a company incorporated in Madison County under Indiana laws. The incorporators are Christian Scientists, who propose to operate in the county on a new and legal basis.

Merged in Illinois Central.

The Indiana and Illinois Southern Railway has been formally transferred to the Illinois Central and will hereafter be operated as an independent division of the latter road. The Illinois Central now has a direct line into the Indiana block coal fields.

Within Our Borders.

Decrease in the production of oil at Montpelier.

Trolley line will be built from New Albany to Wyandotte cave.

Deadlock at the miners and operators' meeting, Terre Haute, over wage scale.

Lewis N. Noble and wife, Goshen, celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

Robert Gortner, Goshen, appointed district attorney for four counties in New Mexico.

An all-night cocking main was given on a barge near Lawrenceburg. Sixty-two birds fought.

At La Porte, Barney & Bowen's livery stable was destroyed by fire. Five horses were cremated.

Kokomo Council has let contracts for street improvement, contrary to the dictate of the Mayor.

Case of Walter S. Randall, Shelbyville, against Big Four, for $5,000 damages, decided for defendant.

Kokomo will fill the gap in the proposed Indiana baseball league, made by the withdrawal of Marion.

Lafayette soldiers' home has the oldest and youngest inmates of any similar institution in the country.

Krein Chain Company, Marion, will move its factory from St. Mary's, Ohio, and consolidate the two.

Mrs. Augusta Schmidt, the Indian baroness, refused the parole granted her by Gov. Mount and it has been revoked.

Ransom Kamp and John Mahan, Sullivan, quarreled. Mahan drew a revolver, whereupon Kamp struck him in the back of the head with a hatchet. He will die.

Harvey Cook, who was a member of Company C, 159th Indiana, during the late war, was accidentally drowned from a skiff while fishing in a pond near Salem.

Deputy Coroner Weaver of LaPorte has rendered a verdict that Blanche Thomas came to her death as the result of eating a banana. The case is interesting the medical fraternity.

Miss Zoe Spaulding and Lizzie Bales, two pretty 16-year-old girls who ran away from their homes in Montpelier, and joined an opera company, were found by Chief of Police Lewis at Marion.

J. H. Bissett of Anderson, formerly of Battle Creek, Mich., has made application for patent covering the latest idea in perpetual motion. The machine which he has constructed has, it is claimed, been given practical tests and worked perfectly. Instead of following the time-beaten path of resorting to balls, weights or sliding gauges, Bissett has constructed his machine on condensed air principles. By turning the flywheel once enough air is compressed to drive it around again. It automatically compresses and discharges the air, and will run until stopped. A gauge regulates and holds speed at any desired notch.

Willis R. Gosnell, a wealthy citizen of Montgomery County, lent a widow a large sum of money to pay off certain incumbrances on her land and subsequently they were married. He held her notes for the money loaned and it was not questioned that she used it to pay off her debts. She died a few years later and Gosnell presented the notes against the estate that she left. Payment was refused and he brought suit to recover the amount. The Supreme Court has decided that he could not collect the money and held that it was clearly a common law rule that a woman discharges all her indebtedness to her creditor when she marries him, and that this rule has not been abrogated by statute in this State.

In an explosion at the Aetna powder works at Miller's Station, Superintendent Harrington and two employes were badly injured. Harrington will lose the sight of both eyes.

At Fort Wayne, James Jacobs, former proprietor of the City Trucking Company's barns, recently destroyed by fire, was found guilty of arson and sentenced to the penitentiary.

Michael Shea, supposed to be the oldest man in Indiana, died at his residence in Indianapolis. He was born in Ireland 117 years ago, and had spent about eighty years of that time in America.

Two strawboard companies of Hartford City have withdrawn options offered the proposed trust, and say that the combine has fallen through.

At Indianapolis are a good many followers of Lieut. C. A. L. Totten, U. S. A., who were disappointed the other day because the millennium did not begin as predicted by Totten seven years ago.

The dead body of an unknown man was found in a corn field eight miles north of Terre Haute. From papers it appeared that he was Peter Haddox of Clinton, and he was later identified. No marks of violence were found, and it is supposed he was frozen to death during the blizzard a few weeks ago.

CHILDREN AT TABLE.

The Idiot and the Pedagog Compare Notes on Training.

John Kendrick Bangs advances some original ideas on home discipline in the Woman's Home Companion while describing a successful dinner party given by "The Idiot."

"Most certainly," said the Schoolmaster, "I certainly do approve of having children at table on all occasions. How else are they to learn how to conduct themselves? The discipline of the nursery is apt to be lax, and it is my belief that many of the bad table manners of the present-day child are due to the sense of freedom which eating in the nursery naturally inculcates."

"There is something in what you say," said the Idiot. "Tommy, for instance, never learned to throw a French pancake across the table at his sister by watching his mother and myself here in the dining-room, yet in the freedom of the nursery I have known it done."

"Precisely," said Mr. Pedagog. "That very little incident illustrates my point exactly. And I have no doubt that in the nursery the offense seemed less heinous than it would had it occurred in the dining-room, and hence did not meet with the full measure of punishment that it deserved."

"Well," said the Idiot, reflectively, "I quite agree with your proposition that children should dine in the dining-room with their parents, and not upstairs in the nursery with a lot of tin soldiers and golliwogs. And as for the stern father who says his children must dine in the kitchen until they learn better manners I never had much confidence in him or in his manners, either."

America and Germany.

So soon as America showed her firmness the German cruiser left Manila Bay, and we now protect their interests. In a like manner all stomach ills fly before the wonderful power of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It strikes at the root of all diseases, and cures indigestion, constipation, biliousness, liver and kidney troubles.

A Meteoric Projectile.

The discovery of meteors that have actually been seen to fall is a rare piece of good fortune. Such an event occurred last August, near Andover, Me. The meteor fell on a cloudy morning, and exploded with a noise heard for many miles around, and which was generally supposed to be thunder. Its path through the air was marked by a trail of black smoke. Tearing its way through a group of trees, it almost struck a man passing. It did strike a stone wall and buried itself in the ground, from which it was dug by Henry Y. Poor, the well known editor of the Manual of Railroads. It weighs about seven pounds, and consists mostly of stony material, with a little iron.

Wall Paper and Diseases.

"Dr. Chamel of Cornell University," observes the Kansas City Times in an editorial article March 8, "has made an announcement which is calculated to cause a slump in the market for stock of the wall paper trust. The doctor says that he has made chemical analysis of a large number of samples of wall paper, and in nearly all of them has found arsenical poisons, in some of them the poison existing in surprising quantities. He was led to make the investigation by having brought to his attention a number of cases of sickness which were traced to paper covered rooms. It is to be presumed that, in the future, houses, in order to be classed as 'strictly modern,' will have to have frescoed walls.

"While on the subject of wall paper, the Cornell scientist would confer a favor upon mankind by pursuing his investigation further. It would be interesting as well as instructive to know what per cent of the inmates of insane asylums owe their mental condition to their having been compelled to live in rooms whose walls were covered with realistic portraitures of an opium smoker's dream. Some of the designs which are alleged to make living rooms cozy and homelike resemble nothing so much as the efforts of a dissipated artist to reproduce the experiences of an attack of the delirium tremens."

Alabastine, the rock-base cement for coating walls, is free from these objections. It is sanitary and costs less than wall paper.

Sorry He Spoke.

It was once the fortune of a man who was ugly both in temper and in features to sit opposite to Douglas Jerrold at a dinner party. While the cloth was being removed, the latter managed to break a glass. His vis-a-vis, thinking to turn the laugh at him, at once said:

"What, already, Jerrold? Why, I never break a glass."

"I am surprised at that," Jerrold answered; "you ought to whenever you look in one."

Makes the Spot Vanish.

A slight rap may cause a bruise, or a slight blow a black one, sore and tender. But it is easy to cure a bruise by the use of St. Jacobs Oil, and make the spot vanish and the soreness heal.

Likely.

Mrs. Crimsonbeak—Were you under the influence of liquor last night, John?

Mr. Crimsonbeak (rubbing his head)—No, indeed.

"Well, just look at your shoes on the mantel and your silk hat all out of shape!"

"Yes, I did that to remind me to tell you something."

"What was it?"

"Really, I forget now what it was."—Yonkers Statesman.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

Farmers in the World.

The world's agriculture occupies the attention of 280,000,000 men, represents a capital of £4,800,000,000, and has an annual product of over £4,000,000,000.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. The genuine has L. B. Q. on each tablet.

An eminent astronomer says that for communication with the inhabitants of Mars we should require a flag as large as Ireland and a pole 500 miles long.

"Trust Not to Appearances."

That which seems hard to bear may be a great blessing. Let us take a lesson from the rough weather of Spring. It is doing good despite appearances. Cleanse the system thoroughly; rout out all impurities from the blood with that greatest specific, Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Instead of sleepless nights, with consequent irritable nerves and an undone, tired feeling, you will have a tone and a bracing air that will enable you to enter into every day's work with pleasure. Remember, Hood's never disappoints.

Goitre—"Goitre was so expensive in medical attendance that I let mine go. It made me a perfect wreck, until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, which entirely cured me." MRS. THOMAS JONES, 130 South St., Utica, N. Y.

Running Sores—"Five years ago my affliction came, a running sore on my leg, causing me great anguish. Hood's Sarsaparilla healed the sore, which has never returned." MRS. A. W. BARRETT, 39 Powell St., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Never Disappoints

Hood's Pills cure liver ills; non-irritating and the only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Public Banquets.

A very pretty part of the evening's entertainment at public banquets are the souvenirs in which the ices are served. The souvenir at the Li Hung Chang banquet given in New York was a mandarin's hat, with the yellow button and ostrich feather. A horse show association had a very elaborate souvenir consisting of a horse in brass standing upon the box containing ice. At a dinner celebrating the opening of an electric road the ice was served in little cars, imitations of those of the road. At a dinner at the Waldorf in New York, given by the dock commissioners, there was a tiny dock to remember the occasion by, and at a Board of Trade and transportation dinner a float carrying several railroad cars held the ice.

At a dinner given to Lieutenant Peary, the souvenir, an Eskimau boat made of skin was a most expensive little memento. Hundreds of other souvenirs have ben prepared by a large New York house, whose entire business consists of making such things. There are mortar boards and foot-balls for college banquets, ten pins for bowling clubs, miniature desks for schoolmasters' associations, and fish and game of all kinds for sporting clubs.

The souvenirs at public dinners are not usually expensive; but those at bachelors' dinners and wedding feasts often cost many dollars apiece. Silver loving cups and hearts are popular, and a pearl pin laid in an oyster is a pretty conceit for a bachelors' dinner.

Papyristite.

Papyristite is a new artificial stone-like substance which is highly spoken of in one of the United States Consular reports, and which is being manufactured at Zurich in Switzerland. The principal constituent of this substance is purified pulp obtained from waste-paper; hence its name. The material is supplied in powdered form, and is packed like cement in barrels or sacks; mixed with water, it can be spread like cement, will harden in twenty-four hours, and is then susceptible of receiving a high polish, if such treatment should be required. Papyristite can be cut, sawn, or bored; it is as hard as marble; it can be given any tint desired; it is adapted to all temperatures; and it is light, elastic, and inexpensive. It is non absorbent of moisture or any filthy or obnoxious matter, and is not liable to the attacks of insects, mice, or rats.

Many a Man's Problem.

"I have never yet quite figured out," said the man who has succeeded pretty well, "whether my wife has faith in my ability to do things, or whether her faith is in her ability to make me do them."—Indianapolis Journal.

Swell Thieves.

A Princess, a Countess, a Duchess, and the daughter of a reigning Prince were among the 4,000 thieves, professional and unprofessional, who were arrested in Paris during last year.

Will Get Down to It.

It is certainly true that as deeply imbedded as the sciatic nerve is, St. Jacobs Oil will get down to it and cure it. It is a proof of how penetrating and efficacious are its curative powers.

Why She Wouldn't Do.

Business Man—What did you say your name was?

Applicant for Position as Stenographer—Miss Simmons.

Business Man—You won't do, then. Do you think I am going to have all my letters signed "per Simmons?"

Dewey Let Us Have the Fibre.

When Admiral Dewey destroyed the Spanish Navy in Manilla Harbor there were lying in the harbor six big ships laden with Manila fibre for the DEERING HARVESTER CO., of Chicago. By a special order from the Navy Department Dewey was permitted to release these ships. Their cargoes reached the Deering Twine Works in Chicago in due course, and that twine will be used to bind the sheaves of this season's harvest all over the world.

What Tommy Atkins Gets to Eat.

The British soldier is the best fed individual of his class in Europe. He receives for his daily rations 16 ounces of bread, 12 ounces of meat, 2 ounces of rice, 8 ounces of dried vegetables, 16 ounces of potatoes, and once a week he receives 2 ounces of salt, 4 ounces of coffee, and 9 ounces of sugar.

Catarrh Can't Be Cured

With LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, Ohio.
Sold by druggists, price 75c.

One Spanish Victory.

Only once in their history as a nation have the Spaniards achieved a naval victory. That was at the battle of Lepanto, in 1571, when, with the aid of Venetians and Genoese, they annihilated the Turkish fleet.

Shake Into Your Shoes

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting, nervous feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight-fitting or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous and hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores. By mail for 25c, in stamps. Trial package FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Prompt for Once.

"Queer about Clara's wedding with that plumber."

"What was queer?"

"Why, he came to get married at the day and hour he said he would."—Detroit Free Press.

Coughs Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

Lemon Baths.

Lemon baths are popular in the West Indies. Three or four lemons are cut up and left to soak in water half an hour. The bath is very refreshing.

Oh, That Delicious Coffee!

Costs but 1c. per lb. to grow. Salzer has the seed. German Coffee Berry, pkg. 15c.; Java Coffee pkg. 15c. Salzer's New American Chicory 15c. Cut this out and send 15c. for any of above packages or send 30c. and get all 3 pkgs. and great Catalogue free to JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., La Crosse, Wis. (c. n.)

Only one person in fifteen has perfect eyes, the large percentage of defectiveness prevailing among fair-haired people.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it, like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c. and 25 cts. per package. Sold by all grocers.

Many insects hear and breathe with the same apparatus.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is our only medicine for coughs and colds.—Mrs. C. Beltz, 439 8th ave., Denver, Col., Nov. 8, 1895.

The egg plant is a native of Asia, Africa, and South America.

HEALTH and beauty are the glories of perfect womanhood.

Women who suffer constantly with weakness peculiar to their sex cannot retain their beauty. Preservation of pretty features and rounded form is a duty women owe to themselves. The mark of excessive monthly suffering is a familiar one in the faces of young American women.

THE MARKS OF SUFFERING

Don't wait, young women, until your good looks are gone past recall. Consult Mrs. Pinkham at the outstart. Write to her at Lynn, Mass.

MISS EDNA ELLIS, Higginsport, Ohio, writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I am a school teacher and had suffered untold agony during my menstrual periods for ten years. My nervous system was almost a wreck. I suffered with pain in my side and had almost every ill human flesh is heir to. I had taken treatment from a number of physicians who gave me no relief. In fact one eminent specialist said no medicine could help me, I must submit to an operation. At my mother's request, I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham stating my case in every particular and received a prompt reply. I followed the advice given me and now I suffer no more during menses. If anyone cares to know more about my case, I will cheerfully answer all letters."

MISS KATE COOK, 16 Addison St., Mt. Jackson, Ind., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I am by occupation a school teacher, and for a long while suffered with painful menstruation and nervousness. I have received more benefit from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than from all remedies that I have ever tried."

FRANCES WILLARD HOSPITAL

USES PE-RU-NA FOR CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

THE FRANCES WILLARD HOSPITAL, CHICAGO, ILL.

Miss Georgiana Dean was for three years missionary in Liberia under the M. E. Church from the training school in Chicago. After her return she studied nursing, graduating from the present Frances E. Willard National Temperance Hospital of Chicago. She is an enthusiastic friend of Pe-ru-na, as is evident from the following letter:

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 20, 1899.

Pe-ru-na Drug M'f'g Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen—You will be glad to know of the happy results obtained from the use of Pe-ru-na among the patients under my care whenever prescribed by the physician. I have seen some very remarkable cures of cases of very obstinate catarrh of the stomach, where Pe-ru-na was the only medicine used. I consider it a reliable medicine.

GEORGIANA DEAN.

The symptoms of catarrhal dyspepsia are: Coated tongue, pain or heavy feeling in the stomach, belching of gas, dizzy head, sometimes headache, despondent feelings, loss of appetite, palpitation of the heart and irregularity of the bowels.

Send for a free book written by Dr. Hartman, entitled "Health and Beauty." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

"A Handful of Dirt May Be a Houseful of Shame." Keep Your House Clean with

SAPOLIO

An Important Distinction.

"When a person says he is going to retire," said the statesman's small son, "he means he is going to sleep."

"No," was the answer. "Your father is going to retire from Congress, my boy, and if he doesn't desire to lose his grip he will have to keep wider awake than ever."—Washington Star.

St. Jacobs Oil cures Rheumatism.
St. Jacobs Oil " Neuralgia.
St. Jacobs Oil " Lumbago.
St. Jacobs Oil " Sciatica.
St. Jacobs Oil " Sprains.
St. Jacobs Oil " Bruises.
St. Jacobs Oil " Soreness.
St. Jacobs Oil " Stiffness.
St. Jacobs Oil " Backache.
St. Jacobs Oil " Muscular Aches.

Pronounced in 145 Ways.

The letter "I" in the Chinese language has 145 ways of being pronounced, and each pronunciation has a different meaning.

Salzer's Seed Corn.

Does your seed corn test, Bro. Farmer? Salzer's does—it's northern grown, early and good for 80 to 150 bu. per acre! Send this notice and 10c for 8 corn samples and low prices to Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse Wis. (c.n.)

Britain as a Money Lender.

Britain is the greatest money-lender of the world. A statistician estimates that she has £110,000,000 invested in land and mortgage in countries abroad.

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

We become partners with thieves when we make it impossible for men to earn an honest living.

Eagle Linen Letter Paper and Envelopes are the proper thing. Tell your printer to use this brand on your next order.

Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP for Children teething: softens the gums, reduces inflammation allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

WANTED.—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cents to Ripans Chemical Co., New York, for 10 samples and 1,000 testimonials.

LADIES The Periodical Monthly Regulator never fails; write for free sample. NEW YORK CHEMICAL CO., Box 70, Milwaukee, Wis.

SORE EYES Dr ISAAC THOMPSON'S EYE WATER

PENSIONS Get Your Pension DOUBLE QUICK! Write Capt. O'FARRELL, Pension Agent, Washington, D.C.

8000 BICYCLES Overstock: Must Be Closed Out. STANDARD '98 MODELS, guaranteed, $9.75 to $16. Shopworn & second hand wheels, good as new, $3 to $10. Great factory clearing sale. We ship to anyone on approval & trial without a cent in advance. EARN A BICYCLE by helping us advertise our superb line of samples when not in use. We give one Rider Agent in each town FREE USE of sample wheel and sundries thereon. Write at once for our special offer.
K. C. Mead Cycle Company, Chicago, Ills.

ASTHMA POPHAM'S ASTHMA SPECIFIC Gives relief in FIVE minutes. Send for a FREE trial package. Sold by Druggists. One Box sent postpaid on receipt of $1.00. Six boxes $5.00. Address THOS. POPHAM, PHILA., PA.

WE CAN'T MAKE any better ink than we do—we don't know how to. We can make poorer and cheaper ink, but we won't. CARTER'S INK Is the best that can be made. It costs you no more than the poorest. Funny booklet "How to Make Ink Pictures" free. CARTER'S INK CO., Boston, Mass.

WABASH

HOME SEEKERS' EXCURSIONS

To Western Points,

APRIL 18th, MAY 2nd AND 16th, 1899.

On the above dates the WABASH LINE will sell from its principal stations East of Chicago and Toledo, Ill., LOW RATE HOME SEEKERS' EXCURSION Tickets to points West, South, and Southwest, granting a liberal return limit. A postal card addressed to any Wabash Ticket Agent, or to either of the following Passenger Representatives will bring you prompt and explicit information regarding rates, routes, time of trains, through car service, condition of tickets, etc., etc.

REMEMBER

The WABASH is the only line east of Chicago and St. Louis giving its patrons seats, without extra charge, in ELEGANT RECLINING CHAIR CARS running through to St. Louis and Kansas City without change.

This is your chance to go West cheap. Communicate with us,

P. E. DONBAUGH, P. & T. A., Toledo, Ohio.
R. G. THOMPSON, P. & T. A., Fort Wayne, Ind.
R. G. BUTLER, D. P. A., Detroit, Mich.
THO'S FOLLEN, P. & T. A., Lafayette, Ind.
GEO. D. MAXFIELD, D. P. A., Indianapolis, Ind.
C. S. CRANE, G. P. & T. A., St. Louis, Mo.

Don't Rent

ESTABLISH A HOME OF YOUR OWN

Read "The Corn Belt," a handsome monthly paper, beautifully illustrated, containing exact and truthful information about farm lands in the West. Send 25 cents in postage stamps for a year's subscription to THE CORN BELT, 209 Adams St., Chicago.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in civil war. 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

It's Easy To Take

Thin, pale, anæmic girls need a fatty food to enrich their blood, give color to their cheeks and restore their health and strength. It is safe to say that they nearly all reject fat with their food.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA

is exactly what they require; it not only gives them the important element (cod-liver oil) in a palatable and easily digested form, but also the hypophosphites which are so valuable in nervous disorders that usually accompany anæmia.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is a fatty food that is more easily digested than any other form of fat. A certain amount of flesh is necessary for health. You can get it in this way.

We have known persons to gain a pound a day while taking it.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

WABASH

GOING EAST.

No. 2	6:25 am—Daily
No. 10	1:15 pm—ex Su
No. 4	4:59 pm—Daily
No. 70 (local freight)	4:20 pm—ex Su

GOING WEST.

No. 1	10:21 am—Daily
No. 9 Except Sundap	6:07 pm—ex Su
No. 3	7:48 pm—Daily
No. 71, (local freight)	11:00 am—ex Su

All these trains stop for passengers.
For rates, tickets, time tables, etc. apply to
I. M. ZENT, Agent, Auburn, Ind
Chas. M. Hays, V. Pres. and Gen't Manager.
C. S. Crane, Gen'l Pass'r and Ticket Agent

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—in Effect Nov. 13, 1898.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations	Mail	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne	11 45 am	4 50 pm	5 55 am
New Era	12 12 pm	5 17	6 40
Auburn Junction	12 25	5 28	7 10
Auburn	12 29	5 32	7 35
Waterloo	12 41	5 43	8 15
Summit	12 52	5 53	8 35
Steubenville	12 56	5 56
Pleasant Lake	1 03	6 03	8 56
Angola	1 13	6 14	9 35
Jackson	3 25	8 35	2 40

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations	Fre'gt	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson dp	5 55 am	11 30 am	7 15 am
Angola	11 00	2 19 pm	9 44
Pleasant Lake	11 35	2 29	9 55
Steubenville	.....	2 36	10 01
Summit	11 50	2 39	10 05
Waterloo	12 41 pm	2 55	10 23
Auburn	1 20	3 05	10 33
Auburn Junction	1 35	3 08	10 35
New Era	1 54	3 18	10 45
Fort Wayne	2 50	3 50	11 15

For rates on tickets or freight to all points call on or address E. T. DeLAPP, Agent Auburn.

B. & O. R. R.

Schedule In Effect Nov. 22 '98
Leaves Auburn Junction.

WEST BOUND.

No. 8 Express, to Garrett only	8:53 p m
No. 15 Daily	2:35 a m
No. 5 Daily	5:30 a m
No. 7 Daily	4:18 p m
No. 17 Daily Except Suday	12:25 a m
No. 47	1:55 a m

EAST BOUND.

No. 4 Express	4:30 a m
No. 6 Daily	8:05 p m
No. 8 Daily	2:40 p m
No 41 Daily	11:27 p m
No 16, Daily, except Sunday	11:08 a m
No. 46	11:56 p m

F. D. UNDERWOOD, General Manager,
D. B. MARTIN, Manager of Passenger Traffic.
G. H. YOUNG, Auburn Junction, Ind
THOS. H. SPROTT CHAS. H. KNAPP

Mott's Nerverine Pills

BEFORE AND AFTER USING.

The great remedy for nervous prostration and all nervous diseases of the generative organs of either sex, such as Nervous Prostration, Failing or lost Manhood, Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Youthful Errors, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco or Opium, which lead to Consumption and Insanity. $1.00 per box by mail; 6 boxes for $5.00.
MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Prop's, Cleveland, Ohio.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Eureka Harness Oil is the best preservative of new leather and the best renovator of old leather. It oils, softens, blackens and protects. Use on your best harness, your old harness, and your carriage top, and they will not only look better but wear longer. Sold everywhere in cans—all sizes from half pints to five gallons.

Eureka Harness Oil

Made by STANDARD OIL CO.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Prevents Dandruff and hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

The Other Side.

As long as we have published ap paper, we have been told and have now and then made note of the same, that a town without a saloon would not flourish. Now we find several neighboring towns have been making a trial of this, and we have obtained, through the kindness of some friends, a few opinions on the "other side" and we give our readers these in full as far as we have them.

ANGOLA.

Ten firms in our neighboring county seat, have signed the following statement.

We the undersigned business men, merchants of Angola, take pleasure in stating that our trade is as good or better than it was one year ago when the saloons were in our midst. We believe that more money is being spent at our stores and less credit is asked than there would be were saloons allowed to come into our town.

Bodley & Co., Groceries, General Store; H. E. Kratz, Druggist and Stationer; G W. Klink, Dry Goods and Clothing; D. E. Sickles, Gents Furnishings and Clothing; F E. Burt, Jewelry and Book Store; T. R. Gilbert, General Feed Store; W. L. Braun, Meat Market; J. E. Robinson & Co., Furniture; O. F. Rakestraw, Ed. Steuben Republican; J. W. McCrory, Furniture.

ST. JOE.

Inquiries on this subject at St. Joe, brings the following replies:

I think our little town is better off without the saloon. We do not want it back, and if all would vote as I do they would be a thing of the past.

Z. T. KAGEY.

The absence of the saloon has really been a benefit; doing a credit business I find that my cash sales and collections have increased materially, and as far as drawing trade is concerned, the class of trade it drew did not benefit me in any degree.

M. TUSTISON.

We are pleased to state that the removal of saloons in our town has in no way affected our trade. In fact we think it has rather been a benefit in that respect. We now find that money that used to be spent for liquors by those who could least afford it, is now spent for the necessaries of life. We have no use for saloons here and believe that any town is better off without them.

PATTERSON BROS. & OLDS.

So far as my business is concerned there is no decrease from the absence of the saloon. Morally the arguments against the saloon are unanswerable.

E. CASE & CO.

In my opinion businesss has not decreased from the absence of the saloon. My business is the same. When the saloon was here some of my debtors would put their money into the saloon instead of settling with me. I would prefer to do business in a town where the saloon does not exist.

AUGUST KINSEY.

CORUNNA.

The majority of the voters of Richland township have signed a petition to have no liquor sold in the township and that includes Corunna. The following statement comes from these.

We the undersigned business men of Corunna, Ind., desire to state that our business has been just as good or better since the absence of the saloon, than during the length of time before. Wives of men who spent much of their earnings in the saloon, tell us that their money is now spent for the necessities of life, Men possessing an uncontrollable appetite for liquor, tell us they are glad there is no saloon in Corunna, for while the temptation was present they had to drink. For the sake of dependent wives and children, if for no other reason, we appeal to the citizens of Richland township to forever do away with this unnecessary evil.

Wigent Brother, grist mill; P. D. Graham, Dealer in furniture; Albert Harding, Shoes and hardware; E. Knauer & Son, Dry goods.

The Editor

A little boy in a neighboring town was required to write an essay the other day "The Newspaper" was his subject and here is the result: "I don't know how newspapers came to be in the world. I don't think God does, for he hain't got nothing to say about them, and 'editors' is not in the Bible. I think the editor is one of the missing links you write about, and stayed in the brush till after the flood, then come out and wrote the thing up, and has been here ever sin I don't think he ever dies. I never saw a dead un' and he never heard of one getting licked. Our paper is a mighty poor un'; the editor goes 'thout underclothes all winter, don't wear no socks, and paw hasn't paid his subscription for more than five years.

Loss Adjusted.

J. A. Miller and Geo. H. Crossan, both of Illinois, and controlling deputies of the M. A. F. O. have come to Auburn for the purpose of adjusting Sister Green's claim as it is the only one against the order, unsettled. Death proofs were forwarded April 1. And as an inducement to all persons desiring insurance they opened the charter and no membership fee will be charged.

Deputy Miller's wife accompanies him. Let all members greet us with your presence at lodge Friday evening.

Notice to Contractors.

Notice is heriby given that the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb County Indiana will receive sealed proposals until April 20, 1899, at 1 o'clock p. m, for the building and erecting the superstructure and substructure of one steel bridge over Fish creek in Troy township. The survey profile, specifications and two general plans for the superstructure are on file in the Auditor's office.

Also at the same time and place bids will be received for the building and erecting of the substructure for the proposed bridge of either iron columns with stone backing or solid stone masonry. Profile plans and specifications are on file in the Auditor's office. Each bid must be accompanied with an affidavit and bond in compliance with an act of the General Assembly and in effect Feb. 28, 1899.

The Board reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

By order of the Board of Commissioners.

FRANK P. SEILER, Auditor.
Auburn, Indiana, March 28, 1899.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Notice is hereby given that the Auditor of DeKalb County, Indiana, and the Auditor of Steuben County Indiana, will on

Saturday, April 29, 1899

at 2, p, m., in the office of Auditor in the court house in the town of Auburn, receive sealed proposals for the construction of the Adam Deetz joint ditch, No. 685, located in Fairfield Township, DeKalb county, Indiana, and Salem Township, Steuben county, Indiana, and described as follows to-wit:

FIRST SECTION.

Commencing eighty-six (86) rods north of the east quarter corner of section number five [5] Fairfield Township, DeKalb county, Indiana, and from thence in an easterly direction ending at stake 27 plus 50 feet containing 2750 feet.

SECOND SECTION

Commencing at stake 27 plus 50 feet of said ditch, ending at stake No. 55 containing 2750 feet.

THIRD SECTION

Commencing at stake No. 55 of said ditch end at stake No. 82 plus 50, containing 2750 feet.

FOURTH SECTION

Commencing at stake No. 82 plus 50 feet of said ditch ending at stake No. 110, said ending point being in Turkey Creek lateral at a point nine hundred seventy-five [975] feet north and seven-hundred seventy [770] feet east of the center of section thirty-three [33], Township thirty-six [36] [Salem Tp] North Range Twelve (12) east, Steuben county, Indiana.

Said work will be sold in four (4) sections as described above, and to the lowest responsible bidder,

But no bid will be entertained which exceeds the estimated cost of construction as set forth in the report of the viewers.

All contractors will be required to keep their sections well staked and numbered contractors to whom work is sold will be required to enter into contract and execute a bond in compliance with the provisions of law. (Acts 1893 Page 329.)

Specifications of said work can be seen at the County Auditor's office, Auburn.

The auditor reserves the right to reject any and all bids,

FRANK P. SEILER,
Auditor DeKalb Co. Ind.
Auburn, Ind., April 10, '99.

JAMES B. WATKINS
Auditor Steuben Co., Ind.
Angola, Ind. April 10, '99.

Sheriff'S Sale.

By virtue of a certified copy of a Decree to me directed from the clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, in a cause wherein Harriett D. Ober is plaintiff and Thomas Broderick, Mary D. Broderick and Henry P. Stroh are defendants requiring me to make the sum of eight hundred and ninety-nine dollars and twenty-three cents, with interest in said decree and costs, I will expose at Public Sale, to the highest bidder, on

Saturday, April 29, 1899

between the hours of 10 o'clock A.M. & 4 o'clock P. M. of said day, at the door of the court house in Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate towit:

Lots forty-nine (49) fifty (50) fifty one (51) fifty-two (52) and fifty-three (53) in Kuhlman's first addition and lots one (1) six (6) seven (7) and twelve [12] in Brandon's Addition; all of said lots being in the town of Auburn, in DeKalb County in the State of Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs. Said sale will, be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws.

JOHN H. HATHAWAY,
Sheriff of DeKalb County, Indiana,
March 28, 1899.
J. E. & J. H. Rose, attorney for plaintiff.

A Wife Says:

"We have four children. With the first three I suffered almost unbearable pains from 12 to 14 hours, and had to be placed under the influence of chloroform. I used three bottles of Mother's Friend before our last child came, which is a strong, fat and healthy boy, doing my housework up to within two hours of birth, and suffered but a few hard pains. This liniment is the grandest remedy ever made."

Mother's Friend

will do for every woman what it did for the Minnesota mother who writes the above letter. Not to use it during pregnancy is a mistake to be paid for in pain and suffering. Mother's Friend equips the patient with a strong body and clear intellect, which in turn are imparted to the child. It relaxes the muscles and allows them to expand. It relieves morning sickness and nervousness. It puts all the organs concerned in perfect condition for the final hour, so that the actual labor is short and practically painless. Danger of rising or hard breasts is altogether avoided, and recovery is merely a matter of a few days.

Druggists sell Mother's Friend for $1 a bottle.
The Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.
Send for our free illustrated book.

Thursday's Daily.

—Misses Mae and Maud Baird called on friends at Waterloo today.

—Mrs. H. R. Culbertson and little Nellie went to St. Joe today for a visit.

—Henry Hull, of St. Joe, was a caller at this office Thursday, and enrolled his name on the Weekly list.

—Frank stoops has a new thresher engine at the Lake Lhore freight depot, but it will wait there for better roads.

—It has been many years since we had county orders called up as close as now. All up to January 1, have been called, so that there are none now three months old.

—Frank Reynolds of Butler was here today. He reports Dr. Madden about the same as heretofore, but hopes he will improve when the weather becomes better.

—J. Sheer, Sedalia, Mo., conductor on electtic street car line, writes that his little daughter was very low with the croup, and her life saved after physicians had failed, only by using One Minute Cough Cure. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

The first new thresher of the season is at the Lake Shore depot. It is a Port Huron machince with the new straw stacking attachment that blows the straw out throvgh a long tube. It comes to Wm Burns who lives seven miles the country. Of course it has to stay here a few days till the roads dry.

—Our article about the burning of the old court house ruins, has called up remembrance on the part of a great many of our people. Among them is Cook Ford who was a lad at the time. He remembers helping to ring the big bell on the M. E. church on that occasion. The church then stood on the ground now occupied by the Gandy Block.

—The Kiblinger Company are sending off a big lot of buggies today. At the Lake Shore depot, they are loading two big cars for the west, one going to Cedar Rapids, Iowa and one to Toledo, Iowa. They have at the same depot, two B. & O. cars to be loaded. They were run up here from the Junction, as it was too muddy to send the goods to the Junction by a dray.

—Justus Winslow has made another locomotive engine, this one being modeled after the "769" on the B. & O. Frank Sembower's engine. He was over there some time ago and looked old "769" over carefully, came home and made one just like it. It is larger than the one he had some time ago at G. H. Yesbera's store, and this one instead of being mainly of wood, is a good deal of it made of iron. It is located in the show window of Culbertson & Boland and attracts a great deal of attention.

—MARRIED:—March 30, at 9 p. m., at the residence of Mrs. Anna Place, 412 Mechanic street, Mr. Frank L. Hills of Ashley, Ind., and Miss Ora D. D. Scranton of Sedan, Ind., by Rev. Alber of the Evangelical Lutheran church. Miss Allie Clay rendered the wedding march. After the ceremony Mr. Albert McMurtie and Miss Clay entertained the guests with music, and with best wishes the guests departed. Mr. and Mrs. Hills spent the morning of Easter Sunday at the state prison chapel, and other places of interest. Mr. Hills formerly lived in Jackson, and says the progress made by the city in the past few years is very marked. —Jackson Daily Citizen.

Friday's Daily.

—Orrin Clark and A. P. Foltz were over from Garrett today.

—Ask any druggist for a free Peruna Almanac for the year 1899.

—Amos Rothgeb who owns a farm north of town, was here today and we were pleased to have his name on our list again.

—Wm. Murphy is going to refit his building south of the jail, that he recently bought of H E Braun. He intends to fit up the second floor for a lodge room.

—MARRIED:—At the Lutheran parsonage yesterday afternoon by J. D. Brosy, Fay Johnston and Mirta Goodrich both of Fairfield, Ind. They will locate on a farm in Fairfield.

—Before the discovery of One Minute Cough Cure, ministers were greatly disturbed by coughing congregations. No excuse for it now. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—MARRIED:—At the Lutheran parsonage last Wednesday evening April 5, by J. D. Brosy, William H. Clark and Lenore Cobler, both of Garrett, Ind. We wish this couple a happy future.

—We are sorry we could not have added to our church notes of Monday, the fine program given at the Catholic church Sunday. Their Easter services were pronounced fine by those present.

—T. A. Carter and Eugene McDowell are starting out the spring campaign in good shape. They were out yesterday canvassing to sell agricultural implements and the result of the day's work was the sale of two binders, one buggy and one drill. Not so bad for a starter.

—Mrs. Ehlers brings back word of the extreme cold that was known in the south last winter. They had two weeks of sleighing at Memphis, and there were a number of persons frozen to death. This is partly accounted for by the dwellings not being as well prepared for cold, as in the north.

—For frost bites, burns, indolent sores eczema, skin disease, and especially Piles, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve stands first and best. Look out for dishonest people who try to immitate and counterfeit it. It's their endorsement of a good article. Worthless goods are not imitated. Get DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Fischler & Son and H B. McCord.

Saturday's Daily.

—I. S. Hadsell of St. Joe transacted business in the city today.

—St. Joe wants a canning factory, and her people are moving in that direction.

—Mr. and Mrs. Perry Long are rejoicing over a little boy, that arrived this morning.

—WANTED:—Thirty cords of hard wood, 18 inches, split fine and delivered in August. Call on Charles Eckhart.

—Miss Ollie Crooks of Waterloo was visiting with her friend Miss Bertha Metcalf of East Union, last Thursday.

—Mrs. J. E. Pomeroy went to Butler today to spend Sunday with her father's people, the family of Fred Bunge.

—Miss Melendy, of Fremont, daughter of E. G, Melendy, has been here a few days visiting Mrs. Frank Hogue.

—Miss Myrtle Hoisington went to Lima, Ohio, today to make her home this summer with the family of Frank Meek.

—Mrs. Wash Askew came up from Fort Wayne last evening. She is taking a course of study at the commercial school there.

—Waterloo gave a big entertainment Wednesday evening for the benefit of the band. The play was mostly filled out with home talent and is said to have been good.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hartman came up on the 1:15 Wabash train and will stay over Sunday. Mrs. Will Schaab returned on the same train from South Whitley.

—Mrs. Ira Brandon after her sale, will move west and join her husband, who is now at Minneapolis. He is putting up creameries for a company out there and doing well.

—Miss Mae Provines, daughter of Alex Provines, of Jackson, was a caller today. She is teaching the Boots school, No. 7, in Jackson, her school of eight months closing April 28.

—An ex-soldier at Columbia City dreamed the other night that he was on picket duty at Manila, and when awakened by the cold found himself standing upright in one corner of his bedroom.

—Phillip Rhoades was in town today He has already adjusted a hook to the arm that was taken off at the wrist, and finds it very useful, He will have some sort of attachment on the other so as to assist the thumb,

—J. C. Williams, a photographer, of Warsaw, died one day last week of heart failure while sitting in his chair in the presence of a physician who had been attending him during a previous illness of the grip.

—For a quick remedy and one that is perfectly safe for Children let us recommend One Minute Cough Cure. It is excellent for croup, hoarseness, tickling in the throat and coughs. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—Quite a number of our people are using soft coal in their wood burners, and find it goes better than they had supposed. It is altogether better than no fuel. The present wood famine will cause many to abandon wood altogether.

—Butler has a telephone Company of its own. Its stock is put a $10,000 and about all the stock is taken. The prices will be $2 for business houses $1 for dwellings and if a man takes both, he will get both for $2.50 a month That is pretty good.

—The Bar Association meeting is here next Friday. They always have a grand time and good banquet. This year the banquet is furnished by the ladies of the Auburn Culture Club, who will use the basement of the Presbyterian church for that purpose.

—J. C. Vernier, the Butler hardware man and politician has sold out his stock of goods. Just what effect if any, this move will have on Vernier's libel sust against the Butler Record we cannot say. We can't think he will get rich out of the damages he may oollect.

—The Butler Herald has once more changed hands, this time passing into the hands of L. E. Coleman, foremerly of the Terre Haute Tribune. He announces that in national politics his paper will be democratic, but will be non-partisan in all local matters. We are not informed as to what Mr. Downey will next turn his attention.

The Kidney Complexion.

The pale, sallow, sunken-cheeked, distressed-looking people you so often meet are afflicted with "Kidney Complexion."

Their kidneys are turning to a parsnip color. So is their complexion.

They may also have indigestion, or suffer from sleeplessness, rheumatism, neuralgia brain trouble, nervous exhaustion and sometimes the heart acts badly.

The cause is weak, unhealthy kidneys.

Usually the sufferer from kidney disease does not find out what the trouble is until it is almost too late, because the first symtoms are so like mild sickness that they do not think they need a medicine or a doctor until they find themselves sick in bed.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root will build up and strengthen their weak and diseased kidneys, purify their diseased, kidney-poisoned blood, clear their complexion and soon they will enjoy better health.

You can get the regular sizes at the drugstore, at fifty cents and one dollar, or you may first prove for yourself the wonderful virtues of this great discovery, Swamp-Root, by sending your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co, Binghamton, N. Y. for a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. When writing kindly mention that you read this liberal offer in the AUBURN COURIER.

The Nichols-Shepard TRACTION ENGINE

Nothing that helps to make a perfect road and thresher engine has been left out or slighted in the construction of the Nichols-Shepard Traction Engine. Everything has been done that science, skill and experience could suggest to add to its effectiveness, power, durability and safety from explosion and fire. The boiler is of the very best selected steel, thoroughly well made and provided with every approved safety appliance. The fire-box is surrounded by water—top, bottom and sides. The draft-damper is so made that sparks and ashes can't drop out, and the smoke-stack is fitted with patent bonnet and spark-arrester. Every part is strong, durable and is thoroughly tested.

Detailed descriptions and many illustrations of the Nichols-Shepard Traction Engine and of the Nichols-Shepard Separator and other threshing machinery are contained in large catalog—mailed free.

NICHOLS & SHEPARD CO., Battle Creek, Mich.
Branch House at INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA,
with full stock of machines and extras.

TIKO Rheumatism

THE WONDERFUL REMEDY FOR

It is not a CURE-ALL, but it is a Specific for RHEUMATISM.

One hundred and forty-four bottles
Cured 100 cases of RHEUMATISM.

TIKO is a medicine taken INTERNALLY, the only method by which RHEUMATISM can be successfully treated. It cures the CAUSE, and therein lies its remarkable success. Its price is $1.00 per bottle, or three bottles for $2.50, and if your Druggist has not got it, it will be sent to you, by Express, ALL CHARGES PAID, on receipt of price.

Address, PURINTON MEDICINE COMPANY, Detroit, Mich.

YOU CAN USE IT 20 DAYS FREE

Up-to-date in every detail.

Ask us to ship you one of our High Arm Sewing Machines with Ball Bearings and all Modern Improvements. This we will do by express to any station within 500 miles of Chicago. Upon arrival deposit our price, $19.50, and express charges, with the express agent of your town, then

TAKE THE MACHINE HOME AND TRY IT FOR 20 DAYS

If you are perfectly satisfied with the machine, keep it, otherwise return it to the express agent, and he will give you all your money back. If you prefer, we will ship by freight and draw on you through your nearest bank, draft attached to Bill of Lading. When machine comes pay draft, and take machine from station. If you don't like it, return it by freight, and we will refund. We guarantee the machine for ten years. Remember you take no risk. It don't cost you one cent unless you take the machine. We have sold over 100,000, and they are all giving perfect satisfaction. ITS SPECIAL FEATURES are Ball Bearing, Light Running, Durable, Easily Operated, Noiseless, Double Positive Feed, Self Threading Shuttle, Self-Setting Needle, Tension Liberator, Automatic Spooler, High Arm, Nickle-plated working parts, Steel bearings, Improved steel Attachments, Superior Finish, Highly Polished Bent Woodwork, Oak or Walnut.

Originators of The Catalogue Business.

Send 15 cents for our 1000-page catalogue. It lists everything used by mankind.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., Michigan Ave. & Madison St., Chicago.

VICK'S SEEDS

Bulbs and Plants have gone to thousands of satisfied Customers for a half century and to celebrate the 50th year in business we have issued a Special Golden Wedding Edition of VICK'S GARDEN AND FLORAL GUIDE, which is a work of art. It has 24 pages in colors, 4 pages souvenir, and nearly 100 pages filled with handsome half-tone illustrations of Flowers, Vegetables, Plants, Fruits, etc., elegantly bound in white and gold. A marvel in Catalogue making; an authority on all subjects pertaining to the garden, with care for the same, and a descriptive catalogue of all that is desirable. It is too expensive to give away indiscriminately, but we want everyone interested in a good garden to have a copy, therefore we will send the Guide with a One Bill for 25 cents worth of Seeds for only 15 cts. It tells how credit is given for full amount of purchase to buy other goods.

Vick's Little Gem Catalogue, A perfect little gem of a price list. It is simply the Guide condensed, finely illustrated, and in handy shape. FREE

Vick's Illustrated Monthly Magazine, enlarged, improved, and up to date on all subjects relating to Gardening, Horticulture, etc., 50 cents a year. Special 1899 offer—the Magazine one year and Vick's Garden and Floral Guide, for 25 cents.

Our new plan of selling vegetable seeds gives more for your money than any other Seed House in America.

JAMES VICK'S SONS, ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Constant Coughing

Constant coughing is not only very annoying, but the continuous hacking and irritation will soon attack and injure the delicate lining of the throat and air passages. A simple cough is bad enough; but a chronic cough is really dangerous. Take advice and use the celebrated Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup at once and be cured.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup

Cures a Cough or Cold at once.
Doses are small and pleasant to take. Doctors recommend it. Price 25 cts. At all druggists.

FARMERS' WIVES

or any other ladies who wish to work

Can Earn Lots of Money

working for us in spare time at home on our cloths. We offer you a good chance to make plenty of spending money easily, leisure hours. Send 12c. for cloth and full directions for work, and commence at once. Cloth sent anywhere. Address
WINOOSKET CO. (311-M) Boston Mass
Mfg. Dept.

Glad Tidings to Asthma Sufferers

Foley's Honey and Tar gives quick and positive relief. It is the greatest remedy for diseases of the respiratory organs like Asthma, Bronchitis and Hoarseness.

HIGH-GRADE HAWTHORNE $22.50 NET.

SPECIFICATIONS. Name—Hawthorne. Cranks—6½ inch (diamond shape). Chain—3-16 inch best hardened centers and rivets (Indianapolis B best quality), straw center and blued sides. Frame—Regular 24-inch, option 22 or 26 inches. Finish—Dark myrtle green, neatly hand striped. Gear—Regular 73, option 76; 10 tooth rear and 26 front sprockets are used on 73 gear, 10 and 28 on 76. Handle Bars—Adjustable. Pedals—Bridgeport, rattrap. Saddle—Gilliam, padded top. Spokes—Tangent, Excelsior Needle Co's best No. 2, 32 front, 36 rear. Tires—1¾-inch Morgan & Wright double tube. Tool Bag—Containing wrench, oiler, repair outfit and spanner. Tread—1¾-inch. Tubing—Shelby cold drawn seamless. Wheel Base—43½ inches. Wheels—28 inches. Weight—(About) 32 pounds.

15000 Sold in 1898

It's as good as any wheel made. All modern improvements. Guaranteed for one year. If not found as represented, return at our expense both ways, and you can have your money back on demand

ASK US TO SEND YOU OUR FREE BICYCLE CATALOG

Send 15 cents for our 1,000 page catalogue. It lists everything used by mankind.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., CHICAGO.

WE GIVE ANY LADY

or man, who will take orders for our Leghorn Hen Food, in their own town,

A SOLID GOLD WATCH, FREE

We make this offer for a short time, in order to get our Food into more general use. It increases yield of eggs, and keeps fowl in good health. Send us 50c. for a regular $1.00 size box, and begin to take orders at once.

Pamphlet, with more information about hens, sent on receipt of self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address
Leghorn Food Co. (311-M) Boston, Mass.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXIX | Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, April 20, 1899. | Number 16.

BANK First National
Auburn, Ind.
Capital Stock and Surplus
$60,000
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money to Loan.
CHARLES McCLELLAN, President.
D. A. GARWOOD, Cashier.

Physicians T.G.Matheny,M.D J.B.Casebeer, M.D
Matheny & Casebeer
have again associated them-selves in the practice of Medicine, Surgery & Obstetrics. Office On 9th St.
Western 'Phone:
Office..... No. 9
Matheny's residence..... " 88
Casebeer's " ..... " 175

DENTIST S. B. JOHNSTON,
Office Over Pioneer Hardware Store,
Auburn, Indiana.
First-class material and scientific workmanship employed. Prices reasonable.
Western 'Phone:
Residence..... No. 27

BANK Farmers,
Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres. J. C. Henry, V-Pres.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

Physicians D. J. Swarts, M. D Vesta W. Swarts, M D
and SURGEONS
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets,
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western..... No. 19 Central Union..... No. 19

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN,
Auburn, Ind.
Office in Gandy Building, Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Sprcialty

P. V. HOFFMAN,
LAWYER,
Auburn. Indiana
OFFICE over Hebel's Grocery.

Dr. Z. H. Stamets,
Physician & Surgeon
Office on Main St., opposite Swineford Hotel.
Western 'Phone 104
Special attention given to techinal examinations and treatment of chronic and obscure cases, also special attention given to surgery and diseases of women. Calls answered at all hours. Office apart from residence.

I. O. BUCHTEL, HOMEOPATHIC
Physician and Surgeon.
Special attention given to bronic and Obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Madden Bros Marble Works, Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, day or night.

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Deeds & Titles,
AUBURN, IND.
Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

Mott's Nerverine Pills

BEFORE AND AFTER USING.
The great remedy for nervous prostration and all nervous diseases of the generative organs of either sex, such as Nervous Prostration, Failing or lost Manhood, Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Youthful Errors, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco or Opium, which lead to Consumption and Insanity. $1.00 per box by mail; 6 boxes for $5.00.
MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Prop's, Cleveland, Ohio.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

The Appetite of a Goat

Is envied by all poor dyspeptics whose Stomach and Liver are out of order. All such should know that Dr. King's New Life Pills, the wonderful Stomach and Liver Remedy, gives a splendid appetite, sound digestion and a regular bodily habit that insures perfect health and great energy. Only 25 cents at any drugstore.

A GYPSY ROMANCE.

A DeKalb Man Falls in Love With a Romany Widow.

We said in our last, "To be continued." This is the usual way with love stories like this. But as the ordinary love story is wholly imaginary, it is easy to and chapter after chapter, and fix things up to suit the writer and the reader. But as ours is a true story, there must be additional facts on which to base each new chapter. So, it can be seen, we may have to wait for developments. We said Lee Campbell and Dora Green were married Tuesday evening, April 11, 1899, at the residence of officiating minister, Rev. Mr. Smith of the U. B. church in Butler. And after the ceremony, the happy couple returned to the home of the groom's parents two miles east of town. There we leave them for the present, for we have not been informed as to whether the big supper was had, or the necessary belling. Nor have we learned as to the purchase of the big farm, or the delivery of the $167 worth of furniture. The chances are, that there will be no money change hands, and that the entire affair is purely a a love match, a sort of four-story love match, if we are to believe the report that the dusky maiden has had three other husbands.

It also appears that the camp of gypsies on the river, south-east of Butler, has for one of its members, a brother of Dora Green Campbell, who is a sort of preacher among them. When Dora and her Irish husband came on from St. Louis, it appears they joined the camp. But when the brother found that Campbell was coming to see her, and that she had only come east to meet Campbell, bringing her Irish husband along, even the gypsies revolted at such a course, and compelled her and the "dommed Irishman" to move away a mile or so. It was in the new location that Lee Campbell continued to visit his dusky charmer, and it was there that the Irish husband learned her love for the new flame. It was also there that the Irishman piled up the goods, with the wagon atop, and the "dommed kerosene" over all. and lit the fatal match. Then by the light of the flame he turned south and abandoned gypsy life forever.

An interview with Dora's brother, throws some light on the affair, but not much. He says she is not worth a dollar; that she has no property at Dayton, no city property or farms, and we are led to suppose that the property the Irishman burned is all she had or ever will have. It looks now, without further information that she and her new husband will also take to the road and follow a gypsy life with her kindred of the Romany tribes. And as fast as any developments occur, we shall give them to our readers in full and correct. So it is plain this true story is not closed.

CHAPTER III.

We take from the Butler Herald a continuation of our Gipsy, Romance. It seems to be turning out as we foreshadowed. Here is what the Herald says after speaking of the wedding Tuesday evening.

"Immediately after the ceremony, the couple drove back to the farm and jollied each other what they would do with the $40,000.

There has been a wonderment in the minds of many if a woman worth $40,000 would be caught camping around the country, allowing herself to be exposed to the elements and leading the life of a vagabond. It sounds nice to say $40,000, and it looks nice when you see it, but so far no one has got sight of any of it.

The general belief is that the woman's yarn about her vast wealth is purely a myth, but that she had deluded young Campbell. On the other hand, some claim that Campbell is and was cognizant of the lact that the woman was virtually a beggar and that it was nothihg more or less than to work on the sympathy of the senior Campbell to gain shelter from a gypsy camp. Then they both rather delight in the cheap notoriety derived from the current gossip about the $40,000.

In making out the return on the license the gypsy queen stated she had been married before, but was divorced. She did no say how many times, but a report is current that this is her fifth time at Hymen's altar. For colossal nerve, she takes the cake. Coming in here, in a "schooner" with a band of gypsies and representing to the good people to be the heiress of some great estate. She must have been hitting the pipe, for of all pipe stories that ever came around, this one takes the cake.

To even carry out the play, she in her Monto Cristo style. unloosened her purse and says to the senior Campbell "We shall buy lands." Papers were drawn up, conveying the George Long farm, valued at $4000 to the Campbell family. The transfer was not made just because of an incidental—the $4000 was not paid, that's all. The deed was to have been made Tuesday, but Attorney Baxter says that it has now been postponed till Friday and it will be a lucky Friday for once if George Long ever sells his land at $71 per acre, and gets gypsy coin for it.

A reporter for the Herald interviewed Mr. J. Campbell, a brother of the groom and he said that the couple would start out camping in about two weeks. It is understood that Campbell will be the new chief of the tribe. So far, the only one who has seen any of the wealth is Attorney Baxter and he made the fee strictly in advance."

The Season For

****

New Carpets AND Curtains

is now at hand. Never before have we been so well prepared to serve you in this department. In our assortment you will find the latest colorings and patterns. You will also find good honest wear at the most reasonable prices.

..Carpets..

are handsomer than they have been for a number of years —Mattings come in prettier designs and we have a very large line from which you may make your selection.

Our showing in

Lace Curtains and Portiers

is the talk of the town. Beautiful patterns and elegant materials at prices so much lower than you would expect them to be. We would be pleased to have you call and see this line. If you are ready to buy we feel sure that you will find exactly what you want here. We would like to see you in our store often.

We Are Saving You Money.

SCHAAB & BRO.,

Auburn, Indiana.

Glorious News

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give her no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved —that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidney and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion builds up strength. Only 50c. Sold by H. B. McCord, druggist. Guaranteed.

DISEASES THAT KILL

Consumption is catarrh of the lungs. Certain complications make consumption incurable.

Most cases of death from consumption are the direct result of neglected catarrh.

Pe-ru-na works harmoniously with nature to eject the tubercles from the lungs, and works so successfully that if there is a cure for consumption Pe-ru-na is the remedy.

Read this letter from Mrs. H. A. Tyner, of Four Oaks, N. C., about her daughter, Mrs. L. Keene. She says:

Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

DEAR SIRS:—"My daughter had every symptom of consumption—suppression of menses, night sweats and great emaciation. She was so low that none of our neighbors thought she could live. In May Mr. C. R. Adams, of this place, who had taken Pe-ru-na, told me if anything would help her Pe-ru-na would. I got a bottle of it and some rock candy and began giving it to her. During the first few days she was so weak she could only take a half teaspoonful at a time, but I gave it to her as often as she could bear it. In less than a week she could walk two hundred yards and back without resting; she kept getting stronger, and in twelve months she seemed to be as well as she ever was in her life. I feel, and so does every one that knew about her sickness, that Pe-ru-na saved her life. My daughter's name is Mrs. L. Keene."

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.
Cures a Cough or Cold in one day! Why cough and risk Consumption? This famous remedy will cure you. Doctors recommend it. Price 25 cents. Sold by all druggists.

Iusults the Editor.

During the thirteen years that we have posed as editor, publisher, printer and general manager of a weekly paper we have experienced almost all kinds of complaints. People have criticised because we said too little; because we expressed an opinion on public questions and because we did not express an opinion; because we published the news and because we did not publish the news. We have been snubbed, complimented, abused and flattered. We have been opposed and assisted, threatened with complete annihilation and given encouraging support. In short we have experienced the life of a country publisher and encountered all its phases, but it remained for the present Stanton deputy postmistress to object to the odor of the paste we use, "The Idea," and such a thing never happened before. We have used paste thick, paste thin, paste sweet, paste sour, paste new, paste old, paste moist, and paste dry; in short all kinds of paste, and no postmaster, mistress or deputy ever entered complaint before. Such a departure from the general custom is unbearable. Think of it, a woman not more than forty years old and unmarried suggesting to a blushing young man like our foreman that "Red Rose," "Wild Lily Bells," or "Parisian Violet" would improve the odor of the paste you use, ank it not over three months old last past. Our foreman was so overcome that he actually threw away the contents of that paste pot and washed the can. Such extravagance is not to be tolerated in any well regulated print shop. It is contrary to rules, custom and precedent, but being of a magnanimous disposition all is forgiven, provided there is no repetition of the offiense.

What a Druggist Says

SEWARDSON, Ill., Aug. 5, 1897.
Gents:—Will say that I have used your Syrup Pepsin in my family and consider it the best medicine for stomach and bowel troubles that I have ever used. The ten cent bottle idea of advertising, as it gives one a trial with a small outlay of money, is sure to bring good results. Respectfully,
T. N. ROBINSON, DRUGGIST.

The Avilla Tragedy

The news came too late yesterday to be given in full. But we give today the following from the Fort Wayne Sentinel dated Avilla April 12.

At the Goodrich home, two miles west of here, this morning, Walter Goodrich aged nineteen, shot and dangerously wounded his brother Wallace, aged thirty-five, and then turning his revolver against himself blew out his brains instantly.

The tragedy occurred about 7 o'clock in the barnyard at the Goodrich home. The brothers had been quarreling, when Walter drew his revolver and shot Wallace.

The bullet passed through the stomach of the elder Goodrich and buried itself in his leg, where it was found by physicians. He is dangerously hurt and greatly weakened from loss of blood. His chances for recovery are not considered good.

After firing one bullet into the body of his brother, Walter entered the barn and placing his weapon at the back of his head fired, shattering his skull and spilling his blood and brains about the premises. He died instantly.

The weapon used by Walter Goodrich was a 32 caliber revolver. Neither principal in the tradedy is married. They lived on the farm with their father, Homer Goodrich, who is one of the most prosperous farmers in this section. The Goodrich boys were industrious and sober and successful in their business affairs.

It is not believed that there will be any arrests.

He Fooled The Surgeons.

All doctors told Renic Hamilton, of West Jefferson, O., after suffering 18 months from Rectal Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest Pile cure on Earth, and the best Salve in the World. 25 cents a box. Sold by H. B. McCord, druggist.

Bessie Hunter

Little Miss Hunter, who whistled at the Masonic meeting last evening is certainly a wonderful girl. She does not appear to be more than twelve or fourteen, yet, for some years she has been a hard student in the art of whistling, till she has become one of the very best. It seems that she developed this talent when a child, and now is engaged in giving concerts or in filling parts of programs in many parts of the country. Her tones are not only clear and sweet, but strong and rich, and her execution independent and graceful. She has engagements to fill for some time ahead. At the meeting here, she labored under the serious difficulty of having no piano to accompany her. But a music box had been procured, and she managed to sing with that although she had never heard its tunes before. And then its uncertainty bothered her, for sometimes it appeared to stop although it was just getting ready to run off the second half of its tune. Its starting and stopping not being under her control, she hardly knew how to depend on it as an accompanist, yet with all this, and with tunes she had never heard before, she followed it and filled the air with variations such as trills and warbles, that surprised the audience and delighted them.

Stone Arches of the World

General Meigs built the Cabin John aqueduct and highway bridge near Washington forty years ago. It is the largest masonary bridge in the world, having a span of 220 feet. The bridge over the Adda near Trezzo, Italy, built by order of Visconti in 1380, and destroyed by Carmagnola in 1416, had a span of 251 feet, with a rise of 88 feet, and a total thickness of ring of 4 feet. The Romans built spans of 140 feet nearly two thousand years ago. American contractors have offered to build and guarantee voussoir spans as long as 280 feet, and in one case a solid arch of masonry of 300 feet span.

That an arch of 400 feet span is no more difficult today han the spans just mentioned were in their day can be demonstrated; the construction of an arch of 300 feet span is lacking in all the elements of daring that attended the early undertakings.—A. W. Buel, in The Engineering Magazine for April

New Corporation.

There has been incorporated with the secretary of state, a new company for Auburn, with a capital stock of $20,000. It is "The Standard Manufacturing Company." The members of which are Wm. F. Kessler, John Hebel and Mike Hebel, a strong team of three good business men. They are to push the new Standard Cigar Lighter and will make it one of Auburn's best industries.

For Sale.

—FOR SALE:—Three horses, well bred and perfectly sound. For information, call on or address,

A. D. MOORE,
Moores, DeKalb Co, Ind.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
Makes the food more delicious and wholesome
ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

Reading Club Reeeption.

The reception given by the Ladies Reading Club yesterday afternoon was a very successful affair and was pronounced by the guests one of the very best of the many social events of the season. The reception was held at the home of Mrs. D. A. Garwood on Van Buren-st, and surely was an ideal home in which to hold such a reception. The beautiful hall and spacious parlors were made even more inviting than usual by the judicious use of stately palms and ferns, and the delicate fragrance of roses and carnations mingled with the fresh breezes that came through the open windows. The dining room table was very artistically decorated with velvet and white ribbons, the club colors, and in the center was a beautiful China bowl filled with fragrant English violets and maidenhair ferns, from this table was served pineapple sherbet by Mrs Clarence Raut and Mrs. E. L. Robbins assisted by the different members of the club, In the handsome library was served frappe by Mrs. Will Schaab, assisted by Mrs. Herbert Weaver; this as well as the sherbet was appreciated by the guests as the day was warm and the cooling drink was welcome. The receiving party was Mrs. Garwood as hostess Mrs. McCord as vice-president, in the absence of Mrs. Dr. Buchtel the President, who was out of town, and Mrs. J. A. Barns as the only honorary member of the club. But few regrets were received, we noticed one from Mrs. W. H. McIntyre, at Little Rock, Ark., in which she sent a bunch of violets. Only three members were absent Mrs. McIntyre and Mrs. Buchtel who were out of town and Mrs. Hugh Culbertson who was ill and could not attend. The day was perfect which added much to the occasion. We are sure the members of The Ladies Reading Club may congratulate themselves on the success of their first reception.

What a Mother Says

Decatur, Ill., March 2. 1897.
Gentlemen:—For Constipation I would cheerfully recommend your Syrup Pepsin. My little girl, aged 8 months, had been troubled since birth with Constipation and reading of your remedy I concluded to try it, and I recommend it highly to mothers for inmediate relief. Only two ten cent bottles cured my baby. MRS. C. FLOURY.

Republican Caucus

At the Opera House basement last evening, there was a good attendance on the republican caucus, and the nominations were made with but little struggle.

Maj. Kuhlman was made chairman and J. H. Rose secretary. When tellers were appointed, they were Jas. Shefler and U. S. Weaver.

Nominations were in order, and C. B. Weaver was chosen for clerk without opposition.

James McDowell was named for councilman of the second ward, and S. S. Potter for the fifth, both unanimous.

The first vote taken was for treasurer resulting:

D. A. Hodge.....53
Frank Joliff.....44

Hodge was declared the nominee.

For marshal the vote stood:

Morton Hilkey.....77
Henry West.....61

And Mr. Hilkey was declared nominated.

As far as we have heard the party is well satisfied with the ticket.

Simple Division.

It is queer how some people are not able to perform simple division. But such is the case with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dice, as we go to press. They are trying to divide the household goods. They were divorced this week and this afternoon, while she was up town, he got into the house some way, took up the carpets, and took a lot of things out doors and sent for a dray. Friends sent word to Mrs. Dice and she got the marshal, and all these now with Mr. Moody, are trying to settle the matter.

At The Conference.

Some familiar names are in the minutes of the conference recently held at Decatur. Among them we see that C. O. Merica's friends have asked the bishop to continue him in his present position as the superintendent of the industrial school where he has been in Wisconsin a few years.

They report new parsonages at Lagrange and Elkhart with improvements on the parsonages at Albion, Mishawaka, Wakarusa, Topeka, Wolcottville and Nappanee.

TUNING FORKS.

The Late Levi K. Fuller of Vermont Gathered 307 of Them.

The late Levi K. Fuller, once governor of Vermont, was a recognized authority on the subject of musical pitch. He was the inventor of a method of electrical welding by which tuning forks could be made to keep a permanency of tone, and was secretary of the committee which established in 1891—as an international standard—the pitch of "A" at 435 vibrations a second with a temperature of 68 degrees Fahrenheit, says the New York World.

While experimenting in this matter Mr. Fuller acquired a most interesting collection of forks, some of them possessing the added value of historical association. This collection, which includes 307 forks, is now on exhibition at 97, 5th Avenue. Among them are the following: A small fork used by Mme. Patti during her American concert tours; a big one, two feet in length said to be the largest ever made; the one used by Handel while conducting "The Messiah" at the Foundling hospital, London, in 1751; the one giving the official pitch used by the bands of the English army; the one in us by the prominent piano manufacturers in Europe and America; a set of five which ruled the pitch of the world from 1749 until the adoption of the international pitch in 1892, and the fork of John Shore, the original inventor of the instrument in 1711.

The Meeting of the Masons.

The meeting last evening at the Masonic hall was in every way a success. The guests were all there, as well as the members and it was only by excellent management that the rooms could hold them in comfort. However, this was so well managed that all had plenty of room, and so listened in comfort to the fine program that was carried out. D. M. Link acted as manager and announced the program. The first was music by the Mandolin Club, composed of Miss Margaret Ford, Mr. Caldwell, Mr. Hartford and Ed. Baker, who make lovely music.

The next was a whistling solo by Miss Bessie Hunter, of Huntertown.

Mrs. D. A. Hodge, who had the next number, could not attend, and her place was taken by the Mandolin Club for another number.

Then came the address of welcome by Mr. Garwood, whose speech was full of witty points and valuable information, much of it being historical.

Then came another whistling solo by Miss Hunter, which was followed by a splendid supper prepared by the ladies of the Eastern Star and served by the gentlemen. It was a "division of labor," that was eminently successful, for the gentlemen showed their skill and care; as well as the ladies did their profound knowledge of the art of cooking. Both left nothing to be desired.

After supper, the program, was again taken up. Rev. J. N. Wilson made an able and eloquent address, in which he stated in brief, some of the objects and advantages of the order, receiving as Mr. Garwood had, the closest attention from all.

The meeting then closed with another whistling solo by little Miss Hunter, when the guests departed with the united opinion the Masonic brethren and the Eastern Star sisters were royal entertainers.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country, "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N, C. Trial bottles free at H. B. McCord's drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

Pains in the Back Cured.

A. B. FARRINGTON, Constantia' N. Y. writes: I was troubled several years with kidney disease and suffered severe pains in the back. I used Foley's Kidney Cure and one bottle cured me I recommended it to my friends it has given perfect satisfaction.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1899. APRIL. 1899.

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30

L. Q. 3rd. N. M. 10th. F. Q. 17th. F. M 25th.

HISTORY OF A WEEK.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS OF THE WORLD.

News of Crimes and Criminals, Accidents, Fires, Etc., from North, South, East and West, Sauwiched with Minor Affairs.

To Open Ute Lands.

The Ute Indian reservation, containing 600,000 acres of arable land, will be thrown open to home-seekers by Government proclamation on May 4 at 12 o'clock. Settlers must pay 50 cents per acre at the time of filing claim, on a charge of not less than $1.25 per acre. Purchases must not exceed 160 acres, and before lands are thrown open for public settlement improvements belonging to the Indians shall be appraised and sold at auction to the highest bidder. Durango, a town of 8,000 in southwestern Colorado, in the center of the reservation, is the capital. It is a town of considerable business activity, boasting of smelting works, coal and coke companies, two daily papers, iron works, flouring mills and many extensive wholesale and retail establishments. The town is the terminal of the Rio Grande Railroad system. Sixty thousand acres have been reserved for the southern Utes, divided equally between agriculture and grazing lands.

Admiral Kautz Upheld.

Washington special: Admiral Kautz's actions in Samoa, as far as they are set out in official dispatches and the newspaper reports, are fully approved. He was instructed by the last mail steamer from Auckland to avoid needless collisions, but to protect property and life until the three treaty powers decided how to deal with the situation.

Department officials point out that from the accounts so far received the Admiral appears to have acted in conjunction with the British forces only in pursuance of the policy of defence of foreign interests. It is expected that he will not abate his efforts to secure the restoration of peace, and it is probable that when the High Commission arrives at Apia it will find its work facilitated through the suppression of the rebellion.

Lawton's Advance.

Gen. Lawton advanced into the region south of Laguna de Bay, Saturday, the objective point being the town of Calamba, a rebel stronghold. Lawton has captured four towns and driven the natives into the hills, with heavy losses. He also has captured seven of the enemy's boats. The total casualities of Lawton's forces are nine killed and sixteen wounded. Many Filipino prisoners are being released, they promising to spread the recent proclamation among the natives.

The Sheridan Reaches Manila.

The United States transport Sheridan, formerly the Massachusetts, which sailed from New York, February 19, having on board the Twelfth and a battalion of the Seventeenth Infantry, has arrived at Manila after a smooth passage. On the night of April 11, Lieut. Meyer disappeared from the ship. The weather was intensely hot and the Lieutenant was sleeping on deck, and it is supposed he fell overboard. Three privates and six children of privates died of pneumonia.

Americans Make Hardware.

The Sheffield Telegraph, in a long leader of pessimistic tone, says: "Nowadays America and not Germany is the bete noir of the home hardware industry. An immense amount of work is done in America that England ought to do." The British Consul, at Buenos Ayres, reports that in 1898 4,545 bicycles were imported into the Argentine Republic, of which 2 500 were of American and only 500 of British manufacture.

Storer Is Persona Grata.

Madrid special: After a meeting of the Cabinet, Prime Minister Silvelva said that the Government approved the appointment of Mr. Bellamy Storer as United States Minister to Spain. He added that as soon as the United States communicates his name officially to Spain, the latter would appoint a representative at Washington, probably Duke de Arcos.

Damage by Prairie Fires.

Omaha special: Prairie fires continue to rage in Keith County, spreading into McPherson on the north and Lincoln on the east. Twelve townships in this county north of North Platte River were swept clean of everything. Every ranch building was destroyed and many cattle burned to death. The loss will run up into thousands of dollars.

Chosen for Missionary Work.

Rev. Dr. Reese F. Alsop of Brooklyn, N. Y., has been elected General Secretary of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States.

Spain to Have a New Navy.

Madrid special: It is announced that the Minister of Marine will submit to the Chamber a bill for the construction of ten ironclads.

Pomeroy Burned.

The town of Pomeroy, Iowa, was almost destroyed by fire, causing a loss of between $75,000 and $100,000; partially insured. The town was without any means of fighting fire, and the blaze burned all night, destroying the five leading business places. Pomeroy was destroyed by a cyclone in 1893 and forty-eight people were killed.

Will Sail Soon.

The Samoan Commission sails from San Francisco on the 25 inst. on the transport Badger.

EASTERN.

Sir Henry Scholfield, K. B., who lived in Jersey City, died from pernicious anaemia. He was 66 years old. Sir Henry was at one time connected with the British diplomatic and consular service.

The New York Tribune prints a story from Washington that Secretary Alger will resign when he returns from Cuba and will be succeeded by Gen. Russell Hastings, who was McKinley's superior officer during the civil war.

The temporary superstructure of the big Willis avenue bridge now being built over the Harlem river in New York collapsed, killing four men and seriously injuring six. Twelve or more other workmen also received injuries of a more or less serious nature.

Dr. Nancy A. Guilford, who has been on trial at Bridgeport, Conn., on a charge alleging murder and whose trial was postponed on account of the illness of a juror, pleaded guilty to manslaughter. Judge Wheeler sentenced Mrs. Guilford to pay a $1 fine and to ten years' imprisonment.

William K. Vanderbilt's country house, Idle Hour, at Oakdale, L. I., was totally destroyed by fire. No lives were lost and no one was injured. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and bride, formerly Miss Virginia Fair, were occupying the house at the time. The total loss is estimated at from $250,000 to $300,000.

Samuel M. Graham, well known throughout central Pennsylvania, was instantly killed near Phillipsburg, Pa., while attempting to get a kodak pciture of a large stump which was being blown out of the ground with dynamite, a sliver striking him on the neck and nearly cutting his head from the body.

WESTERN.

The Farmers and Mechanics' Bank of Warrensburg, Mo., has gone out of business in order to avoid liquidation.

R. R. Donnelley, the founder of the Chicago city directory, and a member of the firm of R. R. Donnelley & Sons' Printing Company of that city, died of apoplexy.

Ralph H. Wainwright, probably the greatest coal operator in Ohio, died at Massillon of heart failure. He was known to coal men throughout the United States.

The Geneva Wheel Company's works at Geneva, Ohio, caught fire and were totally destroyed. The concern manufactured wagon wheels. The loss will probably reach $20,000.

Frank Griffin, editor of the Maryville, Mo., Daily Review, was shot and wounded mortally by C. G. Jesse. The trouble was over some reference made to Jesse in Griffin's paper.

The Wilson parole bill, better known as the Younger brothers bill, was killed beyond resurrection in the Minnesota House. The bill received but 31 votes, while 68 voted against it.

Edward A. von Schmidt, a yachtsman and bay pilot, shot and killed his former wife, Mrs. Isabel von Schmidt, and then tried to kill himself, in Alameda, a suburb of San Francisco.

J. S. Bell, manager of the Washburn-Crosby's Flouring Mills Company, announces the consummation of the deal whereby his company assumes ownership of the C. C. Washburn group of mills in Minneapolis.

State Fish Commissioner H. D. McGuire and State Senator A. W. Reed of Douglas County, Oregon, were drowned in the Umpqua river rapids. An ogrlock broke, the waves were high and their boat was swamped.

After an all-day battle between armed citizens, sworn in as deputy sheriffs, and the non-union negro miners, in which at least nine persons were killed and a score wounded, Pana, Ill., was again placed under martial law.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the transmississippi and international exposition in Omaha the payment of a 12½ per cent dividend on paid-up stock of the association was ordered, making a total of 87½ per cent already paid.

The newest El Dorado which experts think may prove to be another Cripple Creek, has just been created by a strike made on the summit of Sierra Blanca Peak in the Sangre de Cristo range, eighty miles south, but visible from Pike's Peak.

Judge Ross of the Los Angeles, Cal., District Court handed down a decision favorable to the United States in the case of the United States vs. the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, involving title to 1,810,000 acres of land in southern California.

Allen L. Dalrymple, assistant superintendent in the railway mail service, was instantly killed by a train at the union station in St. Louis. Mr. Dalrymple was attempting to board an outgoing 'Frisco train, but missed his footing and fell under the wheels.

Lured to his death by robbers, George B. Fern, a Chicago dry goods merchant, was murdered in cold blood in his store. A supposed patron shot him down while he was attempting to defend his life. The police believe that revenge was the motive for the murder.

One of the boldest hold-ups ever committed in that section occurred at the office of the Alamo Gordo Lumber Company at Alamo Gordo, New Mexico. Two cowboys held up the cashier in the presence of about fifty employes, secured $50,000 in scrip and rode away.

The Park Hotel at Hannibal, Mo., was destroyed by fire. The flames originated from a defective electric wire in the elevator. The guests escaped from the third and fourth floors with great difficulty. The building was owned by Paice Brothers, the occupants, and cost $35,000.

A tramp entered the home of Mrs. James Hutseler, on a farm three miles west of South Charleston, Ohio, and shot her four times in the presence of her children. His purpose was robbery. The man was captured at Jeffersonville and hurried to the London jail to escape lynching.

SOUTHERN.

The big stern-wheel steamer John K. Speed, owned by the Cincinnati and New Orleans Packet Company, was wrecked and sunk in the river near Louisville, Ky. The 100 passengers and the members of the crew were rescued. The property loss is only about $8,000, as the steamer can be raised.

Dr. Walter B. Lafferty, son of Rev. J. J. Lafferty, editor of the Christian Advocate, is dead at his home in Richmond, Va. He was found the other day lying unconscious by the track of the Chesapeake and Ohio, near Meechums river, with one of his legs crushed and suffering from other severe injuries.

James Shotwell and his son John were intoxicated and disorderly at Corbin, Ky. When Marshal Bingham undertook their arrest the men resisted, and Police Judge Moffitt was instantly killed in the shooting that followed. William Holland, at whose house the shooting occurred, was mortally wounded. The Shotwells were arrested.

A pitched battle was fought in the streets of Brunson, S. C., between James Preacher, Charlie Preacher and Aren Preacher, brothers, on one side, and Geo. Ried, Mack Ried and James Ried, brothers, and Joseph Connelly, on the other. George Ried was killed, Mack Ried fatally wounded and Joseph Connelly seriously and James Preacher slightly wounded.

WASHINGTON.

Almon M. Clapp, at one time United States Government printer, died at his residence in Washington in the eighty-eighth year of his age.

Justice Stephen J. Field of the United States Supreme Court (retired) died at his home on Capitol hill in Washington, D. C., of kidney complications.

The President has selected Bartlett Tripp of South Dakota, formerly minister to Austria, as the United States representative on the Samoan joint commission.

A cablegram received at the State Department at Washington from United States Consul Wildman at Hong Kong contains a single word, "Plague," thereby announcing the annual appearance of the disease on the Chinese coast.

Mr. Mitchell, assistant comptroller of the treasury, has decided that men who were appointed to office or who enlisted in the revenue cutter service for the war with Spain are entitled to extra pay under the act of March 3, 1859.

The Navy Department has sent instructions to Rear Admiral Cromwell, commandant of the naval station at Havana, to place a rail around the lot in which the bodies of the men killed in the Maine disaster are buried. Marble slabs are to be placed over the graves. The President has allotted $1,000 for this work.

The President has named twelve new warships recently provided for by Congress as follows: Battleships, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Georgia; armored cruisers, West Virginia, Nebraska, California; cruisers, Denver, Des Moines, Chattanooga, Galveston, Tacoma, Cleveland. Hundreds of petitions have been sent to the White House and Navy Department ever since the new ships were provided for, urging the merits of various names. Georgia did not petition.

FOREIGN.

An attempt has been made at Moscow to assassinate the Czar's aid-de-camp, Gen. Mauzoy. He was stabbed in the throat by a servant, but the would-be assassin was overpowered. The general's wounds are not serious.

It is reported from Port au Prince, Hayti, that the French steamer Manoubia, belonging to the Transatlantic company, has been wrecked off Anse d'Ainault. The passengers and crew were saved, but the steamer and her cargo were lost.

M. Lorillier, who was private secretary to the late Lieut. Col. Henry, who committed suicide at Mont Valerien Fortress last August after confessing to having forged a letter largely instrumental in delaying the Dreyfus revision, killed himself in Paris.

Emperor William has sent instructions to the German ambassadors in London and Washington to the general effect that Germany considers the new government in Samoa illegal and the action of the British and Americans a clear violation of the Samoa act.

A soldier at Matanzas, Cuba, while cleaning the courtyard of the castle, found a Spanish gold piece. Other soldiers immediately staked off claims and dug up the whole yard, finding coins dated all the way from 1730 to 1808 and worth $306 in American money.

An attempt has been made to wreck the Irish express, bound from Paddington railroad station in London to Milford, where the passengers embark on board the mail boat for Waterford. A large boulder was placed on the track, but the engine, luckily, swept the obstruction away.

Twenty-two bandits are in the Santiago military prison in Cuba. Maj. Gen. Wood, the military governor, is actively suppressing disturbances from this source. The other day four bandits from San Luis and three from Guantanamo were brought in. There is not a little excitement over the operations of the outlaws and rumors are in circulation regarding troubles in the districts of Holguin, but the present efforts of the military authorities will soon assure safety in all parts of the province.

IN GENERAL.

Fire partly destroyed the Dominion metal works, Garth & Co., proprietors, on Craig street, Montreal. The loss is estimated at $60,000, well insured.

A mining disaster in which twelve men lost their lives is reported from the Sierra Mejada mining camp, located in the State of Coahuila, Mexico. An explosion of foul gas occurred in the Veda Rica silver mine and before all the miners could get to the surface the dry timbers were on fire, the fierce flames barring exit.

George R. Schnoeler is the sole survivor of a wreck between Malcolm and Vancouver Island. The sloop on which he and Tom Hackett of Seattle had been selling liquor to the northern Indians was lost in a storm while all on board were drunk. The drowned included Hackett, an Irish logger known only by his first name, Charlie, and two half-breed women.

A new Alaska mail route is to be established in the Kotzebue country. The route is from St. Michael, through Unalaska, Eaton, Reindeer Station and past the head of Norton Bay to Kotzebue, a distance of 460 miles. Three round trips are to be made annually. A branch route will also be established from the head of Norton Bay to Golovin Bay, a distance of 160 miles.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "Failures in the first quarter of 1899 were in number 2,772, against 3,687 last year, and the liabilities $27,152,031, against $32,946,565, a decrease of 17.6 per cent. Geographical aspects make the return peculiar, with a slight increase of 13 per cent in the Southeast, and 20 per cent in the central States. There was a decrease of nearly 40 per cent on the Pacific and Southwestern States, 41 per cent in Western States and 40 per cent in Middle States. No other year of the twenty-four covered by Dun's quarterly reports has shown as small failures during its first quarter, excepting 1880 and 1881, and no other except 1880 and 1886 as small liabilities per failure. Failures for the week have been 141 in the United States, against 232 last year, and 17 in Canada, against 32 last year."

THE MARKETS.

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, shipping grades, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2 red, 71c to 72c; corn, No. 2, 34c to 35c; oats, No. 2, 26c to 27c; rye, No. 2, 52c to 53c; butter, choice creamery, 19c to 20c; eggs, fresh, 11c to 13c; potatoes, choice, 55c to 70c per bushel.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $5.75; hogs, choice light, $2.75 to $4.00; sheep, common to choice, $2.50 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2 red, 71c to 72c; corn, No. 2 white, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 31c to 33c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $3.50 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 75c to 76c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 34c to 36c; oats, No. 2, 28c to 30c; rye, No. 2, 54c to 56c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $2.50 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, 72c to 73c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 36c to 37c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 29c to 31c; rye, No. 2, 59c to 61c.

Detroit—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $2.50 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 73c to 75c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 32c to 33c; rye, 59c to 61c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 72c to 74c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 34c to 35c; oats, No. 2 white, 27c to 29c; rye, No. 2, 54c to 56c; clover seed, new, $3.45 to $3.55.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 spring, 69c to 71c; corn, No. 3, 33c to 35c; oats, No. 2 white, 29c to 31c; rye, No. 1, 55c to 57c; barley, No. 2, 47c to 49c; pork, mess, $9.00 to $9.50.

Buffalo—Cattle, good shipping steers, $3.00 to $5.75; hogs, common to choice, $3.25 to $4.25; sheep, fair to choice wethers, $3.50 to $5.25; lambs, common to extra, $4.50 to $6.50.

New York—Cattle, $3.25 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.50; sheep, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2 red, 82c to 83c; corn, No. 2, 42c to 44c; oats, No. 2 white, 36c to 39c; butter, creamery, 17c to 22c; eggs, Western, 13c to 14c.

AT PEACE WITH SPAIN

WAR ENDED BY THE EXCHANGE OF TREATIES.

President McKinley Proclaims Hostilities Are Closed—Formal Ceremony at Washington—French Ambassador Acts for Our Recent Enemy.

	1898.
Maine blown up	Feb. 15
United States declare war	April 21
Spain declares war	April 24
First battle (of Matanzas)	April 27
Dewey destroys Spanish fleet	May 1
Cervera's fleet destroyed	July 3
Santiago surrenders	July 14
Peace protocol signed	Aug. 11
Treaty of peace signed	Dec. 10
	1899.
Ratifications exchanged	April 11

The formal exchange of ratifications of the peace treaty took place at the White House Tuesday afternoon, Ambassador Cambon of France acting for Spain. This formal recognition that the war is ended and that the United States and Spain are again on terms of peace, occurred just one year from the day when President McKinley recognized that diplomatic consideration of the Cuban question had failed and that war was inevitable.

It was on April 11, 1898, that President McKinley sent his war message to Congress, saying that he had exhausted diplomatic efforts and asking Congress to clothe him with the war power. War was not declared until April 21, but the end of peaceful relations between the United States and Spain was on April 11, 1898, and the return to a recognition of peaceful relations occurred on the first anniversary of that day, making the break between the two nations just one year.

At 3:28 o'clock Secretary Hay attached his signature to the Spanish copy of the treaty and M. Cambon his to the copy for the United States. The official seals were affixed at 3:35 o'clock, completing the ceremony. The President's proclamation announcing the exchange of ratifications, omitting the text of the treaty, which is quoted in full, is as follows:

Whereas, A treaty of peace between the United States of America and her majesty the Queen Regent of Spain, in the name of her august son, Don Alfonso XIII., was concluded and signed by the respective plenipotentiaries at Paris on the 10th day of December, 1898, the original of which convention, being in the English and Spanish languages, is word for word as follows: * * *

"Whereas, The said convention has been duly ratified on both parts, and the ratification of the two governments were exchanged in the city of Washington on the eleventh day of April, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine. Now, therefore, be it known that

I, William McKinley, President of the United States of America, have caused the said convention to be made public, to the end that the same and every article and clause thereof may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and the citizens thereof.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington the eleventh day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, and the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-third. WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

By the President:
JOHN HAY, Secretary of State.

The ceremony of exchanging the copies of the treaty took place in the President's office, which is the room between the cabinet and the "war room" on the south front of the executive mansion. There were no formal speeches, the President merely remarking to Ambassador Cambon that the proclamation of peace would now be issued.

The Secretary of State and most of the members of the cabinet were present, but the only representative of Spanish interests were Ambassador Cambon and First Secretary Thiebault of the French embassy. Spain has informed this Government that she will speedily resume diplomatic relations with the United States, and we shall return the compliment.

After one year of a condition of war, in which the actual hostilities were confined to 112 days, the United States is again at peace with Spain, and the murder of the Maine's crew has been avenged.

APPOMATTOX BANQUET.

Gov. Roosevelt and Others Make Stirring Speeches.

Three thousand persons greeted and cheered the speakers at the Hamilton Club's Appomattox day banquet in Chicago, but Gov. Roosevelt was the star. He, Postmaster General Smith, Congressman Settle of Kentucky and Gen. John C. Black of Illinois were the speakers.

Gov. Roosevelt's practical patriotism brought applause again and again. His plea was for active Americanism and not the "doctrine of the love of ignoble peace." He aroused enthusiasm by declaring that "a great nation can no more lead a cloistered life than can a great man," and then, in stirring sentences, he proceeded to an advocacy of wide-awake nationalism. The audience was keyed up to a high pitch by the speeches of Gov. Roosevelt and Postmaster General Smith, who spoke on "The Union," and by Gen. John Black, who began the oratory with a tribute to Grant. This was followed by a eulogy of Robert E. Lee by Congressman Settle.

REVENGEFUL HANDS.

They Are Believed to Have Fired the Andrews Home.

The New York police and postoffice inspectors are confronting a mystery which conceals, they believe, the perpetrator or perpetrators of a horrible crime. It is now believed that the fire in the Andrews mansion, which cost thirteen lives, including that of Millionaire W. C. Andrews and his wife, was of incendiary origin. The motive, there is reason to believe, was a desire for revenge, growing out of a petty quarrel in the servants' quarters.

Anonymous letters received by Andrews and his wife threatened violence. These threats alarmed the family and the police were appealed to. An investigation has been going on for weeks. So worried was Mr. Andrews that he arranged to have a portable fire escape put in each of the bed chambers. The police have the originals of the threatening letters. Since the fire they have redoubled their efforts to run down the person who wrote the letters.

THINK HE SUICIDED.

Police Believe Fern, the Chicago Merchant, Took His Own Life.

Suicide, beyond a doubt, has been established in the Fern mystery at Chicago, and the police investigation is now closed. The police have discovered the store where Fern purchased the revolver with which he executed the fatal deed. The hair found near his body, which has been the subject of much comment, is known to have been obtained at a wig store.

When Fern was found dead in his store, a mask in one hand, a bunch of hair in the other, his pockets turned inside out, the empty money drawer, pistol, cane and Fern's battered hat lying on the floor, the police saw nothing in the case but murder and robbery. Fern carried heavy life insurance, which the police believe he was afraid would be vitiated in the event of suicide, therefore his efforts to surround his taking off with the evidences of murder.

MORE RIOTING AT PANA.

Deputies, Negroes and White Miners Mix Up in a Fatal Battle.

A riot occurred at Pana, Ill., Monday between deputies, negroes and white miners. One white miner and another man were killed and several other persons injured. The trouble, according to a press dispatch, was precipitated by a drunken colored miner, who shot another miner and then ran wildly through the streets discharging his revolver in all directions.

Leading up to the day's outbreak was an intensely exciting night. One hundred deputy sheriffs were called into the Floenam and Penwell mining districts to protect several families of negroes, who were endeavoring to load their household effects preparatory to leaving for Iowa and were being prevented by negro guards armed with rifles. The armed men claimed goods the negroes were moving were company property. The deputies guarded the negroes while they loaded their goods in wagons, conveyed them to railroad cars, and packed them for shipment.

The negroes, their wives and children, were then marched to Union Miners' hall, where they were fed and cared for by white union miners and given ample protection by a guard of fifty deputy sheriffs, it being feared that negroes who did not wish them to leave Pana would interfere and attempt forcibly to prevent their departure.

During the night, while deputies were guarding the negroes in the Penwell district, they were fired upon by unknown persons, supposed to have been negroes and private guards at the Penwell mine, and fully 200 shots were exchanged. The firing greatly terrorized the residents of that section of the city, who appealed to Chief Deputy Cheeney for protection. Deputy Cheeney thereupon sent a special detail of deputies armed with Springfield rifles, who patrolled all streets and soon succeeded in restoring quiet. Several negroes were arrested, charged with inciting riot. One hundred and fifty negroes left the city Sunday and 100 more on Monday.

DEATH OF STEPHEN J. FIELD.

Former Justice Too Feeble to Fight Off Disease.

In the death of Stephen J. Field, formerly a justice of the United States Supreme Court, the country loses the last of the great jurists of a previous generation and another of the four brothers who became famous, each in his own way. Justice Field's death had been looked for for two years or more, but it came to Washington as a surprise, because it was not known that his condition had reached a critical stage.

JUSTICE FIELD.

He had been living a quiet life at his home since quitting the bench Dec. 4, 1897. His retirement from that high position was due to old age and feebleness, and even before leaving the Supreme Court his condition had been alarming, but after his return to private life he dropped out of public notice.

His constitution, already impaired by old age and kidney troubles, was still further weakened by an attack of grip some months ago. He took another slight cold about two weeks ago, and he gradually became worse. His vitality had been sapped by his former sickness, and he steadily grew weaker until the end came.

During his term of more than a third of a century Mr. Field was concerned in some of the most important cases ever passed upon by the Supreme Court. Among the prominent decisions was the famous test oath case, in which he gave the casting vote and wrote the opinion of the court annulling the validity of the "ironclad" oath. His dissenting opinions in the confiscation cases, the legal tender cases, and in the New Orleans slaughter house case attracted the widest attention.

The Comic Side of The News

Pennsylvania may be known as the "Quayker" State.

The $20,000,000 baking powder trust is rising into prominence.

It is not surprising that the whisky trust should be in high spirits.

Why not call that man Agoncillo "Agony" to save time and printers' ink?

Aguinaldo's last stands don't last long enough for his congress to have a sitting.

Aguinaldo's "last stands" seem to be as frequent as Patti's celebrated "farewell tours."

That steam pump trust has evidently been formed for the purpose of taking in suckers.

Aguinaldo is not only game, but the process of bagging him is actually a dear hunt.

What makes Italy so mad is that she found the open door in China swung the wrong way.

Wireless telegraphy has sustained a practical test. Wireless politics, however, is still remote.

It seems that the missionary business in Samoa is not only a vocation, but a provocation.

Columbus County, N. C., has issued no marriage licenses during the past year. This is singular.

It should be understood that the Samuel Jones elected Mayor of Toledo is not that other Sam Jones.

Columbus County, N. C., has issued no marriage licenses during the past year. This is singular.

The President wants a cable to the Philippines. What the country most needs is a rope on Aguinaldo.

That Manila campaign is at least a picnic so far as concerns the Filipinos frequently taking to the woods.

Every report from Manila only adds to the reasons why the Filipinos should trust less to their arms and take to their legs.

Perhaps the Filipinos would have taken kindlier to the talk of that $20,000,000 than to the address of the peace commissioners.

An Illinois woman defeated her husband for the office of school trustee. Of that family she demonstrated herself the better half.

A school of psychology has opened a five-day session in Chicago. The analysis of the perennial tired feeling would prove interesting.

A young woman lecturer in New York has denounced the kissing habit. Even those who aren't in the habit will commit the offense. This horrifying fact should not escape her.

An exchange thinks stock brokers' heads must swim nowadays. If the brokers do not swim it won't be because there is no water on the stock.

Philadelphia expects great things of its new Mayor. It isn't at all likely, however, that the new Mayor expects great things of Philadelphia.

BLOODSHED IN SAMOA.

FORCE OF AMERICANS AND BRITISH AMBUSHED.

Seven Are Killed and Their Bodies Decapitated by the Savage Mataafans—Forty Natives Meet Death—Causes Anxiety in Washington.

Press dispatches Wednesday from Apia, via Auckland, N. Z., stated that a party of 105 American and British sailors were forced to retreat to the beach, after having been caught in ambush by 800 Mataafans on a German plantation.

The expedition was led by Lieut. A. H. Freeman of the British third-class cruiser Tauranga. Three officers were killed. Two British and two American sailors also were killed. Ensign Monaghan remained to assist Lieut. Lansdale and was shot in retiring. The natives engaged were some of Mataafa's warriors. They severed the heads of the British and American officers killed. Priests of the French mission afterward brought the heads into Apia. The manager of the German plantation was arrested and detained on board the Tauranga on affidavits declaring that he was seen urging the rebels to fight. In a previous engagement twenty-seven of Mataafa's warriors were killed, and there were no casualties among the European forces.

The news from Samoa of the ambuscading and massacre of American and British sailors stirred the authorities in Washington as they have not been since the excitement of the Spanish-American war. The most serious phase of the affair is not the aggression of the Samoan natives, but the suspicion that they were incited to the deed by the German residents of the island. There was a refusal on the part of the higher officials to discuss the sad event. The secretary of the German embassy called early upon Secretary Hay. Neither of the officials would disclose anything as to the nature of the exchange that took place. The arrest and detention by the British naval officials of a German subject is one of the most dangerous features of the controversy.

The chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, Senator Davis, was one of the earliest callers at the White House. His brother-in-law, Bartlett Tripp, has just been appointed American member of the Samoan commission. After a call on the President he visited the State Department. The Senator expressed grave fear as to the complications that might ensue with Germany on account of the massacre.

SAYS RATIONS WERE GOOD.

Shafter Says that Beef on the Hoof Was Impracticable.

Captain Edward H. Plummer, aide-de-camp to Gen. Shafter, called before the court of inquiry in Washington on the beef question, testified as to the manner of packing provisions to the front from Siboney. He stated that there were 100 wagons and 1,000 mules. Half of the latter were used for the pack trains. The road was bad and the provisions were got to the men with difficulty. The ships were so loaded that it was impossible to take off such an assortment as would give a complete ration to each soldier. Armour's Jacksonville agent, S. Ochsenslager, testified that the meat issued at Camp Cuba Libre was good.

Maj. Gen. Shafter, who had charge of the Cuban expedition, was the next witness. After describing the movement of the American troops on Santiago he stated that the amount of provisions taken to Cuba was determined by the capacity of the vessels. He first heard of the intention to use canned roast beef from Gen. Eagan in Washington before the war. Witness said beef on the hoof was impracticable in such a campaign. He never heard a complaint of the canned roast beef as being unfit for food until he returned from Cuba. He ate it himself, and found no fault with it. The first refrigerated beef was received on the 19th or 20th of July. He only heard one complaint. He had no reason at any time to even think that the beef had been chemically treated.

Gen. Shafter said that the supply of rations was good and sufficient; that there was no complaint about the quality of the meat; no complaint about the hardships an exposure of the campaign. There were no complaints to him from the rough riders or their commander, Col. Roosevelt. Maj. Lee read from a report of Roosevelt to Col. Wood, in which it was said that the rough riders had nothing to eat but what they captured from the Spaniards. "If they didn't," said Gen. Shafter, "it was their own fault, through their own carelessness in not carrying three days' rations with them."

LAWTON'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Rebels Were Retiring When One Fired from Ambush.

Gen. Lawton has continued his advance beyond Santa Cruz. The rebels are slowly retiring, but except for brief stands by skirmishers, are doing little fighting.

Gen. Lawton had a narrow escape from death at the hands of a daring Filipino. The man remained behind when his companions fled and concealed himself in a house by which the American soldiers passed. When Gen. Lawton and his staff reached the spot the rebel fired point blank at the American commander. Fortunately his aim was bad and he missed his mark. The American soldiers quickly rooted him out of the house and bored him full of holes. The Filipinos lost 150 killed and wounded in the fight at Santa Cruz.

Gen. Wheaton, with the Tenth Pennsylvania and the Second Oregon regiments and two guns, met with slight resistance near Santa Maria and had one man wounded. But the enemy bolted when shelled by the artillery, and burned and abandoned the town of Santa Maria, where a thousand rebels were reported to have been concentrated. The enemy retreated toward the mountains, burning the villages behind the retreating force. Occasionally a few of the rebels dropped to the rear and fired at the advancing American troops from the jungle, apparently with the idea that this would check our advance and cover the retreat of the Filipinos. But finding these tactics ineffectual, these rebels scrambled after the main body.

HOPE FOR ANDREE GIVEN UP.

Little Doubt that Explorer and Companions Have Perished.

Small doubt now exists that Andree, the Swedish balloonist and arctic explorer, is dead. The report that his body and the bodies of his companions have been found seems to be true. Prof. Nordenskjold has received a dispatch from Baron Aminoff, the governor general of the province of Siberia, where the alleged remains are said to have been discovered, stating that he has had a personal interview with the hunter, Ljalin, who declares that he found the natives, who themselves discovered the remains, and will by them be guided to the location. Baron Aminoff also states that the University of Tomsk will send out an expedition to the spot where the natives claim the remains are now being guarded.

RECORD OF THE WEEK

INDIANA INCIDENTS TERSELY TOLD.

Woman Is Dragged to Death—Sweeping Decision by a Goshen Judge—Escaped Prisoners Recaptured—Indianapolis Church Splits.

Mrs. Sadie Sites, wife of Albert Sites, a Lafayette township farmer, met an awful death while driving home from a neighbor's house. She wore a scarf with long ends hanging loosely from her neck. One of these ends caught in a wheel and she was jerked from her seat. Her head was caught between the spokes and one ear was torn off. She was completely scalped and when found the next morning was dead. The marks in the road showed that the woman had been dragged a mile before the horse stopped.

May Remove Trolley Poles.

Judge Wilson in the Circuit Court at Goshen laid down the law to the Indiana Electric Railway Company, operating lines in South Bend, Elkhart, Goshen and contingent points, and made a sweeping ruling with regard to municipal powers. The gist of his decision empowers cities to remove all trolley poles from the streets without regard to charter or franchises at any time and place the electric companies at the mercy of the authorities.

Followed Their Pastor Out.

The South Street Baptist Church, one of the largest of that denomination in Indianapolis, split after the expulsion of the pastor, Rev. Frederick G. Parish. Some time ago a church trial was held, but Mr. Parish refused to recognize its authority. The congregation met and expelled the pastor, and sixty of the most prominent members withdrew and proceeded to form a church with Mr. Parish as pastor.

Sheriff Captures Fugitives.

Abe Rothschild and Albert Stansfield, who escaped from United States Deputy Marshal Peck in Vincennes, were captured near Bicknell by Deputy Sheriff Tom Hillburn. The fugitives went to William Stawson's blacksmith shop in Bicknell and asked him to cut off their handcuffs. Rothschild said he was the sheriff and Stansfield a prisoner and that he had lost the key. A bribe was offered, but declined.

Noted Young Chemist Dies.

John Stockley Cary, formerly of Cleveland, died in Evansville of heart disease. Though only 32 years old, he had a national reputation as a chemist. Mr. Cary died of weak action of the heart, incident to typhoid fever.

Within Our Borders.

Postoffice at Mason discontinued.

Oil men anticipate a busy season.

Rich veins of coal struck near English.

Fort Wayne artillery will be reorganized.

Goshen will dust up with a new brush factory.

Noblesville will have a new $25,000 high school building.

Howard M. Kerr, New Castle, killed in the Philippines.

The window glass trust project, Anderson, has fallen through.

Floyd Houck, 8, Columbus, died from swallowing a grain of corn.

Northern Indiana Teachers' Association favored medium slant writing.

Col. W. T. Durbin has sold his stock in the Diamond paper mills, Anderson, to his partners.

Horse struck the 7-year-old son of Samuel P. Ruble, near Vincennes, nearly crushing his skull.

There have been seven deaths from meningitis in that many days fourteen miles southwest of Princeton.

Strikers will be enjoined from interfering with the non-union workmen in the American plate glass factory, Anderson.

At South Bend, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Greene, prominent pioneer residents, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Bertha Wilhelm, Eaton, now 8 years old, is said to have been the largest baby ever born. At birth she weighed 18¾ pounds.

Body of Archibald W. Jones, New Albany, who died in Santiago from wounds received on San Juan hill, brought home for burial.

John W. Campbell, Vincennes, will do time for swindling the Bruceville express agent out of $400 by impersonating another man.

At Kokomo, Jonathan Dutton and wife, married fifty years ago, died within an hour of each other from natural causes, the husband expiring first.

At Marion, Mrs. Hanora Reidy, 89 years of age, was burned to death at her home in the absence of the family, who had left her alone for a short time.

A decision was made in favor of the Windfall Natural Gas Company in the $5,000 damage suit brought by Bertha Terwilliger, who charged it with maliciously turning off the gas in midwinter, by which she froze her feet, disabling her for life.

Thomas Platt, jointly indicted with Harry Hollowell for shooting with intent to kill Lewis Miller, was found guilty of attempting to commit voluntary manslaughter. Hollowell, who is not implicated in shooting, will be tried for assault and battery.

The miners' convention at Terre Haute held its election of officers and the balloting resulted in the election of W. D. Van Horn of Terre Haute, president; T. I. Roberts, Rosedale, vice-president, and J. H. Kennedy of Terre Haute

LIFE.

We march down the aisles of time;
Silently, swiftly, one by one
Musical murmur and mournful moan,
Plaintive pleading and tender tone,
Blend in a living rhyme.

Hope and happiness, faith and fame,
All are swept along
Into a future misty and gray,
Peopled with phantoms grim and gray,
Some with a curse and some with a song.

Lives that were full of happiness,
Others that teemed with sin;
Shadowy phantoms of bygone days
On a suffering soul turn full their gaze,
And we long for the "Might have been."

But the longing is vain, for the past is dead,
And a passing present is all we know.
Futurity's riddle we may not read,
But the pains of the past with its lust and greed
Should tell us the way to go.

Prince and pauper are peers in death,
Their ashes are blown where their feet once trod,
Out of the past with its weal and woe
Into the future of doubt we go,
Christian and pagan to face one God.
—Denver News.

THE SINS OF THE FATHERS.

Sir Gilbert Mordaunt was a very proud man. Those who professed to be his friends said so, so there is little doubt his enemies did likewise, and proud he doubtless was —of his ancestry, his wealth, his title. Just now he was more than ever pleased with himself, for had not the loveliest woman in the country—for such he told himself she was—promised to become his wife? What matter, then, if her parentage was not quite all he would have wished? Her beauty and grace were sufficient solace, and indeed a commissioned officer in the service of her majesty (her father had been paymaster in the navy) was always supposed to be a gentleman.

If there was one thing Sir Gilbert flattered himself on more than another it was his high idea of justice. He often remarked "that he would never forgive anyone who had once deceived him," and those who knew him best believed his statement. As one of his creditors once remarked: "His was twenty shillings in the pound justice," and poachers and such like evil doers always looked eagerly to see if he was on the bench when they were brought up to receive their deserts for wrongdoing.

It may therefore be imagined that Sir Gilbert was not an all-round popular man, and there were many who expressed sympathy with his future bride, whose life they imagined would not be altogether a bed of roses. Some there were, among those who indulged in these last reflections, who did so with feelings of pleasure. These were those who, with a large bevy of unmarried daughters, saw with envy the most eligible parti in the country snapped up. Chief of these was Mrs. Macey, a gossiping, scandalizing rather stout lady of "not less" than fifty summers, the mother of six fair unmarried damsels, whose great joy had been to capture Sir Gilbert for a son-in-law. Foiled in her design, all the unamiable qualities which reposed beneath her breast—and they were many—were stirred up against the one who had so unconsciously spoiled her plans.

Meanwhile the day of the wedding approached, and as it came nearer and nearer Sir Gilbert's spirits seemed to rise so that he even became flippant in his demeanor, and even dispensed pennies to the village children with a liberal hand, a thing he would not have deigned to do once. As for the poachers, their sentences pronounced by the former austere lips of the lord of the manor, for such was the position of Sir Gilbert, were so light that one or two fainted from excess of emotion, so surprised were they.

At last the day previous to that on which the marriage was arranged to take place arrived, and Sir Gilbert took a train for Southsea, where the bride-elect was living as companion to a widowed aunt.

The wedding over, Sir Gilbert took his bride to the south of France for the honeymoon, so that it was some months before his feet were once more on his native health. His old manner seemed to have now returned, his voice was peremptory and his actions as stilted. As to his bride, though the gossips found fault with her in detail, all had to agree that on the whole she was a very lovely woman.

A gentle, lovable woman, too, she seemed, already standing somewhat in awe of her husband, who appeared to alternately pet and patronize her. Had any of their friends known of her family history sufficiently well they would have said that Sir Gilbert was one who was hardly likely to forget that their social standing had not always been the same.

Of course, all the county called upon Lady Mordaunt, all except—and the exception seemed somehow significant—Mrs. Macey. That such an exceptional gossip and story teller should stay away excited the attention of all, particularly as, when questioned as to her absentation from calling, she indulged in mysterious little innuendoes, which might mean much or little. The nods also by which she accompanied her words were very profound.

Naturally her attitude provoked more and more comment, and that Mrs. Macey knew something, or thought she knew something, dreadful concerning Lady Mordaunt, was a generally expressed opinion. A conviction that all was not right somehow forced its way into the mind of Sir Gilbert, and he was very wroth, particularly as he could not fathom the matter. Truth to tell, he never thought of connecting the absence of Mrs. Macey and her daughters from his wife's receptions with that which was troubling him.

He was rather disposed to look down upon Mrs. Macey as an underbred person, albeit friendly with her husband, a country squire of the old school. But the climax was reached at a bazaar held in aid of the county hospital.

Mrs. Macey and her daughters were attending at one of the stalls and taking a warm (?) interest in the affair. When Sir Gilbert, who was a patron of the hospital, and Lady Mordaunt arrived at this stall, it happened that only the youngest Miss Macey, much the nicest of the fair bevy, was present to attend to the wants of customers. Sir Gilbert, divining that his wife had not before been introduced, was about to perform this necessary duty when he was dumfounded to hear a voice from behind say, "Thank you, Sir Gilbert, but I would rather my daughter were not introduced to your wife." Turning round, he saw Mrs. Macey looking very red and malicious.

"I don't understand you," said he.

"Oh, you needn't trouble, I assure you," was the answer.

"But I insist on an explanation," returned the irate baronet.

"Oh, don't try to frighten me; if you must know what I mean you had better see Mr. Macey."

"That I certainly will."

Naturally Sir Gilbert's pleasure was spoiled for the day; besides, he did not feel sure that he and his wife might not be cut by others, and this was gall to his proud spirit. As soon as they got clear of the bazaar he asked his wife "if she could comprehend what Mrs. Macey meant," but she expressed her inability to do so.

Early the following morning Sir Gilbert went over to see Mr. Macey, who, however, seemed very reluctant to explain Mrs. Macey's behavior, saying "he could not understand why women were so venomous one toward the other." At last, after continued pressure, it turned out that Mrs. Macey had heard through some naval friends that the father of Lady Mordaunt had purloined cash and stores belonging to the admiralty and been disgraced and court-martialled out of the service.

Sir Gilbert reached home in a towering rage, angry with himself, with Mrs. Macey, but especially with his wife. Seeing a servant in the hall, he sent a message to his wife "that he would be glad of her immediate presence in the library." Not connecting the message with yesterday's episode, she came in to find her husband walking up and down the room with long strides. Dimly conscious of something wrong, she waited for him to speak. At last he turned and faced her.

"Did you want me, dear?" she inquired.

"Yes; for the last time."

"For the last time?" she repeated, as if puzzled.

"Yes, woman, for the last time. Was it not enough that I married you out of the gutter?"

"My father was an officer and a gentleman," she broke in proudly.

"An officer and a thief, you mean."

"Whatever are you saying?" Then, as if a light broke in upon her, "Can it be that some wicked person has been telling you the reason why my father left the navy?"

"Exactly; no doubt they thought ingenuousness, as personified in yourself, had already done so."

"Hear me for one minute, my husband. You know now that my father was accused of defrauding the admiralty, but I thought it best to let the past bury its dead; it was certainly no intentional deceit, and, believe me, he was more sinned against than sinning."

"That is what every rascal says. But hear me, madam. You have deceived me, and that I never forgive; in future, therefore, our paths must lie apart. It is useless to parley words. I have the pleasure to wish you adieu."

It was all over, the twain had parted; pride and vainglory had gained the day. "The Sins of the Fathers."—A. V. Fullerton.

THE BANANA'S POSSIBILITIES.

Investigating Its Adaptability for Huge Agricultural Operations.

A common article of food in the West Indies is a flour made from the bread fruit. The fruit is cut into "pegs," or strips, and dried in the sun, then ground to powder in a mortar and sifted. This flour makes a very convenient and highly nutritious addition to the hamper of provisions the negro usually takes with him when traveling far from his home, and he well knows the art of making it into a variety of appetizing dishes. The plantain is sometimes treated in the same way, as well as the banana, which gives a sweeter and richer flour than either the plantain or the bread fruit. It is estimated that the banana has forty-four times more nutritive value than the potato, and is twenty-five times more nutritious than good white bread. This fact has induced the French government to send a commission to the United States and Central America with a view of investigating the adaptability of the banana plant for extensive agriultural operations. Should this commission report favorably on the suoject of their investigation a new and vast industry will be established, which interests the United States, from the fact of Puerto Rico and Cuba, possessing hundreds of thousands of acres on which the finest varieties of the banana can be grown. It is probable that another industry will grow up from the association of this country with the West Indies. The banana in its candied form is a delicious sweetmeat. Many people prefer it infinitely to dried figs. It is simply made. The ripe banana is cut into thin slices and laid in the tropical sun until it becomes a sweet, semi-gelatinous mass. The slices are packed in boxes, with a dusting of fine sugar between the layers, and are ready for shipment. This process, though not elaborate, requires care and watchfulness, without which the product may be inferior and unattractive. But if the curing and packing are properly done and the cured fruit is put on the American market, it is not improbable that it will soon take the place of the fig for dessert purposes.

Exhibition of Postal Cards.

Exhibitions of picture postal cards have been held in Vienna, Stuttgart, Nuremberg, Leipsic, Zurich and Nice. The first of these now so popular cards was printed at Basle in 1880. At the Nice exhibition 17,000 specimens were on view, including 400 giving aspects of scenery near Nice, besides flowers etc.

The American Volunteers have established work in nine of the principal State prisons, and are in touch with nearly 90,000 prisoners.

RIGHT TIME OF DAY.

NOT SO READILY DETERMINED AS ONE MAY IMAGINE.

When It's Noon in New York City It's All Sorts of Times, the Same Day and the Next, in Other Parts of Uncle Samdom.

The time of day—in other words, what o'clock it is—is a simple matter, well understood and easily comprehended by everybody in a city or in approximately the same locality. But when people are separated, some being to the east or the west of others, the simplicity of the answer to the question, What time is it? is by no means so apparent.

Indeed, confusion has so often arisen in consequence of the difference between clocks, say, at New York and Chicago, that it has been found decidedly advantageous to divide the United States into time districts, each district differing from the adjoining one by just one hour of time. Thus in the United States to-day there are Eastern time (corresponding to the seventy-fifth meridian of longitude west from Greenwich), Central time (corresponding to the ninetieth meridian west from Greenwich), Mountain time corresponding to the one hundred and fifth meridian west from Greenwich), and Western time (corresponding to the one hundred and twentieth meridian west from Greenwich).

Owing to this simple arrangement it therefore follows that when it is high noon in Eastern time at New York, for instance it is 11 o'clock in Central time at Chicago, 10 o'clock in Mountain time at Denver, and 9 o'clock in Western time at San Francisco. This division of time, though not astronomically correct, is sufficiently so for all practical purposes. Since the adoption of Standard time, as these times into which the mainland of the United States is divided are called, the dominion of the country has been extended. It now comprises islands in the Atlantic ocean and islands in the Pacific ocean. Havana, most people have the idea, lies to the eastward and southward of New York. Instead, it is situated nearly south of Key West, about midway between Eastern and Central times. Undoubtedly Eastern time will be the time to which Cuban clocks will eventually be set.

San Juan is situated in longitude 66 degrees 7 minutes 28 seconds west. This reduced from arc to time by dividing by 15 gives four hours 24 minutes and 30 seconds. Here again, perhaps, Eastern time will be adopted when trade between these West India islands and the ports along the Atlantic seaboard has increased to the great volume which is sure to come with peace and prosperity.

Now for the great West. San Francisco lies eight hours, nine minutes and 38 seconds distant in time from Greenwich, though, according to our adopted standard time, it is regarded commercially as only eight hours distant. Honolulu, in the Sandwich islands of the United States, is distant by sun 10 hours, 31 minutes and 36 seconds from Greenwich. It would certainly be more convenient to drop the minutes and seconds and consider the Hawaiian group as a round 10 hours distant from Greenwich, or two hours from San Francisco or five from New York.

So far, this question of time has been comparatively easy. We have been following the sun to the westward, taking our date and day with us, the same with which we started from Greenwich or New York, but after we move off from the Sandwich group and head for our tight little island of Guam we encounter a difficulty that is decidedly puzzling to the landsman, and even the nautical man has to sit down and work it out.

The difficulty lies in the adding or dropping from our calendar of an entire day, according as we may be going to the east or to the west of that meridian of longitude called 180 degrees.

Guam lies in the Pacific ocean in longitude 144 degrees 39 minutes 30 seconds east. In time this is nine hours, 38 minutes and 31 seconds east of Greenwich. This means that the sun rises over that island 14 hours, 38 minutes and 38 seconds before that luminary shines over the island of Manhattan.

The common day, often called the civil day, lasts from midnight to midnight—24 hours. In order that the civil day may have the same number or date the world around the leading nations have agreed to use the date of the days as they begin on the one hundred and eightieth meridian.

Thus with every place its dates are counted from midnight to midnight, and each day takes the same date as that given to the latest new day on the one hundred and eightieth meridian. We may think of the new date as traveling westward with the midnight. The date is given to each place as soon as the midnight reaches it. When midnight again occurs in the one hundred and eightieth meridian another date begins its journey around the earth.

When vessels cross the one hundred and eightieth meridian they either drop a day or add one to the calendar. As the new date begins on that line, a vessel sailing eastward across the line goes out of the area having the new date and must therefore go back a day. Sailing westward the vessel enters the area having a new day and must therefore add a day to the calendar. Thus, when sailing eastward across the line, Monday is dropped for Sunday; but sailing westward over the line Saturday at once gives place to Sunday. The medium of 180 degrees, at which all new civil days begin, is called the "international date line."

As a matter of fact the international date line is an arbitrary line and does not conform strictly to the one hundred and eightieth meridian. Many islands in the Pacific, notably those which are in close commercial touch with Australia, use East Greenwich time, though geographically they lie in west longitude. But our far-off Pacific possessions are not of these.

Guam, then, is well ahead of New York—more than 14½ hours—so that when it is noon at the city of New York it is 2 o'clock, 38 minutes and 31 seconds in the morning of the next day at Guam. Manila presents a similar phase of the question of day and date. Our newest and maybe our richest possession is situated in longitude 120 degrees 58 minutes 3 seconds east. In other words, it lies eight hours, 14 minutes and seven seconds east of Greenwich, and since New York is five hours from Greenwich, Manila is 13 hours, 41 minutes and seven seconds distant from the city hall in New York.

TIME IN UNCLE SAM'S POSSESSIONS.

BIG MORTARS FOR DEFENSE.

Uncle Sam Will Build One Thousand Terrible War Implements.

The type of heavy breech-loading motrar relied upon by the U. S. army for inner-line harbor defense is one of the most terrible implements of war that have been devised. The high-powered rifle is mounted in the coast defenses with an effective range of eight to ten miles, and is calculated to open fire upon a blockading fleet the moment it comes within reach. The mortar battery is concealed well away from the big guns, where it cannot be reached except accidentally by the fire of the enemy, nor is this battery intended to be brought into play until the rifles in the main fortifications have been completely or partially silenced by the enemy.

MORTAR IN LOADING POSITION.

The mortars have a limited range of about four and one-half miles, and their tremendous bursting charges are fired high in the air, with the certainty of plunging into any vessel occupying a plotted position upon a chart which is in the possession of officers equipped with range-finders of delicate precision, located at a considerable distance from the concealed battery. This chart is divided into minute squares, and as the enemy's ships cross the intersections of imaginary lines the men handling the mortars although they cannot see the vessels, aim, load and discharge with the certainty born of long practice that every shot will tell.

MORTAR IN FIRING POSITION.

These new mortars, of which 1,000 are provided for in the existing scheme of national coast defense, and of which 320 have already been mounted in positions commanding the entrances of the principal harbors on the Atlantic coast, fire a 12-inch shell weighing 1,000 pounds. This, following a high trajectory, is intended to fall upon the unarmored decks of vessels and, by exploding, demolish the machinery, destroy the crew, and perhaps sink the vessel. These weapons each weigh about thirteen tons, are 11 feet 9 inches long, and their 12-inch rifled bore is 10 feet in length. Their great diameter at the breech is 3 feet 2 inches. This great mass of metal is so nicely balanced that it can be loaded, aimed and fired by two men. The loading is performed by simple mechanisms, and with a trained gun company of six men one accurate shot can be fired every two minutes.

SHIPBUILDING AND IRON.

How the Metal First Came to Be Used in Nautical Construction.

The story of the use of iron as a material for the construction of ships is full of interest. Iron was long ago used experimentally for building boats; several references to these crude attempts will be found in the annual register of last century. Grantham quotes from a publication dated July 28, 1787. The writer says: "A few days ago a boat built of English iron by J. Wilkison, Esq., of Bradley Forge came up our canal of this town, loaded with twenty-two tons and fifteen hundredweight of its own metal, etc. It is nearly of equal dimensions with other boats employed upon the canal, being 70 feet long and 6 feet 8½ inches wide; the thickness of the plates with which it is made is about five-sixteenths of an inch, and it is put together with rivets, like copper or fire engine boilers; but the stem and stern posts are wood and the gunwale lined with the same; the beams are made of elm planks.

"Her weight is about eight tons; she will carry, in deep water, upward of thirty-two tons, and draws eight or nine inches of water when light." It is extraordinary that such hints as these should have fallen dead. Was there no shipbuilder with an eye swift to witness the enormous possibilities latent in these little canal experiments? A small iron boat was launched in August, 1815. She was fitted up in Liverpool as a pleasure boat. Hundreds viewed her as a curiosity. She was sunk maliciously in the Duke's dock, as though some Daniel Quilp of a workman, foreseeing iron as an issue if this boat was suffered to go on hinting, had put an end to her. Her owner raised her and sold her for old iron; "but the loss of this boat," he says, "turned my attention to the practicability of making an iron boat which could not be sunk by any ordinary means."—Pall Mall Magazine.

Railroad Cooking.

Traveler (in dining-car, fast express)—Waiter, these eggs are too soft.

Waiter—S'prised to heah dat, sah.

Traveler—They were taken out of the hot water too soon.

Waiter—Well, sah, I'll put 'em back an' let 'em boil another mile, sah.—New York Weekly.

THE STANDING ARMIES OF THE WORLD COMPARED.

The Czar's proposal to check the increase of armaments is not without a flavor of irony, proceeding as it did from a monarch who not only has by far the largest army in the world, but who was also busy increasing his navy when he made his famous proposal.

European nations spend a terrible proportion of their energies and their resources in preparations for war. Though it may be an exaggeration to say that Europe is one vast camp, there are something like four millions of its male inhabitants constantly under arms as soldiers or sailors even in times of peace, and when it is borne in mind that all these have to be maintained in non-productive work and supplied with the most costly appliances, some idea may be formed of the gigantic waste. The following tables, compiled by St. Paul's, will enable one to compare the armaments of the leading nations:

	Population.	Army in peace.	Army in war.
Russia	129,166,561	860,000	3,503,000
United States	62,622,250	25,000	140,627
Germany	52,279,915	585,440	3,000,000
Austria-Hungary	41,231,342	385,697	1,827,178
France	38,517,975	615,413	2,500,000
Great Britain	38,104,975	163,569	562,220
Italy	31,114,589	231,355	1,268,308

A still more convincing method of estimating the burden of military service in the various countries will be found in the following table:

	No. of inhabitants to each soldier, in peace.	No. of inhabitants to each soldier, in war.	No. of soldiers to 1,000 inhabitants, in peace.	No. of soldiers to 1,000 inhabitants, in war.
France	63	15	16	65
Germany	89	17	11	57
Austria-Hungary	115	22	9	44
Italy	135	25	7	41
Russia	150	37	7	27
Great Britain	233	72	4	14
United States	2,489	445	4½	2

The late Lord Randolph Churchill once put the cost of this blood tax forcibly:

"Out of the life of every German, every Frenchman, every Italian, every Austrian and every Russian, the respective Governments of those countries took three years for compulsory military service."

A FRONTIER HEROINE.

MRS. LARIMER'S THRILLING ADVENTURES DURING THE SIOUX WARS.

While Crossing the Plains with Her Husband, a Lieutenant in the Union Army, She and Her Infant Child were Captured by Indians—Her Remarkable Escape.

The other day there came out of the Department of Justice, at Washington, a woman of attractive appearance, a little past fifty years old. As she paused a moment on the steps and looked with bright, observant eyes over at the White House and along Pennsylvania avenue, she presented a picture of comfortable, placid middle age. One of the attorneys from the Indian Depredation Claims Department accompanied her to the door, and after she bade him good-by he said:

"That woman is Mrs. Sarah L. Larimer of Nebraska and she is making her yearly visit to Washington. When at the capital she always calls on her friends in the Department of Justice. The files of Indian depredation claims contain no more romantic and thrilling incidents than those which relate to the early life of Mrs. Larimer. Those who meet her now as a woman of the present day, quite abreast of the times in which she lives, interested in all public questions and full of kindly sympathies, can scarcely realize that in her youth she was the heroine of a regular 'dime novel' story of the plains.

"In 1864 Lieutenant Larimer, who had just been honorably discharged from the Union army, left his home in Kansas, accompanied by his young wife and little child, to cross the plains for the restoration of his health, which had given out through hard service in the war. They were in company with several other travelers, and had with them valuable personal belongings, consisting of several wagons and horses, expensive clothing, family jewels, a complete photographic outfit and nearly $4,000 in money. When in Wyoming Territory they were surprised by a band of Sioux Indians, who murdered three of the party, wounded two, Lieutenant Larimer being one of the wounded, and captured Mrs. Larimer and her child. The Indians took the woman and child to their camp, about seventy miles from the spot where they had attacked the travelers.

"A day or two after the attack news came to the Eleventh Cavalry, stationed at Fort Laramie, Wyoming, that the Sioux had attacked travelers on the emigrant road and had carried Mrs. Larimer and her child into captivity. Lieutenant Larimer had been found, nearly dead from arrow wounds, and distracted at the fate which had befallen his wife and baby. The officers of the Eleventh immediately moved part of their command up the Platte river, and obtained further information as to where the raid had taken place. They were about to move against the Indians with a force of two companies, when Mrs. Larimre came crawling into camp, carrying her child in her arms. Their condition was deplorable. She and the child were nearly famished. As soon as Mrs. Larimer was able she gave a detailed account of the position of the Indians, their plans and movements, their designs against the command which they knew would be moving against them, their numbers and the ambuscades which they had prepared. Her information was so valuable that the officers were able to thwart the designs of the Indians not only against the pursuing troops, but against the exposed points and trains that were on the emigrant road.

"The officers found the information Mrs. Larimer gave as to the position and movements of the Indians to be exactly as she had said, and marveled at the powers of observation and clearness of memory which had endured through the hours of torture she had gone through. The accuracy of her statements was particularly verified by the fact that one of the Lieutenants and a few of his men who disobeyed orders and followed a trail apart from the command, fell into an ambuscade described by Mrs. Larimer and were killed.

"Mrs. Larimer was never quite clear as to how many hours she had passed with the Indians. From the moment of captivity, when they had started off with her child and herself in their train, she had concentrated every faculty on watching for an opportunity of escape. She had seen her husband struck down by arrows, killed, as she supposed; had seen the wagons fired and her friends killed and wounded. She had read of the tortures inflicted by Indians upon women captives, never imagining that one day she would be their wretched victim. She was determined if possible to get herself and child away from their clutches and die in some other way than by their tortures. She had always been a girl of fearless disposition, quick in her movements, and very observant. She pretended to be bodily in a languid and almost immovable state. After hours of waiting and watching their dances and listening to their plans for further depredations, when they had ceased to observe her, she found a chance to slip away beyond the fires into the dark bush. For hours, through two days and nights, she struggled on, faint, nearly dead, until she fell exhausted in the camp of the cavalry.

"It was a happy time, of course, when she found her young husband alive. All they had in the world was gone, but after the horrors of their experience had passed away a little, and health was in a measure restored, they started out afresh. Mrs. Larimer has always been the business manager of the firm. Her husband never had his health completely restored. After a great many years the Court of Claims awarded Mrs. Larimer a sum of money for her losses by Indian depredations and the valuable information she had given the United States troops, and during the conduct of her case she made warm friends in the Indian Depredation Claims Department, who are always glad to see her when she comes East."

Always Keep Cool.

John Morrison, a successful commercial traveler, has spent a great part of his career in hotels, and one of his theories has been that the mind ought to be so trained that a hotel fire ought not to distract the reasoning faculties when presence of mind is needed. He impressed his theory strongly upon Mrs. Morrison by instructing her how to act if they were ever in a hotel that was on fire.

He and his wife were aroused from their slumbers one night by an alarm. The hotel in which they had their rooms was on fire, and there was great confusion and tumult among the guests.

"Now is the time to put into practice what I have always preached to you, my dear," said the gentleman. "Don't get excited. Put on all your indispensable apparel and take your time. Don't lose your head. Just watch me."

He calmed Mrs. Morrison's anxiety, handed her the articles necessary to her toilet, put on his collar and cuffs, took his watch from under his pillow and placed it in his pocket, put on his hat, and walked with Mrs. Morrison out of the burning building into the street.

"Now, my dear," he said, when they were safe, "don't you see what a grand thing it is to keep cool and act with a deliberate purpose in an emergency like this? Here you are dressed, and over yonder are several ladies in complete deshabille."

Just then Mrs. Morrison for the first time glanced at her husband.

"You are right, John," she said, "it is a grand thing to keep cool and act deliberately, but if I had been you I would have stayed in the room long enough to put on my trousers."—London Tit-Bits.

BLOOD FORETELLS DISEASE.

Remarkable Revolution Imminent in Medical Treatment.

Dr. R. L. Watkins calls attention to the remarkable revolution which appears imminent in the ordinary forms of medical treatment of the day. It is now possible to foretell the approach of many subtle diseases months before the ordinary symptoms appear. The blood gives unmistakable signs of the approach of disease, and all the pathologist needs to read its warning is a microscope. By doing this systematically doctors will be able to detect the disease in its premonitory stages and have an infinitely better chance of arresting or curing it than if it had had time to develop. Consumption can now be suspected from the appearance of the blood a year or more before any cough sets in. At this early stage the blood is seen to contain a number of small gray granules, which float around in the liquor of the blood. Collecting in patches they presently develop into red cells and pervade the lung tissue, forming tubercles. These cells form the feeding ground of the familiar bacilli of consumption. The symptom of the incipient stages of apoplexy is the appearance of a long line or rift sharply dividing the blood corpuscles. Should this line be sharply defined a fatal stroke of paralysis is probably near at hand, but otherwise there is no immediate danger. Although this indication can be often observed before there is any other sign of the disease, it is not entirely reliable. A very curious harbinger of paralysis is the web feet in the blood. The presence of these in large number shows that the heart is not strong enough to pump the blood properly. When the blood is in this state in a marked degree the red corpuscles often appear to be entangled in a mass of web. Then tendency then is to clog the muscular veins, or those of the heart. The clogging of the heart veins is followed by paralysis, while if the veins of the brain are obstructed paralysis of the limbs is to be expected. The presence of certain other extraneous matter in the blood leads to rheumatism of the heart, and the rupture of blood vessels. When this matter accumulates beyond a certain degree it produces a convulsion of pain in passing the heart and tends to stop the action of that vibrous organ. Blood of this kind may be diagnosed when seen under the microscope.

They Dealt in Authors.

Some day, perhaps, Jesse Lynch Williams may follow his book of newspaper stories with some sketches of magazine office life. He has had experiences, and he can write them.

Here is one of them:

"When I first came to Scribner's Magazine," he said, the other day, "I was a walking interrogation point. The editor would toss a letter across the table just like a common piece of paper, saying: 'Here's a letter from Kipling. It's all right.' It might as well have been a note from his tailor.

"I stood by and shivered at the sacrilege. And the typewriters! They would pound out letters to Meredith, Stockton, James, Howells and Kipling just as they might have done to me, without changing a feature or missing a punctuation mark, and I marveled at their nerve. One day a stout, middle-aged man brushed by me in the office. We begged each other's pardon.

"'Hold on a minute,' called the editor; 'I want to speak to you, Howells.'

"'Is that Howells?' I asked the office boy.

"'Sure.'

"'Mr. Howells?'

"'Yes.'

"'Mr. W. D. Howells?'

"'Cert.'

"'Mr. William Dean Howells?'

"'The same.'

"And I softly caressed the sleeve that the novelist had brushed against, as if it had been touched by a saint. But after a while the feeling of awe wore off. We deal in authors. That's our business."—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

A Woman's Queer Employment.

Miss Asch of Aiken, S. C., earns a good living by raising beagles. Her work began by the sale of a pet dog. One of the favorite sports of the winter visitors to Aiken is rabbit coursing, and the best dog for the purpose is the beagle. As both the game and the dogs are small, the hunters, men and women, follow on foot, and as a rule end their chase by a breakfast at some picturesque spot in the woods. Miss Asch sold her first dog to a rabbit hunter for $35. She at once saw an opening, and had kennels built, and invested her capital in dogs. Now she has a thriving business, which not only pays well, but is both healthful and pleasant, as she is very fond of out-of-door life and dogs.

Marriages average 3,000 a day on this mundane sphere.

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....APRIL 20, 1899.

ELECTION ECHOES

Congressman Robinson Makes a Splendid Showing in the District—His Vote Compared With the State and County Figures.

Fort Wayne Journal

The following figures show the result of the congressional congressional contest in the different counties of the twelfth district, with the majority for the state ticket and the average majority for the county tickets, for purposes of comparison with the vote for Mr. Robinson.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTIES.

ALLEN COUNTY—
- Majority on state ticket.....2,194
- Robinson's majority.....2,540
- Average county majority.....1,776

DEKALB COUNTY—
- Majority on state ticket.....131
- Robinson's majority.....452
- Average county majority.....221

WHITLEY COUNTY—
- Majority on state ticket.....233
- Robinson's majority.....315
- Average county majority.....293

REPUBLICAN COUNTIES.

LAGRANGE COUNTY—
- Republicau majority state ticket 808
- Majority against Robinson.....729
- Average Rep. maj. county ticket..737

NOBLE COUNTY—
- Republican majority state ticket.835
- Majority against Robinson.....227
- Average Rep. maj. county ticket.265

STEUBEN COUNTY—
- Republican majority state ticket 1,044
- Majority against Robinson.....914
- Average Rep. maj. county ticket..780

Total majority on state ticket.....371
Total majority for Robinson.....1,440
Total majority on county tickets...508

RUNS AHEAD

We publish in this issue a statement of the vote at last fall's general election It is copied from the Fort Wayne Journal, and is, we believe, correct. A study of it shows a remarkable condition as regards the vote on congressman. It shows that Hon J. M. Robinson ran ahead of his ticket in every county in the district. A look at the table, will show his excess over his party vote in the several couties, as follows:

Allen County	346
DeKab	321
Whitley	82
Lagrange	79
Noble	108
Steuben	130
Total excess in the 6 counties	1066

It will also be seen that the total democratic majority on the state ticket in the district, was only 371 in six counties. This shows the district to be doubtful and with a candidate not well known, or not possessing elements of unusual popularity, it would elect a republican member of congress. This shows the importance of running a pop ular man. We believe in running a man who can be elected. We have always favored more than two terms for a member of Congress- It is doubly wise under present conitions.

Important Decision.

(Hartford City News.)

Judge Given, of Dearborn county, has just rendered a decision that will have a far reaching effect. Suit was brought against John P. Secrest, trustee of Laurel township, Franklin county. in September, 1897, for failure to publish an itemized report of receipts and expenditures. The case was argued before Judge Swift, at Brookville, who witheld decision for two terms. A petition was then filed for another trial judge, and Judge Switt appointed Judge Given, before whom a rehearing was had in January last. His decision, which has just been rendered, imposes a fine of $100, in accordance with the law of 1895. Eleven other trustees in that county likewise failed to publish full reports that year, and also in 1898 and will be prosecuted.

STOLE MEAT

Gen. Blair was down here this forenoon, having charge of a lawsuit in prospect before 'Squire Walter. Skip Barnhart and Dave Johns had been called up for being concerned in the stealing of meat lately going on at Waterloo. It appears that parties there had been missing hams and other meat and the trouble was traced to George Booth. He was arrested serveral days ago and is now in jail here waiting trial It appears also, that finding himself in a tight place, he concluded to give the others away, and so told on Barnhart and Johns. When the latter appeared before 'Squire Walborn, however, they took the advice of their attorney, Gen. Blair, and had their case taken right into court when it begins again.

Buzz Saw Accident

Orla Andress son of S. J. Andress of Jackson, met with a serious accident Saturday. He was working with a buzz saw, cutting wood at Charles Comesky's in Jackson township, when his hand struck the saw and two fingers were taken off and a third one badly injured. He was brought to town to have it dressed.

OBITUARY

Jesse H. Shook was born in Reed township Seneca county, Ohio, Sept. 6, 1829, and died at Auburn April 13, 1899. After an illness of two years and two months of paralysis the end came peacefully and quietly. He came to Indiana with his father John Shook in the spring 1845, and has been a farmer the most of his life, but of late years,on account of ill health, has not done much hard labor. In the early years, from 1845 to 1866 he cleared and worked his father's farm of 80 acres located two and one half miles northwest of Corunna, in Fairfield township; DeKalb county, Indiana. He was married to Miss Rilla Fleming, May 8, 1864. He was the 3rd son of a family of seven brothers and two sisters, of whom four of his brothers are living, E. W. Shook, of Parsons, Kansas; Samuel G. Shook, of Corunna, Ind.; and W. C. Shook. of Kalamazoo, Mich. Besides his four brothers he leaves a wife, two daughters, Mrs. E. T. Cochran, Mrs. C. W. Dalrymple, and one son, John Shook, also one nephew, Wm. Shook, of Kendallville, Ind., and one niece, Mrs. W. C. Caldwell of Akron, Ohio, and two nephews Wm. and John Daily and a niece in Wisconsin. He was always a good, loving brother, and a kind and dutiful father.

A CARD OF THANKS.

The family and relatives, feel under many obligations to their many friends and kind neighbors for the many kindnesses shown them in their great bereavement and loss of a husband, father and brother. Dear friends please accept our heartfelt thanks. Your kindness will ever be remembered.

MRS. RILLA SHOOK and FAMILY.

The Best Cough Remedy on Earth

LUTHER, Mich., Feb. 8, '92.
DR. C, D. WARNER, Coldwater, Mich.

I am well acquainted with the merits of your White Wine of Tar Syrup. I have used it on several occasions when very hoarse from public speaking and when suffering from sore throat. Our postmaster, Mr. Nicholson, had la-grippe and it left him with a very bad cough, had spells of coughing every morning for an hour or more. I met him on the street about three weeks ago and recommended White Wine of Tar Syrup, which he commenced taking and today he is a well man. A little girl here had coughed all winter and no cure could be found. I asked her mother to get White Wine of Tar. She did so and in two weeks she was cured. As you say, it is the best cough remedy on earth. Please send me six bottles by express. Yours Resp'y

REV. E. L. ODLE, Pastor M. E. Church.

Sold in Auburn by Davenport the Druggist.

Grand Anniversary.

This, April 19, is a day justly celebrated in the history of our country. It is the anniversary of the battle of Lexington, and thirty-eight years ago today the first blood was shed in the war of the Rebellion.

Massachusetts' sons were those to whom was given the honor of suffering earliest for the Union as against secession. "Send them home tenderly" was the message which flashed back from Gov. Andrews when the word reached Boston that some of her brave heroes had fallen; but very few had the prescience to apprehend the long years of strife, the fearful bloodshed, the awful cruelties which were to follow; nor that the curse of slavery would be lifted before Peace could again unfurl her banner over our country.

The Raleigh Gets Home

The Cruiser Raleigh, one of Dewey's best warships, reached New York yesterday and received a grand ovation. Every steam whistle in the city, and every flag, and about all the people gave her and her gallant men, a wild greeting of welcome home after her long voyage from Manila. She was the ship that fired the first shot in the battle of Manila Bay, May 1, of last year, nearly a year ago. She is to be overhauled and changed, at the Portsmouth navy yard. She will be cut in two at the middle and made thirty feet longer by putting in that much. It will take about two years.

Started a Fire.

About seven o'clock this morning smoke was discovered in the rooms over the Baxter Restaurant. It was found to be in Cory Baxter's bed room, his bed being on fire. It was soon put out partly and thrown out, so the flames did not spread. The pipe of the stove in the dining room comes up back of the bed, and there is a hole there to receive another pipe. The cover to this hole had got off and it is supposed some coals dropped out and down on the bed. The bed and clothing were ruined. The hose cart came but was not needed.

Promptly Paid.

John A. Miller the Controlling Deputy of the Modern American Fraternal Order, today received a check for $1000 to pay the death loss due the late Ida Green. Her mother, Ruth A. Green is the beneficiary, and the big check will be most welcome to her. Mr. Miller when we saw him, was on his way to see Mrs. Green and deliver the money. It has been only nine days since proofs were filed, and Miss Green had been at a total expense of $4. It is one of the most satisfactory transactions of this kind we remember.

SOME GOOD SALARIES.

A Few Lucky Presidents, Lawyers and Preachers.

Mr. Hyde, president of the Equitable Life Insurance Co. has the largest salary paid in the United States, $100,000 a year, but as he owns a controlling interest it is largely his own money.

Frank Thompson, president of the Pennsylvania railroad receives $50,000.

Chauncey M. Depew, when he was president of the New York Central got $25,000.

John Grates, of the Illinois Central has $40,000 a year.

The highest salary of any preacher in the United States, is that offered to Rabbi Emil Hirsch of the Sinai Jewish congregation in Chicago, and they agree to give him $15,000 a year for fifteen years.

Bishop Potter in New York gets $15,000 a year.

The Archbishop of Camterbury, the highest official proper in the church of England, gets $60,000 a year.

The Archbishop of London and of York get $50,000 each.

The Archbishop of Ireland has a salary of $12,500.

Trinity Church in New York City is the richest church in the world, its annual income chiefly from rents on its buildings is over $300,000 a year. It supports a number of schools, six churches, several hospitals and other charitable institutions, and pays its business manager $10,000 a year and its rector $12,500.

One editor in New York, gets $15,000 a year. We refrain from giving his name, as the fraternity is so very modest. The highest salary paid any others is $10,000.

Some professors in English and Scotch Colleges get $10,000 a year, and are generally better paid than the same grades in the United States. But ordinary teachers over there do not get half as much as ours.

Some lawyers have received enormous fees for a single case. A lawyer in Washington received $200,000 for helping settle the Mora claim against Spain. W. S. Logan of New York and Ex-Pressdent Cleveland have each received as high as $100,000 for a single case. Ex-President Harrison was paid $50,000 as counsel to help settle the Venezuela boundary case.

Out of Court.

The Butler Record says that Vernier has withdrawn that damage case from court on an agreement that each party pays his own costs. That is as good a thing as he could do No jury in DeKalb county would have given Vernier any damages in a case of that sort. He ought to pay Higley $100 for preventing him from getting that nomination and being beaten by Charlie Brown, as he certainly would have been. The campaign would have cost him $100 besides his time.

Mortgage Exemption

Auditor Seiler calls attention to the clause in the new laws in regard to mortgage exemption on assessments The time expires May 1, and all who wish to have their mortgage taken out of their assessment must do so on or before that date. The assessors can explain it to you.

It should also be stated that if a mortgage is partly paid, only the unpaid part can be taken out. This last point should be particularly noticed.

How is Your Gasoline Stove?

R. G. Curtis, an expert at cleaning and repairing gasoline stoves, will be in town for a limited time. He comes well recommended, and work entrusted to his care will be carefully looked after. Owners and users of stoves will understand that this is the proper time to have them cleaned and repaired for the coming season. Mr. Curtis will be located at Culbertson & Boland's.

New Blacksmith Shop.

I have located at the H. C. Shull blacksmith shop, formerly J. W. Shaffer's on South Main st. Will do general blacksmithing, horse-shoeing, etc. Horse-shoeing a specialty. My work for your money. My prices are right. 35 cents for old shoes and 60 for new ones. Call on me. L. E. Homsher.

Lacked Nerve

It is not every man that has the nerve shown by Reporter Willennar, as may be seen by this from an exchange:

A mouse up the sleeve of W. H. Caulkins, Lafayette, who had seated himself in a barber's chair for a shave, when a mouse ran up his leg and caused an acrobatic and disrobing act.

Junk Wanted.

Please save your money. Don't forget to bring all your junk to H. Greenberg, three blocks north of M. E. church in Auburn, who pays best cash prices for rags, rubber, copper, brass, zinc, lead, scrap iron and all kinds of hides and furs. tf

Notice to Taxpayers

I will keep the treasurer's office open each day from 7:30 a. m. to 9 p. m., till May 1, in order to accommodate all who are too busy to call in the middle of the day.

F. M. HINES,
Treasurer DeKalb County.

Bismarck's Sarcophagus.

This piece of exquisite workmanship is as its name denotes, to be the coffin in which the body of the great German Chancellor is to rest, the sarcophagus itself being placed within a splendid above-ground vault or mausoleum. A writer in Harper's Magazine in speaking of the fine building or mausoleum which is to be his monument, says the great German statesman has a grander monument, in the high esteem in which he is held by the German people. While the coolness between him and the young emperor kept him in seclusion all the recent years of his life, it did not drive from the hearts of the people their love for the man, who more than all others had made Germany a great nation. This love is also evidenced by the immense sale of Bismarck's book of his own life, which had 318,000 copies ordered before the book was out of the printer's hands. This is the more remarkable, because the price was high, being put at 20 marks or about $6.75. It was also at once translated in the languages of most of the leading nations. Our illustration shows us the sarcophagus of Prince Bismarck, which lately arrived at Friedsichsruh, and which has been placed in the newly built mausoleum. It is made of pink marble from the designs of Herr Schurbach, of Hanover, and is in the strictly Roman style. Its dimensions are 10 feet long, 5 broad and 51½ inches high.

By Courtesy of Harper & Brothers.

The Dear Dog

There was a dog killing case up before 'Squire Walter last evening in which a young man from Wilmington named Milan Albright was the pricipal Mr. Pomeroy represented the state and John W. Baxter the defense. It appears that last Sunday some little boys, were out in the woods and with them was a beagle hound belonging to Andy Boyd. While the boys were at play, the dog got after a chipmuck,and running around in a circle, got over onto Albright's land and Milan shot him. Then, to conceal the dog, he was dragged away and buried Mr. Boyd missed his dog, and as the Albrights have the reputation of killing dogs, he tracked them up and found where the dog was buried. He dug him up and finding he was shot, had young Albright arrested The case was before 'Squire Walters, beginning last evening about 7 o'clock and closing about midnight. Young Albright was fined $1 which with the needed trimmings came to $25.05. It is unlawful to kill a dog registered for taxation.

FOR SALE

The first two lots north of "Bab" Lewis' residence- One of them vacant, and the other a corner lot with large frame house, good cellar, woodhouse and summer kitchen, frame barn, good well and cistern, some fruit, and handy to the schools and church. Will sell the lots separately or both together. See the occupant, Mrs. Kitty Weaver. for price and other particulars. 15-18

Slipper Sale!

We have made just two lines of our Slipper Stock.

Prices 97c and $1.47

Sold at $1.50 to $3.50

Come quick if you want a HOUSE or STREET slipper at these prices.

Bishop AND Reidler

YOUR SHOEMAKERS.

CLUB NOTES.

The L. L. C. met with Mrs. Swineford last Saturday with a fair attendance. The program was of a varied character. "Minneapolis and its points and interest," was the name of a paper given by Mrs. J. E. Rose. It was full of information gleaned by her while in that city on several visits to her sisters who reside there, and being an account of her personal observations was all the more entertaining to the club. Mrs Guild gave a short, but excellent account of "Fort Snelling and the Upper Mississippi," which was in a continuation of the former paper. "American Superstitions" was treated in a very easy and graceful way by Miss Margaret Buckley. In her judgment the American people were too busy to have many superstitions, and what few there were, were only the remains of imported ones. "Keeping Secrets," was the subject of a bright little paper given by Mrs Zimmerman. She took quite an unusual side of the questions, and advised the ladies if they wished a secret kept to not always tell their husbands. The discussion for plans of work was continued. Miss Minnich of Goshen was a guest for the afternoon. The club will meet with Mrs. Sprott next Saturday.

The Reading Club held no regular session last week but gave the Reception instead, a full account of which was given last Thursday. The club will meet Wednesday with Mrs. McCord.

We have no report from the Culture Club, but learn they had a good meeting. They meet next Saturday with Miss Elsie Caruth.

The Up-to-Date Club met with Miss Madge Lackey last Friday evening. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed by those present.

BUTLER.

William Harding was home over Sunday.

Dr. Madden remains nearly stationary, possibly gaining a little.

Sam Jones spent Sunday with his family. He is doing parts of Mich.

Iraac D. Daily was taken seriously ill the first of last week and has had a very serious time of it. His daughter Bertha, accidentally stepped on a tack or nail and has been unable to stand on her foot since. All in all Mr. Daily's are suffering more than the ordinary lot of people do □ Isaac Stiefel has gone to the southwest for his health.

Mrs. Romain C. Campbell has been dangerously sick for the past week. Her mother mother Mrs. Hamilton was hastily summoned from Chicago, and is now ministering to her wants. Praise without limit is given to the noble ladies of the Daughters of Rebekah Lodge, and others for their universal kindness, in caring for her during her extreme peril. Her friends think they saved her life.

Butler is stirred from center to circumference, over the coming corporation election. The republicans have put in nomination, A. G. Jones for trustee, a good man for the place; Lister Harding to succeed himself as treasurer; Milton Hines for marshal. Mr. H. has been a former patron saint of the saloon element, but has broken faith with them in some way, and is now tabooed by them to a man, The democrats have nominated Charley Madden for trustee, a good clear man Henry Levi, for treasurer, a good man also; and Daniel Tomlinson for marshal, a favorite of the saloon keepers. Opposed to him was Charles Wagner, a good man and a straight out teetotaller, but whisky beat him by about three votes. Considerable friction exists over parts of both tickets, and the chance of a mixed ticket being elected is nearly certain. I believe this is the first time a Butler saloon representative ever got a nomination for an office and shows the depth to which the temperance sentiment has been dragged by town officers becoming patrons of saloons and gambling dens. The marshal account is expected to again show shortage.

A Jackson Klondike

Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Lochner live on old home farm down in Jackson township and a few days ago, Mrs. Lochner was cleaning up things in the big cellar The house is a large brick structure built by the father, Jacob Lochner many years ago. In this cellar he had a separate room, about ten feet square which was his own part of it. In this he would store his choicest apples and other things he especially prized, and here too he made himself a sort of office and kept his books and papers, and probably any item of cash he did not wish to carry about. This brings us to our story, Mrs. Lochner, as we said, was cleaning up the cellar and when she came to this little room, she began sweeping the dirt floor, and noticed something that looked bright and shining. On closer examination she found it to be two pieces of silver money, a quarter lying on top of a silver dollar, with no more over them than the loose dirt that would naturally accumulate in the course of a few years. They had not been planted and covered up, but appear to have been laid there on the dirt floor and been forgotten. It pays to be neat and to tidy up once in a while.

"A Thrilling Night's Ride"

Is the title of a very interesting illustrated story, which will be mailed free upon receipt of 2 cents postage, by

A. H. Waggener, 6 Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind. 16-17

What Can We Offer You

In the way of.....

HARDWARE and FARM MACHINERY

that will attract your attention?

We have the most complete stock ever seen in our city, and you know that, as usual, our prices are right

Do you need anything for spring that we carry

?

Do you know that we have built up a wonderful trade by right prices and right goods.

?

Do you know that we have the most complete stock of

Hardware, Farm Machinery Wagons and Buggins

in DeKalb County

?

If you will drop in and see us we will be able to convince you at once that we have the goods that you want, and the prices alone will tell the story.

Don't fail to see our Carriage Repository, it is the finest in Northern Indiana,

Culbertson & Boland, Auburn, Ind.

FREE! FREE!

Rand, McNally & Co's. Universal Atlas of the World

Containing Entirely New Large Scale Maps of every State in the United States, and of Every Country in the World. This Atlas is the Edition of 1899, and has Special Maps of Cuba, Peurto Rico, The Philippines, and other war localities.

The Complete Work Embraces

64 Pages of artistically colored diagrams relating to imports, exports, populations, etc.

157 Pages of colored maps.

98 Pages of illustrated history and biography.

125 Portraits and biographies of eminent statesmen, soldiers, and writers.

An Index naming and locating every city, village, post office, railway, and express station in the United States, besides giving the latest official census complete.

Total number of pages, 456. Weighs eight pounds.
Size of book when closed, 11½x14½ inches.
Elegantly bound in Half Morocco. Sold for $6.00 at retail,

OUR OFFER:

We will give Atlas Checks at the rate of one with every 25 cents' worth of goods purchased. (Two for 50 cents, four for $1.00, etc.)

When you have secured 300 of these, take them to F. E. DAVENPORT'S DRUG STORE, and you will receive a copy of the Atlas gratis.

Auburn, Indiana.

M. JONES & SON, Dry Goods.
BISHOP & BEIDLER, Boots and Shoes.
M. E. GARRETT, Groceries.
F. E. DAVENPORT, Drugs, Books and Stationery.
SHEFFER & CHANY, Meats.
PIONEER HARDWARE CO., Hardware, Stoves, etc.
J. H. NEHER, Photographer (Hoffman Gallery).
MRS. A. C. LEAS, Millinery.
D. A. HODGE, Jewelry.

REMEMBER

That you do not have to purchase the 300 checks at any one store.
That checks from all the above stores count.
That you have a whole year in which to secure 300.
That you must ALWAYS ASK FOR THE CHECKS.
That none other but ATLAS CHECKS count
THAT YOU CAN SECURE THE SAME CHECKS AT WATERLOO AND GARRETT.

Business IS Booming

That is the true situation at the Big Store. No matter if the weather is cold and spring lingers in the lap of winter, people have put off buying for the last time. Hence, the new activity and increased crowds at the people's store. We have always newest goods and exceptionally low bargains for you.

6c For first-class Crash Toweling, worth fully, 8c.

5c For Men's Socks in Blue and Brown, seam less, well made.

79c For 2-clasp Kid Gloves in all the new spring shades.

5c For Torchon Laces, assorted widths, with insertion to match, worth 12c.

12½c For Silkaline Draperies, 36-in wide, new patterns and colors.

5c For card of Pearl buttons, one dozen on card.

1c For paper of good Pins' full count, 520.

10c For 24 sheets writing paper and 24 envelopes worth more money.

10c For large bottle amonia, for bath and laundries, etc.

25c For a Good Quality Summer Corset.

5c For three spools of basting thread, assorted colors,

25c For Men's working shirt, best value ever offered.

49c For Ladies Ready-made wrappers, well made, assorted colors.

35c For Skirt pattern, cat stitched bottom, with stripe woven in.

50c For Men's negligee shirts, two collars and pair cuffs.

10c For 6-Foot window shades, spring rollers, good colors.

75c For pair of Lace curtains, 3 yards long, pretty designs.

10c For Curtain poles and fixtures, all qualities and wood.

10c For Cotton chain and Japanese matting, Better goods for more money.

50c For choice of pretty shirt waists, laundried ready-to-wer.

10c For Men's and boys straw hats, excellent values, wide rims.

35c For Men,s and boys' checked over shirts, with pockets.

50c For men's and boys' best make overalls, with bibb, warranted not to rip.

5c For Fancy new Percales, 36-inches wide, your choice from 39 patterns.

5c For Amoskeag Ginghams, all staple checks and colors.

5c For Full yard wide Bleached Muslin, cost more money elsewhere

11c For 10-4 Sheeting, worth 15c elsewhere.

10c For Table oil cloth, choice of several patterns.

GEO. W. LACKEY,

Successor to the Bishop & Lackey Co. — Auburn, Ind.

The Hoffman Gallery

as heretofore has a fine patronage because it does the best work, Our work is our advertisement, and our prices are reasonable for the kind of work we do a POOR picture is dear at ANY price.

We have no special fads, but furnish you with any thing done in a first class gallery with our warrantee at that

Ask Our Business Men About the Hoffman Gallery

We welcome all, from the oldest man or woman, to the tiniest baby to our studio whether work is to be done or not.

We thank our friends for their kind words of preciation. Yours,

J. H. & Mrs. Neher.

IDEAL MUSIC,

"Sweet as the angel Israfil's,
When every leaf on Eden's tree
Was trembling to his minstrelsy."

can be produced from an EBERSOLE PIANO. The Ebersole possesses a tone that no other maker has been able to imitate—being full and deep, yet with that clear singing quality which stamps it the peer of all upright pianos for homes of culture and refinement.

Frank B. Long,
119 Calhoun-St. cor Washington,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

THE BEST OF THEM ALL!!

LIPPINCOTT'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE

Contains a complete novel in every number, in addition to a large quantity of useful and entertaining reading matter.

No continued stories, which are so objectionable to most readers.

It should be in every household. Subscription, $3.00 per year.

Agents wanted in every town, to whom the most liberal inducements will be offered.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY, Publishers, PHILADELPHIA.

Plumbing

Having secured the services of a first class plumber I am now prepared to do plumbing in a first-class manner. Also of all kinds a specially. Large stock of Tanks made of galvanized steel. Prices and work guaranteed.

Roofing, Spouting and Galvanized Iron Work.....

F. M. RUSH.

HUMPHREYS'

WITCH HAZEL

OIL

CURES
- Piles or Hemorrhoids
- Fissures & Fistulas.
- Burns & Scalds.
- Wounds & Bruises.
- Cuts & Sores.
- Boils & Tumors.
- Eczema & Eruptions.
- Salt Rheum & Tetters.
- Chapped Hands.
- Fever Blisters.
- Sore Lips & Nostrils.
- Corns & Bunions.
- Stings & Bites of Insects.

Three Sizes, 25c, 50c. and $1.00.

Sold by druggists, or sent post-paid on receipt of price

HUMPHREYS' MED. CO., 111 & 113 William St., New York.

Monday's Daily.

—W. S, Dancer was in town this forenoon.

—Scrub your floors and wood work with Carpetine, tf

—Miss Rosa Schiffli is visiting her parents at Summit.

—Mr. and Mrs, Irvin Hoffman left today for St. Louis.

—Ask any druggist for a free Peruna Almanac for the year 1899.

—Myron Pontius one of our young Fairfield friends was a caller today.

—Judge Hartman left for Angola today, as court begins there this week.

Christian Smith, of Concord, was a caller Saturday at the COURIER office.

—C. C. Neidig is another lucky man that is on our 1900 COURIER list now.

—Sam Henney and Isaiah Shenneman of Fairfield were callers Saturday on their friend in the COURIER office.

—A. Foster of Newville got even with the COURIER this morning by paying up into 1900

—FOR SALE. Two good horses, ages 7 and 4. Call on T. J. Baxter 2¼ miles east of Summit, Ind.

—There was a wedding at the Lutheran church yesterday by Mr. Brosy. They were Wm. Hoodlemyer and Addie Poorman.

—H. L. Fultz remembered the poor printer and his poor wood pile today. Henry has been a faithful friend of the COURIER for twenty years.

—Geo. Lanning is suffering from some sort of rheumatic affection, that bids fair to be troublesome. It seems to be in his arms and shoulders.

—Indiana has been furnishing college presidents for other states, and now she furnishes Boston with a superintendent of the latter's almshouse.

—Gen. Jasper Packard of the New Albany Tribune, has been chosen commander of the Soldier's home at Lafayette to take the place of McGrew.

—Geo. Baxter was home from Pierceton over Sunday, He brings word the Dr, Hays, well known to many of our readers, died there about a week ago.

—BEGG'S HAIR RENEWER.—The old reliable Hair Restorer and Invigorator, for over thirty years the leader in its line. If you give it a trial you will recommend it to your friends. Sold by H. B, McCord.

The DeKalb boy is still in evidence. The latest we notice is the nomination of Dr. J. W. Morr, now a resident, of Albion, as a candidate on the democratic ticket for treasurer at the coming corporation election.

—S. C. Clark teacher of the 7th grade in our public schools, has resigned and Robert Coe takes his place, beginning today. Mr. Coe has been a successful teacher so far. and we hope he may be successful in his new place.

—We rise to record another democractic victory. At the recent township elections in Illinois. Mrs. James Mansfield of Rio, Ill., defeated her husband, for school trustee by a large majority. She is a democrat and he a republican.

—P. T. Rhoads who had the misfortune to lose his hands in the corn shredder last fall did not lose his grip on good business methods at all. His head is clear and when he saw there was a wood famine, he remembered the COURIER in good shape.

—In Mississippi has been discovered a sort of stone wall or path extending from the river forty miles and ending in a stone pile 400 feet high. The stones are about one size 30 by 18 by 12 inches. It is supposed some ancient people built it to escape from the annual floods.

—MARRIED:—At the residence of Thomas Brown in East Auburn April 15, 1899, Mr. Lewis S. Brown to Miss Imogene Lanning, Rev. W. L. Meese officiating. The groom is a son of Thomas Brown and the bride is a resident of Union township. The COURIER wishes prosperity for both.

—Rev. M. E. Ingalls of Waterloo has been assigned to the Elkhart circuit of the M, E. church. That is surely a more promising thing than running against John Krontz for surveyor. He is a pretty good man, and has considerable ability as a preacher, and we have no doubt will some day get a good place.

—It seems to be the opinion that this dry spell will hurt the wheat far more than the recent bad weather. The plants had been greatly injured, but there were many fields that showed a part was still alive, and a rain would have started it into life while dry weather withers up what little life was left.

—C. C. Shaffer, E. Zimmerman and Charles Kinsey and their wives went over to St. Joe yesterday to attend the funeral of Mr- Olds, the father of Arthur Olds and M. E. Olds. He was an old pioneer of that part of the county, and had been in business at Fort Wayne at a still earlier date, when that city was a little village.

—People wonder why Will Snell got discharged from the 15th regulars and came home and in a week or two rejoined the army, going into another regiment of regulars. The reason he gave to the writer seems satisfactory. He likes the service well if he can be within the United States. But he did not like Cuba, her climate, nor her people.

—Nellie Franks came home Saturday for the first time since she went away, and staid over Sunday. She returns this evening as far as Reading where she will stay over night with Miss Jones, the young lady who recently visited the family of Geo. Lanning. Then she goes to Hillsdale and from there to White Pigeon, where she takes the Grand Rapids road to Schoolcraft, where she is employed.

Tuesday's Daily.

—Mrs. S. S. Potter and little child are sick,

—Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. Groscop spent the day at Fort Wayne.

—Fort Wayne reports 73 lawyers living there or within the county.

—If you want the latest styles and the best good shoes to be had for the money patronize Shull's shoe store.

—J. G. Stonebreaker, of Corunna was in town today on business connected with the death of the late Jesse Shook.

—John Row of Fairfied is another business farmer who has added his name to the COUIERR to 1900. Still they come.

—Among the Waterloo ladies we noticed in town today, were Mrs. J. S. Jackman, Mrs. H. K. Leas and Mrs Prentiss Gill.

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co.. Goshen, Ind. 8

—The legislature of Pennsylvania is about to adjourn without being able to agree on a United States senator. The term of Senator Quay expired March 4.

—When you want a new pair of Shoes call on Wilson who can show you more nice, neat, stylish shoes at $2, $2.50 and $3 than any store in the city.

—Running Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, etc., quickly cured by Banner Salve the most healing salve in the world. Price 25 cents. No other "just as good."

—Frank Rush has a new ad, in the two COURIERS now. He is having lots of business and employing more hands to enable him to get out into the country and do work.

—J. L. Rhodenbaugh of Leo, has had several years experience as auctioneer. Those who have sales to cry, are requested to give him a call, or address him at Leo. tf

—R. W. Williams of Artic was here Monday and put his COURIER up into the class of 1900. Roy is bound to keep up the family reputation for correct business methods.

—Mrs. W. C. Hartman and baby came up today from Roann. Mrs. Hartman is troubled with some affection of the throat and comes to have Dr. Swarts treat her.

—Mrs. Wm. Armstrong and son were in town Saturday evening. They live on the Hi Weaver farm, and report the finest field of wheat they ever saw. The ground is covered with a heavy growth that is green and fresh.

—A letter from S. Z. Dickinson leaves him visiting his son, Charles at Tecumseh, Mich, He says wheat up that way is nearly all killed and the fruit greatly injured, They think the peach buds are all dead.

—Taylor Shobe the Ligonier horse dealer was here today, and bought a horse of M. Kline on North Main-st. Taylor was one of our pupils at Ligonier and of course was trained in the way a successful man should be.

—Begg's Cherry Syrup gives you the essential qualities of the cherry tree bark from which it derives its name. It cures your stubborn colds, coughs of long standing and croup. It is the best known cure for LaGrippe. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Hay dealers have had an unusually prosperous year, in witness whereof, we mention the fact that the storks brought to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles LaDue this morning a fine, healthy boy. Dr, Baxter reports all doing well, even Charlie is able to be about.

—Volunteer soldiers in the Philippines will probably be mustered out as soon as they can be spared with safety. But we have no sympathy with those governors of states who are urging the President th send them home at once. If the army is reduced too much, those who have to stay will be in great danger.

—Dwight Ill., does not get all its notoriety from the big Keely Institute located there. It was at that point over thirty years ago that the then young Prince of Wales, traveling as plain "Mr. Hamilton" spent a week or two with a party of friends to shoot prairie chickens which were abundant on the then wild prairie.

—The Sultan of Turkey has lost one of his wives, but not by death. She ran off with an Englishman. It is well known she could not have got out of the harem, without the knowledg of the guards in charge, and as they do not know which one is guilty, all are to be whipped and put on bread and water in a dungeon. Kings have troubles of their own.

—We received today a set of copy books from Ira T. Eaton, son-in-law of Rev, W. L. Meese, who is now a book publisher in Chicago as we noted a few weeks ago. These books teach the upright system similar to that taught by the writing master who was here last winter. It will please Mr. Eaton's many friends in Auburn to know that he got the contract for funishing all the copy books for the state. Once more the DeKalb man is in it.

—J. W. French, so long the warden of the prison at Michigan City, but now warden of the U. S. prison at Leavenworth, Kansas, is being investigated on a charge made by one of the guards. The latter had been discharged for getting drunk and is probably trying to get even. French is considered one of the best wardens in the country. It was under his management that the prison at Michigan City passed the point of sustaining itself, and began to pay a revenue into the state treasury. Now the monthly bills of Michigan City are paid from the state treasury in part.

Wednesday's Daily.

—Milton Bailey is on the sick list.

—Clyde Brandon's little girl is sick.

—Carpetine for sale at Baxter's Restaurant.

—Two good barns for sale cheap. Enquire of M. Boland.

—A. M. A. Miller and wife, of Hicksville, are in town.

—Remove the grease and stains from your carpets with Carpetine.

—North Main-st residence for sale. Easy terms. Inquire at this office.

—Just received at Davenport's, new lot of Wall Paper at 6c per double roll.

—Mrs. James Matson of Pleasant Lake is visiting Prof. and Mrs. Brown.

—Old Mrs. Smith, stepmother to Mrs. Henry Hines has been sick for a time.

—HOUSE TO RENT:—Good location on North Main-st. Call on O, P. Myers.

—The Waterloo men who have been held for stealing meat, have been let out on bail.

—Don't think about buying shoes until you have seen the new styles at Shull's shoe store. D-W-tf.

—WANTED:—A good girl to do housework with a family in the country. Call here.

—Dr. Long, the ocultist made his first vist here today. He will come here about twice a month.

—$4 buys the best Men's Tan Shoes in the city at Wilson's. Color and style all right for the "Boys."

—Hi Cupp was at Fort Wayne again this week and reports Wils McClellan doing well at his new location, —Sheriff Hathaway went down to the Junction today to arrest Albert Hagenau charged with stealing chickens.

—Don't forget Wilson when you want shoes. His popular line of shoes at $1.50, $2, $2.50, $3 are the finest in the city.

—Will Olds was here today, on his way to his home near Plainwell, Mich. John Bishop who lives near Plainwell goes with him.

—Talking about styles in shoes. if you want the real thing, call at Shull's shoe store and take a look at the new styles for spring. D-W-tf.

—There was a lovely April shower last evening the first one so far, and greatly needed. But it probably came too late for the young wheat.

—The good Citizen's League will hold its regular meeting next Monday night, the 24th, at the Baptist church. Matters of much interest will be considered.

—Our dealers in agricultural implements, who go go over the country a good deal, and are interested in studying the conditions, say the wheat crop will be a very slim one.

—FOR RENT:—Five or six good rooms, about April 15, to family without small children.

J. N. WILSON
West 5th-st.

—Geo. M. Reinœhl, of Fairfield, was a caller today, and paid the subscription of his father, Michael Reinœhl up into 1900. He says he has excellent wheat although many fields are killed.

—All services will be held at the Lutheran church next Sunday as usual as the repairs on the church will be all done before that date. All please take notice of this. You are invited to attend.

—A Battle For Life. You need for perfect health a plentiful and constant supply of new blood. Begg's Blood Purifer and Blood tones the stomach and assists digestion. We sell it. H. B, McCord.

—Frank B. Long, the piano man, has sold one of his fine Ebersole pianos to Ed. Robbins. It is an evidence of the excellence of these instruments, that they hold the taste of discriminating musicians.

—W. S. Purdy reports W. A. Dannels getting along some better, but he has had a serious time. Some affection of the bones of the jaw caused a partial decay of the bone. Mr. Purdy's mother who lives at Butler is in poor health.

—Frank Foltz made a visit to Fort Monday and returned Tuesday bringing Mrs. Susan Foltz with him. Mrs. Foltz has been at the Hope Hosptial taking treatment for her eyes. Her sight is greatly improved, we are glad to report.

—A Normal Institute under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., will be held in Auburn for two days and two evenings beginning Friday morning April 28, and closing Saturday evening April 29, 1899.

By order of Pres.

—The contract the State Board made for school books last fixes the price in each case. Mr. Eaton got the writing books, as we stated, the price being 5 cents a copy for all grades. All dealers, all over state the are to be given the privilege of handling all school books.

—The Degree of Honor ladies have postponed their anniversary entertainment till next Tuesday evening, April 25 on account of the theater Friday evening. They have arranged a fine program of music, recitations, solos, dialogue, etc. Also, a cake walk will be a prominent feature. All invited to come and enjoy it with them. Mite 10 cents.

—The big scenic production "The Span of Life," will be the attraction at the Opera House Friday night. Manager Henry has engaged the famous Danazetti Trio of acrobats who will be seen in a number of their startling feats and also form the bridge of the human body. Seat on sale at Davenport's Wednesday morning. Price 25, 35 and 50c. Remember the curtain will go up for this play at o'clock sharp.

THIS WEEK!

A SPECIAL SALE

100 Doz.

Misses' and Children's Crow Black Cotton Hose, sizes 5 to 10; Others Ask You 15 cents.....

Our Price Is

10c

LADIES' and MISSES' SPRING UNDERWEAR.

Ladies' and Misses' Ribbed best	5c
Ladies' and Misses' Ribbed Jersey	10c
Ladies' and Misses' Ribbed Derby	15c
Ladies' and Misses' Ribbed Swiss	23c

The New Idea Pattern

10c

The Bazar Store,

F. J. Nebelung, Proprietor.

—Koons & Son lost a light two horse wagon, the same night that Grube's and Rhodenbaugh's horses were stolen. They think the men who stole the two horses and the two harness, knew where it could be found and came up this way and took it. It has not been seen since that night.

—Do you understand that the persistant use of BEGGS BLOOD PURIFIER and BLOOD MAKER will drive disease germs out of your system and life will be worth living. You cannot cure in one week or one month, a blood trouble that has been years in getting a footnold. BEGGS LITTLE GIANT PILLS should be taken twice a week with this remedy. We keep it. Howard McCord.

—When you are in need of church choir music, Decoration Day music, Fourth of July music, Christmas music, Easter music, music for Old Soldier's meetings or picnics, Sunday School song books, Children's exercises for Easter, Christmas, Autumn and Children,s Day or in fact, music for any occasion, write to Dept. Z, THE ECHO MUSIC CO., Chicago, Ill., for their complete catalogue of musical publications.

—AGENTS WANTED:—For "The Life and Achievements of Admiral Dewey," the world's greatest naval hero. By Murat Halstead, the life-long friend and admirer of the nation's idol. Biggest and best book; over 500 pages, 8x10 inches; nearly 100 pages halftone llustrations; map in colors. Only $1.50 Enormous demand. Big commissions outfit free. Chance of a lifetime. Write quick. The Dominion Company Caxton Bldg., Chicago.

—Inasmuch as I have repeatedly been asked, whether I would not teach the German language, therefore I have concluded to do so on the following terms. If a class of of 15 will take lessons, I will teach in an hour an a half once a week for $1.50 per lesson. The class finding the place of meeting, light and fuel. If more than 15 wish to take lessons they will pay at the rate of ten cents per lesson. For further information call on Edward Baxter.

REV. HENRY ARLEN.

Texas Cotton for Japan.

Texans recently shipped their first cargo of cotton for the Japanese markets. It consisted of 13,832 bales, and was loaded on the Japanese steamer Tamba Maru. She is said to have been the first vessel ever loaded at a gulf port for Japan, and will go by way of the Suez Canal to Kobe, Yokohama, and Nagasaki. Englishmen command the vessel, but her crew is made up entirely of Japanese.

PILES Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment will cure Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles. It absorbs the tumors, allays the itching at once, acts as a poultice, gives instant relief. Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is prepared for Piles and itching of the private parts. Every box is warranted. By druggists, by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents and $1.00. WILLIAMS MANUFACTURING CO., Props., Cleveland, Ohio. Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

William's Kidney Pills

Has no equal in diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs. Have you neglected your Kidneys? Have you overworked your nervous system and caused trouble with your Kidneys and Bladder? Have you pains in the loins, side, back, groins and bladder? Have you a flabby appearance of the face, especially under the eyes? Too frequent desire pass urine? William's Kidney Pills will impart new life to the diseased organs, tone up the system and make a new man of you. By mail 50 cents per box.

WILLIAMS MFG. CO., Props., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

POWER IS SUDDENLY CUT OFF.

Switch Device to Prevent Crossing Accidents.

The railroad companies have assumed the responsibility for the safety of life and person on many of the surface crossings in Chicago, especially where trolley cars cross their lines at grade, They utilize a simple system in the matter. It might be called an interlocking system. A watchman in a tower keeps a lookout for the coming and going of trains on the railroad lines, and the approach of the street cars. When he sees a train and a street car approaching at the same time he pulls a lever in his tower. That act "switches" a section, about two feet long, in one of the rails of the street car line, and the current is shut off from the trolley line. Of course the car is brought to a stop—suddenly sometimes, with the result of shaking up passengers. If it be at night, of course, the cars are darkened, and passengers have to sit and wait with no light. But the system, according to railroad men, of street and steam lines, is the safest and surest yet devised for the prevention of the "grade-crossing horror" which used to figure so frequently and prominently in the newspapers.

Rope Lightning Rods.

The reason why ships are not struck by lightning is attributed to the general use which is now made of wire rope for rigging purposes, as well as to the fact that the hulls of the ships are usually constructed of iron or steel. Thus the whole ship forms an excellent and continuous conductor, by means of which the electricity is led away into the ocean before it has time to do any serious damage.

Auburn Normal

Auburn will have a Summer Normal beginning June 12. The work will be adapted especially to teachers wishing to review and those preparing to teach. Instruction will be given also in any higher studies that may be desired. It will be our aim to make this school profitable to our students and worthy of their patronage and we know it to be the opinion of the County Superintendent that such a school should be held.

For information address H. G. Brown Secretary, or any other instructor.

Instructors { B. B. Harrison, H. G. Brown, Mrs. E. M. Richards.

6tf

DEVOTED TO CHARITY

BARONESS HIRSCH, WHO RECENTLY PASSED AWAY.

Was the Friend of the Poor, and Spent Many Millions in Philanthropic Enterprises—Some of This Noble Woman's Many Beneficences.

One of the world's greatest philanthropists and one whose demise will be mourned by millions of Christians and Hebrews passed away at Paris in the death of Baroness Hirsch. The benevolent undertakings of this amiable woman and of her husband will bear fruit for many generations.

It is rarely that a husband and wife can be found who have entered into the spirit of a great work with such thorough harmony as did Baron and Baroness Hirsch. Through the later lifetime of the Baron, and until he died on April 21, 1896, his wife was his best helper and adviser. Indeed, she was a thorough partner in his work, for much of her own personal inheritance of $20,000,000 was devoted to charitable purposes. Since the death of the Baron she had carried on the work of putting into execution his plans, and had in many ways added to their scope and made them more effective.

BARONESS HIRSCH.

Baroness Hirsch was a member of the family of Bischoffsheim, with which Baron de Hirsch had been associated in many business operations. She was a daughter of a member of the great banking firm of Bischoffsheim & Goldschmidt, which was long a power in European financial circles. It was in 1883, when the Baron gave up the business of making money and retired from the active management of his railroad and other enterprises, that he married Miss Bischoffsheim. Her own fortune, large though it was, was only a small factor as compared with his, and it was separately invested and used for separate purposes.

The Baroness was a strong, sympathetic and self-reliant woman. While her benevolence did not at all points coincide with those of her husband, in the most important matters the two were as one. Considering how fully the lives of the two were bound up in these various undertakings for the good of humanity, it can be truly said that the biographies of these two people from 1883 to the dates of their deaths can be written from their charities and from them only. What great means they had to support them in their work is well known. The Baron's fortune, when he stopped building new railways from central Europe to the far east, was considered the only private fortune in Europe that approached that of the Rothschilds, and was estimated at about $200,000,000.

Some Great Benefactions.

After the Baron's death the Baroness retained active connection with the various European charities, which she, with her husband, founded, but became better known than ever in America through the extension of her benevolence for the special benefit of the Jewish poor of New York. The work took three phases. First, there was the development of the Baron Hirsch trade schools, which were planned on unique lines, and have already done untold good in New York. Second, there was the Claire Hirsch Home for Working Girls, an institution which has recently been copied in other American cities, including Chicago. Lastly, there was a new Baroness Hirsch fund of $1,000,000 created for the removal of the unfortunates from the New York Ghetto, and the transplanting of them in suburbs and agricultural communities, where their hard labor and willing work would accomplish good both for themselves and for the industrial community.

The Working Girls' Home had perhaps the stamp of the Baroness' individuality most fully impressed upon it. The idea arose from letters which the Baroness received in Paris in regard to the sufferings and wretched surroundings of Jewish working girls in New York City. After much thought she hit upon the right plan, to her mind, and at once made arrangements, through her American agent, to carry it out. She provided funds for the erection of a fine building as a home on 63d street, between 2d and 3d avenues, immediately back of the Hirsch Trade Schools, and added $15,000 a year for running expenses. Before this building was erected she provided a temporary home on a smaller scale, so that there would be no delay in having the work begun. The plan was to give girls the benefits of a home, with pleasant and elevating surroundings, at the least possible expense to the inmates. Not a charity, but a place where poor girls could get the worth of their money and more, too, was desired. Arrangements are made so that girls out of employment can do housework for their board and room, and at the same time get good training in domestic matters.

Other Beneficences.

Still more interesting from a sociological point of view is the work of actually ameliorating the condition of tenement life in the New York Ghetto. The baroness provided first of all for careful investigation of the conditions by an expert, Dr. Milton Reitzenstein. Here, as usual, direction and control were provided for the poor Hebrews instead of degrading, direct charity. Through the fund provided by the Baroness the way has been made easy for small manufacturers, once in tenement rooms in the Ghetto, to secure sites and buildings in villages and towns near New York, and easy for their work people to secure homes near by. Model tenements and model workshops are also in the program of this work.

Among the Baroness' many gifts to charity in Europe was a donation of 2,000,000 francs to the Pasteur Institute in Paris; a similar sum to found an asylum for the employes of the railroads of Turkey, in which her husband had vast interests, and large endowments for hospitals in London and Paris and other European capitals.

How many millions the Baroness expended in charities will never be known, for a considerable share of her benefactions were private. She despised notoriety and only when unavoidable was her name associated with her beneficences.

The only son of Baron and Baroness Hirsch died several years ago and they afterward adopted two boys. In her will the Baroness leaves several million pounds sterling to charity.

KIPLING'S "BLUE ROSES."

How a Little Washington Girl Discovered Them for Him.

There is a pretty little story told of Kipling and a tiny Washington girl 5 years old, which shows that, although Mr. Kipling may not be always "interviewable" to grown folks, he is to the little ones. The little girl heard her mother reading aloud the three verses of "Blue Roses," a chapter heading in "The Light That Failed," running:

Roses red and roses white,
Plucked I for my love's delight;
She would none of all my posies—
Bade me gather her blue roses.

Half the world I wandered through,
Seeking where such flowers grew;
Half the world unto my quest—
Answered but with laugh and jest.

It may be beyond the grave
She shall find what she would have,
Oh, 'twas but an idle quest—
Roses white and red are best.

The idea seemed to impress the child though she said nothing at the time. One afternoon when her mother took her downtown shopping Gloria suddenly discovered on a counter a little china tray painted with blue roses and forget-me-nots.

"Why, there are some blue roses," she cried, "and Mr. Rudyard Kipling couldn't find any where he lives. Buy them for him, mamma, and tell him we have blue roses in Washington. Let me write him a letter and send it, too." So the following letter was sent to Mr. Kipling:

Gloria Point, March 8, 1896.

Dear Mr. Rudyard Kipling—I send you some "blue roses" and forget-me-nots. I didn't have to wander the world half through to find these little blue roses on the little white dish. I haven't "eaten your bread and salt nor drunk your water and wine," but I know your verses and I like them. I am a little girl 5 years old, and I live in Tennallytown, D. C., and my name is GLORIA JOHN HUNT.

P. S.—My sister "Ferginia" wrote this for me, but I told her what to say.

Mr. Kipling's answer was:

Naulakha, Waite, Vt., March 15, 1896.

My Dear Miss Hunt—Your very nice little present of "Blue Roses" has just come to me, and I write at once to thank you for it. I am going to use it for a pen tray, as I have not got one, and it will live between a Burmese idol who sits on my penwiper and a little figure of an Arab who nods his head when he isn't doing duty as a paper weight.

I am glad you find it so easy to come by blue roses. They are a kind of flower that grows scarcer as one grows older, but forget-me-nots are always in fashion. With ever so many thanks, believe me, my dear Miss Hunt, yours very sincerely,

RUDYARD KIPLING.

—Washington Post.

FOUND A SATURN SATELLITE.

How Prof. William Henry Pickering Has Lately Distinguished Himself.

Prof. William Henry Pickering, who has just distinguished himself by discovering a new satellite of Saturn (or rather of bringing to light an old unknown one), belongs to a family of astronomers and has in every way served only to add to the fame already achieved by his relatives. He is a native of Boston and is only 41 years old. He was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1879 and for six years thereafter was an instructor in physics in that big school. He began his practical work in astronomy by observing his first total eclipse at Denver in 1878. In 1887 he became connected with the Harvard observatory, and he has conducted the affairs of that institution with much skill and success. He established several plants in far-off places for watching the stars and planets, and his work in stellar photography has been of especial value. He has established stations at great heights on mountains, including that at Arequipa, in Peru.

PROFESSOR PICKERING.

Irish Love-Making.

A writer in Macmillan's Magazine, treating of "Love-Making in Ireland," relates the following anecdote:

A bashful lover wished to make a proposal of marriage, but his courage failed him, and he induced his sister to become an intermediary, he remaining outside the half-closed door, hidden, but within earshot, to learn the result.

It was not favorable. The fair one saucily tossed her head, and replied:

"Indeed, now, if I'm good enough to be married, I'm good enough to be axed!"

Hearing this, the anxious swain thrust his head inside the door, and said, beseechingly:

"Norah, darlin', will ye do what Maggie axed ye?"

Bell—What do you suppose the fat girl in the avenue candy store weighs? Nell—Candy—Exchange

M'KINLEY AND THE TRUSTS.

Among many solemn assurances which President McKinley gave the people of the United States in his inaugural address two years ago, were the following:

"The declaration of the party now restored to power has been in the past that of opposition to all combinations of capital organized in trusts or otherwise to control arbitrarily the conditions of trade among our citizens, and it has supported such legislation as will prevent the execution of all schemes to oppress the people by undue charges on their supplies, or by unjust rates for the transportation of their products to market. This purpose will be steadily pursued, both by the enforcement of the laws now in existence, and the recommendation and support of such new statutes as may be necessary to carry it into effect."

Doubtless in March, 1897, there were people who believed that these utterances were sincere and candid. They were made in the most solemn moment of Mr. McKinley's life, with the Bible which he had kissed after taking the oath of office in reach of the hand that was uplifted to emphasize his promises. But how many people now believe that the President, if then sincere, has not since repudiated those promises and sold his administration to the very interests against which he assured the people he would enforce the law? Trusts capitalized at a billion and a half of dollars under his administration give answer to this question. The apathy of his Attorney General answers it, his own failure to even mention the trusts since March 4, 1897, answers it; and the people are driven to the conclusion that his intentions were a sham then, or have since been changed by corrupt influences.—Columbus Press-Post.

Bryan's Best Act.

Bryan made a tenstrike in declining to attend a dinner of Perry Belmont and others. Not one of those fellows would have voted for him next year. They are his enemies, and he did right in giving them a blow they will not forget. He followed the example of Andrew Jackson. The same interests in Jackson's day tried to influence the President by banquets and all kinds of allurements. He told them to get out. Bryan will be nominated next year with the silver issue to the front. It is the only issue on which he can win, and I believe he will be victorious in the next campaign.

Hard Fight Ahead for Hanna.

Hanna is the embodiment and representative of the aims of predatory capital and he is to-day the most powerful man in the United States, with no exceptions. He is busy now organizing the fight to re-elect McKinley, under whose administration he knows the trusts will be free from prosecution, the railroads saved from any sort of regulation and an income tax impossible. He already is certain that he can deliver the goods, so far as the nomination is concerned, but we imagine he will know he has had a fight before election day.—San Francisco Examiner.

McKinley's Belated Discovery.

Mr. McKinley is discovering that he now feels that it is best for Cuba and best for the United States that the island should become a part of this nation. A great many of us discovered that the President felt that way a long time ago, but as he appears to be having a good time in the thought that the little game being worked by the Hannacrats was not plain to the people very little was said about it. The only ones deceived are the Cubans, who accepted the professions of the schemers at Washington.—Omaha World-Herald.

New Political Alignments Possible.

Taken altogether, the factors that make for uncertainty in the future of the Republican party and in the fortunes of Mr. McKinley are not only numerous but formidable. The democracy is having its internal troubles, but Democrats can console themselves with the thought that the slumbers of the enemy are disturbed by frightful dreams. The campaign of 1900 is not far away and still there is time for a political realignment that may be startling.—Minneapolis Times.

Republican Defeat the Cure.

At the present time the Republican party is effectively Hannaized. The Ohio boss is backed by the power of the patronage of the Federal administration and the immense wealth of the combined trusts, and, though a most respectable opposition may be aroused, it is difficult to see how he can be dislodged, except by a defeat of the Republicans.—Louisville Dispatch.

Trying to Curb Monopoly.

The Pennsylvania Legislature has passed a resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to investigate the trust question and to report a legislative remedy. In other States there are on foot movements which may result in restricting the operations of trusts. It is ridiculous to say that there is no preventive of this evil. If neither the State nor the Federal authority can protect the people from combinations to throttle competition and cripple commerce we have a very poor form of government.—Atlanta Journal.

That Beef Inquiry.

When the court of inquiry to look into the charges against the commissary department of the army was formed it was confidently expected that facts could be so manipulated as to result in whitewashing Alger. Fortunately for the soldiers and for the friends of the soldiers this expectation has proved unfounded and the beef inquiry will result in a vindication of Gen. Miles and a condemnation of Secretary Alger. Undoubtedly the Republican administration will be vastly disappointed in the results obtained and will do all it can to break the force of the indictment, but the people are familiar with the facts and that familiarity will have its results when the campaign of 1900 is on.

That much of the beef accepted by the commissary department and furnished to the troops in Cuba and Porto Rico was unfit to eat has been demonstrated by the evidence given before the court of inquiry, and thus Alger and Eagan have been condemned.

The question now before the Republican administration is what to do about it. Undoubtedly Alger should be forced to resign. Eagan is beyond the reach of further punishment from army sources, but he can be made to feel the hot indignation of the American people. So far as the administration is concerned, its rebuke will come from the people at the polls, and the result of the presidential campaign of 1900 should be the overthrow of the corrupt Republican party.—Chicago Democrat.

Pierces Even Hanna's Hide.

Senator Hanna's denial that he was ever present at any conference concerning army beef contracts and his vehement repudiation of "the contemptible insinuations of that man Lee" may create the impression in the public mind that this Falstaff "doth protest too much." Major Lee's casual questioning of Eagan appears to have pierced the Ohio Senator's ordinarily thick armor and brought forth a conspicuous howl of distress.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Political Potpourri.

Mr. Hanna says he had no part in the beef contracts. Mr. Hanna fries his fat; he does not boil it.—St. Paul Globe.

A European critic says the American soldier is not attractive in appearance. That critic should see the other fellow when the American soldier gets through with him.—Birmingham (Ala.) News.

Senator Platt remarks that Mr. Olney is too closely identified with great corporations to be an available candidate for the Presidency. This from Platt is something sublime.—Boston Herald.

The Republicans are enjoying the spectacle of squabbles among the Democrats. But they will learn that this means a live party with something to accomplish. The dead never fight.—Washington Times.

The citizen who is bitten in his ventures in trust stocks will not get much sympathy. No trust has been organized for benevolent or sanitary purposes and the fact is quite well known to everybody.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The administration syndicates will have to make a good deal of money in the Philippines to satisfy the American people that the blood and treasure they are now expending in the islands are not worse than wasted.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

The Standard Oil Company declares that Ohio's Attorney General is carrying on a "malignant persecution of it." Has the Standard Oil Company no rights in Ohio? Has persecution gone to the lengths of refusing to accept its bribes?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mr. McKinley says that many opportunities are awaiting young men, but perhaps what he meant to say was that many young men are awaiting opportunities. A President with so much on his mind may occasionally get things "wrong end to."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The President is quoted as saying that the newspaper criticisms of Secretary Alger applied to him as much as they did to the Secretary. This is true as gospel. For haven't we Mark Hanna's word for it that Alger made no move without first consulting the President?—Wheeling Register.

UNITE AND CONQUER.

Democracy—"No factional fights; yonder is our common foe."—Chicago Democrat.

WOULD HARNESS THE OCEAN.

New York Man Invents Machine to Get Power from the Tides.

The patent office has issued to Mr. Reed, a resident of New York, a patent for a device by which the power of the tides may be utilized. It is declared that by the new invention the question of the exhaustion of the coal supply becomes a matter of small consideration. The ocean can be made to afford power for every conceivable purpose and to an extent beyond the scope of human computation. Wherever the ocean tides are felt to any appreciable extent there can be built a power plant.

In operating the Reed tide power plant no coal or other form of steam producing material is necessary, for steam is not required. Electricity can be manufactured at a ridiculously small cost in sufficient quantities to permit its use for all of the purposes for which it is desired, and the electric plant of to-day is to become a thing of the past. The great city can be made as light as if in the full glare of the noonday sun, and for a trifle in comparison with the sum now expended for electric lighting. All these things are to come to pass if Reed's confident hopes are realized.

In his method of harnessing the ocean and forcing its resistless motion to work for man Reed believes that he has come as near solving the problem of perpetual motion as human ingenuity will ever suggest. The tides are stationary at their ebb and flow, but the new invention provides that the machinery shall continue producing power while the ocean is practically at rest.

The main proposition can be illustrated by taking a basin and erecting in its center a stationary metal post. Then take a block of wood with a hole through its center and slip it over the metal post. Fill the basin with water. As the basin fills the block of wood rises and when the water is allowed to run out through an aperature in the bottom of the basin, representing the ebbing of the tide, the block of wood slides downward on the post. Power is produced from the pressure of the block as it rises and falls.

How this power is captured and distributed is illustrated in the illustration herewith produced. Figure 1 is a boat or scow, as represented by the block of wood. No. 2 is a creek or pond dammed to hold water that runs into it at high tide and held for use when the tide has gone out. On the city river front this may be a reservoir excavated near the water and covered over so that the ground surface may be used.

No. 3 is a reservoir built in front of the scow to hold water emptied from the deck of the scow at high tide, so that the scow, lightened of its load of water after it has risen to the level of high tide, may continue rising through its own buoyancy and continue the power beyond the highest rise of the tide.

MACHINE FOR HARNESSING THE OCEAN.

The reservoir may be dispensed with and the waste water may be allowed to run into the ocean or river, but it is important as a secondary source of power. When it has been filled at high tide and the tide falls, then the water may be released, as shown at No. 4, and give power for a wheel, as in the advancement of the old principle of the waterfall.

No. 5 is the well hole or caisson, as represented by the hole in the block of wood. No. 6 is a steel shaft passing through the well, as represented by the metal post in the basin. It rests on and is cemented and bolted to piling driven into the solid earth and reaching just above the water at highest tide.

No. 7 is a steel shaft connected at its base with the scow, and at its top with the short end of the main shaft and providing the means by which the power acquired by the rise and fall of the scow is applied to the main shaft and through which the speed of the rise and fall of the scow is increased or multiplied. The shaft is used for multiplying speed in preference to gearing, as friction is thereby saved.

No. 8 is the main shaft, moved up and down by the rise and fall of the scow as it rises and falls with the tide. No. 10 is a cogwheel on shafting and separable from the fanlike main shaft. It represents the point of power contact and moves round and round as the cogged railway, No. 9, is moved up and down by the rise and fall of the tide.

No. 9 is a cogged, semicircular rail, attached to and a part of the main shaft and affording power by causing the cogwheel, No. 10, to revolve and turn a shaft with belting running to machinery to be operated.

Say that the deck of the scow is deep enough to hold eight feet of water. When the tide is out and the scow has reached the full depth of low tide water is allowed to run from the creek or pond on shore to the empty deck. The weight of the water forces the scow down below low-water mark, and the downward movement of the scow affords continuous power while the ocean is at rest.

As the tide rises the scow is lifted up, and when it reaches the level of high tide and can rise no further because of the weight of the water on its deck the water is allowed to run off into the reservoir, No. 3, and the scow continues to rise through its own buoyancy.

AT THE CAT SHOW.

Tame Wildcat Not as Dangerous as a Wild Tame Cat.

One of the principal attractions at the show given by the Cat Club in Chicago was the "tame wildcat," an animal that had been caught in the forests of Minnesota or Wisconsin when a little kitten, and having fallen into good hands, had grown up to be a gentle, affectionate creature, fond of being petted, and giving no evidence of its original wildness except in its pointed ears and its size, which was about that of four ordinary cats.

An interested visitor, after having reached a finger through the wires of the wildcat's cage and stroked the animal's forehead, strolled along, and presently repeated the performance at the cage of a particularly handsome Angora, receiving a savage scratch as he did so.

"Wow! Ow!" he exclaimed, wrapping his handkerchief hastily around the torn finger, "A tame wildcat isn't half as dangerous as a wild tame cat!"

An agriculturist from Iowa, who had brought some live stock to the city, and had heard of the cat show, dropped in to see what it was like. He had a half-formed idea of buying one of the handsomest of the animals, if he could be assured that he could transport it to his home without too much trouble.

With this point in mind he made the rounds of the cages, and then, stopping in front of a splendid black cat bearing the name of "Peter Jackson," asked somebody who happened to be standing by:

"What do you suppose they'd sell that cat for?"

"The lady who owns that cat," was the reply, "values him at five hundred dollars."

"Great Scott!" gasped the visitor. "That's all I got for a whole car-load of fat hogs!"

He didn't buy any cats at that show.

JUDGE HORACE BIDDLE.

Probably the Most Unique Character in Indiana at Present.

Without doubt the unique character in Indiana at present is Judge Horace P. Biddle, jurist, philosopher, musician, artist and poet, whose home is near Logansport, on Biddle's Island, in the Wabash River. His hermitage is crowded in every room, hall and corner with books, magazines, papers, musical instruments, paintings, statuary, specimens of ornithology and zoology, and with curiosities of every kind. He has wonderful collections of all, but his books are the greatest in number and importance. He has 9,000 volumes on his shelves, while perhaps 2,000 have been lost or retained by those who have borrowed them, and 2,000 works on law were sold some time ago.

JUDGE BIDDLE.

He has barely a corner for his couch, table and chair, all the other space of his good-sized house being given to his collections. He lives alone among them and no outsider is given opportunity to intrude, only as the judge permits it. Judge Biddle is past 88 years of age and was born in Logan, Ohio. He was admitted to the practice of law in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1839, and gained at once the privilege of the State Supreme and United States Supreme Courts. He moved to Logansport in 1839, when the city was larger than Chicago. The stone house he bought and is now using for a residence had been built in 1836 by Gen. Tipton, the hero of Tippecanoe. The judge was in charge of the Circuit Court for years. In 1874 he was elected a judge of the State Supreme Court. In 1840 he was a member of the State Constitutional convention.

His unusual education was entirely self-acquired. His great library is the result of a desire to get all the good and interesting books, and by adding constantly through the many years of his life it grew to its present proportions which make it the largest private library in the State and one of the largest private collections in the country. Among his volumes are many original editions which are now very rare and valuable. Among them are Audubon's original books on natural history, with colored illustrations, which are now quoted in some places at $1,700. Among his papers is the commission of Gen. George Rogers Clark for his campaign of the Northwest, signed Jan 12, 1770, by Patrick Henry, Governor of Virginia.—Chicago Chronicle.

JUDGE BIDDLE'S HOUSE.

"You know Gordon, our Boston correspondent, don't you, Fowler?" "Yes. Lost his baby recently, didn't he?" "Yes. You see we felt that we wanted to do something to express our sympathy and finally decided to wire him a couple of dozen roses. Gordon thanked us in a very graceful little note—he is very good at such things—and wound up by saying that we had 'touched him deeply.'" "No doubt of it. Gordon is a fellow who would appreciate a thing like that." "Yes, but it was a few days later, when we discovered that the Boston florist had sent Gordon the bill for ten dollars, that the significance and deep pathos of his remark appealed to us."—Life.

There is a certain pleasure in having everybody hate you for doing as you please.

Lots of girls are single not from choice, but because they were born so

Drowning is a terrible thing; it would kill most people to die that way.

Christ.—Christ is the child, not of time, but of the eternities. He is the Christ of God.—Dr. G. H. Combs, Independent.

Vast Treasures.—A simple thing it is to say, "God is spirit;" but the phrase holds vast treasures in the knowledge of God.—Rev. Dr. Behrends, Congregationalist, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Annihilated.—Try to imagine in what condition we should be and what we would do if all the past could be annihilated and we should start afresh.—Rev. B. F. Mills, Evangelist, Boston, Mass.

Society.—Society is not the result of a compact freely entered into and freely broken. It is a natural state, a necessary state and the effect of divine will.—Dr. Conaty, R. C., Washington, D. C.

The Influential Man.—The influential man in a city is, therefore, he who quietly thinks out the eternal laws of God and teaches them, and is true to them.—Dr. Joseph Stolz, Hebrew, Chicago, Ill.

God's Purpose.—Christ came into the world to make known the purpose of God and to furnish the means by which this purpose should be accomplished.—Rev. I. P. Coddington, Universalist, Rochester, N. Y.

Death.—Death is not the end. Death is the unfettering of the soul. The life beyond is the continuation of the life here, only enlarged, enriched, ennobled.—Rev. J. F. Carson, Presbyterian, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Spiritual Life.—The germ of the spiritual life is in every man. Ignore it and it will make of him a devil; cultivate it and it will transform him into a noble man here and hereafter.—Rev. W. H. Carwardine, Methodist, Chicago, Ill.

Happiness.—All happiness must rest on a solid foundation if it is to be real and lasting. Those who tie themselves to the things of this world forget that earthly honors are fleeting and perishable.—Cardinal Gibons, R. C., Baltimore, Md.

Fatalism.—The doctrine of fatalism, teaching that men and women are not morally responsible for their deeds, would work more harm if generally accepted than could be done by an epidemic of cholera or smallpox.—Rev. Dr. Dille, Methodist, Oakland, Cal.

Venerable Traditions.—You are face to face with the laws of the universe and your relations to the source of all life cannot be affected by man, by any church, no matter how venerable may be its traditions.—Rev. G. W. Stone, Unitarian, Kansas City, Mo.

A Higher Life.—It is the teaching of a higher life that city missions and such agencies are engaged in to-day. This is a discontented age, but a vision of the brotherhood of man is gradually stealing in to relieve.—Rev. R. Thomas, Congregationalist, Boston, Mass.

Methods.—When the church adapts its methods to the people about it they will give it a hearing, and if the baptism of power be upon the minister and people those who come to be entertained will remain to pray.—Rev. J. A. B. Wilson, Methodist, San Francisco, Cal.

A Dangerous Tendency.—There is a dangerous tendency in Christian republics to falsely glorify God and worship materialism at the expense of manhood. It is a stern rebuke to the English people and of our civilization.—Rev. Wm. Rader, Congregationalist, San Francisco, Cal.

A Plan in Life.—There is a plan in every man's life, and, being a plan, it has a purpose. Nothing helps us more, nothing more certainly makes the mystery of life easier to bear, than to keep that truth firmly fixed in the mind.—Rev. W. L. Phillips, Episcopalian, New Haven, Conn.

REAR ADMIRAL CARPENTER.

Commandant of the Portsmouth Navy Yard During the Recent War.

Rear Admiral Charles C. Carpenter, who committed suicide in a Boston sanitarium recently, was one of the oldest retired officers in the United States navy in point of service. The rash act which ended his life was done in a moment of partial insanity. He had been for some time a sufferer from attacks of nervous prostration.

C. C. CARPENTER.

Rear Admiral Carpenter was born in Massachusetts 65 years ago. He entered the navy as a midshipman in 1850. During the civil war he served for a time with the South Atlantic Squadron, and during the latter part of the conflict at the Annapolis Naval Academy. He became captain in 1880, in 1893 was appointed commodore and a few years later was promoted to rear admiral. He had command of the Asiatic Squadron during the China-Japanese war and under his orders a shot was fired at a Chinese ship, enforcing demands of the government and averting an impending breach of the relations between the United States and China. He was retired in 1896, but was called from retirement to act as commandant of the Portsmouth navy yard, where the Spanish prisoners were confined, during the war with Spain.

Deaf and Dumb Beggar (at unexpectedly receiving sixpence)—Oh, thankee, sir! Benevolent Passer—Eh? What does this mean, sir? You can talk. Deaf and Dumb Beggar (in confusion)—Y-e-s, sir. Ye see, sir, I'm only mindin' this corner for th' poor deaf and dumb man wot belongs here. Benevolent Passer (quickly)—Where is he? Deaf and Dumb Beggar (in worse confusion)—He's gone to th' park t' hear the music.—Tit-Bits.

She—When you asked me to be your wife you deliberately deceived me. He—In what way, Martha? She—You told me you were well off. He—Well, I may have said it, Martha, but I didn't know how well off I was at that time.—Richmond Dispatch.

Any Girl Can Tell

A physician who makes the test and is honest about it can tell you that, in many cases, the number of red corpuscles in the blood is doubled after a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

That this means good blood may not be entirely clear from the doctor's statement, but any girl who has tried the pills can tell you that it means red lips, bright eyes, good appetite, absence of headache, and that it transforms the pale and sallow girl into a maiden who glows with the beauty which perfect health alone can give.

Mothers whose daughters grow debilitated as they pass from girlhood into womanhood should not neglect the pill best adapted for this particular ill.

Frank B. Trout, of 103 Griswold Ave., Detroit, Mich., says: "At the age of fourteen we had to take our daughter from school on account of ill health. She weighed only 90 pounds, was pale and sallow and the doctors said she had anæmia. Finally we gave her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. When she had taken two boxes she was strong enough to leave her bed, and in less than six months was something like herself. To-day she is entirely cured, and is a big, strong, healthy girl, weighing 130 pounds, and has never had a sick day since."—Detroit Evening News.

The genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold only in packages, the wrapper always bearing the full name. At all druggists, or direct from the Dr Williams Medicine Co. Schenectady, N.Y. 50¢ per box.

FREE HOMES

160 ACRES FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

In the Great Grain and Grazing Belts of Western Canada and information as to how to secure them can be had on application to the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, Canada, or to C. J. Broughton, 1223 Monadnock Bldg., Chicago, Ill.; M. V. McInnes, No. 1 Merrill Block, Detroit, Mich.; D. Caven, Bad Axe, Mich.; James Grieve, Reed City, Mich., Agents for Gov'm't of Canada.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

His Acknowledgment.

"You admit," said the Judge, severely, "that you married these two women?"

"I did," said the unabashed bigamist. "They are my better two-thirds."—Puck.

Salzer's Seed Corn.

Does your seed corn test, Bro. Farmer? Salzer's does—it's northern grown, early and good for 80 to 150 bu. per acre! Send this notice and 10c for 8 corn samples and low prices to Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse Wis. (c.n.)

Critical.

Agent—Would you like to buy any stove blacking, ma'am?

Young Wife (critically)—Er—yes. What colors have you?—Judge.

Coughs Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

Early Mails.

The first postoffice was opened in Paris in 1642, in England in 1581, in America in 1710.

Fortify Feeble Lungs against Winter Blasts with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. Of Druggists. Pike's Toothache Drops Cure in one Minute.

There are 4,500 women printers in England.

Getting Around a Difficulty.

"I am so annoyed. I do not want to invite that horrid Mrs. Prim to my reception, yet I cannot slight her."

"Give her invitation to your husband to mail."—New York Truth.

Seasonable Hints.

Never begin spring cleaning too early. Clean only one or two rooms at a time. Admit air and sunshine freely. Provide everything needed for the work before beginning. Have new brooms, scrubbing brushes, hammers and tacks. For cleaning paints, windows and presses use soft, warm water and Ivory soap. For purifying sinks and drains wash with water and carbolic acid. For cleaning kitchen utensils fill a boiler with water, add half a bar of Ivory soap, put in the articles, and set over the fire for twenty minutes.

ELIZA R. PARKER.

Chewing Gum Epidemic.

The chewing gum epidemic which seemed to be under control for a season or two, appears to have broken out again with renewed virulence.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O

We the undersigned have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Prices 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Every week 9,000,000 oysters are swallowed by the people of London. Half of the shells are broken up and used for asphalt paving.

Worth Trying.

A farmer recently wrote his name and postoffice address on a postal card and addressed it simply to "DEERING, CHICAGO." By return mail he received from the Deering Harvester Company a catalogue with over 100 fine half-tone illustrations, containing a picture of the largest factory in America, a "twine booklet" on the subject of binder twine, a copy of the Deering Farm Journal, and a personal letter—all for a postal card. Try it.

Don't think because a man is a poet he can't appreciate lobster salad.

ONE reason Mrs. Pinkham's treatment helps women so promptly is that they have confidence in her.

Through some of the many thousands of Mrs. Pinkham's friends an ailing woman will be led to write to Mrs. Pinkham at her home in Lynn, Mass., and will tell her symptoms. The reply, made without charge of any kind, will bear such evidence of knowledge of the trouble that belief in her advice at once inspires hope.

CONFIDENCE HELPS TO CURE

This of itself is a great help. Then the knowledge that women only see the letters asking for advice and women only assist Mrs. Pinkham in replying makes it easy to be explicit about the little things that define the disease.

MRS. ELIZA THOMAS, of 634 Pine St., Easton, Pa., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I doctored with two of the best doctors in the city for two years and had no relief until I began the use of your remedies. My trouble was ulceration of the womb. I suffered something terrible, could not sleep nights and thought sometimes that death would be such a relief. To-day I am a well woman, able to do my own work, and have not a pain. I used four bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and three packages of Sanative Wash and cannot thank you enough for the good it did me."

MRS. M. STODDARD, Box 268, Springfield, Minn., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—For about four years I was a great sufferer from female troubles. I had backache all of the time, no appetite, pains in stomach, fainting spells, was weak and my system was completely run down. I also had falling of womb so bad that I could scarcely walk across the floor. After taking two bottles of your Vegetable Compound and one box of Lozenges, can say I am cured."

"EAST, WEST, HOME IS BEST," IF KEPT CLEAN WITH

SAPOLIO

STORIES OF THE SPANISH WAR

On July 1, 1898, when the battle at El Caney was hottest, a curious commotion among the Spanish soldiers was visible in one of the trenches which defended the town. Toward the middle of the day the watching American soldiers on the nearest line saw a half-grown pig come running out of a low thatched building inside the Spanish trenches, and, rounding a corner of the ditch, take to flight outside the trenches in the direction of the American position.

Evidently he had been lodged under the thatch-roofed house just behind the trench, in the free-and-easy domestic manner in which Cuban pigs are generally taken care of. A bullet or a shell had invaded his retreat, shattered his inclosure, set him free and scared him almost to death at the same time.

The Spanish soldiers ceased their firing as the pig escaped, and there was commotion among them. Presently this commotion resolved itself into a rush of several soldiers out of the trench and in the direction of the pig.

CAPTURING THE RUNAWAY.

Soon there were fifteen of them out in the open, in the full sweep of the American fire.

Some of them ran to head off the pig and others pushed up behind to catch him. The pig wheeled and dodged, and the soldiers wheeled and dodged after him. Their voices rose in chorus of Spanish shouts. Up and down went the pig; when a soldier's hands were on him he would make a twist and wriggle himself away.

Once he made a long straight run toward the American lines; it did not help him, for the soldiers were after him, entirely unregarding the battle. Some of them headed him off again, and in another moment an athletic young soldier had seized first his tail and then his legs. Still another moment and the pig, firmly held, was on his way back to the trenches, riding on the shoulder of this young man, his forelegs gripped by one hand and his hind legs by the other.

The soldiers resumed their places in the trench; the one who had the pig put him back into the thatched roof building, and presently returned to his own place and took up his gun.

It is safe to say that during the chase of the pig no American soldier who saw the affair discharged his gun at the goup. The Americans who saw it were too full of admiration and astonishment to add to the dangers which the audacious Spanirds were under; but thousands of Americans who could not see the incident were blazing away in that direction, and the Spaniards who were chasing the pig must have heard a great many bullets whistling about their heads during their performance.

ALASKAN BOUNDARY.

Finlanders report the discovery of the old Russian boundary of Alaska 100 miles east of Dawson. If this is verified then the Klondike is in America instead of British territory.

The children of a poor man never care so much whether he forgives them for an offense, or not.

Some men are honest because they can't afford to be the other way.

The Parson Was in a Hurry.

Here is a faithful report of a unique wedding ceremony in the wilds of Kentucky:

"George Washington Columbus, do you take this woman to be—hush! What was that?"

Deep silence, for a few seconds, followed by another section of the service. Then raising his hand, the preacher said solemnly:

"As a minister of the gospel—listen, I think I hear a wild cat!"

Deep silence for ten seconds.

"I pronounce you—listen, that's a wild cat sure—husband and wife."

And down the hill the party raced, with the preacher three lengths in the lead and running easy.—Atlanta Constitution.

Swallowed His False Teeth.

A man recently swallowed his false teeth and it drove him mad. Stomachs will stand a great deal, but not everything. If yours is weak try Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It cures stomach troubles, as well as malaria and fever and ague. It is strongly recommended at this season of the year. All druggists keep it.

Lightening His Grief.

Widower—I say, my dear friend, have you ever been here before?

Burglar—N-no, sir.

Widower—Well, would you mind coming around quite often—say once or twice a week—and going through my trousers, just as you are doing now? You don't know how much you remind me of my dear departed wife, Angeline. It seems almost as if she were alive again. Good night, my friend—God bless you!"—Judge.

PLEASED WITH ALBERTA.

An Excellent Report from Wisconsin and Minnesota Delegates.

The opinion of five delegates from Minnesota and Wisconsin, published by the Edmonton Bulletin over their names, is very complimentary to Northern Alberta. The report says:

"We must say with all sincerity that driving all over the country for six days, we have not found one settler who was not more than pleased with the country and its productions, and will not return to the land he left. We have seen people here from all parts of the States and all doing well. We met a Dakota farmer by the name of McLean, who has informed us that he has raised more grain here in three years than he did in thirteen where he came from, on half as much ground. We have seen a number of others, both men and women, and all speak in the same strain about Alberta. They all look well and contented; even the children are happy. In our drive over the country, in passing the countless school houses we could only see happiness in the faces of the little ones. We noted them all well dressed, equal, if not better, than the same class of children in the State of Minnesota.

"The wheat that is raised here is just beautiful, the kernel full and plump, and may well be termed golden grain, yielding 30 to 55 bushels to the acre. This statement is not from one farmer, but from hundreds who tell the same tale. Oats yield from 70 to 100 bushels to the acre, barley from 40 to 60 bushels and potatoes from 300 to 400 bushels to the acre.

"We have taken particular notice of the climate in regard to the difference between this country and our own. When we left Ada, Minnesota, we were in the midst of a real Dakota blizzard. When we arrived at Edmonton we found the people on the streets still wearing summer clothing, no mittens on their hands and far less use for them. The country is simply more than we ever dreamed of. The printed matter sent out by the Government does not half tell of the grand country in Alberta, open for millions of people to make beautiful homes for themselves. Too much cannot be said in praise. It is all and more than the greatest eulogist ever thought of giving to the public.

"We saw cattle and horses in herds grazing on the prairie like in summer time, all sleek and fat. We were informed by several farmers that most of the stock run out all winter. We also found the market extra good here for beef and pork. Hogs fetch 4½c live weight. A 3-year-old steer will bring from $40 to $45 right from the prairie. Coal and wood are here in abundance. Coal is sold in the town of Edmonton for $2 per ton and farmers can secure coal at the mines themselves for 75c per load.

"Before closing we say to you one and all, come to Alberta, where there are homes for millions and a promise for something to lay by for an old age. We are well satisfied with this country and as evidence have each bought a half section of C. P. R. land in township 55, range 21 west of the fourth initial meridian, and will return next spring to reside.

"Hoping this may be of some benefit to the overburdened farmers of the United States."

Sent by Floyd Dean, son of E. S. Dean of Deanville, Mich., who is now in Alberta, and has taken up 160 acres there.

Don't you believe that it's hard to be poor. It's the easiest thing in the world.

"He Who Pursues Two Hares Catches Neither."

Said a well known young man about town, "I tried for years to burn the candle at both ends, in the pursuit of pleasure while trying to attend to business. My blood, stomach and kidneys got into a wretched state and it seemed that I could not carry the burden any longer.

"But now my rheumatism has gone, my courage has returned, and all on account of that marvel, Hood's Sarsaparilla, which has made me a picture of health. Now I'm in for business pure and simple."

Hip Disease—"I had running sores for eight years on my hips. I was confined to my bed at times and at others used crutches. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured my hip and gave me permanent health." OLLIE J. ARCHER, 139 Dudley Street, Dayton, Ohio.

Indigestion.—"I now have a good appetite, eat well, sleep well, and my dyspepsia and indigestion have left me. The reason is I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, which entirely cured me. I am Baggage Master on the B. & O. Railroad." THOMAS COLES, 119 Carr St., Sandusky, Ohio.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Never Disappoints

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, the non-irritating and the only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Syrup of Figs

DELIGHTFUL LIQUID LAXATIVE

TO GET ITS BENEFICIAL EFFECTS BUY THE GENUINE

MANUFACTURED BY CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS. PRICE 50¢ PER BOTTLE. LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y. U.S.A. LONDON, ENG

AN EXCELLENT COMBINATION

THE pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well-known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company, illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative,

CLEANSING THE SYSTEM EFFECTUALLY, DISPELLING COLDS AND HEADACHES, PREVENTING FEVERS, OVERCOMING HABITUAL CONSTIPATION PERMANENTLY.

Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, gently yet promptly, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but

THE MEDICINAL QUALITIES ARE OBTAINED FROM SENNA AND OTHER AROMATIC PLANTS,

by a method known to the California Fig Syrup Company only. In order to get its beneficial effects, and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

Consumers of the choicest products of modern commerce purchase at about the same price that others pay for cheap and worthless imitations. To come into universal demand and to be everywhere considered the best of its class, an article must be capable of satisfying the wants and tastes of the best informed purchasers. The California Fig Syrup Company having met with the highest success in the manufacture and sale of its excellent liquid laxative remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, it has become important to all to have a knowledge of the Company and its product. The California Fig Syrup Company was organized more than fifteen years ago, for the special purpose of manufacturing and selling a laxative remedy which would be more pleasant to the taste and more beneficial in effect than any other known. The great value of the remedy, as a medicinal agent and of the Company's efforts, is attested by the sale of millions of bottles annually, and by the high approval of most eminent physicians. As the true and genuine remedy named SYRUP OF FIGS is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only, the knowledge of that fact will assist in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

LOUISVILLE, KY. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. NEW YORK, N.Y.

For Sale by All Druggists, Price 50¢ Per Bottle.

THE CUTTING KIND

The Deering Ideal Mower is the best modern representation of a grass cutting machine that will cut.

The light draft of the Deering Ideal Mower is due to the fact that the Deering roller bearings have practically annihilated friction.

The Deering Ideal Mower runs almost noiselessly and has no lost motion.

The Deering Ideal Mower is quick acting and positive. Every ounce of horse power is saved. The knife starts with the wheels. No backing up to "get a start."

The Deering Ideal Mower has an adjustable cutter bar that is always in line; the hand levers and foot lift are handy and quick-acting.

The unsatisfactory mowers cost less money than the Deering Ideal, but the Deering Ideals are the cutting kind.

Send for the descriptive booklet, "Light Draft Ideals."

DEERING HARVESTER CO., CHICAGO.

Shake Into Your Shoes

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting, nervous feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight-fitting or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous and hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores. By mail for 25c, in stamps. Trial package FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Getting Nearer the Style.

"Do you think the Indian will ever be civilized?"

"Yes; Spotted Crow sent in a request the other day to have his name changed to Polka Dot."—Chicago Record.

The famous Bowery in New York was originally the road through the bouwerie, or farm of Gov. Stuyvesant, of the Dutch colony of Amsterdam. It was the post route to Boston.

$15.00 Per Week.

We will pay a salary of $15 per week and expenses for man with Rig to introduce Perfection Poultry Mixture and Insect Destroyer in the country. Address with stamp, Perfection Mfg. Co., Parsons, Kansas.

Uneasiness is a species of sagacity; a passive sagacity. Fools are never uneasy.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. The genuine has L. B. Q. on each tablet.

Stockings were first used in the eleventh century. Before that cloth bandages were used on the feet.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it, like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c. and 25 cts. per package. Sold by all grocers.

Time for a Nap.

Soldiers in the Italian army are allowed two hours in the middle of the day for a nap.

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

Football a Crime.

Foot-ball was a crime in England during the reign of Henry VIII.

I never used so quick a cure as Piso's Cure for Consumption.—J. B. Palmer, Box 1171, Seattle, Wash., Nov. 25, 1895.

Don't attempt to gain time by stealing it from sleep.

Eagle Linen Letter Paper and Envelopes are the proper thing. Tell your printer to use this brand on your next order.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

WANTED.—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cents to Rinans Chemical Co., New York, for 10 samples and 1,000 testimonials.

Not Strictly Poetic.

Mrs. Sherwood, speaking of Julia Ward Howe's keen sense of the ridiculous, relates that once upon a time a lady at Newport, trying to get a fine sentiment out of her, said one moonlit evening on a vine-hung veranda: "Mrs. Howe, do say something lovely about my piazza." Whereupon everyone listened for the reply. That delicately cultivated voice responded: "I think it is a bully piaz."

WABASH

HOME SEEKERS' EXCURSIONS

To Western Points,

MAY 2nd AND 16th, 1899.

On the above dates the WABASH will sell from its principal stations East of Chicago and Toledo, Ill., LOW RATE HOME SEEKERS' EXCURSION Tickets to points West, South, and Southwest, granting a liberal return limit. A postal card addressed to any Wabash Ticket Agent, or to either of the following Passenger Representatives will bring you prompt and explicit information regarding rates, routes, time of trains, through car service, condition of tickets, etc., etc.

REMEMBER

The WABASH is the only line east of Chicago and St. Louis giving its patrons seats, without extra charge, in ELEGANT RECLINING CHAIR CARS running through to St. Louis and Kansas City without change.

This is your chance to go West cheap. Communicate with us,

P. E. DONBAUGH, P. & T. A., Toledo, Ohio.
R. G. THOMPSON, P. & T. A., Fort Wayne, Ind.
A. F. WOLFSCHLAPER P. & T. A., Detroit, Mich.
THO'S FOLLEN, P. & T. A., Lafayette, Ind.
GEO. D. MAXFIELD, D. P. A., Indianapolis, Ind.
C. S. CRANE, G. P. & T. A., St. Louis, Mo.

Don't Rent

ESTABLISH A HOME OF YOUR OWN

Read "The Corn Belt," a handsome monthly paper, beautifully illustrated, containing exact and truthful information about farm lands in the West. Send 25 cents in postage stamps for a year's subscription to THE CORN BELT, 209 Adams St., Chicago.

LADIES The Periodical Monthly Regulator never fails; write for free sample. NEW YORK CHEMICAL CO., Box 70, Milwaukee, Wis.

F. W. N. U. - - No. 16—'99.

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

Is Baby Too Thin?

If so, there must be some trouble with its food. Well babies are plump; only the sick are thin. Are you sure the food is all right? Children can't help but grow; they must grow if their food nourishes them. Perhaps a mistake was made in the past and as a result the digestion is weakened. If that is so, don't give the baby a lot of medicine; just use your every-day common sense and help nature a little, and the way to do it is to add half a teaspoonful of to the baby's food three or four times a day. The gain will begin the very first day you give it. It seems to correct the digestion and gets the baby started right again. If the baby is nursing but does not thrive, then the mother should take the emulsion. It will have a good effect both upon the mother and child. Twenty-five years proves this fact.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

WABASH

GOING EAST.

No. 2	6:25 am—Daily
No. 10	1:15 pm—ex Su
No. 4	4:59 pm—Daily
No. 70 (local freight)	4:20 pm—ex Su

GOING WEST.

No. 1	10:21 am—Daily
No. 9 Except Sunday	6:07 pm—ex Su
No. 3	7:48 pm—Daily
No. 71, (local freight)	11:00 am—ex Su

All these trains stop for passengers.
For rates, tickets, time tables, etc. apply to
I. M. ZENT, Agent, Auburn, Ind
Chas. M. Hays, V. Pres. and Gen't Manager.
C. S. Crane, Gen'l Pass'r and Ticket Agent

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—in Effect Nov. 13, 1898.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations	Mail	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne	11 45 am	4 50 pm	5 55 am
New Era	12 12 pm	5 17	6 40
Auburn Junction	12 25	5 28	7 10
Auburn	12 29	5 32	7 35
Waterloo	12 41	5 43	8 15
Summit	12 52	5 53	8 35
Steubenville	12 56	5 56
Pleasant Lake	1 03	6 03	8 56
Angola	1 13	6 14	9 35
Jackson	3 25	8 35	2 40

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations	Fre'gt	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson dp	5 55 am	11 30 am	7 15 am
Angola	11 00	2 19 pm	9 44
Pleasant Lake	11 35	2 29	9 55
Steubenville		2 36	10 01
Summit	11 50	2 39	10 05
Waterloo	12 41 pm	2 55	10 23
Auburn	1 20	3 05	10 33
Auburn Junction	1 35	3 08	10 35
New Era	1 54	3 18	10 45
Fort Wayne	2 50	3 50	11 15

For rates on tickets or freight to all points call on or address K. T. DeLAPP, Agent Auburn.

B. & O. R. R.

Schedule In Effect Nov. 22 '98
Leaves Auburn Junction.

WEST BOUND.

No. 3 Express, to Garrett only	8:53 p m
No. 15 Daily	2:35 a m
No. 5 Daily	5:30 a m
No. 7 Daily	4:18 p m
No. 17 Daily Except Suday	12:25 a m
No. 47	1:55 a m

EAST BOUND.

No. 4 Express	4:30 a m
No. 6 Daily	6:05 p m
No. 8 Daily	2:40 p m
No 41 Daily	11:27 p m
No 16, Daily, except Sunday	11:08 a m
No. 48	11:56 p m

F. D. UNDERWOOD, General Manager,
D. B. MARTIN, Manager of Passenger Traffic.
G. H. YOUNG, Auburn Junction, Ind
THOS. H. SPROTT CHAS. H. KNAPP

MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS

They overcome Weakness, Irregularity and Omissions, Increase vigor and banish "pains of menstruation." They are "Life Savers" to girls at womanhood, aiding development of organs and body. No known remedy for women equals them. Cannot do harm—life becomes a pleasure. $1 per box by mail. Sold by druggists.
MOTT CHEMICAL CO., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

MICA AXLE GREASE

It's easy to haul a big load up a big hill if you grease the wagon wheels with
MICA Axle Grease
Get a box and learn why it's the best grease ever put on an axle. Sold everywhere. Made by STANDARD OIL CO.

Lingering La Grippe Cough Cured.

MR. G. VACHER, 157 Osgood St., Chicago.

My wife had a severe case of La grippe three years ago and left her with a very bad cough. She tried a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it gave immediate relief. A 50-cent bottle cured her cough entirely. Now we are never without a bottle of this wonderful Cough Medicine in the house. 25 and 50 cents.

The Bar Association.

The meeting of the Bar Association of this district was held here today in the court room. There was a good attendance, there being of the members and their wives, between fifty and sixty. The first paper read was by the president J. E. Rose, and was a valuable one, containing as it did a resume of all the important events that have transpired over the world since the last meeting. It drew marked attention. The next paper was by Mr. Sharpless, only a part of which we heard, but it was evidently a carefully prepared article. There was on the program a paper by D. R. Best of Angola, one by P. V. Hoffman, and a discussion of the Reform Bill led by Sol. Wood.

At the close of the program, about 1 p. m. they marched in couples to the Presbyterian church, where the ladies of the Auburn Culture Club had prepared an elaborate and tempting banquet in five courses. The menu included fried whitefish, sliced cucumbers, uneeda biscuit, pickles, olives, salted almonds, creamed dates, orange sherbet, roast turkey, mushroom sauce, queen potato puffs, cream slaw, French peas, cranberry jelly, baked parsnips, salmon salad, cheese sandwictes, strawberries, pineapple cream, cake, coffee and fruit.

The banquet room was lovely with its flowers and ferns, in windows, on tables and the supports twined with green vines. The sides were draped with a profusion of flags tastily arranged, and the lovely white of the linen, all helped to form an attractive picture.

Then followed the silend but earnest exercise of the dinner hour. As the company had already passed the time of the noonday meal by an hour, they began with appetites sharpened by the fast.

POST-PRANDIAL.

This means "after the meal," and it was here some of the best little speeches came in. D. A. Garwood acted as toastmaster and there were down on the program. short responses, by C. E. Emanuel, Judge Powers, Wm. M. Brown, E. A. Bratton, Clyde Carlin, J. E. Pomeroy, Howard Mountz, N. W. Gilbert and L. J. Gengler.

Whether all these were given or not, the meeting will pass into the history of the association as one of their most brilliant ones.

Memorial Resolutions

The following resolutions were read and adopted at a committee meeting of the Sedan L. H. M, Society:

WHEREAS, In the providence of God our society and community have been bereft of our beloved and ever-helpful sister, Jane Bateman; and WHEREAS by her example in her every day true Christ-like life, wise counsel and by her patient submissive spirit in all dark hours, she was a true follower of the Master, a friend to the needy, a sympathetic friend to those in sorrow and a strong pillar in the church, society and community, therefore be it

RESOLVED, 1. That we as a society will ever cherish her memory, seek to imitate her example and be made ourselves the more Christ-like and useful in our society and church and in all our daily life by reason of the good life she led and of her tranquil triumphant death.

2. That her only son and his family her sisters and other relatives have our sincere sympathy in this there bereavement.

3. That these resolutions be published in the county papers, also that a copy of the same be preserved by our society in remembrance of our sister.

ALMA REYNOLDS
IDA CRANE
JANE HINE } Committee.
NELLIE BENSON

Buggy Wrecked

As the A, O. U. W. people were coming back from Butler last night or rather at two this morning, as they neared Waterloo, at a point on the road between the the two bridges they saw a wrecked buggy and a team by the roadside, and scattered about an abundance of wall paper samples. The team was held by the lines being twisted about the wheels, the buggy was bottom up, and had evidently been dragged some distance, as the top was smashed and torn. The party got out and searched under the brig to see if anyone was confined under it. But nothing was there. Some one had lighted a match, and saw a man lying near the horses, heads on a bank just above them in such away that if he had moved, he would have rolled under their feet He was helplessly drunk, and could give no account of himself. The men got the horses from the rig, and led them home, leaving the man to come on afoot, which he did, getting here in the early moruing. This morning, Gene Trout sent up and got the rig, it being his, and brought it home. It was considerably injured, but the greatest wonder is that no one was killed.

Insurance Paid.

Our old-time friend Philip Noel, of Butler township, had his $1,000 life insurance policy mature today. and it was paid yesterday, one day ahead. Who can beat that? It was in the old reliable Union Central Life Insurance Company, handled by E. L, Casebeer of Auburn, these many years.

Kidney Diseases

are the most fatal to all diseases. Foley's Kidney Cure a guaranteed remedy or money refunded.

Regardless Of Age.

The kidneys are responsible for more sickness, suffering, and deaths than any other organ of the body.

A majority of the ills afflicting people today is traceable to kidney trouble. It prevades all classes of society, in all climates, regardless of age, sex or condition.

The symptoms of kidney trouble are unmistakable, such as rheumatism, neuralgia, sleeplessness, pain or dull ache in the back, a desire to urinate often day or night, profuse or scanty supply.

Uric acid, or brick-dust deposit in urine are signs of clogged kidneys, causing poisoned and germ-filled blood. Sometimes the heart acts badly, and tube casts (wasting of the kidneys) are found in the urine, which if neglected will result in Bright's Disease, the most dangerous form of kidney trouble.

All these symptoms and conditions are promptly removed under the influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. It has a world wide reputation for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

No one need be long without it as it is so easy to get at any drug store at fifty cents or one dollar. You can have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery, Swamp-Root, and a book telling all about it, both sent you absolutely free by mail. Send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. and kindly mention that you read this liberal offer in The Auburn Courier, Auburn, Ind.

To Make Life Happy

Sweet music appeals to the heart and soul and lightens many of life's burdens. If you have ever heard the sweet-toned STEGER PIANO you will appreciate this. To reach the highest standard of excellence has always been the aim in the manufacture of the CELEBRATED STEGER PIANO. Only the best material is used, insuring great durability. Every piano fully guaranteed.

The Steger factories, thoroughly equipped with the best and most improved machinery, located at Steger, Ill., are among the largest in the West.

Intending purchasers will find it profitable to write for full descriptive catalogue. which will be mailed free, upon applicatien. STEGER & Co. (Established 1879). Chicago, Ill.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Notice is hereby given that the Auditor of DeKalb County, Indiana, and the Auditor of Steuben County Indiana, will on

Saturday, April 29, 1899
At 2 p. m.,

in the office of Auditor in the court house in the town of Auburn, receive sealed proposals for the construction of the Adam Deetz joint ditch, No. 685, located in Fairfield Township, DeKalb county, Indiana, and Salem Township, Steuben county, Indiana, and described as follows to-wit:

FIRST SECTION.

Commencing eighty-six (86) rods north of the east quarter corner of section number five [5] Fairfield Township, DeKalb county, Indiana, and from thence in an easterly direction ending at stake 27 plus 50 feet containing 2750 feet.

SECOND SECTION

Commencing at stake 27 plus 50 feet of said ditch, ending at stake No, 55 containing 2750 feet.

THIRD SECTION

Commencing at stake No, 55 of said ditch end at stake No. 82 plus 50, containing 2759 feet.

FOURTH SECTION

Commencing at stake No. 82 plus 50 feet of said ditch ending at stake No. 110, said ending point being in Turkey Creek lateral at a point nine hundred seventy-five [975] feet north and seven-hundred seventy [770] feet east of the center of section thirty-three [33], Township thirty-six [36] [Salem Tp] North Range Twelve (12) east, Steuben county, Indiana,

Said work will be sold in four (4) sections as described above, and to the lowest responsible bidder,

But no bid will be entertained which exceeds the estimated cost of construction as set forth in the report of the viewers.

All contractors will be required to keep their sections well staked and numbered contractors to whom work is sold will be required to enter into contract and execute a bond in compliance with the provisions of law. (Acts 1893 Page 329.)

Specifications of said work can be seen at the County Auditor's office, Auburn.

The auditor reserves the right to reject any and all bids,

FRANK P. SEILER,
Auditor DeKalb Co. Ind.
Auburn, Ind., April 10, '99.
JAMES B. WATKINS
Auditor Steuben Co., Ind.
Angola, Ind. April 10, '99.

Be Careful

No woman can be too careful of her condition during the period before her little ones are born. Neglect or improper treatment then endangers her life and that of the child. It lies with her whether she shall suffer unnecessarily, or whether the ordeal shall be made comparatively easy. She had better do nothing than do something wrong.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

is the one and the only preparation that is safe to use. It is a liniment that penetrates from the outside. External applications are eternally right. Internal medicines are radically wrong. They are more than humbugs—they endanger life.

Mother's Friend helps the muscles to relax and expand naturally—relieves morning sickness—removes the cause of nervousness and headache—prevents hard and rising breasts—shortens labor and lessens the pains—and helps the patient to rapid recovery.

From a letter by a Shreveport, La., woman: "I have been using your wonderful remedy, Mother's Friend, for the last two months, and find it just as recommended."

Druggists sell it at $1 per bottle.

THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO.
ATLANTA, GA.
Send for our free illustrated book, "Before Baby is Born."

Thursday's Daily.

—Noble county is having an epidemic of wheat thieves.

—Mrs. S. L Olinger, of Garrett, called to see the COURIER today.

—The little child of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lochner died this morning, having lived but two days.

—Frank Rush has had to get more help. We noticed two men assisting him today. Work in his line is booming.

—D. F. Benninghoff called today paying taxes and the COURIER. His wife will be remembered as Miss Millie Schler one of our teacher.

—C. M. Brown came home from Mason, Mich., yesterday on the afternoon train. He fixed up the claims our people had on the buggy Co. there in good shape.

—Before the discovery of One Minute Cough Cure, ministers were greatly disturbed by coughing congregations. No excuse for it now. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—Our old friend Bronson Snyder was a caller today. Though living on the home farm, he feels deeply the loss of her who for fifty-three years shared his joys and his sorrows.

—An exchange says:—If roses are wilted before they can be put in water, immerse the stalks in very hot water for a minute or two, and they will regain their pristine freshness.

—For a quick remedy and one that is perfectly safe for Children let us recommend One Minute Cough Cure. It is excellent for croup, hoarseness, tickling in the throat and coughs. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—We write this Wednesday evening, to say that since Monday morning we have added thirteen to our daily list and four to the weekly. People appreciate a paper that gives clean news and gives it in a shape it can be understood

—A London cablegram states on what is said to be good authority, that a definite agreement has been arrived at between the United States and Great Britain, by which the former secures complete control of the Nicaraguan canal.

—Irvin Hoffman and wife go to St. Louis tomorrow where he will be engaged in photographic work for a time. They may go to California later on, but that is not decided. We sincerely regret to lose these two familiar faces from Auburn.

—A few days ago, Frank McDowell received a neat little letter from his son, little George McDowell, at Grand Rapids. The little fellow was six years old that day, and his letter was in print, but it was a bright, nicely worded little letter for all that.

—FOR SALE CHEAP:—A Lady's "1897 Model" Bicycle, in First-class condition, Green Enameled frame, highly ornamented nickel-plated, with Bell, good Lamp and Cyclometer. Will sell very cheap for cash. For information call at this office.

—The editor of the Lagange Standard in speaking of the late spring snows, says in 1842 he took a load of ashes to South Bend on a sled the first Mondy in April, and the winter was just breaking up then. Kendallville Sun. The Standard probably means 1843, as that was the long "hard winter"

—For frost bites, burns, indolent sores eczema, skin disease, and especially Piles, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve stands first and best. Look out for dishonest people who try to immitate and counterfeit it. It's their endorsement of a good article. Worthless goods are not imitated. Get DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Fischler & Son and H B. McCord.

—The latest conundrum is: "What is the difference between Manilla and Fort Wayne?" Of course it is given up after a few ineffectual attempts, when the reply then is. "Manilla was bombarded, but Fort Wayne was S(c)helled." It seems that some of these S(c)hells were carried a considerable distance beyond Fort Wayne in all directions.

—The Passenger Department of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad has just published a march, which was composed by a well-known band master of the South, and dedicated to the department. The title page is a beauty, and the music looks as if it might be tuneful. Four cents in stamps enclosed to C. P. Atmore, General Passenger Agent, Louisville, Ky., will secure a copy.

—Angola Herald:—In the Michigan elections last week, Judge Erastus Peck, in the Jackson district, was reelected circuit Judge for the third term. Judge Peck is a Democrat. and his re-election by a majority of over 5,000 votes is a handsome tribute to his ability and fidelity in the discharge of his official duties. He is a brother of the wife of our esteemed fellow citizen, Coroner Jacob Stealey, and we feel like congratulating the latter upon getting into good company politically.

Sudden Death

Old Mr. Shook, who used to live in a part of Mr. Tarney's house, died at his home a few blocks west of there yesterday afternoon. He was sitting in his chair quietly, and when noticed was dead. He had had a stroke of paralysis sometime before, and it is supposed something of the sort had occured again. He was over 80. The funeral is at 10:00 a. m. tomorrow.

Call For County Orders

All orders dated prior to Jan. 1, 1899, to No. 1,333; will be paid if presented to Treasurer. Interest will stop on called orders April 8, 1899.

F. M. HINES,
Treasurer of DeKalb.

Friday's Daily.

—A girl baby was born to Mr. and Mrs. Geo Quince last evening. Dr. Vesta Swarts reports all well.

—WANTED:—Thirty cords of hard wood, 18 inches, split fine and delivered in August. Call on Charles Eckhart.

—Trustee James Finch, of Corunna was in town today, and gave the old COURIER a nice lift financially, besides good words.

—S. N. Olds, an old resident of the county, died at his home in St. Joe this morning at 12:30 o'clock. The funeral services will be held in the Lutheran church at that place on Sanday.

—Milton Bailey, who drives a dray for the Greenler Co., was unloading a lot of crating at the Eckhart factory yesterday, when he slipped and fell injuring him so that he will be laid up for a time.

—Fisher West was in town a few days ago and bought of J. L. Davis $100 worth of fence wire to be used on his big farm in Butler township. Truly farming has begun in earnest down that way.

—I. M. Johnson showed us a nice specimen of the Ben Davis apple today, which is not only sound now, but bids fair to be sound a month or two longer. He says they are among our very best keeping apples.

—J. Sheer, Sedalia, Mo., conductor on electtic street car line, writes that his little danghter was very low with the croup, and her life saved after physicians had failed, only by using One Minute Cough Cure. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—Cal. VanAuken is the engineer employed to lay out and survey a short spur of railroad to connect the Wabash, with the proposed cement factories on Turkey Lake in Steuben county. It will leave the railroad near Helmer and go to the marl beds at the lake. A village will likely be platted there, also.

Garrett's Grocery has another cute novelty in the way of a display window It is the work of Roy Garrett, and shows quite a landscape, with its grassy lawn, its fountain and pond, its ducks and its fine house made of cakes of soap with its gable of prunes, its cornice of raisins and chimney of kidney beans. Go and see it.

—Dr. Baxter, C. E. Baxter and Rev. Mr. Arlen have been planting garden a part of the day, We say a part of the day, as it takes these experienced farmers a part of the time to decide whether the potatoes shall be planted two feet, three feet, four feet, five feet, six feet or seven feet apart, or as many inches. They all agreed on one thing; that seven feet was deep enough.

—Eight or ten members of the A. O. U. W. of Auburn went over to Butler last evening to assist in the initiation of members, and to stir the lodge there up to renewed life. There were nine candidates, and the visitors had a fine time. Besides, they showed a neighborly spirit as the Butler brethren had been here a few nights before to help initiate members for the Auburn lodge.

—Mrs. D. A Garwood has been invited to go to Columbia City next Thursday to help dedicate the new organ at the Lutheran church. It is of the same make as the one here at the Presbyterian church which she plays. This is quite a compliment to her ability to handle this grand lustrument. Mr. Liggett of that place, had heard her play in the church here, and so he secured her for that important event.

Saturday's Daily.

—Ask any druggist for a free Peruna Almanac for the year 1899.

—James Metcalf made us a pleasant call yesterday with a load of wood.

—Henry T. Myers was a cash caller today and went on the honor list of 1900 —Grandma Schaab, Mrs. DeLapp and mother Mrs. Ashley, are visiting relatives at New Haven.

—Dr. Baxter reports an eight pound girl born to Mr. and Mrs. Levi Rakestraw on West 7th street this morning, —Judge Powers and D. R. Best, of Angola, were callers yesterday. They had been attending the Bar Association

—Louis Hosler and Aaron Crossley of Corunna, were here today to attend the funeral of old Mr. Shook who was buried today.

—Mrs. F. E. Lane is now engaged as a canvasser for the Phenix Ins., Co., of Benton Harbor, Mich. It is a sick and accident benefit Co.

--Miss Eva Minnich came over from Albion today, and will remain over Sunday with the COURIER folks. She goes next week to Churubusco.

—B. F. Greist of Newville, has moved to Auburn, and will be employed in the big Lackey store as a salesman. He has had a large experience and will we believe be a popular man. He makes his home in East Auburn.

BRONCHITIS

Bronchitis is very prevalent. It generally begins with a common cold, attended with cough, hoarseness, soreness of the lungs, tightness of the chest and difficulty in breathing. If not cured, it becomes dangerous—thousands die from bronchitis annually. Dr. John W. Bull's Cough Syrup is the best remedy for this disease; it relieves the cough at once, eases expectoration, and cures in a few days.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup

Will promptly cure Bronchitis.
Doses are small and pleasant to take. Doctors recommend it. Price 25 cts. At all druggists.

The Nichols-Shepard Separator

The essential points in a Separator are capacity, thoroughness of separation, and simplicity and durability of construction. On each of these points the Nichols-Shepard Separator has great advantage over all other threshing machines. Any one of the nine sizes will thresh more and save more grain than the corresponding size of any other separator. The Nichols-Shepard Separator is as strongly, simply, yet perfectly made as a separator can be. The work of separation is done without the aid of pickers, raddles, forks, or other complicated parts that in other machines cause continual bother and expense by breaking or wearing out.

This shows the Nichols-Shepard Self-feeder loaded and ready for the road.

Write for large free catalogue that pictures and explains every part of the Nichols-Shepard Separator and the Nichols-Shepard

TRACTION ENGINE.

NICHOLS & SHEPARD CO.,
Battle Creek, Mich.
Branch House at
INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA,
with full stock of machines and extras.

YOU CAN USE IT 20 DAYS FREE

Up-to-date in every detail.

Ask us to ship you one of our High Arm Sewing Machines with Ball Bearings and all Modern Improvements. This we will do by express to any station within 500 miles of Chicago. Upon arrival deposit our price, $19.50, and express charges, with the express agent of your town, then

TAKE THE MACHINE HOME AND TRY IT FOR 20 DAYS

If you are perfectly satisfied with the machine, keep it, otherwise return it to the express agent, and he will give you all your money back. If you prefer, we will ship by freight and draw on you through your nearest bank, draft attached to Bill of Lading. When machine comes pay draft, and take machine from station. If you don't like it, return it by freight, and we will refund. We guarantee the machine for ten years. Remember you take no risk. It don't cost you one cent unless you take the machine. We have sold over 100,000, and they are all giving perfect satisfaction. ITS SPECIAL FEATURES are Ball Bearing, Light Running, Durable, Easily Operated, Noiseless, Double Positive Feed, Self Threading Shuttle, Self-Setting Needle, Tension Liberator, Automatic Spooler, High Arm, Nickle-plated working parts, Steel bearings, Improved steel Attachments, Superior Finish, Elegantly Polished Bent Woodwork, Oak or Walnut. You take no risk. It don't cost you one cent unless you take the machine. We have sold over 100,000, and they are all giving perfect satisfaction. It lists everything used by mankind.

Originators of The Catalogue Business.

Send 15 cents for our 1000-page catalogue.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., Michigan Ave., & Madison St., Chicago.

THE WONDERFUL REMEDY FOR

TIKO Rheumatism

It is not a CURE-ALL, but it is a Specific for RHEUMATISM.

One hundred and forty-four bottles
Cured 100 cases of RHEUMATISM.

TIKO is a medicine taken INTERNALLY, the only method by which RHEUMATISM can be successfully treated. It cures the CAUSE, and therein lies its remarkable success. Its price is $1.00 per bottle, or three bottles for $2.50, and if your Druggist has not got it, it will be sent to you, by Express,
ALL CHARGES PAID, on receipt of price.
Address, PURINTON MEDICINE COMPANY, Detroit, Mich.

Sheriff'S Sale.

By virtue of a certified copy of a Decree to me directed from the clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, in a cause wherein Harriett D. Ober is plaintiff and Thomas Broderick, Mary D. Broderick and Henry P. Stroh are defendants requiring me to make the sum of eight hundred and ninety-nine dollars and twenty-three cents, with interest in said decree and costs, I will expose at Public Sale, to the highest bidder, on between the hours of 10 o'clock A.M. & 4 o'clock P. M. of said day, at the door of the court house n Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate towit:

Saturday, April 29, 1899

Lots forty-nine (49) fifty (50) fifty one (51) fifty-two (52) and fifty-three (53) in Kuhlman's first addition and lots one (1) six (6) seven (7) and twelve [12] in Brandon's Addition; all of said lots being in the town of Auburn, in DeKalb County in the State of Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and costs. I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs. Said sale will, be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws.

JOHN H. HATHAWAY,
Sheriff of DeKalb County, Indiana,
March 28, 1899.
J. E. & J, H. Rose, attorney for plaintiff.

A Life for 50 Cents

Many people have been cured of Kidney Diseases by taking a 50 cent bottle of Foley's Kidney Cure.

Notice to Contractors.

Notice is heriby given that the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb County Indiana will receive sealed proposals until April 20, 1899, at 1 o'clock p. m, for the building and erecting the superstructure and substructure of one steel bridge over Fish creek in Troy township. The survey profile, specifications and two general plans for the superstructure are on file in the Auditor's office.

Also at the same time and place bids will be received for the building and erecting of the substructure for the proposed bridge of either iron columns with stone backing or solid stone masonry. Profile plans and specifications are on file in the Auditor's office. Each bid must be accompanied with an affidavit and bond in compliance with an act of the General Assembly and in effect Feb. 28, 1899.

The Board reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

By order of the Board of Commissioners.

FRANK P. SEILER, Auditor.
Auburn, Indiana, March 28, 1899.

WE GIVE ANY LADY

or man, who will take orders for our Leghorn Hen Food, in their own town,

A SOLID GOLD WATCH, FREE

We make this offer for a short time, in order to get our Food into more general use. It increases yield of eggs, and keeps fowl in good health. Send us 50c. for a regular $1.00 size box, and begin to take orders at once.

Pamphlet, with more information about hens, sent on receipt of self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address
Leghorn Food Co. (311-M) Boston, Mass.

HIGH-GRADE
HAWTHORNE
$22.50 NET.

SPECIFICATIONS. Name—Hawthorne. Cranks—6½ inch (diamond shape). Chain—3-16 inch best hardened centers and rivets (Indianapolis B best quality), straw center and blued sides. Frame—Regular 24-inch, option 22 or 26 inches. Finish—Dark myrtle green, neatly hand striped. Gear—Regular 73, option 78; 10 tooth rear and 28 front sprockets are used on 73 gear, 10 and 32 on 78. Handle Bars—Adjustable. Pedals—Bridgeport, rat trap. Saddle—Gilliam, padded top. Spokes—Tangent, Excelsior Needle Co's best No. 2, 26 front, 36 rear. Tires—1¾-inch Morgan & Wright double tube. Tool Bag—Containing wrench, oiler, repair outfit and spanner. Tread—4¾-inch. Tubing—Shelby cold drawn seamless. Wheel Base—43½ inches. Wheels—28 inches. Weight—(About 32 pounds.

15000 Sold in 1898

It's as good as any wheel made. All modern improvements. Guaranteed for one year. If not found as represented, return at our expense both ways, and you can have your money back on demand

ASK US TO SEND YOU OUR FREE BICYCLE CATALOG

Send 15 cents for our 1,000 page catalogue. It lists everything used by mankind.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., CHICAGO.

FARMERS' WIVES

or any other ladies who wish to work

Can Earn Lots of Money

working for us in spare time at home on our cloths. We offer you a good chance to make plenty of spending money easily, leisure hours. Send 12c. for cloth and full directions for work, and commence at once. Cloth sent anywhere. Addres

WINOOSKET CO. (311-M) Boston Mass
Mfg. Dept.

Glad Tidings to Asthma Sufferers

Foley's Honey and Tar gives quick and positive relief. It is the greatest remedy for diseases of the respiratory organs like Asthma, Bronchitis and Hoarseness.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXIX | Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, April 27, 1899. | Number 17.

BANK First National
Auburn, Ind.
Capital Stock and Surplus
$60,000
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money to Loan.
CHARLES McCLELLAN, President.
D. A. GARWOOD, Cashier.

Physicians T.G.Matheny,M.D J.B.Casebeer,M.D
Matheny & Casebeer
have again associated themselves in the practice of Medicine, Surgery & Obstetrics. Office On 9th St.
Western 'Phone:
Office..... No. 9
Matheny,s residence..... " 88
Casebeer's " ..... " 175

DENTIST S. B. JOHNSTON,
Office Over Pioneer Hardware Store,
Auburn, Indiana.
First-class material and scientific workmanship employed. Prices reasonable.
Western 'Phone:
Residence..... No. 27

BANK Farmers,
Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres. J. C. Henry, V-Pres.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

Physicians D. J. Swarts, M. D Vesta W. Swarts, M D
and SURGEONS
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets,
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western..... No. 19 Central Union..... No. 19

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN,
Auburn, Ind.
Office in Gandy Building, Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Sprcialty

P. V. HOFFMAN,
LAWYER,
Auburn. Indiana
OFFICE over Hebel's Grocery.

Dr. Z. H. Stamets,
Physician & Surgeon
Office on Main St., opposite Swineford Hotel.
Western 'Phone 104
Special attention given to techinal examinations and treatment of chronic and obscure cases, also special attention given to surgery and diseases of women. Calls answered at all hours. Office apart from residence.

I. O. BUCHTEL, HOMEOPATHIC
Physician and Surgeon.
Special attention given to hronic and Obscure cases and catarrhal diseeses of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Madden Bros Marble Works, Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, day or night.

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Deeds & Titles,
AUBURN, IND.
Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

Mott's Nerverine Pills

BEFORE AND AFTER USING.
The great remedy for nervous prostration and all nervous diseases of the generative organs of either sex, such as Nervous Prostration, Failing or lost Manhood, Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Youthful Errors, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco or Opium, which lead to Consumption and Insanity. $1.00 per box by mail; 6 boxes for $5.00.
MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Prop's, Cleveland, Ohio.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

New Blacksmith Shop.

I have located at the H. C. Shull blacksmith shop, formerly J. W. Shaffer's on South Main st. Will do general blacksmithing, horse-shoeing, etc. Horse-shoeing a specialty. My work for your money. My prices are right. 35 cents for old shoes and 60 for new ones. Call on me. L. E. Homisher.

LOVELY ST. MARKS.

Our Lutheran Friends Are Justified If They Feel Proud

The most beautiful church in Auburn, or anywhere else we know of, for that matter, is the Auburn Lutheran church. The decorations of the interior are now finished and it will be occupied Sunday for all its regular services, The Editor saw a light there last evening and ventured in. It was a vision of loveliness that greeted and surprised us. All the walls, all the ceilings, the arches, the spaces between roof-supports, and from wainscot to dome, were bright and beautiful, with newly made frescoing by an artist of high order. Each arch is decorated, and with colorings these extend into the apex of the arch. It is particularly graceful in the grooved arch over the lecture room and in the paneled spaces of the roof-ceiling over the auditorium. The effect of all is in a high degree pleasing and attractive. The wood work, the seats and all are resplendent with newly applied varnish, the side walls, for a short distance above the wainscoting are oil painted, so they can be washed, the floors have fine new carpets, and all the aisles are laid with a new and very desireable make of matting, the same that was used for the first, at the Omaha Fair last summer. We suspect that a good share of these improvements may be credited to our friend L. Bowers, but it is also plain that there must have been a united effort on the part of all. The pastor, Mr. Brosy, should also have a full share of the credit, for we found him with sleeves rolled up, hard at work with the rest. We think when the good people of that church meet at their devotion Sunday, there might well be a little, thankful corner reserved in every heart, to add to the prayer, some sweet words of gratitude to Him who moved the hearts of his people to do this good work.

Bound Over.

We spoke briefly yesterday of the arrest of Albert Hagenan, of the Junction, charged with chicken stealing. The warrant charged him with stealing three chickens and when he was brought into court, he unexpectedly plead guilty. This was all the more unexpected as it had been certain he had been stealing for some time, but it was believed he felt so confident that he had covered up his tracks, that he would be sure to make a fight to clear himself. But it would not have done him much good, for the people about the Junction have got onto his way of doing things. It appears that Hagenau, who is a man of over 21 years has been for some time bringing a few chickens to a time to Chris McNabb and selling them. Finally McNabb thought this a little strange and began to question him, especially as he claimed he had a number of fine chickens. But the fellow said, although he had forty or more chickens, he did not care to sell only a few of them, at least not now. But as he kept bringing in chickens at about the rate that the people around the Junction lost chickens, he was watched, with the result that he was arrested. After his plea of guilty, he was bound over to court. One man at the Junction had set aside a number of fine, pure-bred Plymouth Rocks, which he prized highly, and was going to keep, intending to sell off the rest. But it was these very chickens that went soon after, a part one night and a part the next. The three for which he was arrested he took in the April shower of Tuesday evening.

A Thousand Tongues

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard-st., Philadelphia. Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"it soon removed the pain in my chest and I can sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. King's New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottles free at H. B. McCord's drugstore, every bottle guaranteed.

Lacked Nerve

It is not every man that has the nerve shown by Reporter Willennar, as may be seen by this from an exchange:

A mouse up the sleeve of W. H. Caulkins, Lafayette, who had seated himself in a barber's chair for a shave, when a mouse ran up his leg and caused an acrobatic and disrobing act.

Pains in the Back Cured.

A. B. FARRINGTON, Constantia' N. Y. writes: I was troubled several years with kidney disease and suffered severe pains in the back. I used Foley's Kidney Cure and one bottle cured me I recommended it to my friends it has given perfect satisfaction.

TAKE TIME

FOUR-BUTTON SACK SUIT
Copyright, 1899
By Hart, Schaffner & Marx

To step into our store for a few minutes and look over our new styles of Hart, Schaffner & Marx suits. They are acknowledged to be the finest clothes made in this country. It will certainly pay you to see them and get our prices before you decide what to wear this season.

HART, SCHAFFNER & MARX

H. S. & M.

GUARANTEED CLOTHING.

It is a pleasure for us to show you clothing this season, no matter whether it be for man, boy or child. The colorings and weaves are simply perfection—the linings and make are faultless and the price within the reach of all. Every garment being absolutely guaranteed to prove satisfactory, makes our store an ideal place to buy Clothing.

The principal which we apply to our Clothing Department is characteristic of our entire stock. Experience will teach you that our 5c calico is the best to be had for the money; that our 5c muslin is the best weight and evenest; that our 10c hose are the best black and wear the best; that our 6c gingham has better wear and is finer than you get for the same money elsewhere, and so we might mention a thousand and one other items to be found in our complete stock.

We are enjoying a very fine trade in

SHIRT WAISTS AND WASH SKIRTS

and we ought to; we are showing a line that you might expect to see in decidedly larger places than Auburn. We are headquarters for Men's Straw Hats and Shirts. See us often.....

We Are Saving You Money.

SCHAAB & BRO.,
Auburn, Indiana.

Noted Court-Martials.

No less a person that Gen. Winfield Scott was once tried for abusing the ranking officer in the service, Gen. Wilkinson, says the Chicago Tribune. Gen. Scott went into retirement for a year to learn to bridle his tongue and blunt his pen. Gen. John C. Fremont was sentenced to be dismissed for insubordinate conduct, but the president remitted the sentence. Other brigadier and major generals have been tried for various offenses. Gen. Wilkinson, the commanding officer, was tried for treason and was acquitted. He was charged with complicity in the Burr scheme. Gen. Hull was sentenced to be shot for cowardice. The extreme sentence was not carried out, though it was never revoked. The cases of Fitz John Porter and Judge Advocate General Swaim are fresh in the public mind. There are noted precedents for the trial of soldiers of high rank, though there is no great comfort for Eagan in the perusal of the findings of the courts.

Dr. Bull's COUGH SYRUP
Will cure Tonsilitis and Bronchitis.
A specific for incipient consumption. Doses small. Price 25 cts. at druggists.

To Make Life Happy

Sweet music appeals to the heart and soul and lightens many of life's burdens. If you have ever heard the sweet-toned STEGER PIANO you will appreciate this. To reach the highest standard of excellence has always been the aim in the manufacture of the CELEBRATED STEGER PIANO. Only the best material is used, insuring great durability. Every piano fully guaranteed.

The Steger factories, thoroughly equipped with the best and most improved machinery, located at Steger, Ill., are among the largest in the West.

Intending purchasers will find it profitable to write for full descriptive catalogue. which will be mailed free, upon applicatien. STEGER & Co. (Established 1879). Chicago, Ill.

PECULIAR TO OUR SOIL.

Catarrh is an American disease.

Mrs. Greger, Bagby, Tex., says: "Pe-ru-na has done so much good for me that I am able to do my own work."

Mr. Jacob Griffin, Elmer, Mich., writes: "I was very nervous and unable to work. I have taken several bottles of Pe-ru-na and am entirely well."

Esther Luther, Franklinsville, N. C., says: "I took your Pe-ru-na for deafness can hear now as well as I ever could."

Aug. Tryloff, Mt. Clemens, Mich., writes: "I had la grippe and it left me with a terrible cough. I took Pe-ru-na and was cured."

Mrs. E. Guest, Kearney, Buffalo Co., Neb., writes: "I took your Pe-ru-na for catarrh, and can say that I am now entirely cured of it."

H. Walter Brady, Cascade, Ark., says: "I had running ears. It was so offensive I excluded myself from all society. After I had borne it fourteen years I read Dr. Hartman's book called 'The Ills of Life.' I took seventeen dollars' worth of his remedies and am entirely cured."

RABBIT SKINS ARE WARMEST.

They Are the Best Protection Against Klondike Cold.

Frank Slavin, the ex-pugilist, made a winter trip out from the Klondike and has some interesting reminiscences of the great polar bear reserve. He thinks blankets very unsatisfactory as a protection against the cold when camping out. "As far as warmth goes," says Slavin, "blankets are about like mosquito netting. You can feel the cold air circulating through the pores, and at 50 below a man has to wear hat, gloves and moccasins to bed, and then is likely as not to freeze his nose under half a hundred pounds of the best wool that was ever put into a California blanket." Ten or fifteen pounds of lynx or rabbit skins made into a robe will afford much better protection, according to Slavin.

Call For County Orders

All orders dated prior to Jan. 1, 1899, to No. 1,333; will be paid if presented to Treasurer. Interest will stop on called orders April 8, 1899.

F. M. HINES,
Treasurer of DeKalb.

A Life for 50 Cents

Many people have been cured of Kidney Diseases by taking a 50 cent bottle of Foley's Kidney Cure.

WHO WILL BE NEXT

Laporte Starts Out Early with a Big Fish Story.

[Laporte Argus]

W. B. Zahrt and W. F. Hamilton started Tuesday afternoon for Pine Lake for an outing, and did a little fishing while they were away. They engaged a boat at Card's landing and proceeded to skim over the water. Mr. Hamilton doing the rowing while Mr. Zahrt attended to the lines and hooks. They were caught in the heavy shower of Tuesday afternoon while on the lake, and while angling for the finney tribe were wet to the skin by the rain. Being, however, ardent fishermen they did not mind this a cents worth and stuck to their job, though they failed to get a bite worth mentioning for two hours. Mr. Hamilton had been giving Zahrt hail columbia on account of the inability to catch anything and was on the point of changing positions with him when Mr. Zahrt called out "Hold on! My line is stuck!" "Wait a minute!" Mr. Hamilton rested on his oars and in a disgusted tone of voice said; "Well, what's the matter now?" "Oh nothing much! I've just caught on a snag" said Zahrt, and with that he gave his line a tug to the side! He had the line wound around his hand and as he made the jerk the line straightened out and Zahrt was almost pulled from the boat. "It's a sea monster!" cried Zahrt, and his hat flew off his head, his hair stood up straight and the look on his face was one of startled alarm. "Cet the gun! Get the gun!" he cried" "And shoot when he comes up!" Hamilton prepared for action and Zahrt wound the line around the rowlock. Presently the water near the boat was lashed into foam by some live thing. Hamilton was afraid to shoot for he remembered that it was against the law, and the monster disappeared carrying the line with it. Zahrt had been taking observation, and his keen eye told him that the monster was nothing more or less than a great big dog fish. He had seen many, but never one of the dimensions of this one.

It looked to him like a whale and he made up his mind to capture it or die in the attempt. The fish struggled to free itself from the hook and presently came to the surface again. Mr. Zahrt was ready for it and as it stuck its head out of the water he leaped from the boat and grasped the fish in his arms. He shot one arm through the left gill of the fish and did his best to choke it. Mr. Hamilton was on the alert and came to his assistance. Between the two they subdued the fish and after an hour's work succeeded in towing it to shore. It proved to be a monster measuring almost four feet in length and weighing 13 pounds. It is now stored away in Mr. Zahrt's refrigerator and has been examined by a large number of LaPorte's enthusiastic fisherman.

Parsnip Complexion.

It does not require an expert to detect the sufferer from kidney trouble. The hollow cheeks, the sunken eyes, the dark puffy circles under the eyes, the sallow parsnip colored complexion indicates it.

A physician would ask if you had rheumatism, a dull pain or ache in the back or over the hips, stomach trouble, desire to urinate often, or a burning or scalding in passing it; if after passing there is an unsatisfied feeling as if it must be at once repeated, or if the urine has a brick dust deposit or strong odor.

When these symytoms are present, no time should be lost in removing the cause.

Delay may lead to gravel, catarrh of the bladder, inflammation, causing stoppage, and sometimes requiring the drawing of the urine with instruments, or may run into Bright's Disease, the most dangerous stage of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great discovery of the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, is a positive remedy for such diseases. Its reputation is world-wide and it is so easy to get at any drug store that no one need suffer any length of time for want of it.

However, if you prefer to first test its wonderful merits, mention The Auburn Courier and write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghampton, N. Y. for a sample bottle and book telling all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail.

The Demorest Contest.

In connection with the coming W. C. T. U. institue to be held in Auburn on Friday and Saturday of next week, will be the contest for the Demorest medal. This will be on Friday evening. Already there are eight contestants, two from Waterloo, two from Garrett, two from St. Joe and two from Auburn. Those representing Auburn are Sherman Baber of of New Era and Miss Fay McDonald of Auburn. The contest promises to be one of unusual interest.

"A Thrilling Night's Ride"

Is the title of a very interesting illustrated story, which will be mailed free upon receipt of 2 cents postage, by

A. H. Waggener, 6 Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind. 16-17

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
Makes the food more delicious and wholesome
ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

Spanish War Claims.

—We copy from the Washington Post, March 19, an article to show, how und where a part of the war expenses go. The article of the treaty referring to damage claims reads:

All claims for indemnity, national and individual, of every kind, of either government, or of its citizens or subjects, against the other government, that may have arisen since the beginning of the late insurrection in Cuba and prior to the exchange of ratifications of the present treaty, including all claims of indemnity for the cost of the war.

The list of claims against Spain filed by American citizens already aggre-208, with a total amount involved, as already stated, of over $20,000,000. The correspondence relating to the various items is very voluminous.

COMMISSION TO BE APPOINTED

Solicitor Penfield, of the State Department, said to a Post reporter yesterday that, in all probability, a commission would be appointed by Congress to adjudicate these numerous claims. "The work will hardly be undertaken in the State Department," said he, "and we will wait until Congress acts. After the commission has been appointed, it will examine the facts alleged in each case and finally report upon the amount due to each person. Congress will then have to make an appropriation to meet the liabilities, but the appropriation will undoubtedly be promptly made, as the pledge of the United States to settle these claims is given in the treaty of the peace."

It is said at the State Department that the general average of settlement of claims is about 50 per cent, in which the $20,000,000 may be pared down to $10,000,000. This immense sum is not likely to be appropriated all at once. The commission will take up the least difficult of the cases first. and having disposed of them, will adjudicate the more knotty ones. In the meantime Congress will be asked to appropriate for those which have been made.

List of Patents

Granted to Indiana Inventors this week. Reported by C. A. Snow G Co., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C.—D. O. Bear, Clark's Hill, Apparatus for setting fence-posts. C. F. Bane, Lafayette, Air brake. J. Baxter, Fort Wayne, Listening-key or circuit-changer for operators' keyboards. J. A. Golden, Lafayette, Window-sash. J. E. Lippincott, Alexandria, Machine for etching, stamping, or marking glassware. W. A. Nordyke, Indianapolis, Cable-support. J. B. Schuman, Columbia City, Pneumatic elevator. L. Vernon, Brooksburg, Farm-gate. R. D. Voorhees, Flora, Shoe-polisher. R. C. Wagner, Jonesborough, Knurling-wheel tool. W. H. K. Woerner, Evansville, Gate-valve. For copy of any of the above patents sent 10c in postage stamps with date of this paper to C. A. Snow & Co., Washington, D, C.

A New Star

Columbia City Post

Much curiosity was excited among residents of the northern part of the city by the appearance, high in the air, of a bright red light which swayed to and fro in a mysterious manner. Visions of air ships, of witches, fairies, and the like filled the minds of many, and no doubt in some instances the clanking of wheels and the voices of the aerial navigators could be heard, or the enchanted broom stick could be seen cleaving the air. The matter is explained by the fact that Roy Parkinson was at about this time flying a kite, to which he had fastened a lighted lantern.

Sunday School Meeting

—At the meeting this afternoon of the executive committee of the county Sunday School Association, the following were present: Mrs. B. B. Long of Waterloo, Mrs. Mary Ehlers of Auburn I. N. Cox of Smithfield, Henry M. Fretz and Levi Treesh of Richland, Mrs. C. B. Jones and Mrs. A, J. Stewart of Garrett, and A. B. Filley and M. E. Olds of Concord.

That Throbbing Headache

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and strong nerves and build up your health. Easy to take Try them. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold by H. B. McCord the druggist.

FROM PUGET SOUND.

EDITOR COURIER:—I have received many inquiries from your readers in regard to the chances of obtaining employment here and of the prospects of getting a cheap home and of employing a small capital. I can better answer through the columns of the COURIER than by individual letters. I will say, we have here the last chance for a poor man to acquire a good productive home of his own in a land of plenty where a failure of crops is unknown, and where the sanatary conditions are perfect; where the people are kind, generous and endowed with an extraordinary amount of hospitality; where you have all the advantages of an advanced civilization and but few of the hardships of the pioneer life; where the bloom of health sparkles on the rosebud life of every little child, and warm rich blood courses through a race of giants in strength, for whom hard work is a pleasure and the subjugation of nature is a delight; where the old seem not to die, but live right on and on—grey and numerable, but strong and able, retaining the characteristics of youth at great old age. A man with $500 can start here and if industrious, can in three years become independent. As to the chances of obtaining employment and big wages, I will say that wages are about the same here as elsewhere in Uncle Samuel's country, and some men can not find work all the time for wages, but do not come to expect to work for wages, you can engage in some business of your own to much better advantage to yourself and family. We want familys, but single men are welcome. There is here a large percentage of foreign born, of whom the Scandinavians are by far the most numerous, and there is a colony of Holand Dutch near here who have all become rich by the product of the soil. The last lingering remnants of a once powerful tribe of Indians fast tottering towards extinction, may yet be found living upon the beach. feeding upon clams and fish which is a table ever ready There are clams on the beach when the tide runs low; a living within reach of all you know. The grass green all winter is now rank and the sleek cattle have long been grazing on fertile meadows. We love our new home far better than any we have hitherto found. Here amid the everlasting forests we are happy and beg to send our love to all the readers of the grand old COURIER.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH A. SHADE.

April 16, 1899.

Patriot's Day.

Boston celebrated "Patriot's Day" April 19, the anniversary of the battle of Lexington as it goes on the official calendar of the state, and no holiday in the year is more religiously observed in Boston, The stores are all closed. No newspapers are published and flags float in the breeze from every housetop All the patriotic societies have special services, parades, banquets, in commemoration of the day when Paul Revere, John Hancock, Sam Admas, and others saved the country.

Serious Accident.

W. C. Patterson of the Big Four establishment at St. Joe went to Fort Wayne yesterday to attend a horse sale, and in some way not well understood, while unhitching his horse, he got caught in the lines and the horse took fright and ran, dragging him some distance. He was badly bruised and it is believed two or three ribs broken. He was taken to Hope Hospital where Dr. Myers is treating him. Reports from him today say he is some better, but will be sore for some time.

Beats the Hog Case

Anderson hos furnished a courtroom case that is in par with the fable dog case, in which several hundred dollars were litigated away over a $5 porker.

In an estate amounting to $350.95, that has just been settled, the attorney proved his services to be worth $200, and the administrator drew $150. This left 95 cents for the ten heirs.

On the suggestion of one of them, this sum was presented to the judge as a testimonial of respect.

School Mortgages Exempt.

Auditor Seiler received a letter from State Attorney General stating that school mortgages were exempt from taxation, the same law applying to the school mortgage as to other mortgages. Heretofore exemptions were not filed on school mortgages.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, . . . PUBLISHER.

1899. APRIL. 1899.

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30

L. Q. 3rd. N. M. 10th. F. Q. 17th. F. M 25th.

CIRCLING THE GLOBE

CONCISE HISTORY OF SEVEN DAYS' DOINGS.

Intelligence by Electric Wire from Every Quarter of the Civilized World, Embracing Foreign Affairs and Home Happenings.

Condition of the Crops.

The weekly crop bulletin for Indiana, just issued, says:

"Plowing for corn, sowing oats, planting potatoes and gardening progressed more rapidly, with the ground in better condition. Rye and barley are in good condition; rye is of rank growth in some fields. Early sown wheat is slowly improving, growing green in the central and southern portions, but in many fields of the northern portion wheat is beyond recovery, and it will be replaced by oats and other crops. The yield of wheat this year will possibly be less than that of last year. Fruit buds have begun to burst. Apples, pears, cherries and plums are apparently sound; but peaches seem to be beyond recovery, and the crop will possibly be an entire failure this year."

Indians Threaten to Fight.

E. R. Harper, special Indian agent at Duchesne, Utah, passed through Denver en route to Washington, where he has been ordered to report. Mr. Harper made several ineffectual efforts to obtain a pow-wow with some of the leading spirits in the tribe of White River Utes, relative to their determination to cross the border this summer and hunt in Colorado. The Indians, he says, are in ugly mood, and threaten to force their way across if not allowed to hunt unmolested.

Two Thousand Homeless.

Consul Ayme has reported to the State Department from Pointe-a-Pitre, Gaudeloupe, that fires, alleged to be incendiary, started at midnight Thursday in that town, and sixteen squares near the Consulate were burned. Four hundred houses were consumed, thirty-one lives were lost, and 2,000 persons were rendered homeless. The fire has been extinguished, but great uneasiness prevails. The Governor of the island has arrived at Pointe-a-Pitre with fifty soldiers.

A Wild Story.

A special dispatch received at St. Paul from Victoria, B. C., says: The steamer Aorangie from Australia brings news of the arrest of the commander of the German warship Falke at Apia for supplying arms to Mataafa. The arrest was made by the British commander.

It is believed that the dispatch from Apia refers to the arrest of the German planter, upon whose plantation the British and American forces were ambushed.

High Treason Charged.

Berlin special; Sergeant Major Albrecht of the One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Regiment, has been arrested at Bromberg, Prussia, and taken in chains to Shandau, where the state prison is situated. The prisoner is charged with high treason in furnishing Russian agents with detailed plans of German fortifications and plans for mobilizing the German army.

To Get a Spanish Cruiser.

The new wrecking steamer Rescue, of the Merritt-Chapman Wrecking Company, is being fitted out in New York for a trip to Santiago de Cuba. She is the largest wrecking vessel afloat, and has received orders to sail on May 15. The Rescue is going to Santiago to tow the raised Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes, of Admiral Cervera's fleet, to Norfolk, Va.

Davis to Succeed Henry.

Gen. Corbin has announced that Gen. George B. Davis, a member of the Beef Inquiry Board, would succeed Gen. Henry as Military Governor of Porto Rico, about May 1. Gen. Wade will succeed Gen. Shafter as commander of the Department of California, next October, Gen. Shafter retiring.

Incomunicado Law Is Dead.

Havana special: The Cabinet Council at a recent meeting decided to modify the law of criminal procedure, which permits the imprisonment of persons incomunicado, and denies them the right of counsel. In the future no person will be thus incarcerated, and all must be permitted to have counsel.

Masonic Temple Attractions, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Thursday, April 27—"The Banda Rossa."

Friday and Saturday, April 28 and 29—"Hiawatha."

Week May 1—Bryan's Comedians.

Speaker Reed to Resign.

New York special: Speaker Thomas Brackett Reed has definitely decided to resign his seat in Congress to accept the position of head of the noted law firm of Simpson, Thatcher & Barnum, with a guarantee of $50,000 per annum.

Window Glass Goes Up.

The American Window Glass Company has advanced prices of window glass 10 per cent., to take effect at once.

Mother's Awful Work.

Penniless, behind on her rent, and hopeless of the future, Georgiana Dworschak, a widow aged 26 years, of Duluth, Minn., shot herself and two children, aged 4 and 6 years. Three dead bodies were found.

Fright Killed His Sweetheart.

Alexander Reed of French Grove, Ill., on returning from his father's funeral, was called to the bedside of his sweetheart and found her dead from fright, caused by a horse running away with her.

English Capital in Colorado.

It is reliably learned that a deal has been closed in New York whereby the Midland Terminal Railway Company and the Florence and Cripple Creek Railway and Florence reduction works at Florence, Colo., have been sold to a London syndicate for $8,000,000.

Lion Tamer Gets a Divorce.

Charlotte Wilhelmina Gertrude Bishop, otherwise known as Mme. Piancka, the lion tamer, was legally separated from her husband, H. H. Bishop, a resident of New York, in Kansas City. Mme. Piancka secured her divorce on a complaint of cruelty.

MONEY TO MOVE FALL CROPS.

Secretary of the Treasury Adds to His Holdings of Small Notes.

In anticipation of a largely increased demand for notes of small denomination when the fall crop movement begins, the Secretary of the Treasury is making arrangements materially to increase the treasury holdings of these small notes by raising the capacity for production of ones, twos, fives and tens from $492,000 per day to $780,000 or $800,000 a day. It is thought that by July 1 a sufficient amount of these notes will be available to meet any possible emergency. Up to this time national banks have not seemed willing to exchange large notes for those of smaller denominations, but it is believed as soon as the coming fall crop begins to move the pressure will be too great to resist, and the treasury means to be forehanded.

CONSULS ORDERED BACK TO SPAIN.

Will Occupy Same Positions They Held Before the War.

The Secretary of State has directed the return to their posts in Spain of the United States consuls who were obliged to leave on account of the war. Two of these officers, Consul H. W. Bowen at Barcelona and Richard M. Bartelman at Malaga, are now in New York. The third, J. Howell Carroll, consul at Cadiz, is now at Gibraltar. The department has determined that they shall be retained in the consular service, there being no evidence of any personal ill-feeling incurred by them. The sub-consular officers mostly remained in Spain throughout the war and were undisturbed, some even continuing to discharge a part of their official duties. They will also be continued in the service.

ENABLES THE DEAF TO HEAR.

Young Alabama Electrician Experiments with a Novel Apparatus.

Reese Hutchison, a young electrician and a graduate of Auburn College, Alabama, is exhibiting his apparatus for making the deaf hear. He augments vibration and enables deaf mutes to hear words spoken in ordinary tones and also to hear the piano, guitar, the phonograph and enjoy the music. The apparatus for the use of the deaf is the size of a pocketbook and is connected by wires with an audiphone which is held at the ear. Two totally deaf men were experimented with. They stood fifty feet from the piano and marked the time of the music, laughing with delight over the novel experience.

NEW YORK LANDS MAIL ROBBERS.

Two Prisoners, One a Chicagoan, Confess to Stealing Drafts and Checks.

Equipped with a complete mail carrier's outfit, in order to avoid suspicion, two expert mail robbers are under arrest at police headquarters in New York. Each has confessed to robbing the registered mail, and in possession of each the police found checks and drafts which had been plundered from the mail pouches. The men under arrest are Albert E. Bell of London, Can., and Frank H. Smith, alias "Kid" Forster, of Chicago.

As Reported by Bradstreet's.

Bradstreet's trade review says: "Real spring weather has improved the tone of trade, particularly retail, and correspondingly helped jobbing distribution, but, at the same time, brought last winter's injury to the wheat crop more in evidence. Wheat prices for the first time this season may be said to have actually reflected crop damage reports. Other cereals are but little changed, while the movement of our breadstuffs abroad at present seems to be on a lessening scale. Among the favorable features coming to light might be mentioned the receipt of reports of continued good railroad earnings, advices of widespread industrial activity, accompanied by rather less than usual friction, as reflected in strikes for higher wages and a largely improved distribution of wool, which appears to have awakened at last from its long sleep. Sales of this staple, indeed, are the heaviest reported for many weeks past. The strength of raw sugar has finally been reflected in higher rates for refined, hard grades of which are firm at the advances, while soft grades have been shaded. The iron and steel industry remains firm. The lumber market is active at wholesale. Current demand for dry goods at the East is quieter. Wheat, including flour, shipments for the week aggregate 1,983,619 bushels, against 3,384,800 bushels last week. Corn exports for the week aggregate 2,666,126 bushels, against 3,724,654 bushels last week."

Raid by Cuban Bandits.

Twelve or fifteen mounted bandits, one dressed as a woman, raided the Vinellos plantation, owned by Mrs. Puri, two miles south of Caimito, Cuba, and ten miles from Havana, and took $100 in silver from the owner's residence and afterward burned the house of the overseer and a warehouse containing $5,000 worth of tobacco. The bandits then rode to Caimito, where they plundered two dwellings and then went to a third, where a dance was in progress. A captain, a sergeant and two Cuban soldiers went out of the house to see what was the matter and other persons crowded to the doors and windows. The raiders fired a volley at close range, killing the captain and one soldier and one man in the house and wounding the sergeant and another soldier and two other men who were also inside the building. They then galloped away.

Oil Find Causes Excitement.

Considerable excitement has been created by an oil find about one mile west of Wooster, Ohio. Drilling was started about five weeks ago and oil was struck in the berea sand at a depth of 526 feet. The discovery was kept secret for some days and the interested persons in the meantime secured leases on about 1,600 acres.

Robbery Still a Mystery.

The Bank of Lima, Ohio, has begun business as the successor of the American National Bank, which last winter had a mysterious robbery of its safe of $18,000 without the use of drill or dynamite. The loss was made up by assessment on the stockholders, who then agreed to go into liquidation. The loss is still a mystery.

March Exports and Imports.

The statement of imports and exports issued by the Treasury Department shows that for the nine months ending in March the exports were $947,919,405; imports, $499,995,033, an excess of exports of $447,924,372. The exports of gold for March were $1,109,845; imports, $3,187,575, an excess of imports of $2,077,730.

Grandmother and Child Burned.

Mrs. Catherine Woods, aged 74 years, was burned to death at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Christian Miller, in Sacramento, Cal., and a 4-year-old son of the latter was fatally burned. The supposition is that the child dragged a lighted lamp from the table.

Chicago Lady Elected.

Mrs. C. M. Howe of Chicago was elected president of the International Young Women's Christian Association at a recent session at Milwaukee.

Death of Hans Balatka.

Hans Balatka, the famous musician, died at his home in Chicago. He had been sick nearly two years. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Spring Coming in Alaska.

Men just arrived from the Klondike say that the ice in the Yukon is already breaking up and is flooded from Marsh lake up. One party of four, headed by Stuart of Snohomish, Wash., went through the ice near White Horse, and were drowned with their dogs. While the Litkie party was crossing Summit lake John Deland went through the ice and was only rescued with difficulty. Grave anxiety is expressed for those now on the trail. A tangle in titles is reported from Atlin, where many Americans located claims last year, only to be ousted by the passage of the anti-alien law. During the winter claim-jumping by the wholesale has been progressing, and there are now three or four disputants for every claim on Spruce and Pine creeks. Some of the Americans are taking British partners to hold their properties.

BOLD ATTACK ON A BANK.

Robber Shoots Cashier in a Council Bluffs Savings Institution.

A daring attempt to rob the State Savings Bank on Broadway, Council Bluffs, was made the other afternoon. A. J. Brown, the assistant cashier, was shot in the right arm while resisting the demand of the bandit to hold up his hands. Four shots were fired by the desperado at the cashier, but the fusillade soon attracted a large crowd to the scene. The would-be robber, whose only disguise was a white handkerchief tied around the lower part of his face, escaped through the back door. The attempt to rob the bank occurred about 2:30 o'clock, when Mr. Brown was alone in the bank, the cashier having stepped out for a few minutes. Instead of complying with a demand to hold up his hands Mr. Brown seized a stool, raised it to protect himself, and commenced to call for help. The bandit then began to shoot.

INDIANS GO TO MEXICO.

Dissatisfied with Conditions in the Indian Territory, Five Thousand Depart.

Five thousand Indians, dissatisfied with conditions existing in the reservations of the Indian territory, have left in a body for Mexico to establish a union reservation on a large tract of land near Guadalajara, according to reports received at Guthrie, Okla. They belong to the Cherokee, Creek and Delaware tribes. The emigrants are said to have a capital of $425,000 and expect further additions to their colony after they have organized their settlement.

Deed of an Insane Father.

At Everbaugh, W. Va., Elza Matthews killed his 6-year-old son and then committed suicide. He and his family had been spending the day with his wife's parents and in the afternoon started to take a walk with the boy. He had not gone far before he drew a razor, cut the child's throat, and his own. Mr. Matthews' mind had been affected and he had been some months in the asylum at Weston.

Drops Two Military Departments.

The Secretary of War has issued orders for the reorganization of the military departments in Cuba. The number of departments is reduced from seven to five, the two eliminated being the department of Pinar del Rio, commanded by Brig. Gen. Hasbrouck, and the department of Matanzas, commanded by Brig. Gen. Bates.

Bank Cashier Kills Himself.

S. W. Grinstead, cashier of the bank in Humboldt, Neb., committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver. Bank Examiner Wilson called at the bank to look over the books, and Cashier Grinstead admitted to him that he was short in his accounts $10,000. The examiner immediately took charge of the bank.

Combine of Tile Companies.

It is said that a combination of all the tile companies of the country is in progress of organization, the new corporation to be called the Encaustic Tile Company of America, and to be capitalized at $7,000,000, of which $3,000,000 is to be preferred stock and $4,000,000 common stock.

Attempts to Burn a Hotel.

Andrew Murray, who had been ejected from the St. Elmo Hotel at Dubois, Pa., emptied the contents of an oil can on the floor of a rear room in the hotel and set fire to it. The fire was discovered and quickly extinguished.

Conference of Charities and Corrections.

The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the national conference of charities and corrections will be held in Cincinnati May 17 to 23. Fifteen hundred members are expected to be present.

Sun's Rays Start a Blaze.

The focusing of the sun's rays by an electric light bulb set fire to a curtain in the home of John M. Sager in New York. His 3-year-old daughter Lily was burned by the blaze.

Raleigh Arrives from Manila.

The United States cruiser Raleigh, which was one of the ships of Dewey's fleet at Manila, arrived in New York harbor and was welcomed with great demonstrations.

Destroy British Property.

The villagers of Tai-Poe-Su, one of the newly acquired places in the British territory on the Hong Kong mainland, China, rebelled and burned some British mat sheds.

Burned 150 Houses.

A fire destroyed 150 houses at La Pointe-a-Pitre, Island of Guadeloupe.

MARKET REPORTS.

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, shipping grades, $3.00 to $4.25; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2 red, 73c to 74c; corn, No. 2, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2, 26c to 28c; rye, No. 2, 55c to 57c; butter, choice creamery, 17c to 19c; eggs, fresh, 12c to 14c; potatoes, choice, 52c to 60c per bushel.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $5.50; hogs, choice light, $2.75 to $4.00; sheep, common to choice, $2.50 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2 red, 70c to 71c; corn, No. 2 white, 36c to 37c; oats, No. 2 white, 31c to 33c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $3.50 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $4.25; sheep, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, 77c to 79c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 34c to 36c; oats, No. 2, 28c to 30c; rye, No. 2, 55c to 57c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.50; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $2.50 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 74c to 75c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 36c to 38c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 30c to 31c; rye, No. 2, 61c to 63c.

Detroit—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.50; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $2.50 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 72c to 73c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 35c to 37c; oats, No. 2 white, 32c to 33c; rye, 60c to 62c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 75c to 76c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 28c to 29c; rye, No. 2, 57c to 59c; clover seed, new, $3.65 to $3.70.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 spring, 71c to 73c; corn, No. 3, 32c to 34c; oats, No. 2 white, 29c to 31c; rye, No. 1, 58c to 59c; barley, No. 2, 47c to 49c; pork, mess, $9.00 to $9.50.

Buffalo—Cattle, good shipping steers, $3.00 to $5.75; hogs, common to choice, $3.25 to $4.25; sheep, fair to choice wethers, $3.50 to $5.25; lambs, common to extra, $4.50 to $6.50.

New York—Cattle, $3.25 to $5.50; hogs, $3.00 to $4.50; sheep, $3.00 to $5.75; wheat, No. 2 red, 82c to 84c; corn, No. 2, 43c to 45c; oats, No. 2 white, 35c to 37c; butter, creamery, 15c to 20c; eggs, Western, 14c to 15c.

TRAP DEWEY'S MEN.

FIFTEEN OF THE YORKTOWN'S CREW CAPTURED.

Ambushed by Filipinos at Baler, in Isle of Luzon—Gunboat Had Gone to the Rescue of Spanish Prisoners—Admiral Cables Brief Details.

The dispatch from Admiral Dewey received at the Navy Department in Washington, reporting the ambuscade of Lieut. Gilmore and his party, and stating that their fate was unknown, caused great concern at the department. Because of the cruelty known to be used by the Filipinos toward their prisoners it will be a most grateful surprise to naval officers to learn that the heads of Gilmore and the others have not been cut off and their bodies mutilated.

Instructions were sent to Admiral Dewey to use every effort to ascertain if the party is still alive, and if so, to secure their release, if possible, either by ransom or in exchange for some insurgents held by the American forces. Gen. Otis and Admiral Dewey have about 1,600 Filipino prisoners in their possession. Aguinaldo's well-known reputation for feathering his own nest leads to the belief, however, that he will prefer to listen to overtures for the purchase of the freedom of the Americans.

According to Admiral Dewey's dispatch the warship's cutter, with fifteen men aboard, was sent from the Yorktown at night to make soundings near Baler, where a small Spanish garrison had been resisting the insurgents for nearly a year. The object was to ascertain how close to the shore the gunboats sent by Admiral Dewey to rescue the Spaniards could go. The cutter had gone for some time when suddenly three volleys, fired in rapid succession, were heard aboard the Yorktown. A curious feature of the affair is that no reply to the shooting was made by those aboard the cutter, which had a machine gun in her bow. This leads to the impression that Lieut. Gilmore and his men were ambushed and perhaps all slaughtered before they could raise a hand in their defense.

Dewey's dispatch reads as follows: "The Yorktown visited Balor, Luzon, east coast of Luzon, P. I., April 12, for the purpose of rescuing and bringing away the Spanish forces, consisting of eighty soldiers, three officers and two priests, who were surrounded by 400 insurgents, some of the insurgents armed with Mauser rifles, as reported by natives. Lieut. J. C. Gilmore, while making an examination of the mouth of the river in an armed boat, was ambuscaded, fired upon and captured. Fate unknown, as insurgents refused to communicate afterward.

"DEWEY."

A MOTHER'S HOPE.

Still Thinks of Finding Her Boy, Who Was Stolen Fifteen Years Ago.

The finding of Gerald Lapiner, the kidnaped Chicago boy, has kindled anew the fires of hope in the breast of Mrs. Lizzie Dickinson of Houghton, Mich. Mrs. Dickinson believes that she may yet find her boy, now grown to manhood, who was stolen fifteen years ago.

In 1884 the Dickinsons were living at Florence, Wis., where Mr. Dickinson was a mining engineer and superintendent of the mines. One day the boy, Willie, was stolen. He was then 6 years old. The theory was advanced first that the boy had been kidnaped in a spirit of revenge by some of the miners who were identified with a strike. This theory was abandoned later, a search having been made in the meantime of all the abandoned shafts in the vicinity in which the boy might have fallen. Almost a year passed before the aid of a detective was called, and then a thorough and organized search for the little fellow was made.

The little fortune owned by the parents was spent in the hunt for the boy by the Pinkerton detectives. Clews were chased from one end to the other of the United States. Several times it was believed that success was at hand. One clew, which was undoubtedly a true one, led the detectives into the South and into a settlement of negroes, where the boy had been secreted for several months. Unmistakable traces of the Dickinson boy were found among these negroes, his playmates having learned the same prayers he recited when at home and also having gained a true description of his home in Wisconsin. But the boy could not be found.

In the years that have elapsed the mother has never wholly abandoned hope. The husband is dead, and the broken-hearted mother has traveled all over the United States. She has seen 153 boys about whom there was mystery, pointing to an abduction, and has been the agency of restoring thirteen stolen boys to their parents. If living Willie is now 21 years old.

Springlike.

—Chicago Record.

GIRLS DIE IN A FIRE.

Orphans' Home at Berne, Ind., Totally Destroyed.

A dispatch reports the burning of the orphans' home at Berne, Ind. A terrible panic was caused among the fifty-seven inmates. All were rescued, with the exception of three, who were burned to death. The fire started from a stove on the third floor and swept through the building with great intensity. The home contained inmates from nearly all the Central States. The institution is conducted by German Mennonites.

NO DEARTH OF VOLUNTEERS.

Col. Ward Says Army Is Recruited to Nearly 65,000 Men.

"The recruiting of the regular army up to 65,000 is practically accomplished," said Col. Ward of the adjutant general's office in Washington. "We have closed most of our recruiting offices. We lack about 3,000 yet, but we are advised a large number of the volunteers in the Philippines desire to re-enlist and we are holding open for 3,000 more to cover the Philippine enlistments." Col. Ward said there had been no difficulty whatever in securing splendid recruits.

REED TO RETIRE.

Speaker Quits Politics to Take Up the Profession of Law.

Thomas Brackett Reed has become the head of the New York law firm of Simpson, Thacher & Barnum, and it is understood that he will soon resign his seat in Congress and remove to that city. The contract has been signed whereby he is to take up the practice of his profession immediately upon his return from a brief trip abroad.

Speaker Reed has known the members of the firm for many years and has had frequent business dealings with them. Though he had received offers to go to the head of several perhaps better known firms, he early expressed his preference for the one with which he is to be associated. The Speaker is said to have been assured of an income of at least $50,000 a year, an emolument equal to that of the President of the United States, from insurance companies alone. He will continue to act as referee for the several insurance corporations for which he has been recently acting, and friends say that his income may yet amount to $100,000 annually.

SPEAKER REED.

Washington politicians say Speaker Reed's retirement from Congress just now is the best possible play he could make for the presidency. It is taken for granted that he will not be a candidate against McKinley next year, but it is also believed he is looking ahead to 1904. Of the candidates for the Speakership the youngest is Sherman, who is 44 years old. Hopkins is 52, Dalzell 54, Payne 56, Henderson 59, Cannon 63, and Grosvenor and Hepburn 66.

ARREST OF COUNTERFEITERS.

Capture of Engravers of Famous $100 Bank Note.

The most important arrest by secret service men for years has been made, in the capture of the makers of the famous $100 counterfeit bank note, which has puzzled the authorities for more than a year. Officers under the direction of Chief John Wilkie procured the arrest of the counterfeiter. He was a well-known newspaper man in Washington city.

When the "Monroe notes," as they are called, made their appearance about fifteen months ago, the work was so perfect as to be accepted at the subtreasuries, and Secretary Gage decided to call in the issue which had been counterfeited. Twenty-three million was then in circulation, and $6,000,000 is still out. The men arrested are: William M. Jacobs and W. L. Kendig, wholesale cigar manufacturers of Lancaster, Pa.; Arthur Taylor and Baldwin S. Bredell, engravers of Philadelphia, and James Burns, an employe of Jacobs.

A clew was found and since that time officers of the secret service have been eating, drinking and sleeping with the men who were suspected. Not until they were sure of their ground did these men place the counterfeiters under arrest. Mr. Wilkie and a number of his men went over to Philadelphia to be present when the arrest was made.

The Philadelphians were taken into custody, but the greatest secrecy was maintained for fear of frightening away the culprits at Lancaster. After placing the men at Philadelphia under lock and key, Mr. Wilkie left for Lancaster and paid a visit to the men who were in league with those in the City of Brotherly Love.

About one year ago the first clew was obtained that has led up to the capture of the gang. How that clew was secured, how it was followed up, and the details of the secret service operations during the last twelve months will likely remain hidden in the secret archives of the bureau. The success of the bureau's operations lies in the fact that its method of work is never made public. As the Secretary of the Treasury said, results are what count, and the arrest of these men, with the telltale plates in their possession, is all that the public need know of the twelve months' hard and secret work of Chief Wilkie and his assistants.

TROOPS TO GO TO MANILA.

Fourteen Thousand Regulars for Otis—Volunteers to Come Home.

Fourteen thousand regulars are to be sent to re-enforce Gen. Otis at Manila as soon as the necessary marine transportation can be provided. It is not expected that the bulk of the large body of re-enforcements can reach Manila until the end of the rainy season, which has just begun, but they will closely follow the departure of the volunteers from the Philippines.

With the regular troops already ordered and on the way to Manila, Otis will have an effective force of 21,729 men, in addition to the recruits being sent every few days for the regiments already in the Philippines. This force is to be raised to 35,000 men by the time aggressive operations can be pressed in the early autumn. The volunteers to be returned to this country from Manila number 12,000, so the determination to send 14,000 able-bodied regulars to take their places is calculated to show the rebel leaders that the United States is terribly in earnest about meeting its responsibilities for preserving order and commanding respect through the archipelago.

It is stated that the army in the Philippines will be increased to 35,000 men, whether the rebels abandon the field or not. If Aguinaldo gives up his hopeless fight as a result of the negotiations now in progress between his followers and the President's commissioners, 35,000 men are deemed the right number to garrison the forts in the outlying islands and establish lawful government in them.

Queer Things that Happen.

William Whist of Denver died of apoplexy while saying his prayers.

A Detroit burglar stole the piano and a stove from the house he robbed.

Some one has stolen the bronze harp attached to Shelley's tomb in Rome.

A Bridgeport (Pa.) man drowned himself by repeated dips in a pool of stagnant water.

Angered because the second baseman put him out, an Algiers (La.) ball player shot the offender in the arm.

On Easter Sunday a Manson, Iowa, hen laid an egg measuring eight inches in circumference one way and 8½ inches lengthwise.

One clever New York boy travels around the city on roller skates, being pulled by a carefully harnessed St. Bernard dog.

INDIANA INCIDENTS.

RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK.

Father Kidnaps His Child—Electric Road to Cut Rates One-Half—Disappearance of a Merchant—Boy and Girl Elope with Small Success.

Dr. J. S. Groff, a former pastor of the First Baptist Church in Shelbyville, created a great sensation at the Colescot street school building by entering the room taught by Miss Eva Wingate and forcibly carrying away his 12-year-old daughter. The child was adopted by Joseph R. Kennerly twelve years ago, when her mother became insane, and was taken to an asylum in Pennsylvania. After the mother was taken away the father resigned his pastorate, secured a divorce from his wife and nothing had been heard of him since. It is learned that he is now practicing medicine in Cumberland, where he took his child.

Got a Fifty-Year Franchise.

F. H. Fitzgerald, Joseph Elliott and J. C. Tarkington, organized to build and operate an electric line between Indianapolis and Martinsville, were granted a franchise by the County Commissioners for a term of fifty years. The company obligates itself to furnish both freight and passenger transportation at one-half of the present railroad charges and pay to the county $25 per year on each mile of track in the county.

Business Man Disappears.

Late last March J. C. Frederickson of Chicago engaged in business at Chesterton. About April 1 he received some money from Chicago and a day or so later started for LaPorte. That was the last heard from him by his friends. Officers have found no trace of him, and it is believed he has been murdered. His wife is nearly crazed.

Youthful Elopers' Ill Luck.

Thomas Sawyer, aged 17, and Edna Jones, a pretty brunette, 16 years old, eloped from their homes at Peoria, Ill., went to Vincennes and applied to Deputy Clerk Reiter for a marriage license. The youthful appearance of the elopers put the clerk on his guard and he refused to issue the license without their parents' consent.

Railroad Conductor Insane.

George Stafford of Anderson, for many years the oldest "service" conductor on the Panhandle Railroad between Cincinnati and Chicago, was declared insane and will be taken to the Richmond asylum. He was a conductor with the Panhandle for over thirty years and was known from one end of the line to the other.

Within Our Borders.

Seymour band saw works burned. Loss $10,000.

St. Joseph County will have two rural mail delivery routes.

Mrs. Jane Bridges, Putnam County, is in her one hundredth year.

Evansville and Washington have been shut out of the State baseball league.

Eastern combines failed to buy the two Fort Wayne road machine companies.

Logansport proposes to make the Panhandle help pave some of her streets.

John Ratliff, Normal City, has invented a door bell with a burglar attachment.

Pennsylvania shops at Fort Wayne are turning out forty-two gondola cars a week.

Frank Anstead, Connersville, badly injured from the premature explosion of a toy cannon.

Wayne County W. C. T. U. will send a letter to the Czar of Russia commending his peace scheme.

Howard Rider, 13, Leonard Baxter, 14, and Jay Sayers, 15, are getting out a weekly paper in Scottsburg.

Greer & Temperty, carriage builders at Shelbyville, made an assignment. Assets $35,000, liabilities $45,000.

At LaPorte, A. W. Leeds, an owner of several Western ranches, was thrown from a horse and fatally injured.

"Pilot," Wallace's big elephant, which underwent a surgical operation at Peru, to make him more docile, is dead.

Because the company refused to provide corn for bank mules, a strike was begun in the Big Four mines, Brazil.

Machine miners in Clay County are idle, the result of a demand for 10 per cent increase in wages. There are 700 men out.

James Barr, 70, died in the Fort Wayne infirmary. Ten years ago he was worth $75,000, but liquor destroyed his fortune.

Hartford City Paper Company has been reorganized. It has the largest plant in the State. Capacity will probably be doubled.

A. J. Stephenson, eight years landlord of the Stephenson Hotel, Elwood, has retired, and Sangston Brothers, Sullivan, have leased it.

At Hartford City, Mrs. John Green took ten grains of strychnine and died immediately. She was married only four weeks. Despondency.

Madison marshal is looking for William Wood, who was given a ten days' parole from Jeffersonville to attend his mother's funeral and failed to return.

There is a beer war on at Rushville. The wholesale price is reduced $2 a barrel, but the consumer gets the same three fingers in a schooner for a nickel.

Dr. George Rawson, who figured in a sensational divorce case in Seattle a few years ago, committed suicide in the insane hospital at Indianapolis by hanging.

Susie Petts, 13, orphan, who disappeared from Vincennes, has been found at Olney, Ill. She said she had started to walk to her sister's, in Seattle, Wash.

At Logansport the other day a mule team ran away. A farmer attempted to pull out of the way, but the mules followed him, and not until after a chase of twelve blocks, in which many corners were turned, were the mules worn out and a collision avoided.

The will of the late George Brown of Valparaiso will be contested by his two daughters, Mrs. Niles Highwood and Mrs. Mary J. Brewer. The estate is valued at $100,000.

Gustave Rosebaum and M. Trinoski of LaPorte, while returning from a hunting expedition on a hand car, were struck by the fast train on the Panhandle road and killed instantly.

Col. B. C. Shaw of Indianapolis is dead. He served in the civil war and was twice elected treasurer of the State. He was formerly chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee.

Mrs. Antonio Dewrepe, Muncie, cut the tissue around an ingrowing toe nail. Blood poison set in. The toe was amputated, and then the leg at the knee, to save her.

Walter Jones, charged with murder, is the most cheerful prisoner in the Brazil jail, and sings his favorite song, "On the Banks of the Wabash," from morning till night.

Three years ago George Dill of Muncie enlisted in the regular army and wrote to his parents until the San Juan hill fight. He was mourned as dead. The other evening Mr. and Mrs. Dill, who are quite old, were seated at their fireside when a knock was heard. Their son entered in a corporal's uniform.

OFFERS SON AS SACRIFICE.

Farmer Emulates Patriarch Abraham, Going Even Farther.

With mind crazed by constant meditation upon the Lord's awful command to Abraham to sacrifice his son Isaac, Abel Dykstra, a farmer living two miles east of South Holland, Ill., on Wednesday killed his 5-year-old boy, Peter, by nearly severing his head with a corn knife. The terrible deed was committed in the presence of his wife, Mrs. Sophie Dykstra, who was standing in the door of the Dykstra home with her baby in her arms. As the boy fell dead in the freshly plowed field, Mrs. Dykstra fled to the home of her father, Cornelius Van Drunnen, nearly a mile away.

Dykstra, believing that his duty toward his God had been performed, and fearing the wrath of his fellow men, mounted a horse and rode to the home of John Meeter, five miles distant. He had worked for Meeter twelve years ago. Dykstra told him what he had done and begged to be forgiven. Meeter realized that the man was insane and took him to South Holland, where he was turned over to Peter De Young, justice of the peace. Later Dykstra was lodged in the Cook County jail. The news of the crime spread rapidly in the sparsely settled neighborhood about South Holland, and intense excitement prevailed.

South Holland is about twenty miles from Chicago, on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad, and is inhabited by a colony of industrious Hollanders. Dykstra had always borne a good reputation in the community, and had lived for some years upon his farm. Dykstra read the Bible constantly, and kept reading over and over the chapter relating to the command of the Lord to Abraham to offer up Isaac as a sacrifice. On Sunday night Dykstra told his wife that he was called upon to make a sacrifice for God. Mrs. Dykstra was frightened and on Tuesday evening went to the home of her mother. Wednesday morning Mrs. Dykstra return home with the children and was met at the door by her husband.

"I must do it this morning," the man called out as they approached him. "God has ordered me to do it." Without saying another word, Dykstra made a rush for the boy and seized him by the shoulder. He dragged the little fellow to a shed near by and took up the corn knife. "Papa, please don't hurt me," cried the boy, and he struggled to free himself from the man's grasp. Mrs. Dykstra also pleaded with her husband to spare the child's life, but their entreaties had no effect upon the maniac. Holding the boy with his left hand, the crazed man drew the corn knife across the lad's throat. Little Peter ran nearly 100 feet before he fell. He was found lying face downward upon the soft earth, where he had bled to death.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

Baron Fava, the Italian ambassador, who is important just now because of the American-Italian correspondence concerning China, is not a fortunate diplomat, although an able one. The last time the baron figured prominently as an international character was on the occasion of the mafia lynchings in New Orleans, and his awkward position at that time drew to him the sympathy of all Americans who love Italy and her great sons. Fava is noted for his epicurean tastes in the matter of diet. No finer judge of a good meal or of an old, rare wine can be found in Washington. He is also a great favorite with ladies, and young and old women vie with one another for his smile or his attentions. He used to dote on Mrs. Cleveland, and never lost an opportunity of kissing that lady's hand. It need hardly be said that Mrs. Cleveland was given immense pleasure by the avowed admiration of the Italian nobleman. Baron Fava, notwithstanding his abhorrence of being interviewed, is warmly liked by the correspondence. In spite of his ill luck he is regarded as one of the most skillful of the foreign diplomats in America.

PERTINENT PERSONALS

Rudyard Kipling's favorite headgear is a golf cap.

"Oom Paul" Kruger drinks two gallons of beer a day.

Beerbohm Tree is a godson of the Emperor of Germany.

Secretary of the Navy Long is in favor of female suffrage.

Dr. Jameson, the Transvaal raider, wants to enter Parliament.

Five stenographers are required to answer Mark Hanna's daily mail.

Senator White of California and Senator Mallory of Florida are cousins.

Kansas papers criticise Gov. Stanley's wife because she neglected to vote.

Leo XIII. knows Virgil's Aenid by heart, and can recite whole pages of the Iliad.

Chauncey M. Depew claims that he has the finest private reference library in New York.

Non-conformist English clergymen complain because Queen Victoria travels on Sunday.

Henry Watterson is said to be the inventor of the dish known as lobster a la Newberg.

The oldest family in the British Isles is that of Mar, in Scotland, which dates from 1093.

Though but 14 years of age, Bridget Riley is a teacher in the Iron Belt, Wis., public schools.

Admiral Schley is said to be a descendant of the family of which Nathan Hale was a member.

Admiral Dewey's boyhood hero was Gen. Taylor, and the lad's first ambition was to be a soldier.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles was initiated into the mysteries of golf

THE CLOCK.

Hear the music of the clock,
Softly ticking time;
As the water wears the rock,
So in rhythmic rhyme
Does the ticking of the clock
Seem to wear out time.

In the bustle of the day
It is scarcely heard;
Still it ticks and ticks away,
Blithe as any bird,
Careless that the sounds of day
Make its voice unheard.

But at night it speaks aloud
In the stillness deep,
When the day-time's weary crowd
Drops to realms of sleep;
Then its voice, exulting loud,
Wakes the stillness deep.

And the wakeful listener hears
Strange and serious things;
Hears the stream of flowing years
As it flows and sings—
Surgings of the future hears,
And clash of coming things!
—James Raymond Perry in Youths' Companion.

THE CRIPPLE'S SWEETHEART.

By Florence C. Reilly.

Garry Von Ritter, he laziest and most shiftless man in Farmdale, stood in Anderson's store, warming his feet at the stove. The men sitting about on the barrels eyed him expectantly. When Garry walked the three miles from his lonely, miserable cottage to the store, there was sure to be fun for the crowd there, and Garry's remarkable speeches were quoted all about the town. Now they waited, hoping that he would give them something to laugh at.

He was very tall, and so thin that his elbows literally pierced the threadbare material of his single coat, and stuck out of his sleeves, all raw and bleeding from the cold. He had a heavy, sullen face, and slouching movements.

"Well, Garry," said Anderson, the storekeeper, seeing that Von Ritter seemed disinclined to break the silence, "How's Elvina?"

"Loony," said Garry, sullenly. "Do yer know, fellers, I begin to know I made a big mistake in marryin' that girl. My old warm said as I was marryin' way beneath me, and b'gosh, I think she was right for once."

A cripple lad, sitting in a far corner of the store shifted his seat uneasily and a look of pain came into his great, soft eyes. The men laughed. Mrs. Von Ritter thinking any one "beneath" her good-for-nothing drunken son, struck them as being a rather good joke.

"Yep," repeated Garry, "she was right for once. Elvina is crazy sure—crazy as a loon. Ter see her settin' in that house of mine, with her big eyes starin' out of her white face and payin' no more attention to nothin' than a rag doll is enough ter give a feller the creeps. She don't appreciate anythin' that's done fer her. Sometimes I think she ain't a bit grateful ter me for marryin' her."

The men laughed again.

"Grateful! My Lord!" muttered Abe Hawkins, the cripple, as he clenched his thin hands and ground his teeth. He thought of little Elvina Allen as she used to be years ago, when she went to the district school. She was a pretty, gentle, simple little thing, with a frightened look about her delicate, sad little face. He, Abe Hawkins, then was strong and straight, like the other boys. She lived not far from the school, with a wretched, drunken grandfather. Many a time he had seen her walking from the tavern, with the old man leaning heavily on her shoulder, her face crimson with shame, the tears quivering on her drooped eyelashes. How his heart used to ache with pity for her and hate for the old man who made her life so unhappy for her. It was to Allen, now dead, that he owed his affliction. He had met the grandfather and Elvina on the bridge. As the little girl saw him, she stumbled, and the old man's hand had slipped from her shoulder, almost flinging him on his face. He had turned to strike the child, and Abe, springing forward to save Elvina from the blow, received it himself, and then Allen, in his drunken fury had lifted the boy and thrown him over the low bridge railing into the brook below, injuring his back and making him a cripple for life. He thought of all this now, as Elvina's husband stood there talking to a lot of idlers of the girl whom Abe had loved so devotedly when she was a little, helpless child and he a big-hearted boy, who pitied and, when he could, protected her. He did not doubt Garry's statement that she was "crazy." Her mind, never very strong, had doubtless given way beneath the suffering and privations she had undergone in the cottage of her grandfather, and later with her shiftless, brutal husband. "Poor, gentle, little Elvina!" He was awakened from his reverie by a loud laugh from the loungers.

"Trade her fer a stove!" exclaimed Anderson. "This ain't no Indian settlement, where a man can swap his wife fer a knife or a keg of liquor or any other old thing."

"Don't care," said Garry, doggedly. "I'll trade Elvina for a stove, I tell yer. I don't want a crazy wife, and I do want a stove. Italian Pete has got two stoves, and since Marie hung herself in Thompson's barn he ain't had no wife, an' if he wants Elvina, an' gives me the stove he kin have her, whether this is an Indian, or a Dutch settlement. Give me a pack of terbacker, Anderson. I've got ter be makin' tracks fer home.

"Yer ain't got no more sense of morality than a rail fence, Garry."

"I didn't ask yer anythin' about morality. Didn't say nothin' about it. What I did ask yer fer was a package of terbacker, so shet yer head. John Anderson, an' give it ter me," and seizing the package Anderson handed him, he walked out of the store, followed by Abe.

"Garry," said Abe, touching Von Ritter's arm, "Der you mean it? Will you really trade yer wife fer a stove?"

"Sure I mean it, yer grasshopper," said Garry impatiently.

"Is the stove new Pete will give you?"

"New! Pete ain't quite a fool. Why would he give me a new stove for a crazy woman? Certainly it ain't new."

"Garry," said Abe, with a great deal of suppressed eagerness, "I tell yer what I'll do. I'll give yer a bran new stove, just out of the store, if yer will jst me take Elvina home to my mother. A bran new stove, and a cord of wood, and a ton of coal."

"Yer will?" said Garry. "Well, b'gosh I didn't think you was a fool as well as a cripple, but if yer mean it, I'll take the things and give her ter yer."

"When?"

"This afternoon, if yer bring the stove up."

II.

A little later Abe was sitting in the kitchen of the large Hawkins farmhouse, while his mother, a rosy, pleasant, elderly woman, sat opposite him. They had been talking of Elvina.

"Certainly, my boy," she said, "bring the poor little girl home, and I'll look after her. She has had a hard life, poor child, and I'll do my best to make her happy for the time she has to live; but all this will cause a dreadful lot of talk, Abe. I wish you could have got her from that brute in some other way."

"I wish I could have, mother," said Abe, as he kissed her. "God bless you, dear, for standing by me in this. Even if there is talk, you and I know we are doing the right thing, don't we?"

III.

It was late in the raw, chilly afternoon when Abe drove up to Von Ritter's cottage with the stove and fuel in his wagon. Garry came slouching out and proceeded to unload the wagon. It did not take him very long, and at last he walked into the cottage. Abe followed him. In the wretched, fireless room a girl was sitting, her lap full of crimson bittersweet berries. Abe remembered, as he looked at them, how they used to search for them together in the glen when they were children. She had twined some in her hair, and the ruddiness of the berries made her pale face look ghastly by contrast. Abe walked over to her side. "Viney," he whispered, "will you come with Abe?" She looked at him gravely, then slipped her thin hand into his, just as she used to years ago, and rose obediently, while he wrapped his mother's warm shawl about her.

Garry grinned as he watched them walking to the wagon, the little cripple and his slim, white-faced girl wife. "There'll be a scandal sure," he said, with a laugh, and turned and went into the house, and then added: "I'm glad ter be rid of those starin' eyes o' her's."

As they drove along the darkening road and the air got colder and damper Elvina coughed and then sank back exhausted. There was a little stain of blood on her blue lips. Abe drooped his head to hide the tears in his eyes.

"God," he prayed, "let her live a little while, just long enough to know that we aren't all brutes in this world; jus long enough, Lord, to know a little happiness! Her life has been so sad!"

IV.

Garry and Mrs. Hawkins were right—there was a scandal—and Mrs. Hawkins's and Abe's motives were misconstrued, and they were much censured by the people in the village.

"The idea," they said, "of buyin' a man's wife for a stove!"

It was the fifth day after Abe had taken Elvina from her cheerless home that the people of the village reached such a state of indignation at "the Hawkins's goin's-on" that they decided to speak to Mrs. Hawkins and express their disapproval. Accordingly that evening a deputation of five citizens knocked at the Hawkinses kitchen door. Receiving no response, they walked in. Mrs. Hawkins sat crying and the doctor stood beside her.

"I did all I could, Mrs. Hawkins," he was saying. "She was too worn out and too starved to last any longer. If she had been attended to in time her life might have been prolonged, but she was consumptive, poor child!"

The five citizens stood abashed. Abe entered the room with white, set face and trembling limbs.

"I suppose you people have come to make me send Elvina back to that brute?" he said, glancing at them. "She won't be starved or frozen or beaten any more. She is dead. Perhaps you would like to see her?"

They followed him silently into a little bedroom, and there on the bed, with a few bittersweet berries on her breast, her vacant blue eyes closed and a happy, child-like smile on her white face, lay all that remained of poor Elvina Von Ritter.

She looked very, very young and happy, too, happier than those who gazed at her so pityingly now had ever seen her look during the nineteen years of her young life—years so full of misery, pain and sorrow. They looked at her gravely for a moment, and then softly left the room.

Mrs. Hawkins followed them. "She died ramblin' along about old school times, and at last she said, 'Abe, help me up the rock. There is a lot of bittersweet growin' there,' and she put her poor hand into Abe's and closed her blue staring eyes and died. She thought she was a child again. Poor dear, she wasn't much morethan one. Only nineteen. It's better that she should die, but Abe will feel it terribly.

In the little room the cripple was kneeling beside the bed holding Elvina's hand in his. "Oh, God," he sobbed, "I thank thee that her suffering is over and that Thou did'st let her die with friendly faces round her." Then he kissed her pale forehead and whispered, "You'll never know how much I loved you, little sweetheart."—New York Mail and Express.

Zangwill Answers Choate.

During the February blizzard Ambassador Choate and Israel Zangwill found themselves snowbound between Boston and New York. If we may believe all accounts, the exchange of epigrams and repartee was something sparkling. Here is one of them:

"Could an apple tempt you?" said Mr. Choate, sampling the lunch counter at once of the way stations.

"I wouldn't be human if it couldn't," replied Mr. Zangwill, with a smile.—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

The Country's Smallest Towns.

In Cape May County, N. J., there are three of the smallest incorporated towns in the country. At last week's municipal elections, the town of South Cape May polled 12 votes, Avalon 24 votes and Wildwood 27 votes. Fully one-half the voters at Avalon and Wildwood hold office, while at South Cape May there are not enough voters to fill all the plac

THE PARTITION OF CHINA

THE fall of the Chinese empire and its actual partition among the western peoples have furnished one of the most dramatic spectacles to be found in the history of the nations. It came about through the Chinese-Japanese war. The pretensions of a vast empire were exposed within three months. The war demonstrated that China was made up not of one people, but of many peoples—peoples who spoke different languages, had differing customs, entertained differing beliefs, held differing ambitions. In a general way, it had been known that a man from Canton could with difficulty make himself understood in Hong-Kong, but the world dreamed of nothing like the racial separation which existed within the far-reaching confines of the flowery kingdom. All of these interior and exterior peoples believed in a vague way that the emperor was the son of the sun, but they were not willing to fight for it. The generals were venal, cowardly or incompetent. The navy was a sham. The army was not above the ridiculous. The state was rotten through and through. Japan accomplished the exposition, but was held off. It wished to seize Corea and a large part of the Chinese mainland. It got only some money and the Formosan islands, which have been a white elephant. Russia, Germany and France interfered. England was appealed to, but failed to interfere. England fights only its own battles.

The vast Chinese kingdom was left open and palpitating. The emperor's head rolled uneasily on his shoulders. Rebels were to the north, south, east and west of him. His revenues were stopped. Anarchy threatened. His family had been taught by more than fifty years of experience that it costs money to appeal to England. He knew little of Russia, beyond the fact that it had proved friendly in fending off Japan. He turned to Russia. That country acquiesced promptly. The price paid has been greater than Britain would have exacted. Russian agents swarmed into Manchuria. Russian troops followed them in thousands and are still there. Russian ships prowled along the coasts, the waving black lines of smoke signaling to him that his powerful friend was still aiding him.

Mr. Pavloff, Russian representative at Pekin, elected himself the special guide, counselor and friend of the tsung-li-yamen and it was forced to take his advice. Russia demanded and obtained treaty rights, occupancy rights, railway concessions, mining privileges, changes in customs and anything else which the Czar's minister thought might prove of advantage. The Chinese government acted like a child. It pouted and whimpered. It appealed tearfully to England one day; the next it would not receive the English ambassador. It lied to Russia, to Germany, to England. Steadily the Russian pressure continued. Nothing could lighten it. It is still exerted. Nominally leasing only a part of the Liatong peninsula Russia now controls all of Manchuria, which is being opened by the Siberian and Manchurian railways. It controls all of the province of Pe-Chee-Lee, which includes Pekin. It controls Shanshi and Shenshi, over which a Belgian corporation (which hides a Russian corporation) is driving a railway. It controls Kansu, unexplored, but said to be rich in minerals, and the northern part of Thibet. This mysterious land, which is closed to England from the south, is wide open to Russia from the north and is being surveyed by Russian engineers. With these territories Russia dominates every caravan route through Koko-Nor and Turkestan. The price has been high.

Directly south of the Russian "sphere" lies the British "sphere." The space, occupying the center of the map, includes the great Yang-tse valley. For more than a quarter of a century it has been regarded as the bondmaiden of British trade. This is China—actual China—the China of the Chinese, not the China of the Manchurians or the Manchu dynasty. It contains 300,000,000 people, or three-fourths of the entire population of the empire. It contains hundreds of huge cities. It is twenty times worth the other portions of the kingdom. It is, so far as cultivation is concerned, the garden of the world. The seat of the British governance of this royal territory is now and has been for many years Shanghai. Until last year not one of the European governments had sought to question the British right to control this valley. Russia now denies it absolutely. Pavloff asserts that British dominance of the Yang-tse is a myth; that no guaranteed rights of possession have been granted to England by China and that Russia has every right to build through the valley or to take any action she may please looking to the development of Russian trade. It is over the valley of the Yang-tse that battles of the future may be fought.

Impinging upon the British "sphere" to the south is the French "sphere." Russia has gained its foothold through diplomacy and promises of aid. France has fought for hers. French diplomacy in China has not been a success. The French have been compelled to find excuses for wars and to take with the strong hand. Years have been spent by the Gallic government in endeavoring to increase its holdings in Annam. It has succeeded only in obtaining concessions to build two railways. It is contemplated that one of these shall go north to a point on the Yang-tse River, where it is to join a Russian road running south from Pekin. If the scheme is carried out the Yang-tse valley, now dominated by England, will be pierced through and through by a road, one end of which will be owned by Russia and the other by France. This road would be the future grand trunk line of China; it would be dominated by French and Russian officials; its tariffs would be fixed by France and Russia; its trains would be run to suit the convenience and purposes of those countries.

The German possessions in China are much smaller than the Russian or French possessions, but are more compact and more advantageously situated. No one doubts that Russia and France agreed that Germany should have this territory when the three powers were throttling Japan. The immediate excuse for German occupation was the murder of three missionaries. A force of marines was landed at Kiao-Chou, the Chinese ran away, promptly the German flag was hoisted and the deed was accomplished. The result has been that Germany now owns the entire Shan-tung peninsula; has reserved the right to build railways and do mining in that part of the empire; handles the customs as a matter of course; has obtained an ice-free port for its warships, and stands ready to take a hand when the final slicing begins. It demands also the right to construct a parallel line to the contemplated French and Russian line through the Yang-tse valley, thus placing a railway owned by a third inimical power in the territory supposed to belong to England. If the French claims for an extension of "sphere" are allowed the French will cut the British line of communication between Central China and British China. This is made clear by a glance at the map.

The difference in the policies of the three great powers briefly stated is: Great Britain, confident in its commercial prowess and the value of the foothold it has obtained by half a century of occupation, wishes to throw open to the world the trade of the 400,000,000 subjects of the Emperor. Russia, Germany and France have wished to partition China commercially among themselves, reserving certain portions for their own trading and barring out competitors by means of customs regulations, local taxes, railway tariffs, etc. It may be stated here that Great Britain has maintained the open door in her "sphere" since the acquisition of her "sphere," and that her trade with China is three-fourths of the entire trade of the empire with the outside world.

The accompanying map marks the portions of the empire which have been grabbed by the contending Western powers, and it is common prediction in European circles that the world war of the future is to come from the clashing of these "spheres." The militaires of England declare that if their country fails to preserve her domination of the great river of the Yang-tse she will be forced to fight to preserve her influence from utter ruin; if she does finally stake out her "possessions" she will be forced to fight over a matter of boundary lines. The parties to the quarrel have been arranged as follows: Russia and Germany on the one side, with France helping them, not only because of a community of interest, but because of the Franco-Russian alliance; Great Britain on the other, with Japan helping her, because of resentment of Russia's conduct after the close of her successful war. To these prospective combatants must be added Italy, presumably willing to assist England, and the United States, which favors the English policy of the "open door"—in other words, free ingress and egress for commerce to and from the empire.

MAP SHOWING FOREIGN "SPHERES" IN CHINA.

GOV. ROOSEVELT AS RANCHMAN

A Story of a Meeting of Some Importance with a Neighbor.

"When Governor Roosevelt was ranching 'way out West—although he wasn't Governor then, of course—his ranch joined on to some of the possessions of that dynamite French nobleman, the Marquis de Mores, who had the reputation of never being satisfied with anything but the blood of any one who had done him an injury, real or imaginary, or affronted him," said a cattleman who lived out in that country at the time. "One day Roosevelt received a letter from the Marquis by the hands of a mounted messenger. Its contents were fierce and threatening and demanded of Roosevelt an explanation of his conduct in regard to inciting discontent among certain employes of the Frenchman's with the intent to induce them to enter Roosevelt's employ, which, the letter said, had been represented to the writer on good authority.

"Teddy read the letter. 'No answer,' said he to the messenger, who rode away surprised at the apparent indifference of this endangered ranchman. But Roosevelt immediately mounted his horse and rode to the De Mores ranch, arriving there soon after the Frenchman's messenger had reached home with his report of his errand's result. De Mores, raging over the audacity of the American, was nevertheless amazed to hear Roosevelt announced. Teddy did not dilly-dally. Holding the letter in his hand, he said:

"'A man wouldn't write a letter such as this unless he was looking for something!'

"De Mores stood speechless for a moment, then bowed politely and replied:

"'Ah! Your explanation is all right and satisfactory. I am sure I have been misinformed!'

"That ended the interview and Teddy remounted his horse and went home."—New York Sun.

Boston Mayor's Suggestion.

Mayor Quincy, of Boston, has suggested that the city should build a municipal crematory in which to incinerate the bodies of paupers, criminals and others whose burial devolves upon the city. The idea is to do away altogether with the potter's field. It is asserted that the city could cremate bodies at a cost of only $1 each, while it costs $3 to dig a grave. The present potter's field will be filled before the expiration of the present year. The burials now amount to about 500 a year, and increase in number yearly.

Valuable Metal.

Aluminum is now worked on a large scale for all sorts of industrial purposes, and has taken its place as one of the five or six commercial metals of the world. Weight for weight, it is already cheaper than copper and tin; it does not tarnish, is suitable for all kinds of cooking utensils, is largely used in shipbuilding and is a most valuable adjunct to metallurgy, inasmuch as a small addition of aluminium to a mold of steel or brass insures absolutely solid castings.

The next time you think you have heart disease recall what you ate for dinner, and you will remember that you ate pie.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Only a few weeks ago Jamaicans asked for annexation to us. Now comes news of a similar desire on the part of Nicaraguans. Uncle Sam is becoming popular as a foster father. Next, please.

Zola's name has been stricken from the list of the Cyclists' Touring Club of France. He must be getting used to honors of that kind. The more clubs he is expelled from for fighting for the truth the happier he ought to be.

England is deeply interested in the colonization of Africa. There is said to be room along the Uganda Railway for thirty or forty million of India's surplus population, and British authorities in that country are encouraging emigration to the Dark Continent.

It is stated that the "tailor-made" man" will be a serious rival to the "tailor-made girl" this summer. There is this difference, that the "tailor-made man" is a thing of many colors, while the "tailor-made girl" is severe. Are the males to be the butterflies of fashion of the future?

The experience of the Japanese engineer in handling the machinery of the cruiser Chitose suggests that while foreign nations may be wise in buying American ships they may seldom succeed in making as perfect pieces of naval architecture of them in commission as Americans could.

Our navy is only in its infancy, but it is about as lusty an infant as can be found anywhere among the nations, and it can be truthfully said that no navy, even the one considered the nearest full grown, is in any way anxious to try the experiment of spanking it.

Red seems to be a favorite color for flags. Of the twenty-five principal countries of the world nineteen of them have red in their national colors. In this list are included the United States, England, France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Spain, Denmark, Belgium, Switzerland, Turkey, Mexico, Chili, Portugal, Venezuela and Cuba. Among all the flags, that of the United States is universally admitted to be the most striking and beautiful.

The approach to the Red Sea coast of Marchand, the French explorer whose Fashoda claims stirred up such a Soudan rumpus between France and England, has now an interest partly sentimental, but chiefly geographical, and not at all political. His feat as an intrepid explorer, in crossing equatorial Africa on a line 2,500 miles long, should be productive of information valuable to the scientific world and instructive to the layman. It is to be hoped that he will give to the world the results of his expedition at as early a day as may be possible after his return to France.

The hog is coming out prominently as an aider and abettor of the farmer in his desire for higher prices for his milk, says the New York Commercial Advetiser. The Milk Producers' Association—an association of farmers, not of cows—declares that farmers do not get enough for their milk, receiving only one and a half cents a quart. The association proposes, unless it can get a cent more a quart, to make its milk into cheese and to feed the skim milk to hogs and calves, and thus bring the city to terms, while disposing of its production at a profit until such terms are come to. The price to the farmer does not seem exorbitant, but the help of the calf and the hog will be required to wring it from the pockets of the city milkmen, who in turn will probably get it from the consumer in one way or another.

How transient are fame and fortune is again shown by the rapid decline of more than one Paris dressmaker whose name was erstwhile a watchword on both sides of the Atlantic. One of these, until recently liberally patronized by the Austrian court and by many a European and American dignitary, has been so outstripped by his competitors that he has been reduced to that last and most dangerous resort in such cases—reduction of expenses. Did this man, through many years of success, finally come to think he knew it all, and thus neglect the means that had carried him up the ladder? It is possible, and, if it be the case, his decline only goes to prove that the one who knows it all is on the threshold of being a "has been," an aphorism which it will pay every one to bear constantly in mind.

The accidental bursting of a gun in experimenting with smokeless powder at Sandy Hook was deplorable, but in trying new forces certain sacrifices have always to be made on the altar of knowledge. We were a little late in taking up smokeless powder, and sacrificed scores of lives in the war through our tardiness. Now we must proceed as fast as we are able, and in noting the cost must not forget to remember the benefits. Electricity has its long list of victims, yet to humanity it is a boon. Sometimes one is apt to view in false perspective these accidents in the cause of science. Dozens of people may die from some disease accepted as one of the incidents of life and nothing is made of it; but let one physician die in discovering a remedy for that disease and the fact is published the length and breadth of the land. Yet progress as surely claims its tens of victims as lack of progress does its hundreds.

Into Boston's new schoolhouse, named for Paul Revere, many original ideas have crept, suggested, no doubt, by the patriotic name it bears. The room for the five-year-olds is known as that of the Sons of the American Revolution; and the children learn to know and love the makers of early American history by portraits and busts which are scattered about in profusion. There are dear old George and Martha smiling at them from simple oak frames. Ben Franklin and his kite make electricity real, and busts of Warren and Lafayette suggest sacrifices for others. The room for older children, known as the room of the Daughters of the Revolution, is filled with fascinating historic pictures, flags and portraits. The Signing of the Declaration of Independence, Mount Vernon, Carpenters' Hall in Philadelphia and the Capitol building at Washington are some of the decorations here. The teachers from time to time explain to the children the significance of the various pictures and the brave feats of the heroes of America, and the children are so fond of their bright picture schoolrooms that a large portion of each recess is spent in enjoying them.

There are constantly increasing evidences that Japan is looking forward to a great influx of foreigners and foreign capital as soon as her new treaties come into effect in July. It is needless to say that no foreigners will be more welcome than Americans to the new and tempting opportunities; nor is it likely that Americans will be last on the field. The more rapidly Japan perfects her course in Occidentalism the more formidable must she become as an ally in the Orient of Great Britain and the United States. It would be well, however, for capitalists entering Japan to heed the advice of Consul Lyon, of Hiogo, that they exercise the utmost caution in investments, and to this end associate themselves with long-established foreign firms at the present open ports, who understand thoroughly the country and the customs of the people.

There were two candidates for the Presbyterian pulpit at Whitestone, L. I.—a married man and a bachelor. By a vote of 33 to 18 the elders chose the married man because he is a married man, and rejected the bachelor because he is a bachelor. Here is a principle of very wide application, muses the New York World. From the standpoint of the play writing or novel writing romancer the husband is a sorry figure, with his vanished waist line, his carpet slippers and his unheroic practicality. But from the standpoint of the employer the married man is a most attractive figure, and the unmarried man, with half an eye for his work and a half for the women, is so undesirable that he is never taken if a sober, settled man of family can be had.

Lynn is a town in Massachusetts where they make shoes, very good shoes, too, so Bostonians say. Incidentally the inhabitants are fond of practical jokes; not the common everyday article, but the rough, the caustic, the diabolical. It seems that one of the boot and shoe magnates was invited to contribute to a certain charity of great local importance. He is said to have indulged in coarse and unfeeling language, and denounced the subscription as a swindle, though he punctuated his remarks at the end with a ten-dollar bill. Somebody told the story, and an enterprising editor at once called for pennies to reimburse the citizen aforesaid. They came in showers. The first thousand received were done up in a neat package and sent to the boot and shoe magnate. He, as was quite natural, refused to receive them. A second and third thousand shared a similar fate. The returned money promptly found its way into the coffers of the committee in charge of the charity fund. It is the local belief that the aforesaid magnate will be careful of his words the next time he is asked to aid a charity. It is true that certain jokes are hard to forget. Like burrs, they stick.

As we look back upon the time when the Roman Empire was staggering under the offset of the barbarians, it seems as if it must have been one of dizzying velocity of change. We picture the people who lived in that age as overwhelmed by such a sudden catastrophe as that which drowned the contemporaries of Noah. But, as a matter of fact, the process lasted over two hundred years in the West and over a thousand in the East; generation followed generation while it was going on; the people at any particular time hardly realized that they were living in an especially critical period, and when the empire finally went down in the West neither Roman nor barbarian knew it was gone, philosophizes the New York Journal. In the distant perspective of history our eyes condense the events of ages into a single hurrying tragedy. The truth is that we ourselves are living in by far the most volcanically revolutionary age the world has ever known. Human history has never before moved with such arrowy celerity on so many different lines. To the student of a thousand years hence it will seem as if in our day a stage drop had shut up at the touch of a bell and disclosed a world transformed.

WHICH FOOT WALKS THE FASTEST?

A Few Simple Experiments Which May Give You the Correct Answer.

You may think this a very silly question to ask, but is it? There is no catch about it. It is a simple demonstrable fact which you can prove to your own satisfaction in a very few minutes. If you will take any pavement that is clear of other pedestrians, so that there shall be no interferance, and walk briskly in the centre, you will find that before you have gone a hundred yards you will have veered very much to one side. You must not make any conscious effort, of course, to keep to the center, or you may do it, and if you will think of something and endeavor to walk naturally, it is a hundred to one you cannot keep a direct line.

The explanation of this lies in the peculiarity of one foot to walk faster than the other. Or, to be more correct, perhaps it should be said that one leg takes a longer stride than the other, and this, combined with the quicker movement, causes one to walk more to one side than the other.

It is well known, for instance, that if one is lost in the woods, the tendency is to walk in a circle and eventually to return to about the starting point. This demonstrates the fact also that one foot walks faster than the other.

You can try an interesting experiment in this way if you will place two stakes in the lawn about eight feet apart, and then stand off about sixty feet, allow yourself to be blindfolded, and endeavor to walk between them. You will find it an almost impossible task, because one foot will go a bit faster than the other, either to the right or left. Now, which one of your feet walks faster than the other?

There are only two cotton mills in Louisiana.

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....APRIL 27, 1899.

OBITUARY

Celestine Cunningham was born at Huron Ohio, May, 24, 1834, and departed this life April 20, 1899, at 10 p, m., after a lingering illness.

In November of the same year she was born, her mother with the babe and her three other other children Hiram, George and Henrietta started for the then wilderness of Indiana, to join her brother Geo. Barnes at what was then Barnes' Mill, now Hatch's Mills, the first settlement in this township. But the road was long and difficult and the babe fell sick and the mother stopped with her while the eldest, but fifteen with the two other children finished the journey, joining the uncle here. In the following February, the mother and babe came on with another party, and here they made their home. Here she grew to womanhood, later becoming a teacher in our earlier public schools.

Her death removes the last of her immediate family, all having preceded her to their final rest.

November 28, 1858, she was united in marriage, to Avery I. Barns, the ceremony being by Elder Caleb B. Davis. A few weeks later, they moved to their new home, then surrounded by a dense forest, and proceeded with stout hearts and willing hands to carve from the wilderness the comfortable home which has since been theirs. Here for a period of more than forty years she has been the central figure of a home made brighter and better by her presence, helping in all ways, as far as strength was given her, to assume her full share of life's burdens and life's cares, and enjoying as only a sunny nature like hers can, its sunshine and its joys.

In the year 1879, she and her husband united with the Christian church, of which she has since been a faithful and consistent member.

To them no children were born, but hers was always a life of good deeds and neighborly sympathies, as all who knew her can testify. Hers were the virtues of a faithful and loving wife, an intelligent and earnest Christian woman. And it may well be said of her. "The world is better for her having lived in it."

We say farewell, but not forever.

For, friendship of the just is like the shadow of the evening that lengthens to eternity.

The funeral was at the Christian church at Hesston Ind,, and interment at the Foster cemetery, to which her remains were followed a large number of her life-long friends and associates. The sermon was a very impressive one, by Rev, O. E. Ebert of Bangor, Mich, A devoted husband and many relatives to mourn her loss.

Good Citizenship Meeting.

The meeting of the Good Citizen's League last night at the Baptist church was a success in number and interest. Short addresses, good music and matters of business made up the program. The president, Rev. T. M. Guild, stated that some of the effective work now being done can not be made public at present. The solo by Mrs. Engleman, "Father Guide Us," and the duet by Mrs. Cuppy and Will, "Sparkling Water," were greatly enjoyed. The former was accompanied by Miss Warrick as organist, and the latter by Mrs. Anna Moss. By request, Mrs. Charles Emanuel gave her paper on "Hobbies" which had been given previously at the L. L. C. It was replete with good thoughts and inspiration for a high aim and persistent effort for the right.

Townships and Counties

There are in Indiana nine-two counties and 1,014 townships. Allen county has the largest number of townships, twenty in all. Loporte comes next, with nineteen, followed by Kosciusko, with seven-teen. Two counties have fifteen each, ten counties have fourteen each, twelve counties have thirteen each, sixteen counties have twelve each, eleven counties have ten each, twelve counties have nine each, three counties have eight each, two counties have seven each, three counties have six each, four counties have five each, and two counties have four each.

Wreck on the B. & O.

The B. &, O. fast train that goes west at 2:30 in the morning met with an accident at Berlinton. A freight had gone onto the sidetrack but had not cleared the main track enough, and the fast train struck them. The fireman, Miller Ray was killed and Sam Martin hurt. Ray leaves a wife and two children. He was a brother of the Ray who ran for marshal at Garrett last year.

FOR SALE

The first two lots north of "Bab" Lewis' residence—One of them vacant, and the other a corner lot with large frame house, good cellar, woodhouse and summer kitchen, frame barn, good well and cistern, some fruit, and handy to the schools and church. Will sell the lots separately or both together. See the occupant, Mrs. Kitty Weaver. for price and other particulars. 15-18

CHURCH NOTES.

A fair attendance greeted Rev. Henry Arlen at the Presbyterian church yesterday morning, and listened to an excellent sermon preached from the text, "The love of Christ constraineth me." The music was as usual, good. The evening services were also excellent.

The pastor will hold services every evening this week, at 7:30 o'clock, and earnestly requests that every member be present as much as possible at these services. Others are cordially invited to be present also. Communion services will be held next Sunday morning.

Sunday School at the Lutheran church was large and also a large and appreciative congregation listened to an excellent sermon, subject "Preaching a Universal Duty," Matt. 10:17. The evening services were well attended. Subject of sermon, "The Son of Sloth," Matt. 25:18. The sermons were both good and instructive.

A Successful Surprise

One week ago Saturday the St. Johns school, of Butler township, closed with an exibiton. Fred W. Knott, having that day finished his third successful term at that place, which the patrons and pupils so highly appreciated, that on last Saturday night the patrons and pupils in the district in which he taught with many other friends met at the Center school house and went from there to his place of residence to take their favorite teacher by surprise, He not being at home when the parties arrived, the patrons proceeded at once to draw up a petition and all signed it, requesting him to teach the next term of school. To say that Mr. Knott was surprised on his return to find about seventy-five of his friends awaiting him is putting it in a mild form. The even ing's program consisted of music, both vocal and instrumental after which an excellent supper was served to all. After supper the petition requesting him to teach their next term of school was shown him, which he consented to do. Then the district in which he taught, presented him with a nice chair, thus showing that they highly appreciated the work he had done for them during the past three years. The party then left for their respective homes, glad that they were there and that they again had selected the teacher of their choice.

Auburn Normal

Auburn will have a Summer Normal beginning June 12. The work will be adapted especially to teachers wishing to review and those preparing to teach. Instruction will be given also in any higher studies that may be desired It will be our aim to make this school profitable to our students and worthy of their patronage and we know it to be the opinion of the County Superintendent that such a school should be held.

For information address H. G. Brown Secretary, or any other instructor.

Instructors { B. B. Harrison, H. G. Brown, Mrs. E. M. Richards.

6tf

Mr. Hartford Married

Deputy Sheriff James Hartford was married this afternoon at Chicago to Miss Caroline Hallberg, who has for some time been head clerk in the jewelry department at Siegel & Cooper's. They have been acquainted for about five years. They expect to reach Auburn on Saturday, and for the present will, we are told, have rooms in the sheriff's residence. The COURIER heartily congratulates them and hopes their future may bright.

Try HOME-MADE WRAPPERS at $1.00 and $1.50. $1 & 1.50 M. JONES & SON.

THOSE

Slippers

—AT—

Bishop & Beidler's

Are going fast. They are the greatest Bargains ever offered in The Shoe Line. Come early if you want a pair.

73c and 97c

Misses' and Childs' 63c

Bishop & Beidler,

Your Shoemakers.

WAR SOCIETIES

Americans Have Scores of Patriotic Associations

Each War Has Furnished Material for From One to a Dozen.

It will no doubt be of interest to our readers, to know how many and what patriotic, or "War Societies" we have in the United States. We will name them in brief and suggest that this article be cut out and preserved.

1. The Order of Cincinnati, founded in 1783 at the close of the Revolution, by officers only, of the American and French armies then in camp on the Hudson above New York. Its first "president-general" was George Washington; its present one is William Wayne, Pa., grandson of Gen. Anthony Wayne

2. The Tammany Society or "Columbia Order" organized in 1789, and was intended to offset the aristocratic society of Cincinnati by taking in private soldiers of the Revolution. It took the name "Tammany" from a Deleware chief who had been friendly to the American cause. The first officers were anti-federalist and later it became a democratic body.

3. Society of Colonial Wars, organized in 1892, and its members may trace their ancesters back to any Indiar war as early as 1607, when the first English came to Jamestown.

4. The Azteck Club of 1847. It was formed in 1847 in the city of Mexico by the officers of our army then in possession of that city. Officers of the Marines and navy may join it.

5. Order of the Founders and Patriots of America. It was founded in 1896, and all whose ancesters took part in any of our wars or a prominent part in organizing our government, could join.

6. The Regular Army and Navy Union. It was organized at Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1888.

7. Sons of the Revolution. It was first organized in 1875 and includes men whose ancesters served in any wars of the thirteen original colonies in army or navy, or who were active in organizing or helping the patriot cause between April 19, 1775 and April 19, 1783, when the war closed.

8. Sons of the American Revolution. This was organized in 1889.

9. The Service Men of the Spanish War. This was organized at Lexington, Ky., Nov. 5, 1898, Col. Gunder of the 160th Indiana being one of its originators. It is yet in its infancy but provides for lodges all over the Union of those officers or men who took part in the Spanish war.

10. The Military order of Foreign Wars. This was begun in 1894, and includes "Veteran Companies" and "Hereditary Companies," the former being those who have actually been in some war with a foreign nation and the latter, being the descendants of such,

11. Naval Order of the United States. They are naval officers or are enlisted men who have received a medal of honor, It was organized in 1890.

12. Society of the War of 1812. This is a New York State society and was organized in 1826. The members are descendants of those who served either on land or sea.

13. The General Society of the War of 1812. This is a combination of the above societies for all the states in the Union at the time ot that war.

14. The Military Order of the Loyal Legion. These are the veterans of 1861—1865 and their male lineal descendants. There are about twenty commanderies besides the District of Columbia. Total membership 9,071.

15. Societies of the Union Army of 1861-65. These are for the different great Armies, as The Tennessee, The Cumberland, The Potomac, The 11th Army Corps, etc.

16. Grand Army of the Republic. This needs no explanation as it is the most generally distributed of all. There is the National Organization and one for each state. The first National Encampment was at Indianapolis, Nov. 20, 1866, the last one at Cincinnati. There are 7,213 Posts, the first having been organized at Decatur, Ill., April 6th, 1866. Total membership at last report 305,603.

17. Woman's Relief Corps. This is auxiliary to the G. A. R. Total membership, June 30, '96, was 138,444. Mrs. Judge R. Wes. McBride was then the national secretary.

18. Sons of Veterans. First camp was organized in Philadelphia, Sept. 20' 1879. Must be descendants of 1861-65 veterans who were honorably discharged, and be over eighteen. They have over 10,000 members.

19. Societies of the Sons of War Veterans, Similar to the above except that the veterans must have seen six months service and must have been a part of the time at least, at the front.

20, Union Veteran Legion. Organized at Pittsburg, March 20 1884. Must have volunteered prior to 1863, for three years, who volunteered prior to July 22, 1861, to serve two years, thus having entered the service before any drafts or bounties.

21. Union Veterans Union: Organized at Washington, D. C. 1886. Must have served at least six months and been honorably discharged. Number of 65,000.

22. Society of the Army of Santiago de Cuba. Organized in the governor's palace at Santiago, July 31, '98, fourteen days after the surrender. Gen. Wm. Shafter first president. Includes all of the army who participated in the capture of the town. about 18,000 in all.

23. The Rough Riders' Association. This takes in members of Roosevelt's regiment, officially known as "The First Regiment U. S. Volunteer Cavalry." Right to become members, descends to oldest son, as in the order of Cincinnati, Organized just before the regiment disbanded.

24. National Society of the Spanish American War. Organized at Baltimore, August 12, 1898. May have served in the war or not, but must be pledged to advance the principles of the society, to teach fidelity to the Union and honor the memory of its fallen heroes, help to honor brave deeds, and also furnish suitable patriotic articles for the press.

25. National Association of Naval Veterans. Organized in New York, Jan. 1887, by delegates from several local lodges already at work. Must have served in the navy between '61-'65 and been honorably discharged. 39 lodges and 10,000 members.

Confederate War Orders

The Southern Army has organized and kept up up several of the societies, the most of which are under conditions similar to ours in the north. Of course, those of the Revolution and the War of 1612 are the same north and south. But the orders growing out of the rebellion are these.

1. United Confederate Veterans This was organized in 1889, to perpetuate the memory of their struggles and hardships and to keep up a spirit of friendship and benevolence among those who had served in the confederate armies. They have state organizations, and also include the organizations of the Army of the Tennessee. the Army of North Virginia etc. They have 1170 camps and over 45,000 members. The last general reunion was at Atlanta, last July.

2. United Sons, of Confederate Veterans. This is similar to our Sons of Veterans, and has its local camps throughout the United States, as many of the sons of confederates are scattered all over the north.

3. United Daughters of the Confederacy. It was organized at Nashville in 1895. It is composed of wives, mothers, sisters or lineal descendants of those who served in the confederate army or navy. It has 400 chapters and about 8,000 members.

4. Society of the Army and Navy of the Confederate States. This is a Maryland Society, organized in 1871, and like the other confederate societies a part of its objects is to collect and preserve authentic details to be used in the history of the confederate armies, and their cause.

OTHER SOCIETIES

There are a number of societies of women, growing out of some historical event or period. Among them are.

Colonial Dames of America, (There also two societies of this name) Daughters of the American Revolution; Daughters of the Revolution, organized in 1801; Dames of the Revolution; United States Daughters, 1812; Mt. Vernon Ladies Association; Daughters of the Holland Dames of the New Netherlands

CLUB NOTES

The L. L. C. met with Mrs. W. B. Brown on Saturday afternoon. A number of the members were tardy while several others were detained by sickness. There was quite a good attendance however the latter part of the session. The discussion was then continued as to plan for the coming year's work which resulted in adopting a line of work similar to that of this year's work, namely: Travels in our own country and our new possessions. The subject for the day was "Alaska." The first paper was the Resurces of Alaska, by Mrs. Mollie Robbins. This was the a nicely compiled paper and helped the members very much to realize the vast amount of resources we obtained when we purchased Alaska for $7,200,000. 'The Indians in Alaska, their Habit and Occupation," was to have been given by Mrs. Lackey, but on account of illness she was unable to be present. Miss Bucklev gave her work "A trip to Petoskey by Water," as substitute work, Miss Buckley gave her work a talk, and was full of interesting and entertaining incidents.

Mrs. Emanuel's paper on "Hobbies" was fine and greatly enjoyed by the club.

—Mrs. Ehlers was present and just having returned from Memphis, consented to give a talk on her work among the colored people at that place. She worked among these people thirteen years ago and she gave a contrast between the situation at that time and the present, saying that great improvement had been made, she gave many laughable incidents, and some pathetic ones.

The club always enjoys these talks of Mrs, Ehlers, and those who were absent on Saturday feel that they missed a treat. After current news, the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Willis next Saturday.

The Reading Club met with Mrs. McCord last Wednesday with nearly all the members present. The session was a business one however and after the business was transacted the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Morris Eckhart next Wednesday, when the reading of the new book will be commenced.

We learn that the members of the Up-to-Date Club have about decided to take a vacation.

FARMERS, ATTENTION

Before breeding your mares call at D. N. Myer's Feed Barn in Auburn and see his two horses. English Shire, 1700 pounds and the imported Cleveland Bay 1350 pounds. You will always find them at home.

STRANGE ACCIDENT.

Unusual Experience of a B. & O. Trainman.

Fred. VanHyde of Garrett had a strange experience at Creedmore, this side of Chicago yesterday. He is a brakeman on a freight train and they were east bound, he being on top the cars. They were rushing past the water tank at Creedmore at the rate of thirty miles an hour, and the rope by which the water spout is pulled down when water is taken, was swinging in the wind, and just as he reached that point it gave an extra "Swish" and lapped around his neck, and as it jerk him over to the car roof he grasped it as it partly slipped around back and off, of itself, freeing him as suddenly as it had caught him. With a desperate effort he grasped the edge of the car roof and managed to keep from rolling off and was soon safe back on top. But his neck was bloody and blistered by the rough rope being forcibly drawn off of it, and the skin looked as if cooked by scalding steam. It was a dangerous experience, but was over in a tenth the time it takes to think of it. He says he will never forget that small fraction of a second. It is little short of a miracle that his neck was not broken, or his body dashed to pieces on the ground.

A Good Entertainment.

The following is an entertainment successfully rendered at Summit last week for the benefit and under auspices of the St. Michael Cornet Band, and which will be reproduced at the Waterloo Opera House, Friday evening April 28. Doors opening at 7:30 o'clock.

PROGRAMME

JAPANESE SERENADE.

Overture, "Our Band".....
.....Imperial Band
Chorus, "Star Spangled Banner"
.....Imperial Minstrels
"We're All Cakes".....Mucha Ito
Uncle Dan, solo, Visscher....Sapi Toto
"One and One make Three"....
.....Ito and Toto
Selection, "Wake Up"..Imperial Band
"Music in Sight".....Mucha Ito
"Camp Meeting Down in the.. .
South" Solo, Fowler ....Sapi Toto
Selection, "Lillie"....Imperial Band
"The Improved Telephone".Sapi Toto
Selection, "Grand Entree".....
.....Imperial Band
"No Impression or Hard Headed"
.....Ito and Toto

FINALE.

His Imperial Highness will direct the Imperial Band in rendering His latest and most successful composition, "A Jap's Dream."

"DOWN YOU GO"—COMEDY IN ONE ACT

SCENE:—Limburger Street, Cincinnati

CHARACTERS.

Theophilus Sharp, Lawyer.....
.....John Hoffelder
Peter, his office boy.....Math. Hohl
Hans Bungspingel, Shoemaker..
.....Emil Schiffli
Pat O'Conner, Policeman.....
.....Fred C. Reinig
J. Flashing, Insurance Agent....
.....Frank Gfeller
Giovanni Baccioco, Italian.....
.....Nich Richter
Nicodemus Morosini, Tragedian
.....Andrew Zircher
Lee Kong, Chinaman.....John Miller
Wrascoe Calmati, Bear Tamer..
.....Geo. Schoudel
Bruno, The Bear.....Frank Miller

"THE CONQUEST OF ASHANTEE."

BURLESQUE IN ONE ACT.

SCENE:—Commassie, Capital of Ashantee

CAST:

Prempeh, King of Ashantee....
.....John Hoffelder
Oko, his chief Councilor.....
.....Emil Schiffli
Cutemoff, Chief of the Decapitators.....John Miller
Houssa, Com. of King's Black...
Guard.....Andrew Zircher
1st Courtier, Black as usual.....
.....Mike Schoudel
2d Courtier, Blacker still.....
.....Geo. Schoudel
Sir John Bull Brigg, Lord High
British, etc. etc.....Nich Richter
Tom Sails, in His service, Sir...
.....Fred Reinig
English Marines, { ...Math Schoudel ....Aug. Schiffli
Prempeh's Guards { ....Frank Gfeller ...John Schoudel ....Andrew Ellert .Laurence Schiffli .....Math Hohl .....Frank Miller
Cannibals, { Master Joseph Schoudel ...Master Joseph Miller

The Best Cough Remedy on Earth

LUTHER, Mich., Feb. 8, '92.
DR. C, D. WARNER, Coldwater, Mich.

I am well acquainted with the merits of your White Wine of Tar Syrup. I have used it on several occasions when very hoarse from public speaking and when suffering from sore throat. Our postmaster, Mr. Nicholson, had lagrippe and it left him with a very bad cough, had spells of coughing every morning for an hour or more. I met him on the street about three weeks ago and recommended White Wine of Tar Syrup, which he commenced taking and today he is a well man. A little girl here had coughed all winter and no cure could be found. I asked her mother to get White Wine of Tar. She did so and in two weeks she was cured. As you say, it is the best cough remedy on earth. Please send me six bottles by ex press. Yours Resp'y

REV. E. L. ODLE, Pastor M. E. Church.

Sold in Auburn by Davenport the Druggist.

What Can We ..Offer.. You

In the way of.....

HARDWARE and FARM MACHINERY

that will attract your attention?

We have the most complete stock ever seen in our city, and you know that, as usual, our prices are right

Do you need anything for spring that we carry

?

Do you know that we have built up a wonderful trade by right prices and right goods.

?

Do you know that we have the most complete stock of

Hardware, Farm Machinery Wagons and Buggins

in DeKalb County

?

If you will drop in and see us we will be able to convince you at once that we have the goods that you want, and the prices alone will tell the story.

Don't fail to see our Carriage Repository, it is the finest in Northern Indiana,

Culbertson & Boland, Auburn, Ind.

FREE! FREE!

Rand, McNally & Co's. Universal Atlas of the World

Containing Entirely New Large Scale Maps of every State in the United States, and of Every Country in the World. This Atlas is the Edition of 1899, and has Special Maps of Cuba, Peurto Rico, The Philippines, and other war localities.

The Complete Work Embraces

64 Pages of artistically colored diagrams relating to imports, exports, populations, etc.

157 Pages of colored maps.

98 Pages of illustrated history and biography.

125 Portraits and biographies of eminent statesmen, soldiers, and writers.

An Index naming and locating every city, village, post office, railway, and express station in the United States, besides giving the latest official census complete.

Total number of pages, 456. Weighs eight pounds.
Size of book when closed, 11½x14½ inches.
Elegantly bound in Half Morocco. Sold for $6.00 at retail,

OUR OFFER:

We will give Atlas Checks at the rate of one with every 25 cents' worth of goods purchased. (Two for 50 cents, four for $1.00, etc.)

When you have secured 300 of these, take them to F. E. DAVENPORT'S DRUG STORE, and you will receive a copy of the Atlas gratis.

Auburn, Indiana.

M. JONES & SON, Dry Goods.
BISHOP & BEIDLER, Boots and Shoes.
M. E. GARRETT, Groceries.
F. E. DAVENPORT, Drugs, Books and Stationery.
SHEFFER & CHANY, Meats.
PIONEER HARDWARE CO., Hardware. Stoves, etc.
J. H. NEHER, Photographer (Hoffman Gallery).
MRS. A. C. LEAS, Millinery.
D. A. HODGE, Jewelry.

REMEMBER

That you do not have to secure the 300 checks at any one store.
That checks from all the above stores count.
That you have a whole year in which to secure 300.
That you must ALWAYS ASK FOR THE CHECKS.
That none other but ATLAS CHECKS count THAT YOU CAN SECURE THE SAME CHECKS AT WATERLOO AND GARRETT.

House-Cleaning Time Suggests New

Carpets
Curtains
Matting

Of these the Big Store carries the largest assortment of any firm in the county. You not only have a large assortment from which to make your selections, but Buying and Selling as we do for Spot Cash, enables us to offer prices which are even lower than you would expect. If your purse is lean and your rooms need new carpets and curtains, come and see us.

Tailor Suits
House Wrappers
Shirt Waists
Silk Waists
Skirts

Look to us to supply your needs in these important items. We'll not disappoint you. Our reputation is wrapped up in every garment that leaves the store, and we think too much of it to not sustain it. We've given this part of our business special attention this season, and every dollar you spend in our garment room, will yield you a full one hundred cents worth of satisfaction.

GEO. W. LACKEY,

Successor to the Bishop & Lackey Co. Auburn, Ind.

IDEAL MUSIC,

"Sweet as the angel Israfil's,
When every leaf on Eden's tree
Was trembling to his minstrelsy."

can be produced from an EBERSOLE PIANO. The Ebersole possesses a tone that no other maker has been able to imitate—being full and deep, yet with that clear singing quality which stamps it the peer of all upright pianos for homes of culture and refinement.

Frank B. Long,

119 Calhoun-St- cor Washington,

Fort Wayne, Ind.

William's Kidney Pills

Has no equal in diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs. Have you neglected your Kidneys? Have you overworked your nervous system and caused trouble with your Kidneys and Bladder? Have you pains in the loins, side, back, groins and bladder? Have you a flabby appearance of the face, especially under the eyes? Too frequent desire pass urine? William's Kidney Pills will impart new life to the diseased organs, tone up the system and make a new man of you. By mail 50 cents per box.

WILLIAMS MFG. CO., Props., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Plumbing

Having secured the services of a first class plumber I am now prepared to do plumbing in a first-class manner. Also of all kinds a specially. Large stock of Tanks made of galvanized steel. Prices and work guaranteed.

Roofing, Spouting and Galvanized Iron Work.....

F. M. RUSH.

PILES Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment will cure Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles. It absorbs the tumors, allays the itching at once, acts as a poultice, gives instant relief. Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is prepared for Piles and Itching of the private parts. Every box is warranted. By druggists, by mail on receipt of price. 50 cents and $1.00. WILLIAMS MANUFACTURING CO., Props., Cleveland, Ohio.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Took a Rake-Off

A man was here from Warsaw this week, who brought word that the Board of Commissioners over there had been doing crooked work and had been indicted for it. The substance of this story is this, that the Prosecutor or some other officer found in the list of allowances made by the board $287 for an iron tank for their poor farm. It was also ascertained that the tank was made by our expert boiler maker, M. A. Miller. So a man was sent up here to interview Mr. Miller and see how a boiler of that sort cost so much, So the latter asked Mr. Miller what he would charge to make him a tank of a certain size naming one exactly like the one the Board had paid $287 for. Mr. Miller said he would make it for $124. The man then asked why it was that Miller had charged $287 for such a one for the poor house over at his place. Miller replied that he had not charged that much, that there were three tanks, one the size named, was for the poor house and the other two for the two commissioners. So he was taken to Warsaw as a witness, and as a result two of the commissoners have been indicted. Miller had supposed the transaction was all right, till told that the commissioners put in the cost of their own tanks, with that of the county farm and had the county pay for the whole of it. It may develop that they have been getting a rakeoff on other things. At all events they seem to have been getting pretty well tanked up.

Notice to Horse Breeders

I will stand my thoroughbred, heavy Draft Norman Stallion at Moores on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays; Butler on Thursdays; Waterloo on Fridays and Saturdays. Weight, 1800 pounds. Terms reasonable; and no charges for dead colts.

A. D. MOORE, proprietor.

Dr. Humphreys'

Specifics act directly upon the disease, without exciting disorder in other parts of the system. They Cure the Sick.

NO.	CURES.	PRICES.
1	Fevers, Congestions, Inflammations.	.25
2	Worms, Worm Fever, Worm Colic...	.25
3	Teething, Colic, Crying, Wakefulness	.25
4	Diarrhea, of Children or Adults.....	.25
7	Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis.....	.25
8	Neuralgia, Toothache, Faceache.....	.25
9	Headache, Sick Headache, Vertigo..	.25
10	Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Weak Stomach.	.25
11	Suppressed or Painful Periods....	.25
12	Whites, Too Profuse Periods.....	.25
13	Croup, Laryngitis, Hoarseness.....	.25
14	Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Eruptions..	.25
15	Rheumatism, Rheumatic Pains.....	.25
16	Malaria, Chills, Fever and Ague.....	.25
19	Catarrh, Influenza, Cold in the Head	.25
20	Whooping-Cough.....	.25
27	Kidney Diseases.....	.25
28	Nervous Debility.....	1.00
30	Urinary Weakness, Wetting Bed...	.25
77	Grip, Hay Fever.....	.25

Dr. Humphreys' Manual of all Diseases at your Druggists or Mailed Free.

Sold by druggists, or sent on receipt of price. Humphreys' Med. Co., Cor. William & John Sts. New York.

Monday's Daily.

—Mrs. Snell and Children returned today to Toledo.

--FOR SALE:—A self-heating copper lined bath tub. Call here. wl —Will Campbell of Fostoria, Ohio, is visiting his parents in the city,

—North Main-st residence for sale. Easy terms. Inquire at this office.

—Miss Delia Kiplinger of Waterloo, is visiting in the family of Ralph Thomas'.

—Miss Stella Hague was home from Kendallville and spent Sunday with her parents.

—Judge Hartman, Judge Roby and Charles Brown went to Angola today to attend court.

—Miss Jennie Stewart of Butler is visiting Miss Cora High and Mrs. James Griswold.

—WANTED:—A good girl to do housework with a family in the country. Call here.

—State Insurance Commissioner, A. M. McBeth, is in town for a week or more re-rating property.

—If you want the latest styles and the best good shoes to be had for the money patronize Shull's shoe store.

—A company of soldiers from Columbus, O., passed through on the B. & O. last evening. They are headed for Sanfrancisco.

—Harvey Gibford, an employee at the Kiblinger factory, and Miss Lower, of Sedan, were married at the bride's home yesterday.

—Mr Edward Girardot and Miss Becker of Kendallville, spent Sunday with the family of J. Girardot, north of town and returned home this a. m.

—Mrs. Wm. Walsworth and grand son Carey Boyer drove to Butler Saturday evening to visit relatives neat that place, returning Sunday evening.

—C. W. Caldwell received word Saturday that Mrs. Caldwell's sister had died that morning. He left in the evening for Keokuk to attend the funeral.

—The funeral of Mrs. Ludwig which occurred at the German Reformed church yesterday at 2 p. m., whs largely attended. Rev. Engelman, the pastor, officiating.

—Henry W. Haggeman, a prominent politician of Fort Wayne drank carbolic acid Saturday morning, by mistake, and died in two hours, in great agony. He was a prominent German society man.

—Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Snyder returned from a visit to friends and relatives in Chicago and Rockford, Ill., Saturday night, Mrs. Snyder returned quite ill and is confined to her bed at the present writing.

—The work of moving J. C. Lochner's old residence is a big job. This building according to the knowledge of some of our older citizens, was erected in 1852. It is still in good condition and from all appearances, is good for another forty years.

—Victor Mann, who was a private in Co E, 157th Reg. Ind. Vols. and who was attacked with typhoid fever while in a southern camp, is lying at the point of death at his home in Elkhart, from the effects of several over doses of morphine some of which he possibly took with suicidal intent. Mann is about 22 years of age and ever since he was mustered out of the army his health has been miserable.

—In Indianapolis the new company has contracts for about 3,600 phones now or about all they are prepared for at present. The New Long Distance Company has been doing an immense amount of construction and will be able to put the New Telephone Company in connection with 127 state exchanges and innumerable toll station points. Thus the citizens of three states using more than 50,000 telephones have been put in every day and easy communication with each other.—Greenfield, Ind Republican, March 20.

—Harry J. Brown, painter and carriage finisher at the Eckhart Carriage shops, and Miss Margaret Eaton of Fostoria' Ohio, were married at that place last Saturday. They returned to Auburn that evening, and partook of an excellent supper prepared for the occasion at Baxter Bros'. restaurant. The contracting parties are popular young people and are of among the best families of their respective homes. The COURIER with hosts of friends extend hearty congratulations, and wish them a happy and prosperous union.

—A dispatch from Berrien Springs Mich., says: A letter from A. L. Warren, of this county, now in Klondike, says deaths by suicide are increasing with alarming rapidity. The failure to find the metal and the impoverished condition of hundreds of prospectors are dethroning the reason of men and a suicidal mania is resulting. Warren says thousands are preparing to return to the states. The hospitals are full of scurvy stricken miners and there has been many deaths as the result of the malady. Warren is engaged in writing his observations and is also a hunter after gold.

—From the beginning of March to the present time seventy-three new telephone companies have been incorporated in the country with a capital of nearly $40,000. The movement toward free and long distance speech is by no means plutocratic one, for whereas the Automatic Exchange Company, of Meriden, Conn., was incorporated with a capital stock of $250,000, the Jackpot of Kentucky was satisfied to begin with $70. The Daily Telephone Items, a paper published in New York City, estimates that by the end of next year more than a billion dollars will have been invested in the telephone alone and that it will give employment to 750,000 people one way or another. —Indianapolis Sentinel, April 14.

Tuesday's Daily.

—Carpetine for sale at Baxter's Restaurant.

—S. J. Zimmerman and wife went over to St. Joe today.

—Two good barns for sale cheap. Enquire of M. Boland.

—Remove the grease and stains from your carpets with Carpetine.

—Mart Sheets is absent, attending the funeral of an uncle at Hicksville.

—Just received at Davenport's, new lot of Wall Paper at 6c per double roll.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ora Brandon, are entertaining a little daughter that arrived this morning.

—FOR SALE. Two good horses, ages 7 and 4. Call on T. J. Baxter 2½ miles east of Summit, Ind.

—L. J. Gengler will be over here from Garrett this afternoon to meet with the A. O. U. W.

—Mrs. Hugh Hoagland of Ft. Wayne is visiting the family of Frank Zimmerman who are relatives.

—$4 buys the best Men's Tan Shoes in the city at Wilson's. Color and style all right for the "Boys."

—John Lochner has finished moving his house and it now is on the new location at the west end of his lots,

—Charles Hoff started yesterday for his old home in Germany. We did not learn how long he expects to be gone.

—D. C. Caruth broke two ribs while coming out of Red Men's hall last evening by falling over a trestle. The injuries are quite painful and Dr. Baxter was with him about all night.

—BEGG'S HAIR RENEWER.—The old reliable Hair Restorer and invigorator, for over thirty years the leader in its line. If you give it a trial you will recommend it to your friends. Sold by H. B, McCord.

—A letter from Claude Link to his people here brings word that he is at Los Angeles, and is putting in his time very enjoyably admiring the beauties of that city and its lovely suburbs. He goes awheel much of the time and this gives an opportunity to view the orange groves and other tropical vegetation.

—At Wellsboro on Monday we met a former DeKalb boy, Thomas Dilgard, who is now living there having a good position with the B. & O. there, that of car inspector. It is another case of the DeKalb man getting a front seat. We were greatly pleased to meet him and find him doing so well. He is a brother to David Dilgard and of Francis.

BUTLER.

Mrs. R, C. Campbell is still slowly improving but is still very poorly.

Dr. Madden lingers along with but slight change.

—The air does not seem to all have escaped from the Lee Campbell-Gypsy bubble. The shell seems to be slightly crystallizing, and there seems to be a possibly of its again becoming buoyant,

Ben Stiefel is closing out his stock at auction,

Rev. Dustman sold his household goods at auction last Saturday and is preparing to leave town in a couple of weeks. He has made many friends here and will be missed from his pulpit very much. His life among us has been a very sad one indeed and calls for much sympathy.

J. A. Campbell and wife united pleasure and business in a trip over Steuben county the first of the week.

—The month of April has been unusually nice warm with no cold blasts, or unpleasant storms. Since the break in the early days of the month farm work is being pushed rapidly.

J. A. Campbell is making some much needed improvements on his residence on East North-st.

Wheels are beginning to be numerous on our streets again. The factory is crowded with orders and working all the men they can find room for day, night and Sunday.

Born at South Chicago April 21, '99, to Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Fralick, a daughter. The fourth daughter living.

OBITUARY.

Died at his residence in Butler, Indiana, April 21, 1866, after an illness of about ten days in the 58th year of his age Isaac D. Daily.

Mr. Daily was born in near Manchester (Nimicilla,) Summit county Ohio, Feb. 9, 1842, where he grew to manhood, obtaining a good common school education improving upon the same by several terms at Greensburg Seminary in the same county. He remained upon the farm with his parents until the breaking out of the war of the rebelion when he enlisted in the 177th Ohio serving one year and participating in the batter of Murphresborough Wilmington and others. After the war in the fall of 1865, he came to Butler engaging for a short time in the grocery trade. After which he opened a blacksmith shop, and for many years conducted his business successfully. On May 26, 1867, he was united in marriage with Almira Noel. To this union were born four chidren, three of whom and his widow survive him. His funeral took place from the M. E. church last Sunday afternoon. Rev. Frech officiating, assisted by Rev' Mason, and Rev. Dustman, under the auspices of the G. A, R. and W. R. C. The large church was filled to overflowing. The remains laid to rest in Butler cemetery. Mr. Daily has been a member of the Methodist church since the winter of '87 and has proven his faith by his constant walk and intercourse with his neighbors and friends. Was a devoted member of his order and alway found at his post of duty. His familiar presence will be missed by our people, but most by his own family whom he idolized, and was idolized by them.

Wednesday's Daily.

—J. A. Groh put his subscription into 1900 today.

—Scrub your floors and wood work with Carpetine, tf

—Dr. Long treats eye ear, nose and throat. At Hodge's May 3. 27-2

—Ask any druggist for a free Pe-ru-na Almanac for the year 1899.

—H. Weaver and the Keeran Sisters are having city water piped into their houses.

—Joe Rectenwalt, south of Garrett, died this morning. He had been sick for some time.

—Don't think about buying shoes until you have seen the new styles at Shull's shoe store. D-W-tf.

—Meetings at the Presbyterian church every evening this week. Sacrament next Sunday.

—E. D. Smith, of Helmer is another lucky man who has placed his name on on our lists high into 1900.

—FOR SALE: A few choice Jessie and Crescent Strawberry Plants, 25 cents per hundred. I. M. JOHNSON.

—Don't forget Wilson when you want shoes. His popular line of shoes at $1.50, $2, $2.50, $3 are the finest in the city.

—The south end lumber yard is doing a big business. We saw a dray from Garrett taking away a big load yesterday.

—John Weimer is advertising cheap potatoes of good kinds, if anyone will come to the farm and buy them. See his notice.

—Talking about styles in shoes. if you want the real thing, call at Shull's shoe store and take a look at the new styles for spring. D-W-tf.

—Dr. James Long, oculist, will be at D. A. Hodge's jewelry store in Auburn on Wednesday, May 3. Treats eye, ear, nose and throat. 27-2

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co.. Goshen, Ind. 8

—Good music will be a part of the program of the two days W. C. T. U. Normal Institute to be held here, Friday and Saturday, April 28 and 29.

—When you want a new pair of Shoes call on Wilson who can show you more nice, neat, stylish shoes at $2, $2.50 and $3 than any store in the city.

—Geo. Newcomer and daughter Rilla of Franklin were callers today. The daughter is a teacher, having closed her school at No. 2 in that township.

—Running Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, etc., quickly cured by Banner Salve the most healing salve in the world. Price 25 cents. No other "just as good."

—Remember, that when in need of a vehicle of any kind you can always find what you want at D. N. Myer's sales room, in Auburn. Surreys, Bug-Phaetons, etc.

—J. L. Rhodenbaugh of Leo, has had several years experience as auctioneer. Those who have sales to cry, are requested to give him a call, or address him at Leo. tf —HOMES WANTED:—For three orphan boys, seven, eight and nine years of age. Country homes preferred. Call on either Rev. J. D. Brosy or Rev. T. M. Guild, Auburn, Ind.

—John G. Basse who is going into the regular army wants to look a little out how he steals alarm clocks when he gets to Manila. They may "go off" again before he "gets off."

—See small bills of Great Bargain Sale at Bishop & Beidler's. Slippers worth from $1.50 to $3.50 at 78 and 97 cents per pair. BISHOP & BEIDLER, Your Shoemaker.

—SEED POTATOES FOR SALE:—Dirt cheap. Early ones for 35c a bushel; late ones 25c. Good varieties that have been tested. Come to the farm 5 miles N. E. of Auburn. JOHN WEIMER.

—Unclaimed letters remaining in postoffice, week ending April 25 1899. Mrs. Rebecca Jones and Mrs. Emma Mitchell. Claimants will please call for letters in advertised list.

G. H. FORKNER, Postmaster.

—A Battle For Life. You need for perfect health a plentiful and constant supply of new blood. Begg's Blood Purifer and Blood tones the stomach and assists digestion. We sell it. H. B, McCord.

—L. J. Gengler was over from Garratt last evening to attend the A. O. U. W. meeting. He was in luck as usaal and won the first prize in the cake walk for being the handsomest man then in Auburn.

—Indiana's prisoners have nothing to do but be vaccinated now. Thanks to the wise legislature of 1897, there is a law to the effect that men in the penetentiary don't have to work. The taxpayers will support them.

—John G. Basse of Garrett and Frank Reesh of Auburn are going to join the regular army Friday evening or Saturday morning. Both were members of the late Co. K, Ind. Vols. They wish to go to the Filipinos.

—Miss Mabel McGoff, of Los Angeles and Lieut. Ralph Platt of the Second Oregon at Manila, are the first American couple married in that city. They had been engaged for some time, and lately she made the 10,000 mile trip to join him.

—The Montana regiment at Manila contains many experienced miners, and they had heard there was gold in the Philippines. They happened to be held near the city for a guard, and soon grew tired of idleness and went to prospecting for gold in LaLorma creek. They found it in small quantities, and can make from 50c to $2.00 a day washing it.

THIS WEEK!

A SPECIAL SALE

100 Doz.

Misses' and Children's Crow Black Cotton Hose, sizes 5 to 10; Others Ask You 15 cents.....

Our Price Is

10c

LADIES' and MISSES' SPRING UNDERWEAR.

Ladies' and Misses' Ribbed best	5c
Ladies' and Misses' Ribbed Jersey	10c
Ladies' and Misses' Ribbed Derby	15c
Ladies' and Misses' Ribbed Swiss	23c

The New Idea Pattern

10c

The Bazar Store,

F. J. Nebelung, Proprietor.

HIGHEST 1899 GRADE

BICYCLE

GENT'S COLUMBIAN $20.50 LADIES' COLUMBIAN

BEST BICYCLE BUILT!

FACTORY TO RIDER DIRECT.

All we require is $1.00 down, balance payable after examination.
We are the only factory in the United States selling direct to rider.
We guarantee our goods for two years—most liberal guarantee ever given.
We give more options than the regular dealers. You can have your choice of color, heighth of frame, or any gear desired.
Our bicycles have all the latest improvements—large tubing, flush joints, large sprockets, arched fork crown, drop hanger, etc.
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE GIVING FULL DESCRIPTION, TODAY.

Columbian Cycle Co.,
Cleveland, Ohio.

—Begg's Cherry Syrup gives you the essential qualities of the cherry tree bark from which it derives its name. It cures your stubborn colds, coughs of long standing and croup. It is the best known cure for LaGrippe. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—The Heinz vinegar Co., are shipping vinegar in tank cars. We saw one recently. The tank is not high, is of wood and perfectly tight, though from its top the fragrance of the vinegar is very plain. This is the company that makes so many of our pickles.

—Two of the state workers of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Mary E. Balch, of Indianapolis, state secretary and Mrs. Ellen K. Denny, of Vincennes, superintendent of jail and prison work will be present at the two days Normal Institute to be held in the Baptist church April 28 and 29.

—Do you understand that the persistant use of BEGGS BLOOD PURIFIER and BLOOD MAKER will drive disease germs out of your system and life will be worth living. You cannot cure in one week or one month, a blood trouble that has been years in getting a foothold. BEGGS LITTLE GIANT PILLS should be taken twice a week with this remedy. We keep it. Howard McCord.

High School Contest.

At the Opera House Friday evening, May 5, will be held a High School Contest, consisting of a debate, orations, essays and recitations; also vocal and instrumental solos, and selections by Sheets' orchestra. As there are no expensee connected with this entertainment, the entire proceeds will be for the benefit of the school, to be used for purchasing pictures for the new building. Admission 10 and 15 cents.

Lake Erie & Western R.R.

ANNUAL

Niagara Falls Excursion

WAIT FOR THE OLD RELIABLE

Lake Erie & Western

PERSONALLY CONDUCTED

Niagara Falls Excursion

LEAVE

FORT WAYNE, 7:10 A. M.

Thursday, August 3, 1899.

Rate: 6.50 For Round Trip.

ALSO

SANDUSKY, PUT-IN-BAY, CLEVELAND AND BUFFALO.

—WITH SIDE TRIPS TO—

LEWISTON, TORONTO and THOUSAND ISLANDS.

For tickets, rate, time and pamphlet containing general information, call on any ticket agent of the above route, or address

C. F. DALY,
General Passenger Agent,
INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

BRYAN AT NEW YORK.

That was a significant feature of the great Democratic New York dollar dinner in which the enthusiastic auditors insisted that a greater than Jefferson was there. The audience, composed not of leaders or of statemakers, but of the kind of men who cast the votes—as virile in New York City as throughout the country—recognized the fact that an American from their own ranks was addressing them. For a century the dominant parties of the country have been sinking under the obligations and entanglements of officialdom. Whenever the common people cried out for relief, on no matter what issue, it was only to find that the hands of the leaders were tied by the traditions of statecraft. Desperate, they scattered into confusion, to come together again in a final effort at Chicago.

There the leader appeared—one of the young men in the background with no ambition or hope for high place, but full of the fire of men who are in earnest. His burning words electrified the assembly, which went wild over the fact that there were left men who spoke from American hearts to Americans on American issues—one who believed in imperialism—the imperialism of American might and American initiative and American leadership, as against those who looked upon our country as a mere playground for Lombard street. Without seeking it, William J. Bryan became the man of the hour. He was young, as Pitt had been before him; he was revolutionary, as all men who love their country are; he was opposed by incrusted officialdom, as is always the case when the people's tribute knocks at the door. Notwithstanding the treason of men in office through Democratic trust, the opposition of all timid interests which run to cover in a political thunderstorm, and the lukewarmness of those upon whom the people had inflicted censure, this young man came within a fraction of the popular majority!

But the people had gained the victory! They had cast aside the barnacles; they had blazed the pathway to reform; they had placed the laurel upon the brow of the man who was to wear it until the battle was over. Go where he will, enthusiasm greets him, as great in New York, where a conspiracy of suppression was organized against him, as in Wisconsin, where the week previous his eloquent words thrilled the nation!

Mr. Bryan's New York speech was ringing, effective, popular. He stirred the heart, appealed to the conscience and revivified patriotism. Issues championed by such a leader cannot be ignored; people who can be so stirred up are not to be satisfied with official platitudes. The cause of the people lives, and the people are alive to the fact. The slogan has been sounded for 1900.

In introducing Mr. Bryan, Chairman Brown said that Abraham Lincoln had come out of the West to save the nation and another man had come out of the West to save the nation. A perfect tempest of applause from the men and women broke out. The band struck up, but could scarcely be heard while it played "The Stars and Stripes Forever." Hats were thrown up into the air; women waved their cloaks and handkerchiefs. Mr. Bryan raised his hand deprecatingly, but the more he did this the more the crowd cheered. Mr. Bryan began in a clear voice. He was frequently interrupted by applause.

Mr. Chairman, Democrats, Ladies and Gentlemen: I esteem it a great privilege to be permitted to attend this, probably the largest banquet given in the United States. (Interruption of cheers for Bryan.) I appreciate the kindness which has been manifested by your action and by the words of those who have preceded me. I shall carry back to my Western home new courage from your meeting, and shall be glad to tell to the people in other States that in New York there be those who are true to the principles of Democracy as written in Democracy's latest creed.

The object of this banquet was to give Chicago platform Democrats a chance to celebrate the birthday of Thomas Jefferson. ("Cries of "That's it.")

There was a banquet given in honor of Thomas Jefferson two nights ago, and the discussion of the price per plate obscured to some extent the difference between that banquet and this. A Democrat has a right to pay whatever he pleases for a dinner if he has the money. The character of a political banquet is determined not by the cost of it, but by the sentiments which are woven into the post-prandial oratory. We have not one word of hostility to utter toward those Democrats who left the Democratic party in 1896. Far be it from us to criticise any man whose judgment or conscience leads him out of the Democratic party.

Political Bigamists.

When the Republicans met at St. Louis some Republicans left the Republican party rather than adapt themselves to the platform written out at St. Louis. They organized a distinct party and they took a name sufficiently different from the Republican name so that no one would mistake the one for the other. They made a bold and earnest fight, and the Republicans who left the party in 1896 have neither gone back nor, standing outside, have they attempted to write the platform of the party which they left. There were Democrats who left us in 1896. They organized a distinct party; they nominated a ticket and perfected their national organization. But instead of calling themselves Gold Democrats, so that they could not be mistaken for the regular Democrats, they called themselves National Democrats, although they did not expect to carry a precinct in the United States. A party is an association of people for the purpose of giving force and effect to political opinions held in common. They talked to us about harmony, the only kind of harmony that is possible; harmony between those who think and act together to give force to their common opinions. There can be no harmony between those whose principles are as antagonistic as the opinions set forth in the Chicago platform and the Indianapolis platform.

All that we ask is that those who come into the Democratic party shall be a part of the Democratic party. We simply insist that a man cannot be a political bigamist. He cannot be wedded to the name of our party and to the principles of some other party. We simply ask that he shall get a formal divorce, either from our name or from their principles. The Democratic party has a platform. It does not dismay those who stand upon it to hear it denounced this year by those who denounced it two years ago. We got accustomed to it in 1896, and it is not strange now, but it would be a surprising thing indeed to hear that party denounced by those who left it two years ago. But this we do not hear. The Democratic platform is satisfactory to those who supported it in 1896. That platform was written by the representatives of the Democratic party in the most democratic convention that has been held in a quarter of a century.

It is a compliment to receive a presidential nomination from any national convention, but I am proud that my nomination came from a convention, not of bosses, but of Democratic citizens. (Loud applause.) It has vindicated that platform, and every plank of it is stronger to-day than it was when the platform was written.

Would Not Alter a Single Plank.

Those who believe that we should invite into the Democratic party all those who cannot share in the purpose and the aspirations of that party—I cannot speak for others, I speak for myself—are wrong, and I say that I would not abstract from it a single plank to get back every man who left it. Nor do I believe that we could draw people to us by cowardice. The day for ambiguity has passed. That platform means something, and if you ask me why it was that in the campaign of 1896 the hearts of the people were stirred as they have not been lately stirred, I will tell you that it was because the struggling masses found in that platform an inspiration, and aggregated wealth found in it a menace to every man who robs his neighbor for his own benefit. It was those who have entrenched themselves behind abuses of government who objected to that platform, and well they might object, because that platform was aimed at every abuse of government, and I was glad that I was supported by those who would have only asked me for just laws. I am glad that the six million and a half who voted for me simply wanted me to get other people's hands out of their pockets (applause), and not to get their hands into other people's pockets.

Let me recall some of those planks: We advocated the arbitration of differences between corporations engaged in interstate commerce and their employes. The doctrine of arbitration is stronger now than it was in 1896. Every great strike which brings loss to the employer destroys the laborer and inconveniences business and brings us one step nearer to arbitration as a means of settling these differences.

The Chicago platform favored arbitration. Democrats that stood upon it then favor it now. The platform declared against government by injunction, and since the election we have had lessons which we did not have before. Thomas Jefferson believed in trial by jury, and government by injunction is merely a disguised method by which a man charged with crime shall be denied the right of trial by jury. (Loud cheers and applause.) That plank is stronger than it was before.

The Income Tax.

The Chicago platform declared in favor of the income tax, and an income tax is stronger now than it was before. When I discuss the income tax decision I always resort to quotation, because I have a reputation for conservatism which I must protect. (Laughter.) When I want to be severe I quote and when I want to criticise the Supreme Court I quote from a member of the court, and I am so cautious that I even prefer to quote from a Republican member who cannot possibly be an anarchist, because he is a Republican. Justice Brown in his dissenting opinion used these words: "I fear that in some hours of national peril this decision will rise up to paralyze the arm of the government." We saw in 1896, but many people were so blind that they could not see, the danger, but the hour of peril came. The war came on. We needed more money. We could not tax incomes, because the decision rose up to paralyze the arm of the government. We had to resort to stamp taxes. We had to hunt up any old thing to put a stamp on. One of the things stamped is a telegram. Whenever you want to send a telegram you go to the telegraph office and you find that the Republican party has so made the law that the telegraph company can transfer the burdens from its shoulders to yours.

The Republican party in all of its policies is putting the dollar above the man, and in that is departing from the doctrine of Lincoln, its founder, for, in 1859, he said the Republican party believes in both the man and the dollar, but in cases of conflict the man before the dollar.

The Republican party is putting the dollar above the man in all its legislation, and nowhere is it more apparent than in matters of taxation. The Republican party is not trying to restore justice in taxation. The war has shown that when this government deals with an individual its power is unlimited, but when it deals with property its power is limited. It can draft the citizen, but it cannot touch the dollar. The hour of peril then at once can take the son from his mother and the husband from his wife, and stand them up in front of an enemy's gun, but it dare not lay its finger upon the wealth of the rich and make them contribute their share. The income tax is stronger than it was and it is placed upon the shoulders of the poor, who have to carry the burden, but in the Democratic party you can say there is one man who is willing to pay his share.

My friends, why should not people be willing to bear their share of the burdens of government? If in time of war your country needs you, you are willing to give your life's blood, why deny the nation its just due in time of peace?

It has been the history of the world that those who can make much have been unwilling to bear their share of the burdens of government and have sought to use the instruments of government for private gain, to take from those who can make less than they can.

The Democratic party is a protector of the rich and the poor, and that party which makes the rich bear their share of the burden is a better friend of the rich man than the party that takes his money and sells exemption.

The Dead Issue.

There is another plank in this platform which I desire to make mention of. The Republican party and the gold Democrats have been burying the money question so often that I almost feel I ought to apologize for speaking of the dead before so large an audience. The Democratic platform denounced the gold standard, called it un-American and anti-American and pledged the party to destroy it at once and substitute in its place independent bimetallism at the ratio of 16 to 1. If the gold standard was un-American in 1896 it is un-American now. If it was anti-American two years ago, it is anti-American now, and if the gold standard was bad in 1896, you were convinced that it was bad in 1897, because Mr. McKinley sent three distinguished commissioners to Europe to get rid of the gold standard.

And why did they not succeed. It was because they asked of the financiers of the Old World a favor that they ought to have known the financiers would not grant. Why did we oppose the gold standard? Because it has raised the purchasing power of the dollar and lowered the price of the products of labor. When our commissioners went abroad they went to supplicate from persons who had profited, and how absurd to expect them to join in doing away with a thing out of which they had made money! Then, my friends, I want to suggest to you that the Republican promise of international bimetallism, coupled with the pledge that the gold standard would be maintained until other nations came to our relief, was the most absurd plank that any party ever put into a platform. Think of it. Let me make a speech such as a man would have to make to carry out that program. If the Republican party had delegated its representatives to present this subject to the financiers of Europe along the line of that senseless platform, the spokesman of the commission would have had to make a speech about like this:

"Gentlemen, we have had the gold standard for twenty-three years, and do not like it. The American people have tried it and suffered from it, and they have sent us over here to ask you to help us to get rid of it; they recognize that you have made money, while they have lost, and, therefore, we ask you to join us in restoring the status by which we won't lose so much, and by which you won't make so much." (Laughter and loud applause.)

But then candor would have compelled the spokesman to have added another sentence. He would have said, "But while we suffered a good deal, we can suffer more if necessary. While we have had a hard time, we have not reached the limit of endurance; and if you people would rather go on plundering us indefinitely we will stand by you while the world lasts."

That is the Republican platform. That is what it says—that while still trying to get along on national bimetallism, yet if we get leading commercial nations of Europe to join with us we will maintain this thing which they want.

The Democratic Plan.

My friends, our plan was different. We would not have sent a man over to beg, because we read in history when we were children that more than 100 years ago our people by their blood bought the right of the people to legislate for themselves. According to our plan, when we send a man over it will not be to ask a man to help us, but to announce to them what we are going to do. (Laughter and applause.) It will be to say to them that 70,000,000 people have as much right to protect their property from depreciation as a handful of foreign financiers have to legislate values into their hands. And our American ambassador would have said to them: "The people of the United States have decided to restore independent bimetallism at the ratio of 16 to 1. We believe we can maintain the parity, but you have a good many investments over there, and if you have any doubt about our doing it you had better join us, because if anybody suffers it will be you—not us." (Long laughter and applause.)

Now, my friends, an argument like that would have some effect; yes, and, as an argument that it would have effect, I recall to your minds an item that crossed the ocean while our commission was over there. It ran like this: "That, while there was a good deal of sentiment over there, yet the financial interests were solidly opposed to making any concession to bimetallism, and that there was only one argument we had that had any weight with them, and that was, if they did not do something to help restore international bimetallism, free silver would win in the United States, and restore bimetallism by independent action, and that British investments would suffer." And it was said in this dispatch that that argument was being made by one of the commissioners. I could not but applaud the common sense of the commissioner who abandoned the Republican platform, and got on to a common sense platform, and appealed to them by an argument they would understand.

English Bankers' Influence.

But, my friends, why haven't we international bimetallism? Is it because there is no sentiment in Europe? On the contrary, there is sentiment there, and the sentiment is so strong that the French government joined with us in sending an ambassador to England. And in England the sentiment was so strong that a petition was sent to the English government, signed by the leading labor organizations of England, asking for international bimetallism—so strong that a report was presented while our commission was there, a report signed by ten out of fourteen members of a commission appointed to investigate the condition of agriculture, and the ten out of the fourteen declared that the gold standard was destructive to English agriculture, and pointed to bimetallism as the only relief for the English farmer. (Applause.) But why, my friends, did the English government refuse to listen to the laborers and the farmers? Because on the 22d day of September, 1897, the bankers of London met at the clearing house, behind closed doors, and, pledged to secrecy, declared that the gold standard was all right. The English bankers, so few in number that they can meet in the clearing house, determine the policy of England and England determined the policy of Europe, and Europe will determine the policy of the United States as long as the Republican party is in power.

I have been asked why I am not willing to drop the money question. I replied: "Because the money question won't drop us." I know not what others may desire or what they may be willing to do, but I am not willing that our declaration against the gold standard shall be dropped as long as a handful of English financiers can determine the financial policy of 70,000,000 American people. And some say that if we will not drop the money question we ought to drop the ratio of 16 to 1. When you find a man opposed to 16 to 1, inquire and you will find that he was never in favor of it, and then inquire again and you will find that there is no other ratio that he is in favor of. We denounced international bimetallism as a delusion and a snare in 1896. It has been proved to be so since 1896. We declared for the ratio of 16 to 1 in 1896, and no party has risen to advocate any other ratio but 16 to 1.

Until some other party proposes some other ratio and tries to secure bimetallism at some other ratio, there is no reason why we should discuss ratio with them. The ratio of 16 to 1 was decided upon, not at the Chicago convention, but at the primaries which elected delegates to attend the Chicago convention. The ratio of 16 to 1 had been submitted to the people, and those who wanted it in 1896 are in favor of it now. And they know why they are in favor of it. The ratio of 16 to 1 is the ratio at which our gold and silver coins now circulate. We simply ask reinstatement of the law that was on the statute books—where it was before the act of demonetization was secretly passed. We simply want to renew by law what was done by law. They struck silver down by law. We raise it up by law; they close the mints by law; we open them by law. (Applause.) They gave gold a monopoly in mint privileges by law; we expect to give a competitor by law, the old competitor we had.

My friends, you will hear people say that they don't object to silver if we will only open the mints at the bullion ratio or the commercial ratio. It is only when a gold man commences to talk money that he forgets all that he knows of other subjects. When people ask us to drop our fight on the money question, and fight the trusts, I remember that the Republican party is to-day preparing to organize a trust more potent for evil than all the industrial trusts combined. There is a bill now before Congress, reported by the Republican committee, that turns over to the national banks the absolute control of the paper money of this country. It provides for the retirement of the greenbacks by an issue of bonds drawing 2½ per cent.; it provides that banks shall be permitted to issue up to the par value of the bonds, and that the 1 per cent. tax on circulation shall be reduced to a small fraction of 1 per cent. Here is your evidence of good Republican policy. They want to issue bonds in place of greenbacks, and tax the people to pay the interest on the bonds, and then they reduce the tax that the banks now pay on the circulation that they have. Why pile up the taxes on the people, and lower the taxes on the banks? What does it mean? Why, if that law goes into effect, and 2½ per cent. bonds are at par, then a national bank with a capital of $100,000 can invest it in bonds, deposit the bonds with the treasury, and draw upon the bonds $100,000 in bank notes; so that the amount the bank gets back is just equal to the amount the bank paid for the bonds. So that it has not a single dollar invested, and yet it goes on drawing 2½ per cent. interest a year on nothing. It is a small proposition in mathematics, and yet the banks will tell you they want this done for the public good.

Imperialism.

There is another object that is not included in the Chicago platform, and is yet included in the principle it sets forth. The President in his message of 1898 asked for a standing army of 100,000 men. We have had no national convention since that time. But Democrats do not have to have a national convention to learn that the Democratic party is opposed to militarism in the United States. Seventy thousand more soldiers needed than in 1856. Why? For international protection? Why? What has happened since 1896? Except the Republican administration? Does a Republican administration make more soldiers necessary? When prosperity comes and confidence is restored, is it necessary to have soldiers to point it out with bayonets? But they tell us that we need them for outside service. Where? In Cuba? Oh, no, not permanently, because the President has promised the Cubans that our occupation is only temporary, therefore, he would not need soldiers permanently in Cuba. Nor are they needed in Porto Rico. My own opinion has been that the people of Porto Rico should be permitted to choose for themselves between annexation and a republic of their own. But so far they have expressed no desire for a republic and seem to desire annexation. So that there does not seem to be any necessity for a large army there.

Where do we need a large increase in the army? In the Philippines? Why, my friends, the President in his Boston speech said that the question was to be settled by the American people, and until the American people settled it how do you know it will need 70,000 soldiers there permanently? But if we do, according to their argument, need 70,000 soldiers there permanently, then I ask you, my friends, what is the expense going to be. It is estimated that it costs $1,000 a soldier to keep the army in the United States and $1,500 a soldier to keep the army outside the United States. Seventy thousand soldiers would mean over a hundred millions a year. Who pays the money? The Filipinos? Why, my friends, if we make the Filipinos pay the expense of our army, we will have to tax them several times as much as Spain overtaxed them.

Called His Country a Bully.

Mr. Bryan's reference to the United States as a bully for striking down the Filipino natives created the greatest enthusiasm of the night. There was a demonstration when he said that it was this country that had inspired the Filipino with love of liberty. The American government of the Filipinos is a despotism, he declared, and this was applauded. It was not surprising, he said, that a country that should send to England for a financial policy, as it had two years ago, should now send there for a colonial policy. This was received with wild applause. When he intimated that he wanted to stop he was told to go on. And many requested him to talk more on imperialism.

When he said, "We may fail in 1900," there were tumultuous cries, "No, never."

When he concluded another hurricane of applause broke forth. Men and women acted wildly. Men again threw up their hands and women waved their cloaks and handkerchiefs and shouted and jumped up and down. Bryan spoke one hour and nine minutes. When he finished there was a great rush to him on the platform. He was almost suffocated in the crush. It required five policemen to force a way through the crowd for him. He shook hands on all sides. He had a few minutes' reception in the inside room, where he shook hands with a number of persons and then with great difficulty he went downstairs. There was a very large crowd here, and Col. Bryan had to make a short speech to the gathering. He was enthusiastically cheered as he got into a carriage, which started for the Hotel Bartholdi. Of the dinner Mr. Bryan said:

"This is the greatest dinner I ever attended. I think it is the greatest ever held in the United States. The hearts of the people are all right."

ON THE POLITICAL PICKET LINE.

A number of our contemporaries, Republicans and representative of the driftwood cast ashore by the 10-cent gold party, organized by the promoters of Clevelandism, have a new bone of hope to gnaw on. They say that the election of Carter Harrison is not only a rebuke of Mr. Bryan and the Democratic party, but is to be marked down on the lists of Mr. Croker's victories. This sort of thing shows that the political sharpshooters on the Republican line have run short of ammunition and are now engaged in firing blank cartridges. It is a profitless pastime that is always indulged in the year before the big guns are unlimbered. Carter Harrison is supposed to be a Democrat, and his re-election has the significance of a Democratic victory, but it is not a partisan victory by any means. Mr. Harrison was elected by a combination of those voters, Republican and Democratic, who relish the manly stand he has taken in opposition to the franchise steal contemplated by the Yerkes gang. His party politics had little to do with his election, though it is to be supposed that if he had not been a Democrat and an honest man to boot he would have surrendered long ago to the power and influence of the combination which owns the street car lines in Chicago. Mr. Harrison's election was just as much a victory for Croker as Wat Hardin's victory in Kentucky is a defeat of Bryan.—Exchange.

Lesson in Recent Elections.

The Western elections the past week ought to open the eyes of the trust promoters and the magnates of industrial combinations to the real facts of the situation. What gave Carter Harrison his great majority in Chicago? What elected Mayor Jones, of Toledo, running as an indepedent against regular nomination denied him through the influence of corporate combinations? What enabled the Pingree faction to carry Detroit? What to-day is agitating the great State of New York and overshadowing all other legislation at Albany? The demand of the people that all corporations enjoying public franchise shall pay a tax on such privileges.—Boston Post.

General Miles Well Fortified.

Had not General Miles been thoroughly fortified in respect to his charges there is little doubt that the court of inquiry would have been thrown against him. But by overwhelming evidence he sustained every one of his accusations, and the court and the country, McKinley, Eagan, Alger and all the rest, have been forced to look the truth squarely in the face. The formal verdict of the court of inquiry will now carry little interest for the public. The facts have all been shown. General Miles has hundreds of witnesses in reserve which the court may summon or not. Eagan and Alger are discredited.—Boston Post.

Tanner's Chicken Home Again.

The Republicans of Chicago blame Tanner for defeat, and they are unquestionably right. If Governor Tanner had not signed the Allen bill the Republican ticket would have got many more votes than it did. It would look almost like a dispensation of Providence if that measure should finally be the cause of the downfall of the man who signed it.—Peoria Herald.

Alger's Mysterious Pull.

Alger has a powerful hold of some sort on the President. This accounts for his defiance of public sentiment and the boldness of his course that is little short of impudence. He has declared that he will never resign, that he is well pleased with his job and proposes to hold to it, and has practically defied the President himself. His conduct is little short of a challenge to McKinley to remove him if he dare.—Louisville Dispatch.

Hatching Candidates in Ohio.

The Ohio gubernatorial incubator is kept at the proper temperature and hardly a day passes but a new batch of chicks is turned out.—Washington Post.

HERE'S A GOOD HOME.

IS CONVENIENT, COMFORTABLE AND NEAT IN APPEARANCE.

Low-Cost House, with the Equipments of a Mansion—A Dwelling with an Interior Arrangement that Would Be Hard to Improve Upon.

Modern civilization has not only developed a taste for appearance of a dwelling house, but has created a desire for all the modern improvements. No matter how low the cost of a house may be, people expect all the equipments of a mansion. The lady of the house generally cares much more for the interior arrangement for convenience than for the exterior appearance, except that she wishes it to look pleasing and comfortably home-like. Of course there are a few who "live for show," and these only are the ones who do not care about the arrangement, "just so it looks nice and attractive."

In the design herewith given the interior arrangement has been the first consideration, the exterior receiving just enough attention to prevent its looking too plain, and make it neat and pleasing in appearance. We have that very desirable feature, a front stair hall, from which one can go into the parlor or dining-room. These rooms are ample in size and pleasantly located, with large bays from both. The wide sliding doors between enable them to be thrown together on occasion of home entertainment.

MODERN LOW-PRICED HOUSE.

The dining-room also has outside entrances from front and rear side porches. From the dining-room opens the kitchen with passage through the pantry between. The pantry is fully equipped in modern style, with sink, drain board, shelves, bins and pastry table. There is also a large china closet beside pantry, which opens from both kitchen and dining-room. On the dining-room side this china closet is finished very much resembling a sideboard in style, and provided with a case of drawers from floor to thirty inches above floor. From off the dining-room opens the family bed-room, to the rear of and connected with which is the bath-room. The bath-room is fitted with tub, wash bowl and water closet, and has also a door leading to kitchen.

Going upstairs from the front, one lands in a small hall, with large linen closet, and from which are accessible three large bed-rooms, with ample closets. The front hall is finished in red oak, and the staircase, of very attractive design, is built of same material. The remainder of the first story, except kitchen, is finished in selected white pine, and the kitchen in Southern yellow pine. All the first floor is finished natural color in hard oil. Second floor is trimmed in painted pine. A cellar seven feet deep is provided under rear portion of house.

Of the exterior little need be said. The timbers are of good sound pine, upon a foundation of good rubble stone. Sills 6x8 are used with walls above of 2x4, plastered three coats inside and covered outside with shiplap sheathing overlaid with building paper and half-inch siding. The gables and roofs are covered with good pine shingles. The first story is eleven feet and the second story nine feet in height, with quite a large attic. The house is heated by furnace, and will cost to build complete about $2,800—E. A. Payne.

How to Make a Telephone.

Procure a couple of empty cocoa tins, knock out the bottom of each, and you will then, of course, have left two tin tubes. Next glue a piece of cartridge paper over the mouth of one side of each of your tubes, taking care to stretch the paper tightly over the opening. Make a small hole in the center of each piece of paper, take a piece of string of whatever length you care to have it, and then pass one end through each hole, afterwards making a couple of knots at each end of the string so as to prevent the latter from coming out of the holes.

This done, your telephone is complete and quite ready for use. The persons who are to converse with one another each take hold of a tube and stretch the string quite taut. The one who intends speaking first merely puts the tube to his mouth and speaks into it, while the other person places the opposite tube to his ear. A conversation can be carried on in this manner in a whisper even at a distance of a hundred feet.

UNCLE SAM'S FIRST MINT.

Historic Building in Philadelphia Nearly Destroyed by Fire.

A recent fire in Philadelphia nearly destroyed the first mint used by the Government of the United States. By hard work the historic building, situated at 37 and 39 North Seventh street, was saved, to remain a splendid object lesson of the growth of the republic.

It seems almost incredible that so short a time ago this plain old structure represented the entire personal holdings and real estate of our national government.

The history of the first mint of the United States began with the passage by Congress of an act looking to the formation of such a necessary institution. The initial step to put this act in operation was naturally the appointment of the officers of the institution who should have charge of the establishment. For director of the mint Washington selected David Rittenhouse, the astronomer, who received his appointment and accepted the position on July 1, 1792.

Henry Voight, a watchmaker, was appointed chief coiner, and Tristram Dalton was made treasurer. In the succeeding year Albion Cox was appointed chief assayer, and Robert Scott engraver. July 31, 1792, the corner stone of the new mint was laid by Washington, a distinguished gathering of the leading men of the day being present. The foundation stone in place, work was commenced on the building at once. So rapidly for that period was the work pushed that the foundation was ready for the superstructure on Aug. 25. The framework was raised on the afternoon of that day. A few days later, on Sept. 10, six pounds of old copper were bought for the mint by Rittenhouse, at the rate of 1 shilling 3 pence per pound, this metal being the first ever purchased for the coinage of the United States. Three coinage presses imported from England arrived on Sept. 25, and were put in operation about Oct. 1.

FIRST UNITED STATES MINT.

In his message to Congress Nov. 6, 1792, President Washington made the gratifying statement that a small coinage of half dimes had been completed, the "want of small coins in circulation calling the first attention to them." Before the end of the first year after the opening of the mint not only half dimes but also dimes and coppers in a sufficient quantity to meet the pressing needs of the country had been coined.

In 1794 the first silver dollars and half dollars were coined, and in the next year the first gold eagles and half eagles were produced. Up to the year 1816 the work of coining at the mint was done by hand or horse power, but in the later years steam was introduced for operating the presses. For forty years the old building on Seventh street was used for the purpose of the mint, the marvelous growth of the couptry then rendering better quarters necessary.

Flash Measured.

By means of a photograph, made with a vibrating lens, scientists have calculated the time of a lightning flash. It comes out one-nineteenth of a second. The calculation is based upon the multiple image in the photographs and the rate of vibration of the lens. The time applies, of course, only to the particular flash that was photographed.

When a woman reaches the age when no hats are very becoming, she begins to find fault with the new styles. A girl of sixteen thinks every new fashion is pretty.

DESPERATE CLIMB.

Incident of a Bushwacking Expedition with the Cheyennes.

The author of "Crooked Trails" says that a squad of twenty men, while bushwhacking one January, with a band of Northern Cheyennes, the Spartans of the plains, was called upon to assist in capturing a "bunch of Indians corraled out in the hills." They at once joined the troops which had been engaged in watching the Indians, who, they were told, had last been seen on the very top of what looked to be impassable bluffs, twenty feet high. On close examination a cutting was found in the face of the rock, a rude attempt at steps, doubtless made by the savages in the past.

The soldiers lay tightly ensconced in the snow. For aught they knew, a hundred rifles might be covering them from above.

The officer in charge concluded not to order his men forward, but himself stepped boldly up to the cliff and began to meditate. The sergeant followed him, and then an old Swedish soldier, Otto Bordeson.

"I want volunteers to climb this rock," finally demanded the officer.

The sergeant looked up the steps, and said:

"Only one man can go up at a time. If there are Indians up there an old squaw can kill this command with a hatchet. If there are no Indians, we can all go."

The impatient officer started; the sergeant seized him by the belt, but he only turned his head to say, "If I haven't men to go, I will climb myself."

"Stop, lieutenant," said the other. "It wouldn't look right for the officer to go. There's a pine tree up there. Its branches spread over the top of the rock. If you will make the men cover the top of the rim-rock with their rifles, Bordeson and I will go up. Will you go, Otto?" he asked, turning to the Swede.

"I will go anywhere with the sergeant," was the gallant reply.

"Take your choice of the steps or this pine tree."

After a short calculation, the Swede declared in favor of the tree, although either way meant death if the Indians were on the rocks. Then the two men began the ascent, pausing only, from time to time, to rest a moment, look at each other and smile. They were playing with death.

At last the sergeant drew himself up over the edge of the cliff, and looked about him. There was nothing to be seen but snow and broken rock. Otto likewise lifted himself, and he, too, saw nothing. Now the soldiers came briskly forward, dragging up the cliff in single file.

The enemy had disappeared. Yet this was the trail which led to him, and later that day the fight came on, and victory was with the white men.

A Strong Man's Secret.

The strongest man on earth says the secret of his wonderful power is perfect digestion. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters makes digestion easy, and cures all complaints arising from a weak stomach, such as indigestion, biliousness, liver and kidney ailments. As a tonic it is marvelous. Everybody needs it at this time of the year.

Had to Stop.

"Timmins, you don't seem to be making as much love to the landlady as you did."

"Had to ease up a little. She thought she had me so sure that she could put off the scraps and meat ends on me, as if I were already married to her."—Indianapolis Journal.

Danger in Delay.

She—Your proposal surprises me and pleases me at the same time, but you must give me a couple of days to think it over!

He—That's a long time! In two days I might think it over and change my mind!—Das Kleine Witzblatt.

There are fortunes to be made in the by-paths of industry. Some industrious statistician has calculated that in the United States 100,000 cords of maple are used annually in the manufacture of shoe-pegs and 390,000 cubic feet of pine in making matches.

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

Nothing is so haughty and assuming as ignorance, where self-conceit sets up to be infallible.—South.

"Courage and Strength in Times of Danger."

Read the warning between the lines. What is that warning? It is of the danger from accumulation of badness in the blood, caused by the usual heavy living of the Winter months. Spring is the clearing, cleansing time of the year; the forerunner of the brightness and beauty of glorious Summer.

Follow the principle that Nature lays down. Start in at once and purify your blood with that great specific, Hood's Sarsaparilla. It never disappoints.

Tumors—"A tumor as big as a large marble came under my tongue and instead of letting my physician operate on it, I used my favorite spring tonic, Hood's Sarsaparilla. The bunch soon disappeared." MRS. H. M. CONDRY, 879 Merr'k St., Lowell, Mass.

Rheumatism—"I had rheumatism for five years and can conscientiously say that Hood's Sarsaparilla has given me entire relief. As a blood purifier it has helped my children wonderfully." MRS. S. A. SAGAR, 83 Franklin Avenue, Passaic, N. J.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Never Disappoints

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, the non-irritating and the only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

PENSIONS Get Your Pension DOUBLE QUICK! Write Capt. O'FARRELL, Pension Agent, Washington, D.C.

Established 1845. SORE EYES Dr. ISAAC THOMPSON'S EYE WATER

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

Half Sick Half Well

Many persons have their good day and their bad day. Others are about half sick all the time. They have headache, backache, and are restless and nervous. Food does not taste good, and the digestion is poor; the skin is dry and sallow and disfigured with pimples or eruptions; sleep brings no rest and work is a burden.

What is the cause of all this? Impure blood.
And the remedy?

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

It clears out the channels through which poisons are carried from the body. When all impurities are removed from the blood nature takes right hold and completes the cure.

If there is constipation, take Ayer's Pills. They awaken the drowsy action of the liver; they cure biliousness.

Write to our Doctor.

We have the exclusive services of some of the most eminent physicians in the United States. Write freely all the particulars in your case. You will receive a prompt reply, without cost.
Address, DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

Whiskers Dyed
A Natural Black by
Buckingham's Dye.

Price 50 cents of all druggists or R. P. Hall & Co., Nashua, N. H.

SYRUP OF FIGS

NEVER IMITATED NEVER EQUALLED

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

Is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.
LOUISVILLE, Ky. NEW YORK, N. Y.

LADIES The Periodical Monthly Regulator never fails; write for free sample. NEW YORK CHEMICAL CO., Box 70, Milwaukee, Wis.

BILLIONS OF BOLUSES.

J. Bull, Esq., and Uncle Sam Lead in Swallowing Pills.

It has been lately discovered that Uncle Sam has an unrecorded feather in his cap. He not only consumes more whisky, beer, etc., than any nation in the world, but, as a direct cause or consequence, he annually swallows more pills. England is a close second, but then the second man, like a Vice President, has always sunk into the bottom of oblivion. There is no need to put off rejoicing. We lead mankind in patent medicines.

The introduction of machinery has in pill-making, as in all other trades, greatly simplified and increased the business. Where formerly chemists and apprentices were engaged there are now machines to mix, coat, box and count the goods. The output in Great Britain, in consequence of the extreme ease in which both the medicine and the money may be made, has yearly increased until it is now estimated that 250 hundred weight, or about 40,000,000 pills, are consumed each week. In the United States the figures run over 50,000,000. This means that five humans out of six take a pill every seven days.

The uses to which this mass of medicine is put are of course manifold. The majority are for so-called incurable diseases, while, of course, a great portion are panaceas. The advertising from the business is enormous, $50,000 per week in England and $75,000 in America being a modest estimate. The profits are said to be monstrous, as the ingredients in the most cases cost little or nothing. America is a great, although unconscious, believer in faith cure. Her generally extraordinary health has been by some attributed to the fact that the majority of her people, before calling a physician, will dose themselves with these ready-made pills.

The Englishman's Experience.

He was an American citizen, and a bit vainglorious, and he was talking to an Englishman, who had a wit of his own, despite reports to the contrary. The recent achievements of Uncle Sam in various localities constituted the subject of conversation, and the Yankee fairly bulged out with pride.

"I am a free American, I am," he said, slapping his manly bosom, though there was no especial occasion for such a demonstration.

"I fancy not," responded the Englishman in a tone that sounded as if he knew what he was talking about.

The Yankee resented it with promptness and dispatch.

"I'd like to know, sir, why I am not?" he exclaimed, with the color of wrath rising to his face.

"You are married, aren't you?"

"Yes."

"And to an American?"

"Yes."

"Well, that settles it in my mind. I've got an American woman for a wife myself."

The Yankee smiled, stuck out his hand and said he thought it was about time for them to organize an Anglo-American alliance not entirely for commercial purposes.—Washington Star.

Largest Workshop in America.

Lasting success does not come in a moment, and true success is never the result of "luck." It takes time and real merit, with plenty of experience and honest effort, to reach the top in anything. The history of the Deering Harvester Co. of Chicago is an example of success on a large scale. With more employes than any other single manufacturing plant of any kind in America, it is now running day and night to fill orders. Since 1891, when Deering machines were put on the market with "bicycle bearings," the growth of the business has been marvelous. The day is not far distant when other manufacturers will be forced to build lighter-draft machines or go out of business.

Speed of Wave and Wind.

Waves travel faster than the wind which causes them, and in the Bay of Biscay frequently during the autumn and winter in calm weather a heavy sea gets up and rolls in on the coast twenty-four hours before the gale which causes it arrives, and of which it is the prelude.

$15.00 Per Week.

We will pay a salary of $15 per week and expenses for man with Rig to introduce Perfection Poultry Mixture and Insect Destroyer in the country. Address with Stamp, Perfection Mfg. Co., Parsons, Kansas.

The Corliss engine brought honors and decorations to its inventor, and enabled him to amass a great fortune in a few years.

900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed
Alx Senna
Rochelle Salts
Anis Seed
Peppermint
Bi Carbonate Soda
Worm Seed
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 DOSES—35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

JOLLY JOKER.

She—You say you met your friend accidentally? He—Yes; I fell in with him while skating.—Yonkers Statesman.

The maid—I'll be a sister to you. The man—Not much! I've just got enough collar buttons for myself.—New York Evening Journal.

"You married me for my money." "What of it? You married me for my beauty." "Well, both securities have depreciated."—Life.

The sister—I have become engaged to Fred. The brother—Whatever induced you to do that? The sister—Why, Fred, of course!—Judge.

Miss Fondart—Jack, what do they mean when they speak of a first-water diamond? Jack—One that's never been soaked.—Jeweler's Weekly.

Visiting Englishman—How do you account for this policy of expansion? Mr. Starzenstripes—Well, you see, we got hot. Heat always expands.—Life.

She—In this story it refers to empty bottles as "dead men." That's absurd. He—Where's the absurdity? She—Well, dead men tell no tales; empty bottles do.—Moonshine.

"It's depressing, isn't it, to find feathers sticking to your Thanksgiving turkey?" "Well, it certainly does make one feel down in the mouth."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

"Who is the smartest boy in your class, Bobby?" asked his uncle. "I'd like to tell you," answered Bobby, modestly, "only papa says I must not boast."—Harper's Bazar.

Graduate—Now that I have my medical diploma, professor, where would you advise me to practice for wealth? Professor—In any first-class health resort.—Detroit Free Press.

Tall one (angrily)—Don't dare to contradict me again, sir; don't you know that I could eat you if I chose? Short one—Ah! but I should disagree with you even more, then.—Ally Sloper.

Senator Depew—At this point, Mr. President, I am reminded of an anecdote—— Several other Senators—Mr. President, I move he have leave to print the anecdote.—Chicago Tribune.

Mrs. Jimlet—Harold writes from college that he's larnin' to fence. Farmer Jimlet—Good enough! I'll let him string more'n half a mile o' barb-wire fence as soon as he gits hum.—Judge.

Lady—I wish to get a birthday present for my husband. Shop-walker—How long have you been married, madame? Lady—Ten years. Shop-walker—Bargain counter to the right, madame.—Boston Traveler.

Captain (to young cadet just arrived on board)—Well, youngster, the old story, I suppose—the fool of the family sent to sea. Young cadet—Oh, no, sir. That's all been altered since your day.—Melbourne Times.

"Bridget, what is that child crying so wildly for?" "Sure, mum, he's just drinked all his soothin' syrup and ate the cork, and I don't know now what ails him, unless it's the bottle he wants to swallow!"—Tit-Bits.

"I," said the orator, "am an American of the good old stock, rooted deep in the soil——" "The only stock I ever heard of that rooted deep in the soil," said the farmer in the audience, "was hogs."—Indianapolis Journal.

Blobbs—What nonsense it is for newspapers, in their accounts of weddings, to describe the brides being led to the altar! Slobbs—How so? Blobbs—Why, most of the girls could find their way in the dark.—Tit-Bits.

Jones—Dear me! You say you often lay down the law to your wife; how do you go about it? Bones—Why, all you need is firmness. I usually go into my study, lock the door, and do it over the transom; all you need is firmness—in the door!—Puck.

"What did Colonel Stilwell say about the brandied peaches we sent to cheer his convalescence?" "He said he was afraid he wasn't strong enough to eat the fruit," replied the little girl, "but that he appreciated the spirit in which it was sent."—Exchange.

Farmer Oatley (reading from newspaper to his wife)—"It is estimated that the recent dinner given by Mrs. Bunderblank was served at a cost of at least ten dollars a plate." What must the victuals have cost? Mrs. Oatley—Land's sake, Joshua! And such folks always has a different plate for everything they eat.—Harlem Life.

Boatswain (to newly joined cadet)—Come, my little man, you mustn't cry on board of one of her majesty's ships of war. Did your mother cry when you left? Cadet—Yes, sir. Boatswain—Silly old woman! And did your sister cry? Cadet—Yes, sir. Boatswain—Stupid little thing! And did your father cry? Cadet—No, sir. Boatswain—'Ard 'earted old beggar!—Punch.

Counsel—What is your age, madam? Witness—Forty-seven, sir. Counsel—Married or single? Witness—Single. I never had an offer of marriage in my life, and if it is of any interest to the court I don't mind saying that I have worn false hair for nearly thirty years. Counsel—Hem! That is all, madam. There is no use in trying to shake the direct testimony of so truthful a woman as you are.—Exchange.

The other day the police made a raid on a betting club, and after taking the names of the men they found there told them to appear at the court the next morning, which they did. To one of the delinquents the magistrate said: "What are you by trade?" "A locksmith, sir." "Well, what are you doing when the police made the raid?" "Well, sir, I was just making a bolt for the door."—Family Doctor.

At the Browning Club.

Member—Browning, you know, is like Wagner——

Friend—I see. At first you don't understand him, but after a while you think you do.—Puck.

When newly married people read the advertisements in the street cars and in the programs at the theater, instead of talking, it is one sign their dream has ended.

Nearly every man says his wife dresses "too young."

THE WHOLE SYSTEM

May Become Invaded by Catarrh—General Lewis' Case.

HON. JAMES LEWIS, SURVEYOR GENERAL OF LOUISIANA.

Pe-ru-na Drug Mfg. Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen—I have used Pe-ru-na for a short time and can cheerfully recommend it as being all you represent, and wish every man who is suffering with catarrh could know of its great value. Should I at any future time have occasion to recommend a treatment of your kind, rest assured that yours will be the one. Gratefully yours,

JAMES LEWIS.

Wherever the catarrh is there is sure to be a waste of mucus. The mucus is as precious as blood. It is blood, in fact. It is blood plasma—blood with the corpuscles removed. To stop this waste, you must stop this catarrh. A course of treatment with Pe-ru-na never fails to do this.

Send for free catarrh book. Address The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Force Expended on the Piano.

Few persons rightly estimate the amount of force expended upon the piano by a player in making a note sound. If the pianist is playing fortissimo, at times the force of six pounds is thrown upon a single key to produce a solitary effect.

With chords the force is generally spread over the various notes sounded simultaneously, though a greater output of force is undoubtedly expended. This is what gives pianists the wonderful strength in their fingers that is often commented on. A story used to be told of Paderewski that he could crack a pane of French plate glass, half an inch thick, merely by placing one hand upon it as if upon a piano keyboard and striking it sharply with his middle finger. One of Chopin's compositions has a passage which takes two minutes and five seconds to play. The total pressure brought to bear on this, it is estimated, is equal to three full tons. The average "tonnage" of an hour's playing of Chopin's music varies from twelve to eighty-four tons.

Shake Into Your Shoes

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting, nervous feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight-fitting or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous and hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores. By mail for 25c. in stamps. Trial package FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Private Postoffice.

The German Emperor has a little postoffice of his own, with officials detailed especially to handle the voluminous mail matter that comes every day addressed to him. All letters are classified under the three heads—"private," "official" and "immediate." Private letters are handed over to the Emperor unopened, those marked "official" land in the civic cabinet of the Kaiser if they contain petitions by civilians, while those of a military character go to the military cabinet. Chiefs of these two departments make all the necessary inquiries regarding the communication, and then prepare the answers in accordance with the regulations for official letters. These answers are taken to the Emperor, who expresses his approval by affixing his signature. Answers are then dispatched by special messengers to their destination. The messengers used in this service are the most trustworthy men who can be found.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c. and 25c. per package. Sold by all grocers.

One of the largest and most cumbersome forms of money is found in Central Africa, where the natives use a cruciform ingot of copper ore ten inches long. It is heavy enough to be a formidable weapon.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. The genuine has L. B. Q. on each tablet.

The Proud Father.

"My boy says his ambition is to grow up to be a man just like his father."

"I wouldn't let that worry me. When I was your boy's age I had a burning desire to be a pirate."—Indianapolis Journal.

I believe Piso's Cure is the only medicine that will cure consumption.—Anna M. Ross, Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 12, '95.

Extent of Canada.

Canada needs only 237,000 square miles to be as large as the whole continent of Europe; it is nearly thirty times as large as Great Britain and Ireland, and is 500,000 square miles larger than the United States.

He Knew by Experience.

"You should try and be a little more gentle, Reginald," said the mother of an obstreperous 6-year-old. "The Bible tells us that the meek shall inherit the earth, you know."

"And what good would the earth do me, even if I did inherit it?" snorted the injured spirit, wrathfully. "You'd either make me put it in the bank, or send it to the heathen, or divvy it up with sister Sue, or lay it away and only use it on Sundays."—Puck.

The Opening of the Ute Indian Reservation.

By proclamation of the President, the Ute Indian lands, comprising over 600,000 acres of arable lands on the line of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, in southern Colorado, will be thrown open for occupation by settlers at noon of May 4, 1899. For pamphlet giving full information in regard to the lands, etc., etc., address S. K. Hooper, Gen'l Pass. Agent, D. & R. G. R. R., Denver, Colo.

Her Logic.

Bickers—Women are such illogical creatures!

Morgan—Granted; but what's the trouble this time?

Bickers—My wife threatens to sue a young widow down our way for alienating my affections, and she has always declared I never had an affection for her.—Boston Transcript.

$100 Reward. $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Rough on Auntie.

Tommy—That church is over two hundred years old.

Cissy—My auntie says it's only one hundred.

Tommy—Oh, well, I suppose that's as far back as she can remember.—Stray Stories.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

The more a man loves, the more he suffers. The sum of possible grief for each soul is in proportion to its perfection.—Amiel's Journal.

Coughs Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

The Corliss engine brought honors and decorations to its inventor, and enabled him to amass a great fortune in a few years.

W. R. Milburn, John Holmes, M. R. Dagger, E. L. Stetson, of Buena Vista County, Iowa, report as follows of the Canadian Northwest as to its suitability for farming, and the advantages it offers to the agricultural immigrant from the United States: "We came here solely to look up improved farms and, if suitable, to select such as pleased us best. We have not visited the homestead districts at all, though we believe them to be very inviting. Our inquiries have been confined solely to the district around Hartney, Deloraine and towards the Souris river in Manitoba. Our impressions of all that region are in every way satisfactory, and we have decided to go back to Iowa at once, and, having disposed of our several interests there, to return to Manitoba in the month of March next, and, effecting our purchase of improved farms, which we find we can do at reasonable rates, immediately begin farming. We are greatly pleased with all that we have seen in that part of Western Canada. The soil we find to be more than equal to that of our own country for wheat growing, and the other conditions of climate, schools, markets, etc., are all that we could wish for.

"To show what an energetic man can do we may mention that we found one such at Hartney who had rented a farm on shares, receiving two-thirds of the returns as his share of the crop. When he came to sell his own produce he found that his two-thirds, when converted into cash, was enough to buy the farm he rented out and out, which he accordingly did, and is now its owner. It is our intention to induce as many of our friends as possible, who are practical farmers, to remove from Iowa to this country, where we believe there is a better future for the industrious man than is now to be found anywhere on this continent. We are well known in our part of the State of Iowa, and we invite correspondence from its residents in all parts with regard to this region of Western Canada which we have visited, and to which we intend to return."

The London of the future will, if Frederick Harrison's vision is realized, have no coal, no steam engines, no horses, and all heavy traffic will be sent along deep underground electric railways.

Salzer's Seed Corn.

Does your seed corn test, Bro. Farmer? Salzer's does—it's northern grown, early and good for 80 to 150 bu. per acre! Send this notice and 16c for 8 corn samples and low prices to Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis. (c.n.)

If some men didn't boast of their abilities others would never know they possessed them.

Eagle Linen Letter Paper and Envelopes are the proper thing. Tell your printer to use this brand on your next order.

Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

WANTED.—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cents to Ripans Chemical Co., New York, for 10 samples and 1,000 testimonials.

PAINFUL PERIODS NO MORE

MRS. GEORGE OSMUN, of Belvidere, Warren Co., N. J., writes: "Suffering as I had from weakness, irregularities and backache for several years, a release from this suffering was a blessing. Oh! how I wish more suffering women would accept your kind offer and be relieved. There is no need for women to suffer. Mrs. Pinkham's advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will relieve them."

MRS. IDA PETERS, Milan, Tenn., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—When I wrote to you the first time asking your advice I was a great sufferer. Menstruations were irregular, sometimes a week too soon and then a week or two late, and when they appeared were very profuse; great pain and tenderness in the bowels, pain in back and limbs, leucorrhœa all the time. I was weak and nervous and had no appetite. Burning and choking sensation in my throat. I received your reply and followed all your instructions and now I am cured. I owe my recovery all to Mrs. Pinkham's advice and her wonderful remedies."

ELLA E. BRENNER, East Rochester, Ohio, writes: "I have been thankful a thousand times since I wrote to you for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. I followed your advice carefully and now I feel like a different person. My troubles were backache, headache, nervous tired feeling, painful menstruation and leucorrhœa. I took four bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one box of Pills, one package of Sanative Wash and am now well."

MRS. MAGGIE P. STINE, New Berlin, Pa., writes: "I have suffered with terrible backache in the small of my back for about seven years, and could never get anything to help me. I tried several physicians, but found no help. I have now taken three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and feel like a different woman."

MRS. H. A., 124 S. Cedar Street, Owosso, Mich., writes: "Nearly three years ago I wrote to you asking advice in regard to my health. I was so miserable; suffered from painful menstruation and backache, was nervous, dizzy and faint. I received such a kind letter from you, telling me just what to do. I followed your advice and I now am recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I thank God for this pain destroyer."

Hundreds of thousands of farmers—United States farmers, European farmers, South American farmers, Australian farmers—men who farm for profit—representing the intelligence of the agricultural industry, are walking advertisements for Deering grain and grass harvesting machinery.

Deering machines are profit producers. The harvest season is brief. Very often the weather conditions are such that unless a crop can be saved just "in the nick of time" a goodly percentage of it is spoiled, damaged, lost.

It is just here that Deering machines go in and win the day. Imminent disaster is changed to victory—seeming loss to actual profit.

Deering machines are the dependable kind. They stand the test of dire emergency. That's why the farmers of the world like them, buy them, use them, praise them.

Deering Ideal Binders, Reapers, Mowers, Corn Binders, Hay Rakes and Binder Twine are winners for '99.

DEERING HARVESTER COMPANY, Chicago.

YOU WILL REALIZE THAT "THEY LIVE WELL WHO LIVE CLEANLY," IF YOU USE

SAPOLIO

DO YOU COUGH
DON'T DELAY
TAKE KEMP'S
BALSAM
THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

THE Automatic Sad Iron Rest.

Press the Button!

And the Iron Rests

The Automatic Sad Iron Rest. Every housekeeper using cold handle flat irons is delighted with this new invention. A portable rest, easily attached to any detachable flat iron handle. Always with the work. You have but to press the button and the iron is instantly firmly rested where most convenient; no danger of scorching or slipping off; keeps face of irons clean; keeps time from scorches, and irons retain the heat longer. Simple, cheap, durable; nickel-plated. Sent postpaid on receipt of 25 cts. Stamps taken. F. H. CHASE Co., Manufacturers, 53 South Jefferson St., Chicago, Ill.

Agents and dealers will find this a desirable article to handle. Write for terms.

FREE HOMES

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

In the Great Grain and Grazing Belts of Western Canada and information as to how to secure them can be had on application to the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, Canada, or to C. J. Broughton, 1228 Monadnock Bldg., Chicago, Ill.; M. V. McInnes, No. 1 Merrill Block, Detroit, Mich.; D. Caven, Bad Axe, Mich.; James Grieve, Reed City, Mich., Agents for Gov'm't of Canada. Mention Everett & Kantz, Fort Wayne, Ind.

We don't admire a
Chinaman's Writing.
He doesn't use Carter's Ink. But then Carter's Ink is made to use with a pen, not a stick.
Funny booklet "How to Make Ink Pictures" free.
CARTER'S INK CO., Boston, Mass.

WABASH

HOME SEEKERS' EXCURSIONS
To Western Points,
MAY 2nd AND 16th, 1899.

On the above dates the WABASH will sell from its principal stations East of Chicago and Toledo, Ill., LOW RATE HOME SEEKERS' EXCURSION Tickets to points West, South, and Southwest, granting a liberal return limit. A postal card addressed to any Wabash Ticket Agent, or to either of the following Passenger Representatives will bring you prompt and explicit information regarding rates, routes, time of trains, through car service, condition of tickets, etc., etc.

REMEMBER

The WABASH is the only line east of Chicago and St. Louis giving its patrons seats, without extra charge, in ELEGANT RECLINING CHAIR CARS running through to St. Louis and Kansas City without change.

This is your chance to go West cheap. Communicate with us,

P. E. DOMBAUGH, P. & T. A., Toledo, Ohio.
R. G. THOMPSON, P. & T. A., Fort Wayne, Ind.
A. F. WOLFSCHLAPKER, P. & T. A., Detroit, Mich.
THO'S FOLLEN, P. & T. A., Lafayette, Ind.
GEO. D. MAXFIELD, D. P. A., Indianapolis, Ind.
C. S. CRANE, G. P. & T. A., St. Louis, Mo.

Sour Stomach

"After I was induced to try CASCARETS, I will never be without them in the house. My liver was in a very bad shape, and my head ached and I had stomach trouble. Now, since taking Cascarets, I feel fine. My wife has also used them with beneficial results for sour stomach."
JOS. KREHLING, 1921 Congress St., St. Louis, Mo.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant, Palatable, Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c. 25c. 50c.
... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...
Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 318

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in civil war 15 adjudicating claims, atty since

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

ALABASTINE

Alabastine, the only durable wall coating, takes the place of scaling kalsomines, wall paper and paint for walls. It can be used on plaster, brick, wood or canvas.

Alabastine can be used over paint or paper; paint or paper can be used over Alabastine. Buy only in five pound packages, properly labeled; take no substitute.

Every church and schoolhouse should be coated only with Alabastine. Hundreds of tons used yearly for this work. Genuine Alabastine does not rub and scale off.

Alabastine packages have full directions. Anyone can brush it on. Ask paint dealer for tint card. "Alabastine Era" free. Alabastine Co., Grand Rapids, Mich.

GRANDMA

HAD

CONSUMPTION

and I am afraid I have inherited it. I do not feel well; I have a cough; my lungs are sore; am losing flesh. What shall I do?

Your doctor says take care of yourself and take plain cod-liver oil, but you can't take it. Only the strong, healthy person can take it, and they can't take it long. It is so rich it upsets the stomach. But you can take

SCOTT'S EMULSION

It is very palatable and easily digested. If you will take plenty of fresh air, and exercise, and SCOTT'S EMULSION steadily, there is very little doubt about your recovery.

There are hypophosphites in it; they give strength and tone up the nervous system while the cod-liver oil feeds and nourishes.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

WABASH

GOING EAST.

No. 2	6:25 am—Daily
No. 10	1:15 pm—ex Su
No. 4	4:59 pm—Daily
No. 70 (local freight)	4:20 pm—ex Su

GOING WEST.

No. 1	10:21 am—Daily
No. 9 Except Sunday	6:07 pm—ex Su
No. 3	7:48 pm—Daily
No. 71, (local freight)	11:00 am—ex Su

All these trains stop for passengers.
For rates, tickets, time tables, etc. apply to
I. M. ZENT, Agent, Auburn, Ind
Chas. M. Hays, V. Pres. and Gen't Manager.
G. S. Crane, Gen'l Pass'r and Ticket Agent

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—in Effect Nov. 13, 1898.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations	Mail	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne	11 45 am	4 50 pm	5 55 am
New Era	12 12 pm	5 17	6 40
Auburn Junction	12 25	5 28	7 10
Auburn	12 29	5 32	7 35
Waterloo	12 41	5 43	8 15
Summit	12 52	5 53	8 35
Steubenville	12 56	5 58
Pleasant Lake	1 03	6 03	8 56
Angola	1 13	6 14	9 35
Jackson	3 25	8 35	2 40

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations	Fre'gt	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson dp	5 55 am	11 30 am	7 15 am
Angola	11 00	2 19 pm	9 44
Pleasant Lake	11 35	2 29	9 55
Steubenville	.....	2 36	10 01
Summit	11 50	2 39	10 05
Waterloo	12 41 pm	2 55	10 23
Auburn	1 20	3 05	10 33
Auburn Junction	1 35	3 09	10 35
New Era	1 54	3 18	10 45
Fort Wayne	2 50	3 50	11 15

For rates on tickets or freight to all points call on or address E. T. DELAPP, Agent Auburn.

B. & O. R. R.

Schedule In Effect Nov. 22 '98
Leaves Auburn Junction.

WEST BOUND.

No. 3 Express, to Garrett only	5:52 p m
No. 15 Daily	2:35 a m
No. 5 Daily	5:30 a m
No. 7 Daily	4:18 p m
No. 17 Daily Except Suday	12:25 a m
No. 47	1:55 a m

EAST BOUND.

No. 4 Express	4:30 a m
No. 6 Daily	6:05 p m
No. 8 Daily	2:40 p m
No 41 Daily	11:27 p m
No 16, Daily, except Sunday	11:08 a m
No. 46	11:56 p m

F. D. UNDERWOOD,
D. B. MARTIN, General Manager,
Manager of Passenger Traffic.
G. H. YOUNG, Auburn Junction, Ind
THOS. H. SPROTT CHAS. H. KNAPP

SUPERSTITIONS.

Based Upon Occurrences Which Have Concrete Force Behind Them.

There should be little superstition left in these digging, delving, scholarly and scientific days, and yet it is just as rampant if not more so than ever. There is an old expression about "somebody walking on my grave" that is used as much to-day as 100 years ago. It is a peculiar, shivering sensation caused by the body being struck with an electric current. The air and the body are full of electric currents. Some organisms are more highly strung than others, and are more susceptible to these impressions. There is another little thing that happens to many. It is a twitching of a muscle in the shoulder or upper back that feels as though the body had been lightly tapped by the hand of another. Many believe that ghosts tap them at such time and that the tap is a warning from a dead friend. This, of course, is untrue. In fact, it is only one phase of sciatic rheumatism that later on may develop and demonstrate that the "ghost" had little to do with its manipulations.

Moderating a Nuisance.

In Carlsruhe, the capital of Baden, a law is in force fining any person who plays the piano with open windows.

Preserves

—fruits, jellies, pickles or catsup are more easily, more quickly, more healthfully sealed with Refined Paraffine Wax than by any other method. Dozens of other uses will be found for

Refined Paraffine Wax

in every household. It is clean, tasteless and odorless—air, water and acid proof. Get a pound cake of it with a list of its many uses from your druggist or grocer. Sold everywhere. Made by STANDARD OIL CO.

MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS

They overcome Weakness, Irregularity and omissions, Increase vigor and banish "pains of menstruation." They are "Life Savers" to girls at womanhood, aiding development of organs and body. No known remedy for women equals them. Cannot do harm—life becomes a pleasure. $1 per box by mail. Sold by druggists. MOTT CHEMICAL CO., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

To the Taxpayers of DeKalb County.

Pursuant to an enactment passed by the General Assembly at the sixty-first regular session, I hereby submit a list of the allowances made by the DeKalb Circuit Court, March Term, 1899:

GRAND JURY FEES.

Henry W. Magginnis	$ 11 40
B. F. Cornelius	11 80
Elijah Saylor	11 00
Samuel Rickle	10 50
Josephus Shilling	11 00
Darius Haag	10 50

PETIT JURY FEES.

Chas W. Graham	2 45
A. Lewis	12 10
Emilius Case	13 10
Samuel Gibson	12 10
Frank W. Olinger	12 85
A. E. Chapman	13 20
George Maxwell	6 10
Morton Wilson	16 90
William H. Thomas	4 10
Joel Treesh	4 70
A. J. Ralston	4 10
James W. Cool	4 60
Frank Briton	4 70
Perry Carnahan	4 70
R. C. Baxter	10 30
L. E. Gregg	10 30
Jerome Showalter	20 30
George Maxwell	7 10
William Ensley	21 70
Henry L. Houser	22 70
Thomas Hall	22 10
D. B. Shoemaker	21 20
James N. McBride	21 50

GRAND JURY BAILIFF.

George W. Maxwell	8 60

RIDING BAILIFF.

Wm. Little	10 00
Benj. F. Hull, (Whitley Co.)	2 50
I. S. Kutzner	17 50
A. E. Melching, (State vs. Fish)	2 50

COURTROOM BAILIFF.

Milo D. Husselman	49 50

MEALS FOR PETIT JURY,

S. Hollister	11 05

DEFENDING CRIMINALS.

F. L. Weisheimer	15 00

COURT REPORTER.

John A. Liggett	15 00
Will H. Willennar	125 00
Will H. Willennar	7 50

(Allowed by D. R. Best, special judge in civil case.)

POSTAGE, INT. REVENUE AND MOVING OFFICE.

M. F. Long	$10 60

COURT ALLOWANCE.

M. F. Long	113 90

PRINTING STATIONARY.

Geo. W. Gordon	11 75

LAW BOOK AND INDEX.

Ballard Publishing Co	6 50

JOHN H. KUNDRED INSANITY CASE.

M. F. Long, clerk's fees	5 00
P. D. Graham, J. P. fees	2 00
William Masters, do	4 00
O. F. Rudolph, M.D., witness fees	6 00
A. F. Phillips, do	3 00

Respectfully submitted,
FRANK P. SEILER, Auditor.
Auburn, Ind., April 20, 1899.

What a Mother Says

Decatur, Ill., March 2. 1897.

Gentlemen:—For Constipation I would cheerfully recommend your Syrup Pepsin. My little girl, aged 8 months, had been troubled since birth with Constipation and reading of your remedy I concluded to try it, and I recommend it highly to mothers for inmediate relief. Only two ten cent bottles cured my baby. MRS. C. FLOURY.

Notice to Taxpayers

I will keep the treasurer's office open each day from 7:30 a. m. to 9 p. m., till May 1, in order to accommodate all who are too busy to call in the middle of the day.

F. M. HINES,
Treasurer DeKalb County.

Saw Nothing Funny in Matrimony.

"My dear," said Mrs. Henpeck, "I'm positive that our George is thinking seriously of matrimony." "Well, I only hope so," returned Henpeck, with unusual spirit. "I wouldn't want any boy of mine to be to unfortunate as to regard it as a joke."

A HUSBAND SAYS:

"Before my wife began using Mother's Friend she could hardly get around. I do not think she could get along without it now. She has used it for two months and it is a great help to her. She does her housework without trouble."

Mother's Friend

is an external liniment for expectant mothers to use. It gives them strength to attend to their household duties almost to the hour of confinement. It is the one and only preparation that overcomes morning sickness and nervousness. It is the only remedy that relaxes and relieves the strain. It is the only remedy that makes labor short and delivery easy. It is the only remedy that puts the breasts in condition so that swelling or rising is impossible. Don't take medicines internally. They endanger the lives of both mother and child.

Mother's Friend is sold by druggists for $1. Send for our free illustrated book.

The Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.

SORE LUNGS

Sore lungs, pain in the chest and painful breathing are quickly relieved and cured by the old reliable specific, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. This remarkable remedy breaks up a cold in one night and is, without doubt, the very best medicine for all affections of the throat and lungs. It has cured thousands and will cure you. It never disappoints. Try it at once.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup

Will quickly heal Sore Lungs.
Doses are small and pleasant to take. Doctors recommend it. Price 25 cts. At all druggists.

Thursday's Daily.

—John Lochner will begin to move his house tomorrow.

—Ask any druggist for a free Peruna Almanac for the year 1899.

—A. C. Guilford has moved to town and will make this place his home.

—B. B. McEnterfer, of Smithfield, was here today, being one of the viewers on a ditch.

—Frank Campbell, now at Springer, N. M. is able to be at work. He is doing carpenter work and thinks it agrees with him.

—Martin J. Peters is an enterprising young farmer who starts his first newspaper, the COURIER of course, by paying it in 1900.

—Ex-Commissoner John Hoffelder was a caller today on his friend in the COURIER sanctum and voluntarily enlisted in the 1900 class

—Martin Kline who has bought out the Kruger establishment is moving to town and will probably take possession of the business next week.

—Our old veteran friend, David Andress from "East of the River" was a caller yesterday. He and a neighbor, Mr. Headly were here on business.

—Mrs. Garwood went to Columbia City today where she plays the new pipe organ at its dedication in the Lutheran church there this evening.

—In Paris telephone users have been hearing the music of operas over the wires for some time. Milwaukee and Chicago have recently followed this example.

There are now over 4,000 miles of independent toll lines in the state. There are in Indiana farm-houses alone over 5,000 telephones and the number is growing.

—Muncie will have a Carnival from June 5 to 10, under the management of the "Elks" of that city. It promises to be a grand affair.

—C. S. Medbury, late Chaplain of the 157th Ind. Vols., will lecture at Waterloo in the M. E. church. Wednesday evening, April 26, 1899.

--A citizen of Bluffton saw an advertisement for four chairs for $1. He jumped at the snap, and a few days later received through the mail, four tin chairs, two and one-half inches high.

—J. Sheer, Sedalia, Mo., conductor on electtic street car line, writes that his little daughter was very low with the croup, and her life saved after physicians had failed, only by using One Minute Cough Cure. Fischler & Son and H. B. McCord.

—William Baker, 89, Brookville, who was born in a hollow tree, is dead. His parents came to Franklin county, and finding no available house, moved into the trunk of a tree. They afterward built an addition to it and lived there three years.

—Saxby McIntosh was over from Waterloo this afternoon. He is still connected with the Dawn, and is doing the work while Mrs. Gerner assists on the editorial. Mr. Gerner is now at Alexandria, this state, working in the interest of the "Pathfinder" an insurance organization.

—The Rebekahs initiated three new members last evening. They are Miss Maud Trover, Mrs. James B. Baxter and Miss Florence Beaman. There was also present a representalive of the Angola Lodge, who gave them a nice informal talk. A new departure, as well as a pleasant one, was the treat to peanuts. by Miss Lydia Hallam and Mrs. Ernest Fischler.

—The Board of Safety, at its meeting yesterday, ratified a contract with the New Telephone Company for furnishing a telephone system for the city departments, with long distance attachment on copper metallic circuits for one year from July 1. A comparison of the new contract and the last one made with the Central Union Company shows that the new contract saves the city $1,558 besides giving it seven new phones free of expense.—Indianapolis Journal (April 2.)

Lingering La Grippe Cough Cured.

MR. G. VACHER, 157 Osgood St., Chicago. My wife had a severe case of La grippe three years ago and left her with a very bad cough. She tried a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it gave immediate relief. A 50-cent bottle cured her cough entirely. Now we are never without a bottle of this wonderful Cough Medicine in the house. 25 and 50 cents.

A Frightful Blunder

Will often cause a horrible Burn, Scald, Cut or Bruise. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, will kill the pain and promptly heal it. Cures Old Sores, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Felons, Corns, all Skin Eruptions. Best Pile Cure on earth. Only 25 cts. a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by H. B. McCord, the Druggist.

Friday's Daily.

—Mrs. John Lochner has had a two weeks pull of the grip. but is able to be about now.

—Isaac Speer and wife were over here today from Waterloo on some business matters.

—The buds on the maple trees begin to show plainly, the earlier ones giving signs of leaf.

—W. H. Bickel of Fairfield made a cash item on our subscription book today and has thanks.

—Mrs. Wes Bachtel of near Waterloo was here yesterday, that being the birthday of her father, L. S. Stoner.

—WANTED:—Thirty cords of hard wood, 18 inches, split fine and delivered in August. Call on Charles Eckhart.

—J. C. Beidler of Waterloo was over here today advertising the M. I. S. T. remedies for which he is agent for the county.

—It looks like summer to see the hot and thirsty people swarm into McCords and take their seats in front of the soda fountain.

—John Lochner has had the water mains tapped for his use, and will use it in his new houses as soon as they are occupied.

—A 2-year-old child at Logansport was found sleeping behind a door, after half the town had been called out to assist in the search.

—Little son of S. D. Oldendorf, Lebanon, while playing with fire, threw a can of blazing oil on James Smith's son, and he was fatally burned.

—A number of country editors are busily engaged in killing off the wheat crop, preparatory to introducing the cut worm and Hessian fly.

—D. S. Ober has settled his matter with Mr Broderick, and takes the property that was to be sold at sheriff sale, Ober agreeing to pay all costs.

—Johnson county, which was recently joined to Briwn in the new judical circuit, will ignore that county in the selection of a candidate for judge.

—Mrs. A. O. Espy has moved in W. E. Rush's residence on North Main. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Espy is expected back from New Orleans in a few days.

—Mrs. Ludwig died this forenoon about 11 o'clock and will be buried Sunday at 1 p. m. Funeral at the German Reformed church. Her age was about 73.

—The Rathbone Sisters will give a parlor entertainment at the residence of Geo. L. Lanning, Tuesday evening, April 25, for benefit of Orphan's Home at Indianapolis.

—Among the Americans supposed to be captured or killed by the Phillipinos the other day, is Lyman P. Edwards whose home was at Mexico near Peru, Ind., where his father still lives.

—The bridge over Fish Creek has been let. The successful bidder was the Wabash Bridge Co., by its representative, Mr. Case. It is to be of iron, with stone foundations, the price being $1,138.

—M. E. Olds of St. Joe was here today on business connected with the county Sunday School convention, which is to meet there. His mother came up with him as did also her sister, Mrs. John Bishop of Plainwell, Mich.

—Just for a change we are glad to hear from our old friend I. T. Cox, of Smithfield, on the wheat question. He says that in his vicinity, the north part they have considerable good wheat, in fact it looks first rate. We are glad to hear the good fortune of the farmers in that way.

—A telegram received at noon brought the sad intelligence that a sister-in-law of the editor, Mrs. Celestine Barns, died at her home in the north part of Laporte county. The funeral is Sunday, and we will be absent till Monday afternoon for the purpose of attending it.

—L. S. Stoner was seventy years old yesterday and his children made him a gift of a nice rocker Although Mr. Stoner is not in robust health, few men can say as he can, that he has never had serious sickness, and of the "catching" complaints, such as measles, whooping caugh, etc., he has had but one, the mumps.

—John Lochner is moving his residence to the back end of the lot, and will then put up two dwellings on the front end. He realizes that lots are too high in Auburn, to be used to raise garden truck. Hence, he will have three good dwellings on his lot which is a large one, and as it is a corner for two streets the arrangement is easily made.

—Wm. Masters, now a justice of the peace in Fairfield township was here yesterday to take part in a commission of lunacy in the case of Henry Kunderd a well known farmer of that township. Mr. Kunderd has been for some time off in his mind, and believed everything on the farm was going to wreck. He became so bad, that he will be sent to the asylum for treatment. It is hoped that he may soon be restored to health.

—A farmer stepped into a printing office and said to the editor, "I'd like to take your paper, but I'm too poor." "Go home," said the editor, "and pick out a hen, call her mine, sell or save the eggs from her for me and if she wants to set, let her, and next fall bring me all the produce from that hen. I'll send the paper." When fall came he found he was paying the price of two papers. After that he was never too poor to take a paper. Besides when he wanted to borrow his neighbor's paper, he was always reading it, so he had to wait until the news was old or take it second-handed. There is nothing like taking one of your own and getting the news from the first hands. Try it.

Saturday's Daily.

—Miss Nina Reader, of Angola, is visiting friends in the city for a few days.

—Miss Estella Hague has been selected to assist Prof. Belts of the Butler High School for the next term.

—August R. Schnitker was yesterday appointed commissioner of Allen county to succeed Mr. Baker who died a few days since.

—The school book contract made by the state is for five years. This gives Mr. Eaton all the writing books for the state for that time.

—One of the Bherns boys indulged in an exciting runaway last evening which resulted in no serious damage to the horse, vehicle or driver.

—J. L. Marvin has gone to Hudson where he is working Metropolition Life Insurance. Lafe is a hustler and we hope to hear of him succeeding,

—O. H. Downey has again fallen into possession of the Butler Herald, Verribly it must not be a gold mint else fewer changes would take place.

—The editor of the Dispatch has figured out that Michigan City smokers burn up 5,475,000 cigars a year, which, if "five-centers," would amount to $242,225.

—The town of Angola has been made defendants in a suit brought by John Metzgor. The latter claims the town has damaged his farm by emptying the sewer thereon.

—Next week, on Friday evening of the Normal Institute, there will be held a "Medal Contest." Two of the contestants are from Waterloo, two from Garrett, one from St. Joe, and two from Auburn.

—One of our most recent new names on the Weekly list is Christopher Walz of Garrett. He took occasion also, to mention his gratitude to Dr. Swarts, who he said, had saved his life when he had his feet frozen some time ago.

—Angola Magnet:—W. W. Hutch of Goshen, and M. E. Griswold, of Auburn, officials of the electric railway to be built eastward from Goshen via LaGrange, Orland and Angola, were here Wednesday night and a part of yesterday.

—The skill and ingenuity of Rus Guilford may be seen at the town council room, where he has fitted up a little water motor not bigger than your hat, but it furnishes about an eight horse power. It is a daisy and runs like a little fairy.

—The (telephone) equipment in Indianapolis is entirely new and is just being completed and will give the best service ever given in that city. Indianapolis will be the central office of the state, and connections will be given there to any city in the state over copper wires.—Lafayette Journal.

—At Middleburry the Republicans have failed to file their certificate of nomination, and now the town election which promised to be a three cornered fight, has turned out to be a lop-sided affair. The secretaries of the republican and prohibition caucuses failed to file their nominations with the town clerk within the time prescribed by law and so the democrats will be the whole thing.

—A contract has been let for eight miles of crushed stone road commencing at a point 3 miles south of Hicksville and extending south through Antwerp, O. The total cost of this road, is $24,834.06. The stone will be shipped from Findlay, and unloaded at Antwerp. Already the business men of Hicksville are worrying, as they fear the new road will induce people to drive to Antwerp to do their trading.

—Frank Shull, who runs a restaurant at Hamilton was the victim of a mob Sunday night. Frank has many friends here who will be sorry to learn of this. The Hustler says:

A mob of about 20 young bloods of our town, and some from the country, invaded Shull's restaurant, and after stealing pies and other articles from the room, and scaring the poor man nearly to death, they went outside and proceeded to bombard the building with brick bats, smashing the siding ane battering holes clear through it in places.

—The 157th Regt. Ind. Vols. will hold its first reunion in South Bend, May 10, that being the first anniversary of the Regiment's departure from Indianapolis. As we are informed, Col. Studebaker will be presented with an elegant loving cup; Lieut. Col. May with a highly ornamental sword, and Chaplain Medbury with a sturdy chair of unique design and finish, on that occasion. The reunion will be a gala day for Sonth Bend, and no doubt the people of that city will "do themselves proud" in their entertainment of the 157th boys.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters;' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50cts., guaranteed, at H B. McCord's Drugstore.

Kidney Diseases

are the most fatal to all diseases. Foley's Kidney Cure a guaranteed remedy or money refunded.

The Nichols-Shepard TRACTION ENGINE

Nothing that helps to make a perfect road and thresher engine has been left out or slighted in the construction of the Nichols-Shepard Traction Engine. Everything has been done that science, skill and experience could suggest to add to its effectiveness, power, durability and safety from explosion and fire. The boiler is of the very best selected steel, thoroughly well made and provided with every approved safety appliance. The fire-box is surrounded by water—top, bottom and sides. The draft-damper is so made that sparks and ashes can't drop out, and the smoke-stack is fitted with patent bonnet and spark-arrester. Every part is strong, durable and is thoroughly tested.

Detailed descriptions and many illustrations of the Nichols-Shepard Traction Engine and of the Nichols-Shepard Separator and other threshing machinery are contained in large catalog—mailed free.

NICHOLS & SHEPARD CO., Battle Creek, Mich.
Branch House at INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA,
with full stock of machines and extras.

YOU CAN USE IT 20 DAYS FREE

Up-to-date in every detail.

Ask us to ship you one of our High Arm Sewing Machines with Ball Bearings and all Modern Improvements. This we will do by express to any station within 500 miles of Chicago. Upon arrival deposit our price, $19.50, and express charges, with the express agent of your town, then

TAKE THE MACHINE HOME AND TRY IT FOR 20 DAYS

If you are perfectly satisfied with the machine, keep it, otherwise return it to the express agent, and he will give you all your money back. If you prefer, we will ship by freight and draw on you through your nearest bank, draft attached to Bill of Lading. When machine comes pay draft, and take machine from station. If you don't like it, return it by freight, and we will refund. We guarantee the machine for ten years. Remember you take no risk. It don't cost you one cent unless you take the machine. We have sold over 100,000, and they are all giving perfect satisfaction. ITS SPECIAL FEATURES are Ball Bearing, Light Running, Durable, Easily Operated, Noiseless, Double Positive Feed, Self Threading Shuttle, Self-Setting Needle, Tension Liberator, Automatic Spooler, High Arm, Nickle-plated throughout parts, Steel machinery, Improved steel Attachments, Superior Finish, Highly Polished Bent Woodwork, Oak or Walnut.

Send 15 cents for our 1000-page catalogue. It lists everything used by mankind.

Originators of The Catalogue Business. MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., Michigan Ave., & Madison St., Chicago.

Tiko THE WONDERFUL REMEDY FOR Rheumatism

It is not a CURE-ALL, but it is a Specific for RHEUMATISM.

One hundred and forty-four bottles Cured 100 cases of RHEUMATISM.

TIKO is a medicine taken INTERNALLY, the only method by which RHEUMATISM can be successfully treated. It cures the CAUSE, and therein lies its remarkable success. Its price is $1.00 per bottle, or three bottles for $2.50, and if your Druggist has not got it, it will be sent to you, by Express, ALL CHARGES PAID, on receipt of price.

Address, PURINTON MEDICINE COMPANY, Detroit, Mich.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Notice is hereby given that the Auditor of DeKalb County, Indiana, and the Auditor of Steuben County Indiana, will on

Saturday, April 29, 1899

At 2 p. m.,

in the office of Auditor in the court house in the town of Auburn, receive sealed proposals for the construction of the Adam Deetz joint ditch, No. 685, located in Fairfield Township, DeKalb county, Indiana, and Salem Township, Steuben county, Indiana, and described as follows to-wit:

FIRST SECTION.

Commencing eighty-six (86) rods north of the east quarter corner of section number five [5] Fairfield Township, DeKalb county, Indiana, and from thence in an easterly direction ending at stake 27 plus 50 feet containing 2750 feet.

SECOND SECTION

Commencing at stake 27 plus 50 feet of said ditch, ending at stake No, 55 containing 2750 feet.

THIRD SECTION

Commencing at stake No. 55 of said ditch end at stake No. 82 plus 50, containing 2750 feet.

FOURTH SECTION

Commencing at stake No. 82 plus 50 feet of said ditch ending at stake No. 110, said ending point being in Turkey Creek lateral at a point nine hundred seventy-five [975] feet north and seven-hundred seventy [770] feet east of the center of section thirty-three [33], Township thirty-six [36] [Salem Tp] North Range Twelve (12) east, Steuben county, Indiana.

Said work will be sold in four (4) sections as described above, and to the lowest responsible bidder,

But no bid will be entertained which exceeds the estimated cost of construction as set forth in the report of the viewers.

All contractors will be required to keep their sections well staked and numbered contractors to whom work is sold will be required to enter into contract and execute a bond in compliance with the provisions of law. (Acts 1893 Page 329.)

Specifications of said work can be seen at the County Auditor's office, Auburn.

The Auditor reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

FRANK P. SEILER,
Auditor DeKalb Co. Ind.
Auburn, Ind., April 10, '99.

JAMES B. WATKINS
Auditor Steuben Co., Ind.
Angola, Ind. April 10, '99.

What a Druggist Says

SEWARDSON, Ill., Aug. 5, 1897.

Gents:—Will say that I have used your Syrup Pepsin in my family and consider it the best medicine for stomach and bowel troubles that I have ever used. The ten cent bottle idea of advertising, as it gives one a trial with a small outlay of money, is sure to bring good results. Respectfully,
T. N. ROBINSON, DRUGGIST.

For Sale.

—FOR SALE:—Three horses, well bred and perfectly sound. For information, call on or address,

A. D. MOORE,
Moores, DeKalb Co, Ind.

HIGH-GRADE HAWTHORNE $22.50 NET.

SPECIFICATIONS. Name—Hawthorne. Cranks—¾ inch (diamond shape). Chain—3-16 inch best hardened centers and rivets (Indianapolis B best quality), straw center and blued sides. Pedals—Regular 3-inch, option 22 or 26 inches. Finish—Dark myrtle green, neatly hand striped. Gear—Regular 73, option 78; 19 tooth rear and 26 front sprockets are used on 28 gear, 19 and 26 on 78. Handle Bars—Adjustable. Pedals—Bridgeport, rat trap. Saddle—Gilliam, padded top. Spokes—Tangent, Excelsior Needle Co's best No. 2, 28 front, 36 rear. Tires—1¾-inch Morgan & Wright double tube. Tool Bag—Containing wrench, oiler, repair outfit and spanner. Tread—¾-inch. Tubing—Shelby cold drawn seamless. Wheel Base—43½ inches. Wheels—28 inches. Weight—(About) 32 pounds.

15000 Sold in 1898

It's as good as any wheel made. All modern improvements. Guaranteed for one year. If not found as represented, return at our expense both ways, and you can have your money back on demand.

ASK US TO SEND YOU OUR FREE BICYCLE CATALOG

Send 15 cents for our 1,000 page catalogue. It lists everything used by mankind.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., CHICAGO.

WE GIVE ANY LADY

or man, who will take orders for our Leghorn Hen Food, in their own town,

A SOLID GOLD WATCH, FREE

We make this offer for a short time, in order to get our Food into more general use. It increases yield of eggs, and keeps fowl in good health. Send us 50c. for a regular $1.00 size box, and begin to take orders at once.

Pamphlet, with more information about hens, sent on receipt of self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address

Leghorn Food Co. (311-M) Boston, Mass.

FARMERS' WIVES

or any other ladies who wish to work

Can Earn Lots of Money

working for us in spare time at home on our cloths. We offer you a good chance to make plenty of spending money easily, leisure hours. Send 12c. for cloth and full directions for work, and commence at once. Cloth sent anywhere. Addres

WINOOSKET CO. (311-M) Boston Mass
Mfg. Dept.

Glad Tidings to Asthma Sufferers

Foley's Honey and Tar gives quick and positive relief. It is the greatest remedy for diseases of the respiratory organs like Asthma, Bronchitis and Hoarseness.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXIX | Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, May 4, 1899. | Number 18.

BANK First National
Auburn, Ind.
Capital Stock and Surplus
$60,000
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money to Loan.
CHARLES McCLELLAN, President.
D. A. GARWOOD, Cashier.

Physicians T.G.Matheny,M.D J.B.Casebeer, M.D
Matheny & Casebeer
have again associated them selves in the practice of Medicine, Surgery & Obstetrics. Office On 9th St.
Western 'Phone:
Office..... No. 9
Matheny,s residence..... " 88
Casebeer's " ..... " 175

DENTIST S. B. JOHNSTON,
Office Over Pioneer Hardware Store,
Auburn, Indiana.
First-class material and scientific workmanship employed. Prices reasonable.
Western 'Phone:
Residence..... No. 27

BANK Farmers,
Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres J. C. Henry, V-Pres.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

Physicians D. J. Swarts, M. D Vesta W. Swarts, M D
and SURGEONS
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets,
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western..... No. 19 Central Union..... No. 19

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN,
Auburn, Ind.
Office in Gandy Building. Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Sprcialty

F. V. HOFFMAN,
LAWYER,
Auburn. Indiana
OFFICE over Hebel's Grocery.

Dr. Z. H. Stamets,
Physician & Surgeon
Office on Main St., opposite Swineford Hotel.
Western 'Phone 104
Special attention given to techinal examinations and treatment of chronic and obscure cases, also special attention given to surgery and diseases of women. Calls answered at all hours. Office apart from residence.

I. O. BUCHTEL, HOMEOPATHIC
Physician and Surgeon.
Special attention given to hronic and Obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Madden Bros Marble Works. Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, day or night.

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Deeds & Titles,
AUBURN, IND.
☞Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

Mott's Nerverine Pills

BEFORE AND AFTER USING.
The great remedy for nervous prostration and all nervous diseases of the generative organs of either sex, such as Nervous Prostration, Failing or lost Manhood, Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Youthful Errors, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco or Opium, which lead to Consumption and Insanity. $1.00 per box by mail; 6 boxes for $5.00.
MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Prop's, Cleveland, Ohio.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Notice to Horse Breeders

I will stand my thoroughbred, heavy Draft Norman Stallion at Moores on Mondays. Tuesdays and Wednesdays; Butler on Thursdays; Waterloo on Fridays and Saturdays. Weight, 1800 pounds. Terms reasonable; and no charges for dead colts.

A. D. MOORE, proprietor.

SHOOTING AFFRAY

ANGOLA PARTIES IN A SENSATIONAL AND POSSIBLY FATAL ROW.

Harvey Barnes Shot Five Times by His Stepson, Herbert Bellinger.

SPECIAL TO THE COURIER.

ANGOLA' IND, April 28.—A bad shooting scrape occured in this place last night about nineo'clock. Herbet Bellinger, one of our news agents shot his stepfather, Harvey Barnes, five times with a revolver. Bellinger's mother had been divorced from Barnes, and she was at Barnes' last evening and was getting ready to stay all nigh with him when Bellinger heard of it through his brother, Claude. Herbet got on his bicycle and rode to the Barnes home and called his mother out and told her she must leave the house with him at once. She went in and told Barnes what her son had said, but he insisted that she should stay with him, Bellinger then went in and fired at Barnes, who was undressed ready for bed. The first shot penetrated the wrist, then Barnes reached down and picked up the poker, when he raised up, Bellinger stuck the revolver close to Barnes' mouth and fired again. the ball going through and lodging in the thick part of the neck on the right side. Bellinger then fired three more shots, each making scalp wounds. Bellinger then gave himself up to Sheriff Harry Snyder, and is now in jail. Barnes is in a critical condition, but it is thought he will survive. Bellinger is a young married man, recently wedding Miss Ida Enzor, and is considered an honest man and of good character. He did the act in a fit of passion. (This afternoon the latest report is that Barnes will live.)

Skeleton Found

Willis Mochamer was working in a gravel bank on the old Lockwood farm south of town Wednesday, when the bank caved down some, disclosing a human skeleton. It was of an adult person, and fairly well preserved. It had on each side of it, the remains of a thick plank or slab, of what seemed to be walnut wood, and probably split out of a log, and setting east and west. But there did not seem to be a cover. Alongside this body, was that of a child, in a square box, the box as well as the body was so decayed that but little could be saved. The large skeleton was pretty sound, the skull, which Mr. Mochamer brought up to town and showed the writer, was fresh and hard, even the softer parts and the sutures being good. It was probably some of the first settlers here, who, for want of better means of burial, laid their dead away as best they could. Or it may have been Indians at a late day, who had seen white men bury their dead in a box. Mr. Mochamer will keep the skull as an interesting relic. They were about three feet deep in the ground. Mr. Mochamer had dug up two such bodies at Montpelier, Indiana.

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by H. B. McCord the Druggist.

Buggy Smashed.

Marion Dermott drove up today from his home near St. Joe, and while coming across the Cedar Creek fill in the road near the cemetery, a Wabash train came along and frightened his horse and the rig was thrown over the embankment and smashed. He left the buggy and came up and paid his taxes. That piece of road is always dangerous.

Junk Wanted.

Please save your money. Don't forget to bring all your junk to H. Greenberg, three blocks north of M. E. church in Auburn, who pays best cash prices for rags, rubber, copper, brass, zinc, lead, scrap iron and all kinds of hides and furs. tf

House For Sale.

My five room house, 2nd house west of Ward School Building, on reasonable terms. Newly repaired. Inquire of Mrs. S. A. Watts.

TAKE TIME

To step into our store for a few minutes and look over our new styles of Hart, Schaffner & Marx suits. They are acknowledged to be the finest clothes made in this country. It will certainly pay you to see them and get our prices before you decide what to wear this season.

HART, SCHAFFNER & MARX

H. S. & M.

FOUR-BUTTON SACK SUIT
Copyright, 1899
By Hart, Schaffner & Marx

GUARANTEED CLOTHING.

It is a pleasure for us to show you clothing this season, no matter whether it be for man, boy or child. The colorings and weaves are simply perfection—the linings and make are faultless and the price within the reach of all. Every garment being absolutely guaranteed to prove satisfactory, makes our store an ideal place to buy Clothing.

The principal which we apply to our Clothing Department is characteristic of our entire stock. Experience will teach you that our 5c calico is the best to be had for the money; that our 5c muslin is the best weight and evenest; that our 10c hose are the best black and wear the best; that our 6c gingham has better wear and is finer than you get for the same money elsewhere, and so we might mention a thousand and one other items to be found in our complete stock.

We are enjoying a very fine trade in

SHIRT WAISTS AND WASH SKIRTS

and we ought to; we are showing a line that you might expect to see in decidedly larger places than Auburn. We are headquarters for Men's Straw Hats and Shirts. See us often.....

We Are Saving You Money.

SCHAAB & BRO.,

Auburn, Indiana.

One Year Ago.

Wednesday's Daily.

April 26, 1898, Company K, responded to the call to arms to avenge long continued insults to our flag, culminating in the destruction of one of our finest ships and 266 of her officers and men. The DeKalb boys marched bravely and gladly to do their share and would have made a good record, but we whipped Spain too soon for them. Our people bade them farewell and godspeed at the train, and six months later welcomed them home. This is the proud anniversary of their going. May they live to see many returns of it.

FARMERS, ATTENTION

Before breeding your mares call at D. N. Myer's Feed Barn in Auburn and see his two horses. English Shire, 1700 pounds and the imported Cleveland Bay 1350 pounds. You will always find them at home.

High School Contest.

At the Opera House Friday evening, May 5, will be held a High School Contest, consisting of a debate, orations, essays and recitations; also vocal and instrumental solos, and selections by Sheets' orchestra. As there are no expenses connected with this entertainment, the entire proceeds will be for the benefit of the school, to be used for purchasing pictures for the new building. Admission 10 and 15 cents.

1899 Base Ball Schedules.

The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry. has issued a complete vest pocket schedule of all National base ball games for season of 1899, showing where the clubs play each day with spaces for keeping scores, hits, errors and pitchers' names. A handy little book for lovers of base ball. Sent on receipt of four cents in postage, by A. J. Smith, G. P. & T. A., Cleveland, O

To Whom It May Concern.

Strong words of indorsement for Pe-ru-na, and for the manufacturers of Pe-ru-na, from prominent officials of its home city.

Hon. Samuel L. Black, Mayor of Columbus, O., whose picture adjoins this paragraph, writes the following letter:

EXECUTIVE DEPT., CITY OF COLUMBUS.

To whom it may concern:

I can most cheerfully recommend Pe-ru-na as of the very greatest possible benefit in cases of catarrh and other diseases of the mucous membrane. This remedy has established itself in the minds of the people as of the greatest possible worth and genuineness. I have known Dr. Hartman for a number of years, and am pleased to say that he is one of the leading citizens of this city, a man of the very highest standing and character in the community.

Respectfully, SAMUEL L. BLACK.

Col. Arthur L. Hamilton, commanding officer of the Seventeenth Infantry Ohio National Guard, whose residence is at 309 West First Avenue, Columbus, O., bears witness to the efficiency of Pe-ru-na. Here is Colonel Hamilton's letter and picture.

COLUMBUS, O., May 18, 1897.

Dr. S. B. Hartman.

DEAR SIR:—Besides having the merits of Pe-ru-na so fully demonstrated in my family, I have a number of friends who have taken it for catarrh and stomach trouble, and all unite in praising it. As a remedy for summer and winter catarrh I can fully recommend it. ARTHUR L. HAMILTON.

From the Hon. Samuel J. Swartz, Police Judge, Columbus, O.

STATE OF OHIO,
SUPREME COURT LAW LIBRARY,
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12, 1897.

Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

Gentlemen:—The result of using Pe-ru-na has been so gratifying to me that I cannot but congratulate you on the success of your remedy. Your high standing in the business community, and the worth of the gentlemen conducting this great enterprise, prepared me to expect a meritorious article only, from your establishment, but its real worth is best demonstrated by its use.

Respectfully, SAMUEL J. SWARTZ.

REBEKAHS AT GARRETT

The Grandest Meeting of the Orders in This County.

Thirty-six of the Rebekahs of Auburn formed a jolly procession of the road to Garrett last evening going with teams, and at that place, they met twenty-four members from Albion, who came on the evening train and went home on the delayed 2:30 train. Arrived at Garrett, they were received by the lodge there in royal style, and at the proper time work began. The Garrett lodge is quite a strong one in all three branches, the encampment, the subordinate and the Rebekahs and they have a nice hall. There were eight to initiate all being from Garrett the work being done by the two visiting teams. Albion took four candidates first, and then Auburn took the other four, finishing about 2:30, a. m. The banquet came at the close of the work by the Albion team and after that was over the Auburn team began which was after 12. Both teams did fine work Much praise being especially due to Auburn. Sol. Barney, of St. Joe, the district deputy was present and assisted A young lady from Michigan, Miss Richmond, a relative of Mrs. Jno Hebel, gave some fine recitations, she being an elocutionist. A young man of Garrett gave selections on the violin, and D. M. Brewer, a former member of Company I of Waterloo, played the harp and banjo. Dr. Johnston was captain of the Auburn team, and Miss Coates of the Albion team both having held that position several years.

At the banquet, which was in Red Men's Hall, between 150 and 200 were served, and it was a grand affair. The Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church got up the supper, which was paid for by the Garrett lodge. The following is the MENU.

Escalloped Corn with Oysters,
Cream Potatoes, Potato Salad
Ham Sandwiches,
Light Biscuit and Butter,
Sweet Pickles, Jelly Tarts,
Pressed Veal and Chicken,
Peaches,
Ice Cream Cake,
Coffee.

The following names are those who attended from the Auburn lodge:

Dr. and Mrs. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stafford, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Everett. Mesdames Sarah Lockwood, Mary Boyer, Belle Richards, Clara McClellan, J. M. Riechel, Emma Rakestraw, A. J. Little, Sarah McDougall, Ernest Fischler, Mary McInterfer, Kate Johnson, W. H. Kiblinger, P. L. Bishop, Henry Baker, James Baxter, Julia Burke, Sallie Weamer. Misses Mary Snell, Blanche Lahnum, Lulu Kinsey, Maud Trover, Lydia Hallam, Flora and Clara Stafford, Etta Baker, Alda Larimore and Florence Beeman.

He Didn't Steal Her.

The Fort Wayne papers have a great and very sensational article about the marriage of Harry J. Brown, of this place, to Miss Margaret Eaton, of Fostoria, last Saturday. It is there stated that the girl's parents objected and the young couple had to steal her clothes out in the absence of the parents, and so on. But Mr. Brown informs a COURIER reporter that this is not true. The parents made no objection and wanted them to stay longer, and invited them to come back and visit as often as they could. Being sensible young people, they don't care to be annoyed by such reports.

Cheap Horse.

Dave Watters is a happy man today, largely because he held No. 117, on the Leyda horse. It will be remembered that Geo. Leyda sold numbers on his horse, at a cent a unit, No. 1 costing 1 cent, No. 2, 2 cents, No. 3, 3 cents and so on. Last evening Sherman Hollister rolled the numbered marbles out of the jug, the last one out being the winner. This proved to be No. 117 held by Mr. Watters. He had bought two tickets but the two together did not cost him $2. The horse is a good one.

Literary Notes.

In McClure's Magagine for May, J. L Steffens, city editor of the New York Commercial Advertiser, will tell the story of Theodore Roosevelt's experience and dealings with party leaders and political reformers from the moment he began to be named for Governor of New York down to the present time. It is no ordinary story, and it has never before been told in full.

Excursion to San Francisco, Cal.

Account of the National Baptist Anniversaries the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry., will sell tickets to San Francisco and return at very low rates on May 14, 15 and 16 with final return limit to July 15, 1899. This offers an exceptionally good chance for a cheap trip to the Pacific coast. Particulars can be obtained from ticket agents.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
Makes the food more delicious and wholesome
ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

Sunday In Mexico.

Any unfortunate citizen of the United States who, from an unwillingness to work or to take part in the various concerns of life, has acquired a reputation among his neighbors for being trifling, should emigrate at once to Mexico. Life there seems to wear about as serious an aspect as a comic opera, and such a citizen would be looked upon as a worthy addition to the chorus. One of the important things in Mexico is to own a game-cock, and on Sunday morning if you leave him tied by the leg to a convenient awning-post while you attend service in the church, you will excite no comment among your neighbors. In fact, the voice of the priest is often almost drowned by the crowing out on the street.

Cock-fighting and bull-fighting, as every one knows, occupy the same relative places in the affections of the Mexican as baseball and football hold in the American heart, and Sunday afternoon is reserved for them.

The policeman in a Mexican town is an official of importance and dignity. His uniform may be dirty and ragged, but he wears a cartridge-belt and six-shooter in addition to his club, and is usually seen with a cigarette in his mouth. Five or six of these worthies will drag a poor trembling wretch to the police station with a flourish worthy of the capture of a brigade.

The Mexican wears a hat covered with gold and silver braid, that is usually worth more than all the rest of his family's wardrobe; and it is this, together with the striped blanket and the swagger of the fellow, that gives him such an air of stage make-up.

It is always dangerous to judge the people of a town by those most in evidence on the street; but if I were called on to set a valuation on the people I saw in some of these Mexican towns, I should be tempted to make my calculation by the dozen or hundred, rather than by the single native. With all their love of finery, neither the men nor women are much given to gay colors. Black and white predominate; but the bright sun makes it all gay and fetching.

When a Mexican grows old he seems to shrink up until there is little to be seen of him but a big hat, and a scrap of blanket pulled tight over his meagre shoulders. His beard and hair stand out white and distinct from his dark shrivelled face, which looks like that of a mummy in its frame of white. Life in one of these towns is as absolutely different from what one sees in an American village as though it were a bit of Egyyt or India. Yet it may be seen at the end of a three days' journey from almost any of the Eastern and Northern States, and is well worth the journey.—Harper's Weekly.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours: a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it, or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At druggists fifty cents or one dollar.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells more about it, both sent absoulutely free by mail, if you send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure and mention that you read this generous offer in The Auburn Courier.

The Match Factory.

Since our last report the following licenses have been issued:

Herbest Stutzman and Dorothy Culp, Charles Gibford and Martha Lower, John A. Scott and Elizabeth Austin, Walter B. Satterfield and Daisy M. Clark, John H. Sutherland and Eva A. Buss, Walter H. Moffit and Emma Kruse, Justus A. Winslow to Nellie V. Shoemaker, James W. Wohlford and and Agnes L Story.

May End the War.

The collapse of the war at Manila seems to be near. The misguided natives found that their leaders have been using them for targets for selfish ends, and all that we ask of them is to lay down their arms and behave themselves. And it must not be overlooked by those who are criticising the government, that the United States was not responsible for the war, except so far as we have made a mistake in buying the islands or holding them at any price. This probably was a mistake. But after we had entered into a bargain of that kind, we were in honor bond to live up to our agreement. And in getting the island we had nothing to do with the natives who have since made war on us. We had not in the least molested them. But as soon as the Spaniards had surrendered to us, these natives excited by false leaders, wanted war. They attacked our lines when we were not expecting such a thing, for we were at peace with them. This is the substance of the matter. We were wantonly attacked by a savage foe that had no government or grievance. The only thing we could do then was to whip them into behaving themselves. It may be that in some future day, we may find it wise to give up the islands. But that is not the question now.

Laws in Force

The governor and secretary of State have issued their proclamation, that the new laws passed by the legislature of last winter are now in force, all the counties having reported that they have received them. The following is what the governor and secretary say:

PROCLAMATION.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 28, 1899.

Whereas, the several clerks of the differnt courts in this state have transmitted to the secretary of state their respective certificates stating when the laws of the state of Indiana, passed at the Sixty-first regular session of the general assembly, were received; and, whereas, by the aforesaid certificates it appears that the latest filing of such laws took place on the 27th day of April, 1899, at 11 o'clock a. m., in the office of the clerk of the circuit court of Morgan county.

Now, therefore, I James A. Mount, governor of the state of Indiana, in accordance with the foregoing facts, and in conformity with the provisions of the constitution and the requirements of the statue in such cases made and provided, do hereby make proclomation announcing the above date and time, to wit:

THE 27th DAY OF APRIL, 1899, as the date at which the filing of said laws took place with said several clerks of said circuit courts, and declaring all such laws published and circulated in the several counties of the state by proper authority, to be now in full force and effect.

JAMES A. MOUNT,
By the Governor, "Governor."
UNION B. HUNT,
"Secretary of State."

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Disrovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from the first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at H. B. McCord's Drug Store. Only 50 cents and $1.00, every bottle guaranteed.

Eel River Railroad.

Waterloo Press

May 12 is the day fixed by the supreme court of this state to hear oral argument pro and con upon the issue between the Wabash and Eel River railroads. The stockholders in the latter road claim that the Wabash has forfeited its charter.

It is thought that should the supreme court decide against the Wabash in the Eel River suit, the Wabash company will at once build a link from Butler to the Toledo division, and the Lake Shore would then purchase the Eel River road.

When Weak, Weary and Wasted

from Kidney Diseases, why not try Foley's Kidney Cure, a guaranteed medicine. 50c and $1.00 a bottle.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1899. APRIL. 1899.

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30

L. Q. 3rd. N. M. 10th. F. Q. 17th. F. M 25th.

THEY WANT PEACE.

Deputation of Filipinos Asks for Cessation of Hostilities.

THEIR GOVERNMENT

NOT RECOGNIZED BY MAJOR GENERAL OTIS.

News of Crimes and Criminals, Accidents, Fires, Etc., from North, South, East and West, Sandwiched with Minor Affairs.

Filipinos Want Peace.

Manila special: The Filipino advances for peace have been fruitless. Col. Manuel Argueleses and Lieut. Jose Bernal, who came into Gen. MacArthur's lines under a flag of truce, told Gen. Otis that they were representatives of Gen. Luna, who had been requested by Aguinaldo to ask Gen. Otis for a cessation of hostilities, in order to allow time for summoning of congress, which would decide whether the people wanted peace. Gen. Otis replied that he did not recognize the existence of a Filipino government. There will be another conference.

Gen. Otis telegraphs War Department that the commanding general of the insurgents has received from the insurgent government directions to suspend hostilities pending negotiations for the termination of the war, and that insurgent staff officers are now in Manila for that purpose.

Monument to Grant.

The equestrian statue of Gen. Grant, presented to the city of Philadelphia by the Fairmount Park Art Association, was unveiled with appropriate ceremonies on Thursday afternoon by Miss Rosemary Sartoris, grand-daughter of the dead President, in the presence of President McKinley, Cabinet members, representatives of foreign governments, and a large number of distinguished citizens and guests of honor. Prominent among those participating was Mrs. Grant, widow of the General, and other members of the family.

President McKinley received an ovation. The Reserve fired a salute of twenty-one guns in his honor.

The military parade, of which Capt. J. B. Coghlan and seamen and marines from the cruiser Raleigh formed a conspicuous part, preceded the ceremonies.

As the bronze statue was unveiled the salute of seventeen guns was given. The statue is fifteen feet high and cost nearly $33,000.

Bandit Atrocities.

Havana special: Alarming reports of bandit atrocities in the surrounding country has been received here. Three travelers have been reported robbed and killed by bandits near Guanajay. Around Colma and St. Nicholas the brigands are increasing depredations on property. Road travel by natives has been abandoned.

Planing Mills in Combine.

Eight of the planing mills of Toledo have formed a combine to control prices. This includes all the leading mills except one, MacClaren & Sprague, which concern has held out, desiring to be paid in cash for the plant. The combine represents nearly $1,000,000.

Smallpox at Kansas City, Kan.

A negro broken out with smallpox sores and delirious from the disease ran through the streets of Kansas City, Kan., the other evening. His capture by the police revealed the fact that the disease is epidemic among the negroes of that city.

Unknown Man Killed by Cars.

The mangled remains of an unknown man were found scattered a distance of two miles along the tracks of the West Shore Railroad just east of Fairport, N. Y. The remains were those of a man of medium size and of sandy complexion.

Big Victory Won.

The American army under Gen. MacArthur crossed the Rio Grande river, P. I., and drove the Filipinos from their stronghold on its bank. The enemy retreated rapidly, burning many villages in their flight.

Masonic Temple Attractions, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Week May 1—Bryan's Comedians.

Fierce Fighting in Samoa.

Advices just received from Apia, Samoan Islands, report that severe fighting has taken place between large bodies of friendly natives and the rebels. The casualties, it was thought, would not exceed twenty, and no Europeans or Americans were among the injured.

Tornado at Newton.

Kansas City special: The Journal has received a bulletin reporting the killing of seven persons in a tornado at Newton, Sullivan County, Mo. Newton is forty-five miles northwest of Kirksville, Mo.

Working for Separate Schools.

A petition has been filed with the City Clerk at Atlanta, Ga., containing the names of nearly 500 of the best negroes in Atlanta, which has for its immediate object the placing of the negro public schools in the city under the control of a negro board of education.

Killed in His Cell.

Charles Williams was shot to death in a cell at Galena, Kan., by a mob which came to lynch him. He resisted, and the firing followed. He was suspected of having murdered his sweetheart, Laura Canafax. There was no evidence against him.

ADMIRAL DEWEY

Seems to Have No Feeling Against the First German Commander at Manila.

A cable to the New York World from Manila, April 26, says:

Admiral Dewey was seen on the Capt. Coghlan incident. The Admiral is still unacquainted with the details of the famous speech, but he declared his relations with Coghlan were most cordial. Admiral Dewey is certain Capt. Coghlan could not have said anything calculated to place the Admiral in a false position. He showed the World correspondent a letter from Admiral Von Diedrichs, of the German navy, congratulating him on his "deserved promotion;" also his letter in reply, which closed with the words: "All our differences were of newspaper manufacture."

Admiral Dewey also says he is on most friendly terms with Prince Henry, of Prussia, who succeeded Von Diederichs as commander-in-chief of the German fleet in Chinese waters.

A DISASTROUS EXPLOSION.

Chemical Works Blown Up with Loss of Life.

By the explosion of benzoin in Fleer's Chemical Works at Twenty-fourth and Callowhill streets, Philadelphia, Pa., two men were killed, two are unaccounted for and one woman was fatally injured. A score of persons were more or less seriously injured. The names of the dead and missing men have not been learned.

There were two explosions. The factory is a total wreck and buildings for a distance of half a square on both sides of Callowhill street were partially demolished. In some instances windows and structures two squares away were shattered.

It is impossible at this time to estimate the loss. Fully a hundred houses are more or less damaged, those in close proximity to the chemical works being so badly wrecked as to probably necessitate their condemnation.

Cut His Throat After Stabbing Wife and Child to Death.

Edward J. Waldo, an instrument maker, living at 963 Ferry avenue, Camden, N. J., stabbed to death his wife and 8-year-old daughter. He then attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat. He was taken to the hospital and is not expected to live.

A 6-year-old daughter escaped by running into the street. The relatives of the murderer believe he was temporarily insane.

Three Men Killed.

Three men were killed by a fall of slate in the Pen Argyle Valley quarry at Pen Argyle, twenty miles from Eaton, Pa. Two hundred tons of slate and dirt fell into the hole and Edward Harding and Joseph D. Gorman are buried under it with no hope of recovering their bodies inside of two days. A third man, an Italian, was cut in two. Harding was 50 years old. He leaves a family of thirteen children. Gorman was 48 years old.

Two Killed and One Fatally Wounded.

In a shooting affray near Treval, in Trinity County, Tex., Edward Harding and James C. Trebathan were killed and L. C. Harding fatally wounded. The original difficulty was between L. C. Harding and Trebathan. Edward Harding interfered and was killed by Trebathan, who fatally wounded the remaining Harding before being killed himself. The cause of the trouble is not known.

Who Captured Iloilo?

War has broken out between the Navy and War Departments over the credit for the capture of Iloilo. Capt. Wilde of the cruiser Boston, has protested on the ground that Miller had nothing to do with the capture, but merely received the town when it was turned over by Wilde, after the latter's force had taken it. It is declared Dewey endorses Wilde's statement.

Railroad Wreck Kills Two.

On the Southern Pacific, east of Gila Bend, Ariz., a west-bound freight train crashed into a burning bridge. All the cars were piled on the engine and caught fire. Conductor Dovey and Fireman Courtney were buried in the wreck and burned to death. Engineer Adams was badly injured and was taken to his home at Tucson on a special train.

Dodge to Pay Cubans.

Maj. Francis S. Dodge, of the Pay Department, recently relieved from duty at Denver, has been selected by the War Department to disburse the $3,000,000 allowed by the Government for the payment of the troops of the Cuban army as a condition of its disbandonment.

Includes the Islands.

Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn has issued an order extending the immigration laws of the United States to Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Philippine Islands.

Havana Laborers Strike.

Two thousand laborers employed by the Quartermaster's Department at Havana, have struck for higher wages. All Government work is tied up.

Ohio Man Killed.

Walter Howe, aged about 22 years, supposed to be from Rateliff, Ohio, was killed while attempting to board a train near Clarksburg, W. Va.

MARKET QUOTATIONS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime $3.00 to $5.75; hogs, shipping grades $3.00 to $4.25; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2 red, 73c to 74c; corn, No. 2, 34c to 35c; oats, No. 2, 26c to 27c; rye, No. 2, 57c to 59c; butter, choice creamery, 16c to 18c; eggs, fresh, 12c to 14c; potatoes, choice, 50c to 60c per bushel.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $5.50; hogs, choice light, $2.75 to $4.00; sheep, common to choice, $2.50 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2 red, 72c to 73c; corn, No. 2 white, 36c to 37c; oats, No. 2 white, 31c to 32c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $3.50 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $4.25; sheep, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, 76c to 78c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 34c to 36c; oats, No. 2, 28c to 30c; rye, No. 2, 55c to 57c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.50; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $2.50 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 73c to 75c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 36c to 38c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 29c to 30c; rye, No. 2, 61c to 63c.

Detroit—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.50; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $2.50 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 75c to 77c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 36c to 38c; oats, No. 2 white, 32c to 33c; rye, 60c to 62c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 74c to 75c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 34c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 27c to 29c; rye, No. 2, 57c to 59c; clover seed, new, $3.70 to $3.80.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 spring, 71c to 73c; corn, No. 3, 33c to 34c; oats, No. 2 white, 29c to 31c; rye, No. 1, 57c to 59c; barley, No. 2, 46c to 47c; pork, mess, $9.00 to $9.50.

Buffalo—Cattle, good shipping steers $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, common to choice, $3.25 to $4.50; sheep, fair to choice wethers, $3.50 to $5.25; lambs, common to extra, $4.50 to $6.50.

New York—Cattle, $3.25 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $4.50; sheep, $3.00 to $5.75; wheat, No. 2 red, 82c to 83c; corn, No. 2, 42c to 44c; oats, No. 2 white, 35c to 38c; butter, creamery, 15c to 18c; eggs, Western, 13c to 15c.

MRS. GEORGE IS FREE.

END OF THE FAMOUS CANTON MURDER CASE.

Woman Accused of Killing Saxton Declared Not Guilty—A Cheer Breaks Forth When Verdict Is Announced—Accused Shakes Hands with Jurors.

At Canton, Ohio, the jury in the case of Mrs. George, charged with the murder of George D. Saxton, brother of Mrs. McKinley, brought in a verdict of acquittal at 10:43 o'clock Friday morning. The jury had been out since 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Before the verdict was read the court cautioned the audience that there must be no demonstration. In spite of that order there were loud cheers as the clerk read the verdict of "Not guilty." A score of women rushed to Mrs. George and shook her hand. Congratulations were also extended to her attorneys. Mrs. George worked her way to the jury box, took each juryman by the hand and gave them a word and a nod of thanks. Then the court said she was discharged and released the jury.

For ten years no murder trial has excited such intense interest throughout the country as that of Mrs. George. The high standing of the family to which the murdered man belonged, his own peculiar reputation in the community where he lived, the loyalty with which his weaknesses were shielded by his neighbors, and the visitation upon him of a punishment which many of his close friends believed to be just sufficed to give the trial a melodramatic effect.

Crowds were drawn to the court room of daily drawn to the modest court room of the little Ohio city for three weeks, and the circumstances centered the attention of all reading Americans upon the woman there battling for her life.

Mrs. George passed through the hardest ordeal of the trial during the summing up

MRS. ANNA E. GEORGE.

GEORGE D. SAXTON.

by James J. Grant, assistant prosecutor. Mr. Grant was Saxton's lifelong friend. He went into the case because he deemed it his duty. He has known Mrs. George for years and she dreaded him. For five hours he leaned against the table, beside which she sat, and put all the bitterness of his soul into his eloquent and stinging plea. He is of massive frame and has a ponderous voice and it is no wonder that Mrs. George trembled as he spoke over her bowed head. Once he shook in her face the revolver with which she was said to have shot Saxton and dangled the bloody coat of the dead man in the other. She sat unmoved and showed no emotion, even when he turned to her, his face ablaze with wrath, and called her a murderess. But at night, when she reached her cell, she broke down and had to have medical aid. Prosecutor Pomerene closed his argument in the case shortly before noon Thursday. It was one of the oratorical and logical efforts of the trial. He claimed that the defendant was simply a designing woman, who had played for high stakes and lost and who killed the object she used to gratify her ambition.

MRS. GEORGE IN COURT.

Defense Cleverly Conducted.

Mrs. George's counsel had early forced the State to exhaust all but one of its challenges. She had twelve remaining at that time. A little later the State exhausted its last challenge. She still had eleven. The power was in her hands to pick almost a new jury. Then she grew more careful yet. Juror H. A. Smith once lost a brother. His neighbor killed him with a neck-yoke. His slayer was acquitted. That was just after the civil war, but the defendant thought he might yet retain a notion that acquittal in a case of homicide was not proper.

Throughout the trial Mrs. George was an aid and support to her counsel. She suggested questions on cross-examination and decided what defense should be attempted in her case. She was a helpful client in the hands of shrewd attorneys.

It was expected that the relationship of Saxton and President McKinley might figure in the trial as against the accused. The political preference was taken into consideration. Juror William Blank was removed from the Canal Fulton postoffice before his time expired. He was accepted. Juror Sibila of Massillon is an uncle of Sam Mett, a boy who was hanged in the '80s and would naturally be opposed to capital punishment except under direct proof. He was accepted. And so it went.

It is said that anonymous letters were received by both the State's attorney and his assistant, in the course of the trial, in which threats of bodily harm were made.

History of the Case.

George D. Saxton was shot and killed shortly after 6 o'clock on the evening of Oct. 7, 1898, in Canton. At 7:30 o'clock the same night Mrs. George was arrested at her home, charged with the murder. A woman, cloaked and veiled, had been seen walking from the scene of the tragedy, but no one had followed or sought to detain her, nor had her face been seen. The arrest of Mrs. George by the Canton authorities was due to the fact that she had made threats against Saxton.

Mrs. George ha dbeen a resident of Canton several years. Her husband, Sample C. George, was a carpenter, and she was a country bred girl. She had married young and was the mother of two boys when she came to Canton. Still a young woman, she at once attracted the notice of George D. Saxton. Up to this time Mrs. George's life had been one of rectitude.

Saxton was one of the wealthiest men in Canton. It was not long before his persistent attentions to Mrs. George provoked scandal. Sample C. George left his wife, took his children from her, and sued Saxton for alienating her affections. Mrs. George went to South Dakota and obtained a divorce. Saxton, she says, had promised to marry her. On her return to Canton quarrel followed quarrel, until at last Saxton had the woman ejected from her apartments in a building owned by him. An order of court was also obtained prohibiting her from visiting Saxton or entering the Saxton block. Finally Saxton refused to marry the woman and she threatened to kill him. Two days later he was shot.

In support of its theory that Mrs. George was the murderer the prosecution introduced a witness, Mrs. Eckroate, who said she saw the shots fired at Saxton and recognized Mrs. George as the woman who fired them. This was the only witness of the crime, and her testimony was vigorously attacked by the defense, which showed that the woman had been for years a confirmed morphine eater, and therefore was not a capable or reliable witness. It was further shown by the defense that at the time of the shooting it was too dark to distinguish even at short distance the features of a person, and that the neighbors who hurried to the scene of the tragedy could not identify even the murdered man until they struck a match and held it to his face.

It had rained on the day of the murder, and the woman seen walking away after Saxton's shooting was obliged to travel over muddy roads. Yet Mrs. George when arrested at 7:30 o'clock had on slippers that were unsoiled, her clothing was free from mud, and close examination of her apparel in the house failed to reveal mud-stained articles. When taken to the police station several burs were found on her dress, and the State offered these as evidence, as the ground around the scene of the murder was thick with the plants bearing them. The defense demolished this evidence by showing that the route over which Mrs. George walked to the police station was in one place thick with the same plants.

A revolver also figured in the case. It was found concealed some distance from the scene of the shooting, with three discharged cartridges in it. The prosecution offered it in evidence as the weapon used by Mrs. George, but had no evidence to show that she ever owned it or that it had been in her possession.

Mrs. George when arrested was calm and self-possessed. She maintained the same bearing during her trial. When arrested the fingers and nails of one hand had dark stains on them. These, the prosecution claimed, were powder stains, and it had her nails scraped and the scrapings submitted to analysis. When a chemical expert appeared during the trial to testify as to the result of this analysis the defense objected to the introduction of his testimony, and the court sustained the objection.

The prosecution added little information on the most vital point, the murder itself, to that given the day after the commission of the crime. The prosecution was conducted on the theory of motive and intention—the jealous fury of a woman ruined and cast aside, while another occupied her place.

MANY NEGROES IN HIDING.

White Men of Georgia Purchase Pistols for Their Wives.

The race situation about Palmetto, Ga., the scene of the lynchings Sunday and Sunday night, has quieted down considerably, though many negroes are still in hiding, fearing the wrath of their white neighbors. No attempt has been made to bring the lynchers before the bar of justice, and none will be, the local officers taking their cue from Gov. Candler, who says the punishment of Sam Hose fits the crime which the mob avenged. The question of arming every white woman in the South has been revived by the crime of Hose, and already many men have purchased pistols for their wives and daughters and are teaching them their use.

GATHER IN CIGARS.

Revenue Collectors Find More Goods with Bogus Stamps.

The revenue collectors continue to gather in cigars from the Pennsylvania factory with the bogus stamps. Reports from all through the business sections show that thousands have been found. At Parkersburg, W. Va., 12,000 were taken; Wheeling, 27,000; Charleston, W. Va., 13,000; Louisville, Ky., 40,000; Vincennes, Ind., 3,500; Richmond, Ind., 10,000; Youngstown, Ohio, 23,000; Toledo, 20,000; Lexington, Ky., 64,000.

Told in a Few Lines.

Speaker Reed is an expert chafing-dish cook.

The number of battles fought during the civil war was 3,125. The figures are taken from official records.

Our postage stamps will be used in the Philippines, with the word "Philippines," printed across their face.

It is estimated that 163,000,000 acres of land throughout the world are devoted to the cultivation of wheat.

The Ohio Republican State Central Committee has fixed June 1 as the date and Columbus as the place for the Republican State convention.

The Agricultural Department's year book, which now takes the place of the annual report, will soon be ready for distribution by Congressmen.

The cost of maintaining convicts at the Michigan penitentiary is 38½ cents each a day, and the daily earnings of the prisoners average 35½ cents each per day.

"Father Gunn" of Dickinson County is believed to be the oldest person in Kansas. He has passed his 114th birthday, and is still able to walk two miles to the polls to vote.

Rear Admiral Schley, who has been on waiting orders since relieved of the command of the flying squadron, has been assigned to duty as a member of the naval examining board in Washington.

SLAIN BY CYCLONE

Scores of People Left Dead in the Wake of the Wind.

HUNDREDS HOMELESS

Awful Extent of the Storm's Havoc in Missouri and Iowa.

Clean Path Swept Through Kirksville, Mo.—Nearly 100 Dead and List of Injured May Be 500—Four Hundred Houses Laid in Ruins—Tornado Leaves a Trail of Destruction for Over Twenty Miles—Several Towns Struck.

Two cyclones left trails of death behind them Thursday in Missouri and Iowa. One swept through Newtown and Kirksville, Mo., just at nightfall, causing immense destruction of property and appalling loss of life. The lesser storm struck the Soldier river valley in western Iowa about midnight on Wednesday night, wrecking the country and smiting with wounds and death the people in the vicinity of the town of Ute.

The Known Dead.

At Kirksville, Mo. 45
At Newtown, Mo. 20
At Ute, Iowa, and vicinity 5

Some reports from the stricken districts made the total number of injured exceed 500, and figures of the killed varied also, but it is impossible at the time this is written to give accurate details.

The sky emptied its fury in a gigantic cyclone upon Kirksville, the town made famous by osteopathy, at 6:20 o'clock at night, while most of the inhabitants were at table. The entire east side of the city was wiped clean. More than 100 dwellings and business houses were totally destroyed. Several of the wrecked buildings took fire, adding difficulty and danger to the work of rescue. Mayor Noonan Friday morning said the death list would reach 75. The tornado approached Kirksville from the southwest, and passed only two blocks from the heart of the city. Several public institutions were just outside the storm zone, otherwise the loss of life would have been more appalling.

A broad, clean path, nearly a quarter of a mile in width, lies through the town, as smooth as virgin prairie. Probably 400 houses are scattered as fragments somewhere beyond the town in woodland and prairie. In the heavy rain following the people who escaped turned out to rescue the injured and hunt the bodies of the slain.

Surgeons, professors, operating staff and students, men and women of the American School of Osteopathy, together with all the druggists in the town, formed rescue and hospital corps. Rescuing corps lifted roofs and searched the ruins of houses all along the edge of the death track not entirely demolished for the wounded, the dying and the dead. Half a dozen wrecked dwellings took fire immediately after the cyclone had passed.

The storm's coming was announced with a roar and a deep muffled rumble of distant thunder. There was a suction from both sides, and before the advancing column, while a steady crunching, crackling, grinding noise was heard distinctly above the roar of the elements a mile from the path of the cyclone.

The cyclone approached Kirksville from the southwest. At a distance it seemed to be making for the fair grounds, and people at the American School of Osteopathy, on the west side of the town, watched its coming for two minutes in fear that it was bearing down upon them. Before reaching the town limits it veered further east, however, and cleared the State Normal School without touching it.

Patterson's extensive nursery, just west, was swept down to bare soil. The course from that on was through a well-built-up section of the town, made up mainly of low houses, and largely populated by students of the normal school and American School of Osteopathy. Marcus Ward's seminary for young women was a couple of hundred yards east of the storm's path. A hotel building close to it was demolished.

A score of guests stood upon the porticoes and at the dining room windows of the Still Hotel, half a mile west of the storm's path, and saw it sweep through the town. Roofs blew ahead of the blast like leaves, seemingly far in front of the revolving snout a full hundred yards in the sky.

One horse was blown out of the shafts of a road wagon, which lodged against the front of a house in the edge of the wind's track. No one knows what became of the animal. Members of households disappeared with a partial demolition of homes, while others remained unhurt among the debris. Along the edge of the storm's path holes are seen through frame houses as if punctured by cannon balls.

A second edition of the cyclone followed the first in about twenty minutes. It came as an ink-black cloud widely distributed and covered the whole town. Many sought refuge in cellars. The tail end of the cyclone did not break upon Kirksville, however, seeming to go by overhead. It is believed generally that the second cyclonic wave dropped to the ground before traveling much further on its journey. The heavens became black for fifteen minutes, after which a heavy rain fell for an hour and a half. By 8 o'clock the sky was clear and starry.

Mayor Noonan telegraphed to every station between Bloomfield, Iowa, and Moberly, Mo., for surgical assistance. Undertakers wired St. Louis and Chicago rush orders for coffins. Scores of families will be rendered absolutely destitute in addition to losses by injury and death.

The reports from country districts indicated that many lives were lost in the surrounding farming districts. Henry Lowe and three children, living three miles north of Kirksville, were crushed beneath the timbers of their wrecked home. Several other members of the family escaped injury. Other fatalities are reported from the country, but it is not likely that an accurate death list will be available for several days. The tornado destroyed telephone and telegraph wires out of Kirksville and not until 9:30 o'clock Friday morning was communication with the outside resumed, and then only in an unsatisfactory sort of way.

TWENTY DEAD AT NEWTOWN.

Entire Eastern Half of the Town Completely Demolished.

Reports Friday morning from Newtown, Mo., which was visited by the terrible cyclone, were that twenty persons had been killed and between thirty and forty injured.

The entire eastern half of the town was destroyed. The path of the storm was about 500 or 600 feet wide, and hardly a dwelling in its course escaped. Frame houses were lifted from their foundations and crushed like eggshells. The more substantial buildings were partly wrecked, and half a hundred people at least are homeless. The storm blew down the telegraph wires in and about the city and washed away the bridge over Medicine creek, a small stream just south of the town.

A terrific electrical storm followed the tornado, and the excitement was intense. Women and children ran about the streets shrieking for their parents and loved ones, and men searched the ruins in the drenching rain, hoping to locate the bodies of victims. Houses of survivors were thrown open to those who were rendered homeless, and everything possible was done to care for the injured. Fully one-third of the business portion of the city was destroyed.

TWO DEVASTATED TOWNS.

Kirksville, the County Seat of Adair County, Missouri.

Kirksville is the seat of government of Adair County, and is seventy miles west of Quincy, Ill. It is situated in a fertile grain, fruit and stock growing district, and there are coal mines eight miles distant. It has two railways, the Wabash and the Quincy, Omaha and Kansas City. There are several good hotels, an opera house seating 800 people, and a fine Masonic hall. The North Missouri Normal School is also located there. The town is most widely known as the seat of the American School of Osteopathy, teaching a new system of medicine discovered or invented by Dr. A. T. Still. This institution has attracted students from all over the country, and has added much to the growth and prosperity of the town.

Newtown lies in the extreme southwestern part of Sullivan County, Mo., and west-northwest from Kirksville. It is a manufacturing point of considerable local importance, the principal industries being in furniture and lumber. There were several churches and store buildings in the place, besides the factories. The village is on a branch of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad.

STORM IN IOWA.

Soldier River Valley Is Swept and Several Lives Lost.

The Soldier river valley in the counties of Crawford and Monona, Iowa, was swept by a tornado about midnight, the severest ever known in the devastated section. The list of killed and injured is long, while the property damage is large.

Dozens of people scattered throughout the prosperous farming country of the Soldier river valley were hurt more or less by flying debris.

Great quantities of dirt were scooped up and carried along with the force of gunshot. The path of the twister was nearly a mile wide, and is as clearly defined from its entrance into Monona County along the winding course of the Soldier river for a distance of twenty miles, as if cut out by an army of men with modern machinery and scoop shovels. Trees two feet thick were twisted off by the hundreds and in many cases pulled up by the roots and carried miles away. In some cases many trees are found away out of the twister's course, piled high with other debris dropped by the wind and all torn into a million splinters.

The large residence of George Furne was the first building of importance destroyed. It was right in the center of the cyclone's track. The house was cut to pieces like so much kindling wood. The five daughters were found in as many different places after the storm had passed by their father, who was himself badly hurt. The mother was not found until daylight. She lay beneath some of the debris of her ruined home. A fence rail was forced through her body. She lived several hours despite her awful wounds.

FILIPINO ARMY IN A PANIC.

Deadly Volley Scatters Aguinaldo's Troops in Every Direction.

Gen. MacArthur's division crossed the Rio Grande Thursday and advanced on Apalit, completely routing the flower of the Filipino army.

The Filipinos were very strongly intrenched on the river bank, near both sides of the railroad bridge. Gen. Wheaton sent Col. Funston across, with two companies of the Twentieth Kansas regiment, a couple of privates swimming the swift stream with a rope, under a galling fire, for the purpose of guiding the raft. The men crossed in squads of twenty and attacked the left flank of the natives, who scuttled like rabbits into covered ways and trenches. The rest of the regiment was compelled to cross the bridge in single file along the stringers. All the woodwork and much of the ironwork had been removed. The First Montana regiment followed the Kansans across the bridge.

The First Nebraska regiment, acting as a reserve, attacked the natives in three lines of trenches, driving them out, killing sixteen and wounding many.

In the meantime a large body of Filipinos, estimated at no fewer than 3,000, led by Gen. Antonio Luna on a black charger, evidently coming to re-enforce the insurgents who were engaged with the Nebraskans, appeared in the open field about two miles to the left. Emerging from the jungle, the natives formed an open skirmish line nearly two miles in length, with very thick reserves behind. They then advanced at double quick until they were about 2,000 yards from the American line, when Gen. Wheaton ordered his troops to fire.

The natives, who were evidently unaware that the Americans had crossed the river, broke and ran in the direction of Macabele. The other Filipinos fled toward Apalit station.

The heat in the early part of the afternoon was terrific, but a drenching thunderstorm, which came later, greatly refreshed the Americans.

Most of the natives fled to Apalit station, where two trains were awaiting them. They left hurriedly, presumably for San Fernando. The towns of San Vincente and Apalit were simultaneously burned and evacuated by the natives. Twenty prisoners were captured, including a Spaniard.

The fighting lasted from noon until 4 o'clock. The American loss is one man of the Montana regiment killed and three officers and six men wounded.

THREATENED WITH WAR.

May Be Serious Rebellion if Plans Are Carried Out.

Japan is in danger of a serious rebellion if three famous old generals carry out their plans. Information to that effect has been received by the Japanese colony at Seattle, Wash. Reduction of taxes is to be the cry of this army, which will be composed entirely of farmers from the interior regions. Gen. Miuri, the Japanese minister at Seoul, who was charged with complicity in the coup d'etat in which the Corean queen lost her life, is at the head of the movement. He has proposed an uprising of the farmers.

GUN PLANT AT ROCK ISLAND.

Lieutenant Dickson Transferred to Illinois Town.

An order has been received at the United States armory in Springfield, Mass., transferring to Rock Island, Ill., Lieut. T. C. Dickson, who has had general oversight of the details of the manufacture of the Krag-Jorgensen rifle. An appropriation of $350,000 becomes available for the beginning of the work at Rock Island on July 1. It is thought that the equipping of a small arms plant at Rock Island means the sidetracking of Springfield as the leading rifle plant of the country.

FALL OF CALUMPIT.

MACARTHUR'S DIVISION ANNIHILATES REBEL FORCE.

Eight Americans Are Killed—Day of Desperate Fighting Crowned with Victory—Filipinos Flee to Hills—Calumpit the Key to Northern Luzon.

A dispatch from Manila says: "Gen. MacArthur's division, 6,000 troops, annihilated the insurgents at Calumpit Wednesday. Aguinaldo's troops made a stubborn resistance, but were driven to the hills. Eight Americans were killed. Calumpit is the key to the whole of northern Luzon. The defenses surrounding Calumpit were stormed by Gen. MacArthur at 11:30 o'clock, and were taken by the American troops at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

"The defenses are well-constructed emplacements on the bank of the Bagbag river, formed so as to make an angle along a high bluff. Gen. Hale flanked the intrenchments with the Fifty-first Iowa, the First North Dakota and the First Nebraska volunteers. Gen. Wheaton moved along the railroad with the Montana and Kansas regiments in front, guarding the supply train, which carried three guns of the Montana regiment on armored cars. Col. Funston of the Kansas regiment, after swimming the Bagbag, was the first in the rebel intrenchments. Gen. Hale was separated from Gen. Wheaton by the Quinga river, which empties into the Bagbag. He made a junction by swimming the river, taking guns and mules.

GEN. WHEATON.

Gen. Wheaton's command, the Kansas and Montana volunteers, during the night had repaired the bridge over the Bagbag river. The volunteers then crossed and attacked the Filipinos in the trenches, and after a short but sharp fight forced the enemy into Calumpit. Here Aguinaldo's army fought desperately. For the first time the Filipinos employed artillery. They brought two guns into action in the trenches before Calumpit, firing modern shrapnel, which burst over the heads of Gen. Wheaton's men without effect. The American loss in the morning's fight was three killed and three wounded. The Filipino loss was small, but they were well protected by their earthworks.

GEN. M'ARTHUR.

The Filipinos adopted the same tactics as at Malolos, contesting the American advance on their headquarters and then abandoning them when the capture of the place was inevitable.

The advance of the Americans Tuesday was marked by a stubborn resistance by the Filipinos and occasional severe fighting. Gen. MacArthur's advance began at 9 o'clock in the morning. Gen. Wheaton, commanding the Kansas and Montana regiments, with three guns of the Utah battery and two troops of cavalry, marched along the railroad, his line on the right reaching to the Bagbag river. On the other side of the river was Gen. Hale with the Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota volunteers. The left of the American line on the railroad was strengthened with an armed train.

GEN. HALE.

For two miles the advance was without incident. Then the enemy's trenches, running across the Americans' front, were encountered, and the train was moved forward and shelled the insurgent position. The Filipinos responded in lively fashion. Gen. Hale's brigade made a brilliant advance over open ground to the Chico river. They were exposed to a galling fire from the enemy's trenches at the junction of the Bagbag and Chico rivers.

The Iowa regiment made a detour to the right to flank the treaches, and when this movement was executed the Nebraskans and South Dakotans swam the river, drove the enemy from their positions, and pursued them for half a mile before they were recalled. Before this was accomplished, however, Maj. Young, with the guns of the Utah artillery, dashed through a village that had been burned and protected the Nebraskans and South Dakotans as they made their way across the river. The artillery lost one killed and three wounded in making their dash.

The Filipinos had the advantage of the fighting by the Chico, as they had cleared the country of everything that would appear a protection to the Americans. The attempt to wreck the armored train of the Americans by weakening the bridge over the Bagbag was a failure. Part of the bridge fell in with its own weight before the train reached it.

The American loss in the two days' operations was twelve killed and thirty-nine wounded. The known rebel loss is seventy-five killed in front of Wheaton's brigade Tuesday and about 200 killed and wounded in front of Hale's Monday.

GREAT FLOOD AT OMAHA.

Alarming Conditions Caused by Rise of the Missouri River.

The rise of the Missouri river in the vicinity of Omaha caused alarming conditions, and people in the lowlands and those who own property there have had reason for extreme anxiety. Watchmen, armed with shotguns, were kept guarding at the Locust street dyke, at the south end of Cutoff lake, with the intention of shooting any person or persons they might catch trying to cut through the dyke in order to permit the escape of the flood of water that is overspreading East Omaha.

From the upper river country come alarming reports of the Missouri's ravages. In Union County, South Dakota, the river has cut deep into the banks toward McCook lake, an old river bed. It lacks only a short distance now of getting through, and should this happen a new course would be made across valuable farm and timber land into the Sioux river. Already one woman has lost 250 acres of timber land. It is simply falling into the river, carrying trees and everything else with it. The river may yet tear a new course into Dakota County, Nebraska, and great alarm exists.

POWER OF LIQUEFIED AIR.

It May Become the High Explosive of the Future.

According to dispatches from Vienna, liquid air ignited by electricity, exploded with twenty times the effect of dynamite, and when used in cannon no heat was developed and the range of the projectile was considerably increased. Liquir air, therefore, may become the high explosive of the future. It is not known, however, whether the Vienna scientists have reached the marvelous results through actual experiments or have taken reports of what has been accomplished by Charles E. Tripler of New York and repeated them

THE GOING AND COMING.

He marched away with the regiment—
he sailed o'er the stormy sea;
But how did they send my lover home
—home to the heart of me?
With muffled drum, and sword in sheath—Ah, me! for God his grace!—
And the flag that he had died for over his still, white face.

He marched away with the regiment.
Ah, me; for the men who fight:—
Their breasts are red with the blood they shed, but the cheeks of women are white;
Are wan and white for the cruel fight where the swords are keen to kill;
And the red flags droop forever over the faces still.

He marched away with the regiment.
What does the fighting mean?
Widowed women and breaking hearts
—a shrine where the graves grow
green.
Alas, for a maiden's lover; and give her, dear God, thy grace
To welcome her lover home again, with the flag o'er his still, white face!

THE DUEL ON FLOATING LOGS.

By Major Hamilton.

Two hundred miles below Vicksburg there lies a little hamlet upon the western shore of the Mississippi River, known as Rufftown.

The method of spelling the name is malice aforethought; for when the settlement was first christened, the raftsmen and steamboat hands meant "rough."

The town consisted of a long wood-dock, where steamers occasionally came for fuel, a half-dozen slab "hotels," where all the "accommodations" to be had were sold by the quart from a jug, two stores, a score of shrunken houses, and away back, almost to the bluff, a log school-house.

I was the teacher in that log school-house, at a salary of seven dollars a month and board; the latter, in New England style, "boarding 'round."

I think I earned my wages. That may be as it may. Certain it was that when spring came and the term closed, the trustee could have been no better pleased to pay and discharge me than I was at being discharged. Had he forgotten to pay me, I should have discharged myself. I was disgusted with Rufftown, and had determined to voyage to New Orleans. Consequently the close of my engagement pleased me better than its continuance.

School "finished," as the boys had it, on Saturday. On Monday I had found a place as raftsman upon a great raft, bound for the end of the river. From teaching the young idea how to shoot I had changed to teaching logs how to float—from a landsman I had become a sailor.

The crew were one and all strangers to me, tough and brawny lumbermen from the up-country. I was probably the only green hand aboard.

For a few days all went well. I could push an oar and boil potatoes, so that I was able to fill the duties of steersman or cook; but I was young and foolish enough to think that my book-knowledge, slight though it was, placed me above the other men upon the raft, and I probably showed it. This engendered strife.

At first, the scorn which grew in my companions' breasts showed itself in looks and sneering words; but, as the days and nights passed, and I smoked my pipe apart from the others, and did not join them in their songs and dances after the sun went down, a more open and hostile spirit betrayed itself, and suddenly I was aroused from my dream of superiority by the return of a blow for some scornful word which I had cast at one of the raftsmen. I defended myself as best I might, and rather flatter myself now, as I look back, that I gave as many hard knocks as I received; but the bad blood was out, and my life became wretched.

For a time I held my own with my opponents, but when the number of my persecutors grew, as it shortly did, to include every man on board, from captain down, I felt that prudence was the better part of valor, and I simply sought to avoid intercourse or trouble of any kind.

"The teacher's kinder techy, eh?" said Zack Nicholson to his companion, as they eyed me where I sat, at the rear of the great raft, smoking alone. "He's kinder techy an' high-toned. Won't speak to no one now. What he wants is another good t'rashing."

"Yes," continued Nicholson, "he needs more lickin' to make him know his place. He's like a dog—the more you lick 'em the more——"

The comparison was too much for me. Quick as a flash, I seized a block of wood, hurled it at the speaker, and felled him to the floor of the raft. His companion assisted him to rise and walk away; but that night I slept with my hand within my bosom upon my knife. The climax had come; Nicholson would kill me now, if I was not careful.

At noon, the next day, the friend of my enemy spoke to me after dinner, and called me one side. I followed him.

"You knocked Zack down yesterday," he said.

"I know it," I replied.

"He wants satisfaction."

"Then let him get it," said I, turning away, enraged.

"No, no!" said the man, "don't be a fool. He's mad clear through. Ef ye won't fight him, he'll strike ye in the dark. Ye must fight!"

I reflected a moment. What this man said was doubtless true. Nicholson hated me and wished to have it out at once.

"What does he propose?" said I.

"A duel, with knives!"

I shuddered. The man meant to kill me, as I had feared.

"But this Nicholson is twice my size. He could seize me and cut my throat while I struggled helplessly," I returned. "It would not be a fair fight."

"Zack has thought of that, and proposes to fight like this: Each man shall choose a log, and set it afloat behind the raft. Then you shall both jump into the river and swim to the logs, each seat yourself upon one, and so fight."

I laughed.

"But if we fought with knives the logs might be a hundred feet apart, and we could not do each other much harm."

"The logs to be fastened together by thirty feet of chain."

It was a plan to murder me; but I would die game.

"Agreed!" said I, hoarsely. "When shall the duel take place?"

"Now," said Nickolson's friend. "It's as good a time as any."

I bowed my head in silent consent.

"Who's your second?" said the man. "name him, and we'll fix things up ready."

I choked a little, and a sense of my utter desolation amid this crew of savage men afloat upon a mighty river swept over me; then the spirit of my youth and independence arose again.

"I have no friend, and will fix things for myself. Get your chair, and come to the rear of the raft. We will pick out the logs and fasten them together, and then you can call Nicholson," and I turned away.

"But you'll have some one to act for you—to see fair play!"

"No!" I cried, sharply—"no one! If my knife cannot win for me fair play I'll not look for it among this gang. Get your chain!"

The man looked at me an instant as if dazed, then, he left me, to rejoin me a moment later, near the stern of the raft, with a short chain and two iron staples in his hands.

"Select your log," said I.

He did so, and I selected a somewhat smaller one, with a coarse bark. A few blows of an axe released both logs from the withes which bound them to the others, about them, and, uniting our strength, we dragged them across the raft and launched them at the stern. Then with the staples we fastened the iron chain end and end to the logs, binding each near the middle.

When pushed free from the raft, they floated some twenty-five feet apart, each following its own motion in the current and eddies, occasionally swinging so close as almost to touch, and again separating until restrained by the chain.

"They'll do," said my companion. "I'll go for Nicholson."

I felt that I had ben hunted down, and a fierce desire to kill inflamed me.

Had I prayed, it would have been for success in the coming combat, not for simple safety.

A sound at my side caused me to turn. The man had returned, and my antagonist was with him. A thrill of joy ran through me as I noted the pallor of Nichoson's face.

"He is afraid! I shall kill him!" I whispered to myself.

"Now strip to your shirts and breeches, take your knives in your teeth, and, when I give the word, jump and swim for the logs. Either man to either log," said the third party to this strange encounter.

Silently we obeyed, disrobing ourselves, and standing, a moment later, side by side upon the edge of the raft.

"Are you ready? Go!"

Two plunges that were but as one, two dark heads above the muddy foam of the river, and, an instant later, two men astride of two floating logs faced each other, each with murder in his eyes!

I had secured the smaller log, perhaps by chance, perhaps because my antagonist had sought the other one, but I felt it to be an advantage. I could move my support more rapidly and easily than he could his—could attack or retreat with less exertion.

Each held his knife in hand and settled himself on his log; then Nicholson began with his unarmed hand to paddle slowly toward me.

Perhaps this motion of our logs affected our relative position to the raft—perhaps some eddying current seized us, but whatever the cause, just as my enemy was almost within reach, and both were preparing with tense nerves for the coming contest, a sudden plunge of the logs forced us both to look to our individual safety, and I noticed, to my astonishment, that instead of following in the wake of the great raft, we had drifted to one side, and were now abreast of it, moving with much greater speed than the raft itself, and evidently bound upon an independent journey to the gulf.

The sight startled me, and I cried out:

"We are being swept away!"

Nicholson half-turned, then, careless of all else, looked back at me, and our logs now ranging side by side, leaned toward me, his knife-hand half-outstretched. I bent backward to avoid him, when a sudden plunge of the log upon which I rode threw me almost into my antagonist's arms, and his gleaming blade shot downward.

I could not ward the blow, for I had almost lost my balance; but one thing remained to do, and I did it. Slipping from my log and diving, the knife missed me, but Nicholson, overborne by the force of his stroke, followed me headlong into the muddy stream.

Neither of us feared the plunge, but as I came to the surface, a sudden horror shot through me—I had dropped my knife! At the same instant the head of my enemy appeared at my side, followed by his sinewy arm and the shining blade. He threw himself upon me, and raised his hand to strike. I was lost!

But even as I closed my eyes in the horror of despair, a sudden rush sounded in my ears, a dark something passed close by me, the knife that had sought my throat sank glittering through the water, and with a groan, and a quivering outstretching of his hands, Nicholson, a lifeless body, followed it.

The log upon which he had ridden had been thrown by the current end on against his head, crushing it like an egg-shell. I was saved!

Merely a Feeler.

"No, I thank you. I prefer to stand."

The stout woman who was standing up in the crowded car looked straight ahead of her as she made this remark.

"I didn't hear anybody offering me a seat," she said, still looking straight at the front end of the car, "but I took it for granted somebody had done it."

Six men slowly rose up.

"No, I thank you," she said, without looking at any of them. "I've been standing for fifteen minutes. It won't hurt me to keep it up a little longer. I get off at the next crossing."

Then six men sat down again, much relieved.

She had overestimated them.

UNEXPLORED LANDS.

PARTS OF THE WORLD OF WHICH LITTLE IS KNOWN.

Scientists Striving to Increase Man's Knowledge of Them—In the Americas, Asia, as Well as in Africa, Are Fields for Geographical Research.

There is more geography every day. Governments, societies, committees and private individuals are busy making it to the satisfaction of themselves and the general public, school children excepted. The principal regions that as yet are unexplored are distributed pretty evenly outside of the United States and Europe. There are several in Canada, one just to the east and another just to the west of Hudson Bay, and also considerable areas up to the east and north of the Klondike country. In South America there are five large areas in the vast forest region drained by the tributaries of the Amazon, besides considerable territory in Patagonia. There are large areas of the desert of Sahara, where, as Sir Richard Burton says, "the hand of man has never set foot," and also along the upper Nile, but the rest of the continent, some nine-tenths of the whole, is no longer "dark." The unexplored part of Australia is hardly one per cent. of the whole. Greenland is pretty well known. Southern Arabia has a large piece of untraveled territory. Thibet still holds out against all attacks by white men, and in northern and in eastern Siberia there are broad expanses about which one may still imagine things. The north pole and the south pole are as unknown as can be, but assaults on them are multiplying.

The poles are particularly seductive to explorers. Their location is so definite. To get to either one means to go to the limit, an achievement that cannot be outdone. It would win more enduring fame probably than any other physical act that man is capable of. The first man at the pole will be the man of his time. Yet the practical gain for the world will not be great, even when both poles are discovered. We may then learn something new about ocean depths or land altitudes, and something about ocean currents, some meteorological observation and perhaps some astronomical measurements; hardly more than this. There is absolutely no commercial or political advantage that the most ardent expansionist can imagine. Enduring fame for the individual, but that is all.

One of the most interesting of the many expeditions now busy adding to the enlightenment of mankind and to the geographical perplexities of youth is that which left England a year ago to explore Torres Straits, Borneo, and various islands of the South Pacific. The explorers have a cinematograph, several phonographs, a half dozen cameras, besides a variety of instruments for testing the nervous organizations of the natives. There is the algometer, for measuring pain; an aethesiometer, to test the aboriginal sense of beauty; asphygmometer, for the savage pulse; Galton's whistles, for ear tests, together with drums, tuning forks and time markers for visual and auditory signals in measuring reaction time.

The Imperial Academy of Science of Vienna has sent Dr. D. H. Muller, professor Semitic languages, to Southern Arabia, with Dr. Alfred Zahn and Prof. Oskar Simony, of the Imperial Institute of Geology. King Oscar of Sweden has interested himself in this expedition. He placed the steamer Gottfried at Dr. Muller's disposal, and induced his friend, Count Karl Landsberg, the famous Swedish Arabist, to go along. The Count has lived many years on the south coast of Arabia, and has won the friendship of several of the sheiks there.

Count Zichy is hard at work in Central Asia and Siberia searching for remnants of Hungarian tribes. Johann Janko, the celebrated geologist and ethnologist, and two other scientists are in the party. They set out from Tiflis and have traveled through Omska, Tomsk, Irkuts and in the region of Lake Balkash. The Count hopes to find the records Batu Kahn seized and took home with him after his famous raid into Europe in 1241. He has not found these records yet, but writes home that he has made interesting studies of manners and customs in Urga, Mongolia and the Burrat country, where the Shamans are. He has also learned much of the Magyars and succeeded in persuading a lama to photograph Bogodo Gegen, the presiding deity in one of the great temples. At one place where the party spent some time the temperature at 5 a. m. was 30 degrees, and rose by noon to 107 degrees. Count Zichy hopes to reach Peking in October.

K. I. Bogdanovich, the geologist, is exploring the region west of Kamchatka. He has worked day after day when the spirit thermometer recorded 40 to 50 degrees, and believes he has discovered the "snow pole."

Capt. Deasy has been working from headquarters at Yarkand trying to ascend the Yarkand River. He has explored the Takal and Makaif Rivers pretty thoroughly and tried to penetrate Northern Thibet, across the Kin Lun, but the absence of any vegetation and a range of snow-capped mountains have hindered him, as also did the hostility of the Amban of Kerla. So he went to Aksai Chin by way of Polu.

Herr Stadling has been to the delta of the Lena looking for traces of Andree, but without success. He was wrecked on an island 170 miles from the river's mouth, but some natives rescued him. He reached Anabar on a reindeer sledge and then went down Tarmyn Lake to Yenesei.

Advancing on the Poles.

Andree's ill-fated attempt to reach the pole reminds one of the project of some Frenchmen who are planning a balloon voyage in a warmer climate. Lieutenant Gabes, with two balloon experts, Leo Dey and Captain Dides, hopes to sail by the aid of northwest winds from the Gulf of Gabes to the middle Niger.

Besides the Andre search expedition under Stadling, Mr. Peary is working north with the good ship Windward and a company of Newfoundland sealers used to traveling ice fields. Captain Sverdup, Nansen's friend, has been battling in the same direction with that tight little craft, the Fram. Mr. Edward Bay, a young Dane of wealth and much enthusiasm for science, who was with Captain Ryder's Greenland expedition, is wintering on Melville Bay with a friend and a party of Eskimos from the northeastern Danish colonies, and will soon be striking further north.

Sir George Newnes, the proprietor of the Strand Magazine, has sent an expedition on the Southern Cross, which has been making its way south during the past five months. Borchgrevink is in charge. With him are Louis Bernacchi, the famous magnetician, and the zoologists, H. Hanse and Hugh Evans. So late as Nov. 20, 1898, they reported "all well" to the British steamer Ruahine. The Belgian Government has sent Captain Gerlach south for the same purpose—to find the south pole. This party is on a steamer that is to put in each winter at Australia to recoup, and then to start out again as soon as the ice begins to break. A German committee on Antarctic research proposes sending Dr. E. von Doygaltski to work along the meridian of Kerguelens Land, on the west side of Victoria Land. This point of attack, owing to its relative position with regard to the observatories at Melbourne and at Mauritius, will, it is thought, advantage magnetic investigations.

Africa, besides having balloonists sailing over its great desert, has a good number of explorers at work mapping her rivers, lakes and mountains. Major Gibbons is on the Upper Zambezi; Lieutenant Lemaire and a Belgian and eight other Europeans, including Dr. Holub, are to make Lake Miveru by the Nyasa route; Dr. Passarge is in the Nagami Lake region; Captain Chatlin is taking some Belgians up to the headwaters of the Nile, and Sir John Kirk, Dr. P. L. Sclater and others are at work in Central Africa.

Prof. Paladini has gone to Lake Urmia from Tabriz to study the reported rise in the level of that body of water, which the Archbishop of Philippopolis says threatens the whole surrounding country, having already submerged villages that five years ago were ten miles from its borders.

All these expeditions are working to increase the world's knowledge of geography, mineralogy and sociology, and there are fields still open for other adventurous spirits.

SOME OF THE UNEXPLORED REGIONS OF THE WORLD.

HOW THE CENSUS IS TAKEN.

Great Army of Men and Women Who Perform This Work.

Announcement has been made that Superintendent of the Census William R. Merriam has decided to select the 300 census supervisors during the coming summer and that patriots who desire to serve their country in that capacity had better begin work on their Senators and Congressmen who control these appointments. Before the census is completed, however, there will be work for an army of nearly 50,000 men and women. Under the law of 1889, which provided for the taking of the census of 1890 and of subsequent censuses, the Census office is made a bureau in the Department of the Interior. The superintendent is given an organization consisting of a chief clerk, a disbursing officer, ten chiefs of division, and stenographers, statistical experts, and clerks enough to enable him to do his work. For the census of 1900 at least 3,000 clerks will be needed. This force prepares all schedules and blanks, devises methods of accounts, and gets ready for actual work in the field.

WM. R. MERRIAM.

The whole country is then divided into 300 great districts, called supervisors' districts. These supervisors are appointed by the President and must be confirmed by the Senate. Under the law of 1889 each supervisor receives a sum of $125, in addition to which he gets $1 per thousand of population enumerated in thickly populated and $1.40 per thousand in thinly populated districts. This gives a sliding scale of remuneration, but no supervisor is to get less than $500. The first duty of the supervisors is to divide their supervisorss' districts into enumeration districts and report these divisions to the superintendent. The supervisors then select an enumerator for each of the smaller districts. In thickly settled communities the population of an enumerators' district should not exceed 2,500. An enumerator in such communities should complete this work in two weeks. In thinly populated districts and in the country thirty days are allowed by law. In 1890 the number of enumerators was about 42,000. In 1900 there will be many more.

Each enumerator must be a resident of his district and preference is given to men honorably discharged from the army or navy of the United States. The law of 1889 allows two cents for each name entered on the enumerator's schedule, except in sparsely settled communities, where two and one-half cents may be paid. For each name relating to a soldier's or sailor's window he gets five cents and for the facts about each death two cents. For securing the facts about each farm 15 cents is the pay and for each factory 20 cents. Where the enumerators are paid by the day $6 is the maximum.

Of course, the gathering of the names is a small part of the work of the Census bureau. Special agents are sent out to collect data on a great number of important subjects and an enormous amount of detail information is poured into the Census bureau at Washington, where it is classified and prepared for publication.

Recreation of Authors.

A very pleasant personal item that comes from across the sea states that Dr. Doyle is the most all-round representative sportsman among modern writers, though it is to cricket that he devotes most of his time. This is very true. Dr. Doyle's stock in trade is vigor. It is the continuous current of fresh air that runs through his work which more than any other quality has made it appeal to his readers everywhere; and while he is no mean adversary at billiards, or with the gloves, it is in the open that he comes into his own most conspicuously. The item goes on to say that Mr. Barrie is a fair cricketer, which we must all be glad to hear; that Mr. Lang golfs and fishes, which we have long suspected; that Bret Harte's one amusement is golfing, which has made us hopeful concerning one we have lost; that Mr. Swinburne swims when not composing, which is pleasing in view of the poet's occasional need of cooling; that Mr. Blackmore goes in for the growing of flowers and fruit; and that Mr. Hardy's recreations are chiefly confined to "arboriculture, architecture and cycling."

What Hall Caine does in his off hours we are not told, though we should very much like to know. We suspect, however, that when not actually engaged in writing, in collecting materials or in interviewing himself, Mr. Caine gets his recreation from the popular but not wholly exciting game of solitaire. There is a genial glow about the game of solitaire that suggests Mr. Caine in one of his most companionable moods. —Literature.

Army Pay in 1846.

In 1846 the rates of pay in the American Army, including the money value of commutations allowed, were as follows, the amounts given being for the month: Major-General, $308; Brigadier-General, $262.50; Colonel, $174; Lieutenant Colonel, $145; Major, $129; Captain, $79.50; First Lieutenant, $69.50; Second Lieutenant, $61.50. This was the pay of infantry and artillery. The pay of officers of cavalry and staff officers was as follows: Colonel, $199; Lieutenant Colonel, $170; Major, $149; Captain, $114.50; First Lieutenant, $89.83; Second Lieutenant, $89.83. It will be observed that there has been an increase of 50 per cent. in the average pay of officers.

Philip's Effective Prayers.

Not long ago New York friends presented Rear Admiral Philip with a handsome sword. When "Fighting Bob" Evans heard of it he said: "Philip deserves it not only because he is such a good chap generally, but because he prayed so loud with his twelve-inch guns off Santiago, July 3, 1898."

Women are foolish if they believe the fool things men say when they are in love.

A HANDSOME HOME.

HERE'S A MODERN DWELLING AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The Following Description Shows that a House in Order to Be Pretty Need Not Necessarily Cost a Great Deal of Money.

Modern dwellings, which add so greatly to the beauty of any locality in which they are erected, and which increase so much the comforts of life, are by no means the expensive dwellings that many suppose. Diversified as are the features of our country in climate, soil and position, no one style of architecture is properly adapted to the whole, and it is a gratifying incident to the indulgence in a variety of tastes that we possess the opportunity which we desire in its display to almost any extent in mode and effect.

Utility should always be the first and chief thing to consider in planning a suburban house. With a majority of home builders, it is the interior arrangement that receives the most consideration over that of the exterior effect. Especially so is it with the lady of the house. She lives inside the house, and that is the part which receives the most of her attention. Usually people have an idea that a house, in order to be pretty, must cost a great deal of money. It is true that many expensive houses are pretty and artistic, but it is merely because artistic sense and money were used together.

There are usually many good reasons why each person who builds should want a different house from his neighbors', both as to arrangement and external appearance. To build well, and to do so at a low price, is always desirable, and to build artistically, attractively, does not imply elaborate finish or profuse ornament. Often by a happy combination of plan and outline, a plain home will be more pleasing than an ornate and elaborate design.

Here is a very pretty home, which has an attractive appearance from all sides. The plans show a compact arrangement, while convenience has been the first consideration in the designing. Success in this, combined with a neat, well-proportioned exterior, gives us a combination attractive to all, and suitable for erection anywhere. For a person of moderate means wishing a pleasant home, with the interior comfort and conveniences it contains, we can with confidence recommend this design. It is quite modern, and contains a fair share of the modern conveniences. The foundation walls are of brick, and above the foundation the building is of wood.

A MODERN LOW-PRICED HOUSE.

In the first story are handsome porches with well proportioned entrances. From the front porch you pass direct into the stair hall, thence into the parlor, sitting room or dining room, or second story. The kitchen is to the rear of the dining room, and connected with it by a large butler's pantry.

The parlor, sitting room, dining room and hall are connected by wide sliding doors, enabling them to be thrown together on occasion. The sitting room and dining room have beautiful bay fronts which adds to the cheerfulness of the rooms. There is an open fireplace with a pretty mantel in the sitting room. The main stairs to the second story lead up from the front hall, and being of a very neat design, make an attractive feature to this room. The landing on the second floor is in the hall, from which are accessible the five bedrooms and bath room. The back stairs from first story to second story lead up from the kitchen and land in the same hall above. The inside cellar stairs lead from the kitchen. The stairs to attic, or third story, lead up from back hall in second story. The third floor has space for abundant storage.

The dimensions of the house are 33½ x47½ feet over all, except from porch. The height of the basement story is eight feet, of the first story ten feet and the second story nine feet. The outside walls are sheathed and papered, and finished with half-inch siding. Painting and plastering three coats. The interior of the house is finished in natural color woods. The house is of the best construction throughout, using only good materials and workmanship. The closets are shelved and hooked in the usual manner. The pantry is well fitted with cupboard and shelves, bins, tables, etc. The hardware is of best quality bronze.

The plumbing consists of bath room fitting with bath tub, water closet and wash bowl, with nickeled fittings. The kitchen has white enameled sink. Hot and cold water are carried over the house. A laundry is provided in the basement. The house is heated by hot air furnace and will cost $2,800 to erect complete.—E. A. Payne.

AN AUDACIOUS BANDIT.

For Years He Levied Tribute on the Mining Company of Mexico.

The most audacious and, magnanimous bandit that ever flourished in Mexico was Eraclio Bernal, who in the end died a miserable death. Bernal levied tribute on the mining companies of Mexico for years. The local authorities were powerless against him until the strong hand of President Diaz intervened.

ERACLIO BERNAL.

One of Bernal's great exploits was the robbery of the Jocuistita Mining Company, an American enterprise in charge of Capt. Rawlings. At 5 o'clock on a fine June morning Bernal came down from the mountains with eighty men. He placed guards at the mine, the mining office, the store and other important points. After rousing Capt. Rawlings from bed he assured him that he was exceedingly sorry to disturb him at so unseasonable an hour, but that his business was of the most urgent nature. In the first place, he asked for $200 in order that his robbers might buy food. He did not intend to rob poor storekeepers. As it happened, most of the money was spent at the company's store. Then he explained that he wanted $10,000. Capt. Rawlings said that he did not have this, and that even in a week he could not get together more than $5,000. All he had on hand was $4,000. This Bernal finally agreed to take.

When Bernal received his plunder Capt. Rawlings told him that he would have to account to his employers for the missing property and asked the robber if he would not kindly give him a receipt for it. Bernal cheerfully gave this. The bandit said that he would send later for $220 which Capt. Rawlings had retained for his workmen. Bernal explained that his messenger would bring a request for the money signed with the bandit's secret sign, of which he gave a specimen to Capt. Rawlings. The messenger came in due course.

Bernal's end was miserable. The robbed mining companies complained strenuously to President Diaz, who sent word to Gen. Martinez: "I give you three months to catch this man." Gen. Martinez took 2,000 soldiers, scoured the mountains, broke up the band and executed 300 robbers and suspects. For Bernal dead or alive he offered $10,000. A rancher named Garcia ran him down from ambush and shot him through the back.

No man can pay a woman a compliment that will sink as deep into her memory as those paid by her milliner.

Every one dislikes the man whose "intentions are good."

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffic as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....MAY 4, 1899.

NEARLY LICKED

Only Brandon Pulls Through on the Democratic Ticket

Though everything was quiet at the election yesterday, it seems that the voters were wide awake and did a good deal of thinking. It was a free for all fight and everybody that had a grudge took occasion to get even. And as often has happened, this cutting and slashing worked most harm to the democratic candidates. The total vote polled is 968 as egainit 578 last year, 677 the year before, and 703 in 1896. This vote in each case is for the first name on the ballot.

The following is the vote in detail.

	No.	Mid.	So.	Total	Maj.
TRUSTEE SECOND WARD
Ora Brandon d	108	127	124	359	50
J McDowell r	98	103	108	309
TRUSTEE FIFTH WARD
Geo. Rudolph d	92	108	106	306
S. S. Potter r	111	126	127	364	58
MARSHAL
C A Potter d,	89	106	127	322
E M Hilkey r	115	127	108	350	28
CLERK
Ed. Rommes d	99	106	104	309
C B Weaver, r	105	124	129	358	49
TREASURER
E M Fischler d	89	122	117	328
D A Hodge r	113	108	116	337	9

No Waste Nowadays.

(Wabash Plain Dealer.)

S. J. Peabody and the Boston firm, who are cutting the $15,000 lot of walnut timber on the Woods land in this county, are exercising care and economy in the work that would astonish the farmers who owned the many thousands of acres of timber land in this vicinity twenty-five years ago, could they but witness it. At that time the magnificent black walnut which grew in profusion along the Wabash and Mississinewa rivers had little value above oak or poplar, and millions of fence rails of this precious wood are yet in the rail fences of the county. Instead of felling the trees in the usual manner, cutting two or three feet above the ground, the exporters dig carefully about the roots of each forest giant and sever the roots far from the stump, leaving the tree practically intact, Every foot of the timber is thus saved, the stump which a few years ago was accounted worthless, being worked into veneers. It will take two years to remove all the timber from the 1100-acre tract.

At the Altar

As foreshadowed in Saturday's COURIER, there was a wedding of prominent young people that evening. The contracting parties are D. M. Link and Miss Blanche Shilling, the ceremony being performed by Rev. T. M. Guild, of the M. E. Church, and at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Bent Shilling. Only the two immediate families were present. The bride was dressed in white India linen, and of course looked charming. They go to housekeeping on North Main-st today in a well furnished home of their own.

These two prominent young couple need no introduction to COURIER readers, for Mr. Link is a well known and prosperous attorney, while the bride is equally well known as the efficient and pleasant lady who has been deputy in the county clerk's office for so many years. Both have a wide circle of admiring friends who will unite with us in wishing them an extra allowance of this world's good and both worlds' happiness.

Always Handy

That Dewey is a good name to pun with, as well as to conjure with is shown by this "Dewey Day" verse by a Kansas poet.

O Dewey was the morning,
Upon the first of May;
And Dewey was the admiral,
Down in Manila bay;
And Dewey were the regent's eyes,
Those orbs of royal blue.
And Dewey feel discouraged?
I Dew not think we do.

John F. Shaffer Dead.

By the kindness of Ed. Bishop, we learn the news of John Shaffer's death at Lexington, Ky. He was attending a convention of printers, when he suddenly took ill and fell dead. It is supposed it was heart trouble. The news came here in a telegram to his brother Norman who came to Mr. Bishop, whose wife is a cousin of the Shaffers, she being the daughter of Henry Shaffer of Allen county.

As Pleasant As Maple Syrup.

Most remedies have something unpleasant to the taste, and in consequence many people, especially children, dread the dose and put off entirely or delay the taking of the medicine that can do them good. Not so with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup pepsin—everybody likes its taste and when taken will cure constipation and all kinds "of stomach troubles." In 10c, 50c and $1.00 sizes.

WAR PRICES.

A Big Reduction In All Prices From 1865 to 1899.

The following actual bill of goods was recently shown the writer, by Hon. E W. Davis, a prominent farmer and business man of Laporte county. It is a bill of goods he bought of Guggenheim. Wile & Fox and is on their printed bill heads of that date. The column of figures headed "1865" shows the figures of cost in that bill; the column headed 1899 shows what the same articles would cost now, according to a list made out for Mr. Davis, by a present Laporte firm, the Davidson Brothers. Read and compare.

ARTICLES PURCHASED.	1865		1899
40 yds muslin unbl. at 60c	$24	00	$2	80
2 pr hose at 45c		90		50
10 yds bed ticking at 6 shillings	7	50	1	80
2 yds braid at 15c		30		20
5 yds calico at 2 shilling	1	25		25
14½ yds calico at 30c	4	30		87
10 yds calico at 28c	2	80		60
2 yds drilling at 40c		80		29
Total	$41	90	$7	22

Glass Pavement

(New York Post)

The city of Lyons has been experimenting with glass pavement. Since last November the Rue de la Republique has been paved with devitrified glass. This new product is obtained mainly from broken glass heated to a temperature of 1,250 degrees, and compressed in matrices by hydraulic force- The glass payment is laid in the form of blocks, eight inches square, each block containing sixteen parts in the form of checkers. These blocks are so closely fitted together that water cannot pass between them, and the whole pavement looks like one gigantic draught-board. As a pavement it is said to have greater resistance than stone, it is a poor oonductor of cold, and ice will not form on it readily, dirt does not accumulate upon it as upon stone, and it will not retain microbes. It is more durable than stone and just as cheap.

Do You Always Feel Well?

If you do you are a great exception to the rule. These American people are great slaves to their stomachs and in consequence many troubles arise, that unless headed off, cause much distress and suffering. A handy and sure relief from such troubles is what you want and this is found in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin which cures Constipation, Indigestion and sick headache.

AT BUTLER

The election there went republican on all the ticket except one councilman Charlie Madden formerly of this place, a brother of the Madden Marble men, here, was elected by 17 majority over a strong republican, Adolph Jones, while the republican candidate for marshal had a majority of 143.

New Blacksmith Shop.

I have located at the H. C. Shull blacksmith shop, formerly J. W. Shaffer's on South Main st. Will do general blacksmithing, horse-shoeing, etc. Horse-shoeing a specialty. My work for your money. My prices are right. 35 cents for old shoes and 60 for new ones. Call on me. L. E. Homsher.

A Kansas Minister.

Rev. L. S. Coulton, of Circleville, Ks, says: "Dr. Warner—Your Wine of Tar Syrup has been in my family and found to be all and even more than you claim for it. It is a speedy cure for all throat and lung diseases.

Davenport The Druggist.

Best of the Season

People from the country as well as from town will want to hear the first open air concert of the big Auburn Band, the first one of the season. Remember it is Wednesday evening, May 10.

PROGRAM.

March "Salute to Congress.....Niles
Overture, "William Tell".....Rossini
At A Georgia Campmeeting.....Mills
Waltz "LaReine De La Mer."...Sousa
Pilgrims, Chorus from Tannhouser,
.....Wagner
Selection, "A Gay Old Time"....Beyer
"The Darkies' Jubilee,".....Turner
Star Spangled Banner.

If You Want a Pair

of Easy House Slippers at a price within the reach of all,

COME QUICK

Don't put it off another day They are going fast—some very good ones left.

The Price is

73c and 97c

Per Pair. Worth $1.50 to $3.50

Bishop and Reidler

YOUR SHOEMAKERS.

Shirts

FOR BOYS AND MEN,

Shirt Waists and Wash Skirts

FOR LADIES,

is what we wish to talk to you about.

Never before have we shown such a magnificent line of these goods. Never before have we enjoyed so large a trade in this line. Goes to show that our line is what the people want. We feel safe in saying that never before has there been so many of these goods sold in Auburn, as we sold last Saturday. This week we will go to the manufacturer from whom we bought shirt waists and fill in our line.

Shirts - 50c to $2.75
Waists - 50c to $7.00
Skirts - $1.00 to $3.00

We Are Saving You Money.

Schaab & Bro.,

Auburn, Indiana.

The Demorest Contest.

A fair sized audience greeted the contestants at the Baptist church last evening. The presiding officer for the evening, was Mrs Balch of Indianapolis, who prefaced the regular business with some very appropriate remarks. Then she called on the contestants, one by one, in the order of their numbers, there being seven in all. They are:

No. 1. Della Hart, St. Joe, "One Standard for Both Sexes."

No. 2. Ruth Soule, Waterloo, "I'll take what Father takes."

No. 3. Gladys Halter, Garrett, "Tommy Brown."

No. 4. Frankie Elson, "On which side."

No. 5. Maud Porter, Waterloo, "Who struck the blow."

No. 6. Sherman Baber, Auburn, "The saloon keeper's story."

No. 7. Fay McDonald, Auburn, "An old man's story."

All did well; all had good selections and not one made a break or forgot a word. It was also highly creditable to those who had trained them. At the close, the three judges, Mr. Harrison and Mrs. Richards of our school and a traveling man from Detroit named Kemp, retired to the lecture room and compared notes. It was in this way decided that No. 4, little Miss Frankie Elson of Garrett was the winner. All the contestants were called up, and Mrs. Balch pinned the silver medal on her, while each of the others received a bouquet of flowers.

It should be added that Mrs. Cuppy sang a sweet solo to the accompaniant of her daughter Annie. The famous Hoosier Quartet were present and rendered some half dozen of the finest songs ever heard. It is hard to find a quartet equal to Widney, Quince, Bottenberg and Gaylord. They sing again tonight. Everyone should hear them.

HEBEL'S PRICES

Each person who buys a 25-cent purchase at Hebel's grocery, is given a 25 cent check. When he gets 8 of those checks, or what represents $2, he can take them to the grocery and get a cup and saucer, or a plate.

With $3 of these checks, he can get a pint bowl.

With $4 of checks, he is given an oyster bowl.

With $5 a cream pitcher.
With $6, a 5-inch nappie.
With $8 a 6 inch nappie.
With $8, a vegetable dish.
With $8 a gravy bowl.
With $9 a 4-pint pitcher.
With $10 a 7-inch nappie.
With $10 a 7 inch, round dish.
With $10, a 10-inchp latter.
With 12, an 8-inch, round dish.
With $14, an 8-inch nappie.
With $14, a sugar bowl.
With $15, a 5½ pint pitcher.
With $15 a 12-inch platter.
With $20, a covered urn.
With $25, a wash bowl and pitcher.

NOTICE!

I am prepared to do all kinds of typewritten work on short notice, and will guarantee perfect satisfaction to everybody. Can also take dictations accurately for you in shorthand and transcribe it correctly for you on the type-writer. Please bring me any work you wish to have done accurately and neatly, and I will do my best to please you.

Yours very respectfully,
W. B. Preston.

(With P. V. Hoffman, over Hebel's grocery.) d-6-

FOR SALE

The first two lots north of "Bab" Lewis' residence- One of them vacant, and the other a corner lot with large frame house, good cellar, woodhouse and summer kitchen, frame barn, good well and cistern, some fruit, and handy to the schools and church. Will sell the lots separately or both together. See the occupant, Mrs. Kitty Weaver. for price and other particulars. 15-18

Pulmonary Consumption.

My wife has long been troubled with weak lungs and was pronounced to be in the last stage of pulmonary consumption. She commenced taking White Wine of Tar and received relief at once and is now using the fourth bottle and her health is better than for many years We cheerfully recommend it to all.

Brookline Station, Mo. REV. J. R. FLY,
SUSAN E. FLY

Davenport The Druggist.

For Sale Cheap.

A wind mill, with tower, tank, force pump and piping, all in good order.
M E. GRISWOLD.

HUMPHREYS'

WITCH HAZEL

OIL

CURES

Piles or Hemorrhoids
Fissures & Fistulas.
Burns & Scalds.
Wounds & Bruises.
Cuts & Sores.
Boils & Tumors.
Eczema & Eruptions.
Salt Rheum & Tetters.
Chapped Hands.
Fever Blisters.
Sore Lips & Nostrils.
Corns & Bunions.
Stings & Bites of Insects.

Three Sizes, 25c, 50c. and $1.00.

Sold by druggists, or sent post-paid on receipt of price

HUMPHREYS' MED. CO., 111 & 113 William St., New York.

GYPSY ROMANCE

CHAPTER V.

The gypsy camp to which Dora Green and her people belonged was near the farm home of John H. Topper, and one on the farm of Henry Fales. But after she had trouble at the camp, she and her Irish husband located on Mr. Topper's farm in a piece of woods. But when Mr. Topper learned she was stuck on Lee Campbell and went out riding with him, he gave her to understand she could not stay on his place. That night she and Campbell went over to Campbell's father's and staid over. Soon after they had gone, her Irish husband began to be violent and break things, as he had already given her to understand he would put up with such conduct no longer. He smashed the dishes saying as each piece broke, "There goes one on Campbell." Then went to Newville, where he got enough liquor to make him nicely drunk. However, he and Bill Green another gypsy, came and staid all night in the tent. Next morning they got breakfast at Topper's and then went to the tent, and piled up tent, harness and wagon and burned them. At the camp near Newville were her father, mother, her brother John Green and another broth- Charles Green, who was a sort of preacher among them. When her people heard of the stories she had told of her wealth, they said it was not true, for she did not have any property except what was in her tent and the rig she had. Two days before she and Campbell were married, she came to Topper and asked privilege for herself and Campbell to stay all night saying she would give him $200, Topper refused to let them stay. One evening the Irishman came and asked Topper for some bullets but the latter refused to let him have any. It was apparent he wanted trouble. He had quarreled with Dora as soon as he saw she was stuck on Campbell, and before the tents was burned. One night Campbell was there and they quarreled about all night, and she kept awke all night for fear they would kill each, other and next morning Campbell took her horse and went to his father's, got a buggy and took Dora there. They came back next day, but Topper ordered them away, as neighbors began to object to such doings. That day she and Campboll drove to St, Joe where she went to buy shoes for her little girl. On their return, they put into the buggy as many of her things as they could carry in it, and went back to Campbell's. It was that night and next morning that the Irishman destroyed the entire outfit. Mr. Topper saw her Friday April 21, but thinks both she and Campbell will go on the road as gypsies, There is also a report out that since the marriage she went the preacher and made an excuse to get the marriage return which the minister sends back to the clerk, and that she has not yet given it back to him.

CLUB NOTES.

The Reading Club met with Mrs. Morris Eckhart last Wednesday afternoon. There was a good attendance, and the reading of the new book was commenced. "The Choir Invisible" by James Lane Allen is the title of the book. The club will meet this week with Mrs. Clarence Raut.

The L. L. C. met with Mrs. Willis Saturday afternoon. The work for the day was good. The first paper was given by Mrs. Schaab, "From the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico." Mrs. Schaab succeeded in giving to the Club an entertaining paper, although the subject seemingly was a broad and difficulit one. She gave the contrast of this large and fertile tract of our country as it appears today and when it was an unknown wilderness, bringing to the club a realization of the vast strides in the path of progress that our country has made in the present century. Mrs. Wilson sent to the club her paper entitled, "Historic Islands in the Gulf of Mexico." which recalled to mind many incidents in the settlement, by the French on the Gulf coast. Also giving much information that was new and of special interest. Mrs. Willis was unable to prepare her paper on the "Romance of Our History" but will give it in the future. Mrs. McCord gave in her stead, her trip "From Boston to Charleston along the Coast." Mrs. McCord gave a bright and chatty paper, as she, in imagination took this lovely trip and the members no doubt wished with her that they too could take this trip in reality. Neighborhood Gossip by the Club was next given; not the ill-natured gossip of the town in general, but bright pleasant bits of news, that might interest a company of intelligent women, Current Events were given and the Club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Ford next Saturday.

One Year at Manila.

One year ago last night Dewey sailed in through the passage into Manila bay, fired on from the shore batteries, and from the batteries on Corregidor Island in the middle of the channel, exploding also, as he went, a number of mines placed there to blow him up. At daylight May 1, he was inside and soon had the Spanish fleet destroyed. One short year has made a great deal of history.

Auburn's Population

As suggested by the COURIER, H. C. Shull took the entire population, when he enumerated the school children. The number inside the corporation is 2976. If we count the north and south ends that are outside it would make a little over 3200. The school children number 798, and he is hunting to find to find two.

What Can We ..Offer.. You

In the way of.....

HARDWARE and FARM MACHINERY

that will attract your attention?

We have the most complete stock ever seen in our city, and you know that, as usual, our prices are right

Do you need anything for spring that we carry

?

Do you know that we have built up a wonderful trade by right prices and right goods.

?

Do you know that we have the most complete stock of

Hardware,
Farm Machinery
Wagons and Buggins

in DeKalb County

?

If you will drop in and see us we will be able to convince you at once that we have the goods that you want, and the prices alone will tell the story.

Don't fail to see our Carriage Repository, it is the finest in Northern Indiana,

Culbertson & Boland,

Auburn, Ind.

FREE! FREE!

Rand, McNally & Co's. Universal Atlas of the World

Containing Entirely New Large Scale Maps of every State in the United States, and of Every Country in the World. This Atlas is the Edition of 1899, and has Special Maps of Cuba, Peurto Rico, The Philippines, and other war localities.

The Complete Work Embraces

64 Pages of artistically colored diagrams relating to imports, exports, populations, etc.
157 Pages of colored maps.
98 Pages of illustrated history and biography.
125 Portraits and biographies of eminent statesmen, soldiers, and writers.
An Index naming and locating every city, village, post office, railway, and express station in the United States, besides giving the latest official census complete.

Total number of pages, 456. Weighs eight pounds.
Size of book when closed, 11½x14½ inches.
Elegantly bound in Half Morocco. Sold for $6.00 at retail,

OUR OFFER:

We will give Atlas Checks at the rate of one with every 25 cents' worth of goods purchased. (Two for 50 cents, four for $1.00, etc.)

When you have secured 300 of these, take them to F. E. DAVENPORT'S DRUG STORE, and you will receive a copy of the Atlas gratis.

Auburn, Indiana.

M. JONES & SON, Dry Goods.
BISHOP & BEIDLER, Boots and Shoes.
M. E. GARRETT, Groceries.
F. E. DAVENPORT, Drugs, Books and Stationery.
SHEFFER & CHANY, Meats.
PIONEER HARDWARE CO., Hardware, Stoves, etc.
J. H. NEHER, Photographer (Hoffman Gallery).
MRS. A. C. LEAS, Millinery.
D. A. HODGE, Jewelry.

REMEMBER

That you do not have to secure the 300 checks at any one store.
That checks from all the above stores count.
That you have a whole year in which to secure 300.
That you must ALWAYS ASK FOR THE CHECKS.
That none other but ATLAS CHECKS count
THAT YOU CAN SECURE THE SAME CHECKS AT WATERLOO AND GARRETT.

Monday Was Dewey Day

THIS REMINDS US THAT IT'S THE MONTH OF MAY!

..Time For Summer Goods!

As you have torn the April leaf off the calander, your thoughts naturally turn to warmer days. We are going to MAKE YOU COMFORTABLE by selling you 100 DEGREE GOODS at ZERO PRICES.

Shirt Waists

In all the latest, Spring coloring and styles, in Percales, Lawns, Stripes, Checks, Solid Col's 50 cents. Highest Grade Washable waists, in Madras, Piques, Ginghams, Organdies, Dimities, Percales, entirely new fronts. $2. down to $1. All Silk Waists: and a new line of handsome stripes, new Colorings and combinations. We know they will please you. The price is only $3.50.

Dress Skirts

These items alone make a trip to the Big Store, and up to our second floor, decidedly worth while. New and desirable styles have been added. Stylish Skirts in Silk, Serges and Crepons.

Wash Fabrics.

A beautiful assortment of the choicest products in Wash Fabrics for warm weather wear. Imported Organdies, dainty designs and colorings, 5c, up. Imported Irish Dimities, handsome designs and colorings, 5c up. French Piques and English Welts, in demand for stylish Skirts, Checks and stripes.

Summer Gloves

Extraordinary values offered to start the demand for these warm weather necessities. Women's 2-clasp Gloves, in all the popular colors, well made, 75c. One lot Chamois, for cycling and driving at 40c.

Undermuslins

Skirts, many styles, well finished, well worth 75c on sale at 50c. Gowns, Best quality Muslin Gowns, very wide and long, trimmed, 50c up. Corset Covers, in all shapes, material and trimmings, on sale at 25c Drawers shown in a variety, Muslin or Cambrics, hemstitched hem at 25c up.

Tailor Suits

Stylish Fly front suits in all the popular colorings, Jackets lined throughout, worth readily $7. now $5.

New Millinery

Hats designed especially to match your gown. This department grows still more interesting and is daily crowded with pleased patrons.

Ladies' Neck Wear

The new Silk Butterfly Bows in all colors, large assortment. $1.50 down to 25c. Ladies' Linen Collars, every new style and size, just in, on sale at 10c Ladies' Embroidered and Scalloped Lace Edge Handkerchiefs at 5c.

Parasols

An exquisite showing of those handsome new Summer Parasols, for Ladies', Misses' and Children, changeable effects, chiffon trimmed, fancy checked and bordered. 25c up to $4.

Fans

On the very threshold of Summer. You'll need a fan. We carry a large assortment from the palm leaf up to the more elaborate. Prices lower than ever.

Corsets

We display a very attractive line of Corsets in all the celebrated makes. A good Summer Corset for only 25c.

Belt Buckles

In Cut Steel and French Enameled in new designs, new novelties for those pretty belts for summer wear.

New Ribbons

In all the handsome Summer colors, an elaborate showing that certainly surpasses, as you will admit, anything in the county.

House Wrappers

Those comfortable, cool gowns are now in demand. Well made and trimmed. Figure the cost of goods and making and you will see why we are selling so many wrappers. Prices from $1 35 down to 49c

GEO. W. LACKEY,

Successor to the Bishop & Lackey Co. — Auburn, Ind.

IDEAL MUSIC,

"Sweet as the angel Israfil's,
When every leaf on Eden's tree
Was trembling to his minstrelsy."

can be produced from an EBERSOLE PIANO. The Ebersole possesses a tone that no other maker has been able to imitate—being full and deep, yet with that clear singing quality which stamps it the peer of all upright pianos for homes of culture and refinement.

Frank B. Long,

119 Calhoun-St- cor Washington, Fort Wayne, Ind.

William's Kidney Pills

Has no equal in diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs. Have you neglected your Kidneys? Have you overworked your nervous system and caused trouble with your Kidneys and Bladder? Have you pains in the loins, side, back, groins and bladder? Have you a flabby appearance of the face, especially under the eyes? Too frequent desire pass urine? William's Kidney Pills will impart new life to the diseased organs, tone up the system and make a new man of you. By mail 50 cents per box.

WILLIAMS MFG. CO., Props., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

BINDER TWINE Our famous BLUE LABEL BRAND. It's the best in the world. Price will surprise you. We deliver from Chicago, Omaha or St. Paul, as desired. Write for prices and samples.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., CHICAGO

PILES Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment will cure Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles. It absorbs the tumors, allays the itching at once, acts as a poultice, gives instant relief. Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is prepared for Piles and Itching of the private parts. Every box is warranted. By druggists, by mail on receipt of price. 50 cents and $1.00. WILLIAMS MANUFACTURING CO., Props., Cleveland, Ohio.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

An Obstinate Sore Cured.

Jas. G. Amnertof, Della, O. writes: I had an obstinate sore on my face which everything else failed to heal, after one application of Banner Salve it began to heal and after three applications it was entirely healed leaving no scar.

LOW RATES TO MINNEAPOLIS,

On account of the annual meeting, General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, the Chicago & North-Western Railway will sell low rate tickets to Minneapolis and return on May 16-18, limited to June, 3, 1899, at one fare plus $2 00. Tickets honored on the North-Western Limited, electric lighted throughout, leaving Chicago daily 6:30 p. m. Other trains leave Chicago at 9:00 a. m, 10:00 p. m. and 10:15 p. m. For full information apply to any ticket agent or address.

H. A. Gross, 461 Broadway, New York City,

W. M. Burgard 301 Main street (Ellicott Square), Buffalo, N. Y.

A. H. Waggener, 6 Jackson place, Indianapolis. 18 19

HALF RATES TO SAN FRANCISCO,

Via the Chicago & North-Western Railway. Quickest time, grandest scenery, variable routes, perfect service. Excursion tickets will be sold at reduced rate of one first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets on sale May 14-17, limited to return until July 15, 1899, inclusive, account of meeting of National Baptist Societies' Anniversaries. For rates and other information ask your nearest ticket agent or write

A. H. Waggener, 6 Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind. 18 19

GREATLY REDUCED RATES TO DENVER,

Via Chicago & North-Western Railway. On account of the annual meeting, General Assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, to be held in Denver, May 18-26, 1899, excursion tickets will be sold at the favorable rate of one fare plus $2.00 for the round trip, with favorable return limits. Tickets on sale May 15-16, 1899. For rates and other information ask your nearest ticket agent or apply to

A. H. Waggener, 6 Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind. 18-19

Untortunate People

are they who while suffering from Kidney Diseases are prejudiced against all advertised remedies. They should know that Foley's Kidney Cure is not a quack remedy, but an honest guaranteed medicine for Kidney and Bladder troubles. 50, and $1.00 a bottle.

Excursion to San Francisco, Cal.

Account of the National Baptist Anniversaries the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry., will sell tickets to San Francisco and return at very low rates on May 14, 15 and 16 with final return limit to July 15, 1899. This offers an exceptionally good chance for a cheap trip to the Pacific coast. Particulars can be obtained from ticket agents.

Saturday's Daily.

—Phil Plum of Waterloo was down here today.

—Nothing Finer than McCord's Chocolate Ice Cream Soda. 28-1-w

—FOR SALE—A self-heating copper lined bath tub. Call here.

—The Genuine Vernor's Ginger Ale at McCord's Soda Fountain. 28-1w

—It looks more cheerful to see the fine Penfield home occupied again.

—Good job for carriage painter.
WM. ECKHART.

—Farmers report a fair fruit prospect in spite of the severe winter. Even peaches show signs of life.

—FOR SALE: A few choice Jessie and Crescent Strawberry Plants, 25 cents per hundred. I. M. JOHNSON.

—Another big lot of Outing shoes at Bishop & Beidler's, at 49c, Youth's, Boys' and Mens'.

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co., Goshen, Ind. 8

--At the afternoon session yesterday at the Baptist church, Mrs. L. E. Lane presented the W. C. T. U. with a fine picture of Mrs. Frances Willard one she had painted herself.

—John Robbins came home today from a two weeks trip in the central part of the state. He says they have good wheat down that way, and business is therefore much better.

—Read the "War Prices" we publish today. The COURIER is always giving valuable information. This table will show that the cost of things is about oue sixth of what is was then. though wages are almost as high thus giving a great advantage to the wage earner.

—The Auburn Band will give their first open air concert for the season on the evening of May 10. The concerts will be given on Wednesday nights this season, owing to the churches having their prayer meeting on Thursday evenings. Don't forget, May 10. The program will appear later.

—Fleming, the greenhouse man, is an experienced agriculturist from the old country, where his brother was a miller. He said they made it a point to cut their wheat when it was in the milk, just before it turned hard and it made better flour and more of it. He said the flour would fill the sack in which the wheat came to mill.

—The next Sunday School Institute in Newville township will be held in the U. B. church at that place, Monday, April 21, forenoon, afternoon and evening. H. W. Magginis the township president was here yesterday and assures us they will have a good program, and assisted by the two home pastors, Rev. Chas. Krebel, of the U. B. church, and Rev. Charles Oakley, of the Christiam church.

Monday's Daily.

—Try "Vola" at McCord's Soda Fountain. 28-1-w

—Hon. Nick Ensley is up from Indianapolis today.

—Ask any druggist for a free Peruna Almanac for the year 1899.

—J. F. Kagey called at the COURIER today and has thanks for favors.

A lovely rain came soon after daylight this morning and will do a vast amount of good.

—Don't think about buying shoes until you have seen the new styles at Shull's shoe store. D-W-tf.

—WANTED:—A second hand wind mill. Steel derrick preferred. Address Box 351, Waterloo Ind.

—The finest Bicycle Shoes made, Elk skin, used by all the professional riders, at Bishop & Beidler's.

—Band concerts on the public square this season will be on Wednesday evenings. Please bear his in mind. tf

—Fred Johnson near St. Joe has plowed up about twenty acres of wheat and sowed it to barley. The wheat looked fine last fall.

—Marion Dermott's oldest boy, who broke an arm a year or so ago, recently put the same arm out of joint. He is having a streak of luck.

—MARRIED:—At the residence of and by Rev. W. O. Butler, April 29, 1899, Wm. R. Campbell to Miss Sylvia Staley, both of DeKalb county.

—Mrs. Wayne Zonker of Fairfield was a caller today, and with an eye to correct business paid the COUIERR to 1900. That plan helps the printer.

—A Battle For Life. You need for perfect health a plentiful and constant supply of new blood. Begg's Blood Purifer and Blood tones the stomach and assists digestion. We sell it. H. B, McCord.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Widney go to Lakeside now where he will put the cottage and garden in shape. Then they go to Bellville, and when Lakeside meetings begin will come back and stay the summer.

—Mr. Lodewick took out to his farm this morning 450 young fruit trees for planting. They are cherries, peaches and pears and this large bill shows he is going to keep up his efforts to furnish Auburn with fruit.

—Oliver Camp, of Ashley, was down Saturday evening on his wheel from Ashley, to attend to some business matters. While here he took a look over our splendid waterworks and electric light plant. He says he has some fair wheat this year, though not as good as last season.

—Father Juraschek of St. Michael's church, Smithfield was here this forenoon and took the south bound train for Fort Wayne. He says the entertainment given by the young men and women of his vicinity at Waterloo Friday evening was a success and did the young people much credit.

Tuesday's Daily.

—"Vola", New Drink at McCord's Soda Fountain. 28-1-w

—Scrub your floors and wood work with Carpetine, tf

—Ex-trustee Joseph Wilson of Stafford was in town today.

—Remove the grease and stains from your carpets with Carpetine.

—Ice Cream by the dish pint, quart or gallon at H. B. McCord's. 28-1w

—North Main-st residence for sale. Easy terms. Inquire at this office.

—Surveyor Krontz went over into Butler township today to do some work there.

—T. J. Baxter, of Summit, was a caller yesterday, and has thanks for business favors.

FOUND:—A good mackintosh cape found near the Mission. Inquire there any evening.

—Martin Hook was in town today and paid his taxes and COURIER, on time as usual.

—For the largest line of Hammocks, Croquet Sets etc at Bottom Prices, go to H. B. McCord's. 28-1-—Something new in Bicycle Shoes. You are not fixed well for riding without them. At Bishop & Beidler's.

—If you want the latest styles and the best good shoes to be had for the money patronize Shull's shoe store.

—Herman Brown closed his school at Rome City last week and is home again He had a most successsul and satisfactory year.

—Willis Wilson, of Stafford, is one of our latest new subscribers to the weekly. We are always glad to get such names.

—Talking about styles in shoes. if you want the real thing, call at Shull's shoe store and take a look at the new styles for spring. D-W-tf.

—Commissioners are in session today and have some settlements with trustees. The trustees of Smithfield and Franklin were in today and perhaps others.

—Remember, that when in need of a vehicle of any kind you can always find what you want at D. N. Myer's sales room, in Auburn. Surreys, Bug-Phaetons, etc.

—Bert Beidler's little boy got his fingers into the cogs of the wringer today, and one finger was considerably mashed, but will not probably be permanently injured.

—HOMES WANTED:—For three orphan boys, seven, eight and nine years of age. Country homes preferred. Call on either Rev. J. D. Brosy or Rev. T. M. Guild, Auburn, Ind.

—Fleming has an abundance of fine roses of all colors in bloom now, as well as carnations. He has on sale all kinds of flower and garden plants. Call on him for fresh plants.

—Our old Concord friend Jacob Dermott called today and paid a year ahead as usual. He is in poor health, which we are sorry to see. He reports wheat very poor down that way.

—SEED POTATOES FOR SALE:—Dirt cheap. Early ones for 35c a bushel; late ones 25c. Good varieties that have been tested. Come to the farm 5 miles N. E. of Auburn. JOHN WEIMER.

—Jacob Eckert of Fairfield called yesterday and paid his and his brother William's paper into 1900. He was accompanied by his little son Russel and his little Auburn friend Hattie Baxter

—BEGG'S HAIR RENEWER.—The old reliable Hair Restorer and Invigorator, for over thirty years the leader in its line. If you give it a trial you will recommend it to your friends. Sold by H. B, McCord.

J. Wm. Wagner, G. I. Patterson and a number of others interested in the settlement of Ex-clerk Moody's accounts, were here today. As bondsmen they have to be called together now and then to fix things up —Auburn Culture Club Library will be open as follows: Wednesday afternoon, from 2 to 5 o'clock, and evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. Saturday afternoon from 4 to 5:30 o.clock, and evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. At Cowan Sisters.

—Begg's Cherry Syrup gives you the essential qualities of the cherry tree bark from which it derives its name. It cures your stubborn colds, coughs of long standing and croup. It is the best known cure for LaGrippe. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—M. B. Masters today took pity on the printers, whom he had seen splitting green wood, with apoor ax all the recent bad weather, and brought us in a better one all ready to run. Now the office force all want to use the new ax, and all we need is a little more wood.

—Dr. Swarts is rearranging and remodeling his bath house. It was formerly supplied with water from the roof, which ran into a tank within. Now the tank is to be taken out and the supply of water will come from the city pipes. The roof will also be made over.

—Judge Roby has gone up to Michigan City to present to the Board of Pardons that meets there to morrow, the proper papers in the case of Borst and Sawvel, which comes up for action. They will we suppose soon be home, and as far as we have heard, people are willing to see them free.

—AGENTS WANTED:—For "The Life and Achievements of Admiral Dewey," the world's greatest naval hero. By Murat Halstead, the life-long friend and admirer of the nation's idol. Biggest and best book; over 500 pages, 8x10 inches; nearly 100 pages halftone llustrations; map in colors. Only $1.50 Enormous demand. Big commissions outfit free. Chance of a lifetime. Write quick. The Dominion Company Caxton Bldg., Chicago.

—The newspaper is gradually widening its field of usefulness. A farmer down near Valparaiso buys up all the old newspapers he can get, tears them in shreds, soaks them in sour milk until they are reduced to a pulp, and then feed the mass to his chickens. He claims that his egg product is largely increased by this diet.

—One of our latest new subscribers to the Weekly, is Frank Feagler, who is up at Montpelitr, Ohio, working in the interest of the Greenler Company. His wife is a daughter of Wm. Ensley, and we suspect that she had the casting vote in getting the paper she has read all her life at home. At any rate, we are glad to add them to our list.

—Unclaimed letters remaining in the Postoffice, week ending May 2, 1899. Miss Fern McDougal, Miss Blanch Mavin, Joseph Saylor, M. A. Rafter, Wm. Crale, Mr. Wilbert McNatt, D. J. Taylor & Co., and Macintosh—"timberman." Claimants will please call for letters in advertised list.
G. H. FORKNER, Postmaster.

—They tell a good joke on Mrs. Felske, formerly Miss Blanche Long. When she was here the other day with her own baby, they made her believe that her sister Mrs. LaDue, had twin babies. The joke was all the more easy as she had not heard of the new baby at her father's house, which for this occasion was counted in as one of twins.

—Do you understand that the persistant use of BEGGS BLOOD PURIFIER and BLOOD MAKER will drive disease germs out of your system and life will be worth living. You cannot cure in one week or one month, a blood trouble that has been years in getting a foothold. BEGGS LITTLE GIANT PILLS should be taken twice a week with this remedy. We keep it. Howard McCord.

—A. Wheelock came back today from Virginia where he had been to secure some bridge building contracts. He secured three of them, and could have had more, but thought it would be all he cared to handle at present. They are located in Nottaway Co., about twenty miles from Richmond. He says all that part of the country is being boomed by northern men. The crops of all kinds are good there.

—Isaac Jones, who came from Paxton, Ill., last Saturday talks very interestingly of that place. He says it is a live town, of over 4,000 people, a large part of whom are Swedes. He says they are a very saving and industrious people, but hardly up to the American standard. He says the DeKalb folks are doing well and Cool factory prospering. Mr. Stevens who used to be connected with the Dispatch, is in that town, and is prospering.

—S. Z. Dickinson of Waterloo was here today having returned from his recent visit with his sons at Hillsdale and Tecumseh, leaving them all well, Will isat Tecumseh now in the jewelry business. Charles has rented out his meat market to another party and will put in the summer settling up his old accounts. O. C. Dickinson is ticket agent at Hillsdale for the Lake Shore road. He is learning to write with his left hand, as the other has become lame.

Wednesday's Daily.

—Another fine shower last evening and everything grows now.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Widney went to Lakeside yesterday noon.

—An electric line will be built to connect Terre Haute and Brazil.

—The University of Vincennes was the first college established in Indiana. It was incorporated in 1806.

—The old "28th Battery," is being reorganized at Fort Wayne. Nearly enough names have already been secured.

—A meteoric stone or ærolite, is reported to have fallen in Vincennes yesterday striking a brick pile and smashing them to flinders.

—Pendleton people have enjoined the town board from putting in brick streets and light and water plants. Over two-thirds are against the improvement.

—James Whitcomb Riley will be at Fort Wayne May 16, to give readings of his poems, The meetings will be at the Princess Rink, and seats are being taken rapidly.

—Frank B. Long the popular piano man has sold one of those splendid Ebersole pianos to Auditor Seiler. Mr. Long is a hustler and as he has a good piano, of course he succeeds.

—Ben. Heist waived examination on charge of stealing the watch, so that the case will not come up before the justice but will be taken into court when the next session begins.

—When Kendallville people find a young lady is going to be married soon, they gather at her home and give her a "kitchen shower." That means a shower of kitchen articles for her future use.

—Mrs. Penfield brings word from Washington that J. R. Lamson has had a severe attack of sickness in the form of erysipelas, from which he suffered greatly for a time. He was recovering, however, when she came away.

—Wash Askew can drive like the driving of Jehu, when he must. Last evening he started down west 7th after the Lake Shore train had whistled for the station, to accommodate a belated traveler who swayed widely from side to side within the flying bus. But he made it.

—Kendallville Sun:—A woman from Green townsnip, who has been selling rolls of butter to Churubusco dealers with a brick in the center of each of them, was caught last week. She cried and begged so piteously that no steps were taken to prosecute her for the deception.

WE OFFER THIS WEEK

The Second Shipment!

Misses' and Boy's Fast Black, one by one Rib Stocking, sizes running 5 to 10

Our Price 10c Pair

This same stocking is retailed by other stores at 15c and 25c a pair.

Children's Long Sleeve Gauze, sizes 18 to 26,

Our Price 12 and 18c Each.

Infant Vests

10c Each

Ladies' and Misses' Vests

5, 10, 15, and 23c Each

Men's Fancy Colored Shirts, collars and cuffs detached, size $14\frac{1}{2}$ to $18\frac{1}{2}$

45 to 48c Each

Boys' Fancy Colored Shirts, collars and cuffs detached, size $12\frac{1}{2}$ to 14

40, 45 and 48c Each

VALEN LACE

Come while we have the assortment. A big line to select from. All widths to trim your summer dress with,

2c to 8c per Yard

Damasks pretty colors for drapery and upholstering

8c to 10c per Yard

India Linens for summer dresses. We have them for 8, 10, 15 and 16c per Yard

Baby Embroidery Bonnets - 10 to 48c Each.

GROCERIES.

Jelly in one quart Mason cans in all flavors 10c quart.
9 bars of Jackson soap for 25c.
Cameo soap the same as Ivory, 2 cakes for 5c.
Heckim Bulk Coffee, 10, 12, 14 and 18c pound.
50 feet of cotton clothes line for 10c.
Lemon Extract 5 and 8c bottle.
Vanila Extract 5 and 10c bottle.

Bazar Store,

AUBURN, IND.

Do You Know Anything

prettier in the picture line than the Oval Photograph Mounts. They are very popular and add much to the artistic effect of the picture. You can procure pictures on oval mounts of any tint desired.

O. E. Lybarger,
The Photographer

HIGHEST 1899 GRADE

BICYCLE

GENT'S COLUMBIAN $20.50 LADIES' COLUMBIAN

BEST BICYCLE BUILT!

FACTORY TO RIDER DIRECT.

All we require is $1.00 down, balance payable after examination,
We are the only factory in the United States selling direct to rider.
We guarantee our goods for two years—most liberal guarantee ever given.
We give more options than the regular dealers. You can have your choice of color, heighth of frame, or any gear desired.
Our bicycles have all the latest improvements—large tubing, flush joints, large sprockets, arched fork crown, drop hanger, etc.
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE GIVING FULL DESCRIPTION, TODAY.

Columbian Cycle Co.,
Cleveland, Ohio.

The Conscience Fund

Advices from Washington say that Mr. Meikeljohn assistant secretary of war has received a conscience fund contribution of $10 in gold coin. The contributor in his letter said:

"This is for stationery of the government used and destroyed by me while in the war department.
(Signed) "EX-CLERK."

Mr. Meikeljohn transmitted the contribution and the letter to the secretary of the treasury.

This reminds us, that not long ago, A. J. Ralston received a quarter through the mail with the explanation that the sender had taken it from him in his store many years before. He said he had taken it from the till on the south side, but gave no name and Mr. Ralston does not know who the sender is,

Letter-Rhymes.

Oh, merchant, in thine hour of, c c c,
If on this paper you should c c c,
Take our advice, and now be y y y,
Go straightway out and advert t t t
You'll find the project of some u u u
Neglect can offer no ex q q q.
Be wise at once, prolong your da a a
A silent business soon de k k k—

CHILD IS A CRIMINAL.

QUEER STATEMENT OF A MODERN EDUCATOR.

Dr. G. Stanley Hall, Who Is Combating Kindergarten Fads—Too Much Sickly Sentiment in Rearing Children Makes a Race of Weaklings.

Quite a little tempest was stirred up by Dr. G. Stanley Hall, president of Clark University, Worcester, Mass., by his expressed views on children, wherein he combats present theories and tendencies.

"Every child," says Dr. Hall, who by the way is the foremost psychologist of the country, "is a born criminal. All children are murderers. The angry child doubles up its puny fists and strikes its mother. The blow is a mere tap, it does no harm and the mother perhaps does not even feel it. But that she is not killed or severely injured is not because of lack of will upon the part of the child, but of physical weakness. In his primitive, savage state a man fought with his neighbor over a bone in a cave. His one thought was to secure the greatest possible advantage for himself. So it is among children. They have no logical idea whatever of right and of wrong. Everything is a matter of expediency. Unless Tommy is a mere mannikin, a namby-pamby little milksop, he doesn't refrain from stealing apples because his conscience troubles him. Not a bit of it; he hasn't any conscience to trouble him. If he lets green apples alone it is for one of two reasons only—he knows that his mother will whip him if he eats them, or he knows by hard experience that the pain of stomach ache more than offsets the pleasure of eating. In a child's mind the fear of punishment takes the place of moral reasoning. As he grows older by nature's processes he becomes a reasoning animal.

DR. G. STANLEY HALL.

"What I contend for is the exercise of plain common sense and the acceptance of facts rather than fine-spun theories. Now, for example, the kindergarten spends a lot of time telling the club women that they must not punish their children. Oh, no, the dear little things must never hear a cross word, much less feel a smart slap. Punishment must come upon the child as the natural result of its misdemeanor. Nature, and not the mother, must administer a castigation. I grant that this theory is all right, but I can prove by the mothers themselves that in nine-tenths of the ordinary childish high jinks it won't work. Now, a child puts its tiny, tender hand on a hot stove and is burned. Not many mothers, I fancy, give their children a whipping on such occasions. Common sense tells them that the child has suffered enough, and will apply the lesson. But suppose a boy plays hooky, suppose he won't carry in wood, what thunderclap is going to fall on him out of the sky? In a case like this I believe a thorough dose of Dr. Spank's remedies is the best specific. Mothers can raise children without a kindergarten formula. Knowledge can be applied without its having been reduced to a system. Children are animals. They are dear, sweet little things, I admit, but animals just the same.

DR. G. STANLEY HALL'S SYSTEM OF EDUCATION.
—Chicago Times-Herald.

"The idea of teaching a child to turn its left cheek when it is struck on the right one! Fiddlesticks! Unless you want to make a selfish, knock-kneed weakling of him, teach him to double up his fists and strike back. Now, there would, of course, be limitations to this course. Some boys are so pugnacious by nature that they ought to be discouraged a little, rather than encouraged to fight. Generally speaking, I believe in healthy children's quarrels and fights. When I went to school in the country we all knew who could whip the rest of us. We used to stand up and fight it out for hours. I don't believe in too much tenderness. I think we are in danger of becoming over-sentimental, rather than overbrutal. Physical courage is the foundation for moral courage later in life. One is to the child and the savage what the other is to the grown and cultured man.

"One of the most effective means of discipline in reform schools is the teaching of boxing. When an incorrigible boy is unable to control his temper teach him boxing. In a boxing match he has to control his temper or he gets hit. He misses his guard and his opponent punches him. Anger is a species of epilepsy and destroys for a moment the mind's balance. I think every boy ought to learn boxing, but I don't advocate teaching it in the public schools. We can't have everything which it may be desirable to know taught in the public schools. The system is crammed and jammed to overflowing now. Life must not be made too easy. Plenty of children nowadays, especially the children of the rich, are suffering from having too much pleasure. They are surfeited with pleasure. Their minds are filled with goody-goody sentimental stories. They will grow up to be selfish milksops. A child who has nothing to do but enjoy himself will become a degenerate, selfish man. Luxury brings decay. I believe in pain and pleasure both. Every soul needs to experience the extremes of pain and pleasure. But pain is the great educator. Hunger and cold, and a hundred other sufferings are nature's great spurs.

"I believe in punishment for children. I believe in corporal punishment in the schools. It should not be carried to excess, but the fact that an incorrigible boy knows that the teacher may whip him is a tremendous support to the teacher. I don't want to whip a boy severely, but if I am to control him I want him to know that I can give him a licking. You would break a man's leg to reset it straight, and sometimes it is necessary for the good of a child that he have his will broken. I believe in allowing children to bully and 'fag' each other at school within reason. The English have the right idea in their schools. The children there soon find out who is the master."

Chums in the Senate.

Speaking of the coincidence of two college classmates representing Vermont in the United States Senate at the same time, the Chicago Tribune recalls the fact that Hitchcock and Ingalls, who served in the Senate together, were not only members of the same class at Williams, but had been roommates. There are two Senators who were born within a farm or two of each other—Beveridge and Foraker.—Saturday Evening Post.

About all the consolation a man has is that when his widow reads on his tombstone that he was a good husband she may be convinced at last.

WHY THE AMERICAN GUNNERS ARE THE BEST.

That the marksmanship of the gunners in the American navy is the best in the world is admitted even by British experts. The accompanying chart, prepared by one of them, compares the results of target practice by the men of the United States battleship Texas, which holds the record in the American navy for 1898, and those of her majesty's protected cruiser Imperieuse, the flagship of the British Pacific squadron. The record of the American gunners is 93 per cent of hits, while that of the English is only 50 per cent.

Credit for the superior marksmanship shown is given to the greater opportunities for target practice given by the regulations of the United States navy. In 1898 we spent $1,000,000 on target practice, while for the much larger English navy less than $750,000 is allowed.

In the English navy there is one trial practice each month and an annual prize firing, but the allowances of ammunition are so small that the practice is small.

Under the present regulations each United States war vessel is allowed fourteen opportunities for practice firing at sea. The ranges employed by the navy are from 800 yards for the small guns to 3,000 yards for the large. The speed of the ship must exceed eight knots. Under the regulations in force prior to July, 1897, each ship must be prepared as if for battle on two occasions during each year, and two prizes, one of $5 and $10, may be awarded for every twenty-five men who take part in the practice.

On the accompanying chart most of the American shots are seen to have struck at or below the water line, where they will do the most damage. Many of the British shots, on the other hand, are represented as striking the funnels or rigging of the vessels, where they are comparatively harmless. One reason for the greater percentage of American hits below the water line is due to the fact that American gunners fire when the opposing ship is on the downward roll, while the gunners of other nations generally "cut loose" when their opponent is riding.

The circus clown dates his origin back to the very beginning of the circus itself and from time immemorial he has been one of its most important features. During the growth, development and improvement in everything else he has by no means been left behind. He is funnier now and can do more tricks than ever before. In the old days one clown sufficed to satisfy the demands of all show goers. To-day even an ordinary show needs two Marks, two Topsies and four "Siberian bloodhounds." You could no more have a circus without clowns than you could have a masquerade ball without masks or pink lemonade without any pink in it. Clowns are even a little more important in a circus than the animals or the acrobats. Probably no one ever enters a circus tent to whom the clown does not appeal. To the older folks there is more fascination about the clown than they would like to acknowledge, for there is enough of the boy and girl in every man and woman to rivet the gaze on every antic of the clowns. Circus men keep their finger tips pretty close to the public pulse and the ever-present clown is a sure indication that his presence and his didos are immensely pleasing to show goers. For many years clowns never appeared without the traditional whitened face and baggy costume which the brilliant mule often used to pretend to mistake for hay, but with the burlesquing of the former and everybody else the clowns who do caricaturing find it necessary to lay aside their white paste and ghostly attire and adopt exaggerated imitations of the striking points of the dress of the characters they are imitating. So popular have become the clown features of a great circus in recent years men are beginning to have rivals and competitors in the field that are not to be sneered at.

Langley's Devotion to His Mother.

Prof. Langley, Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, has many sides to his character. His love for children is well known, and he is frequently seen walking or driving with one of his little companions, who seem to rest him more than any other society. He has recently dedicated a poem at the National Museum to his wee favorites, and shows his sympathy and affection for them constantly and in many ways.

This eminent scientist's love and tenderness for his mother, an old lady now, whose chief pride is in her son, is equally characteristic. An article attacking one of his theories appeared some time ago in a New England daily. Prof. Langley carried it in great distress of mind to a friend to see if the many misstatements it contained could not be corrected.

"I do not care for it myself," he said earnestly, "but I am much worried for fear it may trouble my mother."—Saturday Evening Post.

Ketcham's Periodic Deafness.

Congressman Ketcham, of New York, is deaf. One day an office-seeker, short of money, met Mr. Ketcham and asked him for a loan of five dollars. The Congressman was quite deaf at the time and said: "Hey? What did you say?" "Can you lend me ten dollars?" "Ten dollars! Why, you said five before," was the Congressman's reply.

Phonographs as Royal Messengers.

Queen Victoria recently sent a message to King Menelik, of Abyssinia, on the cylinder of a phonograph. The novelty of the proceeding so pleased the Negus that he ordered a salute fired by his artillery in honor of the occasion.

Happiness may resemble either a mountain or a molehill. It depends on the distance you are from it.

EAGLE MAY SCREAM.

ONE SHORT YEAR AGO THE SPANISH WAR BEGAN.

Twelvemonth Sees It Ended, Foreign Army Whipped to a Finish, Whole Navy Destroyed, and Thousands of Miles of Territory Taken.

Washington correspondence:

It has been a year since the war with Spain began, a war which lasted just 113 days. In that time, however, the United States land and sea forces destroyed two Spanish fleets, received the surrender of more than 35,000 soldiers, took by conquest the fortified cities of Santiago de Cuba, in Cuba; Ponce, in Porto Rico, and Manila, on the island of Luzon, in the Philippines, and secured control, pending negotiations for peace, of the entire Spanish possessions in the West Indies, the Philippines and of Guam, of the Ladrone islands. In this conflict the Americans suffered no loss of ships or territory, and but 279 killed and 1,465 wounded in battle, while the cost to Spain, aside from prisoners, ships and lost territory, was 2,199 killed and 2,948 wounded.

The formal declaration of war by Congress was made April 25, but the resolution embodying it stated that war had existed since April 21, when the Nashville, a gunboat of the American navy, commanded by Lieut. Washburn, captured a Spanish ship, the Buena Ventura. On the same day, April 21, President McKinley ordered the North Atlantic squadron, commanded by Acting Rear Admiral Sampson, to sail from Key West and blockade certain ports of Cuba. April 23 President McKinley issued a call for 125,000 volunteers, to re-enforce the regular standing army, and sent orders to the then Commodore George Dewey, commanding the Asiatic squadron of the American navy, to "find and destroy the Spanish fleet." Immediately the work of mobilizing an army of citizen soldiers of the United States began. Spain declared war April 24, and within two days after camps of soldiers were forming in every State. April 27, three of Admiral Sampson's ships shelled Matanzas, and on the next day Cienfuegos was shelled. On the same day Admiral Cervera of the Spanish navy, with a fleet of warships, left Spain for West Indian waters.

Battle in Manila Bay.

Sunday, May 1, the first and greatest sea battle of the war was fought. Commodore George Dewey made himself Rear Admiral Dewey and won undying glory for the navy by leading his fleet in to the mined harbor of Manila and destroying the entire Asiatic fleet of Spain. The Olympia was his flagship and his remaining vessels were the Baltimore, the Boston and the Raleigh, protected cruisers; the Concord and Petrel, gunboats, and the McCullagh. With this force he sunk, burned or blew up eight Spanish cruisers, six gunboats and three transports. In the engagement not an American life was lost, while in killed and drowned the Spanish loss has been placed between 500 and 900.

In the first week in May the definite division of the ships of the American navy in Atlantic and Cuban waters into squadrons and fleets was made. The flying squadron, Commodore Schley in command, was formed at Hampton Roads, the vessels being the Brooklyn, flagship; the Massachusetts, the Texas, the Columbia and the Minneapolis. Admiral Sampson, in the blockade line at Havana, had with him besides his flagship, the New York, the battleships Iowa and Indiana, the cruisers Cincinnati and Marblehead, and a dozen torpedo craft and gunboats. Matanzas was shelled for the second time on May 7.

Admiral Sampson appeared before San Juan, Porto Rico, May 12, and bombarded the forts for three hours. Morro was partly reduced. Sampson was in search of Cervera's fleet when he bore down upon San Juan. On the following day the flying squadron put to sea to aid in finding Cervera. The two fleets cut off Cervera and, May 18, it was reported that the Spanish admiral had taken refuge in Santiago bay. Commodore Schley, with the flying squadron, reached Santiago just in time to prevent a dash by Cervera for Cienfuegos or Havana. Later Admiral Sampson arrived and the combined fleets began their long wait for their prey.

Army of Invasion.

The invasion of the army to co-operate with the fleet at Santiago was planned as soon as Cervera's whereabouts was known. President McKinley issued a second call for 75,000 valunteers May 25. The demand was instantly met by the men who had failed to secure a place on the first call.

The first expedition to re-enforce Dewey at Manila sailed also on May 25. It numbered 6,000 men. Daily bombardments of the forts on Santiago bay continued. The order was given, June 8, to prepare a landing for the army of invasion and on June 10, Col. Huntington, with a force of marines, landed at Guantanamo and established Camp McCalla. The fleet, with the aid of the marines, demolished Fort Caimanera and captured Baiquiri, which was to be the landing place for Gen. Shafter's army, which left Tampa on transports June 14.

Shafter appeared off Baiquiri June 22, and two days were occupied in landing. Juragua was captured June 24, and the advance toward Santiago began. The Spaniards resisted and Roosevelt's rough riders and the Tenth United States cavalry, in the van of the American army, found themselves engaged with a superior body of Spaniards. The enemy was driven back by the furious charge, but the loss was 13 killed and 60 wounded. Saville was occupied June 26, and on the last day of June 13,000 American troops were before Santiago, 5,000 more on their way from the coast, with 3,000 Cubans near at hand.

The general assault began July 1, El Caney being captured at severe cost. The last of the outworks was not in the possession of the American army until the evening of July 2, while the heights of San Juan were still untaken. Gen. Lawton's division assaulted San Juan July 3, and carried the heights in the greatest charge of a great battle. Santiago was surrounded and Gen. Shafter demanded its surrender. The American loss in the three days' battle was 231 killed, 1,283 wounded and 81 missing.

The Madrid authorities ordered Admiral Cervera, July 2, to make a dash from the harbor of Santiago. He carried out his orders on the morning of July 3. Admiral Sampson, with the New York, had gone to consult with Gen. Shafter when the Spanish ships were seen coming out of the harbor, but Commodore Schley, with the Brooklyn, Oregon, Iowa, Texas, Indiana and Gloucester, was more than a match for the Maria Teresa, Cristobal Colon, Oquendo, Vizcaya and the destroyers Pluton and Terror. One American sailor on the Brooklyn was killed, while of the Spanish 600 were killed and 1,100 taken prisoners, including Admiral Cervera. The entire Spanish fleet was destroyed.

The bombardment of Santiago was then begun, and on July 14 Gen. Toral, recognizing the hopelessness of further resistance, surrendered the entire province of Santiago and all its garrisons of 25,000 soldiers, the United States agreeing to send them back to Spain. Gen. Miles, who arrived at Santiago before the surrender, prepared immediately to lead an army against Porto Rico. It landed near Ponce July 25, the day that the rumor went abroad that Spain was ready to cry "Enough." Gen. Merritt reached Manila on that day also. The landing in Porto Rico was without loss and with no engagements other than a skirmish at Guanica, ending in the hoisting of the American flag over the town.

Appeal for Peace.

Spain made its direct appeal for peace through Ambassador Cambon of France on July 26, but suggested no terms. July 27 Ponce surrendered to Gen. Miles. President McKinley sent terms of peace to Spain July 29.

The second battle of Manila was fought July 31, on a Sunday, as was the first. The American loss was nine killed and 45 wounded. The Spanish loss in killed and wounded was 600.

Spain sent an evasive answer to the United States Aug. 5, and it was received Aug. 9. President McKinley responded with an imperative reiteration of the original terms, and with bad grace Spain, Aug. 11, gave permission to Ambassador Cambon to accept them.

The terms of the protocol demanded the evacuation of Cuba, the cession of Porto Rico and the appointment of commissioners by each country to agree as to the disposition of the Philippines. Before news of the signing of the protocol reached them and on Aug. 13, Admiral Dewey, with the naval forces and Gen. Merritt with the land forces, at Manila, captured the city, securing the surrender of 9,000 soldiers and establishing a military government pending final disposition of the islands.

Recapitulation.

War began, April 21, 1898.
War ended, Aug. 11, 1898.
Duration of hostilities, 113 days.
Expense of actual warfare, $141,000,000.
American killed, 279.
American wounded, 1,465.
Spanish killed, 2,199.
Spanish wounded, 2,948.
Vessels destroyed (American), none.
Vessels destroyed (Spanish), 35.

Territory Lost by Spain.

	Square miles.	Population.
Cuba	41,655	1,681,000
Porto Rico	3,670	806,708
Guam	150	8,000
Philippines	52,650	7,000,000
Totals	98,125	9,445,708

PULSE OF THE PRESS

Germany should call Consul Rose home from Apia and put him in a conservatory.—Pittsburg Telegraph.

The devil Bob Ingersoll is using in his new lecture is presumed to be a fireproof affair.—Washington Post.

The crop of peaches and United States Senators seems to be a total failure in Delaware this year.—Kansas City Journal.

The proposed candy trust has not yet been organized, but it may be organized in the sweet by-and-by.—Pittsburg Telegraph.

Admiral Dewey found the Oregon in the same high state of allrightness that the Oregon found Adrimal Dewey.—St. Paul Dispatch.

After the $20,000,000 baking powder combine gets under way, all baking powder, of course, will be "absolutely pure."—Boston Globe.

When they say that the British and American soldiers are fighting together they don't mean in the old way.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The wedding of Mr. Vanderbilt and Miss Virginia Fair is another illustration of the tendency of capital to coalesce.—Pittsburg Telegraph.

In case Tom Reed decides to retire from public life he will do so without going through the vice-presidential term of probation.—Washington Post.

The Government might expedite matters in the Philippines by permitting Aguinaldo to capture a few cargoes of canned beef.—Kansas City Journal.

Aguinaldo's triumphant advance so far has been a masterly retreat. Maybe he is going around the world so as to enter Manila on the other side.—Boston Globe.

The Filipinos are welcome to their mountain lairs. Nobody is cutting off their speedy retirement to their rocky strongholds.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Aguinaldo has doubtless noticed that the American soldiers observe very few of the Spanish holidays while there is trouble on hand.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

An Alabama cycline tore three churches up by the roots and never touched a gin mill. Still, it was referred to as a visitation of Providence.—St. Paul Dispatch.

A Forum contributor tackles the question: "Was Washington the author of his own farewell address?" Whom does the writer suspect—Lord Bacon?—Boston Globe.

Talking of our absorbing Cuba, the people of that island selling "fake" war relics to American visitors shows they are disposed to also take us in.—Philadelphia Times.

The latest shoplifter arrested in New York has just stolen a Bible from a department store. It might be a good idea to make her read it for a while.—Boston Globe.

The makers of maple sugar were so previous with their work that they got the product on the market about two weeks before the sap began to run.—St. Paul Dispatch.

Another feature of Dewey's work which commends itself is his ability to refrain from piling up the cost for cable tolls when there is no news worth sending.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The baseball managers should be thoughtful enough to provide an umpire for their next business gathering—if they can find a man brave enough to take the position.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Ambassador Choate is making nice speeches on the other shore of the ocean. He did the same thing here, but he wouldn't be an able lawyer if he couldn't talk well on both sides.—Philadelphia Times.

The weather department is inclined to think the backbone of winter will be broken by the Fourth of July. The weather department, however, is not always reliable. We shall have to take chances.—Kansas City Journal.

Gen. Eagan says a good deal of the testimony before the beef inquiry board was false. This is much better than declaring that the witnesses lied in their throats, hearts and other portions of their anatomy.—Kansas City Journal.

Another good old superstition shattered. A woman has been poisoned by the scratch of a rabbit, and is willing to admit that there are some things luckier than the left hind foot of the picturesque rodent.—New York Evening Telegram.

Acting Secretary of the Navy Allen has received a letter from the manager of the Neptune Company, the Swedish wrecking corporation, announcing that it is not possible to raise and repair the vessels of Cervera's fleet, sunk near Santiago, Cuba.

RECORD OF THE WEEK

INDIANA INCIDENTS TERSELY TOLD.

Fatally Hurt in a Runaway—Muncie Boy Acquitted of Murder—Prisoner Fatally Assaulted by a Maniac—Extensive Fire Damage at New Lisbon.

William A. Healy, Republican member of the Washington City Council, was killed in a runaway. Mr. Healy was out driving, the horses took fright and in trying to stop them the bit on one of the bridles broke. Mr. Healy saw that it was impossible to stop the animals and jumped out of the buggy. His head struck a curbstone, fracturing his skull, from which injuries he died a short time afterward. He was 51 years old and leaves a family.

Boy Acquitted of Murder.

At Muncie, 12-year-old Fred Oland has been acquitted by a jury of the charge of murdering 5-year-old Andrew Bodenmiller. Last November the body of the Bodenmiller child was found hidden under a box in a gravel pit and officers frightened young Oland into a semi-confession, but when later this was withdrawn, the extreme youth of the prisoner and the absence of all but circumstantial evidence caused the acquittal.

Murderer Fatally Hurt.

John Flora, the murderer of Jesse Burton, will not be tried for the crime. Confined with him and other prisoners in the Orange County jail at Paoli was Sherman Wall, insane and dangerous. Wall became frenzied and, seizing a wooden poker, attacked Flora, beating him in a frightful manner. Sheriff Jones, with the aid of a crowd, rescued Flora, but not until he was fatally hurt.

Town Nearly Wiped Out.

The town of New Lisbon was almost destroyed by fire. John S. Nation's general store and dwelling, the store and dwelling of W. H. Nation and several other buildings were burned. John S. Nation's loss is $6,000.

Within Our Borders.

Marine season opened at Michigan City.

Lafayette will have new asphalt streets.

St. Joseph County will have rural mail delivery.

Season at French Lick opened with a large crowd.

Newton lost $7,200 worth of business blocks by fire.

Wages of plate glass workers will be raised May 1.

Concessions granted to strikers at Little's coal mine.

Allen Green, 60, Marion, dropped dead in a gas office.

Roy Stankard, 15, and Paul Libyer, 14, Brazil, ran away.

Old red school house, Jonesboro landmark, is in ashes.

Business men's association, Terre Haute, will dissolve.

Child of William Haynes, Linton, dead of spinal meningitis.

Hagerstown postoffice has been raised from fourth to third class.

Oscar Barger, 16, Converse, is putting in a local telephone system.

Thomas McDonald, Hartford City, struck a 500-barrel oil well.

John W. Hammond, New Albany, of the 159th Indiana, stricken blind.

Muncie has succeeded in interesting organized labor in the proposed coliseum.

Strike at the Little coal mine, Petersburg, settled. Operators conceded everything.

Lawrence County has floated $48,357 gravel road bonds at a premium of $2,538.75.

Logansport fishermen believe that the fish and game law is unconstitutional, and will test it.

Col. John F. Wiley, 89, the original promoter of fruit growing in southern Indiana, is dead.

John Miller, 32, Brownsbury, is dead of spinal meningitis. There are other cases in Brownsburg.

Four-year-old daughter of Mrs. Joseph Stubblefield, Petersburg, burned to death in a pile of rubbish.

Supt. Edward Boyle of the Michigan City schools has resigned to enter mercantile business in Chicago.

Lincoln avenue co-operative planing mill, Evansville, burned. Loss $30,000, half covered by insurance.

A horse owned by W. A. Littlebridge, South Bend, dropped dead on the street, two hours after he had traded for it.

Fire in the cupola of St. Joseph's female academy, Terre Haute, was started by birds carrying matches to their nests.

Mrs. Lucy Johnson, wife of Fred Johnson, residing at Stockwell, hanged herself. No reason is assigned for the deed.

Two brothers, Evansville, were fighting a play duel with knives, when they got in earnest, and one was severely stabbed.

The Peru Journal says that a tarantula's egg, found in bananas, measured 1½ inches in length and half an inch in diameter.

At Hagerstown, the large flouring mill, known as the Newcomb Mills, was destroyed by fire. The total loss will be not less than $20,000.

Pendleton people have enjoined the town board from putting in brick streets and lights and water plants. Over two-thirds are against the improvement.

Patrick Bartley, Evansville, was convicted of arson. He had trouble with a coal mine operator and employed a negro to set fire to the shaft. Bartley will appeal.

Jacob Beckler, aged 65 years, shot himself in the right temple, inflicting a wound which caused his death. Beckler had been in business in Brazil for twenty years.

At New Albany, 5,000 people attended the funeral of Harry C. Whiteman, a former member of Company C, 150th Indiana volunteers, who was buried with military honors.

Jacob Beckler, a Brazil tailor for the past twenty years, shot himself in the temple and died. His wife recently died in an Indianapolis hospital, and despondency seized him.

The General Electric Company has purchased the Fort Wayne Electric corporation plant at bankruptcy sale for $356,400. The sale will realize a sum sufficient to pay creditors 10 per cent.

Mrs. Edward Noah of Shelbyville secured recently a divorce and $250 alimony. The other day she drew the money from a Greensburg bank and started to the former city, since which nothing has been heard of her.

At a meeting of machine miners held at Brazil to consider the operators' offer on the 57-cent basis a vote was taken rejecting the offer. The miners' executive board met and issued a notice declaring a strike in the machine mines. The men, however, had been out for about two weeks. The board also abrogated all previous offers and made a straight demand for a 10-cent advance in all departments of work in the mines.

Royal Hair.

A very unique collection of royal hair is the latest temptation which is being placed in the way of the curiosity hunter in London. "A few hairs from the head and beard of Edward IV." (whose locks, it will be remembered, figured long since in the same auction room) "taken from the vault on March 14, 1789," and specimens of the hair of Napoleon, of Princess Charlotte of Wales, and of George III., together with a small portion of the cerecloth of King William IV., are among the attractions.

Laconic Dr. Abernethy.

Dr. Abernethy was notoriously one of the most laconic of men. It is said that one day there was among his patients a woman who had burned her hand. Showing him the wound, she said, "A burn." "A poultice," answered the doctor. Next day she called and said "Better." "Repeat," said the doctor. In a week she made her last call, and her speech was lengthened to three words, "Well; your fee?" "Nothing," said the physician, "you are the most sensible woman I ever met."

Abolish the Death Penalty.

At Albany the law-makers are wrangling over the abolition of the death penalty. The man who succeeds will prove as great a benefactor to the breaker of man's laws as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has to the breaker of nature's laws. If you've neglected your stomach until indigestion and constipation are upon you, try Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Marriage Is Not a Failure.

Marriage is not a failure, for the man, at least, if a German investigator may be believed. He has been interviewing insurance companies, and visiting hospitals and insane asylums, and he has now promulgated the pleasing result of his labors. He finds that of the men who die, commit suicide or become insane or seriously ill in early life, the greater number are bachelors. He says that diseases of the digestive organs are the ones which cause the most trouble to unmarried men. This is a distinct compliment to the good cooking of the average wife. Among matrimonial statistics the following French ones are interesting: Thirteen out of 100 young women marry between the ages of 15 and 20; between 20 and 25 the average is 60 out of 100; between 25 and 30, 22 out of 100; between 30 and 35, 12 out of 100; from 35 to 40, 6 out of 100; from 40 to 45, only 5; and from 45 to 50 just one solitary woman out of the hundred.

Ball Bearings Did It.

Bicycles were invented centuries ago, but it required the magic touch of the nineteenth century inventor to make the "wheel" a most useful vehicle, instead of a mere toy.

Ball bearings did it. It was a case where the improvement has proved greater than the original invention. The principle that reduces friction to a minimum in a bicycle is applicable to all machinery, and the cost is the only obstacle in the way of what will be known in history as the "Light Draft Era" in mechanics. Millions of dollars have been spent in this direction. The Deering Harvester Company, of Chicago, solved the problem, as far as grain binders and mowers are concerned, by equipping their machines with roller and ball bearings in 1891.

Other manufacturers in this line have since followed with several kinds of experimental roller bearings, but the Deering machines are still alone in the field with ball bearings of the bicycle pattern.

The Deering Company's annual catalogue for 1899 contains some very interesting historical matter on this subject, fully illustrated. The book also describes the largest factory in America and gives the latest news on the subject of harvesting machinery. Send for one; it's free.

Switzerland's greatest industry, the entertainment of tourists, has been officially computed to bring in £4,600,000 a year, £1,400,000 more than the public revenue of the whole confederacy.

The Opening of the Ute Indian Reservation.

By proclamation of the President, the Ute Indian lands, comprising over 600,000 acres of arable lands on the line of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, in southern Colorado, will be thrown open for occupation by settlers at noon of May 4, 1899. For pamphlet giving full information in regard to the lands, etc., etc., address S. K. Hooper, Gen'l Pass. Agent, D. & R. G. R. R., Denver, Colo.

Girls, you should remember that wholesome exercise and sweet temper plant roses in your cheeks.

Coughs Leads to Consumption.
Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

Negligence is the rust of the soul, that corrodes through all her best resolutions.

"To Err is Human."

But to err all the time is criminal or idiotic. Don't continue the mistake of neglecting your blood. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla now. It will make pure, live blood, and put you in good health.

All Gone—"Had no appetite or strength, could not sleep or get rested, was completely run down. Two bottles Hood's Sarsaparilla cured the tired feeling and I do my own work." MRS. A. DICK, Millville, N.J.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Never Disappoints

Hood's Pills cure liver ills; the non-irritating and only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

FREE HOMES

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

In the Great Grain and Grazing Belts of Western Canada and information as to how to secure them can be had on application to the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, Canada, or to C. J. Broughton, 1223 Monadnock Bldg., Chicago, Ill.; M. V. McInnes, No. 1 Merrill Block, Detroit, Mich.; D. Caven, Bad Axe, Mich.; James Grieve, Reed City, Mich., Agents for Gov'm't of Canada. Mention Eyerett & Kantz, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Press the Button
AND THE IRON RESTS.

Every housekeeper is delighted with the Automatic Sad Iron Rest. It's portable, fits any detachable handle, makes ironing easier, cleaner; no scorching. Mailed on receipt of price, 25c; stamps taken. Special terms to Agts. and Dealers. F. H. Chase Co., 53 South Jefferson Street, Chicago, Ill.

LADIES The Periodical Monthly Regulator never fails; write for free sample. NEW YORK CHEMICAL CO., Box 70, Milwaukee, Wis.

The Natural Cure for Indigestion.

Do you have pain in the stomach after eating? Do you have a yellow tongue? Wind on the stomach? Constipation? These things arise from Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

Digestion depends on digestive fluids or "ferments" secreted by certain glands. When the secretion becomes insufficient, Indigestion results. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People cause these glands to resume their normal action and good digestion follows.

Artificial ferments (of which most so-called Dyspepsia cures are composed) may give temporary relief, but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People afford a permanent cure.

Poor digestion often causes irregularity of the heart's action. This irregularity may be mistaken for real, organic heart disease. A case in point: Mrs. Ellen Colsom, Newpoint, Ind., had suffered for four years with stomach trouble. The gases generated by the indigestion pressed on the heart, and caused an irregularity of its action. She had much pain in her stomach and heart, and was subject to frequent and severe choking spells which were most severe at night. Doctors were tried in vain; the patient became worse, despondent, and feared impending death.

She noticed that in intervals in which her stomach did not annoy her, her heart's action became normal. Reasoning correctly that her digestion was alone at fault she procured the proper medicine to treat that trouble and with immediate good results. Her appetite came back, the choking spells became less frequent and finally ceased. Her weight, which had been greatly reduced, was restored and she now weighs more than for years.

That others may know the means of cure we give the name of the medicine used—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. These pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves.

—New Era, Greenburg, Ind.

Sold by all druggists or sent postpaid by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y. Price 50¢ per box; 6 boxes, $2.50. A diet book sent FREE.

Music for Tired Students.

At Cornell University a skillful organist gives a daily recital on the grand organ of Sage chapel at 5 o'clock, just as the students are going to their rooms from the day's work. The chapel doors are open and the listeners come and go, sitting till rested, and listening to the solemn strains of the music. It is a custom held in grateful esteem by Cornellians.

Shake Into Your Shoes

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting, nervous feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight-fitting or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous and hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores. By mail for 25c, in stamps. Trial package FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Blue and White Summer Dresses.

Polka-dotted foulards, blue and white dimities and blue and white lawns and organdies will be the most popular materials for dresses this summer. Original designs in all these materials are described and illustrated in the May Ladies' Home Journal.

One Fare for the Round Trip.

The National Baptist Anniversaries will be held at San Francisco, Cal., May 26th to 30th. Agents of the Nickel Plate Road are in possession of complete information in regard to rates, dates of sale, routes, and time of trains, and will be glad to furnish same to all contemplating a trip to the coast at low rates.

Eagle Linen Letter Paper and Envelopes are the proper thing. Tell your printer to use this brand on your next order.

One First-Class Fare

For the round trip is in effect via the Nickel Plate Road to Roanoke, Va., for the Annual Meeting of the German Baptist Brethren. Tickets on sale May 16th to 22nd, inclusive, and good returning until June 24th. For further particulars address C. A. Asterlin, Traveling Passenger Agent, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething: softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

WANTED.—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cents to Ripans Chemical Co., New York, for 10 samples and 1,000 testimonials.

A Cordial Welcome.

A generation ago, when a continuous round of visits was an onerous part of every rural minister's duties, one wintry day a worthy New England pastor, accompanied by his wife and little son, went to call for the first time upon a parishioner who lived in the edge of the adjoining town. The uncompromising exterior of the house which they found to be their destination did not promise much hospitality. Vigorous knocking brought to one of the upper windows a woman, who surveyed the visitors from the shelter of half-closed blinds, and after some further delay the rarely hued door creaked grudgingly on its hinges, and disclosed a girl of ten, who welcomed the party thus: "Come in and sit down, won't you? Mother'll be down in a minute. She says she's so glad you've come. She wants to have it over with."—Woman's Home Companion.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

{SEAL} A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75 cents.

Right in Season.

"See, milkman, here's a fish in this milk."

"Well, you're keepin' Lent, ain't you?"—Chicago Record.

The Most Violent Explosions of Coughing are stopped by Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. Pike's Toothache Drops Cure in one Minute.

Some men never get full swing until they reach the gallows.

Roanoke

Is the objective point for the German Baptist Brethren. Their Annual Meeting is held there, tickets being on sale 16th to 22nd. One First-class Fare for the round trip is the rate offered via the Nickel Plate Road.

Don't think your sins won't call again if they find you out.

A CHARMING grandmother!

What a pleasant influence in the house is a delightful old lady in good health!

HEALTHFUL OLD AGE

MRS. MOLLIE BARBER, St. James, Mo., writes: "I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during change of life, and have passed through that critical period safely. I suffered for years with falling of the womb and female weakness. At times could hardly stand on my feet, also had leucorrhœa. I tried several good doctors, but instead of getting better, grew worse all the time. A friend advised me to try Mrs. Pinkham's Compound. I did so and after taking six bottles, was cured of both leucorrhœa and falling of womb. I am now enjoying good health and feel very grateful for the good your medicine has done me. I would recommend it to all women suffering as I was."

MRS. N. E. LACEY, Pearl, La., writes: "I have had leucorrhœa for about twenty years, falling of womb by spells for ten years, and my bladder was affected, had backache a great deal. I tried a number of doctors. They would relieve me for a little while, then I would be worse than ever. I then thought I would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Eleven bottles of Compound and one box of Liver Pills cured me and I am now sound and well. It helped me through the change of life period. I am fifty-five years old."

The women of advanced years who are healthy and happy are invariably those who have known how to secure help when they needed it. Mrs. Pinkham will advise any woman free of charge who writes about her health. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

It Was Before the Day of

SAPOLIO

They Used to Say "Woman's Work Is Never Done."

SERMONS OF THE WEEK

The Vanguard.—The bravest and the best are in the vanguard of the hosts of God.—Rev. B. F. Fritz, United Brethren, Columbus, Ohio.

Christ's Prayers.—Christ always prayed for what was best, not for what was easiest.—Rev. W. A. Wasson, Episcopalian, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Soul Winning.—There is abundant opportunity for every Christian to engage in soul winning, which is divine art.—Rev. Geo. Adams, Methodist, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Omnipotent Love.—It is omnipotent love that rescues us from our fate and illumines for us the way of our destiny.—Mrs. Gestefeld, Christian Scientist, Chicago, Ill.

Democracy and Theocracy.—A democracy is a theocracy, or should be a theocracy; should recognize the government of God.—Rabbi E. G. Hirsch, Hebrew, Chicago, Ill.

Mental Activity.—There are two kinds of mental activity or vibrations, namely, the constructive and the destructive.—T. B. Wilson, Theosophite, Kansas City, Mo.

Great in Common Life.—It is so much harder to be great in common life than to be great on the special occasion.—Rev. George L. Perrin, Universalist, Boston, Mass.

A Text Experiment.—Every man's nature is a test experiment upon the nature of God, because the kingdom of God is within him.—Rev. S. R. Calthrop, Syracuse, N. Y.

Power in God's Work.—The secret of power in doing God's work in this world is a complete surrender of ourselves to him.—Rev. J. F. Carson, Presbyterian, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Trust.—Trust is an essential element of our nature, and unless a man has grown distrustful through violation of confidence it is as natural to him to trust as it is to breathe.—Rev. T. J. Danner, Episcopalian, Pittsburg, Pa.

Bridges.—While the religions and philosophies of the past have served as bridges to carry us over to later days, not one of them will stand the test of science's rigid scrutiny.—Dr. Arthur Houghton, Spiritualist, Chicago, Ill.

Divine Fatherhood.—Jesus dispelled the clouds of mystery that concealed the divine fatherhood. He revealed the spiritual nature of God and man—the divine fatherhood and brotherhood.—Rev. George W. Stone, Unitarian, Kansas City, Mo.

The New Theory.—The new theory does not embody in its creed that all that host of men to whom the Gospel of Jesus Christ never came have been by that fact doomed to eternal condemnation.—Prof. Geo. W. Gilmore, Unitarian, Bangor, Me.

The World's Needs.—All that the world needs in order that the unfertile wastes of heathenism may be transformed into a blooming garden of the Lord is God and missionaries. God is ready.—Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, Presbyterian, New York City.

Religion Triumphant.—But thought and soul by intelligent doctrine rightly led, pleasure and pain their value truly told, will bring back to church and chapel the scattered fold, and religion triumphant will hold sway over all.—Rabbi J. Nieto, Hebrew, San Francisco, Cal.

The Future Life.—The conception of the future life rests upon the assurances of the divine word and upon Christian consciousness. Is there no rest which may meet our divinely inspired aspirations? Is man at his best—when his thought and affections go out after holiness and heaven—a delusion?—Rev. Henry M. Booth, Presbyterian, Auburn, N. Y.

Chime Bells of the Marine Band.

The big man in the band of former days, in the Marine Band in its infancy, was the man who marched in the front and played a chime of bells which was rigged up on a long pole. He was an entire band in himself. Behind him marched two or three others, who had similarly arranged chimes, though of smaller proportions. There may have been cornets, trombones, and bass horns in existence then, but certainly none of them were ever carried by the Marine Band until after 1835. I was married that year and remember very well seeing the band parade a day or so before my marriage, and I am certain that there were no horns carried by the band, except bugles or trumpets. I don't know that their music was not as sweet as it is to-day. It sounded to us folks of that day so, anyhow. There seemed to be more music in the string and reed instruments than in the various horns of to-day, and the men who carried the chime bells could, for sound at least, double discount any of the performers in the band to-day.—Washington Star.

To Excavate Babylon.

German savants are busy with plans for the excavation of Babylon. Layard, the discoverer of Nineveh, was the first really to do anything in the way of excavating. The Germans are determined that their work shall be thorough. It will be costly and take five years. The excavators will begin with El Kas'r, the fortress, which is the remains of Nebuchadnezzar's palace and where Alexander died. They will also investigate a number of other ruins near by.

Out of Sawyer's Line.

Ex-Senator Philetus Sawyer, of Wisconsin, was last season taken to see the Oshkosh base-ball team play a visiting club. "I don't know much about this game," said Mr. Sawyer, presently, "but it seems to me our team would get along better if we had a few more men in the field."

All the angels are not in heaven; a good many are on earth, and they may be picked out by their cheerfulness in getting up in the night to wait on sick people.

By the time a girl has reached 18, her mother has learned every wedding cake recipe in her cook book by heart.

Unless the hotel guests put up the landlord must shut up.

CHICAGO MAN OUTDOES EDISON

Young Local Inventor Succeeds in Perfecting the Talking Machine.

A Chicago man has given a pointer to Edison on talking machines. For years the phonograph has been the great wizard's pet. He has spent all his spare time in vain attempts to eliminate the metallic, rasping quality of its tones. Leon F. Douglass, a young Chicagoan, who looks about 20 years old, has succeeded in doing this by a remarkably simple invention.

"I worked for something like ten years on it, and tried a hundred complicated arrangements, and then a very easy solution of the difficulty occurred to me," said Mr. Douglass.

He has enlarged the cylinder, or "record," of the Edison machine five times its former size. By this he accomplished two things—dispensed, in great measure, with the unnatural and harsh tone, and increased the volume to its ordinary strength. The trouble with the talking machines heretofore has been that the little ball which caught in the irregular tone grooves of the cylinder would touch the high points and skip the low ones. The result was like picking out all the thin, harsh tones of the human voice, and blending them into the phonograph voice. Mr. Douglass reasoned that by enlarging the cylinder the size of all the points of contact could be proportionately enlarged, so that the ball, in passing over the recorded surface, would touch each one. The result has been very satisfactory. The machine repeats words and music quite realistically, and stands other tests as well.

Mr. Douglass has devised another attachment for increasing the tone. It may be applied to any type of talking machine, and is so simple that one wonders why it was not thought of long ago. It consists of applying two diaphragms tandem fashion, with the reproducing points so close together that the sound, though twice reproduced, is closely blended. In short, the effect is exactly that of the sounding box of stringed instruments or the sounding board of the piano.

Mr. Edison himself acknowledges the superority of the Chicago man's invention, and commends it very highly.

THE WOMEN SAY

There Is No Remedy the Equal of Pe-ru-na in All Their Peculiar Ills.

MISS SUSAN WYMAR.

Miss Susan Wymar, teacher in the Richmond school, Chicago, Ill., writes the following letter to Dr. Hartman regarding Pe-ru-na. She says: "Only those who have suffered with sleeplessness from overwork in the school room, such as I have, can know what a blessing it is to be able to find relief by spending a couple of dollars for some Pe-ru-na. This has been my experience. A friend in need is a friend indeed, and every bottle of Pe-ru-na I ever bought proved a good friend to me."—Susan Wymar.

Mrs. Margaretha Dauben, 1214 North Superior street, Racine City, Wis., writes: "I feel so well and good and happy now that pen cannot describe it. Pe-ru-na is everything to me. I feel healthy and well, but if I should be sick I will know what to take. I have taken several bottles of Pe-ru-na for female complaint. I am in change of life and it does me good."

Send for a free book written by Dr. Hartman, entitled "Health and Beauty." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

The Large Bicycle.

The largest bicycle ever built was the product of an American concern, and was built for advertising purposes. The frame-work was made of six-inch tubing. The wheels had a circumference of forty-five feet, and were fitted with single-tube tires eighteen inches in diameter. Half a dozen men could readily find room on the gigantic saddle.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

Cash Hilarity.

"Jumkins never laughs unless there's money in it."

"I've seen him laugh at the theater."

"Of course, he has to laugh there to get his money back."—Chicago Record.

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

Every man is a hero and an oracle to somebody, and to that person, whatever he says, has an enchanted value.—Emerson.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. The genuine has L. B. Q. on each tablet.

That which we acquire with most difficulty we retain the longest.—Colton.

I shall recommend Piso's Cure for Consumption far and wide.—Mrs. Mulligan, Plumstead, Kent, England, Nov. 8, 1895.

Because a man is a brick he isn't obliged to marry a wallflower.

Inquire

Of agents of the Nickel Plate Road about dates of sale, time of trains, connections and routes to San Francisco, Cal., for the National Baptist Anniversaries, May 26th to 30th. One fare for the round trip.

AN EXCELLENT COMBINATION

THE pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well-known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company, illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative,

CLEANSING THE SYSTEM EFFECTUALLY, DISPELLING COLDS AND HEADACHES, PREVENTING FEVERS, OVERCOMING HABITUAL CONSTIPATION PERMANENTLY.

Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, gently yet promptly, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but

THE MEDICINAL QUALITIES ARE OBTAINED FROM SENNA AND OTHER AROMATIC PLANTS,

by a method known to the California Fig Syrup Company only. In order to get its beneficial effects, and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

Consumers of the choicest products of modern commerce purchase at about the same price that others pay for cheap and worthless imitations. To come into universal demand and to be everywhere considered the best of its class, an article must be capable of satisfying the wants and tastes of the best informed purchasers. The California Fig Syrup Company having met with the highest success in the manufacture and sale of its excellent liquid laxative remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, it has become important to all to have a knowledge of the Company and its product. The California Fig Syrup Company was organized more than fifteen years ago, for the special purpose of manufacturing and selling a laxative remedy which would be more pleasant to the taste and more beneficial in effect than any other known. The great value of the remedy, as a medicinal agent and of the Company's efforts, is attested by the sale of millions of bottles annually, and by the high approval of most eminent physicians. As the true and genuine remedy named SYRUP OF FIGS is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only, the knowledge of that fact will assist in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

LOUISVILLE, KY. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. NEW YORK, N.Y.

For Sale by All Druggists, Price 50¢ Per Bottle.

The Snake Nut.

The "snake nut" tree is a native of Demerara and Guiana. The nuts are about the size of a walnut, and when they are opened the kernel displays a wonderful resemblance to a snake coiled up. There are the head, mouth and eyes, so complete, that anyone unacquainted with the nut would believe it to be an imitation made by human hands and not a freak of nature. This wonderful resemblance to a snake has induced the natives to consider the nut an antidote to snake poison. The tree appears to be peculiar to the lower part of the River Essiquibo and its tributaries.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it, like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c. and 25 cts. per package. Sold by all grocers.

Human Nature in the Steerage.

H. Phelps Whitmarsh writes of "The Steerage of To-day" in the Century. Mr. Whitmarsh, who crossed the ocean in the steerage himself, says: To me the most noticeable thing about the life was the ease with which the yoke of civilization was thrown off. If conditions be favorable, I opine that a large proportion of the steerage passengers throw back to their Darwinian ancestry about the third day out. Away from home, country, and religious influences, unrestrained by custom and conventionality, bound by no laws of action, and separated from all that force of opinion so strong in the world ashore, they let themselves go, and allow their baser natures to run riot. No sooner has the seasickness left them than they growl and snarl over their food like dogs, scrambling for the choice pieces, and running off to their bunks with them; they grow quarrelsome; their talk is lewd and insulting; brute strength is in the ascendant; and, without shame, both sexes show the animal side of their natures. But most apparent and obnoxious are the filthy habits into which many of them fall. The sea seems utterly to demoralize them. Some of them will remain for days in their berths, where, without changing their clothes, they eat, sleep, and are sick with the utmost impartiality, and without the blessing of soap and water. Hence the steerage as a whole, the "married quarters" (where there were children) in particular, was ill-smelling and otherwise objectionable.

Commercial Plants in Europe.

It is interesting to know that 4,200 species of plants are gathered and used for commercial purposes in Europe. Of these 420 have a perfume that is pleasing, and enter largely into the manufacture of scents and soaps. There are more species of white flowers gathered than of any other color—1,124 in all.

ALABASTINE

ALABASTINE is the original and only durable wall coating, entirely different from all kalsomines. Ready for use in white or twelve beautiful tints by adding cold water.

LADIES naturally prefer ALABASTINE for walls and ceilings, because it is pure, clean, durable. Put up in dry powdered form, in five-pound packages, with full directions.

ALL kalsomines are cheap, temporary preparations made from whiting, chalks, clays, etc., and stuck on walls with decaying animal glue. ALABASTINE is not a kalsomine.

BEWARE of the dealer who says he can sell you the "same thing" as ALABASTINE or "something just as good." He is either not posted or is trying to deceive you.

AND IN OFFERING something he has bought cheap and tries to sell on ALABASTINE'S demands, he may not realize the damage you will suffer by a kalsomine on your walls.

SENSIBLE dealers will not buy a lawsuit. Dealers risk one by selling and consumers by using infringement. Alabastine Co. own right to make wall coating to mix with cold water.

THE INTERIOR WALLS of every schoolhouse should be coated only with pure, durable ALABASTINE. It safeguards health. Hundreds of tons are used annually for this work.

IN BUYING ALABASTINE, see that packages are properly labeled. Beware of large four-pound package light kalsomine offered to customers as a five-pound package.

NUISANCE of wall paper is obviated by ALABASTINE. It can be used on plastered walls, wood ceilings, brick or canvas. A child can brush it on. It does not rub or scale off.

ESTABLISHED in favor. Shun all imitations. Ask paint dealer or druggist for tint card. Write for "Alabastine Era," free, to ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Michigan.

WABASH

HOME SEEKERS' EXCURSIONS

To Western Points,

MAY 16, 1899.

On the above dates the WABASH will sell from its principal stations East of Chicago and Toledo, Ill., LOW RATE HOME SEEKERS' EXCURSION Tickets to points West, South, and Southwest, granting a liberal return limit. A postal card addressed to any Wabash Ticket Agent, or to either of the following Passenger Representatives will bring you prompt and explicit information regarding rates, routes, time of trains, through car service, condition of tickets, etc., etc.

REMEMBER

The WABASH is the only line east of Chicago and St. Louis giving its patrons seats, without extra charge, in ELEGANT RECLINING CHAIR CARS running through to St. Louis and Kansas City without change.

This is your chance to go West cheap. Communicate with us.

P. E. DOMBAUGH, P. & T. A., Toledo, Ohio.
R. G. THOMPSON, P. & T. A., Fort Wayne, Ind.
A. F. WOLFSCHLAPER P. & T. A., Detroit, Mich.
THO'S FOLLEN, P. & T. A., Lafayette, Ind.
GEO. D. MAXFIELD, D. P. A., Indianapolis, Ind.
C. S. CRANE, G. P. & T. A., St. Louis, Mo.

F. W. N. U. - - No. 18—'99.

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION. CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. 25 CTS.

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and Substitutes are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Harmless and Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

WABASH

GOING EAST.

No. 2	6:25 am—Daily
No. 10	1:15 pm—ex Su
No. 4	4:59 pm—Daily
No. 70 (local freight)	4:20 pm—ex Su

GOING WEST.

No. 1	10:21 am—Daily
No. 9 Except Sunday	6:07 pm—ex Su
No. 3	7:48 pm—Daily
No. 71, (local freight)	11:00 am—ex Su

All these trains stop for passengers.
For rates, tickets, time tables, etc. apply to I. M. ZENT, Agent, Auburn, Ind
Chas. M. Hays, V. Pres. and Gen't Manager.
C. S. Crane, Gen'l Pass'r and Ticket Agent

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—in Effect Nov. 13, 1898.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations	Mail	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne	11 45 am	4 50 pm	5 55 am
New Era	12 12 pm	5 17	6 40
Auburn Junction	12 25	5 28	7 10
Auburn	12 29	5 32	7 35
Waterloo	12 41	5 43	8 15
Summit	12 52	5 53	8 35
Steubenville	12 56	5 56
Pleasant Lake	1 03	6 03	8 56
Angola	1 13	6 14	9 35
Jackson	3 25	8 35	2 40

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations	Fre'gt	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson dp	5 55 am	11 30 am	7 15 am
Angola	11 00	2 19 pm	9 44
Pleasant Lake	11 35	2 29	9 55
Steubenville		2 36	10 01
Summit	11 50	2 39	10 05
Waterloo	12 41 pm	2 55	10 23
Auburn	1 20	3 05	10 33
Auburn Junction	1 35	3 08	10 35
New Era	1 54	3 18	10 45
Fort Wayne	2 50	3 50	11 15

• For rates on tickets or freight to all points call on or address E. T. DeLAPP, Agent Auburn.

B. & O. R. R.

Schedule In Effect Nov. 22 '98
Leaves Auburn Junction.

WEST BOUND.

No. 3 Express, to Garrett only	8:53 p m
No. 15 Daily	2:35 a m
No. 5 Daily	5:30 a m
No. 7 Daily	4:18 p m
No. 17 Daily Except Suday	12:25 a m
No. 47	1:55 a m

EAST BOUND.

No. 4 Express	4:30 a m
No. 8 Daily	6:05 p m
No. 8 Daily	2:40 p m
No 41 Daily	11:27 p m
No 16, Daily, except Sunday	11:08 a m
No. 46	11:56 p m

F. D. UNDERWOOD, General Manager,
D. B. MARTIN, Manager of Passenger Traffic.
G. H. YOUNG, Auburn Junction, Ind
THOS. H. SPROTT CHAS. H. KNAPP

License Notice

Notice is hereby given to the citizens of the incorporated town of Auburn, DeKalb county, Indiana, that the undersigned will make application to the Board of Commissioners of said county at their next regular session, to be held at the court house in said county, commencing on the 5th day of June 1899, for a license to sell spirituous vinous and malt liquors in less quantities than a quart at a time with the privilege of having the same drank on the premises where sold. The premises on which I desire to sell are located as follows:

A one-story brick building containing but one room and occupying the south fifty (50) feet of the following described lot:

Commencing at the southeast corner of lot number twenty-seven (27) in the original plat of the town of Auburn, DeKalb county, Ind., and running thence west twenty-two and two-thirds (22⅔) feet, thence north to Sixth street, thence east twenty-two and two thirds (22⅔) feet, thence south along the line of said lot number 27 to the place of beginning.

THOMAS SOMMERS.

May 1, 1899.

JOSEPH RECTENWALD

Joseph Rectenwald was buried here in Evergreen today about noon. The funeral at his home was about 10 a. m. by Rev. W. L. Meese. He was born in Perry township, Stark Co., Ohio, Feb. 26, 1841, and moved to this county in 1844, when they located on the farm on which he died April 26, 1899.

In Bad Shape

I was in bad shape and suffered a great deal with my Kidneys. I was requested to try Foley's Kidney Cure, I did so and in four days I was able to go to work again, now I am entirely well.
CHARLES REPLOGLE, Atwater, O.

Thursday's Daily.

—David Weidler helped to relieve our wood panic today.

—Ask any druggist for a free Peruna Almanac for the year 1899.

□—J. Q. A. Funk and his son, I. S. Funk have thanks for a generous supply of much needed wood.

—George Burtzner, of Cedar, called today on business, and made a cash payment on his paper,

—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Shaffer of Corunna with their little girl, were callers today while in town on business

Mrs. Linn, of Garrett, was over here yesterday. She will be better remembered as Miss Alameda Zerkle of Waterloo.

—A. D. Moore was a caller yesterday. He says his wheat crop is very poor, but as good at least as his neighbors have,

—Oron Bair and W. C. Lockhart, two of our Fairfield friends were welcome callers today. The former went onto our 1900 class "just as easy."

—Much wheat ground is being plowed up for oats and corn, and those two crops are likely to occupy an unusually large average on this account.

—Two of our Fairfield friends, W. H. McGiffin and Wm. Nessel were in town today paying tax and made us a friendly call. Always glad to see them.

—S. J. Zimmerman came up from St Joe on the noon train. Mrs. Zimmerman and her father, Peter Bishop, of Spencerville came up in the morning.

—Our veteran friend Jacob Slentz was a welcome caller today. He and the writer were "on the same side" in the 9-school house contest in Franklin years ago.

Hi Capp reports an acreage of thirty five acres sown in oats. He will not have more than an acre of good wheat, but a neighbor, Frank Olinger, has some fine wheat.

—Frank Kline and wife came down from Angola yesterday and remained here over night with his father and mother Mr. and Mrs. Kline, and visited the other relatives.

—Samuel Hollinger of near Butler, and little Nettie, daughter of his brother Daniel, were callers today. And Mr. H. now holds a receipt for the popular old COURIER into 1900.

—Oliver Pipes and wife were over here this week to attend the funeral of Mrs. Rudolph. She was the mother of his wife and those of Alva Brandon, Evan Kutzner and C. Fell.

—John Topper one of our old-time friends was a caller this morning, being here to pay his taxes. Of course he is a subscriber to the COURIER the paper that gives all the news in a full and correct form.

—Col. John M. Stotzenberg, of the First Nebraska, was killed in the battle of Sunday last, north of Malolos. He was a son of Judge Stotzenberg, of New Albany, Ind., and had proved a soldier of high order.

—Unclaimed letters remaining in postoffice, week ending April 25 1899. Mrs. Rebecca Jones and Mrs. Emma Mitchell. Claimants will please call for letters in advertised list.

G. H. FORKNER, Postmaster.

—A new iron bridge is being put on the stone abutments of the B. & O. across the river east of St. Joe. The old one was too weak. New ones are also being put up at Deleware Bend, and across the Auglaize river at Defiance.

—C. H, McBride, son of Judge McBride of Indianapolis is here being district manager of the Indiana Life Insurance Co., with headquarters at Elkhart. We believe this is the company in which J. D. Leighty, Dr. Nusbaum, and perhaps others in this county are interested.

—MARRIED, this noon at the Lutheran parsonag by Rev. J. D. Brosy, Justus A Winslow and Nellie V. Shoemaker. They left on the north bound Lake Shore train for a few visit with Mrs. Winslow's relatives in Williams county Ohio. We wish this promising young couple a happy and successful future.

—Columbia City Post:—Mayor Menaugh, a short time ago sent a check to a state official, on which he forgot to place a revenue stamp. This morning he received the check with a request to supply the stamp. A two cent stamp had been used for the return of the check besides the time required for writing and mailing the letter, —Kendallville Sun:—The Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad will spend a large sum of money this year in replacing wooden trestles and bridges with iron structures. Contracts have been let for several bridges which will cost $15,000 to $25,000 each. Thirty miles of new heavy steel will be laid this season and several new depots built, one at Cadillac to cost $10,000.

—Oliver Pipes of Garrett was over today and placed himself on the 1900 list. He is now a full fledged conductor on the B. & O. and getting on nicely. He was recently down at Princeton to see his father, John Pipes who had a leg broken by an accident. He was trying to move a plank out of the way of a passing train, when he was struck The railroad is now caring for him at its hospital at Evansville.

—An Elkhart woman soaked her upholstered furniture with gasoline to rid it of moths and then closed the doors of the room. Some time afterward a three year-old son lighted a match in the room and a teriffic explosion followed. The clothing of the boy and his sister was in flames and so was the house. The children were badly burned and the furniture and a $400 piano were ruined. People should let gasoline alone or exercise caution in using it.

Wednesday's Daily.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Hurni are visiting relatives at St. Joe.

—The Monitor factory at the Junction is starting up in great shape. The hum of the planer is heard all day.

—G. C. Ralston, of Paxton, Ill., is calling on relatives and friends in the city. He reports all the people well, and getting along nicely.

—Mrs. McClellan, Mrs. W. E. Ryan and Mrs. Silver are attending the meeting of the Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star at Fort Wayne.

—Mrs. Allen Wolf and her father John N. Clark were in town today. They are living now on a farm north of Waterloo. Mr. and Mrs. Wolf, while in Auburn lived on South Cedar street.

—Nothing proud or stuck up, about Sheriff Hathaway. He hath a way of making himself useful, even when work is slack in his office. Today he was a full hand in clearing off and raking the public square and sowing grass seed on the bare places. The voters made no mistake when they gave him that splendid majority.

—The Rebekahs, as noted in the COURIER yesterday, go to Garsett this evening to meet the fraternity there. Other lodges are invited also, and each lodge will initiate a candidate, there being nine or ten for membership in the Garrett lodge, giving a busy evening and one that will be an enjoyable one. The Rebekahs are very much alive.

—Ora Kuhlman is improving the land he bought of Mrs. McCune at the southwest part of town. He has put a high fence around it, and is making a large chicken park. There is a little office or business house in front and within are several coops for different breeds of fowls. To the northwest is a large, low building, being put up for a hen house. The old ground is being fitted up in nice shape. We believe he will do well in the business.

Bismark's Iron Nerve

Was the result of his splendid health. Indomitable will and tremendous energy are not found where Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, and Bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring, use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They develop every power of brain and body. Only 25 cents at H. B. McCord's Drugstore.

NO USE TRYING

I can't take plain cod-liver oil. Doctor says, try it. He might as well tell me to melt lard or butter and try to take them. It is too rich and will upset the stomach. But you can take milk or cream, so you can take

Scott's Emulsion

It is like cream; but will feed and nourish when cream will not. Babies and children will thrive and grow fat on it when their ordinary food does not nourish them.

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day when taking an ounce of Scott's Emulsion. It gets the digestive machinery in working order so that the ordinary food is properly digested and assimilated.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

Friday's Daily.

—Carpetine for sale at Baxter's Restaurant.

—Mrs. Phil. Morel of Waterloo was in town today.

—Levi Hartman of Corunna called in for business and a visit with the Editor yesterday.

—Among our callers today, who paid up into 1900, were David Bear, Henry Gardner and Solomon Deetz.

—L. C. Oberlin, of Stafford, is a new man who proposes to keep posted, so he came in today and subscribed.

—John Weimer is advertising cheap potatoes of good kinds, if anyone will come to the farm and buy them. See his notice.

—Washington Betz and wife were in town today and called at the COURIER office as usual paying a year ahead. His son is now in Detroit.

--Our friends from over east, A. J. Price and D. B. Bordner were in town today and did not forget the old home paper they have taken so many years.

—Mrs. Ferguson, of South Milford, went home yesterday. She is the mother of Mrs. Chas. Kinsey and was here under the treatment of Dr. Vesta Swarts.

—W. N. Shatto and daughter Daisy, accompanied by Mrs. John Feagler, of this place, were callers today. Mr. Shatto is one of our pupils and teachers of the early day.

—Solomon Deetz was here today and brings word word that Henry Deetz has been sick for some time. We are very sorry to hear this, but hope he may soon be a sound man again.

—Vic Hendry at Angola, so report has it, has been arrested for violation of the liquor laws. Angola has no saloons, and we suppose Vic was trying to accommodate the boys——and himself.

—Wm. Swartz, of Waterloo, and his daughter Jennie were callers today. He brings word that Mrs. Swartz who had her leg broken last winter, is now getting so she can get around by the use of crutches.

—Mrs. W. C. Hartman and little boy Stanley, will return to their home at Roann this evening. She has been having her throat treated by Dr. Swarts and is so nearly healed that she feels safe in going back now.

—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Goodrich were callers today, having moved back from Morenci Mich., where they have lived so many years, to the old home farm near Sedan. We were glad to see them back again, and we might add, he is on our list of 1900.

—Ed Blattner of Toledo, was here this forenoon. He is on his rounds as usual selling goods to customers over northern Indiana. He says his wife's health is somewhat improved, though she has been a sufferer three or four year from some serious nervous trobble —A young hired man, a Polander, near Kingsbury, Laporte Co. last week found some dynamite cartridges in a box in his employer's wood house, and not knowing what they were, proceeded to break one open with a hammer. He went about twelve feet into the air, and may lose both eyes.

—Mrs. Sarah Smith died last night at about 11 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Henry Hines, who, we believe is her daughter. She was the youngest sister of Mrs. Barclay and was about 74. She has been sick for some time and her death expected at any hour. The funeral will be on Sunday.

—There was hard fighting yesterday with the Filipinos at Calumpit, north of the river Rio Grande, though we had only one man killed and about a dozen wounded. Col. Funston of the Kansas regiment made another of his desperate dashes, swimming across the river in the face of a hot fire from the enemy. This is the third time at least that he and his men have done this. □ —Columbia City Post:—There is a case pending in the Allen Circuit court for the dredging of the upper end of the Eel River, beginning in Allen county and extending westward to the west boundary of the Chapine Reservation, to the point in Whitley county where the dredging was commenced. It will effect quite a good many property owners in Union and Smith townships

—Waterloo Press:—On Tuesday, when returning home from the raising of a barn, John and Charles Metzfield were driving along the road by the big ditch, just north of John Wimer's and a cut of the whip caused the horse to kick over the cross bar and fall into the ditch, taking the buggy and contents along. A small son of John Mutzfield's was quite severely injured and the buggy badly demolished.

—The papers of Ligonier and Albion speak of their county treasurer going to other towns, outside of the county seat, to collect taxes. This is a great accommodation to the people, and was for many years the custom in DeKalb county, till we got into trouble over our county officers and went to looking up the law. Then we found that a treasurer who took his books outside his office, to use, was liable to a heavy fine of $200, every time he did it, Now, all taxes are paid in the court house and in the treasurer's office, only.

—The Goshen Democrat says Prof. Green's experiments with the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy were made Thursday afternoon at a greater distance than he has yet tried. The sending station was again placed near the university flag staff and the metal sphere and vertical wire were elevated to the top of the pole. The receiving station was temperarily removed from St. Mary's Academy to the water tower in South Bend. The distance between the sending and receiving posts was two and one-half miles. The tests were made at intervals of thirty minutes.

Saturday's Daily.

— Mrs. L. E. Lane, of Defiance, is here attending the W. C. T. U. meeting and calling on friends.

—Engineer J. J. VanAuken has been engaged several days with assistants surveying the lines for the sewer system.

—Deputy-sheriff James Hartford and wife will reach home today, and hereafter will be at home to their friends at their rooms in the sheriff's residence.

—Cook Ford has as lovely a pair of Jersey calves, little twins, as one would wish to see. They are full blood and would make a farmer smile to see them.

—John Houston, of South Jackson, was a caller today. We are glad to hear that his wife is regaing her health She was able to walk over to a neighbors this week.

—Our good-natured friend, Peter Reincehl is now in the COURIER'S 1900 class having called yesterday. We would have been glad to meet him, but were temporarily absent.

—The county commissioners at Indianapolis have bought and paid for fifty copies of "Gospel Hymns" for the Marion County Poor Farm. Services are held there every Sunday.

—Hazel Urie and her sister Wilma came up from Butler last evening on the 6 07 train. They are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Urie of that place, latter being a sister of Mrs. Cuppy.

—H. H. Slaybaugh of Fairfield was a caller yesterday and became a 1900 subscriber. This reminds us that Fairfield farmers say there is now and then a good field of wheat up there.

—Read our article, how they spend Sunday in Mexico. We might add, that the Mexicans elect their members of congress "on the first Sunday in October" every two years, as stated in their national constitution.

—We met Rev. and Mrs, F. C. Colvin yesterday, and are pleased to see that both are looking the picture of good health. They are pleased with their new home at Cassopolis and he likes his work and the people there.

—There is already a clash between Michigan City and Laporte, over court business, on account of the foolish law giving Michigan City a "Superior Court." Both judges are fighting to to try the same case, each claiming to have excluse right.

—Chas. R. Wessmar, 2503 Ashland St., Evanston, Ill. Writes: My boy 2½ years old had a severe cold which refused to yield to any treatment until we tried Foley's Honey and Tar which gave immediate relief, and he was completely cured before using one bottle Guaranteed, 25 and 50c.

—It is said that a Goshen man while on his way home with a sack of flour in a baby cab left it a minute while he stepped into a store. When he came out both were gone. He hunted about for some time. In his brief absence, his son had come along and wheeled the cab and flour home.

—Rev. W. L Meese is meeting with good success in handling that grand book, Shepps Giant Library, published by the Globe Bible Publishing Co. of Philadelphia. It is a book of books, being eight books in one volume and all very valuable. These eight books are: 1. Stories of the Bible. 2. Wm. Shakspeare. 3. Treasures of Music. 4. A Cluster of Fine Art. 5. Gems of Poetry. 6. Famous Orators 7. Fiction. 8. History of the World. We are also pleased to note he is getting on his list of subscribers many of the best business men and students in this vicinity. Mr. Meese is not only an excellent man, but an excellent canvasser and he never handles a poor book.

Asthma in Worst Form Relieved

Miss Maud Dickens, Parsons, Kans. Writes: I suffered eight years with asthma in its worst form. I had several attacks during the last year and was not expected to live through them. I began using Foley's Honey and Tar and it has never failed to give immediate relief. I reccommend it to all those suffering with asthma, 25 and 50c.

Every Month

there are thousands of women who nearly suffer death from irregular menses. Sometimes the "period" comes too often — sometimes not often enough—sometimes the flow is too scant, and again it is too profuse. Each symptom shows that Nature needs help, and that there is trouble in the organs concerned. Be careful when in any of the above conditions. Don't take any and every nostrum advertised to cure female troubles.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR

is the one safe and sure medicine for irregular or painful menstruation. It cures all the ailments that are caused by irregularity, such as leucorrhœa, falling of the womb, nervousness; pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides, hips and limbs. By regulating the menses so that they occur every twenty-eighth day, all those aches disappear together. Just before your time comes, get a bottle and see how much good it will do you. Druggists sell it at $1.

Send for our free book, "Perfect Health for Women."
THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO. ATLANTA, GA.

A Thresher Feeder

that has every advantage of efficiency, convenience and economy over all other feeders is the Nichols-Shepard Self-feeder. It feeds either bound or loose grain evenly and steadily, without waste or litter, and completely regulates itself to the speed of the separator. The feeding apron stops and starts automatically and the feeder can be stopped while the separator is in full motion. It is held rigidly in place when attached to the separator frame and its adjustable supports keep it always perfectly level. This Self-feeder is designed for the

NICHOLS-SHEPARD SEPARATOR

Large illustrated catalogue that tells all about the Nichols-Shepard Separator and its improved attachments, and the Nichols-Shepard Traction Engine mailed free.

YOU CAN USE IT 20 DAYS FREE

Ask us to ship you one of our High Arm Sewing Machines with Ball Bearings and all Modern Improvements. This we will do by express to any station within 500 miles of Chicago. Upon arrival deposit our price, $19.50, and express charges, with the express agent of your town, then

TAKE THE MACHINE HOME AND TRY IT FOR 20 DAYS

If you are perfectly satisfied with the machine, keep it, otherwise return it to the express agent, and he will give you all your money back. If you prefer, we will ship by freight and draw on you through your nearest bank, draft attached to Bill of Lading. When machine comes pay draft, and take machine from station. If you don't like it, return it by freight, and we will refund. We guarantee the machine for ten years. Remember you take no risk. It don't cost you one cent unless you take the machine. We have sold over 100,000, and they are all giving perfect satisfaction. ITS SPECIAL FEATURES are Ball Bearing, Light Running, Durable, Easily Operated, Noiseless, Double Positive Feed, Self Threading Shuttle, Self-Setting Needle, Tension Liberator, Automatic Spooler, High Arm, Nickle-plated working parts, Steel bearings, Improved steel Attachments, Superior Finish, Highly Polished Bent Woodwork, Oak or Walnut.

Up-to-date in every detail.

Originators of The Catalogue Business.

Send 15 cents for our 1000-page catalogue. It lists everything used by mankind.
MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., Michigan Ave. & Madison St., Chicago.

THE WONDERFUL REMEDY FOR

TIKO Rheumatism

It is not a CURE-ALL, but it is a Specific for RHEUMATISM.

One hundred and forty-four bottles Cured 100 cases of RHEUMATISM.

TIKO is a medicine taken INTERNALLY, the only method by which RHEUMATISM can be successfully treated. It cures the CAUSE, and therein lies its remarkable success. Its price is $1.00 per bottle, or three bottles for $2.50, and if your Druggist has not got it, it will be sent to you, by Express, ALL CHARGES PAID, on receipt of price.

Address, PURINTON MEDICINE COMPANY, Detroit, Mich.

Auburn Sewer System.

Notice of Letting!

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Trustees of the Town of Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, until 7.00 p. m. Wednesday, May 17, 1899, for the furnishing of all material and labor necessary for the complete construction of a combined sewer system for the urban and suburban districts of said town. Each proposal will be accompanied by a certified check in the sum of one thousand ($1,000) dollars made payable to the president of the Board of Trustees and delivered to the Town Clerk, and each bid will be opened and read at the office of the Board of Trustees at the time stated above. Specifications now on file in the office of J. J. VanAuken Town Engineer.

S. S. POTTER,
Pres. Town Board.
ATTEST: E. C. SHEETS,
Town Clerk.

Auburn Normal

Auburn will have a Summer Normal beginning June 12. The work will be adapted especially to teachers wishing to review and those preparing to teach. Instruction will be given also in any higher studies that may be desired It will be our aim to make this schoo. profitable to our students and worthy of their patronage and we know it to be the opinion of the County Superintendent that such a school should be held.

For information address H. G. Brown Secretary, or any other instructor.

Instructors { B. B. Harrison, H. G. Brown, Mrs. E. M. Richards.

6tf

Volcanic Eruptions

Are grand, but Skin eruptions rob life of joy. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, cures them, also Old, running and Fever Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Felons, Corns, Warts, Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Chapped Hands Chilblains. Best Pile cure on earth. Drives out Pains and Aches. Only 25 cents a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by H. B. McCord the Druggist.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Prevents Dandruff and hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

HIGH-GRADE
HAWTHORNE
$22.50 NET.

SPECIFICATIONS. Name—Hawthorne. Crank—6¼ inch (diamond shape). Chain—3-16 inch best hardened centers and rivets (Indianapolis B best quality), straw center and blued sides. Frame—Regular 18-inch, option 22 or 24 inches. Finish—Dark myrtle green, neatly hand striped. Gear—Regular 72, option 78; 10 tooth rear and 28 front sprockets are used on 72 gear, 10 and 28 on 78. Handle Bars—Adjustable. Pedals—Bridgeport, rat trap. Saddle—Gilliam, padded top. Spokes—Tangent. Excelsior Needle Co's best No. 2, 28 front, 36 rear. Tires—1¾-inch Morgan & Wright double tube. Tool Bag—Containing wrench, oiler, repair outfit and spanner. Tread—¾-inch. Tubing—Shelby cold drawn seamless. Wheel Base—43½ inches. Wheels—28 inches. Weight—(About) 35 pounds.

15000 Sold in 1898

It's as good as any wheel made. All modern improvements. Guaranteed for one year. If not found as represented, return at our expense both ways, and you can have your money back on demand

ASK US TO SEND YOU OUR FREE BICYCLE CATALOG

Send 15 cents for our 1,000 page catalogue. It lists everything used by mankind.
MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., CHICAGO.

FARMERS' WIVES

or any other ladies who wish to work

Can Earn Lots of Money

working for us in spare time at home on our cloths. We offer you a good chance to make plenty of spending money easily, leisure hours. Send 12c. for cloth and full directions for work, and commence at once. Cloth sent anywhere. Address
WINOOSKET CO. (311-M) Boston Mass
Mfg. Dept.

MICA AXLE GREASE

lightens the load—shortens the road.

helps the team. Saves wear and expense. Sold everywhere.
MADE BY STANDARD OIL CO.

MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS

They overcome Weakness, Irregularity and Omissions, Increase vigor and banish "pains of menstruation." They are "Life Savers" to girls at womanhood, aiding development of organs and body. Be known remedy for women equals them. Cannot do harm—life becomes a pleasure. $1 per box by mail. Sold by druggists. MOTT CHEMICAL CO., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXIX | Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, May 11, 1899. | Number 19.

BANK First National
Auburn, Ind.
Capital Stock and Surplus
$60,000
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money to Loan.
CHARLES McCLELLAN, President.
D. A. GARWOOD, Cashier.

Physicians T.G.Matheny,M.D J.B.Casebeer,M.D
Matheny & Casebeer
have again associated themselves in the practice of Medicine, Surgery & Obstetrics. Office On 9th St.
Western 'Phone:
Office..... No. 9
Matheny,s residence..... " 88
Casebeer's " ..... " 175

DENTIST S. B. JOHNSTON,
Office Over Pioneer Hardware Store,
Auburn, Indiana.
First-class material and scientific workmanship employed. Prices reasonable.
Western 'Phone:
Residence..... No. 27

BANK Farmers,
Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres. J. C. Henry, V-Pres.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

Physicians D. J. Swarts, M. D Vesta W. Swarts,M D
and SURGEONS
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets,
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western..... No. 19 Central Union..... No. 19

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN,
Auburn, Ind.
Office in Gandy Building. Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Sprcialty

P. V. HOFFMAN,
LAWYER,
Auburn. Indiana
OFFICE over Hebel's Grocery.

Dr. Z. H. Stamets,
Physician & Surgeon
Office on Main St., opposite Swineford Hotel.
Western 'Phone 104
Special attention given to techinal examinations and treatment of chronic and obscure cases, also special attention given to surgery and diseases of women. Calls answered at all hours. Office apart from residence.

I. O. BUCHTEL, HOMEOPATHIC
Physician and Surgeon.
Special attention given to hronic and Obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Madden Bros Marble Works, Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, day or night.

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Deeds & Titles,
AUBURN, IND.
☞Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

Mott's Nerverine Pills

BEFORE AND AFTER USING.
The great remedy for nervous prostration and all nervous diseases of the generative organs of either sex, such as Nervous Prostration, Failing or lost Manhood, Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Youthful Errors, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco or Opium, which lead to Consumption and Insanity. $1.00 per box by mail; 6 boxes for $5.00.
MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Prop's, Cleveland, Ohio.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Notice to Horse Breeders

I will stand my thoroughbred, heavy Draft Norman Stallion at Moores on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays; Butler on Thursdays; Waterloo on Fridays and Saturdays. Weight, 1800 pounds. Terms reasonable; and no charges for dead colts.

A. D. MOORE, proprietor.

A MANILA PAPER.

Will Clark Sends a Number of Them to Auburn Friends.

We yesterday received two papers from Manila, P. I. sent us by our young soldier friend, Will Clark of Company D, Twentieth regulars. Several others of his friends here received similar favors, including his sister Mrs. Matt Zerwes, J. A. Clifton and Dr. Nusbaum.

One of the papers sent to this office is "Freedom," a good sized paper, dated March 18, and printed in green, in honor of St. Patrick's day, which, however, they admit was the day before in the United States.

The other paper is "The American" and is dated March 23. They are probably the only English papers published there though the city is a large one, with a number of Spanish papers. The type used is coarser that is generally used here, but the items and advertisements are all appropriate for the time and place.

The advertisements are greatly given to lunches, beer, ice cream, soda water cigars and whisky.

The items partake largely of the soldier element and especially as to what is going on at the front, which was then but a short distance outside of town. Here are some of the items.

A. B. C. Beer is surest and best

Last evening a detatchment from the 23, Infantry was taken up the river to assist at the front.

Old Government whiskey has no equal.

Last Wednesday the gunboat crossed the lake and shelled the city of Santa Cruz, an important center and important stronghold.

Subscribers who do not get their papers, will confer a favor by reporting same to this office.

Just arrived. A large stock of First Class Marine and Field Glasses.

at Felix Ullmann—39 Escolta.

C. L. Ewing, quartermaster sergeant, will please call on the undersigned or send his address. Martin M, Levering, Calle Aaloague No. 39.

Sergt. W. C. Harrison, of Co. F. 14, Infantry, was discharged on board the transport "Grant" while passing through the Red sea. This is a unique experience. Sergt. Harrison is the first and probably the last American soldier to be discharged in the historic waters which engulfed Pharaoh.

The Third Artillery boys are quite happy in their new laid out trenches near the De Lome Church. Only one thing they growl about and that is not having enough to do, A Freedom representative visited their canteen a few days ago and found all hands happy, the only growler visible being the Whistler of Battery K. All he had to complain of was innocnous desuetude, which may mean much or little.

Remember Old Dad Richwein, at the Alhambra who made the first Sandwich in Manila.

Just arrived: Sauerkraut and Winerwurst. Hot all day.

We regret that Major Anderson, of the 1st Colorados, was shot through the ankle during the attack upon Maraquino on Wednesday last. Four other men were slightly hurt at the same time and came into town on Thursday afternoon at about five o'clock, in order to get medical attendance.

An order has lately been issued to the effect that no man must leave the quarters or the immediate vicinity. This strikes the boys as particularly hard, as Co. H, has a large church going record and this order prevents them from going to church Sunday mornings. There is a preacher somewhere in the regiment, but he has not been seen this year.

Mrs. I. M. Johnson Dead

Saturday's Daily.

Last night about midnight, Mrs. Johnson awoke her husband, and he saw at once that she was very bad, and sent for Dr. Baxter. When the Doctor came he found her heart action was nearly gone, and gave the usual remedies, and at first the action seemed returning. But in a few minutes she breathed her last. It is thought she may have had a second stroke of parly sis, which affected the heart. The funeral will probably be Monday afternoon.

LOW RATES TO MINNEAPOLIS,

On account of the annual meeting, General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, the Chicago & North-Western Railway will sell low rate tickets to Minneapolis and return on May 16-18, limited to June, 3, 1899, at one fare plus $2 00. Tickets honored on the North-Western Limited, electric lighted throughout, leaving Chicago daily 6:30 p. m. Other trains leave Chicago at 9:00 a. m, 10:00 p. m. and 10:15 p. m For full information apply to any ticket agent or address.

H. A. Gross, 461 Broadway, New York City.

W. M. Burgard 301 Main street (Ellicott Square), Buffalo, N. Y.

A. H. Waggener, 6 Jackson place, Indianapolis. 18-19

GET OUR PRICES

If you had any idea how much better these Hart, Schaffner & Marx suits are than ordinary clothes you would much rather have them, even at a higher price. The fact is we sell them for as little and often for less than you would pay for inferior goods elsewhere. You owe it to yourself to come in here and see them before you buy. It costs nothing to investigate. We like to show our goods.

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX

H. S. & M.

GUARANTEED CLOTHING.

FOUR-BUTTON SACK SUIT
Copyright 1899
By Hart, Schaffner & Marx

In a store carrying a general line, where you find such Clothing, you naturally expect to find equally as superior

DRY GOODS, GENTS' FURNISHINGS AND CARPETS.

When you visit our store you will not be disappointed. Here you will find the CHOICEST and BEST the market affords at prices you cannot help saying are reasonable.

Just now we are having a very large trade on Men's and Boy's Suits, Neckwear, Underwear, and Ladies' Wash Dress Goods, Shirt Waists, Wash Skirts, Hosiery, Underwear and Parasols. Never before have you seen such a grand display of these goods in Auburn. Absolutely guaranteeing each garment we sell makes our store an ideal place to trade. We invite you to call often.

We Are Saving You Money.

SCHAAB & BRO.,

Auburn, Indiana.

One of the Victims.

John Weaver, one of the victims of the recent cyclone at Kirksville, Mo., was a brother-in-law of Samuel and John Fretz, he having married their sister. He formerly lived a few miles south of Kendallville, but recently was at Kirksville. His home was in the cyclone's path, and utterly destroyed, for what the storm spared, was burned, for the wrecked buildings caught fire. One of the children had both legs broken in the wreck.

Asthma In Worst Form Relieved

Miss Maud Dickens, Parsons, Kans. Writes: I suffered eight years with asthma in its worst form. I had several attacks during the last year and was not expected to live through them. I began using Foley's Honey and Tar and it has never failed to give immediate relief. I reccommend it to all those suffering with asthma, 25 and 50c.

Meekison of Ohio

Has Been Greatly Benefited by Pe-ru-na.

Congressman D. Meekison of Ohio, writes the following letter to Dr. Hartman.

Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, O.

DEAR SIR:—I have used several bottles of Pe-ru-na and feel greatly benefited thereby. I have been afflicted with catarrh of the head and feel encouraged to believe that continued use of Pe-ru-na will fully eradicate a disease of thirty years' standing.

Hon. D. MEEKISON.

Yours sincerely,
D. MEEKISON.

The continued receipt of endorsements like this for Dr. Hartman's great catarrh remedy, prove its value beyond question. Men of prominence everywhere are recognizing the merit of Pe-ru-na and are willing to give expression to their judgment because a certain, absolute cure for catarrh is a public good. All druggists sell Pe-ru-na.

Church Struck.

SPECIAL TO THE COURIER.

FAIRFIELD CENTER, May 4:—During a severe storm this moening, lightning struck the Lutheran church at this place, tearing the large steeple off entirely. Also some siding and on the interior injuring the plastering and the floor The latter was afire and had it not been for the timely arrival of Joseph Huet, the building would have been burned. As it is the damage will be quite heavy.

Brought Home.

Wednesday's Daily.

The remains of John F. Shaffer reached the Junction today noon from the west over the B. & O. and were met and escorted to the home of Geo. Able, near his own home. Short services by Rev. Brosy will be held this evening at 6:30, and interment in Woodlawn.

Excursion to San Francisco, Cal

Account of the National Baptist Anniversaries the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry., will sell tickets to San Francisco and return at very low rates on May 14, 15 and 16 with final return limit to July 15, 1899. This offers an exceptionally good chance for a cheap trip to the Pacific coast. Particulars can be obtained from ticket agents

In Bad Shape

I was in bad shape and suffered a great deal with my Kidneys. I was requested to try Foley's Kidney Cure, I did so and in four days I was able to go to work again, now I am entirely well.

CHARLES REPLOGLE, Atwater, O.

To Make Life Happy

Sweet music appeals to the heart and soul and lightens many of life's burdens. If you have ever heard the sweet-toned STEGER PIANO you will appreciate this. To reach the highest standard of excellence has always been the aim in the manufacture of the CELEBRATED STEGER PIANO. Only the best material is used, insuring great durability. Every piano fully guaranteed.

The Steger factories, thoroughly equipped with the best and most improved machinery, located at Steger, Ill., are among the largest in the West.

Intending purchasers will find it profitable to write for full descriptive catalogue. which will be mailed free, upon applicatien. STEGER & Co.(Established 1879). Chicago, Ill.

COUNCIL CHANGES.

At the Meeting Last Night and Much Important Work Done.

At the meeting last evening, all were present. The retiring Board, Mr. Potter, Mr. Garwood, Mr. Douglas, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Zimmerman, as well as the outgoing marshal, Mr. Potter, and clerk, Mr. Sheets. There was the usual closing up business to be done, such as reading over the findings of the canvassing board, which had already met and completed the count of the votes, and certified to the election of the successful ones. The report of the committee chosen to audit the accounts of the town board was then read, and accepted. Mr. Lanning was present but Mr. Beadle, the other member. was not. The report will be found elsewhere. Soon after this, the old Board adjourned and the new one was called to order by the new clerk, Mr. Weaver. Mr. Lewis was the only one who retired, as Mr. Potter succeeds himself. All expressed their high opinion of Mr. Lewis. Mr. Brandon took his place. Mr. Garwood was then made president of the Council, as Mr. Potter declined. Mr. Garwood made a short speech, saying he appreciated both the honor and the burdens of the new position, but would try to discharge its duties properly and fairly. The bond of the new treasurer for $12,000 was presented and accepted. The same for marshal for $3,000. It was noticed that on each affidavit the notary stated when his notarial commission would expire. It was a new feature, but is in accordance with a recent change in the law.

Mr. Thrush, on the part of the Central Telephone Company presented an amended contract to the effect that his company would give the use of a phone to the city, if the city would agree to give the Central the use of water enough to run a one-eighth horse power water motor for use in their central office here, and also pay them $2. This was considered fair and agreed to.

There was some discussion as to the salary of treasurer, and other officers, but that will be settled some other time. Heretofore the treasurer has received $60 a year, but now, he has to collect all water rents, all dues for electric lights, and do much other work that has heretofore been done by the superintendent of the light plant and water works, as well as some work often done by other officers. In fact, the money can be handled by him only. This will take at least half his time, and he will have to be paid much more than heretofore.

After some more informal talk, the Council adjourned to meet at the call of the President.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

GREATLY REDUCED RATES TO DENVER,

Via Chicago & North-Western Railway. On account of the annual meeting. General Assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, to be held in Denver, May 18-26. 1899, excursion tickets will be sold at the favorable rate of one fare plus $2.00 for the round trip, with favorable return limits. Tickets on sale May 15-16, 1899. For rates and other information ask your nearest ticket agent or apply to

A. H. Waggener, 6 Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind. 18-19

WOMEN IN TROUBLE.

The Approach of Motherhood is the Occasion of Much Anxiety to All.

Every woman dreads the ordeal through which she must pass in becoming a mother. The pain and suffering which is in store for her is a source of constant anxiety, fear and dread, to say nothing of the danger which the coming incident entails. The joyous anticipations with which she looks forward to baby's coming gives way to an indescribable dread of the ordeal when she fully realizes the critical and trying event which will soon approach and have to be endured.

Women should hail with delight a remedy which insures to them immunity from the pain, suffering and danger incidental to child-bearing. Such a remedy is now offered, and women need not fear longer the hour of childbirth. "Mother's Friend"—is a scientific liniment—and if used before confinement, gently and surely prepares the body for the great requirements and changes it is undergoing, insures safety to both mother and child, and takes her through the event with comparative ease and comfort. This wonderful remedy is praised by every woman who has used it.

What woman is not interested in "Mother's Friend?" This wonderful remedy has been tested and its priceless value proven by the experience of thousands of happy mothers who have used it during the most critical period of woman's life—the approach and culmination of motherhood.

It has won their everlasting praise, for it gave them help and hope in their most trying hour and when most needed. Every woman may some day need "Mother's Friend." The little book, "Before Baby is Born" telling all about it, and when it should be used, will prove of great interest and benefit to all expectant mothers, and will be sent free to any address upon application to the Bradfield Regulator Company, Atlanta, Ga.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
Makes the food more delicious and wholesome
ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

Some New Laws

AN ACT CONCERNING THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

So many changes have been made in the new laws that control and regulate business in cities and towns, that we present a few points, kindly furnished by Attorney D. M. Link. The page given refers to the acts of 1899, just out

Providing that the trustees of incorporated towns shall constitute a board of health, ex-officio for said towns whose duty it shall be to prove the causes of disease when known and take prompt action against the spreading of contagious diseases; and abate nuisances dangerous to the public health. They shall elect a secretary who shall be the health officer of the board who shall inform himself in hygeine and sanitary science. He shall serve four years and if elected for a term beginning Jan. 1, 1899 he shall serve four years from that date. He shall receive as salary the sum of 1½ cents per capita payable quarterly, the population to be determined from the school census at the ratio of 3½ to 1. May be removed by the State Board of Health for neglect of duties. Health officers shall have the powers of constables in all matters pertaining to the public health No undertaker may bury a body until he has received a certificate and permit from the county or town board of health. Penalty $10 to $100. Page 17.

An act authorizing cities and towns to provide by ordinance for keeping streets and alleys clean.

Authorizing towns to pass ordinances for keeping streets alleys and public grounds clean and in a sanitary condition and providing that the expense may be paid out of the town funds or taxed up against the abutting property owners by placing the same on the tax duplicate. Page 52.

AN ACT CONCERNING PEDDLER'S LICENSE,

Provides that all veterans of the civil or Spanish war may peddle goods wares, fruits and merchandise in any town without the payment or any fee therefor. Providing that he shall present his certificate of discharge to the county auditor and get a license therefor. Page 59.

AN ACT TO AMEND THE BARRETT LAW.

This act changes the rate of interest on improvement and sewer bonds from 6 to 5 and attempts to amend an act in other respects which has been heretofore amended without referring to the later amendment. Page 63.

AN ACT REGULATING THE ALLOWANCE AND PAYMENT OF CLAIMS IN TOWNS.

Provides that it shall be unlawful for the trustees of any town to make any allowance or allow any claim unless such claim setting forth the particular items and amounts claimed and duly verified shall have been filed with the clerk and by him placed on the docket more than five days before the session at which the claim is to be allowed. That the town clerk shall procure a suitable book for use as a claim docket which shall at all times be open to the inspection of citizens and authorizing clerks to administer oaths required in such act. Penalty $50. Page 80.

An act providing that no lien or assessment shall be foreclosed unless the owner was duly notified or diligent search made for his address. Page 88.

An act providing that all contracts between teachers and school corporations shall be in writing and signed by the parties thereto. Page 173.

An act vesting the right in the voters of a town to, by a petition refer any ordinance, agreement, contract or measure enacted or proposed by the board of trustees to a vote of the voters of such town and providing that no franchise shall go into effect until 30 days after its passage, nor until voted upon by the people, if 40 of the people of the town demand an election thereon. Such ordinance when voted upon shall not go into effect unless approved by a majority of all the voters. Penalty $500 to $1,000. Page 217.

An act providing the manner in which street railroad companies may lay their tracks in incorporated towns. Page 230.

An act concerning the improvement of streets, sidewalks and alleys in incorporated towns and providing for a remonstrance.

An act providing that unskilled labor employed upon any public work in towns shall receive not less than 15 cents an hour. Page 315.

An act providing that town boards may condemn lands for sewer purposes and providing method of procedure. Page 341.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Obituary of Mrs. I. M. Johnson

Sarah (Miller) Johnson, was born in Seneca Co., Ohio, May 18 1837 and departed this life at her home in Auburn May 5, 1899, at the ripe age of 61 years, 11 months and 17 days. When she was about ten years old, she moved with her parents so Allen County, Indiana, where they lived for several years. Mrs. Johnson was the second of fifteen children, two of whom and also her father and mother preceded her to the other world. On the 9th of March 1855, she was united in marriage to Mr. Isaac Johnson, To this union were born two children, Mrs, Huldah Morrison of Chicago, and Mr. Simpson Johnson of Auburn. Nineteen years ago Mrs. Johnson united with the Christian church in Butler Indiana, of which she was a member for a number of years. Feeling that she wanted a permanent church "and the church of her choice not being here," she united with the Lutheran church last Feb. 27, of which church she was a faithful member until the time of her death. Mrs. Johnson was a woman who had many friends and was loved and esteemed by all who knew her. She possessed the characteristics of noble womanhood, exemplified them in her every day life. She was a kind and loving wife and mother, Glowing eulogies would not add to the beauty of her character, neither would it cause her friends to love her more. Mrs. Johnson leaves to mourn her death a husband, two children, two grand-children and a step-mother, four brothers, and eight sisters besides many other friends. Over a year ago she had a stroke of paralysis, from which she never wholly recovered. She was called to her rest last Friday at the midnight hour. It matters not when, where or how death comes, if we are fully prepared to meet God, and we believe that Mrs. Johnson was prepared, Hence we mourn not as those who have no hope. The funeral service was conducted from the house this afternoon at 1:30. Interment took place in Evergreen cemetery. Rev. J. D. Brosy officiating.

Women Should Know It.

Many women suffer untold agony and misery because the nature of their disease is not correctly understood. They have been led to believe that womb trouble or female weakness of some sort is responsible for the many ills that beset womankind.

Neuralgia, nervousness, headache, puffy or dark circles under the eyes, rheumatism, a dragging pain or dull ache in the back, weakness or bearing-down sensation, profuse or scanty supply of urine with strong odor; frequent desire to pass it with scalding or burning sensation, sediment in it after standing in bottle or common glass for twenty four hours, are signs of kidney and bladder trouble.

The above symptoms are often attributed by the patient herself or by her physician to female weakness or womb trouble. Hence, so many fail to obtain relief, because they are treating, not the disease itself, but a reflection of the primary cause, which is kidney trouble.

In fact, women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble and both need the same treatment.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is the great discovery of the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is easy to get at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar.

To prove its wonderful merits you may have a sample bottle and book telling all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Kindly mention the Auburn COURIER and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co. Binghamton, N. Y.

HALF RATES TO SAN FRANCISCO,

Via the Chicago & North-Western Railway. Quickest time, grandest scenery, variable routes, perfect service. Excursion tickets will be sold at reduced rate of one first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets on sale May 14-17, limited to return until July 15, 1899, inclusive, account of meeting of National Baptist Societies' Anniversaries. For rates and other information ask your nearest ticket agent or write

A. H. Waggener, 6 Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind. 18-19

FOR SALE

The first two lots north of "Bab" Lewis' residence—One of them vacant, and the other a corner lot with large frame house, good cellar, woodhouse and summer kitchen, frame barn, good well and cistern, some fruit, and handy to the schools and church. Will sell the lots separately or both together, See the occupant, Mrs. Kitty Weaver. for price and other particulars. 15-18

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1899. MAY. 1899.

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31	•	•	•
•	•	•	•	•	•	•

L. Q. 2d-31 N. M. 9th. F. Q. 17th. F. M 25th.

CIRCLING THE GLOBE

CONCISE HISTORY OF SEVEN DAYS' DOINGS.

Intelligence by Electric Wire from Every Quarter of the Civilized World, Embracing Foreign Affairs and Home Happenings.

Fighting Goes On.

The War Department is satisfied from dispatches received Friday from Gen. Otis that the American commander has put aside the insurgent temporizing over peace, and has turned his attention to the most aggressive tactics. The wisdom of this course is fully approved by the officials, who have foreseen that the rebels needed further chastisement in order to bring them to a realizing sense of their position. The early dispatches from Otis clearly defined the general plan of his latest movement. He is moving in two main columns. Maj. Gen. MacArthur is pushing straight forward over a nine mile stretch of country between Calumpit and the latest rebel stronghold, San Fernando. Maj. Gen. Lawton is directing a strong force under Col. Sumner to prevent the insurgents from retreating from San Fernando into the mountains to the north.

James Whitcomb Riley at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mr. James Whitcomb Riley, the celebrated Hoosier poet, whose name is now a familiar one in every Indiana home, will be heard at the Princess Rink, Fort Wayne, Ind., May 16, under the auspices of the Fort Wayne Press Club. This will be the only appearance of Mr. Riley in Northern Indiana this year. As it is his first visit to this part of the State in six years there is much interest attached to his appearance. The Princess Rink has a seating capacity of 2,500, and the many admirers of this great poet will probably fill the vast auditorium. Loyalty to the talents of Hoosierdom should instill the reading public of Northern Indiana to turn out en masse to do honor to this noted songster. His poetry has made him famous and to hear him read his own effusions even adds a greater charm to his verse. Mr. Riley will read eight of his poems on as many different topics. It will be one of the most prominent literary and musical events of the year in Fort Wayne and vicinity.

Serious Conflagration.

At Philadelphia, fire destroyed the Triangle Clothing House completely. Part of the walls have fallen. Sparks were carried to adjoining property. The fire assumed alarming proportions. The fire gutted several residences, a clubhouse and four business places before it was gotten under control. The loss will reach $148,000. Abraham Duncan and William Porter, firemen, were injured. The cause of the fire is a mystery.

Turkey to Settle.

The Constantinople correspondent of the London Chronicle says that the Sultan has authorized Mr. Oscar S. Straus, the American Minister, to telegraph to President McKinley Turkey's promise to pay the $100,000 claimed for the destruction of the property of American missionaries during the Armenian massacres in 1895.

Oil Destroyed by Fire.

Twenty thousand barrels of oil were destroyed by fire from lightning in an oil tank near Morgantown, Pa. Loss, with tanks and incidentals, was $30,000. The pumping station and a large number of houses in the vicinity were threatened at one time, but all danger is now over.

A Boiler's Bad Break.

At Hopkinsville, Ky., McKnight's saw-mill boiler blew up, wrecking the mill and instantly killing Barrett and Effie McKnight, proprietors, and blowing off John White's leg and T. T. McKnight's arm.

Burned to Death.

Mrs. Joanna Davern, a widow 60 years old, was burned to death in a fire which destroyed her house at Cortland, N. Y. She was rescued from the building once, but returned to it to secure valuable papers and perished.

Mrs. Childs Denies It.

Mrs. George W. Childs has authorized the Philadelphia Ledger to deny the statement that marriage was contemplated between herself and Gen. Joseph Wheeler.

Goes to Chicago.

Brig. Gen. Thomas Anderson, who has returned recently from the Philippines, has been assigned to the command of the department of the lakes.

Dashed to Death.

John Fisher, a window washer, fell from the sixth-story window of the Rookery Building, Chicago, and was instantly killed.

Masonic Temple Attractions, Fort Wayne, Ind.

June 10.—Richard Mansfield, in "Cyano de Bergerac."

Will Fight in Denver.

Manager Otto C. Flotto of the Colorado Athletic Association, says the Fitzsimmons-Jeffries fight will take place in Denver. He offered a purse of $25,000 and has received a dispatch from the principals requesting him to go to New York to arrange the details.

Kicked to Death.

Akron (Ohio) special: Alex. Ganthiers, died at Camp Mead of typhoid fever, as reported. It is now rumored that he was kicked to death. An investigation will be made by his mother.

Edison Company Is Defeated.

Judge Adams in the United States District Court at St. Louis refused an application of the Edison Electric Light Company for an injunction against the Imperial Electric Light, Heat and Power Company to compel it to desist from using the three-wire system of the Edison company.

Shoots Her Husband.

John P. Ross of Sharon, Mass., was shot and killed by his wife, Mary E. Ross, in the course of a quarrel at their home. She says she acted in self-defense, as her hand was choking her at the time. The pair had been married about a year and were middle-aged.

TWO EXCURSIONISTS KILLED.

Many Persons Injured by a Train Wreck Near Rochester.

Two persons were killed, more than a dozen seriously injured and fifty less seriously hurt as the result of a wreck on the Rochester and Lake Ontario Railroad, about one-half mile north of Rochester, N. Y. Two cars of an excursion train filled with passengers left the track while rounding a curve at full speed and were completely wrecked. The train was crowded with excursionists bound for different points along the shores of Lake Ontario in the Irondequoit bay district. Every seat in the coaches was filled and many persons were standing on the platforms. The engine rounded a curve with startling rapidity. One of the cars rode around the curve on the left wheels. There was a sudden crash as the couplings between the engine and coach were severed, and then the coach plowed through the earth for several feet before dropping on its side.

RECKLESS TOWN OF MINERS.

Laclahache, B. C., Gains a Reputation in a Very Short Time.

Up in the mountains of British Columbia a new town has sprung up which is in a fair way to bear a very bad reputation. The town in question is Laclahache, and it has for inhabitants less than 1,000 miners. The strange part about it is that Laclahache won its reputation in one night, just as the miners gained the wealth they are now recklessly spending. One of the most terrible and bloody prize fights in the history of the ring was fought on the green turf recently for a purse of $2,000. It lasted fifty rounds, and at the end of four hours' fighting the ground was running with human blood. "Tar Flat" Brown of San Francisco and Jack O'Flaherty of Cork, Ireland, were the principals. Both men were nearly dead when Brown was finally knocked out. A bacchanalian dance followed which rivals anything in history.

MARRIED AGAINST HIS WILL.

Mr. Schrank Fails to Get His Nuptial Contract Annulled in Court.

At Toronto, Ont., Philip Schrank, a tanner, brought an action to annul his marriage with Alice Hollingshead, a pretty girl to whom he was married against his will in December. Schrank had been courting the young woman, and, going to her father's house one evening by invitation, he met her father and brother, a constable and a magistrate. The girl's relatives, including a sister, were armed, and threatened to shoot him unless he consented to the marriage. His action was dismissed. There has been only one similar action in Canada, and in the other case the marriage was annulled.

FIERCE FIRE AT PITTSBURG.

Two Large Establishments Destroyed—Loss Will Exceed $200,000.

Property on Market street and Third avenue, Pittsburg, Pa., was destroyed in a fire that for a time threatened several large business blocks. The fire burned fiercely for three hours. J. J. Welden's seven-story grocery and the Novelty candy works were completely destroyed, and a number of adjoining buildings were scorched, among them Kunkel's dry goods store, "The Fair." The loss is given as $210,000. The fire is believed to have been caused by an explosion of gas.

TO FIGHT THE COMBINE.

Minneapolis Flour Mills Will Compete with the Trust.

The Minneapolis mills will compete with the United States Flour Milling Company just as they have hitherto with the mills now composing it. Numerous attempts were made to secure the Minneapolis mills, but no offer large enough to be even a temptation was made. Representatives of the milling interests intimate that Minneapolis has the long end of it and will be able to hold its own against the combine as easily as it did against the individual milling companies composing it.

Business Continues Good.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "All elements considered, it is rather surprising that business has not been set back a little. The uncertainty about Samoa and the prolonging of the difficulty in the Philippines might have counted for something, the rising imports and falling exports for something; the rise in foreign exchange, by some attributed to foreign sales of copper stocks, and the hindrance of manufacturing orders owing to the recent advance in prices. But there has been full faith that foreign difficulties would soon be cleared away. The state of foreign trade justifies confidence rather than apprehension. The cotton manufacture has made little change, and the strikes following the advance in wages given appear to have benefited manufacturers not a little by helping the demand and curtailing the supply of goods. The boot and shoe industry surpasses all other years in April shipments, last year by 11 per cent, 1895 by 13 per cent and 1892 by 45 per cent. Bessemer pig is unchanged at Pittsburg and gray forge strong at $14.50, though 16,000 tons of Southern have been sold here at $14.20. Failures for the week were 184 in the United States, against 262 last year, and 23 in Canada, against 16 last year."

Husband and Money Vanish.

Mrs. Samuel Blair of Edgar, Ok., recently sold a farm near Coffeyville, Kan., for $3,000 and with her husband went to Oklahoma, settling near Edgar. The family was accompanied by a hired man and his wife, who had worked for them for several years. A few nights ago Blair and the hired man's wife disappeared and with them went Mrs. Blair's money, a fine saddle horse and saddle and some of her clothing.

Swift Buys Grazing Lands.

G. F. Swift, the Chicago millionaire beef packer, has been in Oklahoma making arrangements to purchase several large tracts of land for cattle grazing. He has already bought several thousand acres in the Kiowa and Comanche country, where Mr. Swift has had nearly 15,000 cattle brought in already for grazing this summer.

Body Hurled Through the Air.

L. M. Pitkin, president of the Variety Iron Works Company and one of the best known business men of Cleveland, was struck and instantly killed by the westbound Lake Shore flyer at Coits, a suburb. The body was thrown forty feet into the air and was crushed and mangled in a terrible manner. Mr. Pitkin was 70 years of age.

Open Road to Alaska.

It is understood at Skaguay, Alaska, that the Canadian Government has instructed its collector to see that all American convoys are allowed to proceed to Log Cabin as formerly. It is further stated that the Canadian officials, in stopping convoys at the summit, acted without authority.

Armour May Build in Texas.

The Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway officials are responsible for a report that Armour & Co. are going to erect a large packing-house in Galveston.

Smallpox in German Cities.

Virulent smallpox has appeared simultaneously in various parts of Germany, notably at Iserlohn, Hanover and Moegedlo.

Spain Releases an American.

Secretary Hay at Washington has been formally notified of the release by the Spanish garrison at Ponape, in the Caroline Islands, of a naturalized American citizen named Melinder, held as a prisoner of war since last summer. Mr. Melinder is a merchant trading in the Carolines, and represents a San Francisco firm there. He avowed his American citizenship soon after the war began, and expressed sympathy for the American Government. He was arrested and held as a prisoner of war. News travels slowly from the Carolines, and it was some time before the San Francisco firm heard of the imprisonment of its agent. It notified the State Department, and this Government requested the British Government to use its good offices to secure Melinder's release. The British ambassador to Spain presented the case to the Spanish Government, which, a short time ago, sent instructions to the Carolines directing the release of the American.

PLAYER KILLS THE UMPIRE.

Baseball Game at Lowndesboro, Ala., Ends in a Murder.

Samuel Powell, umpire in a game of ball at Lowndesboro, Ala., was instantly killed by Frank McCoy, one of the players. The "Reds" and "Blues," two local teams, were the contestants and Powell leaned to the "Reds." In the seventh inning McCoy, who was the finest batsman for the "Blues," with two men on bases, hit a ball to the fence in left field. He had brought the two other men and himself home and was congratulating himself on his feat and the plaudits of the "Blues'" rooters when the umpire told him the hit was a foul. This enraged the excited young man and he called Powell a sneaking thief. Powell knocked him down and stamped on him. McCoy seized a baseball bat and hit Powell, crushing his skull and producing instant death.

STRIKE RESULTS IN SHOOTING.

Nephew of a Grain-Shoveling Contractor Is Seriously Wounded.

At Buffalo William H. Kennedy, nephew of a grain shoveling contractor, was shot and seriously wounded during a clash between the Connors-Kennedy shovelers and the strikers. James Hennessy, a member of the fire department, was hit by a stray bullet and slightly injured. Of five shots fired into a crowd by "Buck" Skinner only these two took effect. Kennedy has been a foreman in one of the elevators for several years. He has been active in politics. One of the Kennedy scoopers knocked down a striker and was in turn knocked down. Just then Skinner pulled a revolver and began firing. Kennedy's wound is not necessarily fatal. Skinner was captured.

Cleveland Workmen on Strike.

At Cleveland, Ohio, two hundred lathers struck for an eight-hour day and $2.50. Before noon they had secured what they asked for and returned to work. Two hundred plasterers also struck for $3 a day of eight hours. About fifty hodcarriers went out on a demand for an advance from $1.50 to $2 a day. Seventy-five structural iron workers also struck for 35 cents an hour and an eight-hour day.

Horrible Missouri Suicide.

Jerome Peck of Sedalia, Mo., aged 54 years, a veteran of the civil war, committed suicide in an extraordinary way. He used a heavy wire, one end of which he tied to a rafter and the other around his neck, and then jumped from a second-story window. The fall broke his neck and cut his throat from ear to ear.

Wireless Telegraphy.

Wireless telegraphy was first put to practical use when the Goodwin Sands light ship was struck by a passing vessel, and the crew, utilizing the wireless telegraph apparatus, notified South Foreland, England, that their ship was sinking. Tugs were thereupon dispatched to the assistance of the light ship.

Changes in the Navy.

Rear Admiral Howell has been relieved as senior member of the naval retiring board. He will be succeeded by Admiral Schley. Captain Cook has been ordered to duty as a member of the naval examining board. Commander W. W. Meade has been ordered to the command of the Brooklyn.

Sultana Survivors Gather.

Nearly 100 survivors of the Sultana disaster gathered in annual convention at Cleveland, the occasion being the thirty-fifth anniversary of the event. The Sultana was a Mississippi river boat, sunk April 27, 1864, with a loss of hundreds of lives.

Nations Sign a Pact.

Great Britain and Russia have come to an agreement on their spheres of influence in China. Dispatches from St. Petersburg via London, which are generally credited, state that an international pact on the subject has been signed.

Shipped Out as Freight.

Timothy Hogan, a notorious mail box robber, escaped from the penitentiary at Columbus, Ohio, by having himself nailed up in a box and shipped out as freight from the cigar shop.

Indian Territory Town Destroyed.

The town of Cheek, I. T., was entirely destroyed by fire. The loss is heavy.

Opening of Lake Navigation.

Navigation is open from Lake Superior through to Lake Huron.

MARKET REPORTS.

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $3.00 to $5.75; hogs, shipping grades, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2 red, 71c to 72c; corn, No. 2, 33c to 35c; oats, No. 2, 26c to 27c; rye, No. 2, 58c to 60c; butter, choice creamery, 15c to 17c; eggs, fresh, 11c to 12c; potatoes, choice, 40c to 55c per bushel.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $5.50; hogs, choice light, $2.75 to $4.00; sheep, common to choice, $2.50 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2 red, 71c to 72c; corn, No. 2 white, 35c to 37c; oats, No. 2 white, 30c to 32c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $3.50 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, 77c to 78c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2, 28c to 30c; rye, No. 2, 56c to 58c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.50; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $2.50 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 72c to 74c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 36c to 37c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 28c to 30c; rye, No. 2, 62c to 63c.

Detroit—Cattle, $2.50 to $5.50; hogs, $3.00 to $4.00; sheep, $2.50 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, 73c to 74c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 34c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 32c to 33c; rye, 61c to 63c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 75c to 76c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 34c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 28c to 29c; rye, No. 2, 57c to 59c; clover seed, new, $3.70 to $3.80.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 spring, 71c to 73c; corn, No. 3, 33c to 34c; oats, No. 2 white, 28c to 31c; rye, No. 1, 59c to 60c; barley, No. 2, 44c to 45c; pork, mess, $8.75 to $9.25.

Buffalo—Cattle, good shipping steers, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, common to choice, $3.25 to $4.25; sheep, fair to choice wethers, $3.50 to $5.25; lambs, common to extra, $4.50 to $6.25.

New York—Cattle, $3.25 to $5.75; hogs, $3.00 to $4.50; sheep, $3.00 to $5.75; wheat, No. 2 red, 81c to 82c; corn, No. 2, 42c to 44c; oats, No. 2, 32c to 33c; butter, creamery, 15c to 18c; eggs, Western, 12c to 14c.

DEWEY'S GLORIOUS VICTORY.

A YEAR ago, when the smoke of battle rose from the surface of the Bay of Cavite, when nothing remained of the proud Spanish fleet but a few smoking hulks of junk—some so far beneath the waves that they will remain there to rust and rot forever, others still burning and sending up a reek of smoke, not of battle, but of abject helplessness and surrender—this republic of ours sprang at one bound from a naval power of the sixth class to an acknowledged equality with the most powerful on the globe. The name of George Dewey, some time of Vermont, had been placed along with those of Drake, Nelson, De Ruyper, Collingwood and Farragut.

When Nelson hoisted the signal so dear to the British heart before engaging the enemy at Trafalgar the words were: "To-day England expects every man to do his duty." Every man in that splendid fleet did his full duty, for when the fight was over the enemy's chief passed his sword to the British leader. But the gallant seaman who made the British navy what it is lay in his wardroom dead in defense of his country. All over his ships in huddled groups, headless, legless, mangled, shattered by shot and shell, his sailors lay dead and wounded in frightful numbers. The victory was a glorious one, but was won at fearful cost.

When Dewey, theretofore almost unknown, hoisted the signal to "Remember the Maine" the American jackies took it to mean the same as the words of Nelson's famous sentence. They cheered the flag and cut loose with a smothering fire which made it impossible for the Spaniard to serve his guns with any accuracy. When the fight was ended the Spanish fleet was not surrendered to the victors; it had ceased to exist. The commander had little to surrender but himself and the few remaining uninjured men under his command. The victory was a glorious one and was won without damage to the victor. Six men in all that fleet received injuries, the most serious being a broken leg.

When day dawned in Mirs bay, a little land-locked inlet on the eastern coast of China, thirty-five miles north of Hong Kong, on the morning of April 27, a mist hid the face of the sun. Heavy banks of clouds covered the gray hulls of the fleet resting at anchor there for the coming of the news of the outbreak of war. A cold drizzle soon came to add to the discomforts, to increase the gloom of the anxious watchers. Every moment of delay meant so much grace and so much preparation in Manila. Would the news never come?

Morning mess had hardly been sounded when a sudden call to quarters roused every man aboard ship. A faint smudge of smoke had been made out at the mouth of the bay. Was it a tug with the important news, or had the Spaniard anticipated the Yankee? Men sprang to their positions, guns were scaled and everything cleared for instant action should it be needed. Up to the gray Olympia steamed the little vessel, which proved to be the long-looked-for tug. Consul General Williams went aboard the flagship and soon the signal was bent on the halliards calling ship commanders to a conference with the commodore.

Soon the signal was seen to up anchor and drop in the wake of the flagship. Out steamed the Olympia, followed in turn by the Baltimore, Raleigh, Petrel, Concord and Boston in one line. Abreast of the flagship the little cutter McCulloch steamed on, followed by the Nanshan and Zafiro in the second line. The formation for the descent upon Manila had been made. No matter if it did rain, another kind of rain would soon envelope that little fleet of warships. Silently, in regular order, with a way of but six or eight knots, the fleet put to sea.

Then a strange ceremony was enacted on the decks. Each crew was piped to general quarters. When all had assembled the executive officers stepped to the front and informed officers and men that the commodore directed that the proclamation of war issued by Spain be read. Slowly and impressively the words were read. Then hearty cheers rose on the heavy air as the men dispersed to their several positions. On speeded the vessels, now divested of almost everything needless in a hot fight. Six hundred miles away was Manila, but who could tell where Montejo and his fleet might be lurking?

So they steamed on in foul weather for two days and nights. Ammunition was taken from magazines and sent to the guns. Battle hatches were put in position, and at night nothing but the lofty lights could be seen to tell the story of the progress. Slowly, at a mere walk, the stately vessels plowed their way through the sullen sea. Silently the men waited and watched, sleeping fitfully; for who can sleep when mighty events are impending? Thus the men and the engines marked two days and nights.

What land is that to the south and east? That is Bolmoa cape. It is a part of the island of Luzon. Manila is on that island. See it is about six miles off. It is a bright morning, this April 30, what will to-morrow be like? One thinks of the green shores and broken headlands of the south Atlantic looking at that dim line off there. See the Boston and Concord have put on steam and are far in advance. What is their mission? They go to explore Subig bay. The don may have a vessel or two there and if so he can come up behind and smash the transports Nanshan and Zafiro. The commodore will smash him first.

Hot, hot beyond belief. The vessels roll lazily along, seeming to make no way. At this rate it will be late in the afternoon before the inhospitable shores of Corregidor are sighted. Now the Baltimore gets up speed and disappears in the wake of the two gunboats which have gone forward as scouts. It needs her big eight-inch guns to add to their lighter ones to give the possibly waiting enemy an object lesson. Big guns count in naval warfare now; just wait and see until the clash when the hostile armadas meet. But what of the rapid-fire guns, the little fellows? Good to keep off torpedo boats; they won't be needed. Wait and see.

The afternoon is long and very hot. Why so slow? Manila is but thirty miles away. See, there is Subig bay and there the smoke of one of the scouts, or is it that of a hostile vessel? Scarcely the latter, or we would have heard the guns. The scouts will not give in without a hot fight, mind you. Here come the Boston and Concord; that is the Baltimore behind. What? Stop the engines? Yes, the old man wants all commanders to come aboard to consult. So here off Subig the fleet must lay until the final plans are adopted. All right, as well here as anywhere else.

Six o'clock and once more under steam. Battle ports are taken out and all lights aboard ordered extinguished. The line is taken up as before, the Olympia leading and the Boston closing the main line. Only a single light gleams from the sterns that the following ships may not foul the forward ones; that is all. Down upon the entrance bears the fleet in two columns as before. Sailors in groups with here and there an officer move about the decks like ghosts in the fading light. They are uneasy ghosts, too, for they are full of the coming of fierce battle. Night falls, grim and dark, so dark that even the hulls of the ships are lost in its impenetrable gloom. But 400 yards part them, yet one cannot see the vessel in front, nor the one directly aft.

Quietly, with not a sound on board, the fleet approaches the entrance to Manila bay. The old man has determined to pass Corregidor, the dreaded island which guards the entrance, to the south. What does he care if the passage be mined and filled with torpedoes, he will pass the island in the secrecy of darkness or fight his way by if need be. He goes to Manila to fight the Spaniards and such little things as mines and torpedoes will not stop him. He does not send in the little gunboats to blaze the way and hunt for torpedoes—a duty they might well undertake from their lighter draught—but he leads the way with the biggest ship in his command. The huge Olympia, with over 1,000 tons greater displacement than any other vessel in the fleet, is in the van and the old man is on the bridge.

Close inshore, covered by the mantle of night, creep the two supply ships, hoping if firing commences to escape the hail of shot and shell they cannot reply to. On past the grim, silent island the vessels slowly make their way. Lack of haste has been the ruling trait of all the movements since anchors were tripped at Hong Kong. Wonderfully trying on the nerves, but the old man has no nerves and thinks everybody is like him. He sits on the bridge and says nothing; he merely goes ahead. Of course all the others follow. He has taught the lesson of silence and action.

The Olympia, Baltimore, Raleigh, Concord and Petrel are well beyond the island as midnight chimes. The Boston and McCulloch are still under the fire of the land batteries on either side. Success for the commodore's plan of slipping by in darkness seems certain. But just as this thought enters the mind a column of fire rushes from the funnel of the little cutter. For a couple of minutes it hisses and roars, then subsides. The after 3-inch gun is manned and loaded, and the crew stands by to fire, but no shot comes from shore. Once more upward shoots that column of flame. Over on the shore a light flashes for a moment and then!

A flash of fire, a puff of white smoke and a shell screams over the little cutter. The order to return the fire is about to be given, but is withheld for a moment. Once more the dull report is heard and once more a shell flies over the little vessel.

"After bridge, there," calls the commander of the Boston.

"Aye, aye, sir."

"Clear away those after turret guns."

"Aye, aye, sir."

Silently but for the sharp words of command the men work on the big guns. Cartridges are sent home, breech locked and the officer reports all ready. Then comes the order to fire. Out from the muzzles spring the first big shells of the battle of Manila; the war has commenced in earnest. But the projectiles do no damage on either side and soon the lines of ships are out of range, seventeen miles from Manila. All hands go below and take a sleep, for in the morning we fight the don.

Day dawns clear and bright May 1. The fleet is standing past Cavite for Manila, looking for the enemy. While the men are waiting for the morning mess call the Spanish fleet is seen snugly ensconsed in behind the arsenal. The Reina Cristina is in front. The Castilla is nearly abreast of her and is protected by barges so shells cannot pierce her sides. So the don was ready. Well, so much the better. Although the Americans are four miles away a puff of smoke comes from the forward turret of the flagship of the enemy and the fight commences. Dewey turns the prow of the Olympia sharp to starboard and bears directly down on the enemy. The cruisers and gunboats follow in order excepting the Boston, which steams in toward the point and engages a shore battery. Not a shot is fired in reply as the vessels still steam rapidly toward the enemy. Shells are shrieking all around them, but none is hurt. But the men gnaw fingers and mustaches and are eager for the command to fire. They are under a fearful nervous strain and yearn for a chance to respond to the iron hail that is falling all around them.

At last the Olympia sheers up and crosses the line of fire. The commodore, sedately standing on his bridge, still preserves his reputation for placidity and silence. In the conning tower Captain Gridley peers out at his superior in an agony of desire to get into action. When the line has swept almost clear across the admiral—he flies the flag of that rank—turns to the impatient commander of his flagship and remarks slowly: "You may begin as soon as you are ready, Gridley."

"Aye, aye, sir," is the grim response. The words are scarcely spoken until the big eight-inch forward guns belch forth flame and smoke. The battle of Manila has commenced, although it is the hour for early mass on shore. But above the roar of the huge guns comes an incessant rattle as if a thousand drums were beating the double drag. What is this and what does it mean? It is the rattle of the rapid-fire and secondary batteries on those ships. On the flagship the main battery can be fired only deliberately. Men cannot handle the enormous shells, so steam winches are used. But the Petrel and Concord, with their small-bore guns, can fire with dazzling rapidity. The smaller calibers on all the vessels in the fleet are hot at work, sending out a continuous hail of projectiles.

A six-pounder shell is not big to look at, but it travels nearly as far as a six-inch. When it reaches its destination it expands into a peck measure of hurtling missiles, busily looking for victims. Over into those vessels of the don these peck measures are bursting at the rate of several hundred to the minute. Small wonder then that he is unable to handle his guns with any degree of accuracy. Slowly the American ships move in the form of a wide ellipse. Turning, they put their port batteries into action, giving the boys on the other side of the vessels a rest. But it is but a brief moment, for once more the starboard batteries swing into range.

Thrice the ships wheel in the ellipse, drawing ever nearer to the enemy. Flashes of fire are seen emerging from hatches on several of the ships of the latter. At 1,500 yards the American fire riddles the enemy. The Cristina steams out to ram the Olympia, but, receiving the concentrated fire of the whole fleet, is glad to retire to cover. As the attacking fleet turns to steam out and take a rest the Olympia pumps an eight-inch shell into the flagship of the don and rakes her fore and aft. The huge fabric goes up in smoke and flame as a magazine explodes, rending her into pieces. Dewey draws off his ships after two hours' fighting to take account of damage. In all that fleet after these two hours of fierce conflict none is hurt. In all the crews but six men have been injured, not one dangerously. A marvel in sea fighting has been accomplished and a nation scorned and reviled is now feared by all, for she has a navy and men who can fight it.

A couple of hours resting that the men might breakfast follows the first battle. Then the little Petrel, which had dodged in and out, fought at short range with vessels superior in weight and armament, flashing here and there, is sent in behind the arsenal where her heavier consorts cannot go. In goes the stanch little craft while the others resume the battle. But it is no longer a battle, for the enemy, though brave and defiant, has been so fearfully crippled that longer defense is fruitless. But for a couple of hours the shells hiss and explode over the sunken, burning remains of the Spanish fleet. Then again the Americans draw off. By noon the fighting is all over, the opposing fleet utterly wiped out and not a vessel of the Americans injured above or below.

No commander ever put to sea with the purpose of seeking a fight who did not expect to get a run for his money. Dewey did not underestimate the strength of his enemy, for he sailed slowly and took every possible precaution all the way from Hong Kong to Cavite to avoid surprise. His daring has never been excelled; for he dashed into a narrow channel commanded on both sides by heavy land batteries and mined throughout its extent, as he supposed. That this was not so takes nothing from his fame. He did not know it. Had it been true he in his flagship would have been the first victim of what a few have been hardy enough to call his recklessness. But to fight he must get within striking distance of the enemy. His passage of Corregidor under cover of night was but a proper precaution to avoid possible crippling before meeting Montejo.

What a difference in the estimation of the world of the republic of America between sunset of Saturday, April 30, and the dawn of Sunday, May 1. As the ships drew near the mouth of Manila harbor the world watched with eagerness, fearing and some hoping that the daring American commander would be whipped. He attacked a force stronger than his—on paper—and could at best, the critics said, make it a drawn battle. But with the smothering fire of his rapid-fire guns, the accuracy of aim for which Americans on land and sea are noted, he bore down on the Spaniard and not only won, but annihilated him in less than half a day of fighting.

That battle changed the face of the globe. That battle taught the scornful lords of Europe with their enormous military and naval establishments, to respect the starry banner. With fewer ships than most other nations, a few Deweys and a few such men behind the guns as fought at Cavite, would be formidable opponents to the mightiest fleet under sail. Nations fell over each other in their desire to express their wondering admiration for the man who dared and the men who executed under his direction. To be an American was no longer a thing to disguise in cafe or playhouse over the ocean. It was to be courted and flattered by those who once likened a Yankee to a pig. The battle of Manila is a landmark in history for the study of the nations of the earth.

It is so quiet in the Philippines that it is possible to hear the running Filipino's breathless pants. Many of him does not wear any other kind.

THE HERO OF MANILA.

NOW A WAR TO DEATH

FAILURE OF ALL NEGOTIATIONS FOR PEACE,

The Filipino Proposition for a Three Months' Armistice Abruptly Rejected by Otis—Rebels Were Working for Time—Fighting Renewed with Vigor.

The negotiations for peace in the Philippines failed. The Filipino envoys in conference with Gen. Otis made practically the same old proposition. They also asked for a three months' armistice, covering the entire archipelago. Gen. Otis abruptly refused the request and the conference terminated.

GEN. LAWTON.

The feeling in Manila that peace would come as a result of the Filipino overtures was rapidly dispelled. The Filipinos are strengthening their lines wherever possible. This and the persistency with which Aguinaldo and Luna have sent in the same proposition for an armistice leads to the belief that the Filipino leaders have been simply working for time in which to collect their forces and to permit their soldiers to recover from the state of demoralization in which the repeated victories of the Americans had thrown them. The offensive operations begun by Gens. Lawton and Hale shows that Gen. Otis shares this belief.

The news from Manila regarding the failure of peace negotiations came as a surprise to the War Department. The campaign will be pursued with the utmost vigor, and it is not likely that the rainy season will offer any perceptible check to the aggressive movements of the Americans, if aggressive action shall again become necessary.

GENERAL LUNA.

Although the Secretary of War and Adjutant General had hoped for a speedy, peaceable solution their eyes have from the beginning of the negotiations been on the other prospect as well, as evidenced by the disposition to hurry more troops to the Philippines as re-enforcements for Otis. The latter, it was firmly believed, would not allow himself to be led into any trap, and the ruse to gain time, if such was the case, seems to have failed.

Rout the Rebels.

Advices have been received from Manila that Gen. Wheaton captured Santo Tomas after a severe fight with the insurgents. The insurgents were routed. The town was nearly destroyed by fire. Lawton's brigade has advanced toward Maasand, crossed the river and charged the enemy in strong intrenchments, driving him northward and inflicting considerable loss.

Both Wheaton and Hale of MacArthur's division found the enemy in force, strongly intrenched and commanded by Commander-in-Chief Luna, about four miles south of San Fernando. Hale on the right, dislodged the enemy; and Wheaton, on the left, leading in person, made a brilliant charge, scattering Luna's forces and inflicting great punishment. Several officers and enlisted men were seriously wounded.

M'ARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, CALOOCAN

WAR NEWS IN BRIEF.

Gen. Otis finds it impossible to maintain telegraphic communication with Gen. Lawton. Small bands of the enemy cut the wires as fast as the signal corps can erect them.

Gen. Joe Wheeler will not go to the Philippines. That has been definitely decided. He will probably be placed in command of the department of Texas, which is to be revived.

A Spanish prisoner brought into the American lines states that Gen. Hale's brigade inflicted terrible losses on the Filipinos during the fight at Quingua. He says that more than 200 Filipinos were killed in the fight.

The three brigadier generals who will go to the Philippines are Gen. Fred Grant, who is now on his way from Porto Rico; Gen. Bates, recently military governor of Santa Clara province, Cuba, and Gen. S. M. B. Young.

Official dispatches from Manila say that the Spanish garrison at Baler continues to hold out against the insurgents. Gen. Otis declined to accept the proposal of Gen. Rios to send Spanish troops to the relief of the beleaguered garrison. He decided to send an American force to rescue the Spaniards.

At Pulilan, a few miles east of Calumpit, Wheeler's troop of the Fourth cavalry, while reconnoitering, encountered a small body of insurgents, who failed to return the fire of our soldiers. Instead they raised a white flag, and in the parley which followed explained that they had strict orders to stop fighting pending the negotiations for an armistice. The Americans gave them half an hour to get away.

Notes of Current Events.

A burglar in Detroit stole the piano and a stove from the house he robbed.

Senator-elect Quarles of Wisconsin is one of the truest sportsmen in the Northwest.

The Salvation Army has provided a wood yard and a free labor bureau for needy applicants in the Klondike.

THE PLAYHOUSE.

By Nixon Waterman.

It wasn't a house at all, you see
But only a big, flat stone;
Yet they called it a house, did the sisters three,
As they tarried there and sipped their tea;
And each was as glad as a queen might be,—
A queen on a golden throne.

And one was like a lily fair,
And one was like a rose;
And one had stolen a happy share
Of blended grace from the other pair;
And all were lovely beyond compare,—
My queens of the long agoes.

The house was close by the garden gate,
And under the apple trees;
In whose broad branches, early and late,
The robin sang to his happy mate
As a lithe limb, feeling his happy weight,
Swung low in the summer breeze.

And many a golden afternoon
The sisters chatted there,
With hearts as glad as the skies of June,
With hearts as soft as a mother's croon
With hearts that withered and all too soon
With a grief they could not bear.

I wandered far in the paths of men,
I lingered long ann late
To win the golden prize and then
I set my heart for the "home" again,
But the world seemed change and cheerless when
I stood by the garden gate.

In woe I sat me down to weep,
For my heart was sad and lone,
And my gold seemed all so poor and cheap,—
There was little left I cared to keep,
And I wished I were wrapped in a dreamless sleep
And under the big flat stone.

—L. A. W. Bulletin.

THE STING OF THE VIPER.

BY H. S. KELLER.

"Maledictions upon that white-faced fool! The girl was interested, attracted by me ere he came. That interest which I had taken so much pains to foster might in time have ripened into love. I could be patient, for I am a Peruvian. Now, the lily-fingered dandy from the North has stepped between me and the object of my love. The blood of a Peruvian brooks no defeat. I will not submit tamely to Marie's coldness. I have her proud old father in my grasp; he must clear this white-faced fool from my path. If he be powerless to do this, then the viper's sting shall do the work for me."

Savagely, almost insanely, the words fell from the speaker's lips.

Don Jose Le Garde had taken Caracas by storm when he first appeared among its elegant high circles. Rumors of his immense wealth had preceded him, and when he arrived at the gay Venezuelian city the doors of the best society were opened to him—this fabulously rich silver king of the mines of Peru.

Impressionable mammas were completely carried off their feet by his glitter of gold, and laid many a trap, each baited by a beautiful daughter, to capture the charming Peruvian. In the wine room, the dance hall, or at the gambling table, he carried all before him. He played, not to win, so he said, but for the intoxication of the spell of chance. He drank, not because he was a drunkard, but for the spirit of triumph which came to him when he saw his boon companions drop, one after the other, while he remained clear-headed, sober as ever.

He turned upon his finger the tiny circle of gold once or twice; tapped it with his finger tips and smiled sardonically as he rung for his valet. He was quickly dressed and ready for the ball which was to take place at the spacious palace of the old Venezuelan merchant, Marie's father.

The rooms of the grand pile were filled with the elite of Caracas. Don Jose gritted his white teeth and smothered an oath under his inky mustache as he entered the ball room. There, at the farther side of the brilliantly lighted room, was seated Marie, more charming than ever, and leaning upon the back of her chair, bending over her beautiful shoulders and fanning her with a scarlet-feathered fan, was the object of the Peruvian's mad hatred—Leon Stevenson, of the United States.

"Sir, a word with you," said Don Jose touching his aged host upon the shoulder.

The old gentleman started, glanced at the pair on the other side of the room, and followed his guest into the conservatory.

"You still permit that white-faced fool to dangle at your daughter's apron-strings."

"Don Jose, not so loud. I beg of you; some guests—"

"And unless you relieve me of the hated presence of this rival, every guest under your roof shall know about the cloud hanging over the rich Venezulian merchant."

"For the sake of Heaven, do not speak so loudly! You will ruin me!" interrupted the old gentleman, laying his hand upon the other's arm.

"Will you, once for all, command your daughter to dismiss this Stevenson?"

"I—I—can only try."

"You must succeed! You have promised me Marie's hand in marriage. I have sworn to take her back to Peru as my bride. Until this fair dandy came from the North my path was clear. I like not his presence. Remove him or—your house falls, and ruin stares you in the face!"

"I will do my best," uttered the old man, as he quivered with rage. For the sake of transient pecuniary relief he had placed himself in the man's power. The rich Peruvian held his notes, which must be met or which would be destroyed upon the marriage of Marie to Don Jose.

"And now I desire to see Marie here; kindly tell her to come to me," utterd the Peruvian.

His imperious air of command made the blood of the old Venezuelian boil; but choking back his anger—for he was in this man's power—he returned to the ball room, leaving the other to pace up and down the conservatory, filled with rich, gaily-hued tropical plants.

A soft step caused him to turn. The beautiful form of Marie approached nearer. He reached out his hand, and the girl drew back as the thin, feverishly hot fingers almost crushed her soft hand. The grasp of those slender fingers felt to her touch like the clasp of a band of steel; the very touch sent the blood back from her heart, and her lovely face grew pale as a lily.

"Marie—for I the right to call you thus—your father has given his consent to our marriage. No, do not start. I have spoken of this before to you. It is not a new subject. Be my wife. Come with me to Peru, and I will make of you a queen among women, and surround you with the lavish adoruments of wealth unlimited. What is your answer?"

"I thank you as before; but I must, as before, decline the honor," fell from the girl's lips.

"And why? Do you love the stranger from the States?"

"That, sir, you have no right to ask."

"And there was no need to ask it. I knew it! He stands in my way. I have never been defeated in my life. Still, I relinquish you, Marie. You see this ring? It's sting is sudden, sure death. I go to congratulate the more favored one." And he bowed and passed into the ball room.

Marie's eyes dilated with horror as they followed the tall, elegant form of Don Jose. She saw him bow to Stevenson. Horror of horrors! She saw their hands meet! She covered her face with her trembling hands and crouched down among the beautiful flowers to hide the fated scene from her sight.

And then a scream, a man's mad cry, came to her ears. She dashed the palms aside and peered into the ball room.

Upon the floor, writhing as though in the pangs of mortal agony, was Don Jose. Kneeling by his side, and trying to relieve him, was the fair faced Northerner.

One more convulsive struggle to catch his breath, to choke back the strange thing that was crushing his heart, numbing his brain and blinding his eyes, and the Peruvian rolled over upon his back and was dead.

Pressed into the flesh of the palm of his hand was the head of a tiny gold viper attached to a ring upon the second finger. The palm was livid, and the face assumed the same horrible color soon after he was taken away. Stevenson was as rich as the Peruvian, and he easily relieved Marie's father from his pecuniary difficulty. And a six months afterwards the elite of Caracas gathered at the wedding of their fairest tropical belle, who stood by the side of the fair-faced man from the States.

ODD VIEWS OF POLICE DUTY.

People Who Want Postage Stamps, Ice Water, Door Keys and Money.

"It's easy to criticise the police department," said a sergeant in the back room of a station-house, "but the general public has no idea of the many different things we have to do and of the annoyances to which we are subjected. When I was on duty in some of the south side precincts people used to come to the station and ask for the queerest things. Hardly a day went by that some one didn't come around and ask for postage stamps, while in the summer time they used to come in droves for a drink of ice water. When he remonstrated with them, they'd say: 'Vel, don't ve pay taxes for de ice, and shouldn't ve drink it, what?' As a matter of fact, the ice is paid for by the policemen themselves, but you couldn't make them understand it.

"One night about 10 o'clock, when I was on the desk, a big, stout German came in and walked up to the rail.

"'Sergeant, my vife is gone out mit der key und I am locked oudt,' he said.

"'Well,' I said, 'what can I do about it?'

"'Vy, sendt a policeman und make me get in der house, dot's vhat.' I didn't spend my time arguing with him, you can bet.

"But that was not the worst case by any means. A poor tailor living on the top floor of a tenement down that way committed suicide after a quarrel with his wife. The man was dead when the ambulance came. A few hours later the widow sent her little girl around to the house to say that she had no money, and unless some one helped her out the man would have to be buried in the potter's field. The police are often called on in similar cases, so the boys chipped in all around and raised $19. I gave that to the child and sent her away. Soon after it was time for roll call and another sergeant came on duty. He was busy writing up the blotter when the same girl returned.

"'My mudder says can I get any more,' she said.

"'What?' said the sergeant, who had been asleep and didn't know about the collection.

"'My mudder says can I come around next month an' git some more money,' was the reply. She didn't get any more, and that incident was somewhat of a damper on charity in that particular station for quite a while."—Chicago Tribune.

A French Battleship's Narrow Escape.

The well known French battle-ship Admiral Baudin was nearly sunk in Brest harbor the other day. It seems that a young sailor, interfering with a seacock below the waterline, turned it on. The water rushed in so fast that the sailor lost his presence of mind, and rushed on deck. By the time assistance was obtained the water had risen so high that the cock could not be reached, and as the vessel had no steam up the situation was perilous. A steam tug with heavy pumps on board was signalled, and, coming alongside, set to work to pump. Other tugs with pumps, as well as a land fire-engine and the fire brigade, came to the assistance of the battleship, and while all the pumps were working, amid a scene of great excitement, two divers donned their costumes, went down the hold, and turned the cock off. The vessel had sunk two feet.—Westminister Gazette.

What's in a Name?

Mme. X. had been married to two brothers. After the elder one died she was wedded to the younger. The painted portrait of No. 1 hangs in the public art gallery. She stood before it, weeping gently, and was asked sympathetically, "is he a member of your family?"

"Yes, yes," she replied, between sobs; "he is my poor, dead brother-in-law."

EXPERIMENTS IN WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY AT NOTRE DAME.

THE practicability of Marconi's system of wireless telegraphy was demonstrated at Notre Dame University by Prof. Jerome J. Green of the department of electrical engineering. It did not require elaborate mechanical devices to put the new system to a practical test. The material of the apparatus used was taken entirely from the physical laboratory of the university. A storage battery that is common to any electrical workshop, a relay and key from the telegraph room, an induction coil from the X-ray apparatus and a coherer and choking coil made by students under Prof. Green's instruction constituted the paraphernalia. These were all that was needed to generate the power, charge the vertical wire and project into ether a volume of magnetic waves that flashed unguided through space with the velocity of a ray of light and descended with their message into the tick of the coherer.

PROFESSOR MARCONI.
Inventor of Wireless Telegraphy.

A brief description of the apparatus used in wireless telegraphy will aid to an understanding of the principles involved. There is a marked analogy between Marconi's system and the system of telegraphy now in use that was invented by Morse. Each has an instrument called the transmitter, so adjusted as to produce electric phenomena, and each has an instrument called the receiver, to reproduce the sounds. But while the Morse system is dependent on an electric current to conduct the signals, the Marconi system uses the ether as a conductor, and propagates the signals by electric waves.

The transmitter consists of an eight-inch induction coil, which is operated by a storage battery of twenty-five volts. From one of the binding posts of the induction coil a wire runs to a galvanized iron ball that is suspended from some object that rises above surrounding buildings. Ground wires complete the circuit. Electric disturbance is produced by forcing sparks across the space intervening between the discharging knobs on the induction coil. These knobs are adjusted and can be arranged so as to produce a spark of varying length, depending on the capacity of the metal ball and vertical wire which is attached to one terminal of the induction coil.

The rapid-oscillating, high-frequency (sometimes 200,000) between the knobs on the induction coil affect the ether in the vicinity of the vertical wire and metal ball so that electric waves are propagated in every direction. These electric waves continue until they reach a ball and wire similar to those connected with the induction coil. This ball and wire intercepts the waves, and conducts them to the receiver. The receiver consists of an instrument, called the coherer, which is connected with a high-resistance relay, such as may be seen in any telegraph office. This relay actuates an ordinary telegraph sounder.

Prof. Green became interested in the work after reading Marconi's paper read before the Institute of Electrical Engineers in London. When the successful experiments were made in transmitting messages across the English channel he determined to make an experiment for his electrical classes.

A number of visiting college presidents called at the laboratory during the experiment and witnessed the first working of the system. Among them were President Whitney and Vice-President Conway of Georgetown University, Washington; President O'Hara of Mount Saint Mary's College, Emmetsburg, Md.; President Lehy of Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass.; President Fox of Saint John's College, Fordham, N. Y., and the president of the Ottawa University, Canada. This trial was made between two rooms in Science hall and the instantaneous click of the coherer made known the success of the experiment.

The receiving station was then moved to machinery hall, a distance of 200 feet. The doors and windows of both buildings were closed and here it was seen that walls were no barrier to these magnetic waves. Whether the waves penetrate or go around a building is not known. The next day the coherer was removed to the various buildings on the campus with success equal to the first day's trial.

Prof. Green then suspended the vertical wire from the flagstaff on the campus, a height of 135 feet. The instruments were more accurately adjusted and a trial was made at St. Mary's academy, a mile and a half away. Here again the tappings came as accurately as when a single wall divided the sending and receiving instruments.

In the laboratory at St. Mary's academy was an induction coil that had been brought from Paris by Rev. Provincial Zahm. This coil could be pressed into service in establishing a sending station at INDUCTION COIL.

St. Mary's, and Prof. Green set his students at work to fit up another set of instruments for that purpose. The instruments used in transmitting the messages require no more space than a sewing machine, and those at the opposite end may be carried in the hand. The storage battery used in the Notre Dame experiments had a capacity of forty ampere hours. The power was conducted to an eight-inch induction coil that transformed the low tension electricity of the battery to the high tension oscillating current that propagated the waves, which, discharged from the vertical wire and metal sphere, travel at the rate of 186,000 miles a second.

These waves resemble in length the waves of sound rather than those of light. A vertical wire and sphere receive the impulses and convey them to the coherer. This instrument is the essential one in the wireless system. It consists of a glass tube a few inches in length, the ends of which are closed with adjustable brass plugs. The space between these plugs is filled with filings of silver and nickel, which cohere when affected by the electrical wares. The cohesion of the particles reduces the resistance sufficiently to cause the relay to operate. The normal resistance of the coherer in Prof. Green's trials was 10,000 ohms; when affected by the impulses it was reduced to between ten and fifty ohms. The power of transmission is increased fourfold by doubling the height of the vertical wire. The waves can be concentrated in one direction, like the rays of a searchlight. This is effected by means of a Rigi oscillator and a reflector.

Some experiments in the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy took place recently between Wimereux, a village on the French coast three miles north of Boulogne, and the South Foreland. A pole 150 feet high was erected at Wimereux and the necessary instruments were placed in a small station. A pole of the same height was erected hard by the South Foreland lighthouse and the instruments put in one of the rooms. The distance from station to station is thirty miles. The tests were conducted with the assent of the French Government, under the personal supervision of Mr. Marconi. The tests proved highly satisfactory. They were conducted in the presence of delegates from the French war office and the French postoffice, who expressed themselves much gratified at the excellent working of the system.

COHERER AND RELAY.

THE LATE EX-SENATOR TABOR

Was Bred in Poverty, Acquired Millions and Died Without a Cent.

The career of Horace A. W. Tabor, the former Croesus of Colorado, who died recently in Denver of appendicitis, was characteristic of the frontier communities in which he lived. It illustrates the ups and downs of life in a striking manner. He was a poor storekeeper, then a rich miner. He lived in a cabin, then in a palace. He sat in the United States Senate, one of its wealthiest members, and last year was glad to get the salary of postmaster of Denver upon which to eke out an existence.

HORACE A. W. TABOR.

Tabor was born in Vermont in 1830 and went to Kansas, where he served one term in the Legislature. After fighting grasshoppers and drought for some years he packed his wife and some things to eat and some tools to dig with into a prairie schooner and started to find gold. Sometimes he kept store in mining camps, selling flour for $25 per 100 pounds and bacon for 50 cents a pound. Again he would test fortune in a placer claim, and then set up a forge and sharpen tools for the miners.

From 1861 to 1878 he led a monotonous existence, working drearily and profiting little. With the proceeds of the sale of his last yoke of oxen he opened a little store in a desolate Colorado gulch, about 10,000 feet above sea level. In April, 1878, he supplied "grub stakes" to two shoemakers who were prospecting. These cobblers, August Riche and George F. Hook, dug for ore on the top of a hill. Other miners laughed at their folly, but the cobblers stuck to their picks, and after digging twenty-six feet struck a vein of carbonate ore of surpassing richness. This was the Little Pittsburg mine. Tabor made a million or more from his interest. The site of his store became the center of Leadville and Tabor grew immensely wealthy. His fortune was estimated at from $6,000,000 to $9,000,000. Then he moved to Denver.

At that time Denver was a placid town of 50,000 people. Tabor believed in its future. Near the city, "out on the prairie," he built La Veta Place at a cost of a million. This was his dwelling. Then in the city he built the Tabor Block and the Tabor Grand Opera House at a cost of $2,000,000. His building enthusiasm provoked a boom in Denver.

Tabor was ambitious to be a great figure in his state and in the country. In fulfillment of his ambitions he needed, or thought he needed, a seat in the United States Senate and a fair young wife. He got both. He paid $400,000 to the faithful woman who had ridden with him in the prairie schooner and had shared in the privations of a prospector's life and the cruel cold of the high plateaus of the Rocky Mountains. Though protesting, she obeyed her husband and sued for divorce on the ground of desertion. The decree was granted. Pretty "Baby" Doe, of Leadville, immediately became Mrs. Tabor No. 2. One ambition was fulfilled.

The seat in the Senate next was obtained, but for thirty days, to fill the unexpired term of Henry M. Teller. He failed of re-election. After his thirty days in office in Washington his fortunes began to wane. The need for ready money sent him to the lenders. Mortgages were the result. Mines failed. His buildings were not profitable. One by one the properties were sold. Millions slid from him as rapidly as they had come to him. Tabor became penniless.

He went out from Denver, lived in a cabin near Ward, Boulder County; located a mine and tried to dig new fortunes out of the ground. Success was not so familiar as it had been at Leadville. For eight months he dug and found nothing and was forced to apply to Millionaire Stratton, a former $3-a-day carpenter, who had struck it rich, for a loan. Stratton advanced him $30,000 and Tabor continued his mining.

In the spring of 1898 President McKinley appointed him postmaster of SENATOR TABOR'S LAST HOME AND MINE.

Denver, the city he had built up. The miners of Colorado were not displeased that at 68 years of age Tabor might have adequate shelter and food.

Madame Melba's First Appearrnce.

Madame Melba lately gave an interesting account of her first public appearance. "I was quite a young girl in Australia," she said, "when, notwithstanding the persistent discouragement of my father, who was averse to the idea of a singer's career for me, I engaged a hall in which to give a concert, and sent round a notice to all my friends.

"Unfortunately for my plans, somebody mentioned the little scheme to my father, and he, furious at my clandestine enterprise, begged every one of his acquaintances to uphold his parental authority by ignoring the performance. But I wasn't disheartened, and, at the hour announced for the commencement of my concert, stepped on to the platform—to find myself face to face with an audience of two people. And nobody else came."—Saturday Evening Post.

THE AMERICAN JOKE.

"Intercivic Humor" and Some of Its Amenities in America.

Under the somewhat solemn title "Intercivic Humor," Tudor Jenks has gathered together in the May Century many jests, old and new, that illustrate the readiness of the American in "getting a grind" on his fellow-countryman in other parts of the land of jokes.

"Seems to me that all the sharpers here come from Chicago," said a New-Yorker once, without due consideration for his friend's native place. "Yes," said the Chicago man, musingly; "they do seem to know where to come."

But the Chicago Record is responsible for reporting that one of its own citizens was "cutting a great dash in his Chicago overcoat," and explains that the garment is "fur on one side and a linen duster on the other." And the Tribune of the same city prints the following:

He (after the introduction)—I feel acquainted with you already, Mrs. Skymore. In fact, I may claim to be a distant relation of yours.

She—Indeed, Mr. Blim? I was not aware of it.

He—Yes. I find by an item in the papers, this morning, that my second wife has just married your fourth husband.

It is doubtful, though, whether either of these journals copied the following dialogue from the New York Truth:

"How did you know he was from Chicago?"

"By his accent."

"But he didn't speak."

"I overheard him eating a piece of pie."

It will be well here to repeat that these stories may be considered as formed of adjustable parts. The American joke, like other articles of home manufacture, is made on the interchangeable principle.

Thus we may apply to any of our growing cities the case of the farmer who wished to exchange his farm for city property, and drove out on a tour of inspection with the agent. The city lots were inspected. "Now, where is your farm?" asked the agent. "We passed it five miles back, said the farmer.

Of Boston such anecdotes as the following circulate:

Mrs. Beanleigh (of Boston)—Baby spoke a sentence to-day, Oscar.

Beanleigh—What was it, Constance?

Mrs. Beanleigh (proudly)—She said, "Mother seems to have astigmatism in her left optic."

And the reply of the child who said, when asked if she would like a talking doll: "Certainly, if you have any that converse intelligently. I could not abide one that giggled."

A PLAY UPON WORDS.

Experience of a Quartet of Rounders on a Visit to a Show.

It appears that one idle day the frog, the duck, the lamb and the skunk started forth together to visit the show. Just what sort of show it was, relates the Cleveland Plain Dealer, the chronicler doesn't state. Anyway, it was something that the queerly assorted quartet was anxious to attend, and they hopped and waddled, and gamboled, and trotted toward the big canvas inclosure with delightful throbs of anticipation.

Finally they reached the door-tender, the frog leaping the line.

Well, the frog had a greenback and passed right in.

The duck had a bill and followed the frog.

The lamb had four quarters and followed the frog and duck.

But the unfortunate skunk was left on the outside. He had only a scent.

Naturally he turned away feeling pretty blue.

As he was slowly going back over the hill he met a hoop snake rolling along at a lively rate toward the show. The skunk greeted him, but the snake did not stop.

"Don't interrupt me," he cried, over his shoulder. "I've got to do a turn and I'm a little late."

And he rolled along.

At the top of the hill the skunk noticed another old friend approaching. It was the sardine.

"Hullo!" cried the sardine; "what's the matter?"

So the skunk told him.

"I can guess how you feel about it," said the sardine, sympathetically. "I belong to the smelt family myself. But, say, old fellow, you come right back with me—I've got a box."

And the skunk and the sardine went back together.

At the Stile.

Adown the grassy lane she came
And loitered at the stile—
(Her grandmamma did just the same
There many years erewhile)—
The sole stile hereabout, I wis,
For now are walls to climb;
Yet such a goodly style as this,
Why did it change with time?

No satin slippers then she wore,
No green calash, no shawl,
No fichu primly crossed before,
No powdered wig at all;
Yet still she dimpled on the stile
As grandma did, they say;
Tho' styles may change, a maiden's smile
Is just as sweet to-day.

Then Marjorie looked up at me,
And I looked down at her,
The while upon the stile sat we
As once her grandfolks were.
And then I spoke their old, old phrase
And named a sweet, fond name—
Tho' stiles have changed since ancient days,
One style remains the same!
—Woman's Home Companion.

Billiards.

The game of billiards was introduced into Europe by the Knights Templars

All of us are very clever in finding excuses for not working more.

DEWEY DAY OBSERVED.

The Victory of Manila Remembered Throughout the Country.

In Philadelphia, in Boston, in New York, in San Francisco, in Chicago, everywhere, men wrote the words strong and clear: "Dewey, great forever," and "The Government when in difficulty must have the loyal support of all worthy citizens." These were the keynotes, Dewey and the Nation. Colleges, universities, clubs and business organizations joined with the cities in fittingly commemorating the occasion of the first anniversary of Dewey's victory at Manila. Grand Army of the Republic men cheered for the hero; on the farms and in the hamlets, and wherever the American flag was unfurled to the breezes of the May day there was an exhibition of patriotism.

Chicago observed the day by banquets and exercises in the public schools, and thousands filled the Auditorium to hear the majestic concert strains of the "Manila Te Deum." Statesmen, university men and citizens assembled at a "Dewey day" dinner in the banquet hall of the Quadrangle Club at the University of Chicago to talk of the hero and of patriotism and of loyalty to the Government. Judge Kohlsaat, Col. Turner, Charles K. Ladd and other men prominent in the State and country joined together at a banquet at the Ashland Fellowship Club. A presentation picture of Dewey was hung amid deafening cheers.

For Dewey in Philadelphia Captain Coghlan reviewed the naval parade in the river.

In Boston Secretary Long, Captain "Bob" Evans and Captain Wilde, who commanded the cruiser Boston, made historic speeches at the evening banquet.

California made the day a legal holiday.

In St. Louis the school children celebrated and the merchants paused in their busy day to shout for Dewey.

The nation's chief executive sent to the hero of Manila bay the following cablegram:

Dewey, Manila—On this anniversary of your great victory the people of the United States unite in an expression of affection and gratitude to yourself and the brave officers and men of your fleet, whose brilliant achievements marked an epoch in history, and which will live in the annals of the world's heroic deeds.

WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

ATKINSON'S MAIL IS STOPPED.

Anti-Imperialist Pamphlets Cannot Go to Manila.

The Postmaster General has directed the postmaster at San Francisco to take out of the mails for Manila three pamphlets issued by Edward Atkinson of Boston, vice-president of the Anti-Imperialistic League. This order does not apply to the circulation of the pamphlets by mail in this country, but bars their dispatch from this country to the Philippines, discontent and even mutiny among the soldiers being stated by the department to be the design of these publications. The three pamphlets are specifically described and in no circumstances are they to be forwarded by mail to the Philippines.

A Washington correspondent says that trustworthy information is in possession of the administration to the effect that arms and ammunition have been sent from American manufacturers to the Philippine insurgents. The arms and munitions of war, it is learned, have been sent under blind from the United States to ports of Asia, thence reshipped to Singapore and Hong Kong. From these places the Philippine insurgent junta has been running the blockade established by Dewey and getting the arms to Aguinaldo and his men. But representatives of the administration have given to the manufacturers concerned a quiet hint that the traffic must stop at once or they will be dealt with summarily.

INCREASE IN PUBLIC DEBT.

Net Cash Balance in the Treasury Is $263,127,533.

The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business April 29, 1899, the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $1,172,587,264, an increase during the month of $29,081,701. This is accounted for by the payment of $20,000,000 to Spain in settlement of treaty obligations.

The debt is recapitulated as follows:

Interest-bearing debt	$1,046,048,880
Debt on which interest has ceased since maturity	1,218,390
Debt bearing no interest	388,447,727
Total	$1,435,714,797

This amount does not include $554,256,613 in certificates and treasury notes outstanding, which are offset by an equal amount of cash on hand. The cash in the treasury is classified as follows:

Gold	$278,985,254
Silver	507,646,792
Paper	44,831,406
Bonds, deposits in national banks, disbursing officers' balances, etc.	85,682,064
Total	$917,165,517

Against this there are demand liabilities outstanding amounting to $654,037,984, which leaves a net cash balance in the treasury of $263,127,533.

NEWS OF GILMORE.

Missing Lieutenant and Nine Men in the Filipinos' Hands.

Lieut. Gilmore and at least nine of the fourteen men from the Yorktown, who were lost in the attempt to relieve the Spanish garrison of Baler, are reported alive in the hands of the rebels. Col. Arguelles, the Filipino envoy, who visited Gen. Otis on Saturday, stated that the Filipinos held sixteen American prisoners, ten of whom, including Lieut. Gilmore, were from the Yorktown.

LIEUT. GILMORE.

Gen. MacArthur sent Maj. Shields and Lieut. Hayne to the Filipino lines under a white flag with ten days' rations and a supply of delicacies for the sixteen American prisoners. Gen. MacArthur also sent a letter to Gen. Luna suggesting the exchange of Filipinos for the American prisoners. Capt. Charles M. Rockefeller, Ninth infantry, is believed to be a prisoner in the hands of the insurgents. It is thought that he may be one of the sixteen American prisoners mentioned by Arguelles.

BIG DAMAGE BY FLOODS.

High Water in Wisconsin Carries Away a Number of Dams.

Four dams were carried away by high water on the Eagle Nest river in Wisconsin. The Eagle Nest is a tributary of the Peshtigo. The damage done will amount to $25,000 or $30,000. The force of the water was terrible and carried the 6,000,000 or 7,000,000 feet of timber in the dams and scattered it through the woods. It also tore away the banks of the stream and widened the river about twenty feet. The great flood of water let loose swept downstream into the Peshtigo and caused loss to other points. To save the dam at Crivitz H. Zech put fifty men to work tearing out part of the dam to let the water through. Damage is also reported at other points.

The water in the Menominee is at the highest mark it has been since 1888 and there is great fear of inundation. Much excitement prevails over the rise of the water. Men are patrolling the river day and night

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....MAY 11, 1899.

VANDALISM.

Some unhung villain tore up a lot of G. A. Bishop's lovely rose bushes last night, and threw them about in every direction. Just what possesses anyone to do such a thing is past finding out, Mr. Bishop has excellent taste in the matter of flowers and pays out money liberally to get them besides all the time and attention he bestows. This lot of roses must have cost him at least $25 or $30, and now to have them pulled up and destroyed is too much to endure It will be a sorry day for the fellow if Al finds him out.

NOT DISMISSED

—Attorney C. E. Baxter was at Fort Wayne yesterday to help argue the motion to dismiss the case against Rader on the ground that the papers were faulty. This was Colerick's view of it, but Mr. Baxter had no faith in that for he freely asserted his opinion that the papers were all right. And so the court held after a full hearing and Rader is still in jail. Today, Mr. Baxter went down again, to argue for change of venue from Allen to some other county.

COURT NOTES

Court begins here next week. We suppose the jury will not be called till the week after. The grand jury will not be called at all, unless some new trouble arises more than is now in sight Of course something may happen any day as was the case at the last term. But the Judge hopes not as it will save a good deal of expense. All the cases now known to be pending are such as can be easily disposed of without the grand jury.

Another Advt. Wedding

The marriage of Mrs. Sarah Trail at Waterloo Sunday, is another of those unions brought about by correspondence. She has lived a single life for many years, a few years ago having moved from the old home farm to Waterloo. Recently she answered an advertisement of "wife wanted" and the result is, that C. H. Collins, of Shawnee Oklahoma, answered her. Saturday he reached Waterloo. Sunday they were married by Rev. S. P. Klotz. Monday evening they were serenaded, and they move at once to Ft. Worth, Texas, which is to be there future home. These marriages through a correspondence bureau are rather risky, but we hope the present one will be happy.

The Elite

This unique paper has just been finished in the press rooms of the COURIER, and is now being sent broadcast over the county and some in other counties. It is an eight-page paper full of good, general and local reading, and timely advertising for business men in every part of the county. It was gotten up by Rev. W. F. Dingel, pastor of the M. E. church at Waterloo, and the proceeds go to assist the church there. We think it a credit to its editors and promoters and for our own part we feel some degree of pride in its neat and tasty appearance.

The Match Factory

Since our last report, the following have been licensed to marry and go to housekeeping.

Henry Jacob Feller to Rosa Ellen Bradley, Owen F. Bell to Etta Depew, Wm. R. Campbell to Sylvia Staley, D. M. Link to Blanche Shilling, John G. Stonebraker to Libbie Guthrie, Frank P. Bradley to Irene Swetland, Charles H. Collins to Sarah Trail, Howard W. Krise to Mary G. Morr and Clark E. Brown to Maude L. Showalter.

Goes Back To-day.

Mr. and Mrs. Judge Penfield came back from Michigan Monday. His father remains about the same, at least is no better. But the Judge's duties at Washington call him back there at once, and he goes tonight over the B. & O. Being a legal adviser in the State Department, with a sort of double war and other foreign complications on our hands, has made his duties not only heavy, but interesting.

Decoration

The people of Butler township and vicinity will decorate on Sunday, June 4, 1899. Services will be held in the grove west of Cedar Creek cemetery and will commence at two o'clock in the afternoon. All are invited to be present. Come prepared to take part in the services and help make it one of the best decorations ever held at Cedar Chapel. By order of committee.

Do You Always Feel Well?

If you do you are a great exception to the rule. These American people are great slaves to their stomachs and in consequence many troubles arise, that unless headed off, cause much distress and suffering. A handy and sure relief from such troubles is what you want and this is found in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin which cures Constipation, Indigestion and sick headache.

OBITUARY

Joseph Reckenwald was born in Stark county, Ohio. Feb. 26, 1841, and departed this life April 26, 1899, at the noon hour age, 58 years, and 2 months.

He moved with his parents to DeKalb county, in the fall of 1844 where he has resided ever since. October 30, 1862, he was united in marriage to Eliza L. Noel the ceremony, being by A. L. Brumbeck of Corunna. After a short time they moved to their new home then surrounded by a dense forest and proceeded with willing hands to carve from the wilderness, the comfortable home which has since been theirs. Here for a period of years, he has been the central figure of a home made brighter and better by his presence helping in all ways as far as strength was given him to assume his full share of life's burdens and cares, enjoying as only a sunny nature like his can its sunshine and its joys. He leaves a wife, three daughters, three sons, one dying in infancy, one sister besides a large circle of friends to mourn his loss.

His were the virtues of a faithful and loving husband and a kind father, always ready to help them who were in need and it may be well said of him, "The world is better for his having lived in it." We say good by but not forever, for friendship of the just is like the shadow of the evening that lengthens to eternity. The funeral was held at the home two miles south-east of Garrett at 10 a. m., interment in the Evergreen cemetery where he has been laid to rest to wait the resurrection morn. The sermon was a very impressive one, by Rev. W. L. Meese.

Dear father thou hast left us,
And thy sufferings now are o'er;
He has gone to dwell forever,
On that fair and peaceful shore.

CARD OF THANKS.

The family and relatives feel under many obligations to their many friends and neighbors for the kindness shown them in their sad bereavement. Kind friends please accept our heartfelt thanks, your kindness will be remembered.

ELIZA RECKTENWALD & FAMILY.

Another Happy Day.

Another successful school term ended May 5, 1899, at District No. 5, Union township, usually known as Baugisland school. The term closed in enjoyment as it had been through the whole year. The school consisted of thirty-four scholars and Miss Birda Hornberger as their teacher.

About half past eleven the parents and neighbors arrived with their buggies loaded down with many good things, all to the surprise of the teacher, she being so overcome that she just stepped out and did not enter again until the baskets were emptied on a long table reaching from one side of the house to the other, from which about ninety ate. After dinner the school delivered a splendid program consisting of music, dialogues and recitations. The teacher presented each pupil with her photo, after which she was doubly surprised, when a large and beautiful lamp was presented her by the school as a token of friendship, Although the term had been protracted for eight months, yet all seemed sorry that the closing time had come.

ONE WHO WAS THERE.

As Pleasant As Maple Syrup.

Most remedies have something unpleasant to the taste, and in consequence many people, especially children, dread the dose and put off entirely or delay the taking of the medicine that can do them good. Not so with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup pepsin—everybody likes its taste and when taken will cure constipation and all kinds "of stomach troubles." In 10c, 50c and $1.00 sizes.

If You Want a Pair

of Easy House Slippers at a price within the reach of all,

COME QUICK

Don't put it off another day They are going fast—some very good ones left.

The Price is

73c and 97c

Per Pair. Worth $1.50 to $3.50

Bishop and Reidler

YOUR SHOEMAKERS.

CLUB NOTES.

The L. L. C. met with Mrs. Ford last Saturday, with a fair attendance, The program was miscellaneous in character, The first paper was by Mrs. Sprott, subject, "Submarine Cables," she gave a description of how the cable was laid and how it was mended when broken, which gave much valuable information to the members. Mrs. Houser of Indianapolis, an honorary member, sent her work, "American Antiquities," and it was read by Mrs. Barns. The paper was excellent and showed much care and research in its preparation. The "Three Minute Talks" on May Day Memories, by the three ladies, Mrs. Barns, Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Mary Rose were all good, and no doubt recalled to the members present many May Day memories of their own childhood, some pleasant and some sad. At the request of the President Miss Margaret Ford gave a fine piano solo, and this was so much enjoyed by the club that the members insisted on another, which Miss Ford very kindly and gracefully gave. The Club adjourned to meet next Saturday with Mrs. Swineford.

A Letter From Will Clark

Mrs. Matt Zerwes received Friday a letter from her brother Will Clark of the 20th regulars at Manila. It is dated March 21, and he says;

DEAR SISTER AND ALL: I suppose it will be a long time before you get this letter as it has a long trip ahead of it. We are having hot times over having to fight the insurgents. We have been fighting for a month, have lost a lot of men out of our regiment killed and wounded. I have not got hurt any myself yet, but got some close calls. The country is very bad; lots of sickness here. I hate it as bad as I did Cuba. Will be glad when I get back home. I have been sick quite a bit since I came here. Well, if I get back all right, I will be around the world and I guess that will do me. I have not time to write any more. So good by. Love to all. WILL.

That Throbbing Headache

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and strong nerves and build up your health. Easy to take Try them. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold by H. B. McCord the druggist.

Notice of Hearing of Ditch Petition

In the matter of the petition of Franklin Grogg Ditch No 691 in Richland and Keyser townships notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed with the Auditor of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, and viewers have been appointed who have viewed and reported said view which is on file in my office. The hearing of said petition upon its merits by the board of commissioners will be on Thursday the 8th day of June 1899, the same being the 4th day of their June term, 1899.

The prayer of said petition is that a ditch be constructed on the following route towit:

Beginning seventy-eight [78] rods north and forty-one [41] rods west of the south-east corner of the south-west quarter of section No. twenty-three [23] in Richland township DeKalb County, Indiana and from thence in a south easterly direction ending at a point three hundred and twenty-five [325] feet east and one hundred seventy-five [175] feet south of the north-west corner of the south-west quarter of section No. twenty-five [25] in Keyser township of said DeKalb County Indiana.

Said ditch is to be tiled from stake zero to stake No. sixty-six [66]. The remaining portion of said ditch to be open.

The proposed work will affect the lands of the following persons:

Mary C. Lawrence	G. E. Mathews
Richland Township
Christian Kryder	Nancy J. Olinger
Franklin Grogg	Mary Husselman
Eli Shull

Heirs of Amos Rakestraw estate as follows:

William Rakestraw	Samuel Rakestraw
George Rakestraw	Mrs. Samuel Culver
Levi Rakestraw	Maria Rakestraw

ISAAC HAGUE, Administrator.
FRANK P. SEILER, Auditor DeKalb County.

Dated May 9, 1899.

Notice of Hearing of Ditch Petition.

In the matter of the petition of James D. Rowley Joint Ditch No. 690 in DeKalb County and Allen county notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed with the Auditor of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, and viewers have been appointed who have viewed and reported said view which is on file in my office. The hearing of said petition upon its merits by the board of commissioners will be on Thursday the 8th day of June 1899, the same being the 4th day of their June term, 1899,

The prayer of said petition is that a ditch be constructed on the following route towit:

Beginning seventy (70) rods north and one (1) rod west of the south east corner of section No. thirty-six (36) township thirty-three (33) north range twelve (22) east DeKalb County, State of Indiana and from thence following the line of the old J. D. Rowley ditch ending in the Edwin Harwood drain at a point three hundred forty (350) feet east and eight hundred ninety-five (895) feet south of the quarter post on the west side of section No. six (6) townshiship thirty-two (32) north range thirteen east in Allen County Indiana.

Said ditch is to be tiled from stake zero to stake sixty-three. (63) The remaining portion of said ditch to be constructed as an open ditch.

This proposed work will affect the lands of the following persons:

James D. Rowley	Dora Harkey
Butler Township	Jackson Township
Ellen Rowley (no assessment)

ALLEN COUNTY

Cedar Creek Township	Perry township
Nancy Sterling	James E. Pequinot
Eli H. Garman	Milton F. Myers
William H. Garman	Mary Garman
D. A. Garman	Stephen Surface.

FRANK P. SEILER
Auditor DeKalb County

Dated May 9, 1899.

Notice of Administration

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, of the State of Indiana, Administrator with the will annexed of the estate of John Shutt deceased, late of said county,

Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

ANDREW J. SHUTT,
May 6, 1899, Administrator.

OBITUARY.

Emeline Stroh was born in Union, which is now Grant township, DeKalb county, Ind., October 13, 1848, and departed this life at Waterloo, Ind., May 1, 1899, aged 50 years, 6 months and 18 days.

Dec. 4, 1873, she was united in marriage with William Maxwell, by the Rev. E. M. Baker. This union was blessed with three sons. Frank W., the second born child, died while an infant of two years Albert and Arthur and the father and devoted husband being left to mourn their loss. Mrs. Maxwell was converted early in life and united with the Evangelical society, which at that time worshiped at the Salem church, commonly known as the Husselman church, which was located on the Auburn and Waterloo road, two miles from Waterloo. She continued a member of the same until the society disbanded, when she united with the M. E. church in Waterloo, during the pastorate of the Rev. Daniels in 1877, and continued a member of the same until death severed her relations.

The funeral services were conducted at the home at 1 o'clock p. m., May 3, by the Revs. W. D. Parr, a former pastor of deceased, now of Wayne-st, M. E. church, Fort Wayne, assisted by the Rev. Moorman, of the U. B. church of Waterloo, and W. F. Dingel her present pastor. Interment at Waterloo cemetery.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

WHEREAS; The great and Supreme Ruler of the universe has in His infinite wisdom removed from among us our worthy sister, Emeline Maxwell, and Whereas the relation held with her in the faithful discharge of her duties in this society make it eminently of her, therefore

RESOLVED, That the removal of such a life from among our midst, leaves a shadow that will be realized by all the members and friends of this society; Resolve,d that we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family in this their hour of sorrow and distress, and be it further. RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family and spread upon our minutes of the Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church.

Amanda Carpenter
Anna Brand } Committee.
Delila Patterson

OBITUARY

Mrs. Mary A. Dirrim, daughter of Rev, and Mrs. Edward Barker was born in Peterborough, England, August 13, 1832. She with her parents crossed the Atlantic when she was bnt two years of age, landing at New York, and from thence they went to Detroit, Michigan, where they lived for three years. Subsequently they moved to Branch county Michigan, and thence in 1850 to Hamilton, Indiana, lastly coming to Auburn in 1883 where she lived at the time of her death, May 6, 1899, She was united in mrrriage to William H Dirrim in 1853 and was a faithful and loving helpmeet till death dissolved the happy relationship. She was the mother of five children, four daughters and one son; three daughters and the son remain.

She was converted at the age of fifteen years, and joined the Methodist Episcopal church, and was an acceptable and faithful member during her whole life. She was a Christian, not only in name, but in fact, the highest eulogy that can be spoken of any mortal. She not only lived her religion, but enjoyed it. She was strong in faith, patient in hope and triumphant in death. She has left for her children and her husband a priceless legacy, a noble christian example; exemplifying in her life and death that His grace is sufficient. Will you confidently trust her Saviour? If so, you with her shall reign forever and forever.

Her funeral took place from the M. E. church, May 8, Geo. S McCord funeral director. Rev. W. L. Meese made the opening prayer, and Rev. T. M. Guild preached the funeral discourse at the close of which Mrs. Ehlers paid an eloquent tribute to the deceased, and made the closing prayer.

OBITUARY

Sarah A. Reynolds was born May 2, 1825, in Wayne Co., Ohio, departed this life April 27, 1899, aged 73 years, 11 month and 25 days.

She was married to John N. Lyon, of Ashland, County Ohio, on July 15, 1841 The fruits of this marriage were four sons and three daughters: John R., Isaac I, Sarah E., Mary J, Wm. D., Jas. C., and Rachel A. Mary J. the wife of Nelson E. Miller, Rachel A. the wife of G. W. Burtzner and Wm. D. survive her.

Feb. 3, 1863, her husband Mr. John N. Lyon died at the age of 43 years. They lived in Ashland, Ohio, for a number of years, then moved to Wabash County, Ind., then afterwards to DeKalb County.

In April 1866 she was married to Mark Smith, of Kosciusko County, where she lived up to his death in 18 6 then removed to DeKalb County where deceased has since resided.

She was a member of the Methodist Protestant church at Butler Center, for a number of years up to her death. The funeral was April 29, and interment in the old part of Evergreen cemetery in Auburn.

CARD OF THANKS.

—The relatives desire to thank all the friends and neighbors who showed so much sympathy, and gave so much assistance during the last illness of Mrs. Sarah A Smith.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

PROGRAM

OF THE

Sunday School Institute,

OF

UNION TOWNSHIP,

WHICH WILL BE HELD IN THE

BAPTIST CHURCH AUBURN,

Saturday, May 13 1899

AFTERNOON SESSION

1:30—Song
1:35—Devotional service, Rev. Markle
1:50—Report of previous meeting - - - - - - Secretary
—Song
2:00—How can you best induce the regular attendance of the teachers - - - Dr. S. B. Johnston
2:15—Discussion
2:25—Recitation
2:30—What is the most pressing need in your Sunday school? A three-minute talk by the superintendent of each Sunday school
—Discussion
—Song - - Mrs. Lena Patterson
3:00—Review of lessons passed in this quarter - - I. M. Thomas
3:10—Review of remaining lessons in this quarter, Mrs. J. A. Barns
3:30—Recitation
3:35—How to study the bible, - - - - - - - Rev. T. M. Guild
:00—Miscellaneous business
4:15—Song and benediction

EVENING SESSION

—Devotional service - - - - - - - - Rev. Engelman
—Address
Duet, Mrs. T, J. Cuppy and son
—Address, - Rev. Henry Arlen
—A talk by Mrs. Mary Ehlers.
—Benediction, - Rev. Engelman

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Pulmonary Consumption.

My wife has long been troubled with weak lungs and was pronounced to be in the last stage of pulmonary consumption. She commenced taking White Wine of Tar and received relief at once and is now using the fourth bottle and her health is better than for many years We cheerfully recommend it to all.

Brookline Station, Mo. REV. J. R. FLY,
SUSAN E. FLY

Davenport The Druggist.

IDEAL MUSIC,

"Sweet as the angel Israfil's,
When every leaf on Eden's tree
Was trembling to his minstrelsy."

can be produced from an EBERSOLE PIANO. The Ebersole possesses a tone that no other maker has been able to imitate—being full and deep, yet with that clear singing quality which stamps it the peer of all upright pianos for homes of culture and refinement.

Frank B. Long,

119 Calhoun-St. cor Washington,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

William's Kidney Pills

Has no equal in diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs. Have you neglected your Kidneys? Have you overworked your nervous system and caused trouble with your Kidneys and Bladder? Have you pains in the loins, side, back, groins and bladder? Have you a flabby appearance of the face, especially under the eyes? Too frequent desire pass urine? William's Kidney Pills will impart new life to the diseased organs, tone up the system and make a new man of you. By mail 50 cents per box.
WILLIAMS MFG. CO., Props., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

BINDER TWINE Our famous BLUE LABEL BRAND. It's the best in the world. Prices will surprise you. We deliver from Chicago, Omaha or St. Paul, as desired. Write for prices and samples.
MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., CHICAGO

NERVITA PILLS Restore VITALITY, LOST VIGOR AND MANHOOD

Cure Impotency, Night Emissions and wasting diseases, all effects of self-abuse, or excess and indiscretion. A nerve tonic and blood builder. Brings the pink glow to pale cheeks and restores the fire of youth. By mail 50c per box, 6 boxes for $2.50; with a written guarantee to cure or refund the money. Send for circular. Address,

NERVITA MEDICAL CO.
Clinton & Jackson Sts., CHICAGO, ILL.

Davenport, The Druggist.

PILES Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment will cure Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles. It absorbs the tumors, allays the itching at once, acts as a poultice, gives instant relief. Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is prepared for Piles and Itching of the private parts. Every box is warranted. By druggists, by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents and $1.00. WILLIAMS MANUFACTURING CO., Props., Cleveland, Ohio.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

What Can We ..Offer.. You

In the way of.....

HARDWARE and FARM MACHINERY

that will attract your attention?

We have the most complete stock ever seen in our city, and you know that, as usual, our prices are right

Do you need anything for spring that we carry

?

Do you know that we have built up a wonderful trade by right prices and right goods.

?

Do you know that we have the most complete stock of

Hardware,
Farm Machinery
Wagons and Buggins

in DeKalb County

?

If you will drop in and see us we will be able to convince you at once that we have the goods that you want, and the prices alone will tell the story.

Don't fail to see our Carriage Repository, it is the finest in Northern Indiana,

Culbertson & Boland,

Auburn, Ind.

FREE! FREE!

Rand, McNally & Co's. Universal Atlas of the World

Containing Entirely New Large Scale Maps of every State in the United States, and of Every Country in the World. This Atlas is the Edition of 1899, and has Special Maps of Cuba, Peurto Rico, The Philippines, and other war localities.

The Complete Work Embraces

64 Pages of artistically colored diagrams relating to imports, exports, populations, etc.
157 Pages of colored maps.
98 Pages of illustrated history and biography.
125 Portraits and biographies of eminent statesmen, soldiers, and writers.

An Index naming and locating every city, village, post office, railway, and express station in the United States, besides giving the latest official census complete.

Total number of pages, 456. Weighs eight pounds.
Size of book when closed, 11½x14½ inches.
Elegantly bound in Half Morocco. Sold for $6.00 at retail,

OUR OFFER:

We will give Atlas Checks at the rate of one with every 25 cents' worth of goods purchased. (Two for 50 cents, four for $1.00, etc.)

When you have secured 300 of these, take them to F. E. DAVENPORT'S DRUG STORE, and you will receive a copy of the Atlas gratis.

Auburn, Indiana.

M. JONES & SON, Dry Goods.
BISHOP & BEIDLER, Boots and Shoes.
M. E. GARRETT, Groceries.
F. E. DAVENPORT, Drugs, Books and Stationery.
SHEFFER & CHANY, Meats.
PIONEER HARDWARE CO., Hardware, Stoves, etc.
J. H. NEHER, Photographer (Hoffman Gallery).
MRS. A. C. LEAS, Millinery.
D. A. HODGE, Jewelry.

REMEMBER

That you do not have to secure the 300 checks at any one store.
That checks from all the above stores count.
That you have a whole year in which to secure 300.
That you must ALWAYS ASK FOR THE CHECKS.
That none other but ATLAS CHECKS count
THAT YOU CAN SECURE THE SAME CHECKS AT WATERLOO AND GARRETT.

Our Corset Equipment

Comes from a decade of Corset Manufacurers. They embody all that is the BEST in CORSETS.

Many Women Have Their Favorite Corsets
We Keep Many Favorite Makes Here.

Some we don't keep, but we get them for you if desired. More corset selling in May than any other month.

A Few of Our Standard Makes.

Kabo Bastiste Corset, extra long, high bust	98c	Dr Shilling's Health Preserving Corset	$1 00
Thompson's Glove Fitting Corset, Paris shape high back, extra long	$1 50	Royal Worcester Corset long waist	1 00
Flexibone Moulded Corset, French model, lace edge	1 50	Jackson Corset Waist in white & drab long waists	2 25
W B Corset, short and extra long waists, white and drab	98c	Cresco, the celebrated brand, white & drab, long waists	1 00
Armorside Corset, long waist, nicely trimmed	$1 00	Nemo Corset, extra long waists, a perfect fit	1 00
Dr. Warner's Health Corset, full form	1 25	Sensation, Cyclone, Marvel, Alaska & Dress Form Summer Corset cost	50c
Dr Warner's French Pattern Health Corset, in drab and white	1 25	J M Corset, for summer wear	25c
Dr Warner's Abdominal Corset, long waist, perfect fit	75c	C C C Corset, both summer and winter	18c

EXTRA LONG WAIST.

When in the City...

Make our store your headquarters. For your convenience and pleasure we had city water piped into our store where you can always enjoy a cool, refreshing drink.

G. W. LACKEY
Auburn, Ind.

Closing OUT Sale

On Saturday
May

20th

at 2 O'clock p.m. the Pioneer Hardware Company will on the above date sell at public auction the following goods:

John Deer's

Riding & Walking Cultivators,
Riding Plows,
Spade Harrows,
Handy Wagons and other
Farm Machinery.

Terms of Sale:

Sums of $5 and Under, Cash; Sums Over $5 Payable September 1, 1899, Purchaser Giving Note With Approved Security.

Pioneer Hardware Co.,
J. L. Davis, Prop, Auburn.

—HOMES WANTED:—For three orphan boys, seven, eight and nine years of age. Country homes preferred. Call on either Rev. J. D. Brosy or Rev. T. M. Guild, Auburn, Ind.

When Weak, Weary and Wasted

from Kidney Diseases, why not try Foley's Kidney Cure, a guaranteed medicine. 50c and $1,00 a bottle.

Monday's Daily.

—Carpetine for sale at Baxter's Restaurant.

—Miss Della Weaver is now assisting in the auditor's office.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beams, of Spencerville, attended the funeral of Mrs. I. M. Johnson.

—A steady rain started in yesterday about noon and gradually increased, continuing all night.

—Cal. Husselman is hauling home six tons of ice cream salt today. How is that for big business in ice cream?

—M. A. Miller and wife drove up to Hicksvile Saturday and remained ouer Sunday with her people, the family of M. Kline.

—Talking about styles in shoes, if you want the real thing, call at Shull's shoe store and take a look at the new styles for spring. D-W-tf.

—The Fort Wayne Journal of this morning nominates Gen. Lawton an Allen county man for the next democratic candidate for governor. He couldn't be beaten.

—A ship has just returned from South America with a cargo of big snakes mostly boa constrictors, which are for the managerie market. There are over 100 boxes of them.

—Fishermen report a curious thing on Lake Eric, near Toledo. The water of the lake rose fully twenty inches last Friday, but in a few hours fell to the usual level. No one can account for it.

—A Battle For Life. You need for perfect health a plentiful and constant supply of new blood. Begg's Blood Purifer and Blood tones the stomach and assists digestion. We sell it. H. B, McCord.

—There was a nice little party Saturday afternoon at Frank Joliff's as a sort of a farewell, as we understand it, to Elwood Wagner, who is going to Columbia City. There were 18 present and all had a good time. There were refreshments also, of ice cream and cake.

—The real estate of the late Ezra Dickinson was sold on Saturday. The house and lot on North Jackson-st was purchased by J. H. Riley, the Postal Telegraph operator the price paid being $785. It is well worth that. It seems that Rebecca Dickinson had only a life interest in it, and the proceeds now go to the heirs of Ezra Dickinson of whom there are several.

—Little Grace Harrison came near a scalding Saturday evening. She was at Frank Rush's playing with his girls, and in running around the house she came to the rear door just as the housekeeper, Mrs. Elson threw out a dishful of hot water. It struck her on the side of the neck and shoulders, raising a blister. Though the burn was not deep enough to be dangerous, it was for a time rather painful.

A Kansas Minister.

Rev. L. S. Coulton, of Circleville, Ks, says: "Dr. Warner—Your Wine of Tar Syrup has been in my family and found to be all and even more than you claim for it. It is a speedy cure for all throat and lung diseases.
Davenport The Druggist.

BUTLER.

The Butler Telephone Co, is pushing business with energy and vim. Many of the phones are in and connected. Their great convenience is only known to persons using them. They are stretching out their lines to Newville, St. Joe and Hamilton.

Dr. Madden is improving little, if any. His condition remains very critical.

Samuel Tyson, a well known citizen of our place, fell, or was thrown from a Lake Shore train near Archbold last Thursday night, and was picked up unconscious. He suffered a broken leg, and other severe and dangerous injuries and is detained at Archbold, O.

Charles W. Campbell of South Chicago, is visiting with his father and other relatives and friends.

The warm breezes of Saturday night filled our streets to overflowing.

Mrs. R. C. Campbell remains very low, with but meager hopes of recovery Her aunt, Mrs. Pardu of Napoleon, O., and another aunt and cousin of Steuben county, were with her part of last week.

Wool is coming into market quite freely, this is about thirty days ahead of the usual time. The price realized is about 17 cents.

A. D. Morse is improving his residence by building a cozy addition.

J. A. Campbell is now the owner of the Willis McClellan residence on East Oak-st.

Real estate is improving and rent is advancing in all parts of the town.

A west bound Lake Shore freight sustained a serious wreck one-half mile east of the main street crossing last Sunday morning, by some failure upon the air brakes. Several cars were reduced to kindling wood, and were afterwards burned. Both tracks and the Wabash crossing were disabled for several hours. The wreck was not cleared until late in the afternoon. The people of Butler and vicinity gathered in large numbers to witness the scene, and to look at the working of the wrecking crew. Wheels were in evidence on every side.

An Obstinate Sore Cured.

Jas. G. Amnertof, Della, O. writes: I had an obstinate sore on my face which everything else failed to heal, after one application of Banner Salve it began to heal and after three applications it was entirely healed leaving no scar.

Tuesday's Daily.

—Scrub your floors and wood work with Carpetine, tf

—Father Juraschek came down from Summit this forenoon.

—Ask any druggist for a free Peruna Almanac for the year 1899.

—Clint Potter is out now buying wool for Schaab Brothers, and is getting in a big lot of it.

—Tom McNamara went to Helmer yesterday. He has a church to build there and another at Flint.

—Surveyor Krontz went over to Garrett this forenoon to inspect some ditch work that had been done there,

—Miss Maud Miller of Albion, daughter of Recorder J. W. Miller is calling on relatives in the city.

—Citizens of Omaha have sent over $2,000 to Manila to be used for the sick soldiers of the Nebraska regiment.

—M. B. Masters has a lot of green corn that is up big enough to hoe. He will probably be the first in the market.

—Lagrange county commissioners have arranged their councilmanic districts, making four as the law requires.

—G. A. Bishop went down into Butler township today to hunt mushrooms. He says he will beat Charlie Bartels or know the reason why.

—The cottonwood trees are rightly named. If you don't believe it, sit down under one just now, while the little tufts are falling.

—A. M. St. Clair was in town Monday forenoon and left the clerk's office just in time to miss hearing his name called on the jury list.

—Dr. Baxter has the most advanced garden we have noticed. He has had lettuce for a week or more, and his peas are a foot high and other things about the same way.

—Parties in Columbia City recently shipped 120,000 pounds of wool to Boston. This is believed to be the largest single shipment of wool ever made from northern Indiana.

—The Reina Mercedes, one of the Spanish cruisers sunk at Santiago by our fleet, has been raised and is now on her way to the United States. She will make us a sound war warship.

—Edward Koons, who went to Helena, Montana, last year is now at at Lewiston, Idado, one of the new mining centers. We understand he has a good position in a shoe store there.

—Charles Bartles, sr. and Ed. Sheets went out after mushroons yesterday and for a long time had no luck. Finally, they struck the right spot, and gathered 241 from a spot about a rod square.

—BEGG'S HAIR RENEWER.—The old reliable Hair Restorer and Invigorator, for over thirty years the leader in its line. If you give it a trial you will recommend it to your friends. Sold by H. B, McCord.

—A voting machine was used at Irvington, a suburb of Indianapolis, at the recent election and proved very satisfactory. The vote on all candidates was known ten minutes after the polls were closed. It saved a good deal of anxious waiting on the part of the candidates and the people.

—Jacob Wagner has moved his family to Columbia City where he has a good job in the Harper Carriage works. Columbia City will find them desirable citizens. Their son, Elwood, has been for several years a carrier on the DAILY COURIER staff and therefore leaves a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

—Judge Hartman returned to Angola Monady to finish the term this week, ending Saturday. They have had an unusually busy term. Quite an important case came up last week from Flint, where the teacher was dismissed, as he claims, without cause. Several charges were brought against him, but his case in court was to collect wages due. He got judgment for $25.

—Mrs. Dr. Johnston has received the sad news of the death of her father, Herman Akers at his home near Columbia City, yesterday morning at about one o'clock. The funeral is at the home tomorrow, May 10, at 2 p. m. Mrs. Johnston goes there this evening. His age was 81. It will be remembered that his son Capt. Akers of Kansas, who has visited here, died at his home last November.

—The May Festival is a sure go. Three elegant entertainments have been planned for. Dr. W. A. Quoyles of Indianapolis, will lecture May 23, and Selah Brown Wednesday May 24. The North Indiana Conference Male Quartet, assisted by excellent local talent will give a concert Thursday, May 25. These three entertainments will be sold for 75 cents full course, or 35 cents for single admission to one entertainment.

—Among those who came to attend the funeral of Mrs. I. M. Johnson, are Mr. and Mrs. Jno Morrison of Chicago Recorder Jno. Miller and wife of Noble county, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kramer of Elkhart, Mr. T. O. Elson of Berrien Springs, Mich., Mrs. John Simon of Goshen, Sidney Stanton of Montgomery Mich., Sherman Kramer of Elkhart, Maggie Hart and daughter of Fort Wayne, Cora Colt of Roann, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs Henry Beams of Spencerville, Ind.

Junk Wanted.

Please save your money. Don't forget to bring all your junk to H. Greenberg, three blocks north of M. E. church in Auburn, who pays best cash prices for rags, rubber, copper, brass, zinc, lead, scrap iron and all kinds of hides and furs. tf

Wednesday's Daily.

—Two good barns for sale cheap. Enquire of M. Boland.

—Remove the grease and stains from your carpets with Carpetine.

—John Strauss is moving on the Alex Forsythe farm south of town.

—Saturday, May 13, is the Union township S. S. Institute in Auburn.

—FOR SALE:—Two Jersey calves, full blood. Call on T. C. FORD, Auburn.

—Mr. Burtnet, who had his foot sprained at the Greenler factory is able to be out again.

—Don't think about buying shoes until you have seen the new styles at Shull's shoe store. D-W-tf.

—If you want the latest styles and the best good shoes to be had for the money patronize Shull's shoe store.

—FOR RENT:—Good house, six rooms, summer kitchen, wood house, well and cistern, West Eleventh-st. For particulars, call here.

—The County councilmen and township helpers will be appointed this term of court. Here is a chance for about fifty men to earn a salary of $5 to $10 a year.

—Remember, that when in need of a vehicle of any kind you can always find what you want at D. N. Myer's sales room, in Auburn. Surreys, Bug-Phaetons, etc.

—Mrs. Leedy and two children are here from Fort Wayne visiting the relatives. They go to Coldwater Saturday to visit the families of her brothers Frank and George Shugers.

—Lee Campbell and his brown bride gave Auburn their patronage last Friday. They staid all night at the Hollister House. So it seems they prefer a good hotel yet to a cotton tent or house wagon.

—WANTED:—Reliable Salesmen for the best specialty on the market Staple article having steady sale and increasing demand, affording large profit. No samples required. Address 026 Majestic Building, Detroit, Mich. 19-22

—Begg's Cherry Syrup gives you the essential qualities of the cherry tree bark from which it derives its name. It cures your stubborn colds, coughs of long standing and croup. It is the best known cure for LaGrippe. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Seward Kalb, his daughter Mabel, and son Harvey are visiting the family of Perry Long in East Auburn. Their home is at Benzonia Mich., and they have been at Cromwell to attend the funeral of Mr. Kalb's brother Charles. J. S. Kalb, of Ashley, is an uncle.

—G. W. Reed came down from South Haven Monday and is visiting the old friends here. He is looking well, and says the others at home are well. Wheat up there is much better than here, and the peach crop bids fair to be good, at least much better than they expected.

—Do you understand that the persistant use of BEGGS BLOOD PURIFIER and BLOOD MAKER will drive disease germs out of your system and life will be worth living. You cannot cure in one week or one month, a blood trouble that has been years in getting a foothold. BEGGS LITTLE GIANT PILLS should be taken twice a week with this remedy. We keep it. Howard McCord.

—We have received from Dr. J. W. Squires at Churubusco, a lovely program of the graduating exercises at that place, which will be May 17. Among the graduates, we find his son, Lloyd L. Squires. We are pleased to know that our friend, the Doctor is bringing up his boys in the right way, and that as far as we know, the boys appreciate their advantages. We see by the program that the Doctor presents the diplomas.

May Juries

The jury commissioners, met this forenoon in the clerk's office and drew the jurors for the coming term.

GRAND JURY

M. K. Houlton, Franklin; James Finch, Richland; Thomas M. Wiseman, Concord; Wm. Swartz, Grant; Jay Brown, Franklin; David DeLong, Fairfield.

PETIT JURY

Frederick April, Stafford; G. N. Rakestraw, Keyser; Geo. W. Livergood, Isaac E. Barker, Smithfield; Gust D. Beber, Keyser; A. P. Foltz, Keyser; A. M. St. Clair, Grant; Geo Chaney, Concord; Wm Krontz, Wilmington; G W Coats, Wilmington; O. L. Wheaton, Fairfield.

Sedan Flower Park

The Sedan Union Flower Park will open next Sunday, April 14, at 4 p. m. All are invited to come.
Respectfully,
S. HAINES.

HUMPHREYS' ANIMAL SPECIFICS.

A. A. cures	FEVERS, Lung Fever, Milk Fever.
B. B. cures	SPRAINS, Lameness, Rheumatism.
C. C. cures	EPIZOOTIC, Distemper.
D. D. cures	WORMS, Bots, Grubs.
E. E. cures	COUGHS, Colds, Influenza.
F. F. cures	COLIC, Bellyache, Diarrhea.
G. G.	Prevents MISCARRIAGE.
H. H. cures	KIDNEY & BLADDER DISORDERS.
I. I. cures	MANGE, Skin Diseases.
J. K. cures	BAD CONDITION, Staring Coat.

50c, each; Stable Case, Ten Specifics, Book, &c., $7. At druggists or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Humphreys' Medicine Co., Cor. William & John Sts., New York. VETERINARY MANUAL SENT FREE.

NERVOUS DEBILITY,
VITAL WEAKNESS
and Prostration from Overwork or other causes.
Humphreys' Homeopathic Specific No. 28, in use over 40 years, the only successful remedy.
$1 per vial, or 5 vials and large vial powder, for $5. Sold by Druggists, or send post-paid on receipt of price. HUMPHREYS' MED. CO., Cor. William & John Sts., New York.

Values That Mean Something

We are making every ... month of May—want to make it to crowd plenty of business into the ... desire by prices that have the record month. We are backing our ... we feel are most pleasing by earnings for style and qualities that ... fluence your buying. Coming here values, the kind that really in... you every benefit the items you'll make your May purchases, gives ... at the prices you cheerfully pay

Linen Towels

Linen Towels with Fringe, at	19c	Linen Towels, Open Work	48c
Linen Towels, Hemstitched at	23c	Linen Covers for Dressers	48c
Linen Towels, Extra Size with Fringe at	24c	Huck Towels 1 per or one towel for	5c

Percal in stripes for shirt waists or summer skirts, best values, per yard	14 to 18c
Dotted Muls, the best of values, per yard	18c
Silk Novelties in all colors, per yard from	6c, 7c, 8c
Ladies' and Misses' Silk Mitts, in white or black, per pair	15 to 23
Pearl Buttons, all sizes,	5c per Doz
Ladies' Black Silk Parasols, Paragon Frames, Fancy Handles best of goods	98c
Ladies' and Misses' Fancy Parasols, Chiffon Ruffles, up-to-date in style	1.75 to $2.25
Men's and Boys' Straw hats	5c, 10c. 15c, 23c
Curtain Poles, Oak and Cherry, complete	10c
White Enameled Curtain Poles with Brass Fixtures	15c
Diarks Spool Cotton 2 spool for	5c

Groceries;

Crackers 7c lb 3 for	20c	3 pound can Apples	10c
Milk Crocks per gal	7c	Rice per pound	5 and 8c
Scrub Brushes	5 to 10c	Raisins per pound	7c
Table Salt per sack	4c	Bulk Starch per pound	5c

Bazar Store

HIGHEST 1899 GRADE
BICYCLE
GENT'S COLUMBIAN $20.50 LADIES' COLUMBIAN

BEST BICYCLE BUILT!
FACTORY TO RIDER DIRECT.

All we require is $1.00 down, balance payable after examination,
We are the only factory in the United States selling direct to rider.
We guarantee our goods for two years—most liberal guarantee ever given.
We give more options than the regular dealers. You can have your choice of color, heighth of frame, or any gear desired
Our bicycles have all the latest improvements—large tubing, flush joints, large sprockets, arched fork crown, drop hanger, etc.
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE GIVING FULL DESCRIPTION, TODAY.

Columbian Cycle Co.,
Cleveland, Ohio.

Do You Know Anything

prettier in the picture line than the Oval Photograph Mounts. They are very popular and add much to the artistic effect of the picture. You can procure pictures on oval mounts of any tint desired.

O. E. Lybarger,
The Photographer

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co., Goshen, Ind. 8

Untortunate People

are they who while suffering from Kidney Diseases are prejudiced against all advertised remedies. They should know that Foley's Kidney Cure is not a quack remedy, but an honest guaranteed medicine for Kidney and Bladder troubles. 50, and $1.00 a bottle.

Mrs. W. H. Dirrim

Mrs. Dirrim died Saturday evening, and was buried today, the funeral being at the M. E. church at 2:30, services by Rev, T. M. Guild. Obituary tomorrow.

Spain's Greatest Need.

Mr. R. P. Olivia, of Barcelona, Spain, spends his winters at Aiken, S. C. Weak nerves had caused severe pains in the back of his head. On using Electric Bitters, America's greatest Blood and Nerve remedy, all pains soon left him. He says this grand medicine is what his country needs. All America knows that it cures liver and kidney trouble, purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, strengthens the nerves, puts vim, vigor and new life into every muscle, nerve and organ of the body. If weak, tired or ailing you need it. Every bottle guaranteed, only 50 cents. Sold by H. B. McCord the Druggist.

Try HOME-MADE WRAPPERS at $1.00 and $1.50. $1 & 1.50
M. JONES & SON.

Our Corset Equipment

Comes from a decade of Corset Manufacurers. They embody all that is the BEST in CORSETS.

Many Women Have Their Favorite Corsets
We Keep Many Favorite Makes Here.

Some we don't keep, but we get them for you if desired. More corset selling in May than any other month.

A Few of Our Standard Makes.

Kabo Bastiste Corset, extra long, high bust	98c	Dr Shilling's Health Preserving Corset	$1 00
Thompson's Glove Fitting Corset, Paris shape high back, extra long	$1 50	Royal Worcester Corset long waist	1 00
Flexibone Moulded Corset, French model, lace edge	1 50	Jackson Corset Waist in white & drab long waists	2 25
W B Corset, short and extra long waists, white and drab	98c	Cresco, the celebrated brand, white & drab, long waists	1 00
Armorside Corset, long waist, nicely trimmed	$1 00	Nemo Corset, extra long waists, a perfect fit	1 00
Dr. Warner's Health Corset, full form	1 25	Sensation, Cyclone, Marvel, Alaska & Dress Form Summer Corset cost	50c
Dr Warner's French Pattern Health Corset, in drab and white	1 25	J M Corset, for summer wear	25c
Dr Warner's Abdominal Corset, long waist, perfect fit	75c	C C C Corset. both summer and winter	18c

When in the City...

Make our store your headquarters. For your convenience and pleasure we had city water piped into our store where you can always enjoy a cool, refreshing drink.

G. W. LACKEY
Auburn, Ind.

Closing OUT Sale

On Saturday
May

20th

at 2 O'clock p.m. the Pioneer Hardware Company will on the above date sell at public auction the following goods:

John Deer's

Riding & Walking Cultivators,
Riding Plows,
Spade Harrows,
Handy Wagons and other
Farm Machinery.

Terms of Sale:

Sums of $5 and Under, Cash; Sums Over $5 Payable September 1, 1899, Purchaser Giving Note With Approved Security.

Pioneer Hardware Co.,
J. L. Davis, Prop, Auburn.

—HOMES WANTED:—For three orphan boys, seven, eight and nine years of age. Country homes preferred. Call on either Rev. J. D. Brosy or Rev. T. M. Guild, Auburn, Ind.

When Weak, Weary and Wasted

from Kidney Diseases, why not try Foley's Kidney Cure, a guaranteed medicine. 50c and $1.00 a bottle.

Monday's Daily.

—Carpetine for sale at Baxter's Restaurant.

—Miss Della Weaver is now assisting in the auditor's office.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beams, of Spencerville, attended the funeral of Mrs. I. M. Johnson.

—A steady rain started in yesterday about noon and gradually increased, continuing all night.

—Cal. Husselman is hauling home six tons of ice cream salt today. How is that for big business in ice cream?

—M. A. Miller and wife drove up to Hicksvile Saturday and remained ouer Sunday with her people, the family of M. Kline.

—Talking about styles in shoes. if you want the real thing,call at Shull's shoe store and take a look at the new styles for spring. D-W-tf.

—The Fort Wayne Journal of this morning nominates Gen, Lawton an Allen county man for the next democratic candidate for governor. He couldn't be beaten.

—A ship has just returned from South America with a cargo of big snakes mostly boa constrictors, which are for the managerie market. There are over 100 boxes of them.

—Fishermen report a curious thing on Lake Eric, near Toledo. The water of the lake rose fully twenty inches last Friday, but in a few hours fell to the usual level. No one can account for it.

—A Battle For Life. You need for perfect health a plentiful and constant supply of new blood. Begg's Blood Purifer and Blood tones the stomach and assists digestion. We sell it. H. B, McCord.

—There was a nice little party Saturday afternoon at Frank Joliff's as a sort of a farewell, as we understand it, to Elwood Wagner, who is going to Columbia City. There were 18 present and all had a good time. There were refreshments also, of ice cream and cake.

—The real estate of the late Ezra Dickinson was sold on Saturday. The house and lot on North Jackson-st was purchased by J. H. Riley, the Postal Telegraph operator the price paid being $785. It is well worth that. It seems that Rebecca Dickinson had only a life interest in it, and the proceeds now go to the heirs of Ezra Dickinson of whom there are several.

—Little Grace Harrison came near a scalding Saturday evening. She was at Frank Rush's playing with his girls, and in running around the house she came to the rear door just as the housekeeper, Mrs. Elson threw out a dishful of hot water. It struck her on the side of the neck and shoulders, raising a blister. Though the burn was not deep enough to be dangerous, it was for a time rather painful.

A Kansas Minister.

Rev. L. S. Coulton, of Circleville, Ks , says: "Dr. Warner—Your Wine of Tar Syrup has been in my family and found to be all and even more than you claim for it. It is a speedy cure for all throat and lung diseases.
Davenport The Druggist.

BUTLER.

The Butler Telephone Co , is pushing business with energy and vim. Many of the phones are in and connected. Their great convenience is only known to persons using them. They are stretching out their lines to Newville, St. Joe and Hamilton.

Dr. Madden is improving little, if any. His condition remains very critical,

Samuel Tyson, a well known citizen of our place, fell, or was thrown from a Lake Shore train near Archbold last Thursday night, and was picked up unconscious. He suffered a broken leg, and other severe and dangerous injuries and is detained at Archbold, O.

Charles W. Campbell of South Chicago, is visiting with his father and other relatives and friends.

The warm breezes of Saturday night filled our streets to overflowing.

Mrs. R. C. Campbell remains very low, with but meager hopes of recovery Her aunt, Mrs. Pardu of Napoleon, O,. and another aunt and cousin of Steuben county, were with her part of last week.

Wool is coming into market quite freely, this is about thirty days ahead of the usual time. The price realized is about 17 cents.

A. D. Morse is improving his residence by building a cozy addition.

J. A. Campbell is now the owner of the Willis McClellan residence on East Oak-st.

Real estate is improving and rent is advancing in all parts of the town.

A west bound Lake Shore freight sustained a serious wreck one-half mile east of the main street crossing last Sunday morning, by some failure upon the air brakes. Several cars were reduced to kindling wood, and were afterwards burned. Both tracks and the Wabash crossing were disabled for several hours. The wreck was not cleared until late in the afternoon. The people of Butler and vicinity gathered in large numbers to witness the scene, and to look at the working of the wrecking crew. Wheels were In evidence on every side.

An Obstinate Sore Cured.

Jas. G. Amnertof, Della, O. writes: I had an obstinate sore on my face which everything else failed to heal, after one application of Banner Salve it began to heal and after three applications it was entirely healed leaving no scar.

Tuesday's Daily.

—Scrub your floors and wood work with Carpetine, tf

—Father Juraschek came down from Summit this forenoon.

—Ask any druggist for a free Peruna Almanac for the year 1899.

—Clint Potter is out now buying wool for Schaab Brothers, and is getting in a big lot of it.

—Tom McNamara went to Helmer yesterday. He has a church to build there and another at Flint.

—Surveyor Krontz went over to Garrett this forenoon to inspect some ditch work that had been done there,

—Miss Maud Miller of Albion, daughter of Recorder J. W. Miller is calling on relatives in the city.

—Citizens of Omaha have sent over $2,000 to Manila to be used for the sick soldiers of the Nebraska regiment.

—M. B. Masters has a lot of green corn that is up big enough to hoe. He will probably be the first in the market.

—Lagrange county commissioners have arranged their councilmanic districts, making four as the law requires.

—G, A. Bishop went down into Butler township today to hunt mushrooms. He says he will beat Charlie Bartels or know the reason why.

—The cottonwood trees are rightly named. If you don't believe it, sit down under one just now, while the little tufts are falling.

—A. M. St. Clair was in town Monday forenoon and left the clerk's office just in time to miss hearing his name called on the jury list.

—Dr. Baxter has the most advanced garden we have noticed. He has had lettuce for a week or more, and his peas are a foot high and other things about the same way.

—Parties in Columbia City recently shipped 120,000 pounds of wool to Boston. This is believed to be the largest single shipment of wool ever made from northern Indiana.

—The Reina Mercedes, one of the Spanish cruisers sunk at Santiago by our fleet, has been raised and is now on her way to the United States. She will make us a sound war warship,

—Edward Koons, who went to Helena, Montana, last year is now at at Lewiston, Idado, one of the new mining centers. We understand he has a good position in a shoe store there.

—Charles Bartles, sr. and Ed. Sheets went out after mushroons yesterday and for a long time had no luck. Finally, they struck the right spot, and gathered 241 from a spot about a rod square.

—BEGG'S HAIR RENEWER.—The old reliable Hair Restorer and Invigorator, for over thirty years the leader in its line. If you give it a trial you will recommend it to your friends. Sold by H. B, McCord.

—A voting machine was used at Irvington, a suburb of Indianapolis, at the recent election and proved very satisfactory. The vote on all candidates was known ten minutes after the polls were closed. It saved a good deal of anxious waiting on the part of the candidates and the people.

—Jacob Wagner has moved his family to Columbia City where he has a good job in the Harper Carriage works. Columbia City will find them desirable citizens. Their son, Elwood, has been for several years a carrier on the DAILY COURIER staff and therefore leaves a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

—Judge Hartman returned to Angola Monady to finish the term this week, ending Saturday. They have had an unusually busy term. Quite an important case came up last week from Flint, where the teacher was dismissed, as he claims, without cause. Several charges were brought against him, but his case in court was to collect wages due. He got judgment for $25.

—Mrs, Dr. Johnston has received the sad news of the death of her father, Herman Akers at his home near Columbia City, yesterday morning at about one o'clock. The funeral is at the home tomorrow, May 10, at 2 p. m. Mrs. Johnston goes there this evening. His age was 81. It will be remembered that his son Capt. Akers of Kansas, who has visited here, died at his home last November.

—The May Festival is a sure go. Three elegant entertainments have been planned for. Dr. W. A. Quoyles of Indianapolis, will lecture May 23, and Selah Brown Wednesday May 24. The North Indiana Conference Male Quartet, assisted by excellent local talent will give a concert Thursday, May 25. These three entertainments will be sold for 75 cents full course, or 35 cents for single admission to one entertainment, —Among those who came to attend the funeral of Mrs. I. M. Johnson, are Mr. and Mrs. Jno Morrison of Chicago Recorder Jno. Miller and wife of Noble county, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kramer of Elkhart, Mr. T. C. Elson of Berrien Springs, Mich., Mrs. John Simon of Goshen, Sidney Stanton of Montgomery Mich., Sherman Kramer of Elkhart, Maggie Hart and daughter of Fort Wayne, Cora Colt of Roann, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs Henry Beams of Spencerville, Ind.

Junk Wanted.

Please save your money. Don't forget to bring all your junk to H. Greenberg, three blocks north of M. E. church in Auburn, who pays best cash prices for rags, rubber, copper, brass, zinc, lead, scrap iron and all kinds of hides and furs. tf

Wednesday's Daily.

—Two good barns for sale cheap. Enquire of M. Boland.

—Remove the grease and stains from your carpets with Carpetine.

—John Strauss is moving on the Alex Forsythe farm south of town.

—Saturday, May 13, is the Union township S. S. Institute in Auburn.

—FOR SALE:—Two Jersey calves, full blood. Call on T. C. FORD, Auburn.

—Mr. Burtnet, who had his foot sprained at the Greenler factory is able to be out again.

—Don't think about buying shoes until you have seen the new styles at Shull's shoe store. D-W-tf.

—If you want the latest styles and the best good shoes to be had for the money patronize Shull's shoe store.

—FOR RENT:—Good house, six rooms, summer kitchen, wood house, well and cistern. West Eleventh-st. For particulars, call here.

—The County councilmen and township helpers will be appointed this term of court. Here is a chance for about fifty men to earn a salary of $5 to $10 a year.

—Remember, that when in need of a vehicle of any kind you can always find what you want at D. N. Myer's sales room, in Auburn. Surreys, Bug-Phaetons, etc.

—Mrs. Leedy and two children are here from Fort Wayne visiting the relatives. They go to Coldwater Saturday to visit the families of her brothers Frank and George Shugers.

—Lee Campbell and his brown bride gave Auburn their patronage last Friday. They staid all night at the Hollister House. So it seems they prefer a good hotel yet to a cotton tent or house wagon.

—WANTED:—Reliable Salesmen for the best specialty on the market Staple article having steady sale and increasing demand, affording large profit. No samples required. Address 026 Majestic Building, Detroit, Mich. 19-22

—Begg's Cherry Syrup gives you the essential qualities of the cherry tree bark from which it derives its name. It cures your stubborn colds, coughs of long standing and croup. It is the best known cure for LaGrippe. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Seward Kalb, his daughter Mabel, and son Harvey are visiting the family of Perry Long in East Auburn. Their home is at Benzonia Mich., and they have been at Cromwell to attend the funeral of Mr. Kalb's brother Charles. J. S. Kalb, of Ashley, is an uncle.

—G. W. Reed came down from South Haven Monday and is visiting the old friends here. He is looking well, and says the others at home are well. Wheat up there is much better than here, and the peach crop bids fair to be good, at least much better than they expected.

—Do you understand that the persistant use of BEGGS BLOOD PURIFIER and BLOOD MAKER will drive disease germs out of your system and life will be worth living. You cannot cure in one week or one month, a blood trouble that has been years in getting a foothold. BEGGS LITTLE GIANT PILLS should be taken twice a week with this remedy. We keep it. Howard McCord.

—We have received from Dr. J. W. Squires at Churubusco, a lovely program of the graduating exercises at that place, which will be May 17. Among the graduates, we find his son, Lloyd L. Squires. We are pleased to know that our friend, the Doctor is bringing up his boys in the right way, and that as far as we know, the boys appreciate their advantages. We see by the program that the Doctor presents the diplomas.

May Juries

The jury commissioners, met this forenoon in the clerk's office and drew the jurors for the coming term.

GRAND JURY

M. K. Houlton, Franklin; James Finch, Richland; Thomas M. Wiseman, Concord; Wm. Swartz, Grant; Jay Brown, Franklin; David DeLong, Fairfield.

PETIT JURY

Frederick April, Stafford; G. N. Rakestraw, Keyser; Geo. W. Livergood, Isaac E. Barker, Smithfield; Gust D. Beber, Keyser; A. P. Foltz, Keyser; A. M. St. Clair, Grant; Geo Chaney, Concord; Wm Krontz, Wilmington; G W Coats, Wilmington; O. L. Wheaton, Fairfield.

Sedan Flower Park

The Sedan Union Flower Park will open next Sunday, April 14, at 4 p. m. All are invited to come.
Respectfully,
S. HAINES.

HUMPHREYS' ANIMAL SPECIFICS.

A. A. cures	FEVERS, Lung Fever, Milk Fever.
B. B. cures	SPRAINS, Lameness, Rheumatism.
C. C. cures	EPIZOOTIC, Distemper.
D. D. cures	WORMS, Bots, Grubs.
E. E. cures	COUGHS, Colds, Influenza.
F. F. cures	COLIC, Bellyache, Diarrhea.
G. G.	Prevents MISCARRIAGE.
H. H. cures	KIDNEY & BLADDER DISORDERS.
I. I. cures	MANGE, Skin Diseases.
J. K. cures	BAD CONDITION, Staring Coat.

50c. each; Stable Case, Ten Specifics, Book, &c., $7. At druggists or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Humphreys' Medicine Co., Cor. William & John Sts., New York. VETERINARY MANUAL SENT FREE.

NERVOUS DEBILITY,
VITAL WEAKNESS
and Prostration from Overwork or other causes.
Humphreys' Homeopathic Specific No. 28, in use over 40 years, the only successful remedy.
$1 per vial, or 5 vials and large vial powder, for $5 Sold by Druggists, or send post-paid on receipt of price. HUMPHREYS' MED. CO., Cor. William & John Sts., New York.

Values That Mean Something

We are making every effort to crowd plenty of business into the month of May—want to make it a record month. We are backing our desire by prices that have the right jinglo for style and qualities that we feel are most pleasing by earnsst values, the kind that really influence your buying. Coming here to make your May purchases, gives you every benefit the items you'll prefer at the prices you cheersully yay

Linen Towels

Linen Towels with Fringe, at	19c	Linen Towels, Open Work	48c
Linen Towels, Hemstitched at	23c	Linen Covers for Dressers	48c
Linen Towels, Extra Size with Fringe at	24c	Huck Towels 10c per or one towel for	5c

Pecal in stripes for shirt waists or summer skirts, best valnes, per yard	14 to 18c
Dotted Muls, the best of values, per yard	18c
Silk Novelties in all colors, per yard from	6c, 7c, 8c
Ladies' and Misses' Silk Mitts, in white or black, per pair	15 to 23c
Pearl Buttons, all sizes,	5c per Doz
Ladies' Black Silk Parasols, Paragon Frames, Fancy Handles best of goods	98c
Ladies' and Misses' Fancy Parasols, Chiffon Ruffles, up-to-date in style	1.75 to $2.25
Men's and Boys' Straw hats	5c, 10c. 15c, 23c
Curtain Poles, Oak and Cherry, complete	10c
White Enameled Curtain Poles with Brass Fixtures	15c
Diarks Spool Cotton 2 spool for	5c

Groceries;

Crackers 7c lb 3 for	20c	3 pound can Apples	10c
Milk Crocks per gal	7c	Rice per pound	5 and 8c
Scrub Brushes	5 to 10c	Raisins per pound	7c
Table Salt per sack	4c	Bulk Starch per pound	5c

Bazar Store

HIGHEST 1899 GRADE

BICYCLE

GENT'S COLUMBIAN $20.50 LADIES' COLUMBIAN

BEST BICYCLE BUILT!

FACTORY TO RIDER DIRECT.

All we require is $1.00 down, balance payable after examination.
We are the only factory in the United States selling direct to rider.
We guarantee our goods for two years—most liberal guarantee ever given.
We give more options than the regular dealers. You can have your choice of color, heighth of frame, or any gear desired
Our bicycles have all the latest improvements—large tubing, flush joints, large sprockets, arched fork crown, drop hanger, etc.
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE GIVING FULL DESCRIPTION, TODAY.

Columbian Cycle Co.,
Cleveland, Ohio.

Do You Know Anything

prettier in the picture line than the Oval Photograph Mounts. They are very popular and add much to the artistic effect of the picture. You can procure pictures on oval mounts of any tint desired.

O. E. Lybarger,
The Photographer

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co., Goshen, Ind. 8

Untortunate People

are they who while suffering from Kidney Diseases are prejudiced against all advertised remedies. They should know that Foley's Kidney Cure is not a quack remedy, but an honest guaranteed medicine for Kidney and Bladder troubles. 50, and $1.00 a bottle,

Mrs. W. H, Dirrim

Mrs. Dirrim died Saturday evening, and was buried today, the funeral being at the M. E. church at 2:30, services by Rev, T. M. Guild. Obituary tomorrow.

Spain's Greatest Need.

Mr. R. P. Olivia, of Barcelona, Spain, spends his winters at Aiken, S. C. Weak nerves had caused severe pains in the back of his head. On using Electric Bitters, America's greatest Blood and Nerve remedy, all pains soon left him. He says this grand medicine is what his country needs. All America knows that it cures liver and kidney trouble, purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, strengthens the nerves, puts vim, vigor and new life into every muscle, nerve and organ of the body. If weak, tired or ailing you need it. Every bottle guaranteed, only 50 cents. Sold by H. B. McCord the Druggist.

Try HOME-MADE WRAPPERS at $1.00 and $1.50. $1 & 1.50 M. JONES & SON.

CARE OF WAR HEROES

COMPLETION OF A SOLDIERS' HOME AT MARION, IND.

One of the Finest of the Eight National Institutions—The Buildings and Grounds Have Cost the Government $1,000,000—It Has 2,500 Veterans.

After nine years of building and the expenditure of $1,000,000, the Federal government is just putting the finishing touches on the Soldiers' Home at Marion, Ind. This is the seventh, and, with one exception, the last institution for the care of war veterans. The eighth home has just been started at Danville, Ill., and the others are located at Togus, Me.; Dayton, Ohio; Leavenworth, Kan.; Los Angeles, Cal.; Hampton, Va., and Milwaukee, Wis. Already the economists are figuring on the use of these great institutions—the smallest of which is capable of accommodating 2,500 men—in the future, when the veterans of the rebellion are gone. The Spanish-American service men can never fill them. Congressman Steele, manager of the Marion home, and for many years chairman of the committee on military affairs, thinks they will finally be used for barracks and stations for the regular army. But he adds that statistics show that it will be at least 1940 before all the veterans of 1861-5 have passed away, though it will be only a few years until there will be much room to spare, and not more than ten or fifteen years probably until they can all be brought together in one home. As yet the Spanish-service veteran has not made his appearance at any of the homes. He will never have much bearing on the question, owing to the comparatively small number of men in the service.

SOLDIERS' HOMES NEAR CHICAGO.

As it stands in its completed state, the Marion home is the most modern and best in the world. The grounds are 304 acres in area, and the thirty-nine buildings of brick and stone are located in one corner. Behind them stretches the home farm, and to one side is the "Black Forest," with its winding paths and roads, leading to the retreats along the picturesque Mississinawa. The entrance is across the parade ground, where Old Glory flutters from a flagstaff over an armament gathered from the forts of Mexico and the South. Back of the city of homes is the city of the dead, where lie the men who entered across the drill ground, lived in the village of pretty residences, walked in the flower gardens, and at last joined the army beyond. The little white stones, which bear only the name and date of enlistment, are the same as used at Gettysburg and on the other great battle-fields.

ONE OF THE BARRACKS AT THE MARION (IND.) HOME.

The Marion home is representative of the provisions the government makes for her soldiers. In summer it is a garden; in winter a series of clubhouses. The fourteen barracks are big two-story brick residences, surrounded by great wide verandas, which in summer are the coolest and most delightful retreats one can find. In the sleeping apartments are the whitest and cleanest of beds. There are bathrooms and closets off to one side, and in the winter these great "summer-hotel" buildings are converted into the appearance of clubhouses.

Aside from the fourteen barracks, there is the big dining hall, in which 1,100 men can be fed at one sitting, and back of it is located the finest kitchen, it is claimed, in the United States, complete in every department, with electrical appliances for cooking and heating. The servants are the men who in 1865 served shot instead of bread, but who look as neat as girls, when arrayed in their white aprons and puff hats. There are hospitals—one of them costing $75,000—laundries, fire departments, office buildings, a postoffice, an opera-house, a chapel building, a library, a club—where billiards, pool, cards, and bowling alleys are open free to all—a general store, a big waterworks, big greenhouses, and residences and other buildings—all that makes up a complete city in itself.

In one corner is located a depot, and in it run the electric cars passing from Anderson to Marion. The warehouses are on spurs of the Pig Four and Panhandle railroads. There are flower gardens, trees, broad macadamized drives and roads, band stands, and garden and lawn seats everywhere—everything elaborate, nothing cheap. The blue cloth and the brass buttons, the fluttering flags, the peace, contentment, and happiness, which are everywhere, make the visitor readily understand the often-repeated statement, "Once entered, always remain." It is a fairy land to the wanderer, an acceptable home to the well-to-do. No hotel serves better prepared or more wholesome meals; no housekeeper has her home so spotless.

The maintenance of this home, as all of the other national homes, is met by government appropriation. The food maintenance last year was $85,000. Aside from this there was an appropriation of $100,000 to cover clothing and other items. Every year the government distributes $51,000 in pensions to these men, and no man receiving more than $16 a month is eligible to entrance. Most of this money is sent to relatives, or invested on the outside. Those who have no relatives or friends on the outside put their cash in bank until they have enough to take a summer trip. There is always a thinning out during the summer months, the veterans going visiting, or on trips, or go out to work on furloughs. Sometimes there are 1,200 men out, and there are generally at least 400 furloughs in force. The enrollment of the seven national institutions at present is as follows:

Central Home, Dayton, Ohio	5,033
Southern Home, Hampton, Va	4,638
Western Home, Leavenworth, Kan	3,206
Northern Home, Milwaukee, Wis	2,798
Eastern Home, Togus, Me	2,518
Marion Home, Marion, Ind	2,472
Pacific Home, Los Angeles, Cal	2,183

Aside from these seven national homes and the one now being built at Danville, there are twenty-four State homes, which are conducted by the States and partially maintained by the government, which allows $100 per annum for each inmate. At the State homes the veterans may also take their wives, and the widows of veterans are also gathered. Thus the nation is now caring for 50,000 of her heroes, while her pension list covers all of the rest. At the homes are found the best hospitals and surgeons in the country, and at any one of them the wanderer can find a haven of rest and comfort.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Fascinated Sea-Fish.

The Prince of Monaco, describing his researches among the inhabitants of the deep sea, says that many sailors wrecked on the Atlantic who have perished of hunger might have saved themselves if they had possessed simple fishing apparatus and known how to use it. Various kinds of sea-fish, according to the prince, are strangely fascinated by any foreign object, such as a log or a boat, floating above them. They will accompany such an object in large numbers for days at a time, occasionally being lured in this way entirely across the ocean. He therefore suggests that all the principal boats of a ship should be permanently provided with fish-lines and hooks and a fish-spear, to be utilized in case the crew or passenger are cast away at sea.

POWER OF THE HEART.

That Tiny Engine Develops a Great Amount of Power.

The pulsations of a man's heart during twenty-four hours develop energy equivalent to that which is needed to carry up 2,000 pounds of coal to the top of a chimney 450 feet high.

Queen's Drawing Room.

If the Queen holds the drawing-room in person the woman presented removes her right-hand glove, places her hand beneath that of the Queen and kisses her Majesty's hand. When one of the princesses holds the drawing-room, ladies only courtesy and omit the hand-kissing. The courtesy is not slow and measured, but should be quick and graceful. Full instructions as to one's dress are always given at the Lord Chamberlain's office.

Some women who never work for anything else will work like slaves for a church.

A COUNTESS FOR A CHAPERON.

William Waldorf Astor's Daughter Under Noble Tutelage.

The Countess of Selkirk is the chaperon of Pauline, the only daughter of William Waldorf Astor, of London and New York. Mrs. Astor, who died five years since in England, was Miss Mary Paul, of Philadelphia, and a woman of rare beauty and gentleness. Since Mrs Astor's death Miss Astor has been without any near woman relative as a companion. Now that she is old enough to enter society, it became necessary for her father to choose a chaperon, and he selected the Countess of Selkirk.

THE COUNTESS OF SELKIRK.

The Countess is the widow of the late Dunbar James Hamilton, sixth Earl of Selkirk, keeper of the great seal of Scotland. She married him when he was 69 years of age, and he died in 1885, leaving no children. The Countess is a handsome woman of about 50 and receives from Mr. Astor for her services as chaperon the sum of $15,000 yearly. In addition all incidental expenses are defrayed.

Miss Astor is a graceful girl, accomplished and self-reliant. As she is a great heiress, she will doubtless marry a title. She has been educated entirely in Europe and naturally has absorbed only foreign ideas of life. William Waldorf Astor owns $200,000,000 in New York real property. Miss Astor's share to her father's property will doubtless be $30,000,000. A possible marriage has been discussed between Miss Astor and the Duke of Rexburghe. The Duke is looked upon as one of the most desirable titled men in England. He is rich and good looking.

DEWEY'S PORTRAIT.

The One the Public Knows Looks but Little Like Him.

Someone remarked the other day it was strange that of all the pictures of Admiral Dewey with which this country is so liberally supplied, every one is alike. It is the same three-quarter face, with the dark upturned mustache and thin hair. All the pictures show him in uniform and with standing collar. The fact that there is only one picture of Dewey, while there are numerous and different likenesses of Schley, Sampson, Shafter, Hobson Miles, Otis and even Kautz, does seem strange. It happened this way: Admiral Dewey always was a modest man and he never cared to have his picture taken. Some years ago, however, when he was in Washington, a friend induced him to go to Bell's gallery and sit for a picture. He was on duty and wore his uniform as captain This was many years ago, and the photographer put the negative away among those he thought he would have little call for. On that Sunday night May 1, nearly a year ago, when the news came of Dewey's great victory the newspapers all over the country began telegraphing for pictures of the hero. Every photographer in the town was aroused to find a photograph of Dewey, and just by chance Miss Owen at Bell's, remembered the old negative It was found and men were put to work printing pictures from it. It was too late to copyright the picture, but the photographer made a great deal of money in a few days selling the copies on hand. In less than a week that picture went all over the country and became the accepted likeness of the great Admiral—in fact, it is doubtful if many people would recognize any other.

The Mail and Express correspondent had an experience in this line only the other day. There is a game called "portraits" which is quite the fad in Washington now. It consists in collecting a large number of pictures of prominent men and women and pasting them on boards, numbering them and then hanging the boards about the room, give a certain length of time to the guests to guess who they are. In this particular collection of portraits was one of Admiral Dewey taken a few months ago at Manila. The picture showed the Admiral in his white uniform, with his mustache gray and his hair thin and white. It was very unlike the Bell photograph, so unlike indeed, that out of the party guessing the pictures, only one recognized it as that of Admiral Dewey.

Every man who calls a doctor finds him "rough."

POLITICS OF THE DAY

EASTERN DEMOCRATS.

Evidence of increased activity among the rank and file of Democratic voters in the New England and Middle States is rapidly accumulating. This is encouraging because when the mass of the voters reach a determination that the party in their State must line up with the national party on the great issues of the day, local party bosses will be compelled to respect their will or give way to other leaders. It is a well-known fact that the great mass of the Democratic voters in those States are in perfect sympathy with their party nationally, but have in most instances permitted a small coterie of party leaders to dictate the action of conventions in the matter of platforms and candidates. All that is needed to set the party right in either of those States is for the voters to realize the necessity for action and then to act, says the National Watchman.

The Democratic party of the nation has been through the fire of regeneration. It has proven its loyalty to the interests of more than 95 per cent. of the American people. Its platform in 1896 attracted to the fold more than a million and a half new voters. Under such circumstances it only requires a few courageous Democrats in each county to take up the work of educating Democrats in the principles of the Chicago platform when they will turn out to the primaries and control the party. There is no reason to believe that the Republican voters in the Eastern States are more satisfied with their party than they are in other States, or that thousands of them would not eagerly join the Democrats in the interest of good government and in opposition to the gold combination and the monopolies. But the Democrats in such States cannot expect converts to their party so long as they permit the party in the State to be at variance with the party in the nation and acknowledge the leadership of men who oppose the national platform of the party. Human nature is the same in the New England and Middle States that it is in the balance of the country, but the power of the banks and corporations is greater in those States, and to oppose them may require more courage in the individual than in other localities. But there is no reason to believe that the people cannot successfully cope with any opposition that exists. Therefore, we make an especial appeal to our friends in those States to become active in the discharge of their duties as citizens of our great republic, believing that they will find the task of lining up the Democratic hosts in such States, with the balance of the nation, a much easier one than they anticipate. "The battle is not to the strong alone, but to the active, the vigilant and the brave."

Bryan in New York.

New York Democrats never listened to a more clear or considerate or dispassionate analysis of the currency question than that presented at the great $1 a plate Jeffersonian banquet, by Hon. W. J. Bryan. The points made are familiar to Western readers of Mr. Bryan's speeches, and need not be repeated, but to the plain people of the East, who are dependent on the Eastern press for their news, Mr. Bryan's presentation of the question came almost like a revelation, and created an enthusiasm seldom witnessed in the great city of New York. If one comment more than another is to be made on Saturday evening's banquet, it is that Mr. Bryan's speech was a demonstration that Democracy stands for something more and something better than a mere subserviency to the policy of the Republican party, which is constantly striving to elevate the dollar above the man, and to place a premium on wealth, rather than manhood. It is also suggestive of the fact that the masses of the East—the common people, if you please, as distinguished from the millionaires and multimillionaires—are not antagonistic to the same classes in the West, but are animated by the same hopes and aspirations. They are just seeing the light, which long ago dawned on the West. The revolt is certain to be a revolt against the domination of those who while masquerading as Democrats are branded with the Republican dollar mark.—Denver News.

New National Issue.

The municipal ownership of all public utilities has attained the dignity of a national issue, as the question is agitated throughout the land. The rights of the public must be defended against the greed of corporate arrogance, and when in the end the corporations will have to give way to the people they will have no one to blame but themselves for the result. It was under a mistaken policy that unconditional franchises were granted heretofore, and the time for correcting that mistake has arrived. Corporations must be put on the same level with private individuals, and no longer must they be permitetd to receive anything without adequate compensation for it.—Denver Post.

Trouble Ahead for the Major.

Perhaps the new Speaker may be able to rule with as severe a rod as that wielded by Reed. But it is doubtful. If he is not able to enforce Reed's discipline the trouble of the administration will be augmented. The majority of the Republican party in the new Congress will be but 13. Really it looks as if Thomas B. Reed fully understands how easily his friend, William McKinley, will be embarrassed, and has deliberately quit so as to afford the President an opportunity to get into as much hot water as he can before the convention next year.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Safe Course for Democrats.

The strength of the Democratic party is in its determination to combat every phase of McKinleyism and fetch the government back to its old moorings in the hearts and affections of the people. It would be hard, so far in advance of the meeting of the convention, to say just what particular policy of the Republicans will be the most threatening to the liberties of the people at that time, but meanwhile all Democrats should keep a careful watch upon McKinley's efforts to subordinate the true purpose of the government to the interests of the powers and influences which made his election possible three years ago.—Kansas City Timees.

Hanna as a Handicap.

If we were not pledged to the discouragement of slang we should say that Mr. McKinley's intimate friends think he can be renominated and reelected "on his shape," even if Mr. Hanna should blunder every hour of every day and night. They should not deceive themselves. Mr. Hanna is a living factor. He is not as promising a mentor as he used to be. He appears to be floundering about in Ohio trying to attach himself and the administration to some local boss candidate for Governor rather than striking out and blazing the way himself. He may tear the President down rather than build him up.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Quay's Gang of Spoilsmen.

With the rarest exceptions those who have been supporting Mr. Quay in his Senatorial contest before the Legislature would have just as earnestly and strongly fought for him if, instead of being acquitted, he had been convicted of the charge upon which he was indicted. They are parts of the Quay organization, which is held together by the cohesiveness of the official spoils that are dispensed to Mr. Quay by the President of the United States, by the Governor of the State and by the dominant officials of nearly all the counties, cities and towns of the commonwealth.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Reproach on Pennsylvania.

Mr. Quay has received a "vindication" by his acquittal on the charge of misusing State funds and by his nominal appointment by the Governor to succeed himself. But it is a vindication that doesn't vindicate in the minds of the vast majority of the American people. The man who telegraphed to his partner in the use of State funds, "Shake the plum tree," continues to run Pennsylvania, but there is no credit to Pennsylvania in the fact. Mr. Quay's bosship is one of the anomalies of American public affairs.—Denver News.

Protection a Failure

The Dingley tariff law has been of no benefit to the wool growers; it has been of great disadvantage to the woolen and worsted manufacturers, and has compelled a great many of the American people to go without the clothing they have been accustomed to use and are desirous of buying. It furnishes an illustration of the disastrous effects of this form of protection, which injures practically everybody and is of advantage to nobody.—Boston Herald.

Way to Beat Trusts.

Every trust in the United States will vote the Republican ticket in 1900, yet in that year we will hear the Republican stump orators screeching themselves hoarse in denunciation of trusts in order to induce the people to vote the same ticket that the trusts are supporting. The trusts cannot be beaten in that way. The only way that the trusts can be beaten is to elect the candidates that the trusts are opposing.—National Watchman.

From Surplus to Deficit.

Robert E. Pattison was the last Democratic Governor of Pennsylvania, and a mighty good one. When he retired from office in January, 1895, the State Treasury had a surplus of between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000. Where are those millions now? Ask of the winds. Instead of a surplus there is a deficit of over $5,000,000. Here is a difference of over $10,000,000 as a result of having men like Quay in control of the affairs of the State.—Quincy Herald.

Road to Relief from Trusts.

The people of the United States are fast awakening to a sense of the enormity of the political guilt involved in trust criminality. They know where lies the blame, and will, if they be true to their dearest interests, thrust from power the political organization that has surrendered the industrial, trade and transportation agencies of the country into the hands of unscrupulous, pitiless and aggressive corporate wealth.—St. Louis Republic.

Patriotism at Long Range.

Some of the patriots who have remained at home to guard the rear are supposed to believe that the volunteers who know when they have had enough are something of copperheads. The patriot who holds a good office cannot understand why the other patriots who get $16 a month and canned beef object to fighting Malays, fever and smallpox in the tropics.—Cedar Rapids Gazette.

Brief Comment.

Why call them by different names, when they are all steal trusts?

If they had only found some way to preserve "preservaline," all might have been forgiven.

Aguinaldo may be a barbarian and a traitor, but he seems to know how not to be captured.

This assimilation on the island of Luzon is merely preliminary to corresponding programs on the other 11,999 islands.

President McKinley's Philippine commissioners forgot to incorporate an abstract of title to the islands in their recent proclamation.

The beef court of inquiry may whitewash the administration and the beef trust, but the people will have something to say on that matter later.

If a large standing army is created in the United States under any pretext whatever it will signalize the beginning of the end of popular government.

NEAT AND CHEAP COTTAGE.

A House that Has a Surprising Amount of Room for $1,500.

Here are plans and front view of a neat little cottage which, while plain in appearance, will be found by inspection of the floor plans to be conveniently arranged and so economically that quite a considerable accommodation is had at very low cost. Reasonable people do not expect that a small and cheaply built house will appear as handsome and pretentious as an expensive dwelling, yet there is no reason why a cheap house, no matter how small it may be, should not look cozy and be comfortable also.

NEAT, CHEAP COTTAGE.

A pretty story and a half cottage well built is more desirable than a more pretentious design poorly constructed Here is an example of a simple design for a seven-room cottage suitable for the country or a suburban lot. You enter the house from the front porch through a small vestibule, into the parlor. To the left of the parlor is the dining-room. These rooms each have an octagon front, which gives a very pretty appearance to the exterior of the building and a very pleasing effect inside. To the rear of the parlor is a bed room. A bath-room, fitted with tub only, is located between the bed-room and kitchen. The kitchen is not large but is well arranged and has a pantry between this and the dining-room.

The parlor is a good-sized room, which serves the double purpose of a parlor and library, book-cases to be placed on either side of the door connecting with the bed-room, leaving a space for piano opposite the door to vestibule. Of course, the rooms in this plan are not of such dimensions as to be suited to giving large receptions, but people of moderate means usually prefer a few friends quietly rather than a large company. This plan is well suited for a young couple beginning life together and fills all the requirements usually demanded.

In the second story are three good sized bed-rooms, accessible from the hall in which the stairs land. The construction of the house is very good good materials having been employed throughout. The foundation is of stone The main walls of the house are of 2x4 studding, sheathed outside with ship lap sheathing and building paper and covered with six-inch half-inch siding plastered inside with three coat plastering, the last coat being hard finished white. The floors of the kitchen and dining-room are laid of Southern yellow pine, all other floors of four-inch tongued and grooved white pine.

The interior of the house is trimmed throughout with white pine. The first floor is finished natural, the second floor painted three coats in suitable colors. The exterior is painted three coats in five colors, selected to harmonize with the surrounding landscape The house can be built as thus described, complete, for $1,500, and in some places for less.—E. A. Payne.

Americans Can Learn Hospitality.

Americans, even though we are as hospitable as any nation on earth might well take a lesson from the Russians in regard to the respect they pay a letter of introduction. The English send word when you can be received and you pay each other frosty formal calls and then are asked to 5 o'clock tea or some other wildly exciting function of similar importance. The French are great sticklers for etiquette, but they are more spontaneous, and you are asked to dine at once. After that it is your own fault if you are not asked again. But in Russia it is different I think the men must have accompanied my messenger home, and the women to whom I presented letters early in the afternoon were actually waiting for me when I returned from presenting the last ones. In Moscow they came and waited hours for my return—I was mortified that there were not four of me to respond to all the beauties of their friendship, for hospitality in Russia includes even that.—Woman's Home Companion.

THE MAKING OF A KNIGHT.

Simple Ceremony by Which the Queen Transforms "Mr." Into Sir.

The party was conveyed by special train and royal yacht to Osborne. They were then assembled in an anteroom, and after being instructed in the respective parts they were to play were admitted one by one to the presence of her Majesty. The knight on entering the room made his obeisance twice, and advancing close to her Majesty bowed a third time and dropped on one knee. Her Majesty then rested a sword on his shoulder for a moment and uttered the words "Sir ——" (mentioning only the Christian name). She next placed the ribbon of the order round his neck and attached the badge to a clip which had already been fastened on his breast. He then raised his arm, and the Queen placing her hand on his wrist, he conveyed it to his lips, rose, bowed and retired backward.

The moment the door closed behind him he was seized by two officials, who stripped him of his ribbon and badge, and placed them hurriedly in a case, which they handed to him with directions to "deposit it with his great coat." The correspondent's friend did not like this. He would have desired that the badge should remain always on his uniform where the Queen had affixed it. After the whole party had been decorated they adjourned to luncheon and were conveyed back to London in time for dinner.

Remarkable Feat of Penmanship.

To write a long chapter of Genesis on a post card, in addition to selections from Shakspeare and Dickens, and the whole of "Home, Sweet Home," is a feat of penmanship of which anyone might be proud. This was some time ago accomplished by a bank clerk, with a fine steel pen and with no aid from magnifying glasses. In all, there were more than 10,000 words, while so beautifully was the work done that many people have been able to read the writing with the naked eye.

Comfortable Poverty.

Some of the writers on household economy reason about as rationally as the little princess who wondered why the poor did not eat cake when they couldn't afford to buy bread. The "frugal luncheon" of a poor but refined woman is thus described by one of these authorities: Welsh rarebit, tea, Hamburg steak decorated with celery tops, celery and apple salad with French dressing, and Albert biscuit.

"He That is Warm Thinks All So."

Thousands are "cold" in that they do not understand the glow of health. This implies disordered kidneys, liver, bowels, blood or brain. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes "warm" because it gives all who take it perfect health.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Never Disappoints

Hood's Pills cure liver ills; the non-irritating and only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

BRASS TRIMMED ENAMELED IRON BED FREE. Our Great Combination Grocery Order No. 2.

Regular Price of Bed $4.50.

This is the Bed. It is made after new design; the posts are heavy wrought iron; has angle iron side pieces and brass knobs; the scroll work is ornamented with cast clover leaves. It is 6 feet 3 inches long. Can be had in following widths: 3 ft., 4 in.; 4 ft.; 4 ft., 6 in. Send $10.00 and receive the Bed and 51 lbs. BEST Granulated SUGAR $1 with the following list of groceries; or $1 and the goods will be shipped C. O. D. subject to examination. This is our COMBINATION GROCERY ORDER NO. 2:

Regular Retail Price.
		½ ℔ Cloves	.20
51 ℔ Granulated Sugar	$3.06	1 doz. Boxes Matches	.20
6 Cakes Toilet soap	.25	1 Bottle Root Beer Ext.	.25
5 doz. Clothes Pins	.12	1 " Phosphate	.25
5 Bars Soap	.25	1 " Ammonia	.10
¼ ℔ Pepper	.15	1 " Bluing	.15
2 ℔ Coffee	.90	½ pt. Extract Lemon	.20
¼ ℔ Whole Nutmeg	.25	½ " " Vanilla	.20
¼ ℔ Ginger	.20	1 ℔ Baking Powder	.40
2 ℔ Tea	1.40	5 ℔ Starch	.45
1 Box Stove Polish	.05		$10.43
1 ℔ Corn Starch	.09	Our Price with Bed,	$10.00

AT OUR EXPENSE. If the groceries are not as represented return them at our expense and we will refund your money and you may keep the Bed.

BINDER TWINE at COST Send for our special price list.

FREE Our illustrated catalog of everything to Eat, Wear and Use sent free. SPECIAL. Smyth's Patterns Wall Paper at less than wholesale price. Send for samples. We still give a Graphophone with our $14.75 Grocery Order.

JOHN M. SMYTH CO., 150-166 W. MADISON ST., Established 1867. CHICAGO.

BAD BLOOD

"CASCARETS do all claimed for them and are a truly wonderful medicine. I have often wished for a medicine pleasant to take and at last have found it in Cascarets. Since taking them, my blood has been purified and my complexion has improved wonderfully and I feel much better in every way." MRS. SALLIE E. SELLARS, Luttrell, Tenn.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets TRADE MARK REGISTERED. REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c. 25c. 50c.

CURE CONSTIPATION.

Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 319

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

FREE HOMES

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

In the Great Grain and Grazing Belts of Western Canada and information as to how to secure them can be had on application to the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, Canada, or to C. J. Broughton, 1222 Monadnock Bldg., Chicago, Ill.; M. V. McInnes, No. 1 Merrill Block, Detroit, Mich.; D. Caven, Bad Axe, Mich.; James Grieve, Reed City, Mich., Agents for Gov'm't of Canada. Mention Everett & Kantz, Fort Wayne, Ind.

LADIES The Periodical Monthly Regulator never fails; write for free sample. NEW YORK CHEMICAL CO., Box 70, Milwaukee, Wis.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.
For sale by all Druggists.—Price 50c. per bottle.

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

As Black as your hat DYE Your Whiskers
A Natural Black with Buckingham's Dye.
50 cts. of druggists or R. P. Hall & Co., Nashua, N. H.

Afflicted with SORE EYES use Dr. ISAAC THOMPSON'S EYE WATER

He Couldn't Speak French.

Of the many amusing experiences Englishmen have in France the one of a provincial alderman who recently crossed the channel is most novel. He could speak only English, and describes his troubles thus:

"I went to Paris and put up at the Hotel de Lille et d'Albion. I lost my way and could not get back to my hotel, because I did not speak or understand French. I asked several strangers, in English, to direct me, but met with no success. So I bought a large card and wrote on it: 'Please tell me the way to the Hotel de Lille et d'Albion.'

"I walked along the street and showed my card to a dozen or more men. Finally a man read it and beckoned me to follow him. I did so silently for about a mile. He pointed to the sign on my hotel, and I broke the silence by thanking him.

"'What!' he exclaimed, in apparent surprise, 'are you an Englishman? So am I, but I took you to be deaf and dumb.'"—New York Press.

Pygmy Unbelievers.

A good story is told by Captain Guy Barrows in his books, "The Land of the Pygmies," about a white man who was amusing himself by explaining to some African savages, the Mobunghi, the wonders of the steam engine and steamship. He drew diagrams on the sand, and the audience listened and looked with apparently intense interest. At last he asked his hearers whether they understood. "Yes," they replied, "they thought they did." "There was a deep silence," Captain Burrows says, "for some time, and then a voice in the center of the crowd expressed the unspoken sentiments of the whole assembly in one emphatic word, uttered in a tone of the deepest conviction—'Liar!'" The lecturer's thoughts are not recorded.

He Supports the Proposition.

Mrs. Blickens—The president of our club is going to lecture next Tuesday on "Conversation a Lost Art."

Mr. Blickens (yawning)—That so?

Mrs. Blickens—Well, why don't you go on and make some sarcastic comment about the impossibility of conversation being a lost art while women remain on earth? Of course that is what you think.

Mr. Blickens—No, I agree with your president. Conversation is a lost art. When only one side can be heard it is merely talk.

China's Powerful Sword.

There is a dreadful sword in China. It gives to the holder power to cut off the head of any one he wishes without punishment. All people flee from this sword as stomach ills flee before the approach of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This famous remedy cures all forms of stomach troubles.

Another Difficulty.

"I'm sorry for our president," said the French official. "He has an ordeal before him in which he will not get half the sympathy he deserves. He owes it to the public to have some pictures taken."

"That is simple enough."

"It seems so. But think of a man is his position being told to look pleasant."—Washington Star.

Spring Bitters.

Major Drinkerupp—Did yo' evah take spring bitters, Kun'l?

Colonel Onceagain—I did, suh. I was married in April.—Judge.

The Pioneer Medicine is Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Before sarsaparillas were known, fifty years ago, it began its work. Since then you can count the sarsaparillas by the thousands with every variation of imitation of the original, except one. They have never been able to imitate the quality of the pioneer. When you see Ayer's on a bottle of sarsaparilla that is enough; you can have confidence at once. If you want an experiment, buy anybody's Sarsaparilla; if you want a cure, you must buy

Ayer's

[The Sarsaparilla which made Sarsaparilla famous]

INDIANA INCIDENTS.

RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK.

Big Story from Grantsburg About a Mountain of Blacksnakes—160th Regiment Receives Warm Welcome Home—Prisoner Goes to Work.

Abram Robeson, near Grantsburg, while hunting for a stray horse, which had been missing for two days, noticed a large black snake, which retreated toward a cave formed by an overhanging ledge of rocks in one of the high bluffs surrounding his pasture lands. His horse was found lying in this cavern, but covered by what looked to him like a mountain of snakes, so numerous were the reptiles. Robeson fled to his home and secured his shotgun, with which he returned and opened fire until his cartridges were exhausted. After the battle he counted the bodies of 413 snakes lying around and over the body of his horse, which was dead.

Indiana Soldiers Return.

The 160th Indiana volunteer infantry, after just one year of service, has returned to Indiana, having been mustered out at Savannah. The regiment was one of the first ordered to Cuba after the evacuation. It was stationed at Matanzas. The twelve companies scattered to their respective towns at once. Every town that furnishes an organization extended a public reception. The colonel of the regiment, George W. Gunder, lives at Marion, and most of the staff officers are from that city.

Ex-Prisoner Turns Out Well.

Henry Berner, twenty years a prisoner at Jeffersonville, and for the last year a guard, has accepted a position at Dayton. Berner was an expert machinist, having had charge of the machinery at the institution, and a genius. He once made a clock frame inlaid with 2,500 different pieces of wood, which he sold for $100. He was sentenced to life for killing a man at Vincennes, and during the twenty years he was confined his wife sought continuously for a pardon.

Within Our Borders.

Good prospects for fruit around Delphi.

Terre Haute has decided to have a street fair.

Gale Richards, 2, Kokomo, drowned in a well.

Fresh outbreak of smallpox at New Albany.

Highwaymen robbed a farmer of $28 near Marion.

James Halpin of Evansville committed suicide. Out of work.

Hartford City postoffice turns in $10,000 a year from 9,000 people.

Two ten-inch gas pipe mains will be laid from Greentown to Chicago.

Glass works at Swayzee is the only non-union factory in the gas belt.

A buzzard was killed near Shoals that had a sheep's bell tied to its neck.

John Doenges, Connersville, fell from a ten-foot ladder and broke his skull.

E. H. Peters, Summitville, lost an arm in a premature explosion of dynamite.

Westerman-Stewart rolling mills at Marion will raise employes' wages 10 per cent.

The old project of a railroad from Fort Wayne to Indianapolis, by way of Marion, has been revived.

Kokomo factory received an order for several motorcycles, to be used in carrying mail in Porto Rico.

At Valparaiso, John Lenick, aged 11 years, was instantly killed by a telegraph pole which fell on him.

Frank Woodmansee, Seymour, bankrupt. Liabilities $6,477, assets $8.50 in cash and a $10 watch.

Fire did several thousand dollars damage to the Indiana Brewing Company's $300,000 plant at Marion.

Victor Mann, 22, Elkhart, who was a member of the 157th Indiana, is dead from an overdose of morphine.

Deputy internal revenue collectors seized 12,000 cigars at Terre Haute and 4,000 at New Albany. Had counterfeit stamps.

Henry Weber, aged 26, and one of the best known young druggists in Evansville, committed suicide by taking prussic acid.

Program is announced for the tenth annual convention of the Indiana union of literary clubs at Terre Haute, May 17 to 19.

A 2-year-old child at Logansport was found sleeping behind a door, after half the town had been called out to assist in the search.

Charles E. Williams, of the firm of Wood, Williams & Co., furniture dealers, was found dead with a broken neck at Terre Haute.

Paris green was discovered in the flour being used by Mrs. K. D. Ferran, wife of a Shelbyville grain merchant, who had been out of town.

Little son of S. D. Oldendorf, Lebanon, while playing with fire, threw a can of blazing oil on James Smith's son, and he was fatally burned.

James Halpy, aged 35 years and single, committed suicide at Evansville by taking morphine. He was despondent because he lost his position a month before.

The Allen County grand jury returned five indictments against J. F. Schell, alleging embezzlement and larceny. Schell was until recently president of the Schell Loan and Investment Company.

Cora G. Comer of Chicago has filed suit in the Federal court at Indianapolis against Michael A. Jordan of Logansport, demanding $30,000 for breach of promise. Miss Comer is 20 years of age. Jordan is worth $100,000 and is a physician.

Gov. Mount has appointed as new members of the State Board of Education Joseph J. Mills, president of Earlham College; William T. Scott, president of Franklin College, and Enoch G. Machan, county superintendent of LaGrange County.

Dr. J. H. Forest secured a judgment in the Superior Court of Madison County against the Sterling Oil Company of Chicago for $5,000 and $800 interest. As the leases for which the debt was incurred did not yield as rich returns as was expected, the company refused to pay the note.

At Evansville, Mrs. Mary F. Karsch sued for an injunction to restrain her husband, Henry Karsch, from killing her. She brought suit in the Circuit Court for divorce and asked for an injunction to prevent her husband carrying out his threats to murder her if she sought a separation. The injunction was granted.

Fourteen-year-old Freddie Limp, who a few weeks ago in a fit of anger killed his playmate and school companion, Lee Patterson, by cutting his throat with a knife at Washington, was declared guilty of manslaughter by a jury and sentenced to the Plainfield prison to remain until he becomes of age.

The latest and decidedly the most novel cure for diphtheria has just been discovered in Anderson and successfully tested. It consists in using chickens as poultices. Children who have been unconscious have been brought out of danger by as few as four of these poultices. The tests have been so successful that the chicken cure is now accepted by all.

KIDNEY DISEASE,

Caused by Internal Catarrh, Promptly Cured by Pe-ru-na.

Hon. J. H. Caldwell, a prominent member of the Louisiana State Legislature, says the following in regard to Pe-ru-na for catarrh:

HON. J. H. CALDWELL.

"I have used Pe-ru-na for a number of years with the very best results for catarrhal diseases. I shall never be without it. I never fail to recommend it when an opportunity presents itself."—J. H. Caldwell, Robeline, La.

Gilbert Hofer, Grays, Ky., says in a letter dated March 7, 1894: "I have used four bottles of Pe-ru-na and I am well of my catarrh, and it cured my Bright's disease. I had been troubled for two years. I weigh twenty pounds more than I did before I was taken sick. I shall never be without Pe-ru-na."

Send for free catarrh book. Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

MADAME DE STAEL.

Her Life Was Miserable Notwithstanding Her Great Advantages.

The character of Germaine de Stael is somewhat unsatisfactory, despite her brilliant intellect, generosity, loyalty to friends and sincerity of heart. Her constant demand for sympathy, her love of admiration, and her "unconscionable insatiability for talking and shining," as Byron put it, and her incessant thinking were too much for ordinary human nature and, indeed, for most natures above the ordinary; for the opinion great minds formed of her was usually like Hejne's, "a whirlwind in petticoats." She lacked repose of soul; she longed for companionship even in the presence of Mt. Blanc, and declared that she would go a hundred miles to meet a new mind, when she would not open the window to gaze on the Bay of Naples. Ideas and friends alone satisfied her. When her exile limited them she knew not how to open her soul to higher things. This woman, whose capacity for happiness was so magnificent, became of all creatures the most miserable.

Napoleon never admired her. Nevertheless he knew her influence and sent his brother to promise her anything she wanted if she would stand by him. Her reply is famous:

"It is not what I want, but what I think."

In her wonderful work, "Literature," she paid no tribute to Napoleon. Indeed, she wrote in a spirit which showed that she believed there were force more powerful than the little Corsican's bullets. He took his revenge in a Napoleonic way, ordering her to reside within forty leagues of Paris. This exile was continued fourteen years.

She was divorced from Baron de Stael in 1797, and in 1811 was secretly married to a French officer, Rocca by name. He was a handsome man with an interesting history of bravery, and succeeded in winning her love despite the fact that he was 22 and she was 45. This union brought her the deepest happiness she had ever known. It was called a "ridiculous marriage," but if marriage be judged by the degree of contentment and spiritual development it causes Madame de Stael's was far from ridiculous.

The restless, dazzling, unsatisfied life of this interesting woman closed July 14, 1817.

Keep an Eye on It.

Patrons of the Nickel Plate Road may prepare themselves for may pleasant surprises during the coming summer season, by the announcement of low rate excursions. Read the newspapers and consult ticket agents for reduced rates before purchasing your tickets any where. Remember our Peerless Trio of Daily Express Trains without change of cars between Chicago, New York and Boston. Don't forget our rates are lower than via other lines.

A Grand Triumph.

First actor—Was that new play a success?

Second actor—Was it? Why, we got our full salaries for nearly two weeks, and busted only nine miles from New York.—Puck.

Coughs Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

Next in Order.

"Miss Mary, are you sorry that your sister Evelyn is married?"

"No; it advances me one number."—Chicago Record.

One First-Class Fare

For the round trip is in effect via the Nickel Plate Road to Roanoke, Va., for the Annual Meeting of the German Baptist Brethren. Tickets on sale May 16th to 22nd, inclusive, and good returning until June 24th. For further particulars address C. A. Asterlin, Traveling Passenger Agent, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Nothing is so infectious as example. —Kingsley.

PRODUCTS OF SAMOA.

Treasury Bureau of Statistics Issues a Publication.

The people, productions and commercial and strategic importance of the Samoan islands are discussed in a publication just issued by the treasury bureau of statistics at Washington. The islands lie in an almost direct line between San Francisco and Australia and slightly south of the direct steamship line connecting the Philippines with the proposed Panama or Nicaraguan interoceanic canals.

The group consists of ten inhabited and two uninhabited islands, with an area of 1,700 square miles and an aggregate population according to latest estimates of 36,000, of which something over 200 are British subjects, 125 Germans, 25 Americans, 25 French and 25 of other nationalities, while the remainder are natives of the Polynesian race.

In 1896 the imports were $304,159, of which $47,552 came from the United States, $49,802 from Germany, $177,857 from the Australian colonies, $7,044 from Great Britain and $21,904 from other countries. The exports in 1896 were $263,047, of which $231,372 was copra.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co.

☞ Sold by Druggists, price 75c per bottle.

Eyebrows in Different Countries.

Eyebrows have ever been regarded as an indication of character. Eyebrows that meet are said to be a sign of deceitfulness. Another theory is that "married eyebrows" will bring good luck.

The Chinese say that "people whose eyebrows meet can never hope to attain to the dignity of a minister of state, and in Greece the man whose eyebrows meet is said to be a vampire, while in Denmark and Germany it is said he is a werewolf.

In Turkey meeting eyebrows are greatly admired, and the women use artificial means to bring the brows to this condition, and if art cannot induce thin eyebrows to grow they make up by drawing a black line with paste.

Shake Into Your Shoes

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting, nervous feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight-fitting or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous and hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores. By mail for 25c, in stamps. Trial package FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

To Strengthen Baskets.

To strengthen basket chairs, clothes baskets, etc., they should be soaked in cold water for several hours and then dried in the sun once every six months. This treatment would make them last considerably longer than they would do in the ordinary course of events.

Summer Outings.

Before deciding when and where to spend a portion of the hot season this year, look out for the Booklet issued by the Nickel Plate Road, entitled "Summer Outings," including many picturesque points on the south shore of Lake Erie and the classic shores of Lake Chautauqua. Remember our Low Rates.

Bicycle Ball-Bearings.

At Schweinfurst, Bavaria, is one of the largest of the world's manufactories for bicycle ball-bearings. The two factories there, belonging to one firm, turn out annually 2,000,000 gross of these little steel balls, and employ 600 men.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. The genuine has L. B. Q. on each tablet.

In a Japanese Theater.

A spectator in a Japanese theater, on payment of a small extra fee, is permitted to stand up; and the person behind him cannot object, although the latter's view of the performance is obstructed.

One Fare for the Round Trip.

The National Baptist Anniversaries will be held at San Francisco, Cal., May 26th to 30th. Agents of the Nickel Plate Road are in possession of complete information in regard to rates, dates of sale, routes, and time of trains, and will be glad to furnish same to all contemplating a trip to the coast at low rates.

Very Suitable.

Customer—Have you something suitable for sleeping robes?

Bright salesman—How would this do, ma'am? You will notice its heavy nap.—Boston Transcript.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has saved me large doctor bills.—C. L. Baker, 4228 Regent Sq., Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 8, '95.

Adversity borrows its sharpest stings from our impatience.—Bishop Horne.

Low Rates to Minneapolis

Will be in effect May 15th, 16th and 17th, via the Nickel Plate Road for the annual meeting of the Presbyterian General Assembly. Tickets good returning until June 3rd.

Eagle Linen Letter Paper and Envelopes are the proper thing. Tell your printer to use this brand on your next order.

Roanoke

Is the objective point for the German Baptist Brethren. Their Annual Meeting is held there, tickets being on sale 16th to 22nd. One First-class Fare for the round trip is the rate offered via the Nickel Plate Road.

Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

WANTED.—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cents to Ripans Chemical Co., New York, for 10 samples and 1,000 testimonials.

Catalogues by Carloads.

A statistical genius has figured that the various manufacturers of harvesting machinery have printed and distributed enough "advertising matter" during the last decade to fill 2,000 freight cars. The greater portion of this literature has been expended on the farmers of this country in an effort to make them believe that almost any kind of a machine is "as good as the Deering." In the meantime the Deering Harvester Company of Chicago has prospered until at the present time its works employ more hands than any single manufacturing plant of any kind in America.

Chinese Point of Etiquette.

A polite Chinaman considers it a breach of etiquette to wear spectacles in company.

The General Assembly

Of the Presbyterian Church holds its annual meeting at Minneapolis, Minn., May 18th to June 1st. Agents of the Nickel Plate Road are authorized to sell excursion tickets at low rates on May 15th, 16th and 17th.

The Presbyterians

Hold the annual meeting of their General Assembly at Minneapolis, Minn., May 18th to June 1st. For this occasion the Nickel Plate Road offers special inducements. Ask agents of that company about low rates, splendid equipment, and time of trains and connections.

The man who loves home best and loves it most unselfishly, loves his country best.—J. G. Holland.

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

As some men become prosperous they become undesirable neighbors.

Inquire

Of agents of the Nickel Plate Road about dates of sale, time of trains, connections and routes to San Francisco, Cal., for the National Baptist Anniversaries, May 26th to 30th. One fare for the round trip.

SALESWOMEN understand what torture is. Constantly on their feet whether well or ill. Compelled to smile and be agreeable to customers while dragged down with some feminine weakness. Backaches and headaches count for little. They must keep going or lose their place.

WOMEN WHO EARN THEIR LIVING

To these Mrs. Pinkham's help is offered. A letter to her at Lynn, Mass., will bring her advice free of all charge.

MISS NANCIE SHOBE, Florence, Col., writes a letter to Mrs. Pinkham from which we quote:

"I had been in poor health for some time, my troubles having been brought on by standing, so my physician said, causing serious womb trouble. I had to give up my work. I was just a bundle of nerves and would have fainting spells at monthly periods. I doctored and took various medicines, but got no relief, and when I wrote to you I could not walk more than four blocks at a time. I followed your advice, taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier in connection with the Vegetable Compound and began to gain in strength from the first. I am getting to be a stranger to pain and I owe it all to your medicine. There is none equal to it, for I have tried many others before using yours. Words cannot be said too strong in praise of it."

MISS POLLY FRAME, Meade, Kan., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I feel it my duty to write you in regard to what your medicine has done for me. I cannot praise it enough. Since my girlhood I had been troubled with irregular and painful periods and for nearly five years had suffered with falling of the womb, and whites. Also had ovarian trouble, the left ovary being so swollen and sore that I could not move without pain. Now, thanks to your wonderful medicine, that tired feeling is all gone, and I am healthy and strong."

BETTER GO BACK THAN GO WRONG

An Old Proverb That—

but just as forceful today as one hundred years ago.

It's good common sense advice in almost every transaction, but for present purposes let us suppose you are going to buy a binder, a mower or a corn harvester.

Possibly you have made up your mind to get something cheaper than the Deering Ideal.

Perhaps it is not yet too late to "go back." And it certainly is "better to go back than to go wrong."

That word "cheaper" is an old fraud. Do not be deceived by it.

Deering Ideal grain and grass harvesters are "ideal" because they embody the best thoughts and suggestions of the farmer and the mechanic.

They are simple, scientific and substantial.

They are the cheapest to buy because they are the best to own.

DEERING HARVESTER CO., - Chicago.

"The More You Say the Less People Remember." One Word With You,

SAPOLIO

Press the Button AND THE IRON RESTS.

☞ Every housekeeper is delighted with the Automatic Sad Iron Rest. It's portable, fits any detachable handle, makes ironing easier, cleaner; no scorching. Mailed on receipt of price, 25c; stamps taken. Special terms to Agts. and Dealers. H. H. Chase Co., 53 South Jefferson Street, Chicago, Ill.

You will never know what GOOD INK is unless you use Carter's. It costs no more than poor ink.

Funny booklet "How to Make Ink Pictures" free.

CARTER'S INK CO., Boston, Mass.

PENSIONS Get Your Pension DOUBLE QUICK! Write Capt. O'FARRELL, Pension Agent, Washington, D.C.

A RAY CAMERA Or a R. & R. Acetylene Gas Lamp without cost. Send for our plan & credentials. This is an unusual opportunity. The Guarantee Camera and Lamp Co., 150 E. Broad St., Columbus, O.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in civil war 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

WABASH

HOME SEEKERS' EXCURSIONS

To Western Points,

MAY 16, 1899.

On the above date the WABASH will sell from its principal stations East of Chicago and Toledo, Ill., LOW RATE HOME SEEKERS' EXCURSION Tickets to points West, South, and Southwest, granting a liberal return limit. A postal card addressed to any Wabash Ticket Agent, or to either of the following Passenger Representatives will bring you prompt and explicit information regarding rates, routes, time of trains, through car service, condition of tickets, etc., etc.

REMEMBER

The WABASH is the only line east of Chicago and St. Louis giving its patrons seats, without extra charge, in ELEGANT RECLINING CHAIR CARS running through to St. Louis and Kansas City without change.

This is your chance to go West cheap. Communicate with us.

P. E. DOMBAUGH, P. & T. A., Toledo, Ohio.
R. G. THOMPSON, P. & T. A., Fort Wayne, Ind.
A. F. WOLFSCHLAGER, P. & T. A., Detroit, Mich.
THO'S FOLLEN, P. & T. A., Lafayette, Ind.
GEO. D. MAXFIELD, D. P. A., Indianapolis, Ind.
C. S. CRANE, G. P. & T. A., St. Louis, Mo.

ALABASTINE

Alabastine, the only durable wall coating, takes the place of scaling kalsomines, wall paper and paint for walls. It can be used on plaster, brick, wood or canvas.

Alabastine can be used over paint or paper; paint or paper can be used over Alabastine. Buy only in five pound packages, properly labeled; take no substitute.

Every church and schoolhouse should be coated only with Alabastine. Hundreds of tons used yearly for this work. Genuine Alabastine does not rub and scale off.

Alabastine packages have full directions. Anyone can brush it on. Ask paint dealer for tint card. "Alabastine Era" free. Alabastine Co., Grand Rapids, Mich.

900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed -
Alx. Senna +
Rochelle Salts -
Anise Seed +
Peppermint -
Bi Carbonate Soda +
Worm Seed -
Clarified Sugar -
Wintergreen Flavor

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 DOSES – 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

WABASH

GOING EAST.

No. 2	6:25 am—Daily
No. 10	1:15 pm—ex Su
No. 4	4:59 pm—Daily
No. 70 (local freight)	4:20 pm—ex Su

GOING WEST.

No. 1	10:21 am—Daily
No. 9 Except Sunday	6:07 pm—ex Su
No. 3	7:48 pm—Daily
No. 71, (local freight)	11:00 am—ex Su

All these trains stop for passengers.
For rates, tickets, time tables, etc. apply to
I. M. ZENT, Agent, Auburn, Ind
Chas. M. Hays, V. Pres. and Gen't Manager.
G. S. Crane, Gen'l Pass'r and Ticket Agent

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—in Effect Nov. 13, 1898.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations	Mail	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne	11 45 am	4 40 pm	5 55 am
New Era	12 12 pm	5 08	6 40
Auburn Junction	12 25	5 21	7 10
Auburn	12 29	5 25	7 35
Waterloo	12 41	5 36	8 15
Summit	12 51	5 46	8 35
Steubenville	12 54	5 49
Pleasant Lake	1 03	5 56	8 56
Angola	1 13	6 06	9 35
Jackson	3 25	8 25	2 40

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations	Fre'gt	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson dp	5 55 am	11 45 am	7 15 am
Angola	11 00	2 19 pm	5 44
Pleasant Lake	11 35	2 29	9 55
Steubenville	.....	2 36	10 01
Summit	11 50	2 39	10 05
Waterloo	12 41 pm	2 55	10 23
Auburn	1 20	3 05	10 33
Auburn Junction	1 35	3 08	10 35
New Era	1 54	3 18	10 45
Fort Wayne	2 50	3 50	11 15

For rates on tickets or freight to all points call on or address E. T. DeLAPP, Agent Auburn.

B. & O. R. R.

Schedule In Effect Nov. 22 '98
Leaves Auburn Junction.

WEST BOUND.

No. 3 Express, to Garrett only	8:53 p m
No. 15 Daily	2:35 a m
No. 5 Daily	5:30 a m
No. 7 Daily	4:18 p m
No. 17 Daily Except Suday	12:25 a m
No. 47	1:55 a m

EAST BOUND.

No. 4 Express	4:30 a m
No. 6 Daily	6:05 p m
No. 8 Daily	2:40 p m
No 41 Daily	11:27 p m
No 16, Daily, except Sunday	11:08 a m
No. 46	11:56 p m

F. D. UNDERWOOD,
O. B. MARTIN, General Manager,
Manager of Passenger Traffic.
G. H. YOUNG, Auburn Junction, Ind
THOS. H. SPROTT CHAS. H. KNAPP

Our First Snake Story

B. F. Depew, was here today and interviewed the editor of our snake department. He had an experience Tuesday, with blue racers that will last him awhile. He was ditching on Pete Lochner's farm in the south part of Jackson, when he went to take a drink from his jug, and as he set it down near a stump, a big blue racer sprang out. He ran to get his shovel and the snake ran after him. But he managed to cut off the varmint's head with the shovel and then found another under the stump, which he also killed. One was seven feet six inches long and 6 and one-half inches in circumference and the other five feet seven inches long and six inches in circumference. Frank insists that he was sober all the time. So we believe him,

1899 Base Ball Schedules.

The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry. has issued a complete vest pocket schedule of all National base ball games for season of 1899, showing where the clubs play each day with spaces for keeping scores, hits, errors and pitchers' names. A handy little book for lovers of base ball. Sent on receipt of four cents in postage, by A. J. Smith, G. P. & T. A., Cleveland, O

FARMERS, ATTENTION

Before breeding your mares call at D. N. Myer's Feed Barn in Auburn and see his two horses. English Shire, 1700 pounds and the imported Cleveland Bay 1350 pounds. You will always find them at home.

OBITUARY

John F. Shaffer was born in DeKalb County, Ind., Sept. 7, 1862 and died at Lexington, Ky., April 30, 1899 at the age of 36 years, 7 mohths and 23 days.

Mr. Shaffer obtained a good education in the district school near the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Shaffer at Jackson Center, this county. He was of a studious turn. His intellectual gifts were bright and he had retentive memory. After leaving school, he entered the COURIER office March 20, 1883, to learn the printer's trade. He was very apt and being a good scholar, picked up the work rapidly. January 14, 1885, he severed his connection with this office, to take similar employment at Scottdale, Pa., where he remained some time. Later on he worked at different places over the south, seldom coming home. He gradually fell into ill health, and on his last visit here, last year, was quite poorly. When he left, he went back to Kentucky where he had worked a great deal, and was employed there till his death. He had been troubled with some heart difficulty and this carried him off. He was in Lexington attending a meeting of the printers when the final attack came. The local union there saw to it that his remains were properly cared for and notified the friends here. The remains reached Auburn at noon May 3, and a number of friends met there and took them to the home of his sister, Mrs. John Abel. At 6:30, brief services were held by Mr. Brosy with singing by Mrs. Simp Johnson and Mrs. John L. Kruger, and then he was laid to rest in Woodlawn. He leaves to mourn his early death a brother and three sisters.

The writer can bear testimony to the good qualities of head and heart of the deceased. He was industrious, faithful, conscientious and reliable. He scorned to do a wrong as earnestly as he would resent a wrong to himself. And all our relations with him were of the most satisfactory character. On behalf of the bereaved relatives, we extend thanks to the neighbors and friends for assistance and sympathy.

The Musicale.

As was to be expected, the musicale at the Presbyterian church last evening, was a fine one, and greatly enjoyed by all who attended. The music was sweet, all of it, both vocal and instrumental. There was the clarinet solo by Prof. Niles, the cornet solo by Mr. Dierstein, the vocal solos, by Miss Trover and Miss McBride. Then there was the male quartet, Widney, Bottenberg, Mr. Gaylord and C. E. Baxter, which was grand, and they sang another, equally fine, but in a lighter vein, The twelve ladies, Mrs. Shull, Mrs. Lanning, Mrs. Wise and Mrs. Zent with the eight girls, Misses Watson, Weaver, Depew, Nichols, Rose, Turner, and Leila and Etta Baker, gave as fine a treat as the best. Edna Davis and Maud Trover played a sweet duet on the piano, and Leah Little should have high credit for a sweetly rendered solo, in which she was accompanied by Miss Maggie Snyder of New Era. Mrs. Cuppy and Mrs. Dr. Stamets sang a fine duet and were heartily cheered. Mrs. Garwood's Wedding March on the pipe organ was grand and brought out the possibilities of that splendid instrument. She was loudly applauded and had to play again, when she gave a sweet selection, that brought out the wonderfully soft, low, light tones the big instrument is capable of giving in response to her skillful touch. And we should not forget the Sunday School orchestra made up as it is in part by persons who are quite young. They made nice music. For one, we wish we could have these delightful entertainments frequently.

—Ask any druggist for a free Peruna Almanac for the year 1899.

Wednesday's Daily.

—An electric line will be built to connect Terre Haute and Brazil.

—Stephen Brown has thanks for a needed load of wood this morning.

—J. E. Dermott of St. Joe made us a pleasant call today. We are always pleased to meet him.

—Mrs. A. C. Robbins and little son, Albert go this evening to Roann where they will be guests a few days with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hartman.

—T. J Baxter of Summit made us a brief call yesterday. We believe he is living on the old home farm, so long the home of his father, Moses Baxter, but teaches school each winter.

—Mrs. Jacob Rectenwald was a caller today and contributed to the support of her favorite paper, the COURIER. She will be remembered by many as Miss Matthews, a daughter of Goff Matthews, formerly of Richland now of the Junction. She was accompanied by her sister in-law, Mrs. Freeman, who was daughter of the late Joseph Rectenwald.

—A memorandum has been prepared by the department, comparing the losses of the Spanish war with the first year of the civil war. The aggregate strength of the troops during the war with Spain was approximately 275,000. Deaths from all causes were 6,190 or 2¼ per cent. The mean strength for the first year of the civil war was 276,371, with an aggregate loss by deaths of 19,159, being a percentage of 6.8.

Thursday's Daily.

—Geo. Newcomer and his daughter Rilla were callers last week. The daughter is a teacher in the public schools of her township.

—BORN:—Last night to Mr. and Mrs. William Duerk, a 10 lb boy. All are doing well, especially Will, as reported by Dr. Dr. Baxter the attending physician.

—Mrs. and Mrs. W. H. Dirrim, were both taken quite ill last Sunday They are now at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Geo. Quince. Mrs. Dirrim is quite low.

—Dr. Stamets who examined the skull found by Willis Mochamer, says it is certainly not an Indian, but is in his opinion a white girl, the teeth showing an age of about twelve years.

—S. J. Tarney is looking for a visit, the last of next week, from his daughter, Mrs. W. B. Campbell, of Anderson. They expect Joseph and Stella to come home at the close of their school terms in June.

—Mr. and Mrs Sherman Dickinson are moving to town. They have bought the woodhouse on John Lochner's property and today Mr. Ruhl is moving it to some lots they have in the north part of town.

—Judge Roby is home from Michigan City. He says that while there he talked with the members of the Board of Pardons, in regard to Borst and Sawvel. He gathered from what they said, that they will be pardoned soon, though possibly not till next month.

—Goshen Democrat:—A totally blind tramp was a curiosity in the Big Four yard yesterday morning. Though so seriously handicapped he made his way in and out among the cars and tracks with as much ease apparently, as his more fortunate fellow vagabonds —Fisher West down near Huntertown had his house entered by thieves the other day, and a good watch and $20 cash, taken. Mr. and Mrs. West were absent, having gone to the lake a few days. The daughters had gone to a funeral that day, and left the house alone. The money belonged to the local Epworth League.

—J, L. Davis was at Fort Wayne this week and took steps to go into bankruptcy under the U. S. bankrupt laws. His attorney is P. A. Randall and the necessary papers of the application have been made out, and will be at once sent to Indianapolis. We believe this step is the proper one to take, and will in the end be the best for all concerned.

—While waiting for a train at Wellsboro recently, we visited the cemetery near there, and noticed the iron "markers" they use on the graves of veterans. These markers are iron stakes placed on the grave near the headstone, and each has two rings or sockets into which the decorating flag can be inserted. It is a nice plan and should be followed here.

You

need not lose flesh in summer if you use the proper means to prevent it. You think you can't take SCOTT'S EMULSION in hot weather, but you can take it and digest it as well in summer as in winter. It is not like the plain cod-liver oil, which is difficult to take at any time.

If you are losing flesh, you are losing ground and you need and must have it to keep up your flesh and strength. If you have been taking it and prospering on it, don't fail to continue until you are thoroughly strong and well.

Scott's Emulsion

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

Friday's Daily.

—C. M. Brown is putting up a good barn on his property on West 5th st.

—A "cranky" old bachelor postmaster wants love letters excluded from the mails on the ground that marriage is a lottery.

—The John Lochner building that was bought by Sherman Dickinson has gone past the M. E church on its way up North VanBuren st.

—Mrs Phil Plum of Waterloo and little Phillis Askew came up from Fort Wayne today. They went on through here to Waterloo.

—Harry Stafford came up to today from his home at Galatea, Ohio, being called here by the continued sickness of his mother, Mrs. Wm. Stafford.

—MARRIED:—At the residence of, and by Rev. W. O. Butler of Waterloo, May 4, 1899, Mr. John H. Southerland to Miss Eva Anna Buss, both of DeKalb county,

—Mrs. W. H. Dirrim is very low today, and it is not thought she will live through the night. She has taken little or no nourishment since she became worse Sunday morning. It is the result of a condition brought on by a stroke of paralysis about a year ago.

—A rather remarkable feat of house moving is now going on. Chas. Kinsey has bought the Wm. Huffman house south of Woodlawn, and is moving it to East Auburn. It is an unusual job for not only is the distance great, but it as a good sized two-story house. The moving is being done by Frank Hart of St. Joe.

—An editor works 365¼ days a year to get out fifty-two issues of his paper—that's labor. Once in a while somebody pays a year's subscription—that's capital. And once in a while some dead beat takes the paper for a year or two and vanishes without paying for it—that's anarchy. But later on, justice will overtake the last named creature, for there is a place where he will get his deserts—that's hell.—Ex:

—Wabash county will probably arrange to have voting machines by the next general election. Kosciusko county should provide for them, as these prevent mistakes by which ballots are cast out, and no American citizen should be thus deprived of an equal voice in the government with every other citizen of the United States These voting machines will prove a bar to all mistakes at the election, and to frauds. Get the machines.

Saturday's Daily.

—Charlie Jenkins was up from St. Joe today on business.

—Jack Williams is giving up a good deal of comfort these days, on account of getting his hand poisoned.

—Dr. Stamets went to Fort Wayne today, called there to consult with another doctor in a desperate case.

—Dell Funk is nursing a very sore hand from a catarrh swelling that has kept him awake a week or more.

—Ora Andress, whose fingers were mutilated in a buzz saw last week, was here today. His hand is healing up nicely.

—Will Keeran, of Fort Wayne, was here a short time today. He travels most of the time for their church furniture company.

—See the lovely Martha Washington geranium in full bloom at Charlie Pommert's. One seldom sees as many blossoms on one plant.

—Milton Barker of Ashley came down yesterday, and remained over night, on account of the critical condition of his sister Mrs. Dirrum.

—We are sorry to lose our friend Jacob Wagner and his family. But he has a good job at Columbia City and his family goes there on Monday.

—The only train on the Lake Shore at Auburn tomorrow. will be for the north bound evening train, which will leave at 5:25 instead of 5:32 as heretofore.

—Town was full of tramps today. A queerly matched pair of these, was a burly negro, black as night, and a white boy of apparently 16, who seemed to be chums.

—Mr. Poorman from east of town was here today, and brought in the halter strap that Deputy-assessor John Treesh left there the other day. Mr. Treesh can find it at this office.

—Jonn Robbins is home over Sunday He is traveling in the interest of the Atwater Carriage Co., of Albion, These are the buggies handled by J. N. Myers and appear to be good sellers.

—Lackey's big store has been piped for city water. The trench was dug from the rear and comes out through under Cory Shugers' so that one trench will do for both. It was a serious job to dig so far under both buildings.

—The Hollister House gets water piped in the same trench with Lester Till, though each has a pipe alone. The pipe enters the Hollister at the rear, or west end, and from there works under the building to the points needed.

—Among the many things discussed at the Council meeting last Thursday evening, was the necessity for all to comply the law in regard to making oath to the correctness of all bills, and filing them at least five days before the council meets.

—Attorney Edward Baxter went to Fort Wayne this forenoon to argue a motion in the Rader larceny case. It will be remembered that Rader was accused of taking $5 from a man he had been drinking with down there, and was arrested and put in jail. P. B. Colerick of Fort Wayne and Mr. Baxter of this place are defending him, and they argue that the affidavit on which he was arrested, is not good. Judge O'Rourke heard the motion argued this afternoon.

High School Contest.

A fair sized audience was present to hear the pupils of the high school last evening. The Sheets orchestra opened the program, and closed it, making a good showing for a company so little exprienced.

Nellie Ober had the first literary work, and gave her essay "Silent Forces" with much grace and ability.

Rossie Baxter, showed marked ability with a long and pretty difficult piece "Naughty Zell," which showed her thorough preparation and self-possession

Leah Little sang "Listen to Me," a solo of more than ordinary sweetness beauty and she did it splendidly.

Blaine Harrison had an able oration, "Inventions as Promoters of Equality" and he sustained himself well, to the close.

Zoe Conrad played with ease and skill, a piano solo which did her great credit.

Four boys then entered and held a hoty contested debate. They were Charles Borst and Will Cuppy who affirmed the proposition to have government own all the railroads, and Roy Husselman and Robert Howard who took the negative. The young men all did well and their arguments were at times quite ingenious and convincing.

Winona McBride sang a solo, "Who'll buy My Roses?" It was rather difficult but she executed it well as she usually does.

"Two Days" was the subject of a well delivered essay by Ida Bottenberg. She spoke with ease and grace, and the positions she took were admirable. Her reading is much above the average.

One of the most difficult things given as well as one of the best, was "The Shadow of a song," by Laura Rose. She has a talent in this direction, and succeeded well in sustaining herself to the last.

A piano solo given by Aileen Garwood, was one of the sweetest numbers on the program. She is a hard student and works for perfect success. And she certainly scored a success last evening. by her skillful playing.

Full of good thoughts and original ideas, was Carrie VanAuken's oration "English and American Alliance." It was a timely topic and treated from a standpoint of today.

In conclusion, we wish to compliment as a whole, the work of these bright young people. Those who staid away under the belief that this would be a "children's performance" were greatly mistaken and are greatly the losers. The work of all kinds, was able and reflected much credit on those who gave it, and on their instructors as well. Every parent in Auburn should have been present to see what work our school can do. Come next time.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and I thank God, I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at H. B. McCord's Drug Store. Regular size 50 and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

WEST WILMINGTON.

Miss Keeran and a lady friend visited Norris Chapel Sabbath School last Sabbath. Miss Keeran spoke highly of the condition of the school and said she was pleased to see so many little ones in the school.

Mrs. Allshouse and little daughter of Hicksville, came to P. D. Ginder's to spend a few days. Sunday morning the little girl was taken seriously ill with cholera infantum. Dr. Shoemaker of Butler was called and the child is resting easier though not out of danger.

Roy Tarbox, a boy about fifteen years old was buried at Mt. Pleasant Tuesday.

Isaac Darrow moved this week. He has built a new barn, repaired and painted the house and intends to build a wing to the house after he gets his corn planted.

Mr. and Mrs. Powel of Jackson, and Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong spent Sunday with W. Moudy.

Scott H. Rhoads returned last Friday from Angola where he has been attending school for the last four months. He will take charge of his father's farm during the summer.

The recent pleasant rains have revived a little, the drooping spirits of the farmers who have been plowing up so much of their wheat.

A Frightful Blunder

Will often cause a horrible Burn, Scald, Cut or Bruise. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, will kill the pain and promptly heal it. Cures Old Sores, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Felons, Corns, all Skin Eruptions. Best Pile Cure on earth. Only 25 cts. a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by H. B. McCord, the Druggist.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Prevents Dandruff and hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

The Thresher You're After

is the one that will earn and save the most money—that will thresh the most grain and separate it most perfectly, at the lowest cost. Every part of the Nichols-Shepard Separator is designed to do the best work in the best way, in the shortest time—at the least expense for power, help and repairs. Every feature and attachment—from the self-feeder to the stacker—is of the most improved pattern; efficient, strong, durable. Purchasers of the have the choice of various styles of stackers. The Seburn Stacker is the newest form of wind stacker, and has many features that will instantly commend it to thresher buyers.

Nichols-Shepard SEPARATOR

Some of its Advantages:—The chute starts from the top of the separator; is higher from the ground; swings in a complete circle; it can be loaded or unloaded by one man.

Write for free catalogue and learn all about the Nichols-Shepard Separator and its attachments, and the Nichols-Shepard Traction Engine.

NICHOLS & SHEPARD CO., Battle Creek, Mich.
Branch House at INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA, with full stock of machines and extras.

YOU CAN USE IT 20 DAYS FREE

Ask us to ship you one of our High Arm Sewing Machines with Ball Bearings and all Modern Improvements. This we will do by express to any station within 500 miles of Chicago. Upon arrival deposit our price, $19.50, and express charges, with the express agent of your town, then

TAKE THE MACHINE HOME AND TRY IT FOR 20 DAYS

If you are perfectly satisfied with the machine, keep it, otherwise return it to the express agent, and he will give you all your money back. If you prefer, we will ship by freight and draw on you through your nearest bank, draft attached to Bill of Lading. When machine comes pay draft, and take machine from station. If you don't like it, return it by freight, and we will refund. We guarantee the machine for ten years. Remember you take no risk. It don't cost you one cent unless you take the machine. We have sold over 100,000, and they are all giving perfect satisfaction. ITS SPECIAL FEATURES are Ball Bearing, Light Running, Durable, Easily Operated, Noiseless, Double Positive Feed, Self Threading Shuttle, Self-Setting Needle, Tension Liberator, Automatic Spooler, High Arm, Nickle-plated working parts, Steel bearings, Improved steel Attachments, Superior Finish, Highly Polished Bent Woodwork, Oak or Walnut.

Up-to-date in every detail.

Originators of The Catalogue Business.

Send 15 cents for our 1000-page catalogue. It lists everything used by mankind.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., Michigan Ave., & Madison St., Chicago.

Tiko

THE WONDERFUL REMEDY FOR Rheumatism

It is not a CURE-ALL, but it is a Specific for RHEUMATISM.

One hundred and forty-four bottles Cured 100 cases of RHEUMATISM.

TIKO is a medicine taken INTERNALLY, the only method by which RHEUMATISM can be successfully treated. It cures the CAUSE, and therein lies its remarkable success. Its price is $1.00 per bottle, or three bottles for $2.50, and if your Druggist has not got it, it will be sent to you, by Express, ALL CHARGES PAID, on receipt of price.

Address, PURINTON MEDICINE COMPANY, Detroit, Mich.

Eureka Harness Oil is the best preservative of new leather and the best renovator of old leather. It oils, softens, blackens and protects. Use on your best harness, your old harness, and your carriage top, and they will not only look better but wear longer. Sold everywhere in cans—all sizes from half pints to five gallons.

Eureka Harness Oil

Made by STANDARD OIL CO.

MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS

They overcome Weakness, irregularity and omissions, increase vigor and banish "pains of menstruation." They are "Life Savers" to girls at womanhood, aiding development of organs and body. No known remedy for women equals them. Cannot do harm—life becomes a pleasure. $1 per box by mail. Sold by druggists. MOTT CHEMICAL CO., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

A $12.00 Made To Order Man's Suit, for $6.98

BY BUYING DIRECT FROM
E. ROSENBURGER & CO.,
202-204 E. 102d St., NEW YORK CITY.
The Largest Clothing Manufacturers in America.

OUR GREAT BARGAIN OFFER!

$5. BOYS' ADONIS SUITS FOR 2.76 with Extra Pants and we Pay Expressage.

These Suits are made up of All Wool Cassimeres trimmed with fast black Sateen, the best of workmanship, cut Double Breasted, Sizes, 3 to 9 years, with Silk Embroidered Sailor Collar, or to 15 years, without Sailor Collar. All Pants have Patent Waist Bands. We send pieces of the cloth and extra buttons, with each suit. Kindly mention if large or small for age.

When ordering send Post Office, Express Money Order or Registered Letters, also age at last birthday, and if large or small for his age. Money cheerfully refunded if not satisfactory. Send 2c. stamps for samples, tape measure, measuring blanks, etc.

HIGH-GRADE HAWTHORNE $22.50 NET.

SPECIFICATIONS. Name—Hawthorne. Cranks—6½ inch (diamond shape). Chain—3-16 inch best hardened centers and rivets (Indianapolis B best quality), straw center and blued sides. Frame—Regular 24-inch, option 22 or 26 inches. Finish—Dark myrtle green, neatly hand striped. Gear—Regular 72, option 73; 10 tooth rear and 26 front sprockets are used on 72 gear, 10 and 28 on 73. Handle Bars—Adjustable. Pedals—Bridgeport, rat trap. Saddle—Billman, padded top. Spokes—Tangent. Excelsior Needle Co's best No. 3, 28 front, 26 rear. Tires—1¾-inch Morgan & Wright double tube. Tool Bag—Containing wrench, oiler, repair outfit and spanner. Tread—4¾-inch. Tubing—Shelby cold drawn seamless. Wheel Base—43½ inches. Wheels—28 inches. Weight—(About) 32 pounds.

15000 Sold in 1898

It's as good as any wheel made. All modern improvements. Guaranteed for one year. If not found as represented, return at our expense both ways, and you can have your money back on demand

ASK US TO SEND YOU OUR FREE BICYCLE CATALOG

Send 15 cents for our 1,000 page catalogue. It lists everything used by mankind.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., CHICAGO.

WE GIVE ANY LADY

or man, who will take orders for our Leghorn Hen Food, in their own town,

A SOLID GOLD WATCH, FREE

We make this offer for a short time, in order to get our Food into more general use. It increases yield of eggs, and keeps fowl in good health. Send us 50c. for a regular $1.00 size box, and begin to take orders at once.

Pamphlet, with more information about hens, sent on receipt of self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address

Leghorn Food Co. (311-M.) Boston, Mass.

License Notice

Notice is hereby given to the citizens of the incorporated town of Auburn, DeKalb county, Indiana, that the undersigned will make application to the Board of Commissioners of said county at their next regular session, to be held at the court house in said county, commencing on the 5th day of June 1899, for a license to sell spirituous vinous and malt liquors in less quantities than a quart at a time with the privilege of having the same drank on the premises where sold. The premises on which I desire to sell are located as follows:

A one-story brick building containing but one room and occupying the south fifty (50) feet of the following described lot:

Commencing at the southeast corner of lot number twenty-seven (27) in the original plat of the town of Auburn, DeKalb county, Ind., and running thence west twenty-two and two-thirds (22⅔) feet, thence north to Sixth street, thence east twenty-two and two thirds (22⅔) feet, thence south along the line of said lot number 27 to the place of beginning.

THOMAS SOMMERS.

May 1, 1899.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXIX | Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, May 18, 1899. | Number 20.

BANK First National
Auburn, Ind.
Capital Stock and Surplus
$60,000
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money to Loan.
CHARLES McCLELLAN, President.
D. A. GARWOOD, Cashier.

Physicians T. G. Matheny, M. D. J. B. Casebeer, M. D.
Matheny & Casebeer
have again associated themselves in the practice of Medicine, Surgery & Obstetrics. Office On 9th St.
Western 'Phone:
Office..... No. 9
Matheny's residence..... " 88
Casebeer's " ..... " 175

DENTIST S. B. JOHNSTON,
Office Over Pioneer Hardware Store,
Auburn, Indiana.
First-class material and scientific workmanship employed. Prices reasonable.
Western 'Phone:
Residence..... No. 27

BANK Farmers,
Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres. J. C. Henry, V-Pres.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

Physicians D. J. Swarts, M. D. Vesta W. Swarts, M. D.
and SURGEONS
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets,
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western..... No. 19
Central Union..... No. 19

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN,
Auburn, Ind.
Office in Gandy Building, Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Specialty.

F. W. HOFFMAN,
LAWYER,
Auburn, Indiana
OFFICE over Hebel's Grocery.

Dr. Z. H. Stamets,
Physician & Surgeon
Office on Main St., opposite Swineford Hotel.
Western 'Phone 104
Special attention given to techinal examinations and treatment of chronic and obscure cases, also special attention given to surgery and diseases of women. Calls answered at all hours. Office apart from residence.

I. O. BUCHTEL, HOMEOPATHIC Physician and Surgeon.
Special attention given to bronic and Obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs, also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Madden Bros Marble Works, Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, day or night.

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Deeds & Titles,
AUBURN, IND.
☞Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

Mott's Nervetine Pills

BEFORE AND AFTER USING.
The great remedy for nervous prostration and all nervous diseases of the generative organs of either sex, such as Nervous Prostration, Failing or lost Manhood, Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Youthful Errors, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco or Opium, which lead to Consumption and Insanity. $1.00 per box by mail; 6 boxes for $5.00.
MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Prop's, Cleveland, Ohio.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Notice to Horse Breeders

I will stand my thoroughbred, heavy Draft Norman Stallion at Moores on Mondays. Tuesdays and Wednesdays; Butler on Thursdays; Waterloo on Fridays and Saturdays. Weight, 1800 pounds. Terms reasonable; and no charges for dead colts.

A. D. MOORE, proprietor.

AUBURN IN 1874

OLD FACES AND ONCE FAMILIAR NAMES HAVE DISAPPEARED.

And the Auburn of Today is Chiefly of Another Generation.

Here is a subject of interest to every Auburn citizen. We have, by the kindness of Mrs. Ehlers, an old map of the city of the date above named, and there is in it, food for much reminiscent thought. The first thing we notice is he size of the town plat as it was then. At the north, the town plat ends at the offset in the Waterloo road, where is now the fine residence of A. C. Robbins. On the east there was nothing east of Cedar creek. South there were five or six blocks laid off near the Greenler factory and the Grosh grist mill, a saw mill and J. W. Case's scroll factory. On the west there was only one tier of blocks west of VanBuren street, from Tenth to Nicholas-st. South of Nicholas, were the few blocks of Ensley's 2nd Addition starting down the Avenue. North of Tenth-st, the plat is very much as at the present time. Then, there was no Stamets Addition, no McIntyre's Addition, no Gas Addition and no addition north along the Waterloo road. There was no Auburn Junction for the B. & O. was not completed. South Main-st, became the "Fort Wayne Road," just this side of D. Z. Hoffman's residence, cutting off a part of the front of his lot and slanting south till it touched Jackson-st at the Eel River (Wabash) track, thus outting through the lots where Potter's grocery and the other business rooms near him are.

AUBURN'S BUSINESS MEN.

How these have changed! Let us name a few:

Miss Martin & sister, milliner and dressmaker.

J. P. Widney, justice of the peace, (office with county clerk.)

E. S. Shaner, telegraph operator. D. E. R. & I. Ry.

H. Wood, butter and eggs.

Samuel Grosh & Co., Auburn mills.

Isaac M. Thomas, planing mill.

E. Vordermark & Sons, boots and shoes.

Wm. Long, furniture.

W. E. Rush, picture framing and brackets.

Miller & Casebeer, drygoods, (where Bazar now is)

T. B. Totten, hats, caps and groceries.

R. Burniston, blacksmithing and horseshoeing.

F. D. Ryan & Co., livery, sale and boarding stable.

Albright & Shepherd, watches, clocks, jewelry and musical instruments (In Ensley Block.)

Chas. Mauerman, barbar shop.

Dan Kagey, miller.

R. Elson, surgeon dentist.

W. B. Hornish, fashionable tailor. (One door west of the Swineford.)

R. S. Kester, carpenter, contractor and builder.

J. W. Case, scroll works, (south of Wabash station.)

Penfield & Moody, law and collection office. (In Oddfellows' Block.)

W. H. Dills, attorney and counselor at law. (In Davis Block.)

Guy Plum, attorney at law. First door to left in court house.

John W. Rickel, attorney at law. (Office in court house.)

Rose & Hartman, attorneys at law. (Office same as Judge Hartman has been occupying some years, over present Bazar.)

J. H. Ford, M. D., physician and surgeon. (Case Block.)

C. Knorr, M. D., physician and surgeon. (In Case Block, with Rose & Hartman.)

Jared Spooner, M. D., physician and surgeon. (In Case Block.)

J. B. Casebeer, M. D. First door right of Masonic Hall.

John A. Cowan, M. D., and W. S. Allen, M. D., physicians and surgeons. First door to left, Masonic Hall.

S. U. Tarney, meat market.

Auburn House, J. A. Robinson, proprietor, corner 4th and Main-sts.

Swineford House, Swineford Bros., proprietors. (Newly built.)

E. T. Hull, harness, corner Tenth and Main.

Martin & Raseley, harness, corner Jackson and Seventh.

Eldridge & Rainier, grocery.

Auburn Woolen Mills, jeans, flannels blankets and yarns. (S. W. Sprott, L. Bowers, S. Kutzner, J. Brandon, T. D. Gross, C. Sheets, C. Buss est., Joe Davis est., G. A. Porter, foreman.)

Auburn Mfg. Co., hubs, wagon and carriage wood work. (Geo. Ensley, E. E. Williams and M. Sheets directors; J. E. Casebeer, Supt., J. J. Wood, Sec.)

S. W. Ralston & Son, dry goods, groceries, queensware, etc.

John Otto, boots, shoes, etc, (At residence No. 9, No. Main-st.)

C. Beugnot, flour barrels staves and heading.

J. W. Shaffer, wagons and buggies.

A. Robbins (with J. L. Davis,) manufacturer of copper and sheet iron ware.

M. C. Markle, cured and fresh meats, corner Tenth and Main.

Long & Houston, meat market, Eighth-st.

Chas. Klotz, merchant tailor.

I. Lauferty, ready made clothing, hats and caps.

F. E. Strebe, boots and shoes.

S. W. Sprott & Son, boots and shoes.

Martin & Son, hardware, table cutlery and groceries.

STILL IN BUSINESS.

J. L. Davis, pioneer hardware store, present location

J. B. Casebeer, physician and surgeon.

Albert Robbins, now cashier Farmers Bank.

C. C. Shaffer, furniture, present location.

F. E. Davenport, drugs and medicines, present location.

Phillip Fluke, farmer, present location.

I. M. Thomas, saw mill.

D. D. Moody, attorney.

J. E. Rose, attorney, office with his son, J. H. on East Ninth-st.

MOVED AWAY

R. Burniston, to Garrett.

C. Beugnot, moved south.

J. P. Widney, Bellville, Ohio.

T. B. Totten, to Kansas.

Guy Plumb, Easton Md.

F. D. Ryan, Attica, Ind.

R. Elson, Canton, Ohio.

Jared Spooner, Peru, Ind.

H. C. Peterson to Albion, Ind.

COUNTY OFFICERS IN 1874.

James I. Best circuit judge.

J. L. Lanning, clerk.

Wm. McIntyre, auditor.

Nicholas Ensley, treasurer.

D. Z. Hoffman, recorder.

Wm. L. Meese, sheriff.

D. Gonser, Nelson Griffith and C. R. Wanamaker, commissioners.

TOWN BOARD

John L. Davis, president of Board.

Chas. Beugnot, trustee of first ward.

John L. Davis, trustee of second ward.

Jos. W. McKay, trustee of third ward.

J. W. Shaffer, trustee of fourth ward.

Frank Jones, trustee of sixth ward.

J. A. Smith, clerk.

Joseph Abright, treasurer.

W. Griswold, assessor.

H. E. Altenberg, marshal.

H. C. Peterson, attorney.

We realize fully the value of having you

A Regular Customer.

This is the reason why we exercise so much care in selecting our merchandise. Every article is gone over carefully to make sure as possible that you will be pleased when you buy this from us. Not only are we so careful as to quality, but style, color and make must be equally correct. We do not buy cheap goods and make low prices on them to make you think you are getting Gold Dollars for Fifty cents. We buy the very best goods to be had and offer them at reasonable prices, so that when you have worn them you cannot help saying: "Well those goods were well worth what I paid for them."

This week we are prepared to show you a very fine assortment of

Men's and Boys' Suits,
Hats, Shirts and Neckwear,
Wash Dress Goods,
Shirt Waists, Skirts,
Underwear, Hosiery and Corsets.

We feel justified in saying we have the strongest line of these goods ever seen in town. We wish to see you often.

We are Saving You Money.

Schaab & Bro.,
Auburn, Indiana.

In Bad Shape.

I was in bad shape and suffered a great deal with my Kidneys. I was requested to try Foley's Kidney Cure, I did so and in four days I was able to go to work again, now I am entirely well.

CHARLES REPLOGLE, Atwater, O.

Will Sue for Damages

April 18, Jay McIntosh, of Waterloo, shipped some goods from Silver Lake in Kosciusko county to Waterloo, They were to go north over the C. W. & M, now called the "Big Four," to Goshen, thence by the Lake Shore road to Waterloo. They were lost or stolen. and he now brings suit against both roads, putting the loss at $100. Wm. XX McDonald, of Waterloo, is attorney for McIntosh and C. E. Emanuel represents the Lake Shore road. The suit may come up this next term of court.

Newspaper Enterprise.

